

ALMA

OLD HILL

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Enoch Morris [] – 1875); Jane Stevens (1875 – []

ANCHOR HOTEL

1, St. Annes Road, (1, Dudley Wood Road), (1, Scholding Green Road), Five Ways, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

Thomas Robinson
Mary Robinson
George Roberts Chatham
North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1896)
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. [1919], [1994]

LICENSEES

Thomas Robinson [1861] – 1868); first
Mrs. Mary Robinson (1868 – 1879);
George Roberts Chatham (1879 – 1896)
Joseph Oldbury (1896 – []
James Rowlands (1897 – 1902)
William Jones [] – 1903);
George Day (1903);
Joseph Lowe (1903 – 1909);
Arthur Harvey (1909 – []
John Davies [] – 1910);
Victor Percival Dingley (1910 – [1911]
Robert William Botfield [1912] – 1915);
John Denning (1915 – [1916]
William Thomas Walker [1919] – 1920);
Henrietta Walker (1920);
William Tromans (1920 – 1926);
Harold Jasper [1924] ?
Major Allport (1926 – 1930);
William Thomas Hickman (1930 – 1931)
Jeston Victor Hall [1932] ?
Harry Layton (1932 – 1937);
Frederick Nelson Raybould (1937 – 1938);
George Pearson (1938 – 1940);
James Thomas Newton (1940 – 1961);
Stanley Hay (1961 – 1963);
Denis Priest (1963 – [1968]
David Mugglestone [] – 1985)
Linda Ranford [1993]

NOTES

1, Scholding Green Road [1881], [1891], [1911], [1904]

1, Dudley Wood Road [1908], [1916], [1924], [1932], [1939], [1940]
St. Annes Road [1993], [1996]
1, St. Annes Road [2001]

It was originally the ROYAL EXCHANGE. [1861], [1864], [1868], [1871], [1873], [1879]

It was the headquarters of Cradley Heath St. Lukes FC.

1861 Census

Five Ways Road – ROYAL EXCHANGE

- [1] Thomas Robinson (34), victualler, born Herefordshire;
- [2] Mary A. Robinson (33), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] William Robinson (31), brother, coal miner, born Herefordshire:

County Advertiser 27/8/1864

“Yesterday, the annual licensing of the Rowley division was held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.....
There were nine applications by beerhouse keepers for licenses, only one of which was granted.....
Thomas Robinson, ROYAL EXCHANGE, Five Ways (refused).”

County Advertiser 28/8/1865 - Advert

“Good News. Thomas Robinson, of the ROYAL EXCHANGE, Five Ways Cradley Heath.

Begs to inform his numerous Friends and Supporters that he intends to sell them the Best Ales and Porter that can be manufactured at the following Prices.

Best Old Ale, 5d per Quart.

Best Fresh ditto, 4d per Quart.

Second Best, 3d per Quart.

Porter, Prime, 4d per Quart.

Glass of the Best Ale or Porter, 1d.

Grains, 4d per Bushel. Barm at any price.”

County Advertiser 12/12/1868

“The license of the ROYAL EXCHANGE public house was transferred from the executors of Thomas Robinson to Mary Robinson.”

1871 Census

Five Ways – ROYAL EXCHANGE

- [1] Mary Robinson (43), widow, publican, born Dudley;
- [2] Phoebe Cook (64), mother, widow, born Dudley;
- [3] Matilda A. Cook (12), niece, born Dudley:

County Express 31/1/1874

“James Harris was summoned by Mary Robinson, landlady of the ROYAL EXCHANGE INN, Cradley Heath, for assaulting her on the 25th inst. Complainant said that on the day in question the defendant came into her house in the afternoon and had some beer. After a little time had elapsed he became abusive and said her beer was sour. She requested him to leave and he did so, but returned again after, and was still more abusive and made use of bad language. She attempted to put him out and he struck her about the head and face and bruised her. She eventually succeeded in getting him out of the house. Defendant was fined 10s and costs or one month’s imprisonment.”

County Express 3/8/1878

“Robinson v Whitehall Colliery Company.

This was a mining action to recover damages for injuries to the ROYAL EXCHANGE INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, brought by Mrs. Mary Robinson, the owner, against the Whitehall Colliery Company carrying on business as coalmasters at Cradley Heath. Notice of trial was given for the last Stafford Assizes, but before the Commission day it was referred by Judges’ order to G. M. Dowdeswell, Esq, QC, Official Referee. The learned referee opened his Court at the Great Western Hotel, Birmingham, on Tuesday morning last, and the cause has been on all the week. Mr. Homfray (of the firm Homfray and Holberton, of Brierley Hill) conducted the plaintiff’s case, and Mr. Homer the defendants’. The case was opened by Mr. Homfray for the plaintiff, and that gentleman called on that and subsequent days the following amongst other witnesses: Mr. John Collis, Mr. Thos. Brettell, and Mr. T. T. Fisher, mining engineers; Messrs. George Dudley, J. M. Gething, John Bloomer, S. Insull, Samuel Leonard, Benjamin Billingham, John Billingham, Benjamin Attwood, T. Cook, W. Billingham, J. Adleston, Mrs. Robinson, the plaintiff, Mr. A. Homfray, and the Clerk of the Peace for the county of Stafford.

Mr. Homer stated the case for the defendants, the Whitehall Colliery Company, and called the following amongst other witnesses: Messrs. David Peacock, John Hughes, Wainwright, Broughall, B. Wooldridge, J. W. Buckley, M. Fletcher, D. Gill, and the defendants.

The case had not concluded at the time of our going to press.”

County Express 16/11/1878

“Robinson v The Whitehall Colliery Company.

This action stood for trial at the Stafford Assizes, but was by judge’s orders referred to Mr. Dodswell, QC, the official receiver. The reference took place at the Great Western Hotel, Birmingham, on the 30th and 31st July and 1st and 2nd August last. Mr. Homfray (of the firm Homfray and Holberton) conducted the plaintiff’s case, and Mr. Homer that of the defendants.

The case was opened by Mr. Homfray for plaintiff and the following among other witnesses were called by that gentleman: The Clerk of the Peace, Messrs. John Collis, Thomas Brettell, and T. T. Fisher, mining engineers; Mr. Gething, architect; Mr. Samuel Insull, Mr. Samuel Leonard and Mr. Jno. Bloomer, valuers; Messrs. George Dudley, B. Billingham, John Hughes, B. Attwood, John Cook and the plaintiff.

Mr. Homer opened the defendant’s case and called among other witnesses the following: Messrs. David Peacock, Wainwright John Hughes, Jeremiah Skidmore, John Skidmore and Mark Fletcher, mining engineers; Messrs. B. Woodridge, J. W. Beckley, and C. A. Horton, valuers; and Messrs. Broughall, Shakespeare and Gill.

The plaintiff is owner of the ROYAL EXCHANGE INN, Cradley Heath, and the defendants are Mine lessees of Mr. George Dudley and of also thick coal adjoining, belonging to the Earl of Dudley, part of the Rowley Enclosure which they worked together. The plaintiff’s husband bought the surface only of the land on which he built his Inn, a very small part of which was Mr. G. Dudley’s freehold and the rest was Enclosure. The conveyance to the husband of plaintiff contained the following reservation: ‘Except and always reserved unto the person or persons entitled thereto the mines of coal and ironstone and other mines and minerals in or under such portion of the said piece of land thereby conveyed as was coloured pink on the said plan together with such powers of getting and working the same as was vested in the owner or owners thereof, and also except and reserved unto the said George Dudley, his heirs and assigns all the mines of coal in and under such portion of the said plot of land as was coloured green in the said map or plan with full power for the said George Dudley his heirs and assigns to work and get the mines and minerals belonging to him near and adjoining to the said plot of land there conveyed without being liable to make any compensation to the said T. Robinson his heirs or assigns or other owner of the hereditaments thereby conveyed for any damage or injury either immediate or consequential that might then or at any time thereafter be occasioned by the working of the said mines or minerals to the surface of the said hereditaments thereby conveyed or to any building or erections that might be erected thereon, or any part thereof.’

The plaintiff’s statement set out the Rowley Regis Enclosure Act, and alleged that as to the Earl’s mines the defendants had not left the proper vertical and lateral support, and as to George Dudley’s mines had worked them negligently. The defendants alleged that all the damages to the inn had been caused by getting a boundary rib left by George Dudley, and that as to the Earl’s mines they had only driven rods with three feet openings, subsequently enlarged to four feet. The plaintiff’s witnesses were unable to get an underground inspection, as all roads had been closed, and so had to rely on surface indications which pointed to large clearings out of thick coal from a considerable area; and on cross examination the defendants’ plan broke down and their book showed sales when prices were high altogether inconsistent with mere trial roads. Mr. Dudley’s plan showed a clean boundary, and the existence of the rib of thick coal, the getting of which the defendant set up as the sole cause of the surface injuries, depended upon whether his shafts had been correctly laid down on the plan when his colliery was first commenced. The Official Receiver has now made his report wherein he finds that the allegations in the plaintiff’s statement are true, and the defendants excavated the thick coal under the plaintiff’s, the adjacent surface, in a negligent manner and awards her £405 damages, subject to a deduction of £108 should the Court be of opinion that the defendants were entitled under special reservation aforesaid to mine how they liked under George Dudley’s lands. The effect practically is that the plaintiff gets £297 and the costs of the action and reference, and £108 in addition should the Court order when the judgement is entered up.”

Mary Robinson died in the 1st quarter of 1879.

County Advertiser 15/2/1879 - Advert

“ROYAL EXCHANGE INN, Five Ways Cradley Heath.

Household Furniture and Brewing Plant.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. T. Pateshall, on the Premises as above, on Monday, February 17th, 1879, the Household Furniture, Brewing Plant, and Effects, consisting of Hogshead, Half-hogshead, and other Casks, 100 gallons Wrought Iron Boiler, 150 gallons Cast Iron ditto, Vats, Mash-tub, Gathering Tubs, Malt Crusher, lot of Jugs, Cups, Glasses, Spirit Barrels, Ale and Spirit Measures, Six-pull Beer Machine and Piping, Cross-leg and Square Tables, Chimney Glasses, Mahogany Chest of Drawers, Eight-day Clock in Oak Case, Chairs, Mahogany Horsehair-seated Sofa, Fourpost Bedsteads, Painted Washhand Stands and Dressing Tables, and numerous other Articles belonging to the Executors of the late Mrs. Mary Robinson.

Sale to commence at Eleven o’clock in the Morning.

Catalogues may be had of the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath and Colley Gate.”

County Advertiser 30/8/1879

“Rowley Annual Licensing Sessions.....

The Bench allowed the transfer of the following alehouse licenses.....

ROYAL EXCHANGE, Cradley Heath, from the executors of Mary Robinson to George Roberts Chatham.”

George Roberts Chatham = George Robert Chatham

County Express 13/3/1880

“A complimentary dinner was given at Mr. George Chatham’s, ANCHOR INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, on the 3rd inst, when about 30 gentlemen sat down. Mr. Turnley occupied the chair, and Mr. T. Taylor vice-chair. Among those present were Messrs. Boston Hayes, T. Mallin, W. Hipkiss, I. Rollinson, W. Round, W. Brettle and C. Yardley. The usual loyal and patriotic toasts were duly honoured, and the evening was enlivened by appropriate songs. A pleasant and enjoyable evening terminated at eleven o’clock.”

Dudley and District News 23/10/1880

“A meeting of miners was held on Thursday night, at the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, to hear an address from Mr. Joseph Southall, miners’ agent for the Cannock Chase district. Mr. William Breakwell presided. Mr. Southall said both masters and men interested in the coal trade were suffering very acutely at the present time. In the Cannock Chase district coal was being sold too cheap, and consequently labour was not fairly remunerated. If the price of coal was advanced it would benefit both the employers and the employed. The masters at Cannock Chase were delivering coal into Staffordshire cheaper than it was being sold there. The best coal at Cannock was being sold for less than 7s per ton. Consequently, the men were being paid 2s 3d a stint, which was 6d lower than it had been in the Cannock Chase district during the last fifty-five years. Speaking of the sliding scale, he said it never had a fair trial, as it had not been tried in a rising market.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted: ‘That this meeting pledges itself to support the Union in carrying out the resolution of the recent conference, soliciting masters to grant an increase in wages.’”

1881 Census

1, Scholding Green Road

[1] George R. Chatham (29), licensed victualler, born Norton, Shropshire;

[2] Sarah Chatham (28), wife, born Quarry Bank;

[3] George R. Chatham (11 months), son, born Cradley Heath;

[4] Sarah Cooper (20), barmaid, born Old Hill;

[5] Rachel Cotton (19), general servant, born Netherton:

Dudley and District News 10/6/1882

“The following persons, all of Cradley Heath, were charged by Mr. John George Horder, one of her Majesty’s Inspectors of Weight and Measures, with infringing the Act.

George Robert Chatham, licensed victualler, Five Ways, an unstamped pint measure. Fined 1s and costs.”

Dudley and District News 21/10/1882

“On Tuesday night a large and representative meeting of colliers was held at the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath. A working miner, who presided, said that poor Staffordshire was 40 to 50 per cent worse than other coal producing districts in the country. He believed that at the present time pike-men were worse off than when they worked the long hours. The evils they were now working under were simply mountainous. The only remedy of these evils was union. He did not wish them to unite to terrorise over the masters; but he thought the masters had been very hard and bitter to them. (Hear hear.) Unless they combined to help each other they would never get their rights. Mr. Breakwell (delegate) said it had just come to his ears that at some local pits the men’s allowance of coal had been stopped. (Shame.) Other privileges that had been fought for and won by their fathers were now waning away, and it behove them as stewards of those privileges to see that they were protected. (Applause.) But there being no union among the men, at least one employer was trying to make his employèes work under the ten per cent advance gained by the recent strike. If the men in the district were to be bound by the sliding scale he thought that the masters ought to abide by it. But the present scale was useless, as it had no bottom, and allowed the masters to go into the market, reduce prices as they liked, and then take it out of the men. Were the men not in that assemblage earning less than 18s a week? (Plenty on us.) Well it was simply through their want of union that this state of things existed. If only they would get over that foolish distrust of each other and unite in standing up for their rights, the public, when they knew the true state of things would assist the poor Black Country colliers in getting a fair day’s pay for a fair day’s labour.

The Chairman said it was a great shame that the public should be paying 14s a ton, when the miners were only getting 3s 8d a day. At the close of the meeting a resolution was passed in favour of the total abolition of the sliding scale.

Complaints have been lodged as to the working of the ‘field pay’ system, which provides a small fund for sick allowance, a resolution was passed in favour of joining the Employers Liability Corporation Limited.”

County Advertiser 26/7/1884 - Advert

“Cradley Heath Grand Fete and Gala.

Will take place at Old Fields, near the New British Iron Company’s Works, kindly lent by Mr. David Bridge (the best that has been seen for many years), on Bank Holiday, August 4th, 1884.

The Cradley Heath Brass and Reed Band, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Westwood, will be in attendance, and play some of the most popular Music of the day.

The Cradley Hand-Bell Ringers will be in attendance under the direction of Mr. C. Southall.

The Committee have engaged, regardless of expense, the following well known Artistes, under the management of Mr. Ishmael Worton: Great and costly engagement of Middle. Zazar and Bros. Vollino, in their astounding performances on the Flying Trapeze; also their Champion Triple Trapeze Act, Acrobats, French Clowns, and introducing marvellous flights of 70ft by Miss Zazar, the smartest Flying Trapeze Artiste extant.

New and Original Sensations. Misses Creswick and Rezin, the greatest of all Lady Duettists and Dancers. See them! A treat!

Special engagement of the great Pat Riley, one of the best Irish Comedians on the British Stage.

Expensive engagement of the great Miss May Tillan, the charming Burlesque Actress, from the London Music Halls; costly Wardrobe. This lady has never appeared in Staffordshire before.

Old English Sports, Games, Coconut Bowling, Old Aunt Sally, &c. An Efficient Band will be in attendance for Dancing on the Platform. In fact, one constant round of Amusement. Eight hours Genuine Fun.

100 Yards Foot Race – First Prize, Silver Watch; Second, Silver Cup.

Quarter Mile Foot Race – First Prize, a valuable Watch; Second, Silver Cup.

Pig Chase, open to children under 12 years of age. Winner to take the Pig. Entrance 3d each.

Refreshments will be provided by Mr. G. Chatham, of the usual good quality, at town prices.

Ground open at Two o'clock. Admission, Sixpence each; Children under 12, Half-price. Tickets may be had of the following: Mr. Ishmael Worton, CROWN HOTEL; Mr. G. Chatham, ANCHOR INN; Mr. A. Griffith, Mr. J. Williams, Mr. T. Horton, Mr. Arthur Lane, and of the Secretary, Mr. E. M. Knott, Cradley Heath, to whom all entries and communications should be addressed."

County Advertiser 4/4/1885

"The Soirée Committee. On Monday evening the members of the committee who had management of the soirée held a short time ago, dined together with a number of friends at Mr. Chatham's, ANCHOR INN, Five Ways. After an excellent dinner, Mr. Williams was voted to the chair. It was stated that after paying all expenses of the soirée there was a balance of £1 19s 2d in hand, and with commendable generosity the committee decided to hand over that sum to the Cradley Heath Institute. The remainder of the evening was spent in a convivial manner."

County Express 9/4/1887

"John Parker and Benjamin Parker, labourers, Beggar's Row, Cradley Heath, were charged with stealing a copper kettle, the property of James Banks, hawker, 37, Hampton Street, Birmingham, on the 5th inst.

Prosecutor said that on Tuesday night he went to the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, where he found the prisoners, and offered a copper kettle for sale. Prisoners then took him to the CROWN INN, stating that the landlord wished to buy a kettle. While they were in the house the prisoners made him pay for a pint of beer, and as he was going out the prisoner Benjamin Parker knocked him down. When he got up he found that his kettle had been taken, and he gave information to Police-sergeant Hayward. On the way to the station the prisoner John ran away, but was caught again by the officer. The kettle was afterwards found concealed behind the door at the CROWN INN.

The Bench thought there was not sufficient evidence to convict and believed the prisoners had been playing a practical joke on the prosecutor."

1891 Census

1, Scholding Green Road – ANCHOR INN

[1] George R. Chatham (39), licensed victualler, born Farlow, Shropshire;

[2] Sarah Chatham (38), wife, born Kingswinford;

[3] Blanche Chatham (6), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Marianne Chatham (3), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Eliza Beard (18), servant, born Dudley;

[6] Hannah Hampton (19), servant, born Dudley;

Smethwick Telephone 18/4/1891

"A meeting in connection with the Knights of Labour was held last Monday evening at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath the next meeting will be held at the PLOUGH INN, Oldbury Road, Smethwick on Monday May 11th."

County Express 20/6/1891

"A meeting of delegates from about 40 lodges of the Knights of Labour, at Birmingham, Cradley Heath, Smethwick, Lye Waste, Stourbridge, Dudley, and other places, was held at the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, on Monday, to further consider the proposal to establish an independent national assembly for Great Britain. The movement originated about ten months ago, when effort was made to secure registration of the order on its American form; but the Registrar-General declined to sanction the registration of the order according to the American constitution. It was then decided to take steps to form an English society, the chief object being to get it registered in accordance with the laws of this country; but the promoters of the organisation were anxious at the same time to keep as close as possible to the American order, only modifying it so as to adapt it to the special requirements of English workers and national custom. At the meeting on Monday the preamble of the constitution was read and approved; and it was decided to establish a national assembly of the order in Great Britain.

The delegates discussed a code of rules which had been drawn up by a special committee appointed for the purpose."

County Express 5/9/1891 - Advert

"Cradley Heath. To Property Buyers, Investors & Others.

Sale of Important Freehold Butcher's Shop and Premises, with Land & Houses, at Newtown, Reddall Hill.

Mr. Herbert Humphries will Sell by Auction, at the House of Mr. George Chatham, ANCHOR HOTEL, Five Ways, on Tuesday, September 15th, 1891, at Seven o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions of the Birmingham Law Society, the following very Valuable Properties....."

Birmingham Daily Post 20/2/1892 - Advert

“To Innkeepers, and Investors.

Sale of one of the most important Old-Licensed Inns in the District, the SHELTON INN, Belle Vale, Halesowen.

Mr. Herbert Humphries, FAI, begs to announce instructions from the Administrator of the late Nathan Smith, to Sell by Auction, at the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, on Monday, February 29, 1892, at Six for Seven o'clock in the evening, subject to conditions incorporating the common form conditions of the Birmingham Law Society.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 23/1/1894 - Advert

“10s Reward – Lost, Corngreaves Road or Pig Lane, Gold-rimmed Spectacles.

Chatham, ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 10/2/1894 - Advert

“Desirable Residential and other Properties and Choice Building Sites.

Mr. T. Pateshall is favoured with instructions to Offer for Sale by Auction, at the house of Mr. G. Chatham, the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Thursday, the 15th day of February, 1894, at Six o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions.....”

The Era 29/10/1894 - Advert

“‘At The Foot Of The Altar.’

Wanted, Gentleman for Juvenile Lead and Light Comedy. Former to Rehearsal at Once; latter, Nov 23rd, Lowest terms, references, height &c, address Sunday, W. E. Langley, ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

[A theatrical producer living there.]

George R. Chatham was also a brewer. [1895]

Birmingham Daily Post 5/12/1895

“At Old Hill, yesterday, Henry Alfred Ashwin (37), no home, was charged with obtaining food and lodgings by false pretences, from George R. Chatham, landlord of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, between November 13 and 27.

Prosecutor said the prisoner visited his house on the evening of the 13th ult, and applied for lodgings. He said he represented the Midland Educational Company, Birmingham. He told witness about the commission he was getting, and said he had received orders from several persons in the locality for advertisements in the company's diary. He obtained lodgings, food, and drink to the value of £2 7s 4d. Prisoner went out every morning with a parcel, and appeared to be doing considerable business. Police-sergeant Newman, on the 27th visited the HOLLY BUSH INN, Cradley Heath, and questioned the prisoner about leaving the ANCHOR without paying what he owed. Prisoner said he could pay his debts, and witness requested that he should accompany him to prosecutor's house. Immediately prisoner got outside he bolted, and witness and Police-constable Winn, after a good chase, caught him. When charged he said, ‘I always represented to Mr. Chatham that I was employed by the Midland Educational Company. I am employed indirectly at a rate of 25 per cent.’ Witness searched prisoner and found upon him 4s 2d in money, two filled-up receipt books, whilst in a parcel which he carried with him 460 billheads belonging to various firms and tradespeople in the neighbourhood, upon whom he had called. Further evidence showed the prisoner was neither employed by the Midland Educational Company nor authorised to canvass.

Prisoner was further charged with obtaining 2s 6d by false pretences from Messrs. Holt and Willetts, pulley block manufacturers, Cradley Heath, and 12s 6d from Edgar Silvers Bloomer. It was stated that there were altogether about twenty charges against prisoner.

The magistrates committed him to the Staffordshire Quarter Sessions.”

[Henry Alfred Ashwin had already served terms of imprisonment for like offences.]

County Advertiser 3/10/1896

“Rowley Annual Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

Interim authorities were granted to Joseph Oldbury, ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 7/8/1897 - Advert

“ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath.

Arthur H. Sidaway has received instructions from the North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd, to Sell by Auction, at an Early Date, several Capital Brewing Plants, which will be removed to the above Premises for convenience of Sale.

Particulars will appear in future Advertisements.

Auctioneer's Offices, High Street, Cradley Heath.”

James Rowlands = James Rowland

County Express 9/10/1897

“The second annual parade of Foresters in the Cradley, Cradley Heath, Quarry Bank, and Dudley Wood districts, for the benefit of the home at Clent, took place on Sunday afternoon, with every element of success attending it – the day was fine, the crowd was large, and the collections were very satisfactory. A pleasing feature about the parade was the number of members who turned out, and the number of courts. The following courts were represented.....

Foresters Home, ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

The Era 14/1/1899 - Advert

“Mr. H. W. Ebbutt at Liberty shortly, termination ‘New Mazeppa’ Tour. Late ‘Cheer, Boys, Cheer,’ ‘Derby Winner,’ &c. ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”
[An actor living there.]

County Advertiser 8/7/1899

“The Midland Counties Trades Federation opened the two days Conference on Monday, at Graingers Lane School, Cradley Heath.....
The delegates were entertained to dinner at the ANCHOR HOTEL by the council of the Chain and Anchor Associations. An excellent spread was put upon the tables by the host, Mr. J. Rowland.....”

County Advertiser 15/7/1899

“The annual meeting of Court Foresters’ Home, No.4196, A.O.F, held at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, was held on Monday evening. Bro. L. Cartwright, CR presided.....”

The Stage 15/6/1899 - Advert

“Miss Edie Preece Disengaged, Chambermaids. Offers Invited. Address, ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”
[An actor living there.]

West Bromwich Weekly News 9/6/1900 - Advert

“Girl, smart, wanted, to assist generally.
Rowland, ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 23/6/1900

“The annual meeting and dinner of the executive of the Best Chainmakers’ Association was held at the ANCHOR HOTEL on Monday evening, when the members partook of a repast well served by the landlord, Mr. Rowlands.....”

County Express 21/7/1900

“The members of Court Foresters’ Home, No.4196, of the A.O.F. dined at Bro. J. Rowland’s, the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Monday. About 40 sat down to a capital repast. Bro. L. Cartwright presided.....”

County Express 28/7/1900

“The third annual day in connection with the New Block Chainmakers’ Society was held on Monday, and the event was celebrated at the house of Mr. Rowlands, the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, when some fifty assembled.....”

County Express 6/10/1900

“On Tuesday evening Mr. E. O. Nightingale, auctioneer of this town, held a successful sale of properties at the ANCHOR INN. The property comprised five dwelling houses situate in Providence Street, being sold to Mr. Thos. Stone for £752. There was a good company present, and the price realised gave the greatest satisfaction. Mr. John Wright, solicitor of the town and Halesowen, acted for the vendors.”

Smethwick Weekly News 2/2/1901

“On Wednesday Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner), held an inquest at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, respecting the death of James Cowley, aged three years and eleven months, who died on Monday from the effects of burns sustained on the 2nd ult. It appeared that on the morning of the latter date a sister of deceased was fanning the fire, when a spark flew out and ignited his shirt. He sustained serious burns, from which he died on Monday.
The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Express 16/3/1901

“Warwick Plant, fishmonger, High Street, Cradley, was charged with assaulting Hezekiah Bills, chainmaker, of Quarry Bank, on the 5th inst. Mr. G. Williams (Messrs. Wright and Williams) defended.

Bills story was that he went into the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, with his daughter and a friend. He had a musical box with him, and started this playing. Plant and a few friends came in, and Plant began insulting witness, and wanted to fight him ‘for as many pounds as he liked.’ Witness told him he was no fighting man, and that he did not want any bother. Plant then hit witness on the head, and from the force of the blow, as he struck round, fell down. Mr. Rowlands, the landlord came in, and Plant went outside.

Cross-examined: Witness denied taking his hat round to collect money for the music. Witness started the musical box for his own amusement. He denied receiving a penny from anyone for the music; he also denied pushing Plant or touching him at all.

After John Smith, the man who was with Bills, had given evidence, Mr. Williams, for the defence, said the whole affair seemed to have been most trumpery and trivial. Bills started his musical box, and then went round with his hat. This annoyed Plant, who told him he ought not to go round cadging when he could earn £3 a week. The two men pushed each other, with the result that Plant tumbled down.

Plant and other witnesses were called for the defence, and the Bench, after hearing the evidence, dismissed the case.”

1901 Census

Scholding Green Road – ANCHOR HOTEL

- [1] James Rowlands (39), licensed victualler and glass painter, born West Bromwich;
- [2] Emma Rowlands (35), wife, born Birmingham;
- [3] Francis Allen Rowlands (9), son, born Melbourne, Australia;
- [4] Dorothy J. Rowlands (7), daughter, born Melbourne, Australia;
- [5] Reginald Rowlands (5), son, born Smethwick;
- [6] Grace A. Rowlands (3), daughter, born Cradley Heath;
- [7] C. Munton (19), barmaid, born Nuneaton;
- [8] Alice Berks (18), domestic servant, born Cradley Heath;
- [9] Bennie Doctor (24), boarder, actor and musician, born Buffalo, New York:

County Advertiser 1/6/1901

“Last week a presentation dinner to celebrate the safe return of Corporal Thomas James Brown from South Africa was held at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Five Ways, under the presidency of Mr. Thomas Poole, sen. Mr. James Rowlands, the host, with his usual care and taste, provided for the ‘creature good’ in a manner highly commendable. Some forty friends sat down to table, including the guest, who looked the picture of health, albeit deeply tanned by the rays of an African sun, under which he has served for fifteen months.....”

County Advertiser 7/9/1901 - Advert

“Unreserved Sales of Dutch Flowering Bulbs, including Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocuses, Narcissus, &c.

Messrs. Cooper and Hill will hold their Annual Sales as follows:

ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath. Tuesday, 17th September, 1901.

STAR HOTEL, Halesowen. Wednesday, 18th September, 1901.

HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath. Friday, 20th September, 1901.

Sale to commence at Seven o’clock in the Evening.

Catalogues may be obtained from the Offices of the Auctioneers, Halesowen, Cradley Heath, and Blackheath.”

County Express 12/10/1901

“Block Chainmakers’ Society. The members of this society held their annual dinner at the ANCHOR HOTEL, on Monday, when a good dinner was provided by the host, Mr. J. Rowlands, and was greatly enjoyed. At the after proceedings Mr. J. H. Smith (secretary), presided, supported by Mr. C. Loates, of the Lock Makers’ Society, and Mr. J. Taylor, secretary of the Midland Counties Trade Federation. The chairman, in a few remarks about the condition of the trade, congratulated the society and the steady progress made during the last year, and upon the increased benefits and increased prices.

Mr. Loates gave an interesting speech in which he told the operatives the only way to maintain prices and to better their condition was to combine and keep the society intact. He also spoke of the condition of the lock makers before they had a society, and at the present time, when their conditions were greatly improved.

Mr. J. Taylor congratulated the operatives on the position they now occupied. He was pleased to say a better understanding existed between the employers and workers than had ever been the case. He was pleased to know the society gave sick pay, death benefits, &c, and he thought trade societies ought to deal with every phase of the workers’ life. Mr. Taylor went on to speak of the work of the Midland Counties Trades Federation, and of what it had accomplished for the working classes. He also touched upon the adverse decision of the House of Lords as affecting trades unionism.

Songs were given during the evening by several of the men, and a vote of thanks to the host and hostess concluded the proceedings. Mr. J. Clifton was accompanist.”

County Express 22/2/1902

“A complimentary dinner was given to the president of the [cricket] club (Mr. R. Fellows) at the ANCHOR HOTEL, on Monday evening, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent by some 25 members and friends. Mr. L. Connop was in the chair, and amongst those present were Messrs. R. Fellows, B. Millward, G. Standish, E. Bissel, J. C. Teagau, T. L. Round, G. Mason, A. J. Pearson, and others. A capital dinner was served by the host, Mr. J. Rowlands. The loyal toast was proposed from the chair, following which Mr. G. Standish proposed the toast of ‘The President,’ making reference to the interest Mr. Fellows took in the club and his anxiety to do all he could to promote its welfare. The toast was most cordially received, and in reply Mr. Fellows thanked the proposer of the toast for the kind manner he had proposed it. He (Mr. Fellows) only wished that he deserved one-half or one-quarter the nice things he had said. He also thanked those present for the hearty way they had received the toast. He was fully conscious of his shortcomings. When they were good enough to ask him to become president of the club he considered it a great honour and he did not accept the office lightly, or without consideration. But having accepted it, he did his best to do his duty. If they were satisfied with the way he had filled the office he was delighted, and was amply repaid for any little loss of time, or any little inconvenience he might have been put to – (hear, hear). Looking back upon his term in office, he could honestly say that it had been one of great pleasure to him, and whether in or out of office they could rely on him doing all he could possibly for the Cradley Heath Cricket Club. After referring to cricket being the truly national game, Mr. Fellows went on to urge the playing members to practice regularly, so that they might have a large number of wins to their credit at the end of next season. In conclusion, he hoped they would again have some good sports for the public, and expressed his intention to offer a substantial prize for competition at the sports – (applause). Other toasts were given, and during the evening songs were nicely rendered by Messrs. J.

E. Mathews, Grice, and G. H. Mason. Mr. B. Heys presided at the piano.”

County Express 1/3/1902

“As briefly recorded in our issue last week, a strike is taking place among the outworkers of the dollied and block chain sections of the chain trade to get an advance of 10 per cent upon the 13-16in downwards, which the operatives say the employers agreed to concede at a conference held in Birmingham in November last year. A largely attended meeting of strikers was held at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Saturday morning.....”

County Express 15/3/1902

“A meeting of the outworkers in the dollied and block branches of the chain trade, who are on strike, was held at the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, on Saturday morning. Mr. James H. Smith presided, and said a few of the outworkers had been started at the advance, but there were more men out on strike than there were a week ago. Something like £250 per week was being expended in strike pay.....”

County Express 22/3/1902

“A largely attended meeting of the chainmakers in the dollied and block sections of the chain trade in the Cradley Heath and surrounding districts, who are out on strike, claiming an advance of 10 per cent in their wages, was held on Saturday morning at the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath. Mr. J. H. Smith, the secretary of the society, who presided, explained that no other masters had consented to concede the advance, but the men were being well supported. A resolution deciding to continue the strike until the whole of the employers concede the advance was carried unanimously, and at the close over £200 was distributed in strike pay.”

County Express 29/3/1902

“A further meeting of the chainmakers, who are out on strike to obtain a 10 per cent advance in wages, was held at the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, on Saturday morning.

Mr. J. H. Smith presided over a large attendance, and said no employers had conceded the advance, but the numbers of those out on strike were decreasing, because the employers who had conceded the advance were employing more men.....”

County Express 17/5/1902

“A meeting of the operatives in the dollied and block sections of the chain trade who are out on strike was held at the ANCHOR HOTEL on Saturday morning.

Mr. J. H. Smith, who presided, stated that no other employers had consented to concede the advance of 10 per cent, but there had been a reduction in the amount of strike pay disbursed weekly in consequence of some of the men returning to work. During the week the factory and out-workers’ sections had amalgamated, and in future would be considered as one section.

It was decided to continue the strike until all the employers had conceded the 10 per cent advance.

After the meeting about £120 was distributed in strike pay.”

County Express 14/6/1902

“On Saturday evening the members of Court Foresters’ Home of the Dudley and Cradley Heath district of the A.O.F. met at Bro. J. Rowlands’, the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, and during the evening the retiring chairman, Bro. Arthur Bloore, Quarry Bank, was presented with an emblem of the order and a PCR ribbon, in recognition of his valuable services in the chair.

The presentation was made by the Chief Ranger, Bro. Edwin Bloore, who referred to Bro. A Bloore’s work as being most successful whilst he had occupied the chair.

Bro. Arthur Bloore, in fitting terms acknowledged the court’s recognition.

Among those present were: Bro. D. M. Chapman, PDCR, Bros. L. Hill, PCR, J. Watters, PCR, J. Tromans, PCR, and M. Shaw, SCR.”

Manchester Evening News 2/7/1902

“At Rowley, Staffordshire, to-day, James Rowland, landlord of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, was fined £5 for keeping his hotel open during prohibited hours. On the night peace was proclaimed a gentleman staying at the hotel, in celebration of peace being declared, entertained twelve gentlemen at supper in the hotel at eleven o’clock (Sunday night) and defrayed the cost. The defendant contended that under the circumstances he had not broken the law.

The magistrates said but for the fact that it was peace night a much heavier fine would have been inflicted.”

James Rowlands – see also VINE AND RAILWAY.

County Advertiser 13/12/1902 - Advert

“Cradley Heath. On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, December 16th, 17th, 18th & 19th, 1902.

Highly Important Exhibition and Sale of a Highly-attractive Collection of Pictures (in Oil and Water Colour).

By the following well-known Exhibitors (and others).

Alfred de Breanski, RBA. Vincent Clare, Yeend King, AECA, H. Pennell, ARCA, J. Horace Hooper, T. Watts, café, EBA, Paul Jackman, Ernest Partos, RI.

Removed from the Fine Art Galleries, Glasgow, to the Large Assembly Room at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, for Convenience of Sale.

Pictures on View and on Sale by Private Treaty, 11am to 6pm.

Sale by Auction at Seven o'clock in the Evening.
Catalogues from the place of Sale, and from Herbert Humphries, Auctioneer, Stourbridge and Brierly Hill."

County Advertiser 14/2/1903

"On Wednesday the annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held at the Court House..... Superintendent Spendlove had given notice that he should oppose the following licenses.....
William Jones, ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, open for sale during prohibited hours.....
License renewed."

County Advertiser 14/3/1903

"On Wednesday the adjourned licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held at the Police Court, Old Hill.....

An application was made for the transfer of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Scholdings Green Road, Cradley Heath, from William Jones to George Day. Applicant stated that he had entered into an agreement with the North Worcestershire Brewery Company under which he was subject to a week's notice. The agreement was not in the possession of the company. Sir Benjamin Hingley said the Bench considered a week's notice insufficient, and they would accept nothing less than a month. As the agreement was not before the Court the application would be refused, but they would grant an interim authority until the next transfer sessions. Subsequently Mr. Thornton, the representative of the North Worcestershire Brewery Company, attended, and promised to alter the agreement to a month's notice before the application was again heard."

County Advertiser 4/4/1903

"George Day applied for the transfer of the license of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, formerly occupied by William Jones. Mr. Cooksey (magistrates' clerk) explained that applicant had applied for the transfer seven days ago, but a temporary authority was granted until that day as the agreement only allowed seven days' notice. The Bench did not consider this enough, but thought the notice should be 28 days.

Inspector Hodgkins said the applicant bore a good character, and on the understanding that the notice should be 28 days instead of seven, the application was granted."

Tipton Herald 18/7/1903

"Mr. Day, of the ANCHOR HOTEL, has arranged a walking match to take place this (Saturday) afternoon. The route will be from the ANCHOR to the Sun at Hunnington. The first prize will be a silver cup, second a silver watch, third a pair of boots to measure, given by Mr. Griffiths, auctioneer."

Tipton Herald 12/12/1903

"Mr. D. M. Chapman has been appointed district secretary of the Dudley and Cradley Heath District of the Ancient Order of Foresters. The appointment was made on Monday evening at a meeting held at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, and there were five names submitted for the post."

County Advertiser 24/6/1905

"At a meeting of Court Foresters' Home No.4196, Dudley and Cradley Heath District, A.O.F. held recently at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Bro. Frank Chapman was presented with a PCR ribbon and also a PCR certificate in acknowledgement of his services as CR to the court during the last eighteen months....."

County Advertiser 13/4/1907

"The quarterly district meeting of the Dudley and Cradley Heath District A.O.F was held at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Monday. Bro. G. Thomas, DSCR, presided in the unavoidable absence of Bro. G. Court, through illness....."

County Express 4/1/1908

"Sick and Draw Clubs.... ANCHOR INN (Cradley Heath). On Monday night, when a large number of members sat down. Mr. J. Harris was voted to the chair. The chairman complimented the society on making such excellent progress and mentioned that the dividend was 10s 2d per member. The committee, treasurer, and secretary had all worked assiduously. Votes of thanks were accorded to the chairman, treasurer, and the host and hostess (Mr. and Mrs. Lowe). A musical programme was contributed to by the following: Messrs. H. Vernon, A. Billingham, W. Dunn, and P. Lowe (accompanist)."

County Express 1/8/1908

"The annual dinner of the members of the dividend society which meets at the ANCHOR INN was held in the club room on Monday evening, when about 40 members and friends enjoyed an excellent dinner provided by Mr. J. Lowe. Mr. John Harris presided, Mr. E. Willetts being in the vice-chair. Among those present were Messrs. T. Wilkes (secretary), B. Price (treasurer), T. Hill, Jos. Hanson, S. Hanson, J. Cartwright, A. Bradley, I. Homer, E. Cartwright, A. Clift, H. Hipkiss, A. Parkes, J. Biggs, Jos. Biggs, J. E. French, and F. Gould. After the loyal toasts the Vice-chairman prosed 'Success to the ANCHOR Sick and Dividend Society.' Referring to the trade of the district, he remarked that during the last 40 years a large number of people had made a considerable amount of money in Cradley Heath and had gone elsewhere to spend it. He thought that the least those who had made fortunes in the district could do was to take a little interest in the place – (hear, hear). The idea of such societies as theirs was to work together to help one another in times of distress. He wished the club prosperity.

The Secretary, responding, said the society was one of the oldest in the district. The first half of 1908, in spite of considerable trade depression, was one of the best periods they had had – (applause). All the members had worked extremely well together. The Chairman submitted the toast of ‘The Visitors,’ which was seconded by Mr. Wilkes, and responded to by the Vice-chairman. Other toasts followed, including that of the ‘Host and Hostess,’ to which Mr. J. Lowe responded. Songs were contributed by Messrs. R. Cole, B. Vernon, A. Billingham, P. Lowe, and A. Harris. Messrs. P. Lowe and Harris were the accompanists. A most enjoyable evening closed with thanks to the artists.”

County Express 12/9/1908 - Advert

“On Monday Next. Unreserved Sale of Choice Dutch Flower Bulbs.

Consisting of Hyacinths, Tulips, Crocuses, Daffodils, Polyanthus, Narcissus, Anemones, Snowdrops, Scillas, Ixias, etc, for in and outdoor growth.

H. Sidaway is instructed to Sell By Auction, on Monday, September 14th, 1908, at the ANCHOR HOTEL Assembly Rooms, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.

The sale to commence at 2.30pm.

Catalogues may be obtained at the office of the auctioneer, High Street, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 12/9/1908

“Friendly Societies’ Parade. On Wednesday evening the committee of the above met at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Mr. W. Coley presiding over a large attendance. The following was a complete list of those boxes which contained amounts of 1s and upwards.....

Mr. J. Lowe, ANCHOR HOTEL, 1s 7d.”

County Express 2/1/1909

“Dividend Clubs..... ANCHOR HOTEL (Cradley Heath). A capital meal was served by Mr. and Mrs. Lowe. Afterwards Mr. E. Willetts took the chair, and among those present were Messrs. E. Willetts, J. S. Harris (vice-chairman), Parkes, Biggs, Nutting, Cartwright, Hipkiss, Price, Barnbrook, Hanson, A. Hill, T. Wilkes (secretary), and S. Ray. The first toast was ‘The King,’ which was proposed by the chairman, and drunk with enthusiasm. ‘Success to the ANCHOR Sick and Dividend Society’ was proposed by the chairman, who said such institutions did good work in the district. Mr. Harris replied, and said the year had been a very successful one. They had paid nine or ten per cent, in sick pay, and had a substantial dividend per member. A man who did not join such a society as that made a great mistake. The best thing that working men could do was band themselves together for their mutual benefit.

Mr. T. Wilkes and Mr. S. Raybould also replied, the former stating that 27 members had joined the society for the next year.

The secretary submitted the balance sheet, which showed the total contributions £31 12s 9d, and the amount paid out to the 31 members 9s 2d each.

Other toasts included ‘The Auditors,’ ‘The Press,’ and ‘the Host and Hostess,’ special reference being made to the excellent manner in which Mr. and Mrs. Lowe and staff had cooked and served the dinner. Mr. J. Lowe briefly responded.

The artists were Messrs. H. Vernon, H. Billingham, Percy Lowe (piano soloist and accompanist), and S. Willetts.”

Tipton Herald 9/1/1909

“The annual dinner in connection with the Cradley Heath and District Fanciers’ Association was on Monday evening held in the assembly room at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, the house of Mr. Joseph Lowe. An excellent meal was served, and it was heartily partaken of.

After the meal Mr. George R. Yates took the chair.....”

County Express 6/2/1909

“The death took place on Thursday morning, at the age of 84, of Mr. Thomas Lowe, father of Mr. Joseph Lowe, landlord of the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath. The deceased was for about 50 years manager of the firm of Messrs. Emanuel and Son, late of the Audnam Foundry, Brettell Lane. For some years he kept an off-licensed house at Camphill, Wordsley.”

Tipton Herald 13/2/1909

“On Tuesday the remains of the late Mr. Thomas Lowe, father of Mr. Joseph Lowe, of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, were taken to their last resting place and interred at Wordsley Church, where the rest of the family are interred.....”

County Express 20/3/1909

“ANCHOR HOTEL Assembly Room, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.

A. H. Sidaway is instructed to Sell By Auction, on Monday, March 29th, 1909, a Manufacturer’s Stock of Carpets and Rugs, comprising English Axminster, Wilton Pile, Brussels, Tapestry, Stair and Corridor Carpet, Real Turkey Carpets, &c.

Sale at 2.30 and 7 o’clock pm.

Catalogues may be obtained from the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 10/4/1909

“The death occurred on Saturday at the age of 47 years, of Mr. Joseph Husselbee, brother of Mrs. Joseph Lowe, ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath. Deceased had been ill two months, his complaint being acute pneumonia. The interment was at Wordsley on Wednesday.....”

Tipton Herald 24/4/1909

“A serious accident occurred in the High Street, in Cradley, on Monday. A youth named Fred Lowe, son of Mr. Joseph Lowe, of the ANCHOR HOTEL, was riding with a friend in the direction of Cradley Heath, and whilst endeavouring to negotiate the main street the brake gave way, and the machine [cycle] tore down the incline at a terrific rate. As he approached Mr. Dentith’s confectioner’s shop – an awkward bend – he noticed a woman crossing the road, and it was while trying to steer clear of her that he ran with great force into the kerbstone. The result of the impact was that young Lowe was thrown headlong into Mr. Dentith’s shop window. He sustained a severe bruise on the head, and several small ones on the face. He was attended by Dr. Waugh. The machine, on which there was only one brake, was completely wrecked.”

County Express 5/6/1909

“The members of the Cradley Heath and District Fanciers’ Association held a members’ or table show on Wednesday at the ANCHOR HOTEL. Over 50 entries faced the judges, Messrs. Yates and Fox. The principal winners were Messrs Roper, Cox, Grainger, Willetts, Stevens, Boxley, Broadhurst, Capewell, Harris, and Palmer.”

County Express 3/7/1909

“A meeting of the Cradley Heath and District Fanciers’ Association was held at the ANCHOR HOTEL on Tuesday, when the following judges were appointed for the third annual show to be held on November 24th and 25th: Mr. P. Proud, Southport (poultry and cage birds), Mr. F. Machin, Moseley (pigeons), and Mr. E. Sidaway, Cradley Heath (rabbits). The society are offering six challenge cups for competition as follows: for open poultry, one given by Mr. F. G. Sykes, and one by the society; for members’ poultry, one given by Mr. G. R. Yates and one by Mr. C. P. A. Harris; for members’ pigeons, one by Mr. H. Stevens; and for open pigeons, one by Major Boscawen.”

Tipton Herald 14/8/1909

“On Wednesday night a billiard match for suppers was played on the table at the ANCHOR HOTEL, the supper being partaken of the following evening. After the meal Mr. A. Pearson was voted to the chair, and the evening was spent convivially.....”

Joseph Lowe – see also BULLS HEAD, Cradley, Halesowen.

County Express 8/7/1910

“Under the auspices of the Cradley Heath Fanciers’ Society a smoking concert was held in the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath on Monday evening. Mr. E. Bird (Cradley) presiding over a large attendance. To the programme the following contributed: Messrs. C. Taylor (tenor), F. Evans and Wall Clayton (comedians), W. Stevens (coon singer), A. Stitch and A. Wyre (Indian clubs). Mr. V. Dingley accompanied.”

County Express 6/8/1910

“At Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, an application was made for the transfer of the license of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, from John Davies to Victor Percival Dingley.

Applicant stated that the outgoing tenant was not present, he having left the public-house and gone to reside in South Wales. He had given notice to Supt. Johnson, but it was not in accordance with the requirements of the Act. He asked, however, that the Bench should treat it as a case of urgency.

Supt. Johnson said he had no objection to that course being pursued, and the application was granted.”

County Express 1/10/1910

“Local Auction Summary.

Bulbs Today And Monday, October 3rd.

ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, by Mr. T. Pateshall.”

County Express 14/1/1911

“Cross-Country. Cradley Heath and Halesowen Harriers.

On Saturday a large number of the Cradley Heath and Halesowen harriers journeyed to Yardley to run in the Small Heath harriers junior trial race.

The remainder of the branches ran from the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, and followed a very long trail laid by J. and A. Kirton. The route comprised Foxcote, Hagley Monument, Hagley Park, Clent Hills, and Luttlley. The slow pack received ten minutes start, but missed the trail owing to the semi-darkness, thereby curtailing the route by a mile, and were not sighted by the fasts. In a fast finish T. Turner (Halesowen) beat D. Reece (Cradley Heath). The fasts followed the legitimate course and were out 1 hour and 40 minutes, running three-quarters pace. A. Pateshall and T. H. Jones led the pack in.”

1911 Census

1, Scholding Green Road – ANCHOR INN

[1] Victor Percival Dingley (29), licensed victualler, born Cradley Heath;

[2] Mabel Valentine Dingley (24), wife, married 4 years, assisting in the business, born Maida Vale, London;

[3] Mabel Violet Dingley (3), daughter, born Cradley Heath;

[4] Harriet Walker (62), visitor, lady’s housekeeper, born Halesowen;

[5] Nellie Preece (19), domestic servant, born Quarry Bank:

County Express 22/4/1911 - Advert

“For Sale. About 30 yards of capital pitch-pine close boarded fencing, 6ft 6in high, complete with oak posts, iron stays, and earth plates in sections 8ft long so as to be easily bolted together, coated with pitch and tar; condition as new; Also garden Roller, 20in diameter, double cylinders, with well rounded edges, balance handle; weight about 4cwt; can be easily moved about by a boy, only slightly used since new. Very good Lawn Mower, 10in cutters complete with grass box (Silensmessor), Green’s patent. Good strong Wooden Shed, corrugated roof, 24ft long 7ft wide, about 10ft high, with doors and shutter complete, suitable as a tool house, small workshop, or convenient for a farmer’s use.

The above are now stored at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, and can be seen on appointment on application to the Manager.”

County Express 15/7/1911

“Football. Cradley Heath & District League. The secretary had received applications from a number of clubs, and the committee have secured for headquarters the ANCHOR HOTEL, Fiveways, Cradley Heath (proprietor Mr. Victor Dingley). A silver challenge cup, together with gold-centre medals for runners-up, are on view at the shop of Messrs. Barran and Co., Tailors, High Street, Dudley.

Full particulars apply to league secretary, Joseph Stanton, 84, Mushroom Green, near Old Hill.”

County Express 29/7/1911

“On Saturday the annual meeting of Court Foresters’ Home, 1496, A.O.F., was held at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, Bro. C. Southall presiding over a good attendance. The half-yearly accounts were presented, and showed a marked improvement. A vote of thanks was passed to the auditors. During the evening Dr. G. H. Waugh was made an honorary member of the Court, and in returning the thanks he paid a special compliment to the excellent work done by the friendly societies of the district. Drs. T. M. Tibbetts, G. H. Waugh, and E. Fryer were re-elected as medical men for the next year. The whole of the other officers were re-elected.”

County Express 23/9/1911

“Sports Notices. Football. A meeting of the Cradley Heath League will be held at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday evening, at 8pm.”

County Advertiser 14/12/1912

“At Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, Robert William Botfield, licensee of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, applied for an occasional license in respect of the Victoria Hall, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, on the occasion of the Cradley Heath and district fanciers’ annual show. It was, he explained, the first application to be made to that Court, although the show had been held for six years.

The Bench decided to grant the application as an experiment.”

Robert William Botfield – see also BEEHIVE and BELL, Cradley Heath, and BLUE BALL, Old Hill.

John Denning – see also CROWN AND ANCHOR.

Birmingham Daily Post 26/6/1918

“The dead body of a man named Alfred John Adams (26), a tea merchant’s traveller, residing at Corporation Street, Wednesbury, was found suspended from a rope attached to a ladder in the yard at the rear of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, yesterday. Adams left home on Monday, but how he got to Cradley Heath is a present a mystery. He was a discharged soldier.”

County Express 26/3/1921

“On Thursday last week at the ANCHOR HOTEL the distribution of cups won at the recent open and members’ show of the Fanciers Society, took place.....”

Sports Argus 10/6/1922

“Cradley Heath and District League.

The eleventh annual presentation of trophies and medals will take place at headquarters, ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday, 20, June. It is hoped that Mr. Charles Crump, the president of the Birmingham County FA, will be able to present, and also the league’s president, Mr. C. H. Sitch, MP, while several prominent members have promised their presence. Invitations will be issued by the secretary, but should anyone interested be over-looked a message to the secretary will bring a ticket of admission.”

Harold Jasper was married to Lilian.

See also HOLLY BUSH and SWAN.

Sports Argus 20/6/1925

“The Cradley Heath and District Amateur Football League will hold its fourteenth annual presentation of cups, shields and medals on Monday next, 22 June, at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, commencing at 7.30pm. The league is presenting nearly 250 medals.....”

Midland Advertiser 25/1/1930

“The South Staffordshire Roller Canary Club held its annual exhibition at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Wednesday and Thursday. There were about 200 entries and the singing was of a high standard.”

Dudley Herald 24/1/1931

“The eleventh annual open exhibition of roller canaries, under the auspices of the South Staffordshire Roller Club, which is affiliated with the British Roller Canary Association, and is probably the second largest club in the country, having over a hundred members, was held at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Wednesday and Thursday last.

The entries were rather less than last year, numbering just under 200, due, no doubt, to the condition of trade, but although the quantity was lower, the quality was higher, especially among the birds of local fanciers.

There were entries from all parts of the British Isles, but the major prizes were all carried off by Black Country fanciers.....”

Dudley Herald 31/1/1931

“The first open show of the recently revived Cradley Heath and District Fanciers Society was held on Saturday last at the ANCHOR HOTEL, Dudley Wood Road. Some splendid birds were included among the 250 entries, and the tasks of the judges were rendered an extremely difficult one. The cup for the best fowl in the show was secured by J. Baker, and that of the best opposite sex went to J. Taylor, whilst Messrs. Hobbs and Hope well carried off the trophy for the most points gained.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 9/2/1939

“The Rev. W. C. Chrimes, Methodist Minister of Cradley Heath, objected on behalf of the local Free Church Council, and some of the local clergy, to the removal of the license of the ANCHOR HOTEL, Five Ways, Cradley Heath to premises to be erected at Surfeit Hill, Cradley Heath, which is on the fringe of a municipal housing estate.

Mr. P. Thorneycroft, MP, in making the application, said the removal of the license from Five Ways would be no hardship to that part of the district because it was well supplied with public-houses, whereas there were 447 new houses in the vicinity of Surfeit Hill which needed catering for.

Mr. Chrimes said that already there were considerable arrears in rent on municipal estates, and he prophesied a considerable increase if the removal were granted.

The application was refused.”

1939 Register

1, Dudley Wood Road – ANCHOR HOTEL

[1] George Pearson, date of birth 31/8/1898, tenant, publican, married;

[2] Miriam Pearson, dob 29/1/1909, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[5] Vera (May) (Round) Howes, dob 12/6/1916, domestic servant, single:

Evening Despatch 5/3/1941

“Rowley Regis licensing justices at their adjourned annual meeting today renewed the licenses of the SALUTATION and ANCHOR public houses, Cradley Heath, deferred from the last meeting and referred that of the LION INN, Cradley Road, Cradley Heath, on the grounds of redundancy. It was stated that within a radius of 500 yards there were 20 fully licensed house, six beer-houses and one off license.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 3/5/1941

“County Licensing Confirmation Committee.....

Application for the confirmation of a grant for the removal of the full licence of the ANCHOR INN, Dudley Wood Road, Cradley Heath, to premises to be erected on land and premises now numbered 8, Surfeit Hill, Cradley Heath.....

Mr. H. A. Tucker (barrister), who appeared in support of the application, said the ANCHOR INN belonged to the Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd, who also owned the proposed new site. The ANCHOR INN was a fully licensed house doing a good trade, but there were other licensed houses in that area, whereas there was no proper provision for licensed refreshments in the area to which it was proposed to move the licence. The value of the ANCHOR INN was assessed at £5,000, and the value of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, which it was proposed to surrender if the application were granted, was assessed at £3,000.....

Evidence was also given by Albert Thomas Butler, architect, who, in reply to the Chairman, said that under normal conditions it would take about 18 months to build the new house. He agreed that it was unlikely that building would be commenced until the war had ended.....

After a retirement the Chairman announced that the committee were unable to confirm the transfer that day, but they would be willing to consider another application when there was a likelihood of the new licensed house being erected.”

Tipton Herald 22/9/1956

“Cradley Heath Old Age Pensioners Christmas Party Fund will be richer on October 3rd by £55. The money, which will be presented at the SWAN INN, Cradley Heath, is the net result of the newly-formed Detheridge darts competition.

All told, 34 teams from Cradley Heath and its neighbouring districts took part in the competition which was eventually won in front of a 300 crowd by the BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, who beat the ANCHOR ‘B’ team, also of Cradley Heath.

Secretary C. Burtlett tells me next year's competition will commence some time in March and is expected to attract an even greater number of entries."

Tipton Herald 27/8/1960

"Tipton team wins Butler Cup.

The final of the competition took place at the OLD SWAN on Thursday week, the finalists being FOUR WAYS, Cradley Heath, and NOAHS ARK, Tipton.....

Councillor Bill Harris presented the cup and four prizes to the winners, and the T. Lawton Cup and four prizes to the runners-up; H. Price Cup and four prizes to the JOLLY GOODFELLOW, Woodside, the best losing semi-finalists. Four prizes went to the GOLDEN CROSS, semi-finalists. The highest score prize went to G. Willetts (ANCHOR, Cradley Heath), highest finish prize to R. Langford (NOAHS ARK), and the Henn Cup and prize to GOLDEN CROSS for the highest collection. After meeting expenses £23 was handed to the Old Folks Fund."

[Darts]

Denis Priest was married to Joan.

A team from here took part in the Cradley Heath Darts League. [1970]

[2001]

Closed [2002]

Reopened

It was subject to Compulsory Purchase Order in December 2003.

Closed

It was demolished in 2004.

APPLE TREE

Hyatt's Colliery, (Dog Lane), Knoll, [Knowle], ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Joseph Danks [1847] – 1850;

Richard Holmes (1850 – [1854])

NOTES

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 1/11/1847 - Advert

"Sale of Cast Iron Rails and Sleepers.

To be Sold by Auction by Mr. Jesse Wright, Tomorrow (Tuesday), November 2, at twelve o'clock precisely, on the banks of the Netherton and Selly Oak canal, in the basin belonging to the Alkali Works, in the parish of Rowley Regis, about ten tons of Cast-Iron Rails and Sleepers, in such lot or lots as the company may agree upon at the time of sale, under a consignment for sale to Mr. Joseph Danks, of the APPPLE TREE Public House, near the said Works.

The whole to be sold without reserve."

Joseph Danks was also a steam boiler manufacturer. [1849], [1850]

[Was this the same Joseph Danks as at the HAILSTONE and RED COW?]

Richard Holmes = Richard Homes

1851 Census

Dog Lane

[1] Richard Homes (35), nail warehouse clerk, born Stourport;

[2] Emma Homes (30), wife, born Dudley;

[3] Sarah Ann Plant (19), servant, born West Bromwich:

Closed

BARLEY MOW

91, (60), Dudley Road, Knowle, (Springfields), ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Joseph Tibbetts Snr. [1900]
Thomas Benjamin Williams and Lizzie Bates, Rowley Regis

LICENSEES

Benjamin Cope [1879] – [1884]
Joseph Tibbetts Snr. [1887]
James Bray [1891]
John Dunn [1895]
Joseph Tibbetts Jnr. (1896 – 1911);
William Arthur Moore (1911 – 1912);
Joseph Tibbetts Jnr. (1912 – []
Mary Ann Sidaway [] – 1919);
Edward Sidaway (1919 – 1926);
Horace Edmunds (1926 – 1928):

NOTES

It had an ante '69 beerhouse license.

Dudley Herald 13/9/1879

“Enoch Powell was charged with being unlawfully drunk on the premises of Benjamin Cope, landlord of the BARLEY MOW, Springfield, and also with refusing to quit the said premises, on the 4th inst. The case being proved, defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs.”

1881 Census

60, Dudley Road

- [1] Benjamin Cope (39), beerhouse keeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Matilda Cope (34), wife, born Tipton;
- [3] Sarah Ann Jones (19), domestic servant, born Dudley:

West Bromwich Weekly News 22/10/1881

“An inquest was held on Wednesday, at the BARLEY MOW INN, Springfields, before Mr. E. Hooper, touching the death of Samuel Millward (6), whose parents reside at Whitehouse’s Yard, Springfields.

Hannah Millward, mother, said the deceased complained to her about a pain in his knee on Wednesday last, consequent on the injuries he received. The leg began to swell, and he was unable to walk. On Saturday she brought him down stairs and in a short time he was taken with a fit, which was followed by another in which he died about nine o’clock.

A verdict of Accidental Death was returned by the jury.”

Dudley and District News 17/6/1882

“Mr. Edwin Hooper (District Coroner) held an inquest at the BARLEY MOW INN, Springfield, The Knowle, on Wednesday, touching the death of George Stanford, aged one year and ten months, who was found dead in a well. During the temporary absence of his mother – who is a widow – on Saturday morning the deceased went into a garden, crept through a fence, and fell into a shallow well and was drowned. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Dudley and District News 15/9/1883

“An inquest was held on Monday at the BARLEY MOW INN, Springfield, Rowley, upon the body of Thomas Millward, an engineer, of Albion Street, Brades Village, whose body was found in the reservoir at the Twin Pits, Round’s Green. The deceased had been strange in his manner for some time, and consequently had been watched. On Thursday morning he left home to go to work, and was shortly afterwards prevented from leaping down a pit shaft by a man who happened to be passing. A verdict of Suicide whilst in a state of Temporary Insanity was returned.”

Dudley and District News 14/6/1884

“Luke Taylor, a youth, was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of Benjamin Cope. The defendant went into the BARLEY MOW, Springfield on the night of the third inst, the worse for drink. He became very abusive, and refused to leave the house. Cope ejected him several times, and in the scuffles the defendant broke three panes of glass. He went into the yard, picked up a stone, and was about to throw it into a window when his arm was arrested. Defendant admitted the charge, and had nothing to say in reply. The Bench said this was a bad case, and with a view of teaching the defendant a lesson they fined him 40s and costs or one month.

Defendant: I'll have the month.”

Birmingham Daily Post 21/7/1887

“At Old Hill Police Court yesterday, James Southwick, landlord of the YEW TREE INN, Blackheath; Isaac Mullett, landlord of the HAWTHORN INN; Joseph Tromans, landlord of the BOAT INN, Gosty Hill; James Lovatt of the PORTWAY TAVERN, Perry Lake, Rowley; Henry Cooper of the THREE FURNACES, Old Hill; and Joseph Tibbets, Spring Fields Rowley, were summoned by the Excise officials for adding sugar to beer after the duty had been taken, between the dates of April 18 and 27.

Mr. Davis stated that the defendants added a quantity of sugar to the beer after the Excise officers had been round and taken the duty. Books were supplied by the Inland Revenue, in which the quantity of sugar and other ingredients used was entered. Upon visiting the defendant's premises it was found that sugar had been added which was capable of raising the standard of ale from what was twopenny up to sixpenny.

Mr. Shakespeare, who defended, pleaded guilty to the charge, but pointed out that the defendants were ignorant of the law, and were not aware they were doing wrong. Their object in adding the sugar was to give the beer a ‘head,’ which made it clear and palatable. There was no intention of defrauding the Inland Revenue.

Mr. Davis stated that in one case the gravity of the ale was increased from 66 to 77 degrees.

Mr. Shakespeare asked that a nominal penalty be inflicted.

Defendants were fined £20 each, including costs, the aggregated amount of the penalties being £120.”

County Express 22/3/1890

“During Sunday thieves broke into the BARLEY MOW INN, Dudley Road, Springfield, and took 5s in money and a jacket. A pigeon-house was afterwards visited and thirteen valuable pigeons, belonging to Mr. Benjamin Woodhouse, were stolen. An examination of the premises by the police showed that the thieves gained admittance by forcing a cellar window.”

Birmingham Daily Post 3/4/1890

“Yesterday, at the Police Court, Martha Crump, BARLEY MOW INN, Springfield, Rowley Regis was charged with assaulting Sarah Cooper, on the 25th of March. A dispute arose between the parties in question, when a fight ensued, in the course of which the complainant was knocked down by a blow from Mrs. Crump, and kicked whilst on the ground. The defence was that complainant was the aggressor. The Bench fined defendant 10s and costs, and bound her over to keep the peace for three months.”

1891 Census

60, Dudley Road – BARLEY MOW INN

- [1] James Bray (64), widower, publican, born Pansom, Herefordshire;
- [2] James Bray (25), son, assistant, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Martha Crump (30), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Crump (31), son-in-law, railway labourer, born Newport, Monmouthshire;
- [5] Hugh Bray Crump (2), grandson, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Helen Crump (1), granddaughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Gilbert Crump (2 months), grandson, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Richard Lease (51), visitor, living on his own means, born Dawley, Shropshire:

County Advertiser 13/10/1894

“Joseph Taylor, miner, Springfield, Rowley, was charged with assaulting Reuben Musty on the 30th ult. Complainant was in the BARLEY MOW INN, Springfield, about nine o'clock in the evening, when defendant, without any provocation, struck him a blow on the eye. Defendant was fined 13s, including costs.”

County Advertiser 14/9/1895

“Luke and Matthew Taylor, of Springfield, Rowley, were charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of the BARLEY MOW INN, Springfield, Rowley, kept by John Dunn, and further with assaulting the latter, on the 7th inst. Complainant stated that on the date named both defendants came into the house and commenced to create a disturbance by knocking on the table and making the glasses jump. Both the men were drunk. Complainant asked them in a civil manner to go out, and they refused to go. Complainant went up to them to put them out, and thereupon Luke caught hold of him by the throat. Witness had great difficulty in getting defendants out, and they afterwards came in again. It took nine or ten men to get them out, and they behaved like ‘ranging bears.’

Defendants denied the assault. Defendants were fined 28s each, including costs.”

County Advertiser 12/12/1896

“Thomas Hampton, collier, Springfields, Rowley, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the BARLEY MOW INN, Springfields, on the 5th inst. The evidence showed that defendant went into the house and asked for some drink, with which he was supplied. He then became disorderly, and was requested to leave. Defendant refused, and as he had continued to create a disturbance was expelled. He came back to the house, and eventually the police had to be called in. Defendant said he did not want to leave the house as he was unwell. Defendant was fined 10s and costs.”

County Advertiser 1/5/1897

“William Crowe, a native of Rowley, was charged with assaulting Joseph Tibbetts, junior, and also with being drunk and disorderly on the licensed premises of the BARLEY MOW, Springfield, Rowley, and refusing to quit the same on 13th September, 1896. Prosecutor said that defendant came into the house about half-past eight in the evening, and asked for some ale. Witness refused to supply him as he was the worse for beer, and asked him to leave the house. Defendant refused to go until he had the beer, and struck him a violent blow in the eye. Defendant forced him to the ground, and struck him while on the ground. Defendant was fined 10s and costs in each case.”

Joseph Tibbetts, beer retailer, 60, Dudley Road. [1900]

County Express 28/7/1900 - Notice

“To the Overseers of the Poor of the Parish of Rowley Regis in the County of Stafford, and to the Superintendent of Police of the District in which the House therein after mentioned is situate, and to all it may concern.

I, Joseph Tibbetts, junior, Beerhouse Keeper, now residing at Dudley Road, Rowley Regis, in the Parish of Rowley Regis in the County of Stafford, do Hereby Give Notice that it is my intention to apply at the General Annual Licensing Meeting, for the Division of Rowley Regis, to be holden at the Public Office at Old Hill, in the said County, on Wednesday, the 22nd day of August, 1900, for the Grant of a License or Certification, authorising me to apply for and hold an Excise License for the Sale by Retail, at a House and Premises known as the BARLEY MOW, and situate in Dudley Road, Rowley Regis, in the Parish of Rowley Regis aforesaid, of Wine to be consumed either on or off the Premises, in pursuance of the Act 28 Victoria, Cap.27, Sections 7 and 8, and Acts amending the same, of which said Premises Joseph Tibbetts, senior, is the owner, and the same are of the annual value and are otherwise qualified as required by law, and are now in my own occupation.

Given under my hand this 19th day of July, 1900.

Joseph Tibbetts, Jun.

Witness: W. Stanley Mobberley.”

County Express 25/8/1900

“The annual licensing sessions for the petty sessional division of Rowley Regis were held on Wednesday, at the Court House, Old Hill. The magistrates present were Messrs. W. Bassano (chairman), G. Green, and J. W. Tilley.....

Mr. W. S. Mobberley supported an application for a license to sell wine ‘on and off’ at the beerhouse, the BARLEY MOW INN, Springfield, Rowley Regis, kept by Mr. Joseph Tibbetts. Mr. Tinsley opposed on behalf of another licensed victualler in the district. It was stated that the house was situated about half-way between Rowley and Dudley on the main road. The applicant had kept the house for four years, and there had been no conviction or complaint against him. Travellers frequently asked for wine, but had to be refused, and were sent to the ROYAL OAK, a fully licensed house situated 180 yards away. Mr. Tinsley’s objection was that the district was adequately served by the other houses round, and the Bench refused to grant the application.”

1901 Census

60, Dudley Road

[1] Joseph Tibbetts (34), brewer, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Priscilla Tibbetts (31), wife, born Lye;

[3] George Hatton (23), brother-in-law, single, labourer at pipe works, born Lye;

[4] Florence Homer (21), domestic servant, born Quarry Bank:

County Express 22/11/1902

“Mr. Tibbetts, landlord of the BARLEY MOW INN, Springfields, Rowley, applied for the sanction of the Bench to erect a club room upon his licensed premises.

Mr. Bassano said the magistrates were strongly opposed to granting permission to provide facilities for increased drinking. Mr. Tibbetts explained that owing to the increased population in the district, and the desirability of holding clubs on his licensed premises, he found it necessary to apply for the increased accommodation.

The Bench deferred the consideration of the question until the Licensing Sessions.”

Tipton Herald 21/11/1903

“A harvest supper was held at Mr. J. Tibbetts’s, BARLEY MOW INN, Springfield, Rowley, on Thursday se-night, at which a good number were present. After ample justice had been done to the good things provided by the host and hostess the remainder of the evening was spent in harmony. Mr. James Shingleton, the famous singing collier, was voted to the chair.....”

1911 Census

91, Dudley Road – BARLEY MOW INN

[1] William Arthur Moore (25), brewer and retailer, born Dudley;

- [2] Ada Alice Moore (28), wife, married 4 years, assisting in business, born Rotherhithe, London;
[3] Ada Alice Stone (9), step-daughter, born Rotherhithe, London;
[4] Ivy Marguerite Moore (3), daughter, born Hamilton, Canada:

Birmingham Daily Gazette 12/2/1920

“At the annual licensing sessions for Old Hill yesterday, Inspector Robotham objected to the renewal of the licenses of the ROYAL EXCHANGE, Tividale, and the BARLEY MOW, Springfield, on the grounds of redundancy.”

Dudley Chronicle 5/6/1920 - Advert

“To Brewers. Notice of Sale by Auction of Seven Valuable Freehold Fully-Licensed and On-Berhouses, with Cottages and Lands, in and around Dudley and District.

Alfred W. Dando & Co. have received instructions to Sell by Auction, at the DUDLEY ARMS HOTEL, Dudley, on Tuesday, June 8th, 1920, at Seven o'clock in the Evening precisely, subject to Conditions of Sale then to be produced, as follows.....

BARLEY MOW INN, Springfield, near Dudley (Beerhouse On), under Management, together with a Valuable Plot of Building Land adjoining, occupying an area of 850 Square Yards or thereabouts.....

The Auctioneers desire to call attention to the above important Sale of Licensed Properties, which are situate in well-populated districts, several being close to large works, and all capable of doing excellent trades. The houses are held either on short tenancies or under management, so that early possession of all may, if required, be had, or in the meantime purchasers will have the advantage of the valuable trading agreements.....”

Dudley Chronicle 16/2/1928

“Annual Licensing Sessions for Rowley Regis.....

They had all the applications for renewals before them, and they had given consideration to them with a view to reducing their number. They had decided to defer until the adjourned licensing day the licenses of.....

BARLEY MOW, Dudley Road, Rowley, on the ground of redundancy.”

The license renewal was referred to the Compensation Authority, on the grounds of redundancy, on 7th March 1928.

Staffordshire Advertiser 21/7/1928

“The principal meeting of the Licensing Compensation Authority for the county was held at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Monday, when 14 licenses which had been scheduled by the licensing justices, mostly from the South Staffordshire area, came under consideration. Of these three were renewed and the remainder were referred for compensation.....

In the following cases no opposition was offered to the referring of the licences for compensation and the action of the justices in each case was confirmed.....

BARLEY MOW, Springfield, Dudley (Horace Edmunds), ante-'69 beerhouse.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 4/8/1928 - Notice

“The Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910. County Of Stafford.

Notice Is Hereby Given, that the Compensation Authority for the above area, having decided at their Principal Meeting, held on the 16th day of July, 1928, to Refuse the Renewal of the Licenses of the Premises specified below, all persons claiming to be interested in the said premises for the purpose of the payment of Compensation under the said Act (other than the Licensee, and the Registered Owner of the said Premises) are required to send to the Compensation Authority notice of their Claims before the 14th day of September, 1928, for the purpose of enabling the Compensation Authority to ascertain in manner provided by the Licensing Rules, 1910, the persons entitled to Compensation under the said Act in respect of the said Premises.....

BARLEY MOW, Springfields, Rowley Regis. Beerhouse ante 1869. Licensee, Horace Edmunds. Registered Owners, Thomas Benjamin Williams and Lizzie Bate.”

Compensation was paid on 22nd December 1928.

The house closed on 29th December 1928.

Staffordshire Advertiser 5/1/1929

“County Quarter Sessions. Licensing Compensation Awards.

At the Supplemental meeting the committee awarded a total sum of £15,230 in compensation, and considered that the amounts agreed upon were satisfactory both from the point of view of the parties interested and the Compensation Fund. The amounts approved were as follows.....

BARLEY MOW, Rowley Regis, beerhouse, ante 1869, £1,375.

The amounts awarded had been apportioned between the interested parties and paid.”

BARLEY MOW

115, City Road, Oakham, (2, The City), Tividale, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Thomas Benjamin Williams and Lizzie Bate, Rowley Regis [1919]
Ansells Ltd. (acquired on 15th June 1946)
Holt, Plant and Deakin (1984 – [1991])

LICENSEES

John Bagnall [] 1st licensee
Joseph Cox [1855] – 1860);
William Griffiths (1860 – 1864);
John Wainwright (1864 – 1866);
Sarah Wainwright (1866 – 1867);
Arthur Wise (1867 – 1869);
John Pleydon (1869 – 1881);
Henry Walton (1881 – []
Thomas Plant [1888] – [1912]
Thomas Frederick Holland [1911]
Edward Cole [1916] – 1925);
Ann Maria Cole (1925 – 1927);
Fred Harrison (1927 – 1930);
William Harris (1930 – 1940);
Thomas Smith (1940 – 1949);
John Clifford Smith (1949 – 1959);
John Smith (1959 – 1961);
Stanley Clarke Withers (1961);
Frederick Hewitt (1961 – 1963);
William Fox (1963 – [1965]
John Stait [1982]
Colin Waring (1984 – [1987]
Colin Sandel [1993]
Diane Murphy (1998 – [2000]
Ivan Munnely (2001 – [2003])

NOTES

City [1896], [1904]
2, The City [1881], [1891]
115, City Road [1940]

Black Country Bugle (October 1984) - Pub of the Month

“.....John Bagnall, who was transferred from farmer status to coal master almost overnight, when trial borings on his land struck coal at a depth of 230 yards and Bagnall’s Farm was quickly converted into a beer house.”

It was the headquarters of Oakham United FC. They changed here.

Wolverhampton Chronicle 29/8/1855

“Stewpony Annual General Licensing Meeting, for the granting and renewing of licenses, took place on Tuesday last..... There were 30 applicants for spirit licenses, out of which number the 11 under-mentioned were successful.....
Joseph Cox, in the ‘City’ of Rowley.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 30/3/1865

“A little more than a fortnight ago the bodies of two newly-born illegitimate male infants were discovered in the Old Cross Quarry, on the hills of Rowley. They were laid one on top of the other, and covered with stones and soil, the topmost child being found alive, although it expired in a few minutes after it was found. The evidence taken at the previous Coroner’s inquiries on the subject went to show that both children had been born alive, and both had died from syncope, brought on by congestion of the lungs, which was originated by the covering of the bodies with earth and exposure to cold. The mother of the deceased is a young unmarried female named Mary Smith, and the inquest was adjourned for the police to make further inquiry. Yesterday the inquest was resumed at the TALBOT HOTEL, Oldbury, before Mr. R. Docker, the District Coroner. Superintendent Overend of Hales Owen, and Superintendent Mills, of the Brierly Hill Police were present. Mr. H. Jackson attended on behalf of the mother of the deceased.

Several witnesses were examined, inclusive of a man named Vaughan, the reputed father of the children. He admitted having visited Mary Smith on the 14th inst at the BARLEY MOW INN, Rowley. She told him she had been confined on the Rowley Hills, but did not tell him more. He refused to relieve her, and left the house. He had given her money on several occasions. Did not know who was the father of the children.

The inquest was adjourned till Monday week, for the police to make further inquiry into the matter, and to enable the mother of the deceased, who had not yet recovered from her confinement to be brought up in the Coroner's Court."

Stourbridge Observer 15/4/1865

"On Monday afternoon at the TALBOT HOTEL, Oldbury, the enquiry which had been adjourned from the 29th ult, touching the death of the twin male infants discovered in the margin of a quarry on the Rowley Hills, near Rounds Green, on Tuesday, the 14th of March, was resumed before R. Docker, Esq, Coroner. The particulars of the occurrence have already appeared in full in the Observer. Mr. Overend, Superintendent of Police, of Halesowen, and Mr. Mills, Superintendent of Police, of Brierley Hill, were present. Mr. Jackson, solicitor, West Bromwich, appeared on behalf of the woman Smith, to watch the case. Having been duly cautioned by the learned Coroner, and the depositions having been fully read over to her, she made the following statement. 'On the day the children were born, I was coming from Dudley, and as I was coming across the hills I was suddenly taken by the pains of labour, near the place where the children were found. The children were born shortly after. As soon as I could I got to the first place I could find to get some one who might fetch the children away. I was quite alone at the time of their birth. After they were born I staid with them till I had almost endangered my own life. I was in that state that I did not know where I was or what I was doing. I made sure the two children were dead before I left them.' The learned Coroner then summed up analysing the evidence carefully, and the Jury, after nearly two hours deliberation, returned the following special verdict, two gentlemen out of the fourteen dissenting. That Mary Smith is the mother of the children; that death was produced by suffocation; that suffocation was produced by the act of Mary Smith through labour coming on at a time and place when she did not expect it."

Worcester Journal 22/7/1865

"Worcestershire Summer Assizes.....

Mary Smith, domestic servant, was indicted for the wilful murder of her two male children, at the parish of Rowley Regis, on 14th March, 1865. Mr. Motteram and Mr. Warren were for the prosecution, and Mr. Sawyer, at the request of the learned judge was for the defence.

Mr. Motteram, in opening the case for the prosecution, gave the facts of the case, which are as follows. The young woman who is rather ordinary-looking, had the misfortune of falling a victim to the evil designs of a married man, named Vaughan, a miner, to whom she stood in the relation of niece, and on 14th March, a very cold day, she was walking across the Rowley Hills, from Dudley, and while pursuing her journey, she was suddenly seized with pains of labour, and was delivered of two male children, over which she seems to have sprinkled a small quantity of earth. She then, with considerable difficulty, made her way to the nearest public house, the BARLEY MOW, and sent for Vaughan, the father of the children, who, after staying with her for a few minutes, left her, saying he could not help her. The same afternoon two men, accompanied by a dog, were going over the hills, and their attention was drawn to a small heap of dirt by the dog scratching at the place. On their proceeding to the spot they saw the leg of a child, which moved. One of the men feeling afraid, went and stayed at a cottage until his companion, who had gone to Oldbury for assistance, returned and brought with him a police-constable and a surgeon. All three went to the place, where the child was, and, on the earth being removed, two newly-born male children were found, the one dead and the other alive. Both were placed in a basket, and taken to the PRINCE OF WALES public house, but before being placed in the basket the child found alive died. Having thus stated the case, the learned counsel said if the circumstances of the case did not lead the jury to find a verdict of wilful murder against the prisoner, they could either find her guilty of manslaughter or acquit her of the charge altogether.

Charles Archer, labourer, stated that on 14th March he, in company with a man named Reuben Wood, was on the Rowley Hills. They had a little dog with them. Their attention was drawn to a little heap of earth, and when witness moved the earth with his foot he saw a child's leg. The child began to cry and its leg moved before Wood came up. When Wood arrived he said he would go for a policeman, and started for Oldbury, while witness went to a cottage which was near, leaving the children as they were. When Wood came back with PS Simmons, they all went to the place where the children were, and witness saw Simmons pick up two children and take them to the PRINCE OF WALES public house.

Cross-examined: The dirt which covered the child was an inch and a half in depth. He removed the earth with his foot, the same as he should have kicked anything off. He remained at the cottage an hour before he went back. The earth appeared as if it had been put on by hand.

By Mr. Motteram: The children were completely covered over, and witness could not see the least of them. In removing the soil witness touched the leg of the child, and it cried. He did not think he injured it at all.

Reuben Wood, labourer, gave corroborative evidence.

PS Simmons stated that he saw part of the child's leg, body, and face. There was a thin sprinkling of soil upon the bodies, through which he could see. He knocked some of the soil off, and saw a leg and arm move. He then moved the child, and saw a second one lying underneath. The second child was dead. Afterwards apprehended the prisoner, and charged her with leaving her two children exposed on Rowley Hill, and thereby causing their death. She replied, 'I am aware of it.'

Mr. Cooper, jun, surgeon, of Oldbury, said the child lived for about three minutes. Witness made an examination of the child which had been found alive, and discovered a slight abrasion on the leg, but no marks of violence on either. His opinion was that the child which was found dead had died from exposure to the cold, and the one found alive from congestion of the lungs, also the effect of exposure to cold. Witness could form no opinion as to whether the child found dead was alive or dead when put under the soil.

By Mr. Sawyer: There were around the place where the children were found several caves where a child might be thrown. Mr. Cooper, sen, who attended the prisoner on the 14th March, stated that she had given birth to a child within twenty-four hours. On witness questioning her she said she had been delivered of twins when coming over the hills. She believed they were both born alive, and she heard one of them cry several times. She left them where they were found and did not put them under the ground. Witness had previously made no allusion to the children being put under ground.

Mrs. Esther Powell, Westbromwich, stated that prisoner lodged at her house, and left about half-past twelve on the day the children were born. Before she left she had made some baby clothes, and on Friday after she left witness went to see her at her lodgings at Oldbury. She said to prisoner, 'I wish you had picked your babies up and put them in your apron, if they had died on the road.' Prisoner said, 'I wish I had.'

Sarah Wainwright, landlady of the BARLEY MOW, near the Rowley Hill, said prisoner came to her house about four o'clock in the afternoon of the 14th of March, and stayed until eight. She had some brandy, cold. At prisoner's request witness sent for a man named Vaughan, who came, and after staying about five minutes went away. Prisoner then had some hot brandy and said she was cold.

Aron Vaughan, miner, said he had known the prisoner for twenty years. He could not say whether he was the father of the children. He was a married man, and was uncle to the prisoner. Gave the prisoner ten shillings on the Saturday night before the children were born. Saw her on the Tuesday at the BARLEY MOW, when she told him she had been delivered of two children, on Rowley Regis. He told her he could not help her. Prisoner told him that she believed the children were dead when she left them. Elizabeth Skelding, Ann Skelding, and Ann Warlow gave evidence, which contained no new facts.

Mile Overend, Superintendent of Police at Oldbury, said that at the adjourned inquest, held in April, he heard the prisoner make a statement to the effect that, as she was walking over the hills from Dudley the children were born, and she went as fast as she could to get some one to fetch the children away. She did not know where she was, and almost lost her own life, and was well nigh starved to death.

Mr. Sawyer for the defence, said that he thought all in court would agree with him in arriving at the conclusion that the unfortunate woman was not only not guilty of the crime of murder, but of any offence against the law. He alluded to the preparations made by the woman for providing clothes for her children, and said the evidence showed that she had behaved to her children in the most gentle manner possible.

The learned Judge, in summing up, laid before the jury the distinction between the crime of murder and manslaughter, saying that if the prisoner was found guilty those were the only two crimes brought into question, that the concealment of birth having no connection with the case.

The jury found the prisoner not guilty, and she was accordingly acquitted."

Sarah Wainwright died in the 1st quarter of 1867.

County Advertiser 13/4/1867

"At the Police Court, on Wednesday, the license of the BARLEY MOW, Tividale, was transferred from the executors of Sarah Wainwright to Arthur Wise."

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 3/4/1869

"Tim Thomas of Tividale, will run Tom Tye of Birmingham 100 yards level, for £10 a side, and will take expenses to run at Aston Cross. Money ready at the BARLEY MOW, Rowley, or an answer through Bells Life will be attended to."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 20/1/1870

"At the Petty Sessions yesterday, before Messrs. E. Moore and L. W. G. Barrs, a publican named John Pleydon, of the BARLEY MOW, Tividale, was charged with selling ale during prohibited hours. On the evidence of Police-constable Satchwell, it was shown that on Sunday, the 9th instant, five or six men were drinking in a stable on the premises of the defendant, and that in the manger there were two quart jugs of ale. To the inquiry of the Bench as to what he had to say, defendant made reply in rhyme, thus, 'Well, I've nothing at all to say; please to tell me what I've to pay.'

Mr. Moore: You are fined 10s and costs.

Defendant: Why that's more than I have taken since I have been in the house – (laughter)."

Stourbridge Observer 29/1/1870

"James Haines, William Ashcroft, William Ratcliffe, and Matthew Davis, four men, were summoned for drinking in a public house on the 9th instant, during prohibited hours, at Tividale.

Police-constable Satchwell said: I visited Playden's public house about ten minutes past twelve o'clock on the above date, and found the four defendants in the stable. There were two quart jugs of ale, and a half gallon jug filled.

Defendants pleaded guilty, and were fined 1s and costs."

County Express 27/8/1870

"The annual licensing meeting for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held yesterday at COOKSEYS HOTEL..... John Playdon, BARLEY MOW, Tividale were all cautioned in reference to the future conduct of their houses."

1871 Census

City

[1] John Pleydon (38), licensed victualler and farmer, born Piplton, Worcestershire;

- [2] Emma Pleydon (30), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] William Pleydon (2), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Albert Pleydon (9 months), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Agnes Pleydon (4), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Jane Bennett (14), domestic servant, born Tipton:
[Pipton was probably Peopleton, south east of Worcester.]

John Pleydon was also a farmer. [1873]

County Advertiser 22/5/1875

“John Bladen [sic], landlord of the BARLEY MOW INN, Tividale, was charged with permitting drunkenness in his house on the 3rd inst. Mr. Shakespeare defended. Police-constable Given said that at nine o’clock on the night in question he visited the defendant’s house, and found a man present, drunk and asleep. He called the landlady’s attention to the fact, and she instantly requested the man to leave. The Bench thought that the man was drunk, but were not satisfied that the landlord was aware of it. The case was dismissed.”

1881 Census

2, City

- [1] John Pleydon (48), cattle dealer, born Pippleton, Worcestershire;
- [2] Emma Pleydon (40), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Agnes Pleydon (14), daughter, born Tividale;
- [4] William Pleydon (12), son, born Tividale;
- [5] Caroline Pleydon (8), daughter, born Tividale:

County Express 1/9/1888

“Thomas Plant, landlord of the BARLEY MOW, Tividale, was charged with allowing gambling on his premises on the 18th ult. Police-constable Mannering, of Willenhall, said that at 6.50 on the evening in question he went to the defendant’s house in plain clothes, and in the kitchen were fourteen men. A man whom they called Farey reached down a pack of cards from the shelf, and challenged the company to play at cards for a quart of ale. Three men joined and played a game for a quart, and the landlord was near and supplied the beer. Another of the men, named Joe, who was one of the winners in the first game, said he would play anyone for ‘a dry 3d a corner.’ The same two men won again, and the money was paid to the winners. The men began to play another game for the same amount, and witness left. Police-constable Moreton corroborated. Defendant said he was not in the house until seven o’clock on the same evening, and did not supply any beer. The Bench said the case was clearly proved, and the defendant would be fined 20s and costs.”

1891 Census

2, The City – BARLEY MOW INN

- [1] Thomas Plant (32), licensed victualler, born Dudley;
- [2] Jemima Plant (31), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Eliza A. Plant (7), daughter, scholar, born Dudley;
- [4] Ada Shingleton (17), general servant, born Dudley:

County Express 27/6/1891

“Joseph Allmark, Tipton Road, Tividale, was charged with being disorderly on the licensed premises of Thomas Plant, BARLEY MOW, on Sunday. Complainant said defendant came into his house drunk, and when requested refused to leave. When witness tried to get him out they fell, and witness received an injury to his head. Fined 5s and costs, or fourteen days.”

1901 Census

The City, Oakham

- [1] Thomas Plant (41), licensed victualler, born Kates Hill;
- [2] Jemima Plant (40), wife, born Kates Hill;
- [3] Eliza Ann Plant (17), daughter, born Kates Hill;
- [4] Jemima Plant (7), daughter, born Kates Hill:

1911 Census

near Dudley – BARLEY MOW INN

- [1] Thomas F. Holland (32), licensed victualler, born Thorne, Staffordshire;
- [2] Fanny Holland (32), wife, married 10 years, born Wednesbury;
- [3] Fred Holland (9), son, school, born Great Bridge;
- [4] Madeline Holland (6), daughter, school, born Rowley;
- [5] Leslie Holland (4), son, born Rowley;

[6] Thomas Holland (2), son, born Rowley;

[7] John Willie Holland (1 month), son, born The City, Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Daily Gazette 14/4/1926

“A horse driven by William Cole, who formerly lived at BARLEY MOW, Gipsy Lane, Tividale, took fright at Brades Bridge yesterday. In making a plucky effort to stop the runaway, Cole got entangled in the reins and fell beneath his own cart, being killed.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 17/4/1926

“A verdict of Accidental Death was returned at the inquest at Tividale yesterday on William Coles, aged 39, haulier, residing with his mother, the licensee of the BARLEY MOW INN, City, Oakham, Rowley Regis, who it was stated was in charge of a horse attached to an empty tip-cart when the animal took fright and bolted on Tuesday. Coles tried to hold the horse in check, but was unsuccessful, one of the reins snapping. He climbed over the front of the vehicle on to one of the shafts, and then apparently got his feet entangled in the reins. He fell to the ground, and one of the wheels passed over his head.”

AND

Dudley Chronicle 22/4/1926

“The South Staffordshire Coroner (Mr. W. C. Checkley) held an inquest on Friday at the ASH TREE INN, Tividale, on the death of William Cole, aged 39, a widower, who resided with his mother at the BARLEY MOW, Oakham.

Joseph Cole, a stone-sett worker, and a brother of the deceased, said the latter left for work with his horse and cart, on April 13th at 7am. At 5.15pm witness was told that his brother had met with an accident in Brades Park.

William Davies, a boy of 13 years, said at 4.20pm, on April 13, he was standing near the canal bridge in Brades Road when he saw a horse and tip-cart coming round the bend of the road. The horse was running away, and the driver was in the cart, holding the reins and trying to pull the horse up. Just before the horse reached witness he saw the driver get over the front of the cart on to the left shaft. He loosed the reins and jumped, and as he did so his feet appeared to get entangled in the reins, which caused him to fall to the ground, and a wheel went over his head. Witness went up to him, and said he was bleeding from the ears and mouth. A postman arrived and picked the deceased up.

A postman named Edward Jones gave similar evidence, and added that when he went to the man he found him unconscious. Witness moved deceased to the side of the road, and feeling his pulse, could discover no movement.

Ernest Wood, a farm labourer, who also saw the accident, said the horse was obviously running away, but what had startled it he could not say.

PC Hill said he was on duty in Dudley Road when he heard a shout and saw the horse galloping towards him and no one in charge. He tried to stop the horse, but could not do so. He saw Cole lying dead on the pavement. He examined the body, and found a fracture at the base of the skull and a fracture of the left jaw bone, and there were marks on the face, as though the wheel had passed over it. He made enquiries, but had found no one who saw the horse start.

The Coroner said that they could not tell what startled the horse. It was a sad case, and that they had to suppose that the driver thought that by keeping the reins in his hands and getting on to the shafts he had a chance of stopping the animal. He recorded a verdict of Accidental Death.”

It had a football team based here. [1935]

It was rebuilt in 1937.

1939 Register

115, City Road

[1] William Harris, date of birth 20/9/1891, innkeeper, married;

[2] Nellie F. Harris, dob 6/1/1897, paid servant, married;

[3] William Harris, dob 1/12/1918, professional footballer, single;

Tipton Herald 17/3/1956

“A musical cigarette box was presented to Mr. R. Walton, President of the Tividale and Oakham Horticultural Society, at the Society’s second annual ladies’ evening at the BARLEY MOW INN, Oakham, on Thursday, for his services to the Society. Alderman G. Palmer, a former President, who made the presentation, said the Society, which was ‘one of the strongest of its kind in the area,’ owed much of its success to Mr. Walton.

For his valuable work on the committee, P.Serg. D. Mole was presented with a set of pipes.

A dinner attended by members and their wives was followed by a concert.”

Tipton Herald 27/10/1956

“A popular feature of Tividale and Oakham Old Folk’s Gala, held each year in September at Tividale Park, is the flower and vegetable show organised by Tividale and Oakham Horticultural Society.

Many awards can be gained by successful exhibitors and these were presented to them by Mr. Redvers Walton, President of the Society, at a distribution held at the BARLEY MOW HOTEL, Oakham on Thursday.....”

Tipton Herald 15/12/1956

“Viewers of the ITV programme had an opportunity on Tuesday evening of seeing a recording of a presentation that took place in the town on Friday.

It was the handing over by Miss Patricia Cox, ATV's Midland Newscaster, of awards won in the annual domino competition staged by Mr. J. Monahan on behalf of the Guide Dogs for the Blind.

In this, his 11th year of arranging functions for this fund, Mr. Monahan hopes to top £300.

A crowd of some 1,200 people saw Miss Cox make the awards to the BRITANNIA, Dial Lane, West Bromwich, the winners of the Blackout Cup, and the runners-up, the BARLEY MOW, Oakham, Tividale.

Among the entertainers at a concert which followed was Alan Beasley, a blind pianist, who resides at 25, Coppice Street, Tipton. He is able to play several musical instruments."

Tipton Herald 26/10/1957

"Trophies won at the sixth annual flower and vegetable show of Tividale and Oakham Horticultural Society were presented by the Mayor of Rowley Regis (Alderman G. A. Smith) at the annual prize distribution and social entertainment at the BARLEY MOW INN, Oakham, on Wednesday evening....."

John Clifford Smith – see also FOUR WAYS, Cradley Heath.

Stanley Clarke Withers – see also BULLS HEAD, Rowley Regis, and ROWLEY RAG, Rowley Regis.

John Stait was married to Sheila.

Closed

It reopened on 3rd August 1984 as a Holt, Plant and Deakin pub.

Sandwell Evening Mail 23/9/1987

"Families in a busy Tividale main road are planning a human chain demonstration to block the entrance of a quarry site in a long-running battle over tipping. Householders and tenants in City Road plan to bar lorries from entering Darby's Hill Quarry where in-filling operations by up to 400 lorries a day are said to have led to nuisance from rats, flies, and mud on the road, causing potential traffic and health hazards. The families who staged a similar protest ten months ago, also claim the quarry site is used by gangs of rowdies for glue-sniffing, under-age drinking, motor-cycle riding and pellet-gun shooting.....

Mr. Colin Waring, licensee of the BARLEY MOW public house in City Road, complained, 'We are plagued with flies and have to keep the windows shut. We get rats and mice in the road and, because of the situation, we have paid for our own pest control officers to visit us once a month.' His wife, Hilary, said, 'Up to 400 lorries tip there every day. Sooner or later there is going to be a fatal accident.'....."

Colin Waring – see also BELL AND BEAR.

Sandwell Evening Mail 1/11/1991 - Advert

"Early Evening Pint Savers. Holts Bitter 99p per pint. Holts Entire 105p per pint.

Special offer prices for the month of November only.

Available Mon-Sat evenings 5.30-8pm.

Only from these Holts pubs BARLEY MOW, City Road, Tividale."

Sandwell Evening Mail 1/7/1994

"Gigs Thursday Soul Survivors (BARLEY MOW, Tividale)."

Diane Murphy's partner was Steve White.

Dudley Chronicle 14/1/2000

"Bosses of a Tividale pub are set for a ghost watch they hope will explain strange events The couple have had gas cylinders turned off, alarms triggered with no apparent cause and have smelt toast where there was none....."

Ivan Munnelly was married to Elaine.

A new car park was opened on 29th September 2002.

[2008]

Closed [2009], [2010]

Demolished [2011]

BEECH TREE

111, Gorsty Hill Road / 61a, Beeches Road, (1, Tump Road), BLACKHEATH

OWNERS

Showells Ltd., Langley
Ind Coope and Allsopp Ltd. (acquired on 3rd July 1935)
Ansells Ltd.
Holt, Plant and Deakin (1984 – 1996)
Daniel Thwaites and Co. [2005], [2007]

LICENSEES

David Darby [] – 1870);
Henry Hickton* (1870 – [1871]
William Henry Hickton* [1872]
Henry Hickton* [1874] – [1881]
Amelia Burgess [1883] manageress
William Henry Hickton* [1884]
Harry Letts [1888] – [1896]
Walter Harrison [1899] – 1905);
Isaiah Baker (1905 – 1922);
George Walker (1922 – 1930);
James Fleetwood Cross (1930 – 1936);
Isaac Sidney Lukeman (1936 – 1940);
Ernest Slater (1940 – 1943);
Alfred John George Garratt (1943 – 1946);
Maurice Dillon (1946 – 1949);
Ernest Harry Savage (1949 – 1950);
Joseph Henry Sutton (1950 – 1954);
James Alfred Wilson (1954 – 1956);
Donald John George Harper (1956);
Jack Lewis (1956 – 1958);
Dennis Raymond Powell (1958 – 1965);
Doris Marjorie Powell (1965 – []
Bob Wallace [1973] – [1981]
Sylvia Smith (1984 – [1985]
Leon Abecasis [1991]
Derek Manton [2001]

NOTES

1, Tump Road [1881], [1891]
22, Gorsty Hill Road [1901]
111, Gorsty Hill Road [1991], [1999]
61a, Beeches Road

It had a beerhouse license.

It was known locally as “The Big Beech”.

Black Country Bugle 1/9/2021

Article by Steve James

“BEECH TREE, Gorsty Hill allegedly haunted by a ghost in the cellar who turned off the gas and threw glasses around.”

* probably the same person

1871 Census

Black Heath – BEECH TREE

[1] Henry Hickton (21), unmarried, licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth Harcourt (16), domestic servant, born Halesowen:

Henry Hickton married Annie Baker in the 1st quarter of 1873 at Bromsgrove.

Stourbridge Observer 18/4/1874

“Joseph Mason was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, when requested on the 9th inst. Henry Hickton, the landlord, proved that defendant went into his house on the above date, quite drunk. Defendant refused to go out when requested, and witness was compelled to eject him. Fined 5s and costs; in default 21 days.”

Midland Counties Evening Express 10/1/1875

“Unfortunately there is yet no sign of the perpetrators of the brutal murder of the watchman, Bowater, being brought to justice. The police are making every effort to obtain some clue, and every precaution has been taken to discover any trace of the murderer or murderers, but up to a late hour last night, these efforts had been unsuccessful, and it seems too probable that those who committed the crime have got clear off, for the present at all events. The inquest on the body of Bowater is to be opened today at the BEECH TREE, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, near where he resided. It is suggested that there shall be a reward offered for the production of evidence, and steps relating to this will be taken as early as possible.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 24/7/1875

“Staffordshire Summer Assizes Action for Damages by Mining Operations at Rowley Regis.

Mr. Thomas Pargeter Jones, one of the plaintiffs, said he was born at Olive House in 1832, and had known it all his life. It was now occupied by Mr. A. W. Jones, his brother. It was a good substantial house until about June, 1871. The garden wall then began to crack on the side nearest to the BEECH TREE INN. There were now many cracks in the walls of the house.

Mr. Henry Hickton, landlord of the BEECH TREE INN, said he had known the property in question for six years. His inn was near to Olive House. Six years ago there were no cracks in the garden wall. They began to appear about four years ago. His own house began to crack about the same time. It was now cracked in all directions. The cellar arches had given way, and the doors had had to be taken off. The cracks in the plaintiff’s wall and the cracks in his own house were all in the direction of the defendant’s workings.”

[The jury returned a verdict for the defendant, William Henry Dawes, an extensive iron and coal master.]

County Advertiser 7/4/1877 - Advert

“Wanted a strong, active Servant Girl. One used to the public-house preferred. Age about 18 or 20. Apply, Mrs. Henry Hickton, BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, Rowley Regis.”

County Express 23/3/1878

“Quoits. Cradley Heath v Coomb’s Wood.

A match was played between the above clubs, on the ground of the latter, on Saturday last, which resulted in a victory for the visitors. At the conclusion of the match, the Cradley Heath Club were most hospitably entertained by their opponents at Mr. Hickton’s, the BEECH TREE INN, and after a pleasant evening returned to their respective homes. The following is the score.”

[Cradley Heath won 89-72.]

1881 Census

1, Tump Road – BEECH TREE

- [1] Henry Hickton (31), innkeeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Annie Hickton (25), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Mary J. Harcourt (19), barmaid, born Birmingham;
- [4] Mary Hickton (7), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Annie Hickton (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Phillis Clift (18), general servant, born Halesowen;
- [7] Agnes Barnsley (11), nurse, born Halesowen:

Birmingham Daily Post 31/10/1882 - Advert

“Woman Wanted, age 30 or 35, understanding Plain Cooking. Would not object to help in housework. A comfortable home for respectable woman.

Mrs. Hickton, BEECH TREE INN, Rowley, near Dudley.”

Dudley and District News 3/3/1883

“Thomas Hollis, of Birmingham, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit licensed premises. Mr. Homer prosecuted, and Mr. Cooksey defended. On Sunday night the 18th February, the defendant went into the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, and asked for some brandy. The liquor was supplied to him by Amelia Burgess, the manager for Mr. Hickton. Hickton shortly afterwards came in, and seeing Hollis there requested him to drink up and leave the house. Hollis threw out an insinuation about Hickton disgracing his wife, and he refused to leave. They got to words and Hollis challenged Hickton to fight. A man named Baker, a relative of Mrs. Hickton, interposed and asked Hollis why he challenged Hickton. The defendant thereupon divided his attention between the two parties, the bias being on the side of Baker. He took off his two coats, and a set-to ensued between the parties, the fight continuing for about ten minutes. In the meantime a policeman was sent for, but one was not to be found till the fight was over. The disturbance was quelled, and the defendant ordered to quit. He refused to go, and staked money to fight Baker in the morning. He heard that a policeman was coming, and just before the arrival of that functionary he made his exit.

Mr. Cooksey for the defence said that for some time past unpleasant circumstances had arisen between the parties, which caused the defendant to abstain from visiting the house. He called in, however, on the night mentioned, and quietly asked for some brandy. As had been shown in the case for the prosecution he was perfectly quiet and well-behaved during the time he was drinking his liquor, and up to when the landlord came in and ordered him to go. Now, if this were the case he (Mr. Cooksey) considered Hickton was exceeding his duties and privileges as a landlord, and that the defendant was perfectly justified in staying in the house.

A witness named Parkes said defendant was orderly up to when he was ordered out by the landlord, who called him a returned convict and other provoking epithets.

The Bench considered the case proved and fined the defendant 40s and costs, or one month's imprisonment."

Dudley and District News 1/3/1884

"Henry Walters was charged with being drunk and disorderly and refusing to quit the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, on the 25th. PC Leadbeater was asked by Mr. Hickton, landlord of the house, to eject defendant, who resisted and picked up a piece of wood to assault the officer. Assistance was obtained and defendant put out, and in the road he behaved himself very violently. Ann Bailey deposed as to the misconduct of the defendant. The Bench fined defendant 5s and costs in each case."

County Advertiser 6/12/1884 - Advert

"Valuable Freehold Property, situate at Gorsty Hill, Rowley Regis, Staffordshire.

Mr. Joseph Hackett will Sell by Auction, on Monday, 15th December, 1884, at Mr. Hickton's, the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, Rowley Regis aforesaid, at Seven o'clock in the Evening punctually....."

West Bromwich Weekly News 5/2/1887

"Notice. The Large Pig at the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, will be killed on Friday, February 11th, and will hang for show until Tuesday the 15th. H. Hickton."

County Advertiser 19/11/1887

"Yesterday morning Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Black Heath, respecting the death of Robert Bradley, aged two years and seven months, residing in Tump Road, Black Heath. Sarah Ann Bradley stated that on the 9th inst the deceased was sitting up to the table for the purpose of having breakfast, when he, in reaching a cup of tea, upset it, the contents running over his chest. Dr. Standish attended the deceased. Ann Brant stated that she was called in by the last witness to see the child, when she applied oils to its chest. Deceased gradually grew worse, inflammation set in, and he died on Tuesday last. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

Dudley Mercury 17/12/1887 - Advert

"To be seen alive, the Largest Pig in the World, at the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, Rowley Regis."

[This advert was run in the newspapers until June 1888.]

County Express 9/6/1888 - Advert

"Wanted, a good General Servant, at once; age 25; must have good character; one from the country preferred. Apply, BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath."

Dudley Mercury 16/3/1889 - Advert

"Wanted, an experienced General Servant, age 25.

Apply, BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, Rowley Regis."

County Express 24/5/1890

"At the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, before H. T. Hickman and W. Holcroft, Esqs, Harry Letts, landlord of the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Old Hill, was charged with making an untrue entry in his brewing book, as to the quantity of sugar used in brewing on January 21st last. Mr. Davies prosecuted on behalf of the Commissioners of the Inland Revenue, and Mr. Shakespeare (Oldbury) defended.

In opening the case, Mr. Davies said in January last defendant was licensed as a brewer of beer, and in accordance with the 20th section of the Act, the officer of the Inland Revenue provided him with a brewing book in the prescribed form. According to the Act the defendant was required to give notice, by making an entry in that book, of every brewing he purposed carrying out. On the 21st of last January defendant made an entry to brew one quarter of malt, at five o'clock in the morning, and to dissolve 28 pounds of sugar at eleven o'clock the same day. There was no other entry of any other materials being used in that brewing. Section 20 of the Act said that if any person made an untrue entry of the materials used in brewing he should incur a fine of £100, and the Bench would see that it was necessary the reports were entered truly, because it was upon these entries that the charge for duty was based. On the afternoon of the day of brewing the officer visited the defendant's premises. By the time the officer arrived the whole of the wort was drawn from the mash tub, and was put in the fermenting vessel. The officer took part of the wort from the copper and the fermenting tub, and also a sample of the grain and the malt. All the samples were forwarded to Somerset House, and he should prove that no less than 41 pounds of sugar were used in the brewing, whereas the entry was 28 pounds. The grains and malt were also analysed with a view to show what quantity could be produced from them. It would be shown that the greatest quantity that could be produced from the malt that day was 150 gallons, leaving 27 gallons to be accounted for. It was utterly impossible for defendant to have produced 177 gallons from the entered quantity, and this clearly showed that an additional quantity of sugar than entered must have been used. For some time more beer had been produced than was possible to be produced with the amount entered in the brewing-book, and suspicions arose.

Mr. Thomas Cruikshank, Inland Revenue officer, stationed at Gorsty Hill, said defendant was licensed as a brewer in January last. In December last year witness supplied him with the usual brewing-book. In the book witness found an entry on the 21st of January made by defendant for him to brew on the 22nd. He was to brew eight bushels of malt at five o'clock in the morning, and 28 pounds of sugar had to be dissolved at eleven o'clock. There was no entry of any other materials being used in that brewing. On the 22nd of January in the afternoon witness visited defendant's premises. The grains were then in the mash tub, and the wort from the brewing witness found in number one cooling vessel, and part in number two copper. Number one cooling vessel contained 88 gallons of the specific gravity of 69 degrees, and number two copper contained 97 gallons of the specific gravity of 38 degrees, making a total produce of 177 standard gallons. Defendant was present, and witness informed him that he should take samples of the brewing, and requested him to witness the samples. He took samples out of number one fermenting vessel, and out of number two copper, and also samples of the spent grains. He sealed up the samples and forwarded them to Somerset House. The samples were well mixed by him and defendant before he took them. The sample from the copper was taken after the contents had boiled for some time. On the 20th February he again went to defendant's premises and heard Mr. Letts' explanation with reference to the brewing of the 22nd of January. This was after he had heard the result of the analysis. The supervisor informed Mr. Letts that the analysis showed that a greater quantity of sugar had been used than entered in the book. Defendant replied that no more than the entered quantity had been used. He also said he had been getting more from the brewing during the last three months or so than previously, but he explained this by saying he was using malt of a better quality. A man who helped in the brewing was present, and the supervisor asked him a question with regard to the sugar used in the brewing. When the man was answering defendant interrupted him, but was requested by the supervisor to tell his story. Mr. Letts then said he was only trying to keep the man right, but the man walked away without answering.

Cross-examined: He could not tell whether the malt was new or old. His suspicions arose from a greater quantity of gallons being produced from the number of pounds of sugar used. He did not take any sample out of the cellar to which no sugar had been added.

Re-examined: He had been an Excise officer ten years, and he had never known this quantity of sugar and malt to produce 177 gallons.

Mr. Charles Proctor, analyst at Somerset House, said he received the samples (produced) on the 23rd of January. He examined the sample from copper number two, and found it to contain added sugar equivalent to no less than 32 pounds to 97 gallons. The fermenting vessel number one contained added sugar equivalent to no less than 9 pounds to the 88 gallons. That would represent on the total brewing on the two quantities 41 pounds of sugar.

Cross-examined: 14 pounds of sugar would produce 9 gallons, but if it were very good it might produce 10 gallons. The malt was of the ordinary quality.

Defendant was further charged with making an untrue entry of his brewing on the 26th of March.

Mr. Cruikshank said on the day in question he visited the defendant's premises and found defendant emptying a quantity of sugar into an underback at three o'clock in the afternoon. As soon as defendant saw witness he ran with the sugar in the direction of the sugar store. According to the brewing report defendant should have dissolved the sugar at eleven o'clock in the morning. When asked for an explanation, defendant said he only dissolved half the sugar in the morning, and he was just putting the remainder in. Witness found a 28-pound sugar bag empty in the mash tub, and the defendant was emptying another. The report stated that only 28 pounds of sugar was used in the brewing. Witness took samples and forwarded them to Somerset House. The total amount of beer brewed was 175 gallons.

Mr. Proctor said he examined the samples and found that the total amount of sugar in the 175 gallons was 48 pounds.

Mr. Shakespeare, for the defence, pointed out that the defendant had hitherto borne an excellent character, and during the five years he had held a license he had conducted his house properly. The whole amount of which the defendant could have defrauded the Revenue was 1s 6d.

The Bench considered the cases proved, and in the first case fined defendant £10 and costs, and in the second case £20 and costs. They considered the second case was more serious than the first, as the defendant had had a warning. The fines and costs amounted to £33 17s."

Harry Letts issued tokens from here.

1891 Census

1, Tump Road

- [1] Harry Letts (31), licensed victualler, born Halesowen;
- [2] Ellen Letts (34), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Ethel M. Letts (6), daughter, born Birmingham;
- [4] Alice E. Letts (4), daughter, born Birmingham;
- [5] Kate Hadley (18), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Daily Post 20/7/1891 - Advert

"General Servant (good) Wanted; one who understands cooking.
Apply, BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, Rowley Regis."

County Advertiser 30/3/1895

"The Extraordinary Gale.

In the middle part of Sunday a gale of short duration but of exceptional violence passed over the greater part of the country, causing not a little loss of life and immense destruction of property.....

Blackheath. Here, as in other districts, a great deal of damage was done to the roofs of houses, but fortunately nothing of a serious nature occurred. Some alarm was occasioned at the BEECH TREE INN, kept by Mr. Letts, at Gorsty Hill, during the gale. One of the chimneys collapsed, and fell through the roof, damaging a piano, and the landlady narrowly escaped injury.”

County Advertiser 17/8/1895

“On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the BIRCH [sic] TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, respecting the death of Amy Taylor, aged five months, whose parents reside in Tump Road, Blackheath, who was found dead in bed on the 12th inst. the child was put to bed in the afternoon, and two or three hours later was found dead. A verdict of Death from Natural Causes was returned.”

Dudley Herald 19/3/1898

“At the Police Court on Wednesday, Mr. Waldron made an application, on behalf of Henry Letts, for a temporary permit to enter into possession of the BEEHIVE INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill. He said that the applicant, at the termination of his apprenticeship at Halesowen, went to the BEECH TREE INN, at Blackheath, and kept that place for 10 years without any complaint on the part of the police. He subsequently became tenant of the FIVE WAYS INN, Stourbridge, under the North Worcestershire Brewery Company, and while there was convicted for permitting drunkenness. He contended that one offence ought not to prevent a man for ever managing a public house, and he hoped they would allow him to rehabilitate himself and again hold a license. The Bench granted the application, saying that Letts, who had suffered for the conviction, must be careful in future.”

Henry ‘Harry’ Letts – see also BEEHIVE, Old Hill and FIVE WAYS, Cradley Heath.

County Advertiser 3/12/1898

“On Saturday morning last Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, concerning the death of Arthur Taylor, aged eleven months, whose parents reside at Gorsty Hill, and who died on the 23rd ult, from the effect of burns received the same day. The evidence showed that on the afternoon in question the mother left deceased in the house, in company with his brother, Harry. Whilst she was away the children commenced to play with some paper near the fire, with the result that deceased’s clothing was ignited. The mother extinguished the flames, but the deceased was badly burnt about the face, arms, and chest. Nurse Mellor, who resides near, dressed the wounds, and Dr. Tatham was called in, but the child died about half-past nine the same evening. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 15/7/1899 - Advert

“‘Tommy,’ handsome Chestnut Pony, 11 to 12 hands, suit lady, very quiet, showy; Trap and Harness to match if required. Bargain. Harrison, BEECH TREE, Blackheath, Staffs.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 18/8/1900

“On Wednesday, at Rowley Regis, Walter Harrison, landlord of the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, was called upon to answer a charge of having assaulted Florence Falkner, a domestic servant. Mr. Darby, of West Bromwich, who defended, denied the allegation, and said it was a case of blackmail in order to get money. The magistrates said it was a case of grave suspicion. The defendant would have the benefit of the doubt and be discharged.”

1901 Census

22, Gorsty Hill Road – BEECH TREE INN

[1] Walter Harrison (30), wine, beer and spirit retailer, born Greenwich, London;

[2] Mary Harrison (26), wife, born Cradley Heath;

[3] May Harrison (3), daughter, born Blackheath:

County Advertiser 6/7/1901

“Walter Harrison, landlord of the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, was on the evidence of Police-constable Pass, fined 5s and costs.”

County Express 14/6/1902

“Mr. A. A. Betham (Deputy Coroner for South Staffordshire) held an inquest on Saturday at the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, with respect to the death of Thomas Hall (68), ironworker, Gorsty Hill, who died very suddenly. The deceased left his home on the night of the 4th inst and was subsequently found dying in an outbuilding. A son of the deceased stated his father was a very healthy man, and had never been medically attended. His father told him he had never had a doctor in his life.

PS Bentley said the deceased was seen before death took place by Dr. Beasley jun. He had made inquiries, and had every reason to believe that death was due to natural causes. A verdict to this effect was returned.”

Smethwick Weekly News 13/12/1902

“At Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday, John Palmer, brickmaker of Hackett Street, Blackheath, was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, and assaulting the landlord, Walter Harrison, on the 4th inst.

Prosecutor alleged that defendant created a disturbance and threatened him because he refused to serve him beer ‘on strap.’ He refused to leave when requested, and when witness attempted to eject him, he knocked him down, placed his knees on his chest, and struck him several times. Defendant was fined £3 7s 6d, including costs, or six weeks' imprisonment."

County Advertiser 13/12/1902

"Yesterday (Friday) morning, Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, on the body of William Siviter (61), banksman, Tump Road, Blackheath, who was killed at Haden Hill Colliery, Old Hill, belonging to Messrs. W. Bassano and Co., on Tuesday night. Mr. R. H. Makepeace (assistant inspector of mines) was present at the inquiry, and Mr. S. Dimmock, manager of the colliery, represented the firm. The deceased belonged to the night shaft, and, having received his instructions where to work, went to fetch his tools, and some time after he was discovered jammed against a piece of timber by a tub.

Thomas Brooks, a miner, stated that he wished to timber a portion of the road, and in order to do so he started a tub on the move. The candle by which witness was working fell off the tub leaving him in the dark. He rushed to the wires and stopped the tub, but before he could give a further signal to the engine driver the engines commenced to work again. The rope started but suddenly stopped again, and deceased was found crushed by one of the tubs.

Dr. McQueen said the skull of the deceased was fractured, ribs were broken, and the heart injured through being crushed.

Mr. Makepeace said in his opinion it was very important that when the night men went on duty the rope should be finally stopped, and should not be restarted before strict inquiries were made that everything was right. The management had consented to act upon his recommendation.

Brooks said if he had not clipped the tub on to the rope he should have been killed.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and suggested that Thomas Brooks should be cautioned not to commit an irregularity in future."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 15/3/1907 - Advert

"General Servant Wanted, respectable; references required.

Apply, Mrs. Baker, BEECH TREE INN, Beeches Road, Blackheath, Staffs."

Dudley Chronicle 10/12/1910

"Structural alterations at the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, were granted to Isaiah Baker."

County Express 14/1/1911

"On Saturday afternoon the annual meeting of the Lye district of the United Order of Free Gardeners was held at the BEECH TREE INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, the district master (Bro. Canadine) being in the chair. Bro. H. Cooper (deputy master) was in the vice-chair. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: District Master, Bro. H. Cooper; deputy district master, Bro. J. Wiley; treasurer, Bro. G. Haddock; secretary, Bro. G. Rudge; trustees, Bros. H. Homer, A. Woodus, and W. Mallen; auditor, Bro. C. Wooldridge; delegates to the A.G.M. meeting, Bros. G. Brown and J. B. Downing. Bro. Rudge was nominated for the position of junior auditor of the Order. It was reported by the secretary that a sum of £31 15s had been paid throughout the district to widows and orphans as Christmas gifts."

1911 Census

Gorsty Hill Road

- [1] Isaiah Baker (34), publican, born Brades Village;
- [2] Mary J. Baker (36), wife, married 13 years, born Rotherham;
- [3] Miriam F. Baker (12), daughter, born Oldbury;
- [4] Florrie Brookes (20), servant, born Cradley;

Isaiah Baker check WHIMSEY, Oldbury.

James Fleetwood Cross – see also PRINCE OF WALES, Oldbury.

1939 Register

Gorsty Hill Road

- [1] Isaac S. Lukeman, date of birth 28/8/1885, licensed victualler, married;
- [2] Jane A. Lukeman, dob 27/9/1885, unpaid domestic duties, married;
- [3] William Lukeman, dob 4/4/1906, constructional patterns helper, single;
- [4] Fred L. Gray, dob 14/2/1911, driver heavy goods lorry, married, ambulance driver;
- [5] Madge Gray, dob 25/1/1914, domestic duties unpaid, married;
- [6] Geoffrey A. Gray, dob 7/7/1937, under school age, single;
- [8] Eliza J. Baker, dob 28/6/1895, domestic servant, paid, single;

Alfred John George Garratt – see also BRIDGE.

Dennis Powell died in 1965.

It had four darts teams, four crib teams, a fishing club and a football team. [1981]

Closed

It reopened on 11th December 1984 as a Holt, Plant and Deakin pub.

Holt Plant & Deakin Beermat

“There’s a funny fella in the cellar at the BEECH TREE in Rowley Regis – the ghost of a customer long gone who murdered his family. On certain nights, he creates havoc – he turns off the gas and nips upstairs to throw glasses all around the pub.”

Express and Star 6/1/1985

“Trombone playing publican Andy Smith combines a musical career in the famous Syd Lawrence Orchestra with helping his wife run the BEECH TREE pub in Blackheath. Scotsman Andy, former musical director for P. J. Proby, has been a professional musician since he left school at the age of 14.

Now when Syd Lawrence plays in Black Country venues 38-year old Andy had his own fan club present – regulars from the pub in Gosty Hill Road. And for the two years since Andy and his wife, Sylvia, who have two children, have been at the BEECH TREE, known for its traditional beer, customers have been given other peeps into the world of showbiz. Syd Lawrence piano player Ken Williams is an occasional visitor, and he and Andy have played duets for customers. ‘My wife runs the pub really,’ said Andy, ‘But I help out when I’m not away with the orchestra.’”

Sandwell Evening Mail 24/6/1986 - Advert

“The BEECH TREE, Gorsty Hill, Rowley Regis, Invites You To Sample Holts Traditional Black Country Ales.

Home cooked lunches Monday to Saturday at reasonable prices.

Anything from a cheese sandwich to a Sirloin Steak.

12 noon – 2pm.

For a warm, friendly atmosphere come along.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 28/3/1991

“Beer drinkers at a Wednesfield pub are certain of a warm welcome after their local won a prize for the best cosy fire in the area. The PHEASANT INN in Wood End Road won the contest run by Black Country brewery Holt, Plant and Deakin. Licensee Mr. John Nicholls and his wife Diana won £400 in cash and solid fuel.

Runners-up in the competition to find the most welcoming fire were the BEECH TREE, Rowley Regis, and the SHOULDER OF MUTTON at Blackheath.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 16/10/1991

“Four Holt, Plant and Deakin licensees have been made members of the brewery’s exclusive Fellowship of Entire Alekeepers for the quality of their beer.

Dennis Williams, of the BREWERY TAP, Dudley Road, Wolverhampton; Brian Preece, of the WEST ACRES, Finchfield Hill, Wolverhampton; Leon Abecasis, of the BEECH TREE, Gosty Hill Road, Rowley Regis; and Brian Martin, of the NEW NAVIGATION, Titford Road, Langley, were presented with engraved brass pump clips and certificates.

They were awarded membership because of the consistently high quality of their beers.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 1/11/1991 - Advert

“Early Evening Pint Savers. Holts Bitter 99p per pint. Holts Entire 105p per pint.

Special offer prices for the month of November only.

Available Mon-Sat evenings 5.30-8pm.

Only from these Holts pubs BEECH TREE, 111 Gorsty Hill Road, Rowley Regis.”

Leon Abecasis – see also ROCK VILLA, Wolverhampton.

It closed in 1996.

Reopened

Halesowen News 24/6/1999

“The BEECH TREE, 111 Gorsty Hill Road, Rowley Regis B65 0EX.

Come and enjoy a friendly relaxing atmosphere in a traditional Black Country Pub.

Now under the new management of sisters Margaret and Rose.

Live Entertainment Every Saturday Evening.

Traditional Ales served here.

Open all day Friday, Saturday & Sunday.

Pool Table – New Team Members required.

Darts – New Team Members required.

Free Juke Box.”

Closed

Reopened

[2010]

Closed [2011], [2013]

It was converted into housing. [2015]

BEECH TREE

158, (111), Halesowen Street, BLACKHEATH

OWNERS

City Brewery Co. (Lichfield) Ltd. [1919]
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. [1942], [1950]
Marstons plc

LICENSEES

William Siviter [1861] – 1869);
David Darby (1869 – [1878]
James Darby [1880]
Ellen Darby [] – 1881);
Zephaniah Knowles (1881 – [1891]
William Onions [1901]
David Harris [1904] – 1906);
Joseph Neale (1906 – 1928);
William Henry Bennion (1928 – 1934);
James Francis Winmill (1934 – 1938);
John William Welding (1938 – 1943);
John Thomas Hardwick (1943 – 1949);
Thomas Jones (1949 – 1952);
William Lowe (1952 – 1956);
Sarah Lowe (1956 – 1957);
Charles Lowe (1957 – 1958);
Clifford Gomer ‘Cliff’ Williams (1958 – [1965]
D Hill (1970 – []
Maurice Hall [pre 1981]
Kenneth ‘Ken’ Platt (1986 – 2004)
Alun Gronow (2009 – [2019]

NOTES

111, Halesowen Street [1881], [1891], [1904], [1901], [1911]
158, Halesowen Street [1939], [1940]

It had an ante ‘69 beerhouse license.

It was known locally as “The Little Beech”.

Brierley Hill Advertiser 18/4/1857

“As we stated last week, Mr. Joseph Shakespeare, the butty of the pit where the explosion took place, was so seriously hurt that little hope was entertained of his recovery. He has since died, and on Saturday an inquest was held over his body, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, but was adjourned till the 28th inst, in order that one of the men who was injured, but is now recovering, might be able to attend. Mr. Brough, government inspector, was present during the enquiry. The older Mason has also since died from the injuries received. An inquest was held over his body on Friday morning at the BIRCH [sic] TREE INN, Black Heath, and was adjourned until Tuesday next, the 21st inst.”

Reynolds Newspaper 10/5/1857

“On Tuesday evening, at the BEECH TREE INN, near Halesowen, South Staffordshire, there was concluded an inquest upon the body of William Mason, who, with Joseph Shakespeare, was killed by an explosion of fire-damp at the New Gawne Colliery, in the parish of Rowley Regis. The inquest on the body of Shakespeare had terminated before Tuesday. On Tuesday, various witnesses proved that the pit in question was a new one, now being driven out in the thick coal measure by a process of gate-road and bolt-hole, in order to bring back the upper coal by ‘long-work.’ Also, that upon the thirling of an air-head, a few hours before the explosion, Mason, who is the charter-master (locally termed butty), was ordered by the ground-bailiff to clear it up for the laying down of wrought iron pipes, into the face of the main road, which would have the effect of clearing the main road of the dangerous gases. It was likewise shown that Mason was instructed not to permit any ingress to this straight road until such pipes were actually introduced. Evidence was then given that the butty having examined this straight road with the lamp, found sulphur in it, and that upon ascertaining this he and Shakespeare set to work to brush it out with their jackets; but that a candle had been so carelessly attached to the corner as to receive the first issue of the gas, whereby explosion immediately took place, and the two men were so burnt as to occasion their death shortly afterwards. Mr. Lionel Brough, the Government Inspector of Mines in South Staffordshire and East Worcestershire, after having examined the pit, pointed out the rashness and folly of brushing out sulphur, explaining, at the same time, that a current of air should have been carried to the far east, and that the dangerous gas removed by ventilation, and not by brushing – a vicious habit that during the past half-century had caused the destruction of hundreds of valuable lives.”

William Siveter = William Siveton

1861 Census

Black Heath

- [1] William Siviter (52), victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Elizabeth Siviter (48), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Mary Siviter (17), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Sarah Siviter (15), daughter, dress maker, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] William Siviter (11), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Ann Siviter (9), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Emma Lloyd (23), visitor, dress maker, born Brownsley, Staffordshire:

William Siviter was also a shopkeeper. [1864], [1865], [1868], [1870], [1872]

Stourbridge Observer 16/4/1864

“William Mills charged William Siveton with having his house open for the sale of beer, between the hours of three and five, on Good Friday last. Police-constable (193) saw a woman go into the BEECH TREE, Blackheath, and when she came out she said she only had half a pint of fourpenny.

Aaron Mills said he was with the police constable about half past three. He asked the woman what she had there, and she said, ‘Only a half pint of fourpenny.’

Siveton said it was an old woman who did odd jobs for his wife, and he gave her the beer. Ann Rebecca Peatman said, ‘On Good Friday morning Mrs. Siveton sent for me to do something and she said ‘draw the old lady a half a pint of our beer.’ I told the man he was no gentleman to take the beer from me and spit it on the road as I had it given me. Dismissed.”

William Siviter died in the 3rd quarter of 1869.

County Express 19/3/1870 - Advert

“BEACH [sic] TREE INN, Blackheath, Rowley Regis.

To Publicans, Shop Keepers, Brokers, and Others.

Mr. John G. Wright will Sell by Auction, on Monday, March 21st, 1870, all the Public House Effects, Grocery Stock, Household Furniture, &c, of the late Mr. Wm. Siviter, BEECH TREE INN, Halesowen Road, Blackheath, Rowley Regis, comprising Four Pockets of Worcestershire Hops, Yellow and Mottled Soap, Bran, Beans, Sharps, Bacon, and other Grocery; Shop Fixtures, Five-pull Beer Machine, Hogshead and other Casks, Vats, Coolers, Boilers, Feather Beds, Chamber and Kitchen Requisites, &c. Sale to commence at Eleven o’clock in the morning.”

1871 Census

Halesowen Street

- [1] David Darby (33), grocer, born Halesowen;
- [2] Ellen Darby (24), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Emma Darby (5), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 15/8/1874

“Solomon Roberts was charged with being drunk and quarrelsome and refusing to quit the BEACH [sic] TREE INN, Blackheath, on the 8th inst. Mr. David Darby, the landlord, proved the case. The defendant was drunk and quarrelsome in his house and, although he was asked, refused to leave. He was fined 5s and costs or fourteen days.”

County Express 30/9/1876

“On Monday a meeting was held at the BEECH TREE INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, under the auspices of the National Amalgamated Association of Nut and Bolt Makers. Mr. S. Parkes occupied the chair, and in opening the meeting said he believed that the object of the meeting was for the benefit of the members of the Blackheath branch. He called upon Mr. J. Richards, President of the Executive Council, to address them....”

County Advertiser 6/10/1877

“On Thursday afternoon Mr. Edwin Hooper, district coroner, held an inquest at the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, Rowley, respecting the death of Ellen Parkes (22), an unmarried young woman, who formerly resided with her parents in Hackett Street. Phoebe Mullett spoke to attending the deceased in April last, when she was confined with twins. One lived about an hour, but both were buried as still-born children.

Fanny Parkes, the mother of the deceased, said that after her confinement she seemed very well for a month, and was then taken ill. She had a quarrel with her brother a few weeks before, but never complained to witness of having been injured.

Mr. Beasley, surgeon, who had been in attendance on the deceased, said he first visited her on the 28th May. She was suffering from intestine inflammation, and he noticed three bruises upon her body, which she said were caused by her having been kicked by her brother. He did not think she was in a critical state until the 22nd or 24th ult, and he did not think it necessary to take her depositions. At 10.30 on the 28th ult, she died from peritonitis.

Joseph Parkes, deceased’s father, was also examined. He heard nothing of the injury to his daughter until she told Mr. Beasley about it.

The jury returned a verdict of died from peritonitis, caused by injuries to the abdomen; how, or by whom caused, there is no evidence to show.”

County Express 9/3/1878

“David Darby, landlord of the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, was charged with having permitted drunkenness in his house on the 19th ult. Mr. Hayes appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty.

Police-sergeant Cooper said that having received certain information, he visited the defendant’s house at about half-past ten o’clock on the night of the 19th ult, and there found a man named Wm. Hodgetts, who was drunk. The man sat in a stooping position, and was being supported by a man who sat next to him. He also noticed that a second man, named Priest, was so drunk that he could scarcely hold a pint cup to his lips. Witness instantly called the attention of the landlady to the men, and she said that she was not aware that the men were present, the landlord being away from home.

Cross-examined: He paid a second visit to the house shortly afterwards and then found that the men had left.

Police-constable Frost, who accompanied the sergeant, gave confirmatory evidence.

Police-constable McGourty stated that he was near to the BEECH TREE public house at half-past nine o’clock on the night in question, and hearing a noise he went in and asked what ‘discussion’ was going on. In the tap-room he found the man Hodgetts who with some companions was behaving in a disorderly manner. He told the landlady that she had better turn the men out.

Cross-examined the officer admitted that he ate some trotters with Hodgetts before leaving the house, but denied that he drank ale with him.

Mr. Hayes said he should prove that the man Priest entered the house just before the sergeant visited it, and that the landlady did not know that Hodgetts was drunk or even present. He was instructed that McGourty ate and drank with Hodgetts, the man who was now charged of having been drunk. His client had kept the house respectably for eleven years, and it was not to be supposed that he would risk his license by allowing a drunken man to remain on his premises. Drunkenness must be wilfully permitted to constitute an offence; the mere fact of a man having entered the house and remained there without the knowledge of the landlord would not constitute an offence against the license.

Mrs. Darby then swore that the man Priest had entered the house only a few moments before the police-officer came, and that he was not supplied with ale. She did not know that Hodgetts was present at the time although he had at an earlier period been supplied with ale for his wife. The sergeant first called her attention to the men, and she immediately ordered them out.

The Bench gave the defendant credit for good character, but they considered the case proved because it was clear that defendant’s servants were liable. They should inflict a small fine of 5s and costs as a warning to Mr. Darby and others.

William Hodgetts and Samuel Priest were then charged with having been found drunk upon licensed premises, and were fined 5s and costs, or 14 days’ imprisonment.”

Dudley Herald 6/3/1880

“Joseph Mason was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of James Darby, the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, on the 24th ult. The charge was proved, and the defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs, or in default 7 days. Defendant was also charged with threatening to kill his wife, Mary Ann Mason, who deposed that she had been married 29 years, and her life had been a misery to her on account of his violent behaviour which grew worse day after day. Defendant was bound over to keep the peace for six months.”

David Darby died in the 4th quarter of 1880.

1881 Census

111, Halesowen Street

[1] Ellen Darby (34), widow, beerhouse keeper, born Dudley;

[2] Emily Darby (15), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Ellen J. Darby (8), daughter, deaf and dumb, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Sarah Millington (21), domestic servant, born Netherton:

West Bromwich Weekly News 21/5/1881

“On Monday, the rivet-makers in the Rowley, Blackheath, and surrounding districts turned out on strike for an advance of wages. A mass meeting of the men was held on Wednesday, at the BEECH TREE INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath. Mr. Isaac Cashmore said he regretted to say that some of the masters appeared inclined to oppose the men. He hoped, however, that the good sense of the employers would prevail, and that in a few days the men would be called in to work at the advanced list. He thought both masters and men were agreed from their experience in the past that strikes were detrimental to the trade, and he personally was opposed to them, and thought they only ought to be resorted to under special circumstances. Under some circumstances strikes were absolutely necessary, and it was so in the present instance in the rivet trade. They had given the masters a fair fourteen days’ notice, and their employers knew and admitted their miserable condition, and yet, after all, they refused to make the concession which the men were entitled to. Not only had the men given the requisite notice, but before the notice expired a deputation of the men waited upon all the masters requesting them to pay the advance, and so avoid a strike.....”

West Bromwich Weekly News 4/6/1881

“A largely-attended meeting of the rivet-makers in the Rowley, Blackheath, and Old Hill districts, now on strike for an advance of wages, was held at the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, on Monday. Mr. Isaac Cashmore stated that the whole of the rivet-makers in the districts named were now on strike. A few, however, were at work at Halesowen, and by so doing were prolonging the strike. It was decided that a deputation should wait upon the operatives at Halesowen to induce them to join the strike. It was unanimously resolved to continue the strike until the masters concede the 4s list.”

Evening Express 21/7/1881

“Ellen Darby, landlady of the BEECH TREE beerhouse, Blackheath, was summoned for permitting drunkenness. Police-sergeant Cooper proved visiting the house on the morning of the 5th inst, and meeting a man named Bateman leaving the premises in a drunken state, and that in the house he found another man named Cook, who was also very drunk. The defendant’s plea was that she had only filled six quarts for these two men and another. A fine of 20s and costs was inflicted.”

County Advertiser 3/9/1881

“The annual licensing session for the petty sessional division of Rowley Regis, were held on Wednesday last, at the Police Court..... The following is the black list: Beer-house Keepers..... Ellen Darby, BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, permitting drunkenness, fined 20s and costs..... The persons in the black list were called before the Bench with the exception of E. Corser, he having left that house, and had their licenses suspended till the adjourned licensing day.”

Dudley and District News 1/10/1881

“This being the adjourned licensing day the deferred cases were decided as follows..... Ellen Darby, BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, convicted for permitting drunkenness on her premises, was reprimanded, and her license renewed.”

Ellen Darby died in the 4th quarter of 1881.

County Express 10/12/1881

“The Bench allowed the following license transfers..... BEECH TREE beerhouse, from Ellen Darby (deceased) to Zephaniah Knowles.”

County Express 10/12/1881

“Jonah Debaney, miner, of Rounds Green, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the BEECH TREE beerhouse, kept by Zephaniah Knowles. He was fined 5s and costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 7/4/1882

“Yesterday an inquest was held before Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, at the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, respecting the death of Thomas Willetts (18), rivet-maker, formerly residing at No.103, Hales Owen Street, Blackheath, who committed suicide by drowning himself in a pool at Cakemore. Joseph Willetts, father of the deceased, said his son had notice to leave his employment a week ago, and this, he supposed, preyed upon his mind. Richards Brookes said on Monday morning deceased told him that he had a mind to go and drown himself. About a quarter of an hour afterwards deceased left the shop, and proceeded towards Cakemore Pool. He (witness) then went and gave information to the parents of deceased. James Westwood said, whilst at work near the Cakemore Pool, he saw the deceased standing on the embankment on the side of the pool with his hands set as if about to dive into the water. Witness shouted to him, and asked him what he was going to do. This caused deceased to pause, but upon turning round a short time afterwards he saw him plunging head foremost into the water. The body was not recovered until half an hour afterwards.

The Coroner said he had no doubt that having had notice to leave his employment it had preyed upon the youth's mind and induced him to commit suicide.

The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst of Unsound Mind.

A juror remarked that the pool was a favourite place for suicides, this being the fourth that had occurred there."

Birmingham Daily Post 10/11/1882

"Yesterday a meeting of the rivet-makers who are now on strike in the Rowley and Old Hill districts for an advance of wages was held at the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath; Mr. Silas Parsons presiding. A deputation of rivet-makers from Hales Owen attended the meeting, and intimated their intention of joining with the Blackheath men in the strike. It was reported that several of the employers were willing to pay the advance, but the question of allowing their operatives to return to work was adjourned until Monday, in the hope that by that time the majority of the employers would agree to pay the advance claimed. It was unanimously resolved to play on until the increase of 10 per cent is conceded."

County Advertiser 2/5/1885

"Zephaniah Knowles, landlord of the BEECH TREE INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, was charged by the Inland Revenue authorities with making a false entry in his brewing book. Mr. G. H. Dennis prosecuted.

Mr. Michael Burne, an officer of the Inland Revenue, said that on the 23rd of February he went to the defendant's premises, and found that he had made an entry to brew 14lbs of sugar. The produce of the brewing was equal to 21lbs of sugar.

The defendant pleaded that he was no scholar, and the mistake was made by his daughter, who made the entry in the book.

In reply to the Bench, Mr. Burne said that on seven occasions the produce of defendant's brewing had been more than could have been produced with the amount entered.

Defendant was fined £5 and costs."

Birmingham Daily Post 3/2/1886

"Birmingham Police Court.....

Zephaniah Knowles, landlord of the BEECH TREE INN, Black Heath, Rowley, was summoned for working a horse whist in an unfit state. Mr. Parker, veterinary surgeon, said the animal was suffering great pain, and totally unfit for work. The horse was stopped on Monday in Moor Street by Police-constable Beard, who found that it suffering from a large wound on its back. A fine of £1 1s was imposed."

Dudley Mercury 1/12/1888

"At a large meeting of nailers on Monday night, at the BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath, Mr. T. Lee, on behalf of a number of subscribers, presented Mr. John Price, who has been leader of the wrought nail makers for nearly forty years, with a purse containing £23. Mr. Lee remarked that Mr. Brooke Robinson, the member for Dudley, had subscribed £5 of the amount, and he was quite sure the sum would have been considerably larger had the workpeople been better off. Mr. Price, in responding, said now he was old and somewhat infirm he was unable to get about the district as he was wont to do. He very much appreciated the kindness of his friends, which would be of considerable benefit to him."

1891 Census

111, Halesowen Street

[1] Zephaniah Knowles (51), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Ann Knowles (50), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Olive Knowles (19), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Joseph Knowles (13), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[5] David Knowles (11), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Fred Knowles (8), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Jane Westwood (16), domestic servant, born Halesowen:

1901 Census

111, Halesowen Street

[1] William Onions (49), beerhouse keeper, born Pattingham, Staffordshire;

[2] Elizabeth Onions (47), wife, born Newcastle, Staffordshire;

[3] Susan Onions (15), daughter, general servant at home, born Branstone, Staffordshire;

[4] Charles Onions (13), son, errand boy (crossed out), born Branstone, Staffordshire;

[5] Harry Onions (8), son, born Branstone, Staffordshire;

[6] Nellie Onions (3), daughter, born Branstone, Staffordshire:

County Advertiser 20/1/1906

"David Harris, landlord of the BEECH TREE INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, was charged with suffering gaming to take place upon his licensed premises on the 26th and 30th December last.

Mr. J. W. Clulow, who prosecuted, explained that on the 26th ult, Police-constables Walton and Clark visited the defendant's house in plain clothes. They entered the house at 2-45pm, and saw a game of dominoes being played. The landlord and three other men were playing, and the landlord and his partner lost the game. Defendant's partner put 6d on the table, and said to the landlord that is a quart now. Defendant noticed that there were two strangers in the place, and he motioned to his partner to go into the passage where, in the presence of Police-constable Walton, the man handed 6d over to the landlord. Subsequently the partner said to the officers, 'Dave here took you for two coppers.' The officers remained in the house, but no other games were played. On the 30th of December Police-constable Walton, accompanied by another man, again visited the house, and saw two other games played for beer. The landlord stood by during the time the games were played, and said to one of the players, 'You look like winning this time.'

The defence was a denial that the men played for beer. The Bench, however, imposed a fine of £4, including costs."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 8/2/1906

"The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held yesterday.....

The Superintendent objected to the renewal of the licenses of.....

BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath."

County Advertiser 10/3/1906

"The adjourned annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday.....

Mr. Bassano said the bench had under consideration the nine houses, five of which were objected to on the ground of convictions and four others on the ground of redundancy. It had raised a very large question, and the magistrates had had before them the consideration of the parish as a whole. He threw out a suggestion to the trade and owners that the matter should be considered from their point of view during the next twelve months. The magistrates would be prepared to consider any counter proposition that might come from the brewers which could be laid before them next year. In order to simplify the proceedings that day the following licenses would be renewed.....

BEECH TREE INN, Blackheath."

County Advertiser 15/9/1906

"Dudley Plant, a miner, of Hackett Street, Blackheath, was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of the BEECH TREE INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, and also with assaulting the landlord, Joseph Neale, on the 9th inst.

Prosecutor alleged that defendant was drinking in the house when he commenced to create a disturbance by shouting. Witness requested him to leave, but this he declined to do, and as witness was walking through the passage he struck defendant a violent blow in the face.

Fined £1 10s or a month."

1911 Census

111, Halesowen Street – BEECH TREE INN

- [1] Joseph Neale (41), publican, born Long Lane;
- [2] Amelia Neale (39), wife, married 19 years, assisting in business, born Ladywood Road, Birmingham;
- [3] Gladys Neale (17), daughter, assisting in business, born Cradley Heath;
- [4] Elsie Neale (16), daughter, millinery, born Cradley Heath;
- [5] Frank Neale (14), son, tailor's assistant, born Malt Mill Lane;
- [6] Annie Neale (12), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [7] Frederick Neale (10), son, born Nunnings, Worcestershire;
- [8] Albert Neale (8), son, born Cakemore;
- [9] Millie Neale (5), daughter, no birthplace given:

Joseph Neale, beer retailer, 158, Halesowen Street. [1916], [1921]

1939 Register

158, Halesowen Street

- [1] John W. Welding, date of birth 3/4/1902, manager public house, married;
- [2] Sarah A. Welding, dob 20/1/1900, unpaid domestic duties, married;

John William Welding died in the 2nd quarter of 1947.

Cliff Williams played football for Blackheath Villa.

It was referred back to the Continuation Meeting for consideration of redundancy on 1st February 1958.

The license was renewed on 5th March 1958.

Maurice Hall was married to Edna.

See also CALIFORNIA, Blackheath, and BULLS HEAD, Whiteheath.

Ken Platt was married to Maureen.

He was known as 'Platty'.

He started work as a milkman.

See also BIRD IN HAND, Netherton and VINE, Blackheath.

The cribbage and domino teams from here won their respective leagues in 2005.

A team from here took part in the Blackheath Cribbage League. [2007]

[2019]

LITTLE BEECH [2021]

Halesowen News 23/6/2022

“A Blackheath pub wants to extend to create a larger premises. The BEECH TREE pub on Halesowen Street has applied to Sandwell Council for permission to build an extension to create a larger lounge and new toilets. The pub is opposite Blackheath Sainsburys. Notes to planners say the extension would be a single-storey side and rear extension. They state that the pub employs three full-time and three part-time employees. They state its opening hours are from 9.30am till 11pm Monday to Friday and from 9.30am till 1am on Saturdays, Sundays and bank holidays. The application will be considered by Sandwell Council planners.”

BEEHIVE

49, Graingers Lane, (Corngreaves Road (Lane)), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd.
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1909) [1921]

LICENSEES

Mary Ann Roberts [1849] – 1850);
Thomas Botteley [1849] – [1850]
John Perks (1850 – 1865);
Mrs. Sarah Perks (1865 – []
John Perks [1868] – [1873]
Mrs. Sarah Perks [1871] – [1881]
James T Perks [1883] – [1884]
Jeremiah Westwood [1886] – 1893)
Walter Edward Mealand [1893]
Henry Rollings Pollard [1893] – [1896]
Alfred Price (1897 – [1904]
John Pillow (1904 – 1907);
Robert William Botfield (1907 – [1911]
Samuel I Salt [1912]
Edgar Randall (1913 – 1915);
Joseph Boswell (1915 – 1921);
Harold Harbach (1921 – 1927);
Frederick Adam Raybould (1927 – 1937);
Mrs. Rachel (Cunningham) Garrett (1937 – 1956);

NOTES

Corngreaves Road [1871]
49, Graingers Lane [1881], [1891], [1901], [1904], [1908], [1911], [1912], [1932], [1939], [1940]

It had an ante 1869 beerhouse license.

Worcestershire Chronicle 25/7/1849

“On Monday last the Industry lodge of the Wolverhampton order of Odd Fellows celebrated its anniversary at Hostess Roberts's, BEE HIVE, Cradley. Sixty of the members sat down to a splendid dinner, S. Hudson, Esq, surgeon to the lodge, officiating as president, and Mr. Willetts as vice.”

John Perks = John Perkes

Birmingham Journal 26/1/1850

“The transfer of the license of the BEEHIVE, Rowley Regis, to John Perks, was refused, it appearing from Sub-inspector Joynson’s statement on oath that he had repeatedly cautioned Perks against keeping improper hours while selling under the outgoing tenant’s license, and that about one o’clock in the night-time of Saturday last he (Joynson) found a great number of persons drinking in the house.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 27/2/1850

“On Saturday last an inquest was held before W. Robinson, Esq, at the house of Mr. Samuel Golding, SAMPSON AND LION, Netherton, on the body of a lad aged 15, named Samuel Pritchard, who was killed on the evening of the previous Thursday by accidentally falling out of a skip, by which he was ascending a pit (with ten others) connected with the Codsall Colliery, under the new British Iron Company. From the evidence it appeared that the accident (which had also resulted in the death of another lad, aged 13, named John Foley, who was likewise ejected from the skip) occurred through the bye-rope having caught the corner of the skip, and thus tilting it on one side, the deceased fell out to the bottom of the shaft (a distance of 75 yards). The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death. The coroner (Mr. Robinson) sent for the ‘doggy’ of the pit, and reprimanded him very severely for allowing so many persons to come up in the skip at one time, and stated that he should communicate with the ‘butties’ on the subject.

An inquest was also held on Monday, before George Hinchliffe, Esq, and jury, at the BEEHIVE, Rowley, on the body of the other ill-fated boy, Foley, when the jury returned a similar verdict.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 3/4/1850

“On Easter Monday the members, to the number of 50, of the Industry Lodge, of the Wolverhampton order of Odd Fellows, met at Host Perks’s, the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, and partook of their annual feast, which was served up in a satisfactory style by Mr. Perks.”

1851 Census

Cradley Heath

- [1] John Perks (27), victualler, born Brierley Hill;
- [2] Sarah Perks (25), wife, born Tipton;
- [3] James Perks (3), son, scholar, born Tipton;
- [4] Sarah Perks (1), daughter, born Tipton;
- [5] Jane Jones (18), house servant, born Stourbridge:

County Advertiser 27/12/1856

“On Wednesday last the colliers in the employment of the New British Iron Company, to the number of more than 300, were entertained to a very substantial repast in the Company’s School rooms. George Thompson, Esq, presided, and Mr. Macdonald, the Company’s Mine Agent, acted as vice-president, and the evening was spent in the most agreeable manner. The supper was supplied by Mr. John Perkes, of the BEE HIVE INN, Corngreaves, and reflected the highest credit on the catering of the worthy host.”

Birmingham Daily Post 21/10/1858

“Worcestershire Michaelmas Sessions.....

Henry Watkins and Benjamin Yorke, on bail, were indicted for having on the 9th of October, at Dudley, stolen £4 12s 6d, the property of Francis Jones. Prosecutor on the above evening was returning to his home at Darby End, from a club at the BEEHIVE, Cradley, when he met a man named Falkner, to whom he applied for payment of a debt. Falkner immediately struck him, upon which prosecutor pulled off his coat to fight, and hung it on some palings. Falkner at once ran off, followed by prosecutor, when on his return he discovered his coat, containing his money, had been stolen by the prisoners, who were running away with it in their possession. Both prisoners were acquitted.”

1861 Census

Five Ways to Corngreaves

- [1] John Perks (37), victualler, born Brierley Hill;
- [2] Sarah Perks (36), wife, born Tipton;
- [3] James Perks (13), son, scholar, born Tipton;
- [4] Sarah Perks (11), daughter, scholar, born Tipton;
- [5] Martha Perks (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [6] Elizabeth Perks (4), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [7] Phebe Dimmock (17), house servant, born Rock Hill;
- [8] Henry Roberts (40), inn servant, born Rowley:

Wolverhampton Chronicle 26/2/1862 - Advert

“To Builders, Timber Dealers, and Others.

Sale of Capital Building Materials, Growing Timber, &c, at Cradley Heath, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

Mr. Bateman will Sell by Auction, on Monday, the 3rd day of March, 1862, at six o'clock in the evening, at the House of Mr. John Perks, the BEEHIVE INN, at Cradley Heath, and subject to conditions then to be read.

The whole of the excellent Building Materials, in and forming Cradley Heath House, among which is a very superior three storey Staircase, with mahogany Handrail and dark polished Oak Steps and Landings, situate at Cradley Heath, in the parish of Rowley Regis, and which are required to be removed for the works of the Stourbridge and Old Hill Railway. Also about 160 Ash, Poplar, and other Trees, now growing upon Lands, part of the same estate, also required to be cut down for the same purpose.

The Building Materials will be divided into three lots, and the Trees scribe marked, full and descriptive particulars of which will be given in bills of sale, to be distributed, and which may be obtained upon the Premises, at the place of Sale, and, with any further information from the Auctioneer, Dudley.

The Tenant upon the Premises will show the Materials, and also point out the Timber for Sale.”

Birmingham Daily Post 8/8/1862

“At the Petty Sessions, on Wednesday, Phoebe Dimmack was charged with having stolen 1s 8d from John Whitehouse. The prisoner is waitress at the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, and on Monday night week prosecutor went there and had several glasses of spirits, and, according to his statement, he gave her, in payment for the last glass a two-shilling piece, from which he said she never brought him change. Defendant denied having received the two-shilling piece and said the prosecutor paid for his last glass with a fourpenny-piece. Prosecutor said it was the last glass but one which he had paid for with the smaller coin; and Mrs. Perks, the landlady of the inn, who gave defendant an excellent character, said there was not a glass of spirits drawn for prosecutor after the one which was paid for with the fourpenny-piece. The Bench had no doubt that prosecutor had lost his money somehow, but they did not consider that there was any evidence against defendant, who was accordingly discharged.”

Arise's Birmingham Gazette 29/4/1865 - Deaths

“On the 21st inst, at Cradley Heath, in his 42nd year, Mr. John Perks, of the BEE HIVE INN; whose death is deeply deplored by a large circle of friends, and all who knew him.”

Stourbridge Observer 29/4/1865

“On Tuesday last the mortal remains of Mr. John Perks, of the BEEHIVE INN, were conveyed to their last resting place in the burial ground in connection with the Church at the Four Ways. While the funeral cortege was passing up the High Street, tradesmen, with one or two exceptions, closed their shops, and the occupants of private houses drew down their blinds, the kindly feeling of heart, and the unimpeachable integrity of the deceased being such as to win the esteem of all who knew him.”

Stourbridge Observer 13/10/1866

“An inquest was held on Tuesday last, before Mr. E. Hooper, District Coroner, at the BEE HIVE INN, Cradley, touching the death of Mary Woodhouse (daughter of James Woodhouse, chain maker), aged four years and six months, who met with her death on the previous Thursday under the following circumstances.

On Wednesday week last, the deceased was returning from school, and whilst crossing the private line of the company [New British Iron Company], thus committing trespass, she was knocked down and run over by some trucks drawn by horses, and she received such injuries as resulted in her death on the day named.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and the Coroner expressed a hope that in future all persons found trespassing on the line should be prosecuted.

Mr. Kean, who represented the company, said he would see the recommendation of the learned Coroner carried out.”

County Express 19/10/1867 - Advert

“Money. £100 Can be Had, on approved Security, at Five per cent.

Application to be made to the Industry Lodge, BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, near Brierley Hill.”

Stourbridge Observer 9/1/1869

“On Tuesday evening, about half past six o'clock, some person dressed in a long-tailed coat, and tall hat, attempted to obtain an entrance into the BEEHIVE INN. He mounted the railings in front of the house, and then sought to spring upon the top of the bow window. Very fortunately his foot slipped into the kitchen window, and the noise of the falling glass forced him to beat a hasty retreat. If he had successfully mounted the window, he would soon have been in one of the front bedrooms. Endeavours are being made to discover this would-be burglar.”

County Express 16/1/1869

“On Monday evening, the choir belonging to St. Luke's Church, were by the kind liberality of the Vicar, and various members of the congregation, entertained to a supper, at the BEE HIVE INN. A splendid and beautiful repast was provided by the Hostess, to which ample justice was done. After the withdrawal of the cloth, the weed, &c, was called into requisition, and glees, songs, and their usual accompaniments became the order of the evening. When the witching hour of eve drew nigh, home began to be recollected, but before the choristers essayed to seek its sacred precincts, they proposed a cordial vote of thanks to the churchwardens, Messrs. W. C. Barker and R. Green, who were both at the supper, for the great interest they had taken in the choir, during their wardenship, and also for the enjoyments of the evening, which their kindly thought and energy had provided. The thanks were accorded with musical honours, and after Mr. Barker had responded, the evening's festivities came to a close.”

County Express 5/2/1870 - Advert

“Cradley Heath, Rowley. Valuable Freehold Pasture and other Lands, comprising together upwards of 16 Acres; Also Excellent Dwelling House, and upwards of 20 Lots of Valuable Freehold Building Land, situate near the Corngreaves Iron Works, at Cradley Heath, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford; and a Piece of Freehold Land, in Cradley Field, near Cradley Park, Cradley, in the County of Worcester.

Mr. Bateman will Sell by Auction, on Monday, the 7th day of February, 1870, at the House of Mrs. Perks, BEE HIVE INN, Cradley Heath, at Six o'clock in the Evening.....”

1871 Census

Corngreaves Road – BEEHIVE INN

- [1] Sarah Perks (45), widow, publican, born Tipton;
- [2] James T. Perks (23), son, born Tipton;
- [3] Elizabeth Perks (14), daughter, scholar, born Tipton;
- [4] Ellen Fowkes (22), general servant, born Dudley;
- [5] Isaac Bate (60), visitor, widower, iron worker, born Rowley:

Stourbridge Observer 19/8/1871

“Early on Monday morning Cradley Heath was all astir and hundreds of persons could be seen wending their way towards the Five Ways to witness the procession of Foresters, which was announced to take place that day. The weather being fine thousands of persons were present to witness the procession through the various streets. Ten o'clock was the appointed time for starting, but it was nearly half-past eleven before they got away, owing to their having to wait for some of the Courts from a distance.

The various Courts assembled at the Five Ways, and then formed themselves into order of procession. The following Courts were represented: No.3068, Hope and Anchor, QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Street, Cradley Heath; No.3595, Cable and Anchor, BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath; 4127, Good Samaritan, BEEHIVE, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath; 4196, Foresters' Home, VINE AND RAILWAY HOTEL, Cradley Heath; 4233, Loyal Shenstone; 4340, Loyal Marlborough, COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill; 4398, Moss Rose, ROYAL OAK INN, New Town; 4546, Robin Hood's Merry Rangers, CROWN INN, Five Ways; 4970, Lye Reformed, WINDMILL INN, Lye. Although the district of Cradley Heath and Halesowen comprises 36 Courts, only nine took part in getting up the Fete.

The procession started from the Five Ways, headed by the Cradley Heath Brass Band. The Pensnett Victoria Brass and Reed Band and the Halesowen Drum and Fife Band also took part in the procession. Each band played lively quick steps passing through Lomey Town, Five Ways, Four Ways, Reddal Hill, Old Hill, and Haden Hill, en route for Halesowen, passing through the principal streets and then to the Leasowes. The procession was three-quarters of a mile in length, and was accompanied with three magnificent banners bearing suitable mottoes of the Order, and a large number of flags, the members wearing the various badges of the Order, and accompanied by Robin Hood, Little John, Will Scarlet, Friar Tuck, Shepherds, &c, &c.

On arriving at the beautiful and classic grounds, famed as having been the seat of the poet Shenstone, the procession passed round the house of B. Gibbons, Esq, who had kindly placed the whole of the grounds at the disposal of the Committee.....

There was a number of shooting galleries, Aunt Sallys, and other things to amuse all classes. During the day a number of balloon ascents took place.....

It is estimated that between six and seven thousand persons were present, upwards of £100 being taken at the gates, and it is expected there will be a good surplus in aid of the funds of the Order and General Hospital.

We must not close without a word of praise to the Committee, who were indefatigable in carrying out the arrangements according to the programme. The refreshments were provided by Mrs. S. Cartwright of Cradley Heath, and the tea and confectionery by Mr. J. Corns of Wolverhampton.”

Stourbridge Observer 23/12/1871

“An inquest was held at the BEEHIVE INN, Corngreaves, on Monday, before Mr. E. Hooper, on the body of John Mansell, 56, who came by his death through being crushed between two trucks at the Corngreaves Iron Works, on Thursday. Dr. Maland attended deceased. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Stourbridge Observer 13/7/1872

“On Monday last the anniversary of court Good Samaritan, No.4172, of the Ancient Order of Foresters, was celebrated at the BEEHIVE INN, where the members sat down to an excellent dinner provided by the worthy hostess. Bro. Humphries occupied the chair, and Bro. Homer the vice chair.....”

County Advertiser 19/12/1874 - Advert

“Wanted, a thorough General Servant.
Apply to Mrs. Perks, BEE HIVE INN, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 6/2/1875

“In the Divorce Court, on Thursday, the case of Gower v Gower, Rhodes, and Harris, came before Sir James Hannen. It was a petition presented by Mr. Alfred W. Gower, of Brierley Hill, Staffordshire, for dissolution of marriage on the ground of the adultery of his wife with the co-respondents.....

Sarah Perks, landlady of the BEEHIVE public house, Cradley Heath, proved the cohabitation of Mrs. Gower and Harris.....”
[A decree nisi was pronounced.]

County Advertiser 3/2/1877

“Mrs. Sarah Perks, landlady of the BEEHIVE INN, charged George Billingham with having been drunk and disorderly on her premises, and with having refused to quit, on the 22nd ult. The defendant pleaded guilty, and Mr. Hayes, who appeared for the complainant, wished to withdraw the case, but the magistrates inflicted a fine of 2s 6d and costs.”

County Advertiser 8/9/1877 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant. Age from 20 to 25. Good character required. Apply, Mrs. Perks, BEE HIVE INN, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 5/1/1878

“A meeting of the members of the Conservative Association took place last Monday evening, at the REINDEER INN, King Street, Cradley Heath. There was a small attendance, Mr. C. Lander presiding. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read, the Chairman introduced the business of the evening, which was successfully carried out. The next meeting will be held at the house of Mrs. Perks, BEEHIVE INN, when all Conservatives are respectfully invited to attend.”

County Express 18/5/1878

“A meeting of the members of the Conservative Association was held at Mr. Samuel Jones’s, REINDEER INN, King Street, Cradley Heath, on Monday evening last. There was a large attendance and Mr. C. Lander presided. After the transaction of some formal business, several gentlemen were elected to attend a Conference about to be held shortly at Dudley. Several members then spoke upon the Eastern Question, and other important political matters. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Perks’s, the BEEHIVE INN, on the 18th proximo.”

County Express 22/6/1878

“A meeting of the members of the Conservative Association was held on Tuesday evening last at Mrs. Perks’s, BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath. Mr. R. Hamilton presided. After a few remarks from the chairman, the meeting proceeded to elect their representatives for the Executive Committee.....”

Wellington Journal 18/1/1879

“On Wednesday afternoon Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, opened an inquiry at the BEEHIVE INN, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath, into the circumstances attending the death of Frederick William Southall, aged seven years, of No.7 Cokeland Place, who died after an illness of only a few hours on the 10th instant.

John Southall, chainmaker, father of the deceased, said his son was taken ill on Thursday night, the 9th instant, and died the following day.

Mr. Thomas Standish, surgeon, said he had made a post mortem examination of the body, and was unable to ascertain the cause of death. He found indications of irritant poisoning in the stomach and intestines. In accordance with the instructions from the coroner, he had forwarded the stomach, with other portions of the body, to Dr. Alfred Hill, borough analyst, Birmingham. He also handed to Dr. Hill a small portion of tea from a packet of which the tea was made which deceased drank the night before his death. The Coroner said he did not propose to go further with the evidence on that occasion. The jury had heard from Mr. Standish that some portion of the body had been forwarded to the borough analyst for examination. He deemed it necessary to take that course on hearing from Mr. Standish that he could not ascertain the cause of death, because he considered it important for the whole of the neighbourhood. As there were symptoms of irritant poisoning, he thought they should know what the real cause of death was. It would be more satisfactory to adjourn the inquiry until they had the evidence of the analyst.

The inquest was then adjourned for a month.”

County Express 15/2/1879

“On Wednesday afternoon last Mr. Hooper, Coroner, resumed the inquest at the BEEHIVE INN, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath, on the body of Frederick William Southall, aged seven years, of 7, Copeland Place, Cradley Heath. It will be remembered that the child was supposed to have been poisoned, and an inquest having been held a month ago, it was adjourned in order that an examination of the contents of the stomach might be made by Dr. Alfred Hill, of Birmingham. This having been done the latter attended at the inquiry to report the result of his examination. He stated that he had analysed the whole of the contents of the child’s stomach and found no trace of poison whatever. He also examined a packet of tea which had been forwarded and found it pure and genuine.

Dr. Standish stated that the only way he could account for the child’s death was by suppressed scarlet fever, as a child had died in the same house on the day following from this disease.

A verdict of Death from Natural Causes was then returned.

The Coroner said he wished it to be distinctly understood that no suspicion had ever been laid upon the parents. It was only suspected that the child might, unknown to its parents, have eaten something poisonous, but he considered from the evidence that no other verdict than death from natural causes could have been returned.”

County Express 6/3/1880 - Advert

“The BEEHIVE INN, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath.

To Let, the above well-known Old-established Licensed Inn and Premises, advantageously situated in the midst of a large population, near the extensive Corngreaves Works and Collieries of the New British Iron Company, in close proximity to other large works and collieries, and opposite the Theatre Royal, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath. The House has every convenience for carrying on a large trade, and includes well-fitted up Liquor Vaults, club room, brewhouse, &c. Opposite the house is a piece of Land, with piggeries, fowl-pens, quoit bed, large garden, &c. Two clubs, with about 120 members are held at the house, which has not changed hands for thirty years, and is to let in consequence of the landlady retiring from business. A seven years' lease may be had.

Apply to Powell and Brown, Auctioneers, Tipton."

1881 Census

49, Graingers Lane

[1] Sarah Perks (55), widow, licensed victualler, born Tipton;

[2] James T. Perks (33), son, manager, born Tipton;

[3] Sarah J. Perks (13), grand-daughter, scholar, born Rowley;

[4] Elizabeth Jeff (15), domestic servant, born Tipton:

Birmingham Daily Post 17/8/1882

"Quoits. TALBOT HOTEL, Colley Gate v BEEHIVE, Cradley Heath.

This match was played on Colley Gate ground, on Saturday last....."

[Colley Gate won 69-50.]

County Advertiser 10/2/1883 - Advert

"Notice! Notice!! Notice!!!

A Permanent Loan and Investment Society will commence at the BEEHIVE INN, on Saturday, the 17th February, 1883.

All Persons wishing to become Members, please apply to J. T. Perks, BEEHIVE INN, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath.

E. Willetts, Secretary."

Dudley and District News 24/5/1884

"Job Haynes, miner, was charged with being drunk and disorderly and refusing to quit the licensed premises of James Perks, the BEE HIVE INN, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath, and further with assaulting PC Tytherleigh, on the 19th.

Owing to the disorderly conduct of the prisoner in the BEE HIVE, and to his having refused to quit, Perkes [sic] sent for Tytherleigh. Together they ejected the prisoner, who turned round and kicked the officer on the leg.

Prisoner denied the charges, but was fined 5s and costs or 14 days."

J. T. Perkes [sic] issued tokens from here.

County Advertiser 10/7/1886

"John Hill and Jesse Preece, both of Cradley Heath, were charged with being disorderly on the premises of Jeremiah Westwood, and refusing to quit. The landlady said the two men were in the tap room and began quarrelling about the election, and they eventually ran out of the house and began fighting in the back yard. Witness then sent for the police and they were parted. Defendants were each fined 5s and costs."

County Advertiser 4/9/1886 - Advert

"Rowley Wake!!!

A Fete and Gala will be held in the Old Fields, Cradley Heath, on Rowley Wake Monday and Tuesday, September 13th and 14th, 1886.

A Fat Ox Will Be Roasted and Disposed of on the Grounds.

Grand Promenade Open-Air Concert, by the celebrated Dudley Glee Union (Messrs. E. W. Smith, Alex Smith, G. H. Newns, and W. H. Smith).

Important Engagement at a great cost of Miss Kate McCoy, one of the greatest Serio-Comics in the world. Expensive Engagement, and First Appearance in this town, of Mr. C. P. Gill, one of the Finest and Neatest Irish Comedians on the stage. The Renowned Serio-Comic Artistes of the London and Birmingham Concert Halls, will appear in their Side-splitting and Laughable Entertainments.

Old English Sports and Pastimes, Foot Racing, &c, each day for Valuable Prizes, by Amateurs residing within three miles of Cradley Heath. Entries on the Grounds.

The Cradley Heath Brass and Reed Band will perform Selections of Popular and Operatic Airs. Conductor, Mr. Joseph Mansell.

Fireworks and Scenic Displays, under the superintendence of Professor Heaton, Adams and Co., Birmingham.

Refreshments of first class quality, and at town prices, will be supplied on the grounds by Mr. Jeremiah Westwood, the BEE HIVE, Cradley Heath.

Admittance 3d each. Tickets may be obtained from Messrs. F. Hingley, the HEATH TAVERN, High Street; J. Westwood, the BEE HIVE INN, Graingers Lane; H. Hickton, the QUEENS HEAD INN; John Smith, RAILWAY TAVERN, Corngreaves Road; and H. Heaton, New Town, Cradley Heath."

County Advertiser 11/9/1886

"Jeremiah Westwood, landlord of the BEE HIVE INN, Cradley Heath, for furiously driving a horse at the Lye on the 2nd inst, was fined 5s and costs.

Thomas Matthews, grocer, Cradley Heath, was charged with furiously riding a horse on the same date and place, and was fined 2s

6d and cots.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 15/10/1887

“Jeremiah Westwood, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, Graingers Lane, was charged with selling intoxicating liquors during prohibited hours.

PC Wickstead stated that he was instructed to visit defendant’s premises on Sunday morning the 2nd and about 8.30 he saw Samuel Jones, who looked round, and went to the back door and pulled money out of his pocket. He then went into the house through the back door. When he came out again he stopped him and asked him what he had got in his pocket, when he replied only a little rum. He took him back into the house and asked Mrs. Westwood why she had supplied the rum, when she answered that he had been ill all night. She asked to be forgiven, and said her master would kill her.

PC McHugh corroborated.

Mr. Waldron, who defended, said he did not dispute the facts, but stated that Jones had been dangerously ill and went for some rum to relieve him. He handed in a medical certificate from Dr. Thompson in confirmation of this.

Mr. Bassano said they did not regard it as a very bad case, and he would only be fined 5s and costs.”

County Advertiser 19/5/1888

“Jeremiah Westwood, publican, Graingers Lane, was charged with assaulting Jesse Weaver, on the 10th inst. Complainant’s case was that on the day in question he was at the Salvation Army Barracks where a number of boys were making a row by hammering some buckets. Complainant told them to be quiet, and defendant told them to make the row again. Defendant told his son to make a row, and complainant struck defendant’s son, though, the complainant said, he struck him with a stick. The complainant Weaver was charged with assaulting Benjamin Westwood, the son of defendant in the last case. Both cases were dismissed, each party having to pay his own costs.”

County Express 1/9/1888

“The annual licensing session took place at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

The names of the following appeared on the black list, and were dealt with as follows.....

Jeremiah Westwood, landlord of the BEE HIVE INN, fined 5s and costs for selling rum. License granted.”

County Advertiser 1/9/1888

“William Dunn, chainmaker, Quarry Bank; Joseph Davis, chainmaker, Cradley Heath; and Walter Garratt, chainmaker, Cradley Heath, were charged with stealing ten live fowls, one dead fowl, and six bottles of bottled ale, value 33s, the property of Jeremiah Westwood, BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, on the 20th inst.

Mr. Waldron appeared to prosecute, and said the first charge was that one dead fowl was stolen. The prisoners had been drinking in prosecutor’s house, and afterwards went out into the yard. Here they appeared to be holding a consultation. After a little time they came into the private kitchen. Prosecutor and his wife were away at the time, and the house was left in charge of Mary Hardy, prosecutor’s mother-in-law. While in the kitchen they ordered some beer, which was supplied to them. In the kitchen was a sofa, beneath which was a kind of cupboard, in which was a dressed fowl when Mr. and Mrs. Westwood left the house. While the prisoners were drinking two women named Billingham and Woodhouse came into the kitchen. Mrs. Woodhouse saw Dunn pick up what she afterwards saw was the liver of a fowl and throw it on the fire. During the evening Dunn was lying on the sofa. The only evidence against Garratt was his going out into the yard and being in the conversation. Prisoners left the premises soon afterwards. The next morning Mrs. Hardy went to the fowl pen to feed the fowl, and then discovered that ten live fowls were missing. The police were informed of the matter, and Police-sergeant Hayward went to Dunn’s house at Quarry Bank. The premises were searched, and a roughly dressed fowl and a half one were found. Some feathers were also found at the back of the grate. The feathers and the fowl were shown to Mr. Westwood, who identified them readily. Police-sergeant Hayward afterwards went to the prisoner Davis’s house. There he found concealed in a closet upstairs a bottle of Bass’s bitter beer, also two empty bottles corresponding with the one containing the beer. The bottles were the same as those missed from prosecutor’s store room. On being charged with stealing the beer, Davis said, ‘Jerry (meaning the prosecutor) gave it me.’ Mr. Westwood would say that he never gave prisoner any bottled beer. Mrs. Hardy would also say that she never sold prisoners any bottled beer, or gave them any.

Mary Hardy, Mr. Westwood’s mother-in-law, gave evidence in keeping with Mr. Waldron’s statement.

Sylvia Billingham, wife of James Billingham, Cradley Heath, and Sarah Woodhouse, Copeland Place, Cradley Heath deposed to being in prosecutor’s kitchen on the date named, and to seeing what took place as described by Mr. Waldron.

Priscilla Westwood, wife of the prosecutor, deposed to the fowls being all right when she left the house, and to the dressed fowl being in the cupboard. Prisoners were in the house when she left. The next morning the fowls were missed from the pen, and Police-sergeant Hayward was informed of the fact.

Jeremiah Westwood, prosecutor, gave similar evidence. He could swear to the fowls.

Police-sergeant Hayward deposed to arresting the prisoners on the 24th inst.

After hearing other evidence the Bench said they could not see any clear evidence against Garratt, and that against the others did not appear conclusive, and they would, therefore, all be discharged.”

County Express 9/11/1889

“Elijah Reece, ironworker, of Cradley, and Benjamin Billingham, ironworker, of Cradley Heath, were charged at the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, with committing a breach of the peace by fighting on Saturday last. Jeremiah Westwood, a publican, of the BEE HIVE INN, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath, was charged with aiding and abetting in the commission of the offence. Mr. Hugh Lindsay, excise officer, said that on Saturday, the 2nd inst, he was proceeding along the Cradley Road, towards the bottom end of Corngreaves Road, to Messrs. Parsons and Cooper's colliery. When a short distance from the pit he saw a large number of persons gathered together, and they appeared to be in a very excited state. He stood still for some time for the purpose of ascertaining the cause of it, and after waiting a little while he saw Westwood and some other men come up to where he was standing. Westwood, it appeared to him, was trying to ascertain the cause of the commotion, when the two prisoners commenced to fight. Westwood wiped one of the men's faces with a handkerchief, and seated him upon his knee. Witness enquired who the fighting persons were, but no one would give their names. He then left, and after he had proceeded a short distance he met Police-constable Wynn, and informed him of the matter. They saw Billingham coming from the direction of where the fight had occurred.

Inspector Walters: How many rounds did the men have? – Witness: As far as I can recollect the men were each down three or four times on the ground, one after the other. The combatants were without their coats, and before the fray was ended they were in pants.

Police-constable Wynn said he left a summons at the residence of Billingham, who said he was struck by Reece first, and was obliged to defend himself. At the time Billingham was quite sober. When he served the summons upon Reece he stated that Billingham struck him first.

The whole of the defendants were bound over to keep the peace for three months, and were ordered to pay the costs. The costs in Reece and Billingham's case amounted to 11s, and in Westwood's to 18s 10d."

County Advertiser 14/6/1890

"Jeremiah Westwood, of the BEEHIVE INN, Graingers Lane, was charged with assaulting Samuel Rose on the 8th inst. Complainant said defendant struck him a violent blow on the face as he came out of his mother's house, he having offered no provocation whatever. This evidence was corroborated by John Williams, who saw the blow struck, and testified to there being no altercation before complainant was struck. Defendant admitted striking the blow, but said he struck it in self defence. Complainant and others had created a great disturbance near his house, and challenged him out to fight. Ann Hadley, a witness called by defendant, deposed to hearing the row. Defendant struck complainant, although the latter would have struck Westwood if his mother had not been between them. The Bench said they were afraid defendant was not a peaceful man, and, there being a bad record against him, he would be fined 30s and costs."

The Stage 15/8/1890 - Advert

"Miss Maino Donnell, Disengaged. Lead or Special parts.
Address, BEEHIVE HOTEL, Cradley Heath, Staff."

Birmingham Daily Post 26/3/1891

"Yesterday, at the Old Hill Police Court, Samuel Chatwin, of Cradley Heath, was charged with stealing 23s 6d, which had been placed in a pint cup, the property of Jeremiah Westwood, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, on the 11th inst. Mr. Waldron defended.

Louisa Jones said she was the 'male barman' at the BEEHIVE INN, and went under the name of Louis St. George. On the night in question, about eleven o'clock, she was dressed in male attire, and she saw the defendant reach the cup from the shelf and put it under his apron and walk out. Witness followed him, and found the cup in his possession. Cross-examined, witness said she was not employed by Mr. Westwood as a singer, but as a male impersonator. John Alfred Hardy and Obadiah Raybould also corroborated.

For the defence, Mr. Waldron contended that the defendant did not reach the cup down with the intention of stealing it, but for the purpose of handing it to the barmaid.

The Bench imposed a fine of 20s and costs, or, in default, a month's imprisonment. The fine and costs amounted to £3 6s."

1891 Census

49, Graingers Lane – BEEHIVE INN

[1] Jeremiah Westwood (35), publican, licensed, born Rowley;

[2] Priscilla Westwood (34), wife, born Bilston;

[3] Benjamin Westwood (14), son, scholar, born Rowley;

[4] Florence Westwood (10), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;

[5] Amy Westwood (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;

[6] Pollie Johns (18), domestic servant, born Rowley;

[7] Minnie Donnell (37), visitor, born Rowley;

[8] Louis St. Johns (24), lodger, barmaid, birthplace unknown:

Jeremiah Westwood was also a brewer.

County Express 25/7/1891

"On Monday the members of court No.4172, Good Samaritan, of the Ancient Order of Foresters, held their annual meeting at Mr. Westwood's, BEE HIVE INN, Cradley Heath. Fifty-three sat down to a substantial dinner....."

County Advertiser 5/9/1891 - Advert

"Friendly Societies' Procession and Grand Fete and Gala will be held in the Picturesque Haden Hill Grounds (By kind permission of G. A. H. Haden Best, Esq) on Rowley Wake Monday, September 14th, 1891, on behalf of the Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital.

Mr. Jos. Darby, the Champion Jumper of the World, is specially engaged, and will beat all previous records.

Football Match – Causeway Green Villa (Holders of the Dudley Charity Cup) v Old Hill Wanderers.

Punch and Judy and other Amusements.

Grand Fireworks Display! Pool On Fire, &c, by Messrs. Brock and Co., London.

The following Bands will be in attendance, and give Selections of Music: Prince of Wales, Blackheath; St. Paul's, Blackheath; and the Cradley Heath Brass and Reed Band.

Refreshments will be supplied on the Grounds by Mr. J. Westwood, BEE HIVE INN, Cradley Heath.

Admission – Adults Sixpence, Children Half-price.

Tickets may be had from Messrs W. Bennett, Trinity Schools, and S. Mason, Halesowen Road, Old Hill; Joseph Rock, Cock Green; Philip Taylor, Springfield; William Beddowes and William Woodhouse, Rowley; Sampson Willetts, Birmingham Road, William Lewis, Tump Road, Job Cashmore, Hackett Street, and Samuel Harper, Halesowen Street, Blackheath; Richard Roberts, Dog Lane; Thomas Brookes, Ross; George Hollies, Four Ways; Nehemiah Homer, HOLLY BUSH INN, Cradley Heath; from any of the Bandmasters, or from the Hon. Sec. Mr. Isaac Cashmore, Powke Lane, Blackheath.

Grounds open at 2pm.”

Birmingham Daily Post 12/12/1891

“Staffordshire Assizes.....

Arthur Arnold (19), labourer, was indicted for burglariously entering the house of Jeremiah Westwood, Cradley Heath, on the 15th July, and stealing 17s and number of cigars. Mr. R. H. Amphlett prosecuted.

Prosecutor's public house was entered on the night in question, and the day following prisoner, who lived next door, was found in possession of a number of florins and half-crowns, and several cigars, which it was alleged belonged to prosecutor. Prisoner had previously been in prosecutor's employ, and the day before the robbery was at work in the house.

He was found guilty, and was sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment, with hard labour.”

Jeremiah Westwood – see also RAILWAY TAVERN, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath.

The Era 2/4/1892 - Advert

“Wanted, Lady Pianist. Able to Read at Sight. ‘Warning Light’ Tour.

Maino Donnell, BEE HIVE HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

The Era 9/4/1892 - Advert

“Wanted, Good Responsible Gents, to complete Cast, ‘Warning Light,’ Fit-up Tour. Must be experienced.

Maino Donnell, BEEHIVE HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 29/4/1893

“Walter Edward Mealand, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his premises, and, further, with selling ale to a drunken person on the 15th inst. Mr. Oliver Minster, Coventry, defended.

Inspector Bishop, in company with Police-sergeant Newman, said he visited the defendant's house at about 10pm. In the bar he saw the landlord and five other men. One of them, Benjamin Parkes, was very drunk, and leaning against the counter, next to the landlord. As witness went into the room defendant said to Parkes, ‘Now, come, drink up your beer and go,’ and upon that witness saw Parkes take hold of a cup and drink from it. A man named George Mallen, who was standing near, said to witness, ‘He has had nothing to drink here; he has been drinking wine.’ Witness said, ‘I heard the landlord tell him to drink up his beer and go, and I saw him drink from the cup.’ Witness then told the landlord he should not fill men drink when in such a drunken state, and the landlord said he had only filled a jug of ale for Parkes to take home with him. Parkes then went away with the jug, staggering as he did so, and spilling some of the ale. The landlord said he did not think he was doing any harm by filling him the ale to take home.

Mr. Minster, for the defence, said that defendant, when he saw Parkes was drunk, refused to supply him with any drink except the pint which he wanted to take home. Parkes refused to go, and the landlord tried to put him out. Parkes kept his ground, and said he would not go until he had had the drink. Mallen then said he could have some of his, which he did. He thought it was a trivial case, which at most a small fine would meet, and although defendant might be technically wrong he refused to supply him with drink.

Defendant and the others were called in support of this statement.

The Bench fined defendant 40s and costs in the second case, and ordered him to pay costs in the first, in all £2 18s 6d.

Benjamin Parkes was fined 5s and costs for being drunk on the licensed premises.”

County Advertiser 2/9/1893

“John Perry, chainmaker, Graingers Lane, was fined 10s for being disorderly and refusing to quit the licensed premises of Henry R. Pollard, of the BEEHIVE. Mr. Cross prosecuted.

A warrant was granted for Jeremiah Westwood, who, it was alleged, had badly assaulted the landlady.”

County Advertiser 7/10/1893

“Jeremiah Westwood, of Cradley Heath, was charged with being disorderly on the licensed premises of Henry Pollard, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, and refusing to leave the same, and further with assaulting Elizabeth Pollard, his wife, on the 28th of August.

Mr. Cross (Birmingham) appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Ward defended.

Mr. Cross said it appeared that some time previous to the date named, defendant held the license of this particular house at Cradley Heath, and had become a nuisance and a source of annoyance to Mr. Pollard. On the date named Mrs. Pollard came back from Coventry shortly after ten o'clock, and defendant came into the bar and asked for a pint of ale. She declined to fill him any, saying he had had enough. Defendant, without their permission, then began to drink from some of the customers' cups, and the landlady remonstrated with him. The latter also asked him to go, but he refused, and upon his wife coming in and asking him, he refused her request that he would go home. Defendant then called Mrs. Pollard abominable names, and struck her in the chest. She thereupon pushed him to protect herself, and he took hold of her by the back of the head, dragged her down by her hair, and struck her several times. His wife ultimately got him away and home.

Elizabeth Pollard gave evidence in support of this statement.

Cross-examined: She was instructed by the Brewery Company who had the house not to serve defendant when he created a disturbance. Defendant was not drunk, but he had had sufficient. She did not say he was not a gentleman before he struck her.

Re-examined: She had supplied him with drink when he was sober.

Mr. Pollard gave evidence in support of the charge.

Mr. Ward, for the defence, said it was very plain that there was a motive in the case, and much feeling between defendant and complainant. The latter had been instructed by the Brewery Company not to supply defendant at all, and defendant was asked by a man in the house to have some of his drink. Defendant did not insult the landlady, was sober and quiet, and when the landlady said he was not a gentleman, he said she was not a lady. The case had been greatly exaggerated, and he did not strike the landlady. Mr. Ward called about half a dozen witnesses, who bore out this statement.

Defendant, in answer to Mr. Goodman (magistrates' clerk) said he did not receive the summons, as he went to Liverpool on Tuesday (the 28th) in the morning.

Inspector Bishop and Police-sergeant Newman deposed to seeing defendant in Cradley Heath on the same night in a drunken condition.

Defendant was fined 10s and costs in each case, in all £3 12s 6d."

County Advertiser 9/2/1895

"A petition was filed at the Dudley County Court on Tuesday last on behalf of Jeremiah Westwood, formerly of the BEE HIVE INN, licensed victualler, but now living in lodgings at the RAILWAY TAVERN, Cradley Heath, out of business. The liabilities are about £600. Mr. W. Waldron, Brierley Hill, is the debtor's solicitor."

London Gazette 15/2/1895

"Jeremiah Westwood, formerly the BEE HIVE INN, Cradley Heath, Staffordshire, afterwards Southalls Lane, Dudley, Worcestershire, now residing in lodgings at the RAILWAY TAVERN, Cradley Heath aforesaid, formerly licensed victualler, afterwards fish and fruit dealer, now out of business."

Jeremiah Westwood died in 1898 aged 43.

County Advertiser 23/2/1895

"Caleb Raybould, Cokeland Place, for refusing to quit the licensed premises of the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, on the 13th inst, was fined 10s."

Birmingham Daily Post 2/3/1895

"Bankruptcy Proceedings. Re Jeremiah Westwood, licensed victualler.

Yesterday, at the Dudley County Court – before Mr. Kettle – Jeremiah Westwood, formerly of the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, afterwards of Southalls Lane, Dudley, and now living in lodgings at the RAILWAY TAVERN, Cradley Heath, came up for his public examination in bankruptcy. Debtor's liabilities amounted to £587, and his assets, it was estimated, would produce £64, leaving a deficiency of £523. Mr. Martin (from the office of Mr. Waldron, Brierley Hill) appeared on behalf of the debtor, who was examined by the Official Receiver (Mr. E. P. Jobson).

About seventeen years ago debtor commenced business at the RAILWAY TAVERN, Cradley Heath, having previously been in business at the CROSS INN, Old Hill. The in-going valuation at the RAILWAY TAVERN was £160, of which £70 was advanced by the debtor's father. He traded at that house for eight years, and in the meantime he purchased the freehold for £360, of which £300 was advanced upon mortgage. When the debtor disposed of the premises and business he received £100 from his successor. This was not sufficient to pay his creditors 20s in the pound, so he used it in part payment of the in-going valuation (£230) at the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, then acquired by him. The payment was advanced by a local maltster, with whom was deposited, as security, a lease of the premises. He traded there about seven years, when a firm of brewers purchased the lease, and ultimately arranged for the debtor to remain on the premises as their tenant. They also paid him £100. His indebtedness at that period considerably exceeded his assets, and at the end of two years, also his connection with the brewery company ceased, his liabilities amounted to about £500. During the latter period of the debtor's trading at the BEEHIVE INN, he speculated with a theatrical company for the production of several stage plays. This company was sent on tour for two months to several provincial towns. The salary and travelling expenses averaged about £32 per week. The debtor did not personally superintend the finances of the company, being satisfied to leave them in the hands of his son, a youth of fifteen, who reported weekly. This speculation involved a loss of £250. He admitted that when he embarked on this undertaking he was insolvent. When he left the BEEHIVE, in March, 1893, his affairs were put into the hands of a solicitor to arrange with his creditors. An arrangement for the acceptance of a composition was not completed, and debtor was pressed for payment, and compelled to file his petition in bankruptcy. During a portion of the last two years he had traded as a fishmonger, and his liabilities had been slightly increased. His wife carried on business as a fishmonger at Dudley. With regard to the theatrical business, he had to pay an agent 25s a week and his travelling expenses, and the first week he made 12s 6d profit, but the next week he lost £13. He came from Canada seventeen years ago, and during most of the time since he had been in difficulties. Debtor was allowed to pass.”

County Advertiser 11/5/1895

“Stourbridge County Court. Wednesday. Before Sir Richard Harington, Bart, Judge.

Westwood v Homer. This was an action brought by Benjamin Westwood, licensed victualler, of Cradley Heath, against Mr. Thomas Homer, Solicitor, of Brierley Hill, to recover the sum of £50, which had been paid to defendant for the purpose of arranging a composition. Mr. Kettle (instructed by Mr. Waldron) appeared for the plaintiff, and the defendant was not represented, neither did he appear.

It was stated that in 1893, the plaintiff’s son, who was then occupying the BEEHIVE INN, at Cradley Heath, got into financial difficulties, and consulted defendant on the matter. A meeting of creditors was held, when they decided to accept a composition of 4s in the pound. Defendant had at that time £64 in hand, the moneys of Mr. J. Westwood, and the plaintiff advanced the £50 to Mr. Homer on the understanding that the composition should be arranged with the whole of the creditors. That this composition should be made was laid down by plaintiff on a special condition of the advance of the £50 to make up £114; and if Mr. Homer failed to secure the acceptance of the composition he was to return the money. The money was advanced by plaintiff on May 15th, 1893, but no composition had been made. The present action to recover the £50 referred to had been adjourned twice at the defendant’s request. On the preceding day Mr. Waldron received from the defendant a cheque, which he did not think fit to accept, and that morning Mr. Waldron received a letter from defendant stating that he would be at the court with the cash, but he had not appeared. Mr. Waldron was called and gave evidence in keeping with counsel’s statement, and His Honour gave a verdict for plaintiff for the amount claimed.”

[Benjamin Westwood – see WIZARD AND GLASS.]

In May 1896 Henry Rollings Pollard, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, was defrauded out of 10s by George Wilson, a photographic canvasser.

County Express 16/1/1897

“Thomas Baker, chainmaker, Cradley Heath, was charged with being disorderly on the licensed premises of Henry Rawlings Pollard, the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, on July 24th, 1896, also with assaulting Mr. Pollard, and with doing damage to the value of 7s 6d.

Complainant stated that on July 24th prisoner entered his house, and after singing a song commenced a bother with the customers. He ordered Baker out, but as he refused, witness put his hand on prisoner. Prisoner seized a cup and threw it at witness. It cut his arm severely, and a doctor put in two stitches. He destroyed a number of articles.

Prisoner said he supposed he might as well plead guilty. He hoped the Bench would send him to ‘another world.’ He had so many enemies round here that he could do nothing right.

Mr. Bassano said prisoner had been in gaol month after month, and he had nearly a whole page of convictions against him. He appeared to be of no use on earth at all. For refusing to quit he would be fined 10s and costs, or 14 days; for the assault one month with hard labour, and also to pay the doctor’s bill, and 6s costs, and 7s damage, or seven days.”

Henry Rawlings Pollard – see also FOUNTAIN, Pensnett.

County Express 24/4/1897

“A meeting of the small anchor-smiths section of the Amalgamated Anchor-Smiths and Shackle-Makers’ Association, was held at the BEEHIVE INN, Graingers Lane, on Wednesday morning, to consider the question of asking for an advance.”

1901 Census

49, Graingers Lane – BEEHIVE INN

[1] Alfred Price (41), publican, born Cradley;

[2] Ellen Price (45), wife, born Cradley;

[3] Sarah E. Price (18), daughter, dressmaker, born Cradley Heath;

[4] Alfred H. Price (16), son, machine minder (fitting shop), born Cradley Heath;

[5] Fred Price (12), son, born Cradley Heath;

[6] Jane E. Price (7), daughter, born Cradley Heath:

County Express 27/7/1901

“On Monday Mr. A. H. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, on the body of Mark Billingham (15), furnace labourer, 61, Beehive Street, Cradley Heath. Evidence was given by Ann Maria Billingham (deceased’s mother), Selina Jeavons (a neighbour), Police-sergeant Pitcher, and Dr. de Denne. From this it appeared deceased had for some years suffered with pains in his head and ears, but had not been medically attended. He was taken ill on Friday, became worse on Saturday, and died on Sunday. Dr. de Denne was called after death, and stated there was an abscess on the brain. A verdict of Natural Causes was returned.”

John Pillow = John Pellow

John Pillow – see also FIVE WAYS.

County Express 12/9/1908

“Friendly Societies’ Parade. On Wednesday evening the committee of the above met at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Mr. W. Coley presiding over a large attendance. The following was a complete list of those boxes which contained amounts of 1s and upwards.....

Mr. R. Botfield, BEEHIVE INN, 1s.”

County Express 10/7/1909

“At a meeting of the Cradley Heath Friendly Societies’ Parade Committee, at the BEEHIVE INN, Corngreaves Road, on Tuesday evening, there were present Messrs. W. Coley (chairman), T. Wilkes, F. Chapman, J. Dearn, A. Poole, Botfield, Furguson, Stonely, and S. H. Woodhouse (secretary).

The Secretary announced that the Rev. Jos. Pearce had written to the vicar (the Rev. R. E. Walker) asking him to take part in the service at Graingers Lane Primitive Methodist Chapel, on parade Sunday. The vicar replied as follows: ‘The Vicarage, July 3rd. Dear Sir, Thank you for your letter of this morning. Am sorry not able to accede to your request.....’

1911 Census

49, Graingers Lane – BEEHIVE INN

- [1] Robert William Botfield (30), publican, born Chelmarsh, Shropshire;
- [2] Phoebe Ann Botfield (32), wife, married 11 years, assisting in the business, born Netherton;
- [3] William Botfield (10), son, school, born Netherton;
- [4] Bert Botfield (8), son, school, born Netherton;
- [5] George Henry Botfield (7 months), son, born Cradley Heath;
- [6] Susannah Haynes (14), domestic servant, born Cradley Heath:

Robert William Botfield – see also ANCHOR and BELL, Cradley Heath, and BLUE BALL, Old Hill.

County Express 3/6/1911

“Old Cradley Heath. Chat with Mr. Thomas Hingley Parsons, sexton at St. Luke’s Church for Forty Years.....

Though in his 81st year, Mr. Parsons is wonderfully virile and active, the keenness of his intellect and memory is unabated, and he willingly discoursed upon the Cradley Heath of his younger days.....

In those days, he added, the inhabitants of the district were not quarter so many as they are now, and the only public houses were the HOLLY BUSH, High Street; Bannister’s Newtown; ‘Benny Fiddler’s’; SALUTATION, Lomey Town; BEEHIVE, Graingers Lane; and QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Road.”

Edgar Randall = Edgar Randle

Birmingham Daily Post 5/2/1914

“The licensing sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held yesterday.....

Superintendent Johnson objected to the renewal of the licenses of the BEEHIVE, Cradley Heath, on the ground of previous convictions.

The Bench decided to renew both licenses, but cautioned the license holders as to the future conduct of the houses.”

Dudley Chronicle 16/1/1915

“At Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, the license of the BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath, was transferred from the Executors of Edgar Randall to Joseph Boswell.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 25/8/1921

“On the ground that the out-going tenant denied that the signature on a certain document was his, the Old Hill magistrates had no alternative but to refuse to grant an interim authority to Harold Harbach in respect of the BEEHIVE INN, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath.

Joseph Boswell, who is at present in possession of the house, said he did not think the company should put another man in until the transfer was finally made. He had not been able to find anywhere else to live, and there were six in the family.

Mr. Thomas H. Smith, manager of the Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd., the owners of the house, said even if Boswell denied the signature or refused to sign, it would not make any difference, because according to his agreement with the firm the latter could fill in any forms which the tenant objected to sign.

The magistrates’ clerk (Mr. T. Cooksey) said the interim authority could not be granted, and a new application, properly signed, would have to be submitted.

The magistrates adjourned the case for a week and Mr. Smith said he would therefore close the house for that period.”

Harold Harbach was also a shopkeeper of 48, Graingers Lane. [1924]

Dudley Chronicle 16/2/1928

“Annual Licensing Sessions for Rowley Regis.....

They had all the applications for renewals before them, and they had given consideration to them with a view to reducing their number. They had decided to defer until the adjourned licensing day the licenses of.....

BEEHIVE, Cradley Heath, on the ground of redundancy.”

Dudley Chronicle 15/3/1928

“The adjourned annual Licensing Meeting was held at Old Hill Police Court last week.....

With regard to six licenses, adjourned at the annual Licensing Sessions for further consideration on the grounds of redundancy, the chairman said they had decided to renew the licenses of three of them BEEHIVE, Cradley Heath.”

It was referred to the Compensation Authority on 6th May 1929, on the grounds of redundancy.

The license was renewed.

Staffordshire Advertiser 29/6/1929

“The Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910. Notice of Principal Meeting. County of Stafford.

Notice is Hereby Given, that the Principal Meeting to be held pursuant to the Licensing Rules, 1910, by the Compensation Authority for the above Area, will be held at the Shire Hall, Stafford, on Tuesday, the 30th day of July, 1929, at 11 o'clock am.

And Notice Is Hereby Also Given, that the Compensation Authority will at the Meeting be prepared to hear, with reference to the Renewal of the Licenses of the several Premises specified in the subjoined list, all those Persons to whom under the Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910, they are bound to give an opportunity of being heard.....

List of Licensed Premises.....

BEEHIVE INN, Cradley Heath. Alehouse. Licensee, Frederick N. Raybould.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 3/8/1929

“County Licensing.

Eleven licensed premises, mostly in the South Staffordshire area, were scheduled at the Principal Meeting of the County Licensing Compensation Authority held at the Shirehall Stafford.....

Application for renewal of the BEEHIVE INN, an alehouse at Cradley Heath was made by Mr. W. H. Thompson (Dudley). Inspector Hall considered the house was unnecessary and that there were too many licensed houses in the area. He admitted that quite a fair trade was being done compared with other licensed houses in the locality.

On behalf of the owners, it was stated that plans had been submitted to the local justices to improve the house, and particularly the living accommodation, by the acquisition of two cottages. The house, which was near a large chain works, had done a steady trade of five barrels of beer a week, apart from wines and spirits and bottled goods, for the last five years. It was estimated that, based on the past three years' trade, the sum of £4,000 would be required to compensate the owners for the loss of the license. The committee decided to renew the license.”

Rachel Cunningham married an Ernest Garratt.

1939 Register

49, Graingers Lane

[1] Ernest C. Garratt, date of birth 21/1/1884, warehouse foreman, married;

[2] Rachel Garratt, dob 11/8/1890, licensee, married;

[3] Joan (Cunningham) Willmott, dob 13/2/1930, at school, single:

The license was removed to the BRICKHOUSE.

It closed on 21st November 1956.

BEEHIVE

113, High Street, (Garratts Lane) / Elbow Street, OLD HILL

OWNERS

Thomas Darby and Sons [1898], [1918]

LICENSEES

Thomas Darby [1881] – [1882]

Henry Cole (1892 – 1897);

Josiah Weston (1897 – [1898])
Henry ‘Harry’ Letts (1898 – [])
George Edmund Miles [1900] – 1903);
Noah Windsor (1903);
Edwin Arthur Barnett (1903 – 1904);
David Jeavons (1904 – 1906);
John Mansell (1906 – 1907);
William James Newman (1907 – [])
Samuel Siviter (1908 – 1909);
George Henry Siviter (1909 – [])
Abel Siviter [1910] – 1918);

NOTES

It had a beerhouse license.

West Bromwich Weekly News 24/9/1881

“Thomas Darby, landlord of the BEEHIVE, Elbow Street, was charged with permitting drunkenness on the 3rd inst. PCs Rowlands and Rowe visited defendant’s house at 7.45 on the evening in question, and found a man named Green sitting in the room asleep and drunk. Defendant’s wife was behind the counter, and she told them that the man had been told to go a dozen times, but would not. The defence was that the man went to the house early in the evening. He was then sober and was supplied with ale. He then left, professedly with the intention of getting something to eat. In about half an hour he came in again, when it was noticed that he was drunk, and was refused ale. He was also told to leave but refused. Several witnesses bore out the above statement. Fined 40s and costs. Mr. Bassano said the license would not be endorsed, in consideration of the man not being supplied with ale the second time.”

Dudley and District News 1/10/1881

“William Green was charged with being drunk in the BEEHIVE beerhouse on the 3rd inst. PC Rowe stated the case. Prisoner: Well, I think it was quite excusable in my case. I only went to have a drop after getting through with my day’s business, and if I was a little the worse after it, I didn’t annoy anyone. Witness: His daughter was sent for to take him home. Fined 5s including costs, or 7 days.”

Dudley and District News 2/9/1882

“Old Hill annual Brewster Sessions were held at the Police Court on Wednesday..... The following is the black list, and in each of the cases the licenses were suspended till the adjourned licensing meeting Beerhouse Keepers..... Thomas Darby, BEEHIVE, Elbow Street, Old Hill, permitting drunkenness, fined 40s and costs.”

Dudley and District News 30/9/1882

“This being the Old Hill adjourned licensing sessions the Bench granted a renewal of the licenses which were suspended at the last annual general sessions. The Chairman stated that the magistrates had very carefully considered each case, and they had decided to renew the licenses on the understanding that some assurance was given on the part of each defaulter, that their respective houses should be better conducted in the future. The Bench were determined that the law should be enforced, and if the defendants were guilty of any further offence against the Licensing Laws they would be severely punished and their licenses forfeited. The Chairman added that Henry Heath, who was convicted for selling ale during prohibited hours on Sunday, was now taking out a six days’ license instead of a seven days’, and his license was renewed on that condition; and if any of the others wished to have six days’ licenses the Bench would be pleased to grant them.”

County Advertiser 27/8/1892

“The annual Brewster Sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division, were held at Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday..... Inspector Bishop objected to the renewal of the license to Henry Cole, of the BEEHIVE, High Street, Old Hill, on the ground of the house not being structurally adapted for a beerhouse. On the application of Mr. Waldron, the application for renewal was adjourned till the adjourned licensing day for the necessary alterations to the premises to be made.”

County Advertiser 5/9/1896

“On Wednesday evening the employes and licensed tenants of Mr. Thomas Darby, corn merchant and brewer, responded to an invitation they had received to dine at Mr. Henry Cole’s house, the BEEHIVE INN, in honour of the celebration of the marriage of Miss Annie E. Darby (Mr. Darby’s eldest daughter) to Dr. Tibbetts, of Cradley Heath. Thirty-two employes sat down, and about forty friends were subsequently entertained.....”

County Express 10/4/1897 - Advert

“To Let, a Pasture Field, near the Cross, Old Hill.
Apply, Mr. Henry Cole, BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill.”

Josiah Weston = Josiah Westwood

County Advertiser 2/10/1897

“The adjourned licensing sessions for Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held on Wednesday at the Police Court, Old Hill, before Messrs. W. Bassano, J. Walker, and G. Green.....

Henry Cole applied for the transfer of the license of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, from Mr. McWhirter to himself.

Inspector Given said the house was badly conducted. Applicant had formerly kept the house, and was fined £5 and costs for an offence against the licensing laws. Since 1892 applicant had kept the BEEHIVE INN, and had conducted that house very satisfactorily, there being no complaint whatever against him. If the Bench granted the application he hoped Mr. Cole would give an undertaking that the house should be properly conducted. The Bench granted the application, applicant giving the required undertaking that he would not have any inducements connected with the house.

An interim authority in respect to the BEEHIVE INN was granted to Josiah Westwood, there being no objection on the part of the police.”

Dudley Herald 19/3/1898

“At the Police Court on Wednesday, Mr. Waldron made an application, on behalf of Henry Letts, for a temporary permit to enter into possession of the BEEHIVE INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill. He said that the applicant, at the termination of his apprenticeship at Halesowen, went to the BEECH TREE INN, at Blackheath, and kept that place for 10 years without any complaint on the part of the police. He subsequently became tenant of the FIVE WAYS INN, Stourbridge, under the North Worcestershire Brewery Company, and while there was convicted for permitting drunkenness. He contended that one offence ought not to prevent a man for ever managing a public house, and he hoped they would allow him to rehabilitate himself and again hold a license. The Bench granted the application, saying that Letts, who had suffered for the conviction, must be careful in future.”

Dudley Herald 2/4/1898

“The following deed of arrangement has been gazetted: Josiah Weston, the BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill, publican. Trustee, Eli H. Boilstone, Old Hill, auctioneer. Unsecured liabilities, £537 5s; estimated net assets, £130.”

County Advertiser 3/9/1898 - Notice

“To the Overseers of the Poor of the Parish or Township of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, and to the Superintendent of Police of the District in which the House hereinafter mentioned is situate, and to all whom it may concern.

I, Harry Letts, Beerhouse Keeper, now residing at High Street, Old Hill, in the Parish or Township of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, Do Hereby Give Notice, that it is my intention to Apply, at the Adjourned General Annual Licensing Meeting for the Division of Rowley Regis, to be holden at the Public Office, at Old Hill, in the said County, on Wednesday, the 28th day of September, 1898, for the grant of a Certificate authorising me to Apply for and Hold an Excise License for the Sale, by retail, at a House and Premises known as the BEEHIVE INN, and situate at High Street, Old Hill, in the Parish or Township of Rowley Regis, aforesaid, of Wine to be Consumed either on or off Premises, in pursuance of the Act 23 Vict, c.27, s.7 and 8, and Acts amending the same, of which said Premises Thomas Darby, of Old Hill, aforesaid, is the Owner, and the same are of the annual value and are otherwise qualified as required by law, and are now in my own occupation.

Given under my hand this 25th day of August, 1898.

Henry Letts.

Witness, David Wall, Clerk with Mr. J. W. Clulow, Solicitor, Brierley Hill.”

Dudley Herald 24/9/1898

“Henry Howell was charged (1) with assaulting Emily Letts, wife of Harry Letts, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill, (2) with refusing to quit licensed premises, (3) with being drunk and disorderly in the highway, (4) with doing wilful damage to property belonging to Emily Letts. Mr. Tinsley, Dudley, defended.

Mrs. Letts said that on the 11th inst defendant came to her husband’s house and asked for a bottle of soda water. He was very drunk so she refused to serve him. He then said that he should demand a drink and immediately jumped the counter and struck her in the face. Her husband, who had been outside, at this period came in and defendant asked to be served with a drink. Mr. Letts also refused to serve him and ordered him to leave the house. He refused, however, and some men endeavoured to prevent him from striking her again. He then left the bar-room and went into the smoke-room and soon afterwards she heard a crash, and subsequently found that a pane in the smoke-room door and a drinking glass had been broken. She estimated the damage at about 2s 6d.

Henry Letts, corroborated.

Samuel Hughes said he saw the defendant leap the counter and demand a drink, and when refused, saw him strike Mrs. Letts.

Other evidence was given in support of these charges.

PC Beech said that on the 10th inst about 9.45 he saw the defendant drunk and heard him making use of very bad language. He was bleeding from the face and there was a mark on his forehead.

Mr. Tinsley, for the defence, said unfortunately he should have to ask the Bench to rely on the defendant’s statements, as he had no witness. He submitted that the damage was not proved, as there was no one who actually saw defendant break the glass. He also submitted that defendant jumped over the counter to escape the taunts of some men who were in the bar-room, and contended that Mrs. Letts might have been knocked in the struggle which took place when the man was ejected. He could scarcely combat the charge of refusing to quit, but he suggested that there was undue violence used in ejecting the man, and this would perhaps account for his state of mind when seen by PC Beech.

The Bench fined defendant 20s and costs for the assault, 10s and costs for refusing to quit, the costs and 2s damage for malicious injury, and 10s for being drunk and disorderly.”

County Advertiser 1/10/1898

“The adjourned licensing sessions for the Rowley petty sessional division were held on Wednesday.....

Mr. J. W. Clulow applied, on behalf of Mr. Harry Letts, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, for a wine license. The house was mostly used for the accommodation of travellers, and was eminently adapted for the purposes of a wine license. Applicant provided dinners daily, and there was no other house in the immediate locality. The rental was £25 a year.

Mr. Harry Letts was called, and gave evidence.

Mr. B. Shakespeare said he had just received instructions to oppose the granting of the license on behalf of Mr. Sidaway, a licensed victualler in Garratts Lane.

In cross-examination witness said he had occupied the house six months. His was the only house that supplied refreshments in that street. He did not know how far away the DUKE WILLIAM was. It was a full-licensed house. He knew the KINGS HEAD INN, and that was a full-licensed house.

The Bench said they should not grant the application.”

Birmingham Daily Post 2/1/1900

“General (good) Wanted, at once.

Address, Mrs. Letts, BEEHIVE, High Street, Old Hill, Staffordshire.”

Henry ‘Harry’ Letts – see also BEECH TREE, Gorsty Hill Road, Blackheath and FIVE WAYS, Cradley Heath.

George Edmund Miles = George Edmund Mills

County Express 1/9/1900

“To the Overseers of the Poor of the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, and to the Superintendent of Police of the District in which the House hereinafter mentioned is situate, and to all whom it may concern.

I, George Edmund Miles, Beerhouse Keeper, now residing at Garratts Lane, Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, Do Hereby, Give Notice that it is my Intention to Apply at the Adjourned General Annual Licensing Meeting for the Division of Rowley Regis, to be Holden at the Public Office at Old Hill, in the said County, on Wednesday, the 26th day of September, 1900, for the Grant of a License or Certificate authorising me to Apply for and Hold an Excise License for the Sale by Retail at a House and Premises known as the BEEHIVE, situate at Garratts Lane and Elbow Street, Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, aforesaid, of Wine, to be consumed on or off the Premises, in pursuance of the Act 23 Victoria, cap.27, Sections 7 and 8, and Acts amending the same, of which said Premises Thomas Darby is the owner, and the same are of annual value and are otherwise qualified as required by Law, and are now in my own occupation.

Given under my hand this 31st day of August, 1900.

Thomas Darby.”

County Express 29/9/1900

“Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

George Edmund Miles, of the BEEHIVE INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, applied for a wine ‘off’ and ‘on’ license. Mr. Green supported the application, and Mr. Shakespeare, jun, opposed. It was stated the house was owned by Mr. Thomas Darby, and the application was for a license to sell wine to be consumed on or off the premises. The applicant stated his house was practically the only house in Old Hill where dinners were provided, and he was frequently asked for wine to be drunk with the dinners. Cross-examined: He had not had time to file certificates of character. There must have been some mistake that Thomas Darby should have signed his application. There were three or four full licensed houses within 40 yards of the applicant’s house, where people could get wine if they wanted it. He had been cautioned about giving sweets on the Sunday to children. He was not aware that the magistrates disapproved of that, and he did not think he would get more trade by it. The application was refused, the Bench saying there were already too great facilities for drinking, without making them greater.”

1901 Census

Garratts Lane

[1] George E. Miles (30), married, publican, born York;

[2] Nancy A. Windsor (16), servant, iron chainmaker, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Annie L. Allport (18), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 22/11/1902

“A charge against George Edmond Miles, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, Garratt’s Lane, Old Hill, of obtaining £2 4s 1d, the money of George Frederick Priest, of Cradley Road, Netherton, was withdrawn with the consent of the Bench. From the evidence it seemed that Miles was the president and treasurer of the Old Hill Brass and Reed Band, and made himself responsible to Messrs. Mallett, Porter, and O'Dowd Ltd., clothiers, of London, for a sum of about £44 for the supply of uniforms. In August Priest paid the defendant £2 4s 1d for his uniform, and he had received other sums from other bandsmen. Since paying the defendant, Priest had received a demand from Messrs. Mallett, Porter, and O'Dowd for £2 4s 1d, the cost of the uniform.

Mr. Ward, on behalf of his client, said no criminal charge could be sustained against him. Unfortunately the defendant had made himself responsible for the payment of £44, and was retaining Priest's £2 4s 1d and the instalments until he had the full sum before forwarding it to Messrs. Mallett, Porter, and O'Dowd. He was willing at any time to refund the money, as he had no desire to do that which was wrong.

The defendant produced the money in Court, and the Bench allowed the case to be withdrawn."

County Advertiser 14/3/1903

"On Wednesday the adjourned licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held at the Police Court, Old Hill.

In respect of the transfer of the BEEHIVE INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, to Noah Windsor, it was pointed out that the out-going tenant, Geo. Miles, was not present. The Bench eventually granted the transfer, but Sir Benjamin Hingley intimated that would not act as a precedent. It must be understood that in all similar applications the out-going tenant must be present on the transfer day. No one would be excused in future."

Tipton Herald 15/8/1903

"Noah Windsor, landlord of the BEE HIVE INN, Elbow Street, was charged with permitting drunkenness, and also with supplying drink to a drunken person.

Mr. J. Walter Clulow (Brierley Hill) prosecuted, and in opening the case stated that PC Smith, on the 30th July, was standing outside the defendant's premises. There were three steps in front of the house and also a rail. While the officer was standing there he saw a man named William Skitt leave the premises in a very drunken condition. He staggered down the steps, and supported himself by the rail. He then turned the corner as best he could, and went his way home in Waggon Street, which was near to the defendant's premises. The landlord was at the time looking through the window facing Elbow Street, and the police officer called his attention to the condition of the man. Being near his own home the officer did not speak to the man, but watched him home. He then returned to the public house, where he first saw the landlady, who was assisting in the bar. She sent for her husband, on whose arrival a conversation took place between him and the officer. The officer said, 'This man's drunk,' to which Mr. Windsor replied, 'He's only had one or two pints here. He's been in about twenty minutes. I was not aware that he was that drunk.' There were two jugs on the table in the bar, one of which contained beer which belonged to a man named Johnson, who was in the place, and the other one was empty, which the police said was used by the drunken man, Skitt. Inspector Hodgkinson saw the defendant later in the day, and defendant, in answer to a question, said that Skitt had one or two pints in the house. He had been in about 20 minutes.

PC Smith and Inspector Hodgkinson were called, and bore out these statements.

The defendant said that the man, in his opinion, was perfectly sober when he came into his premises. He called William Johnson, who was in the house at the time.

Johnson stated that he went, in company with Skitt, into the house at about three o'clock, and Skitt went home about quarter to four. During that time they only had two pints of ale between them.

The Bench imposed a fine of £3 and costs for permitting drunkenness, and pay the costs in the other case – in all £5 19s 6d."

County Advertiser 13/2/1904

"The annual licensing sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday, at the Police Court.

The Black List. Superintendent Johnson stated that he had given notice to oppose the renewal of the following licenses, on grounds of a conviction against the house.

BEEHIVE INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, kept by Edwin Arthur Barnett.

Mr. Green supported the application for the renewal of the license of the BEE HIVE INN, Old Hill, to Edwin Arthur Barnett. He pointed out that when the previous tenant was convicted Mr. Barnett was put in the house, and he had since kept it without complaint. The renewal was granted."

County Advertiser 16/4/1904

"Edwin Arthur Barnett, landlord of the BEEHIVE INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was charged with permitting gaming on his premises on the 12th and 19th ults.

Mr. J. W. Clulow, who prosecuted, said that defendant had permitted the harmless amusement of air-gun shooting to be converted into an offence against the law. On the night of the 12th ult, Police-constable Haynes, of Smethwick, and a man named Daniel Williams, who were dressed as labourers, visited defendant's house, and saw two men shooting at the range for beer and pellets. On the 15th ult the officer, accompanied by Williams, again visited the house, but on this occasion no shooting took place. The landlord, however, gave them an invitation to attend on the 19th ult, when a competition was announced to take place for a bottle of rum. Haynes and Williams responded to the landlord's invitation, and took part in the competition. Eighteen persons entered the competition, and they each paid a penny. The landlord lost 2s 6d on the competition, so that there must be profit on the shooting. There was no intention on the part of the police to interfere with harmless amusements, but he regretted to say that in some districts this air-gun shooting had degenerated into a complete gamble. It was, therefore, in the interests of the publicans that the police should make some attempts to check it.

Evidence in support of this statement was given by Police-constable Haynes and the man Williams.

Mr. G. Green, who defended, submitted that a licensed victualler was entitled if he thought fit to put up any prize for competition, and that there was no offence against the law. He further contended that there was no reliable evidence against his client that he had any knowledge of the shooting for ale.

The Bench imposed a fine of £5 and costs in each case, the total amount being £15 11s.”

County Advertiser 20/8/1904

“The licenses of the following public houses were transferred.....

BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill, from Edward Arthur Barnett to David Jeavons.....

In connection with the transfer of the BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill, Mr. A. H. Bassano pointed out that the previous tenant was convicted some time ago for permitting gaming upon his premises. There was a cloud hanging over the house, and it behoved the applicant to be careful how he conducted it. The case would be considered at the Licensing Sessions.”

County Advertiser 10/12/1904

“Mr. W. H.. Thompson made an application for the transfer of the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, Old Hill, from John Bushby to Edwin Arthur Barnett. He explained that the applicant formerly held the license of the BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill, but on the 13th of April last was fined £5 and costs upon two charges of permitting gambling upon the premises. Mr. Barnett held an air-gun shooting club upon the premises, and the gambling consisted of shooting for beer. Applicant had held licenses in various parts of the Midlands for twenty years, and he urged them to give him another chance. Mr. Thompson produced a number of testimonials, and read one from Superintendent Hodkinson, of the Stone Division, who was inspector in charge of the Old Hill Division at the time of the conviction, to the effect that having regard to his previous good character, he thought the Bench would grant him the license.

The Bench, after a short deliberation, decided to grant the application.

Mr. A. H. Bassano (presiding magistrate) said the Bench were greatly surprised at the action of Superintendent Hodkinson. Superintendent Johnson said it was quite unusual and altogether contrary to the rules and regulations of the police force. An application was made for the return of the testimonial, but it was stated that the Bench wished to deal with the matter themselves.”

County Advertiser 11/2/1905

“The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday.....

Superintendent Johnson presented his annual report.....

During the twelve months ended January last, three licensed victuallers and two beerhouse keepers had been proceeded against and convicted for offences against the Licensing Acts. One beerhouse keeper had also been convicted for using obscene language in his own house. The whole of the licenses (except the one for using bad language) have since been transferred. Since the transfer each house has been conducted satisfactorily.....

The following is a list of the licenses objected to by Superintendent Johnson.....

David Jeavons, BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill, fined £5 and costs in two cases on the 13th of April, 1904, for permitting gaming.....

The justices then proceeded to hear the objections to the renewal of the licenses on the ‘black list’. These were all granted, the chairman administering a caution to each applicant.”

[The offence relates to the previous licensee.]

Tipton Herald 23/1/1909

“The license of the BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill, was on Wednesday transferred from Samuel Siviter to George Henry Siviter.

Applicant was questioned with reference to the license granted the grocer’s shop next door. Asked by the superintendent, applicant said his father was going to live with him and assist in the management.

Mr. W. H. Thompson, who appeared for Mr. Darby, the owner, pointed out that there was no communication between the grocery premises and the beerhouse.

It was stated that if the application were granted applicant would hold two licenses, but Mr. Thompson suggested that the grocery license could be transferred to the father.

The interim authority was granted, the application to be further dealt with at the licensing sessions.”

Abel Siviter = Abel Suiter

Staffordshire Advertiser 19/6/1909

“The principal meeting of the Staffordshire County Compensation Authority, adjourned from the 11th inst.....

The decision of the local licensing magistrates to refuse the renewal of the FOX HUNT alehouse, Old Hill, tenant, Arthur E. Jew, was opposed.....

Police Inspector John R. Needham admitted that the FOX HUNT did a good trade. Mr. Waldron made a formal application for the renewal of the licence, and Mr. Milward called Mr. A. W. Dando, auctioneer and valuer, who said that there were other beerhouses – the VINE and the BEEHIVE – in the locality, which were much inferior to the FOX HUNT.....”

County Express 12/2/1910

“On Wednesday the annual general licensing sessions for the Old Hill petty sessional division were held at the Police Office.....

Supt. Johnson read his annual report, which stated that the number of licenses for renewal in the division was 152.....

The Chairman said ... Last year the Bench gave a very strong pronouncement as to their wishes about the distribution of free bread and cheese and about the use of music in public houses, as a means of attracting customers. The Bench would like to know how far those wishes had been complied with. Supt. Johnson replied that so far as he knew they had been complied with in every direction. He had received no complaints about it.....

Mr. Williams applied for the renewal of the license of the BEEHIVE INN, High Street, Old Hill, to Abel Siviter, who had been previously convicted. The Bench renewed the license.”

1911 Census

113, High Street

[1] Abel Siviter (48), publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Louisa Jane Siviter (50), wife, married 28 years, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Ethel May Siviter (20), daughter, grocer's assistant, born Rowley Regis:

Dundee Courier 6/1/1914 - Advert

“Fingers Began To Itch And Burn.

Trouble began like blisters, awfully inflamed. Got worse and spread. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured.

BEEHIVE INN, High Street, Old Hill, Staffs, Eng.

‘It began like blisters. I had a red mark come on one of my fingers and it began to itch and burn. My fingers were inflamed awfully. I couldn't help but rub them, then they broke and it was like water that came out. It began to get worse and seemed to spread. At the end of the week I had it in four of my fingers and it went on till I had it in both hands. It was miserable; I didn't know what to do, it was itching and burning all the while. I used to put my hands in cold water to cool them.

They didn't get any better so I took a treatment. They said it was eczema. I was given some ointment to put on them and told to keep them wrapped up. I used it and had two or three boxes more and it didn't seem to do them any good. One day I saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I wrote for a sample which was sent. I washed with the Cuticura Soap and put Cuticura Ointment on all my fingers every night. By the time I had used the sample I found my fingers were a little better. Then I bought a tablet of Cuticura Soap and a box of Ointment. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured.’

(signed) Miss May Siviter, Aug 7, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient when all else fails. Sample of each with 32-p Skin Book free from nearest depot. Address: F. Newbery & Sons, 27, Charterhouse Square, London, or Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, U.S.A.

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.”

Birmingham Daily Post 8/2/1918

“At the annual Licensing Sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division Superintendent F. Jukes reported that the number of licenses for renewal was 146, giving one license to every 253 persons. Seventeen persons were proceeded against and convicted, a decrease of eight compared with the previous year, and 53 compared to 1915.

All the licenses were renewed with the exception of the BEEHIVE INN, Old Hill, which was referred for consideration at the Adjourned Sessions.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 31/8/1918

“The Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910.

Notice as to Sending in Claims to be Treated as Persons Interested in Licensed Premises.

Notice is Hereby Given, that the Compensation Authority for the County of Stafford, having decided at their Principal Meeting, held on the 3rd day of July, 1918, to refuse the Renewal of the Licenses of the Premises specified below, all persons claiming to be interested in the said premises for the purpose of the payment of Compensation under the said Act (other than the Licensee, and the registered Owner of the said Premises) are required to send to the Compensation Authority notice of their Claims before the 8th day of September, 1918.....

BEEHIVE, High Street, Old Hill. Beerhouse, Cider and Perry (ante 1869). Licensee, Abel Suiter. Registered Owner, Thomas Darby and Sons.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 19/10/1918

“Adjourned Principal meeting of the Licensing Compensation Authority.....

The committee sat to consider the amounts to be offered as compensation in cases where the renewal of the license had been refused, and the following sums were fixed.....

BEEHIVE, Old Hill, £1,000.”

Closed

It became an off license and wine merchants shop. [Slater's]

BEEHIVE

7, (58), Hawes Lane, (Rowley Village), ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Henry Bennett
John Rolinson and Son Ltd.
Daniel Morby, Old Hill (acquired in 1912 for £215)

LICENSEES

Eliza Rock [1859]
John Harrington [1861]
Joseph Hadley [1866] – [1881]
William Henry Hadley [1883]
Hannah Cooper [1891] – 1904;
William Round (1904 – 1907);
Harry Greaves (1907 – 1909);
Alice Greaves (1909 – 1910);
Edward Edmunds (1910 – [1911]
Frank Thomas Parish [1912]

NOTES

It had an ante 1869 beerhouse license.

County Advertiser 30/7/1859

“William Adams, rivet maker, and Benjamin Perry, carter, two young men, who on Wednesday last were charged with uttering three counterfeit two shilling pieces, and remanded in order that the authorities at the Mint might be communicated with, this morning were again brought before the Bench. A letter, received from the solicitor to the Mint, was forwarded to the Bench by Superintendent Mills, in which the authorities expressed their unwillingness to take up the prosecution upon the evidence already adduced. Mr. Mills, therefore asked for a further remand until Wednesday next, in order that the matter might be fully investigated. Mr. Burbury, who appeared on behalf of the prisoners, objected to this, urging that the prisoners were undefended at the previous hearing, and he had no doubt he could convince the Bench that his clients were innocent. Mr. Mills replied that he was in possession of additional evidence to that given on Wednesday last.

The examination of witnesses was then proceeded with, and which occupied the attention of the Bench for a considerable time. Hannah Cooksey, who resides with her mother, at the RING OF BELLS public house, Rowley, said the prisoners came to the house on Friday, the 15th inst, and called for a jug of ale, which the prisoner paid for with a good two shilling piece. She saw the men drinking in the house the same evening, between seven and eight o'clock.

Elizabeth Adderley, the landlady of the RING OF BELLS public house, said the prisoners came to her house in the evening of the 15th inst, and called for a pint of ale, which Perry paid for with coppers. Adams shortly afterwards asked to be supplied with half a pound of tripe and some bread, and tendered a two-shilling piece in payment. Witness put the coin in her pocket, and gave the prisoner Adams the change. Police-sergeant Powell went to witness's house about ten o'clock the same evening, and asked her if she had received a two-shilling piece from the prisoners. Witness replied that she had, and produced the coin from her pocket, and upon examining it she found it to be spurious. Witness did not have any other coin of the same value in her possession that day. A boy, named William Rock, said he lived with his mother at the BEE HIVE public house, situate near Rowley Church. About three o'clock on the 15th the prisoners came to the house, and Adams called for a cup of ale. Witness took the ale to them in the kitchen, and Adams gave him a two-shilling piece. Witness took the coin to his mother, who put it in her pocket, and returned the men the change. A few minutes afterwards his mother gave him some money to make a few purchases with at Dudley, among which was the two-shilling piece received from the prisoners. The other portion of the money was shillings and sixpences. Witness tendered the two-shilling piece at a shop in Pig Street in payment for some purchases he had made there, but was told it was counterfeit. He then returned home with the coin in his possession.

Eliza Rock deposed to receiving the two-shilling piece from her son, and giving it him again to make the purchases with at Dudley. Also that a short time after he had left the house, the prisoner Perry asked her if she would let him have three pennyworth of bread and cheese. Witness replied that she would, and on supplying it received a two-shilling piece from Perry. She put the coin in her pocket, and was sure it was the only one of that description she had there. The prisoners stayed in the house about an hour afterwards. Her son returned from Dudley about nine o'clock, and told her that the two-shilling piece she had given him was counterfeit. She then took the other coin from her pocket, and found that that was a spurious one also. She went in search of the police, and gave them the two coins. On her return to the house the prisoners were there, and she told them what had occurred. Prisoners said they were not aware that the coins were counterfeit, and directly afterwards left the house. The prisoner Adams was her nephew.

Obadiah Rushton, a sinker, said that on the 15th inst he saw the prisoner Adams in Darby's public house at Rowley, and was called in by him. Prisoner asked him to drink, and said, 'Will you go and fetch half a pound of cheese and a 3d loaf for me.' Witness assented, and prisoner gave him a two-shilling piece to pay for it. Witness went to a shop a few yards from the public house, and asked to be supplied with the articles, but returned without them in consequence of the shopkeeper refusing to take the coin given him by prisoner. When prisoner was told that it was a bad one, he put it in his pocket and smiled, but made no reply. Nothing more was heard of the prisoners until they gave themselves up on the following Wednesday. Prisoners were well known to the whole of the witnesses, who said they had never known them attempt to pass bad money before. Mr. Burbury addressed the Bench on behalf of his clients, and contended that as they were innocent of knowing that the coins were spurious ones. He argued that had they been aware they were counterfeit, would they have attempted to pass them in a place in which they were so well known? It was the custom for persons who were in the habit of passing counterfeit coins to repair to places where they were unknown, the risks being not half so great. The Bench considered there was sufficient evidence to warrant another remand, and adjourned the case until Wednesday.”

[At Staffordshire October Sessions, William Adams and Benjamin Perry were charged with uttering counterfeit coin, found guilty and each sentenced to 6 months’ imprisonment with hard labour.]

John Harrington = John Harington

1861 Census

Hawes Lane – Public House

- [1] John Harington (40), publican and coal miner, born Dudley;
- [2] Amelia Harington (37), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Joseph Summers (43), boarder, boot maker, born Dudley;
- [4] Sarah A. Bennett (16), niece, born Rowley Regis:

Wolverhampton Chronicle 7/8/1861

“On Monday last, before Captain Bennett, W. Haden, and F. G. W. Barrs, Esqs, an old offender named George Parry Dimmack, was charged by John Rawlins, of Darby Hand, with fowl stealing. The fowls were seen safe on the 27th of July, and were missed the same evening. Prisoner subsequently sold them to a shoemaker, named Levi Smith, for 1s 9d. Police-constable Powell apprehended the prisoner. In a second case prisoner was charged with stealing fowls from John Burton, labourer, living at Dudley, on the 6th of July. Prisoner stole two, and sold them to Mrs. Harrington, of the BEEHIVE beerhouse, Rowley. In a third case prisoner was charged with stealing fowls from John Harris, a blacksmith, of Cradley Heath, on the 22nd of May last. The Magistrates committed him to prison for trial upon each charge.”

[George Perry Dimmack, boatman, charged with larceny, appeared at Stafford and was sentenced to 10 months.]

Birmingham Journal 8/2/1862 - Advert

“By Private Contract. BEEHIVE INN, Rowley Regis.

By A. G. Aintree. To be Disposed Of, that compact and pleasantly-situated Public House, having a good Tap and Club Room, excellent Bar and Kitchen, good Brewhouse, Stable, Piggeries, Cellars, Malt Room, walled-in Garden, hard and soft Waters, and entire Yard. Coming-in not to exceed £20. Payments low. Rent only £13.

For particulars, apply upon the Premises, or to A. G. Aintree, Auctioneer, &c, Hales Owen Street, Oldbury.”

County Advertiser 25/8/1866

“Rowley annual licensing meeting was held yesterday.....

The following are the new applications and their results.....

Joseph Hadley, Rowley, opposed by Honour Stanton, refused.”

Joseph Hadley, beer retailer, Rowley Village. [1868]

Birmingham Daily Gazette 25/1/1870 - Advert

“Found, a broken-haired Whipitt Dog; four white feet and breast. May be had, by paying expenses, at Mr. Hadley’s, BEE HIVE INN, Rowley. If not claimed in seven days, will be Sold to defray expenses.”

1871 Census

Hawes Lane – BEE HIVE

- [1] Joseph Hadley (50), retail brewer, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sophia Hadley (45), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Jane Hadley (10), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

1881 Census

58, Hawes Lane – BEE HIVE

- [1] Joseph Hadley (59), beer retailer, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sophia Hadley (55), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Jane Hadley (20), daughter, born Rowley Regis:

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

19th December 1883 - Frederick Luther, son of William Henry and Jane Hadley, victualler, 58, Hawes Lane.

County Express 23/11/1889

“On Thursday afternoon Mr. Edwin Hooper (the South Staffordshire coroner) held an inquest at the BEE HIVE INN, Hawes Lane, Rowley Regis, touching the death of Frank Ruston (2), who died on the 18th inst, from injuries received through being knocked down by a dog. It was shown that on the 30th ult, when the deceased was standing at the front door of his parents’ house, a blind man’s dog came up to the door to have some food, as was his custom, and in doing so he ran against the deceased, who fell down, the back of his head coming into contact with a large pebble. The dog barked, and the mother instantly went to the child’s assistance, and as he appeared to be ill Dr. Beasley was sent for, and he found that the child was suffering from concussion of the brain. He gradually grew worse and died.

In reply to the Coroner, Mrs. Ruston said the dog was not vicious, but was very playful, and it was his custom to go to the neighbours’ houses for food.

A Juryman complained of the bad state of the pavement, there being a large number of rough stones, one of which no doubt caused the boy’s death. He certainly thought the attention of the Local Board should be called to the bad state of many of the roads.

The Coroner said there was no doubt many of the roads and footpaths in the Rowley parish were in a bad state, and needed improvement.

The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and asked the coroner to communicate with the Local Board with respect to the bad state of some of the pavements.”

County Advertiser 20/9/1890

“The miners of the Rowley lodge of the Old Hill and District Miners’ Association held their annual dinner at the BEEHIVE INN, Rowley Regis. A miner, who presided, proposed a resolution in support of the National Federation of Miners and of the Eight Hours Bill. Mr. B. Winwood, in supporting the resolution, said it was a great blessing for the miners that such a powerful federation had been substituted for isolated unions. He regretted that the Black Country was still the weak link in the great chain of unionism, but hoped that they would soon be able to strengthen it, and advised them to use their best efforts to get the whole of the men into union. The resolution was carried unanimously.”

1891 Census

58, Hawes Lane – BEE HIVE INN

[1] Edward Cooper (35), labourer stone quarry, born Warwickshire;

[2] Hannah Cooper (44), wife, beerseller, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 20/2/1897 - Advert

“Preliminary Notice. Rowley Regis, Staffs.

Important Sale by Auction of Valuable Freehold Residences, Villas, Dwelling Houses, Eligible Building Land, also the Public House, known as the BEE HIVE INN, Rowley Regis.

The Property is situated in Hawes Lane, being the main Road leading to Dudley.

Full Particulars as to Date, &c, will be given in future advertisements and posters.

Further information from Thos. Cooksey, Esq, Solicitor, of Mr. R. Underwood, Auctioneer, both of Old Hill.”

County Advertiser 13/3/1897 - Advert

“Rowley Regis, Staffordshire.

Mr. R. Underwood has received instructions from the representatives of the late Mr. Henry Bennett, to Sell by Auction at the ROYAL OAK INN, Blackheath, on Monday, the 15th day of March, 1897, at Six o’clock in the Evening prompt, subject to conditions, the following Freehold Properties.

Lot 9. All that Valuable and Important Freehold Double-Fronted Public House, known at the BEE HIVE INN, Hawes Lane, aforesaid, in the occupation of Mrs. Hannah Cooper. The House contains Two Bed Rooms, Large Club Room, Tap Room, Bar, Kitchen, and Parlour. There is also a Small Brewery, Wash-house, Stable, Store Room, Piggeries, and Large Garden approached by a covered Cartway Entrance; the whole covering an area of 462 square yards or thereabouts, and let on an annual tenancy. To meet the convenience of intending purchasers this Lot will be offered at Eight o’clock prompt.”

Dudley Herald 10/9/1898

“Mr. H. A. Pearson (district coroner) held an inquest on Wednesday at the BEEHIVE INN, Hawes Lane, Rowley Regis, concerning the death of Rhoda Taylor (76), a married woman, residing in Hawes Lane. On July 13th deceased fell down in her bedroom and broke her left thigh. She was removed to the Guest Hospital, but owing to her great age she could not be successfully treated. She was removed back again to her home and died. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

1901 Census

58, Hawes Lane – BEE HIVE INN

[1] Hannah Cooper (65), widow, publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Alice Lowe (18), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

Edward Edmunds = Edward Edmonds

Birmingham Mail 8/2/1911

“The annual general Licensing Sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held today.....

The whole of the licenses were renewed excepting the OLD LION INN, Old Hill, BEEHIVE INN, Hawes Lane, Rowley, and the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, which were deferred until the adjourned licensing sessions in order that notices of objection can be served upon the owners on the ground of redundancy.”

1911 Census

7, Hawes Lane – BEEHIVE INN

[1] Edward Edmunds (56), iron worker (puddler), born Cradley;

[2] Sarah Ellen Edmunds (50), wife, married 29 years, born Cradley:

Staffordshire Advertiser 29/7/1911 - Notice

“The Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910. County Of Stafford.

Notice Is Hereby Given, that the Compensation Authority for the above area, having decided at their Principal Meeting, held on the 6th day of July, 1911, to Refuse the Renewal of the Licenses of the Premises specified below, all Persons Claiming to be Interested in the said Premises for the purpose of the Payment of Compensation under the said Act (other than the Licensee and the Registered Owner of the said Premises) are required to send to the Compensation Authority Notice of their Claims before the 21st day of August, 1911, for the purpose of enabling the Compensation Authority to ascertain in manner provided by the Licensing Rules, 1910, the Persons entitled to Compensation under the said Act, in respect of the said Premises.....

BEEHIVE INN, Rowley Regis. Beer ‘on’ ante 1869. Licensee, Edward Edmonds. Registered Owner, J. Rolinson and Sons Limited.”

Frank Thomas Parish was married to Evelyn.

Their daughter, Ivy, aged 3, died in 1912, and they were charged with wilful neglect. The case at Stafford was discharged.

Closed

Lichfield Mercury 5/1/1912

“Staffordshire Quarter Sessions.....

The County Licensing Committee presented their annual report.....

The Committee at the supplemental meeting went in great detail into all the figures submitted to them upon which the persons interested claimed compensation, and heard upon oath evidence put forward by the claimants. The Committee consider that the amounts of compensation agreed upon were satisfactory, both from the point of view of the parties interested, and the compensation fund. The Committee fixed the compensation as follows.....

BEEHIVE INN, Rowley Regis, beerhouse ‘on’ ante-1869, £700.

The money has been apportioned among the interested parties and paid.”

BELL

78, St. Annes Road, (88, (46), Dudley Wood Road), (53, Scholding Green), (46, (3), Scholding Green Road), (Five Ways Road), Five Ways, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

Mrs. Sophia Elizabeth Hingley

Plant’s Brewery Ltd., Netherton (acquired in 1890)

Ansells Ltd. (acquired on 2nd June 1937)

Little Pub Co. [1988]

LICENSEES

Benjamin Billingham Snr. [1841] – 1888)

Benjamin Hingley (1888 – []

Mrs. Sophia Elizabeth Hingley [1889] – [1890]

William Henry Little [1890]

Charles Henry Partridge [] – 1891);

Alfred Guest (1891 – [1896]

Robert Horton [1898] – [1901]

Benjamin Billingham Jnr. [] – 1904);

Alfred Guest (1904 – 1907);

Benoni Buttery (1907 – 1914);

Robert William Botfield (1914 – 1923);

John Turner (1923 – 1925);
Robert William Botfield (1925 – 1927);
Phoebe Ann Botfield (1927 – 1929);
Richard Jones (1929 – 1932);
Thomas Joseph Harper (1932 – 1934);
William Botfield (1934 – 1946);
Isaiah Aston (1946 – 1955);
Ralph Windsor (1955 – 1957);
Cyril Rogers (1957 – [1965])
Mark Wagstaff []
John Whitlow (1988 – [])
Timothy Basche [1991]
Les Shardelow [1993] – [1994]
Paul Dangerfield [1996] – [1998]

NOTES

Five Ways Road [1861]
53, Scholding Green [1881]
Scholding Green Road [1896], [1897], [1901]
46, Scholding Green Road [1904]
46, Dudley Wood Road [1908], [1912], [1916], [1921]
88, Dudley Wood Road [1924], [1932], [1940]
78, St. Annes Road

It had a beerhouse license.

County Express 3/6/1911

“Old Cradley Heath. Chat with Mr. Thomas Hingley Parsons, sexton at St. Luke’s Church for Forty Years.....
Though in his 81st year, Mr. Parsons is wonderfully virile and active, the keenness of his intellect and memory is unabated, and he willingly discoursed upon the Cradley Heath of his younger days.....
In those days, he added, the inhabitants of the district were not quarter so many as they are now, and the only public houses were the HOLLY BUSH, High Street; Bannister’s Newtown; ‘Benny Fiddler’s’; SALUTATION, Lomey Town; BEEHIVE, Graingers Lane; and QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Road.”

Anecdote by T. H. Gough written between 1934 and 1935

“Benny Fiddler (real name Billingham) was a Cradley worthy. He scaled something over 20 stones, and for many years was the genial host of a well-known and popular hostelry in the neighbourhood of Five Ways. It was an old fashioned pub with stairs of the narrow winding type. Not being wide enough for his great bulk, Benny, when retiring for the night, had to be hauled up to bed through a trap door to his bedroom by the aid of pulleys and a rope attachment.....”

Benjamin Billingham was known as “Benny Fiddler”.

He was born in 1811 in Cradley Heath.

He married Ann Grove on 9th October 1831.

He played the violin.

He was also known as “The Chainmakers’ Friend”; he once lent their union £700 to provide for strikers’ families.

He weighed 29 stones at one time.

He died on 30th October 1895 and was buried at St. Luke’s Church, Cradley Heath.

1841 Census

Scholding Green

[1] Benjamin Billingham (30), chain manufacturer, born Staffordshire;

[2] Ann Billingham (25);

[3] James Billingham (9), born Staffordshire;

[4] Ann Billingham (1), born Staffordshire;

[5] John Billingham (3 months), born Staffordshire:

Worcestershire Chronicle 28/11/1849

“Benjamin Billingham, of Rowley Regis, beer-seller, was fined 15s and costs for keeping his house open for the sale of beer after eleven o’clock on the night of the 6th inst.”

Benjamin Billingham, beer retailer and farmer, Rowley Regis. [1850]

1851 Census

Five Ways

- [1] Benjamin Billingham (38), retail brewer &c, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Ann Billingham (37), wife, helps in business, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] John Billingham (10), son, helps in business, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Ann Billingham (12), daughter, helps in business, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Benjamin Billingham (6), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Jeremiah Billingham (4), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Sarah Billingham (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] William Mullit (45), servant, brewer &c, born Dudley;

County Advertiser 16/10/1858

“A most barefaced robbery has been perpetrated at Cradley Heath, under the following circumstances. A farm servant, named John Howell, who thirteen years ago lived at Cradley, but who now resides at Mount Pleasant, near Wordsley, went over on Monday last to visit his old locale, and paid a visit to the BELL INN, where he remained all night. He left on the following morning, having first ascertained that his purse, containing about £20, was quite safe. In the course of Tuesday he went to Mr. Westwood’s beerhouse, also at Cradley Heath, and known by the sign of the BULLS HEAD. Here he remained drinking in company with a number of other men for some time, and ultimately fell asleep. While thus recovering from the effects of the drink he had imbibed, someone of the multitude of loose characters which infest that neighbourhood relieved him of his money, and made clear off, without leaving the slightest clue to their discovery. The landlord was out at the time, and his wife knew nothing about the affair till Howell proclaimed his loss on awakening.”

County Advertiser 16/10/1858

“At Brierley Hill on Thursday last, before J. Leigh, Esq, James Littlewood, a notorious character, and well known to the police, was brought up on suspicion of having stolen £80 and five watches, the property of Benjamin Billingham, landlord of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath. From the evidence of the prosecutor, a witness named James Wallace, and PC Farmer, it appeared that about half-past seven o’clock on the evening of Tuesday last, prosecutor went up into his bedroom and there discovered that a chest had been broken open and £80 in silver, with five watches, abstracted therefrom. The tools with which the chest had been forced open were left in the room, and the thief – however he had got in – had made his escape by a rope suspended outside the window in front of the house. Suspicion attached to the prisoner because he was seen lounging about the premises, and standing in the passage, and subsequently was seen running away from the house. When apprehended, however, by PC Farmer, nothing was found upon him; although he strengthened the suspicions entertained against him by swearing that he was no nearer to the house than the Five Ways on the evening in question, while it was distinctly proved that he was in the passage of the prosecutor’s house about the time when the robbery is supposed to have been committed. Mr. Leigh remanded him till Monday next at Wordsley.”

Birmingham Journal 23/10/1858

“At the Wordsley Petty Sessions, on Monday last, before Mr. Trow and Mr. Holcroft, James Littlewood, remanded from the Brierley Hill Sessions last week, was brought up on the charge of stealing from the house of Mr. Benjamin Billingham, Five Ways, £80 and five silver watches. There was another charge against the prisoner of stealing some pigeons, and the evidence being incomplete, he was remanded for a week and locked up.”

Worcestershire Advertiser 8/6/1859 - Advert

“Sale at the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, near Dudley.

To be Sold by Auction, by Charles Round, at the above Inn, on Saturday, June 11th.

A Large Assortment of Unredeemed Pledges, comprising Silver Watches and Chains, Coats, Trowsers, Vests, Gowns, Shirts, Blankets, Sheets, Shoes, Silk Handkerchiefs, and numerous other effects, pledged under the Act of Parliament in the months prior to April, 1858, with Mr. Hugh Lewis, Pawnbroker, Tipton.

Sale to commence at half-past 10 o’clock.”

Birmingham Daily Post 16/8/1859

“The Strike In The Chain Trade.

It may be as well for our readers to know some of the causes which have led to the present strike. In 1847 the chain trade was at the acme of prosperity, so far as prices were concerned, and it appears that since that time the men’s wages have fallen as much as twenty per cent. The chain makers are almost all paid by the cwt, and not by day work. The criterion by which prices run in the half-inch iron, and the price given for thicker chain goes in proportion to the price given for the half-inch. For half-inch iron 4s per cwt is now given; the men at this rate getting 20s per week by making five cwt. The men who make the chain at their own shops have to pay out of this for firing and a boy to blow for them, which materially reduces the sum, even supposing a full week’s work is done, the men now ask that 5s per cwt to be given for half-inch chain, which would make their wages amount to about 24s per week. Those who get thicker chain would get a rather higher sum, viz, from 6s to 8s per cwt. The trace makers work by the pair, and on this an advance of 1d per pair is asked. We stated in yesterday’s Daily Post that of the 1,500 chain makers in the district, only from twelve to fifteen were now at work. It appears that all are now out. The men employed in the masters’ own works do not get such a high rate as the out-workers. We regret that bellows-cutting has again taken place to a serious extent, but it seems that it is only the men in the Union who have suffered.

Yesterday morning, a little after eleven o’clock, a meeting of chain makers was held in the club room of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath. The room was quite full, some 300 men being present.....”

1861 Census

Five Ways Road – BELL INN

- [1] Benjamin Billingham (48), farmer and victualler, born Rowley;
- [2] Ann Billingham (48), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] John Billingham (20), son, born Rowley;
- [4] Benjamin Billingham (18), son, born Rowley;
- [5] Jeremiah Billingham (13), son, born Rowley;
- [6] Caroline Beasley (12), house servant, born Rowley;
- [7] Thomas Trapp (36), casual lodger, inland revenue officer, born Rowley:

Benjamin Billingham, retailer of beer, Cradley Heath. [1862]

Benjamin Billingham, beer retailer, Five Ways, Cradley Heath [1864], [1865]

County Advertiser 27/8/1864

“Yesterday, the annual licensing of the Rowley division was held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.....

There were nine applications by beerhouse keepers for licenses, only one of which was granted.....

Benjamin Billingham, of the BELL, Five Ways (granted).”

County Advertiser 6/10/1866

“On Wednesday an inquest was held at the BELL public house, Cradley Heath, before Mr. Hooper, Coroner, on the body of Maria Scoltock, aged forty-six, who died suddenly on Saturday night. The deceased came home from market about eight o’clock in the evening, and immediately began to vomit blood. She went into a neighbour’s house, and there she died almost immediately. Mr. Hodgson, surgeon, was called in to her, but of course he could do nothing. Verdict, Died from Natural Causes.”

Stourbridge Observer 30/11/1867 - Died

“On the 16th inst, after a long illness, the wife of Mr. B. Billingham of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 29/2/1868

“On Shrove Tuesday Mr. Benjamin Billingham, of the BELL INN, in accordance with his annual custom, roasted a whole sheep in front of his kitchen fire. The sheep was a very fine one, and weighted 116lbs. The meat was given away to any person who visited the house.”

Stourbridge Observer 2/5/1868

“A supper took place on Tuesday night last, at Mr. B. Billingham’s, BELL INN. A good number sat down. Ample justice having been done to the things provided, the chair was occupied by Mr. A. Taylor, the worthy host acting as vice-chairman. During the evening a number of songs were sung by Messrs. J. Billingham, W. Smith, and others, and a convivial evening was spent.”

County Advertiser 22/5/1869

“Friendly Society. The Society of Miners, held at the BELL INN (Mr. B. Billingham’s) celebrated their anniversary by a dinner at the lodge house, on Monday last. The catering was of an excellent order. The club was stated to be in a satisfactory condition.”

County Advertiser 3/9/1870

“John Billingham of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with assaulting Joshua Kempson, a lodger at the house. It appeared that complainant was in the act of throwing a spittoon at a person in the house, when defendant caught hold of him (complainant) and pushed him out of the room. The case was dismissed.”

County Express 5/11/1870

“The adjourned meeting of gas consumers was held at Mr. Billingham’s, BELL INN, Five Ways, on Tuesday evening last, and there was a good attendance.....”

1871 Census

Five Ways – BELL INN

- [1] Benjamin Billingham (57), widower, publican, born Rowley;
- [2] John Billingham (30), son, brewer, born Rowley;
- [3] Benjamin Billingham (26), son, barman, born Rowley;
- [4] Jeremiah Billingham, (24), son, labourer, born Rowley;
- [5] William Mullett (69), lodger, born Rowley:

Stourbridge Observer 9/11/1872

“An inquest was held on Thursday, before Mr. E. Cooper, Coroner, at Mr. B. Billingham’s, the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, on the body of Phoebe Ann Adlington, aged one year and 14 days, who met with her death on Monday last, through being scalded on the previous Friday.

Priscilla Adlington, mother of the deceased, was called, and said deceased was her daughter. She was one year and 14 days old. On Friday last, deceased was in the house, and whilst she (witness) was getting the tea, the poor little thing caught hold of a hook, fastened it to the kettle, and pulled it over, the boiling water going on her head and back, and scalded her so badly that she lingered on until Monday, and then expired. Mr. Kerr's assistant attended the little sufferer up to the time of her death. Mr. Hingley said witness ought to have had some protection in front of the fireplace to keep the children away. Witness said her husband had been ill with rheumatism for a long time, and she could not afford it. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

Western Morning News 23/1/1873

"A sad affair has occurred at Cradley Heath, a short distance from Dudley, which should make persons exceedingly cautious in the use of coke or charcoal fired in sleeping apartments. On Sunday night a family of four persons – Edward Whitehouse, his wife Phoebe, Joseph Edmunds, brother-in-law, and George Edward Edmunds, an infant eleven months old, nephew of the Whitehouses – retired to rest, all of them occupying one bedroom in the house. As they did not appear at the usual time on Monday, and could not be aroused, the neighbours forced an entrance. They found Edward Whitehouse and the infant Edmunds dead, and Mrs. Whitehouse and Joseph Edmunds in a state of coma. The latter survived only until Tuesday night, and Mrs. Whitehouse died yesterday morning. The cause of the calamity was apparent. In the centre of the room was an iron bucket, which they had filled with redhot coke, the deadly fumes from which they had inhaled while sleeping. The family were nailers, and the cottage where they lived contained only two rooms, both on the ground floor."

AND

Stourbridge Observer 1/2/1873

"On Wednesday, the adjourned inquest on the bodies of Edward Whitehouse (27), Phoebe Whitehouse (27), Joseph Edmunds (29), and George Edward Edmunds (1), was held before Mr. Hooper, at the BELL INN, Cradley Heath.

Mr. Thomas Standish, surgeon, said that he had made a post mortem examination of the body of Edward Whitehouse. It was a well-nourished and healthy body. Upon it there were no external marks of violence. Upon opening the chest he found that the lungs were perfectly gorged with blood, otherwise they were in a healthy condition. The left side of the heart was filled with black blood. The stomach was healthy, and quite empty. The coats of the stomach were not inflamed, and there was not the slightest sign of poison. The lining membrane of the stomach was as healthy as it was possible to be. The brain was congested. The cause of death was suffocation, the whole of the post mortem appearances tending to show that result and nothing else. Taking into consideration the evidence given before, and what he knew of the bucket of coke being found in the room, he held the same opinion, given at the opening of the inquiry, that the fumes which arose from the coke were the cause of death in this and the rest of the cases.

A Juryman having stated that he, nevertheless, considered there was some case for suspicion, the Coroner observed that supposing that were possible, he would again adjourn the inquest, but he would first call the police-officer.

The Coroner: Are you satisfied that a further adjournment would or would not throw any more light on this matter?

Inspector Price: I do not think it would throw any further light on the matter. I have made every inquiry into the various rumours which have been spread, but find that they have not the slightest foundation.

The Coroner then appealed to the jury as to whether they were still unprepared to give a verdict, and some of them declining, Mr. Hooper said, 'Well, I must look you up, and as I have to attend several other inquests today, I cannot get back until nine o'clock. If you are not then ready to give a verdict, I shall keep you till twelve, and afterwards discharge you.'

Some of the jurymen intimated that they were satisfied as to suffocation being the cause of death, but their minds were not made up as to whether it was a wilful act. They considered that there was a 'lurking suspicion' about the case.

The Coroner: I consider the medical evidence would satisfy 99 juries out of 100; but as it has not satisfied you, I must carry out the law, and look you up.

A Juryman: I hope, then, you will allow us something to eat and drink.

The Coroner: I cannot allow you either one or the other; nor, indeed, does the law permit either fire or candle. I am quite unwilling to take this course, but I have no alternative, unless you agree. I will, however, give you five minutes more.

At the expiration of this time, the jury returned the verdict 'That the deceased were accidentally suffocated by the fumes arising from a quantity of coke, from the effects of which suffocation they died.'"

Stourbridge Observer 1/3/1873

"On Tuesday last, Mr. Billingham, landlord of the BELL INN, roasted a whole sheep, according to his usual custom on Shrove Tuesday. The sheep weighed 124lbs. It is needless to say that a large number of persons were present to witness the roasting, and a larger number tasted the mutton."

Stourbridge Observer 1/11/1873

"Benjamin Billingham, landlord of the OLD BELL INN, was charged with having his house open during prohibited hours, on the 19th ult.

Police-constable Beard said that he visited the defendant's house at a quarter past twelve, with Police-constable Grady. He found in the kitchen two women. They had a cup of ale before them. A man was in the house drunk. He called for a quart of ale, and put down sixpence, but the ale was not brought. The defendant's son ran into the parlour, and said that it wanted 20 minutes to one o'clock. On going in to look at it, he found it was only 20 minutes past 12. He asked Mr. Billingham the man's name. He refused to give it, and said he did not know. Defendant's son was also drunk, and defendant himself was fresh and smoking a pipe. He tried to take the man into custody, but the defendant and others prevented him being taken. PC Grady gave corroborative evidence.

The defence was that the persons in the house were travellers and lodgers, and called Maria Perks, of Dudley, who said she had been to see some relations in Cradley Heath. On returning, went into the house of the defendant. It was just half past twelve. She saw defendant's son sitting on a bench, and asked him if she could have some refreshments. He said he would go and see what time it was. He said it was just half past twelve o'clock, and she called for a pint of ale. Just at that time two police officers came in. There was a man in the house drunk, but he had no beer in the house.

Elizabeth Reid gave corroborative evidence, and said that when the officer was going to take the drunken man into custody, defendant said the man was a lodger, and the police had no right to take him.

Defendant said he refused to let the man sleep any more at his house, because he refused to give the policeman his name. This being his first offence, he was ordered to pay the costs."

County Advertiser 8/11/1873

"William Turner was charged with being found drunk on licensed premises on the 19th ult. Police-constable Grady, said that he visited the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, kept by Benjamin Billingham, in company with Police-constable Beard, and he found the defendant in the house drunk. The defendant was fined 20s and costs, or 21 days."

Stourbridge Observer 8/11/1873

"An inquest was held on Monday, at Mr. Benjamin Billingham's, the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, before Mr. E. Hooper, on the body of Henry Brooks, who was injured in a pit belonging to Mr. James Holcroft, on the 15th ult. The evidence went to show that whilst deceased was engaged in the pit, the cage fell upon him, and he was so injured that he died on the 30th ult. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

Pall Mall Gazette 1/5/1874

"The Election Petitions. Dudley.....

James Whitehouse, auctioneer, said he was engaged in taking voters to the polling station in Dudley, and while doing so he was attacked, and some of the voters were severely injured by a number of roughs who were armed with bludgeons, stones, and cinders. Several times during the day he was attacked. He saw voters wearing the colours of both parties in Dudley. Some of the mob were Mr. Shenstone's supporters.

Benjamin Billingham, a very stout man, who could hardly walk, caused a great deal of amusement in the witness box. He said that he was a publican, residing at Cradley Heath, and as he could not walk far he tried to get a cab, but the cabman refused to take him, saying, 'You would be so long getting in and out that you will be murdered and me too.' (Laughter.) In answer to another question, witness said he threw all his weight into Mr. Shenstone's cause. (Renewed laughter.)

Mr. Samuel Rudge, a justice of the peace for the borough, proved that during the day messages were continually being received of the danger to persons wishing to vote for Mr. Shenstone, and that about two o'clock he went with the military through several parts of the district. Rioting was going on freely in all the places he visited, and the mobs were very violent."

County Advertiser 13/2/1875 - Advert

"Freehold Manufacturing Premises, Business Shops, and Dwelling Houses, Cradley Heath.

To be Sold by Auction, by Messrs. Hawkins & Son, at the House of Mr. Benjamin Billingham, the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, on Wednesday, February 24th, 1875, at Six o'clock in the evening, in the following or such other Lots as may be agreed upon at the time of Sale....."

County Advertiser 1/5/1875 - Advert

"Sale of Unredeemed Pledges.

S. Insull will Sell by Auction, on Monday Next, May 3rd, at Mr. Billingham's, BELL INN, Five Ways, Cradley, without reserve, 200 Lots of Pawnbrokers' Pledges, consisting of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Wearing Apparel, &c, &c.

Sale to commence at Six o'clock in the Evening."

County Advertiser 13/1/1877 - Advert

"Wanted, a respectable middle-aged Housekeeper for private house.

Apply, Mr. Benjamin Billingham, BELL INN, Cradley Heath."

County Express 5/10/1878

"A meeting of the members of the Conservative Association was held on Tuesday evening last, at Mr. David Bridge's, New Town. There was a capital attendance, and several members were enrolled.....

The next general meeting will be held at Mr. B. Billingham's, BELL INN, Five Ways, on Tuesday evening, October 29th."

County Express 2/11/1878

"A well attended meeting of the members of the Conservative Association was held on Tuesday evening last, at the house of Mr. B. Billingham, BELL HOTEL, Cradley Heath. A gentleman well known for his zeal in the cause of Conservatism occupied the chair, and delivered a lengthy speech upon the position of affairs with Afghanistan....."

Dudley Herald 20/11/1880

"Benjamin Billingham, landlord of the BELL INN, Scolding Green, Cradley Heath, was summoned for allowing his house to be open for the sale of intoxicating liquors during prohibited hours.

Police-constable Sylvester stated that about eight o'clock on Sunday morning, the 7th inst, on his visiting defendant's house, he saw a woman standing by the back door, and he directly afterwards met defendant's son coming along the passage with a jug of ale in his hand. As soon as he saw witness he turned back and put the jug upon the taproom window. The ale was fresh drawn, and defendant's son, in reply to witness, said they always drew some out of the taps first thing in the morning. Witness asked the woman if the jug belonged to her, when defendant's son shook his head and she replied 'No.'

Defendant's plea was that the ale was drawn by his orders to feed his fowls with. His son swore also that the jug belonged to his father, and the woman referred to went into the box and denied that the ale was drawn for her.

The Bench dismissed the case, but characterised it as being strongly suspicious."

1881 Census

53, Scholding Green

[1] Benjamin Billingham (68), widower, licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Benjamin Billingham (36), son, barman, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Thomas Westwood (31), lodger, butcher, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 21/1/1882

"James Hughes, blacksmith, Old Hill, and Philip Cope, joiner, Cradley Heath, were summoned for committing a breach of the peace. James Hughes, John Roberts, a blacksmith, of Old Hill, and James Bradley, fireman, Blackheath, were charged with assaulting Philip Cope; and Philip Cope was charged with assaulting John Roberts. Mr. Cooksey appeared for Cope, and Mr. J. Wright for the others.

The evidence of Cope was to the effect that he was at the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, and two girls named Wood and Spittle came in. The defendants also were there, and a dispute took place between him and Bradley about the girls, in the course of which Cope told him he was an ignorant fellow. Thereupon Bradley struck at him, and the blow caught one of the young ladies (Wood) on the chest. Outside the house Roberts and the other defendants took off their coats and ran at Cope. He warded off their blows with a stick, as he retreated, but they followed him for about forty yards, knocked him down, and kicked him.

The evidence for the complainant Roberts, in the charge brought against him by Cope, was that as soon as he came outside the public house Cope struck him on the nose with a stick.

Cope and Hughes on the first named charge were bound over to keep the peace for three months. The case against Roberts for assaulting Cope was dismissed. Hughes was fined 10s and costs, and Bradley 20s and costs. Cope for the assault on Roberts, was ordered to pay 10s and costs."

County Express 4/8/1883

"Mary Bellingham (45), was charged with violently assaulting Ann Arnold on the 23rd ult. The complainant went to the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, and upon going into the kitchen the defendant, without the slightest provocation, dealt her a violent blow in the face, rendering her insensible and blacking her eyes. The Bench fined the defendant 10s and costs, or in default twenty-one days' imprisonment."

County Express 11/6/1887

"Joseph Wassell, labourer, Bell Street, was charged with stealing three fowls, of the value of 7s 6d, the property of Mr. Samuel In-sull, auctioneer, High Street, Brierley Hill. About the 19th ult, the three fowls were missed, and on the same day the prisoner sold them to a woman named Narcisse Craddock for 2s each. The prisoner was arrested at Stewponney on Whit-Tuesday, and when charged by Superintendent Wollaston, admitted stealing the fowls.

Prisoner was also charged with stealing a hen, of the value of 2s 6d, the property of Mark Bullock, wagoner, Bell Street, on the 29th ult. Prosecutor, who lived next door to prisoner, missed a fowl and charged the prisoner with stealing it. Prisoner then knocked him down and kicked him. On the 30th ult prisoner sold the prosecutor's fowl to a man named Emanuel Billingham in a public house at Cradley Heath for 1s 9d.

There was a third charge against the prisoner of stealing four fowls, of the value of 10s, the property of Mr. W. M. Pritchard, The Moors, Brierly Hill, on the 30th ult. The fowls were missed from the prosecutor's pen, and on the 1st June prisoner sold three of them to Benjamin Billingham, BELL INN, Cradley Heath, at 5½d per pound. On the same day one of the fowls was boiled, and the other two were now produced. When charged prisoner said he only took three fowls.

Prisoner was also charged with stealing a hen and seven chickens, the property of George Elwell, Delph Brewery, but this charge was not gone into. Prisoner was committed to take his trial at the Sessions."

[Joseph Wassell, who had a very bad record, was sentenced to three calendar months.]

County Express 4/2/1888

"Benjamin Billingham, landlord of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises on the 24th ult.

Police-constable Peake said he went to the defendant's house on the morning in question and saw a man named Tromans, who was drunk, being led out of the house by two men. When he told Tromans that he was drunk he said, 'It don't matter a — if I am drunk; it's my own money.' Witness again saw Tromans drunk in High Street, Cradley Heath, on the same date in the afternoon, and also saw him drunk at the Five Ways, Cradley Heath, at night on the same date.

Police-sergeant Hayward said he went to the defendant's house on the day in question at half-past three in the afternoon, and there saw a man named Joseph Tromans, lying asleep on a screen. When Tromans got up he found that he was drunk, and saw him drink out of a pint cup which was on the table. He asked the defendant why he supplied beer to a man who was drunk, and he said, 'He (meaning Tromans) can do what he likes with his own money.'

Benjamin Billingham, defendant's son, said that Tromans was drunk, and he refused to give him any beer, and helped him out of the house.

Caroline Guy said that Tromans was not drunk.

Defendant was fined £5 and costs."

AND

"Joseph Tromans, Beggars Row, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk on licensed premises on the 24th ult.

Police-sergeant Hayward said that he went to the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, on the day in question and saw the defendant very drunk.

Defendant, who had been previously convicted, was fined 20s and costs, or one month."

County Express 10/3/1888

"Annie Underwood (17), of Quarry Bank, was charged with obtaining by false pretences a fur cape, of the value of 5s 11d, from Henzey Dunn, draper, Quarry Bank, on the 7th inst. On Wednesday afternoon the prisoner went to the shop of prosecutrix and said she had been sent by her aunt, Mrs. Hartland, of Brickkiln Street, for a fur cape. Prosecutrix let her have a cape, of the value of 5s 11d. As prisoner did not return with the money for the cape enquiries were made, with the result that it was found that prisoner was not the niece of Mrs. Hartland, and had not been sent by her for the cape. Information was given to the police, and prisoner was arrested by Police-constable Styles at the BELL INN, Cradley Heath. She was in the company of a young man, and was wearing the cape (produced). Prisoner admitted the offence, and said she would pay double the value of the cape if prosecutrix would forgive her. When charged by the officer, she said, 'I hope you will forgive me. I will give you and Mrs. Dunn anything.' Prisoner was committed for trial at the Assizes, bail being allowed, in her own recognizances of £20 and two sureties of £20 each."

[Annie Underwood was sentenced to three calendar months.]

County Express 26/5/1888

"Benjamin Billingham, landlord of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, was summoned for keeping his premises open during prohibited hours, and also for harbouring prostitutes on the 12th inst. Mr. Waldron prosecuted on behalf of the police, and Mr. Shakespeare defended. Mr. Shakespeare said he had received a letter from Dr. De Denne, which stated that the defendant was too ill with rheumatic fever to attend, and therefore he applied for an adjournment. Mr. Waldron applied for the costs of the adjournment to be paid by the defendant, because he (Mr. Waldron) was quite ready to fight it out that day, and he had all his evidence ready. The case was adjourned for fourteen days."

County Express 9/6/1888

"Benjamin Bellingham [sic], better known as 'Benny Fiddler,' landlord of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with allowing his licensed premises to be the habitual resort of prostitutes, and also with allowing ale to be consumed on his licensed premises during prohibited hours, on the 12th and 13th ults.

The Bench said they had given the case their very careful consideration, and if there had been any doubt in the case they would certainly have given the girl the benefit of it. They thought the case was clearly proved, and they were of an opinion that the defendant knew the character of the girl he allowed to be on his premises. The defendant had been previously convicted for keeping his premises open during prohibited hours, and this time they would fine him £10, the solicitor's fee, and endorse his license, the fine and costs amounting in all to £17 3s. The defendant paid £3 3s in order to have the case adjourned a fortnight ago, and this, together with the fine and costs, made a total of £20 6s.

In the case of allowing the premises to be open during prohibited hours the Bench did not convict."

County Express 1/9/1888

"The annual licensing session took place at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.

The names of the following appeared on the black list, and were dealt with as follows.

Benjamin Bellingham [sic], landlord of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, fined £5 and costs for permitting drunkenness, and £10 and costs for harbouring prostitutes. Mr. Tanfield said that Mr. Bellingham was an old gentleman, and had kept a license for fifty-three years, and believing that his old age kept him from controlling the house, it had been arranged for a respectable person to take to the license, and Mr. Bellingham would retire from the premises altogether. It was postponed to the adjourned licensing day."

County Advertiser 8/9/1888

"On the application of Mr. A. Tanfield an interim authority was given to John Thomas Lewis, in respect of the Old Hill Brewery, and a like authority to Benjamin Hingley, for the BELL INN, Cradley Heath."

County Advertiser 27/10/1888 - Advert

"Cradley Heath. Freehold Old-Licensed Inn and Premises.

Mr. T. Pateshall is instructed to Sell by Auction, at the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, on Wednesday, October 31st, 1888, at Six for Seven o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions.

All that Highly Valuable Freehold Old-Licensed Public House, the BELL INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, for many years in the occupation of Mr. Benjamin Billingham.

The Property occupies an important and commanding position in a very busy neighbourhood, and fronting a good thoroughfare.

The Premises are very conveniently arranged, and comprise Kitchen, Smoke Room, Bar, large Kitchen, Larder, spacious Club Room, Four Bed Rooms, and Three good Cellars. There is also large Enclosed Yard, with Brewhouse; Stabling for Eight Horses, and Coach House, together with a right of cartway from the High Street.

For further information and to inspect Plan, apply to Messrs. John Wright and Tanfield, Solicitors, Cradley Heath, Halesowen and Blackheath; or the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

Dudley Mercury 11/5/1889

“John Billingham (25), Five Ways, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk and disorderly, on the licensed premises of the Elizabeth Sophia Hingley, BELL INN, Cradley Heath, on the 4th inst, and also with assaulting the landlady.

Mr. Tanfield prosecuted, and said that on the night in question defendant went to the BELL INN. This was the fourth occasion on which the defendant had been to the house and made a disturbance. He was a notorious character, and had been convicted in that Court nine times for various offences. When he came into the BELL INN he was drunk, and asked for beer, which was refused him. There were a number of people in the house, and some way or other defendant got some beer, which the landlady took from him. Defendant then used very bad language, and the complainant endeavoured to put him out. While she was doing so the defendant struck her several times in the face.

Defendant was fined 10s and costs in the first case, and 20s and costs in the second, the fines and costs amounting to £2 13s; with the alternative of six weeks’ imprisonment.”

Birmingham Daily Post 27/1/1890

“At a special Police Court on Saturday – before Mr. W. Bassano – Samuel Siviter, ironworker, Netherton, and Robert James Ford, chainmaker, Cradley Heath, were charged with stealing 5s 6½d, 2oz of tobacco, and two boxes of matches, the property of Elizabeth Sophia Hingley, of the BELL HOTEL, on the 24th inst.

Prisoners were remanded until Wednesday next.”

County Advertiser 1/2/1890

“James Robert Ford, chainmaker, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath, and Samuel Siviter, Netherton, were charged with stealing 5s 6½d, the property of Elizabeth Hingley, on the 24th ult. Mr. Tanfield appeared to prosecute, and Mr. Waldron appeared for Ford. Mr. Tanfield stated, in opening, that at nine o’clock on the date named prisoners went to the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, kept by the prosecutrix, and remained there till about three o’clock in the afternoon. Siviter was hanging about the counter in a suspicious manner, and the waitress, Mary Ann Mason, removed a quantity of tobacco to a safer place, and locked up the till which contained about 8s, and placed the key in a bowl some distance away. She then went out of the room, and on returning a few minutes afterwards, the prisoner Siviter had his hand over the till, which was open. She asked him what he was doing, but he made no reply. Mrs. Hingley then came into the shop and asked Siviter to turn out his pockets as money was missing from the till. Mrs. Hingley got money out of his hand, and Police-constable Davies was then called in. Siviter told Davies that he had got no money, but eventually produced 3d. On being searched two shilling pieces were found, a sixpenny piece in the right shoe, two sixpenny pieces and a threepenny bit in the lining of his hat, and a penny in the lining of his waistcoat. Four half ounces of tobacco and two boxes of matches were also found in his coat pocket. Mrs. Hingley identified the tobacco and matches as her property. With regard to Ford, Mr. Tanfield stated that he was present during the whole of the time, and was in a position to see what took place. When asked by the officer to turn out his pockets, Ford produced 6½d in coppers.

Mary Ann Mason, waitress, gave evidence in keeping with Mr. Tanfield’s statement, and stated further that Ford since being bailed out had asked her to say he was reading the newspaper at the time of the robbery.

Prosecutrix and her daughter, Mary Jane Hingley, also gave evidence, the latter deposing that she served both men with drinks during the day. They were both customers. Ford was a respectable young fellow, and witness lent him a shilling that morning out of which he paid for something to drink. Siviter, after drinking for some time, called for half a pint of fourpenny, and remarked when paying that it was the last halfpenny he had got.

Police-constable Davies gave evidence to searching Siviter, and to finding the money, tobacco, and matches upon him. He arrested Siviter and Ford, who were both drunk. When they were sober he charged them. Ford said he knew nothing of the affair; and Siviter made no reply.

On behalf of Ford, Mr. Waldron said there was no evidence whatever to show that he was in any way connected with the robbery. As to him seeing what took place, he might have been asleep, because it was admitted by the police that he was under the influence of drink.

The Bench dismissed Ford, but said they were of opinion that his conduct was suspicious and blameable. The police were perfectly justified in arresting him. Siviter would be sent to goal for a month with hard labour.”

County Express 8/2/1890

“At the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, before Messrs. W. Holcroft and W. W. Wiggin, Mr. A. Tanfield applied for an interim authority on behalf of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath. He remarked that the premises had been sold by Mrs. Sophia Elizabeth Hingley to Mr. Plant, brewer, of Netherton, who was desirous of putting a respectable person in management, named Mr. Samuel Henry Shaw.

Superintendent Woollaston opposed the application, on the ground that the present owner of the license – Sophia Elizabeth Hingley – was to be charged at the Court that morning with being drunk on licensed premises, and also with felony. The house had been badly conducted for some time. He asked the magistrates to withhold their decision until after Sophia Hingley’s case had been adjudicated upon. The magistrates pointed out if the landlady was convicted of felony there would be no license attached to the house, and they had no alternative but to adopt the superintendent’s suggestion.

Mr. Tanfield said such a course would be detrimental to his client.

Superintendent Woolaston: Mr. Plant must have known what had been going on at the house when he completed the purchase. The magistrates then proceeded with the business of the Court.

Later on Mr. Tanfield said three summonses were issued against Sophia Hingley, one of which was for being drunk on her own licensed premises, and, as it would be necessary to have a medical man, he asked for an adjournment of the case, to enable him to produce one. The other charge against the defendant was for larceny.

Mr. Waldron said his client, Mr. Rowland Morgan, brewer, was charged with the same offence, and he was willing to agree to an adjournment if the Bench were willing to accede to Mr. Tanfield's application.

The adjournment was granted."

Birmingham Mail 9/2/1890

"At the Old Hill Police Court to-day, Elizabeth Sophia Hingley, landlady of the BELL INN, Scholdings Green Road, Cradley Heath, pleaded guilty to being drunk on her licensed premises on the 23rd and 31st of January. Mr. Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. H. Jackson defended.

Police-sergeant Hayward stated that on the 23rd of January he visited the defendant's house, when he saw defendant sitting in an armchair, but upon being aroused it was found she was drunk. Other officers were in company with him. On the 31st, when he again visited the house, he found her intoxicated, and she invited him to have a drink and say nothing about it. Mr. Jackson tendered a plea of guilty on behalf of his client, and in extenuation said that the defendant was in an extremely nervous condition, and had been since her husband's death, two years ago. She had been engaged for sixteen years in the trade. The bench fined defendant 10s and costs in each case.

Elizabeth Sophia Hingley, of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, and Rowland Morgan were then charged with stealing three fowls, the property of Josiah Heatheridge, of Cradley Heath. Mr. Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. Jackson defended.

From the evidence it appeared that prosecutor's fowls used to run over Mrs. Hingley's land and premises. The fowls, it was alleged, were caught upon the defendant's premises and killed, both defendants participating in the act. Prosecutor admitted accepting 9s as compensation. Mr. Jackson contended the charge should have been reduced to one of wilful damage. After the case had proceeded a short time this course was adopted. The defendants were ordered to pay the costs between them, the case being dismissed. The costs amounted to £3 9s 6d.

Mr. Jackson made an application for the transfer of the license of the BELL INN, Scholdings Green Road, from Elizabeth Sophia Hingley to Mr. Plant, brewer, of Netherton. Mr. Clulow opposed the application. The application was granted."

County Express 7/6/1890

"Joseph Bradley, Scholding Green Road, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of William Henry Little, the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, on the 27th ult.

Mr. Tanfield prosecuted, and said defendant damaged a glass window, value 15s, whilst being put out of the house.

For refusing to quit defendant was fined 5s and costs, for the drunkenness 2s 6d and costs, and for the damage he was fined 2s and costs and the 15s damage."

Birmingham Daily Post 16/10/1890

"Yesterday, at the Old Hill Police Court, William Henry Little, landlord of the BELL INN, Scholding Green, Cradley Heath, was charged with attempting to commit suicide on the 22nd ult, by shooting himself with a revolver. When he recovered consciousness he was questioned by a police sergeant, and he said he did not know why he had shot himself, as he had no cause for doing so.

Dr. De Denne said he found a gun shot wound in defendant's right temple, but could not trace the bullet. Dr. O'Dowd said he had for some years attended the defendant for rheumatic fever and severe pains in his head. Whilst suffering from these pains witness thought he was not responsible for his actions. Prisoner was committed to the next quarter sessions, bail being allowed."

County Express 13/12/1890

"At the Staffordshire Quarter Sessions on Tuesday, William Henry Little, on bail, pleaded guilty to attempting to commit suicide on September 22nd at Cradley Heath. He said he committed the offence not knowing what he was doing. Mr. Pearson, who appeared for the prisoner, said he was labouring at the time under circumstances of great mental and bodily anguish. He had the character of a most respectable man, but he had to work very long hours at a public house of which he had charge; and he suffered very seriously from rheumatic fever. Domestic complications ensued, and in a sort of desperation he rushed out and tried to kill himself.

Prisoner was sentenced to one day's imprisonment, the effect of which was that he was discharged."

Charles Henry Partridge (1863 - 1935) was known as Harry.

He married Louisa Beasley.

1891 Census

Scolding Green Road – BELL INN

[1] Charles H. Partridge (28), hotel manager, born Rowley;

[2] Louisa Partridge (28), wife, born Rowley;

[3] Laura Partridge (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;

[4] Samuel Partridge (5), son, scholar, born Rowley;

[5] Phoebe Davis (17), servant, born Greet's Green:

County Advertiser 29/8/1891

“The annual licensing sessions for Rowley Petty Sessional Division were held last Wednesday.....

The magistrates said they were pleased to learn that there had been a decrease in the drunken cases. They then proceeded to consider the ‘black list’.....

Charles Henry Partridge, of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, convicted of supplying ale to a drunken person, May 23rd applied for a renewal of their licenses through Mr. Waldron, who commented on the respectability of the applicants, and urged that the Bench should not exercise their discretion and take away the licenses because of one conviction Renewed.”

AND

County Express 29/8/1891

“The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis division of Staffordshire were held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

Mr. W. Waldron made the application on behalf of Charles Henry Partridge, of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, for the renewal of the license to him. Inspector Bishop said Mr. Partridge was fined on May 20th last for supplying drink to a drunken person and was fined 20s and costs; and the previous occupier was fined twice. Since the last conviction Mr. Partridge had conducted the house well. Renewed.”

County Advertiser 10/10/1891

“Mr. J. L. Holberton (Brierley Hill), applied for the transfer of the license of the BELL INN, Scolding Green Road, Cradley Heath, from Charles Henry Partridge to Alfred Guest. The applicant bore a good character, and was to manage the house for Mr. Thomas Plant.

In reply to questions put by Inspector Bishop applicant said he had been addicted to betting and horse racing, but had now given that up. He had conducted the LOCOMOTIVE INN for four years without any conviction.

Inspector Bishop said in nine cases out of ten men who determined to give up betting could not do it, and there were large factories in the neighbourhood which employed young men who were liable to be led astray.

Ultimately the application was granted, the Bench cautioning the applicant as to the way he conducted the house.”

Midland Sun 22/4/1893

“John Sefton was charged with being drunk and disorderly on licensed premises on the 14th inst. Inspector Bishop deposed that at 9.40pm on the day in question he found the defendant at the bar of the BELL INN, Cradley Heath, kept by Alfred Guest. The defendant while in a very drunken condition had taken his clothes off and was trying to sell them to the bystanders. He was fined 20s and costs.”

County Advertiser 2/11/1895

“A notable figure has this week disappeared from Cradley Heath, by the death of Mr. Benjamin Billingham, better known throughout the district as ‘Benny Fiddler.’ On account of his remarkable obesity – he weighed about twenty-six stone – his name was a well-known one throughout the whole district. Notwithstanding that obesity is usually a token of physical weakness, he attained the ripe age of 84 years. For about 55 years he was a licensed victualler in Cradley Heath, and for fifty years of that time he kept the BELL HOTEL. For a long period he was hoisted up to bed at night instead of mounting the stairs in the usual way. Since retiring from business his health has been good, and until recently he has taken his customary yearly trip to Bromsgrove fair, where he was well known. During the last six months the increasing infirmities of age began to tell upon him; but he still managed to get out of doors when the weather was favourable, until a few weeks ago. Death came rather suddenly on Wednesday morning, at about five o’clock, at his residence at Scholding Green Road.”

County Advertiser 9/11/1895

“Mr. Benjamin Billingham, better known throughout the district as ‘Benny Fiddler,’ whose death was reported last week in our columns, was buried on Monday last at St. Luke’s Church. After his death, many acquaintances asked for the opportunity of a last look at the well-known figure; and a large crowd assembled on Monday to witness the funeral rites. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. A. Cooke, vicar of the parish, who also accompanied the funeral cortege from the house. Three sons and several grandchildren of the deceased attended as mourners. The service in the church was fully choral, and at the close the organist played the ‘Dead March,’ in Saul upon the organ. Wreaths were sent by several friends.”

County Advertiser 12/12/1896 - Advert

“Benjamin Billingham, Deceased.

Pursuant to the Act of Parliament 22nd and 23rd Vic, c.35, intituled An Act to further Amend the Law of Property and to relieve Trustees.

Notice is Hereby Given that all Creditors and other Persons having any Claims or Demands against the Estate of the said Benjamin Billingham, late of Scholding Green Road, Cradley Heath, in the County of Stafford, Gentleman, deceased (who died on the 30th day of October, 1895, and whose Will was proved in the Lichfield District Probate Registry of Her Majesty’s High Court of Justice on the 29th day of February, 1896, by John Billingham (since deceased), Benjamin Billingham, and Jeremiah Billingham, the surviving Executors therein named) are hereby Required to send the Particulars, in writing, of their Claims or Demands to me, the Undersigned, the Solicitor for the said Executors, on or before the 31st day of December Next, after which date the said Executors will proceed to Distribute the Assets of the said Deceased amongst the Persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the Claims and Demands of which they shall then have had notice, and they will not be liable for the Assets of the said Deceased or any part thereof so Distributed to any Person or Persons of whose Claims or Demands they shall not then have had notice.

Dated this 8th day of December, 1896.
Joseph Wright, Cradley Heath, Staffordshire. Solicitor for the said Executors.”

Benjamin Billingham left a considerable estate of property which was sold at Auction.
There were several court actions over the will.

County Advertiser 20/3/1897

“On Monday morning an inquest was held by Mr. A. A. Betham (deputy coroner) at the BELL INN, Scholding Green Road, Cradley Heath, respecting the death of Millie May Moulding, sixteen months old, whose parents reside in Scholding Green Road. The mother, Harriet Moulding, stated that on the 11th inst, at 12-15 in the morning, she left the house, and deceased was playing with several other children at the time. When she returned she was told that deceased had been found in a tub. A doctor was sent for, but upon his arrival he said the child was dead. Edward Moulding, father of deceased, said he had just returned home from work when he heard the neighbours shout out that the child was in the tub. He rushed out of the house and pulled the child out. Police-constable Winn said the water in the tub was three feet deep. The Jury returned a verdict of Found Drowned.”

County Express 15/5/1897 - Advert

“For Sale, Cheap, a Capital Brown Horse, 16hs 3in, eight years, quiet; would suit a Hawker.
Apply BELL HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 12/11/1898

“James Homer, chainmaker, of Lomey Town, Cradley Heath, was charged with assaulting Robert Horton, landlord of the BELL HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on the 31st ult. Prosecutor stated that defendant and his brother had a quarrel in his house on the night in question. He was trying to get defendant out of the house when he struck him a violent blow on the mouth. Defendant, who admitted the offence, was fined 1s and costs.”

County Advertiser 17/6/1899

“Cradley Heath St. Luke’s Football Club held their first annual supper a short time ago at the BELL HOTEL, Cradley Heath, and the secretary presented a very satisfactory report. This stated that the matches played had been 28, of which 20 were won, 7 lost, and 1 drawn, while the number of goals scored for was 128, against 43. An excellent supper was provided, after which the evening was spent in harmony. Mr. Sykes proposed, and Mr. Evans seconded, a vote of thanks to the host and hostess for the way in which they had catered for them, and this was heartily accorded.”

County Advertiser 4/11/1899

“Stephen Harris, Queen Street, Cradley Heath, was charged with being disorderly on the licensed premises of Robert Hawkes [sic], and refusing to leave when requested, on the 28th ult. Robert Horton, landlord of the BELL HOTEL, Cradley Heath, said that on the date named, about nine o’clock at night, defendant came into his house and called for a pint of ale without giving him the money. Complainant refused to supply him. Defendant then began to be abusive, and was ordered out. Defendant would not go out when requested, but remained a quarter of an hour afterwards. Silvia Horton, wife of complainant, corroborated. Defendant was further charged with being drunk and disorderly, and this case was proved by Police-sergeant Pitcher and Police-constable Bucknell. Defendant was fined 10s and costs in the first case, and the latter was dismissed.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 1/9/1900

“On Monday, Mr. H. A. Pearson (Coroner) held an inquest at the BELL INN, Scolding Green Road, Cradley Heath, respecting the death of John Matthews (64), blacksmith, who was found dead in an attic of his residence on Friday night. Mrs. Matthews, the widow, stated that her husband had been very much depressed during the last few days in consequence of a son having left home. About 1.30 on Friday afternoon deceased went upstairs, saying he was going to have a nap. Later in the day, his daughter found him suspended from the bannister rails in the attic by means of a handkerchief. A man named Kimberley cut the body down, and Dr. Bell was summoned, but pronounced life as extinct. The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst Temporarily Insane.”

1901 Census

Scholding Green Road – BELL INN

- [1] Robert Horton (24), chain manufacturer, born Cradley Heath;
- [2] Annie Horton (24), wife, born Quarry Bank;
- [3] Walter Horton (3 months), son, born Cradley Heath:

County Express 5/10/1901

“Thomas Jones, a youth, living at Dudley Wood, was charged with stealing half-a-crown belonging to Robert Horton, landlord of the BELL HOTEL, Scholding Green Road, Cradley Heath, on the 27th ult. Horton said in consequence of thefts he put 19s 6d in marked coins in the till on the 27th ult. Soon after Police-constable Maisey produced a marked half-crown, and witness found upon counting the money which he had put in the drawer that a half-crown was missing.

Annie Horton said the boy Jones went to the hotel and asked for some beer and cigarettes. She supplied him, and he paid for the cigarettes. She left him in the passage while she went to book the beer.

Police-constable Maisey said he was concealed on the premises, and saw the last witness serve the boy. As soon as he saw her go to book the beer, the defendant went to the till, opened it with his left hand, and took out half-a-crown. He then picked up his bottles of beer and went out of the house. Witness arrested him immediately, and found the half-crown in the boy's left trousers pocket. He charged the defendant, who said he had never taken anything before, and that he was very sorry. He was fined £2 and costs."

Benjamin Billingham Jnr: was the son of Benjamin and Ann.

He was born in the 3rd quarter of 1844.

In 1901 he was a boarder at 45, Scholding Green Road.

He died in the 4th quarter of 1903, unmarried and without issue, and was buried at St. Luke's Church, Cradley Heath.

County Express 18/10/1902

"An inquest was held at the BELL HOTEL, by Mr. A. H. Pearson, coroner, relative to the death of James Male, a miner, aged 37, formerly of 58, Foxoak Street. Deceased worked at No. 19 pit, belonging to the Earl of Dudley, and on Thursday morning went to work apparently in his usual health. About 11 o'clock he complained of internal pains, so he was taken home in a conveyance. He died about 12.30pm, and Dr. Fryer, who was summoned, could only pronounce life extinct. A verdict of Death from Natural Causes was returned."

County Advertiser 10/3/1906

"The Sick Room Requisites Fund.....

The sub-committee reported to a meeting of the committee held on Monday evening at the BELL INN, Five Ways, when there were present some 20 delegates representing the Foresters, Free Gardeners, Druids, Rechabites, Modern Masons, and the Parish Church Burial Society....."

Benoni Buttery was also a brewer.

In a newspaper advert he stated that he always kept "his famous Home Brewed Ales in splendid condition."

County Express 12/9/1908

"On Wednesday evening the committee of the Friendly Societies' Parade met at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Mr. W. Coley presiding over a large attendance. The following was a complete list of those boxes which contained amounts of 1s and upwards.....

Mr. B. Buttery, BELL HOTEL, 5s 9½d."

County Express 9/1/1909

"Dividend Clubs..... BELL HOTEL (Cradley Heath).

The annual supper was attended by about 50 members, who enjoyed the excellent catering of the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Benoni Buttery. After the drawing of the cloth, Mr. A. Bate presided. Songs were rendered by Messrs. B. Bradley, I. Williams, S. Westwood, E. Westwood, S. Baker, W. Grazier, and Benoni Buttery. Votes of thanks closed a pleasant evening."

Tipton Herald 7/8/1909

"The annual supper in connection with the BELL HOTEL [Sick and Draw] Club was held on August 2nd, when about 40 sat down to an excellent spread, served by the Host and Hostess (Mr. and Mrs. Benoni Buttery), and to which full justice was done. After the cloth had been drawn Mr. Amos Bate was elected to the chair....."

County Express 26/3/1910

"Two freehold dwelling houses, situate in Surfeit Hill, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath, in the occupation of Messrs. S. Stringer and J. Stringer, and estimated to produce a rental of £30 a year, were offered for sale by auction by instructions of Mr. S. Stringer, at the REINDEER INN, Cradley Heath, on Monday. They were sold for £425 to Mr. B. Buttery, of the BELL HOTEL, Dudley Wood Road, Cradley Heath. Auctioneer, Mr. E. O. Nightingale; solicitor, Mr. George Williams, both of Cradley Heath."

1911 Census

Dudley Wood Road – YE OLD BELL HOTEL

- [1] Benoni Buttery (39), licensed victualler, born Old Hill;
- [2] Martha Buttery (38), wife, married 19 years, assistant in business, born Cradley Heath;
- [3] Frederick J. Buttery (18), son, engineer's fitter, born Cradley;
- [4] Fanny Buttery (12), daughter, school, born Old Hill;
- [5] Annie Vincent (19), domestic servant, born Quarry Bank;
- [6] Lucy Forrest (21), domestic servant, born Old Hill:

Birmingham Mail 21/7/1914 - Advert

"General Servant (good) Wanted; character required.

Apply, Mr. B. Buttery, BELL HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

Benoni Buttery – see also BULLS HEAD and SALUTATION.

Dudley Chronicle 9/10/1915

“Saturday proved a wretched day for the cycle and fancy dress parade promoted by the Cradley Heath Patriotic Committee. For the first day for many weeks the sun decided to remain indoors, and from start to finish there was a steady downpour of rain which made it very uncomfortable for exhibitors and spectators alike.....

There were not many vehicles in the procession. Mr. Botfield, of the BELL HOTEL, accompanied by his son, who was dressed as a Chinaman, and Mr. Josiah Bloomer, was with a brewer’s dray advertising ‘the best that could be brewed’ the winners of the prizes were Tradesman’s turnout: 1. W. Botfield, BELL HOTEL, Cradley Heath.....

Mr. Edwards said he was sorry the weather had been so unfavourable. Still a good show had been made, and they would be able to hand over a good sum for the benefit of local soldiers and sailors.”

Robert William Botfield – see also ANCHOR and BEEHIVE, Cradley Heath, and BLUE BALL, Old Hill.

A meeting was held here on 25th August 1925 to form the Cradley Heath LVA. William Botfield was elected president.

Richard Jones was married to Edith.

1939 Register

Dudley Wood Road – BELL HOTEL

[1] Doris Botfield, date of birth 16/11/1900, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[2] Denis B. Botfield, dob 6/10/1922, spot welding apprentice, single;

[3] William Botfield, date of birth 28/5/1924, electric engineering apprentice, single;

William Botfield – see also WIZARD AND GLASS.

A team from here took part in the Cradley Heath Domino League. [1960]

Sandwell Evening Mail 16/8/1988

“Bangers with everything – that’s the boast of a new pub in Cradley Heath which will be relying on traditional grub to pull in the crowds. The CRADLEY SAUSAGE WORKS will open tomorrow night and is the latest in the Little Pub Company’s chain of novelty pubs.

Sausages are the theme of the new premises and on the menu will be bangers and mash as well as sausage, beans and gravy. The famous Desperate Dan Pie will also be served.

Little Pub Company owner Mr. Colm O’Rourke said, ‘The CRADLEY SAUSAGE WORKS is another of our unusual pubs. The new pub is all to do with sausages which is a traditional food. Many people get a craving for the old types of food, many of which are vanishing as modern day fast food stores shoot up everywhere. The pub is being fitted out like a genuine old sausage works and has Victorian style panelling.’

The Little Pub Company first became popular when the DRY DOCK was opened at Netherton with a canal boat put inside the premises to act as the bar.

Then other pubs were opened including the LITTLE WHITE LION at Colley Gate, the LITTE PIE FACTORY at Tipton and the Little Pack Horse at Bewdley.

Desperate Dan Pie was first served at the DRY DOCK and soon became a favourite dish.”

John Whitlow – see also LOYAL LODGE, Halesowen.

Sandwell Evening Mail 6/6/1990

“Sick of Soccer? Dreading the World Cup? For the next month football will flood telly and radio with live matches, action replays and expert opinion. But you can escape it! Our World Cup Survival Guide offers dozens of ways to get kicks elsewhere – and save some cash as well.....

Pubs with no TV CRADLEY SAUSAGE FACTORY, Five Ways Cradley Heath.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 30/3/1991

“People were injured by flying glass when a stag party fight broke out at a Black Country pub. Frightened customers ran for cover and others were dragged outside to safety when trouble flared at 10.55 last night at the SAUSAGE WORKS pub, St. Annes Road, Cradley Heath.

Fighting broke out after a man in a coach party of 30 young people started taking his clothes off. About 15 people started fighting and two dozen glasses, seven chairs, an antique mirror and an expensive leaded window were smashed.

Several people were injured by flying glass, including landlord Mr. Timothy Basche. Mr. Basche said today, ‘I received a telephone call from a coach firm yesterday morning to say that a stag group of 30 young men would be visiting the pub. They joined other customers in the bar but fighting broke out when one man started taking his clothes off. One of our regular customers was struck by a chair as he telephoned for help and I was cut by flying glass.’ One or two other people were also cut but at least half the 30-strong party tried to calm the troublemakers. ‘Some people were dragged outside to safety and eventually all 30 were driven off in the coach,’ Mr. Basche added. The pub had a good reputation and that was the first of its kind at the premises, he said.

It was renamed SAUSAGE AND PORTER.

It closed as the SAUSAGE AND PORTER on 12th April 1998.

It reopened as the RED HEN.

It closed in 1999.

It was converted into housing.

BELL

Rowley Village, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

LICENSEES

William Mills [1822] – [1834]

Joseph Hackett [1857] – 1861);

Sarah Lowe (1861 – []

Frederick Haynes [1869]

NOTES

Staffordshire Advertiser 19/10/1822

“Staffordshire Michaelmas Sessions.....

George Hodgetts, a youth of 16, was indicted for stealing three one-pound notes and divers silver and copper monies, the property of Wm. Mills, at Rowley Regis. The prosecutor, Mills, keeps a public house at Rowley Regis; the prisoner came to his house on the 19th September last, and drank some ale there, he remained in the house about two hours; a short time after he had left it, some person told witness that he was being robbed; and on going up stairs he found the prisoner escaping from one of the chamber windows; witness missed three pound bills from the desk, and some silver and copper from the top of a chest of drawers.

A woman of the name of Bennett saw the prisoner come out of Mill's window, and go to the next door (the house where he lodged), she followed him, and received four shillings in copper from the Mistress of the house, which she desired her to take to Mills, saying at the same time that Hodgetts had robbed Mills.

Thos. Partridge, the constable, apprehended the prisoner on the Monday after the robbery; found nothing on his person; he said he had taken no notes and silver, only the copper.

From the circumstance that this prisoner, although of such tender years, had been twice before charged with similar offences, and in one instance had received the punishment inflicted by the law, he was sentenced to transportation for seven years.

The prosecutor's expenses in the case were not allowed for his very blameable conduct in permitting a child, like the prisoner, to tittle in his house.”

Aris' Birmingham Gazette 1/1/1838 - Advert

“Young Horses, Prime Fat Cattle, and Farming Stock.

To be Sold by Jesse Wright, on Tuesday the 9th day of January inst, the Farming Stock upon the Cakemore House Farm, near Black Heath.....

Catalogues may be had on application to the Auctioneer, Dudley, or at the BELL INN, Rowley Regis.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 30/12/1857

“Joseph Hackett, landlord of the BELL INN, Rowley Regis, was fined 10s and costs, for having his house open on Sunday morning, the 20th inst, before half-past twelve o'clock.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 10/7/1858- Notice

“County Of Stafford. Weights And Measures. District C, or South Staffordshire.

Notice is hereby given that William Tullett, the Inspector of Weights and Measures for District C, or South Staffordshire, will attend at the undermentioned times and places, for the purpose of comparing and examining all such Weights and Measures as shall be brought to him for that purpose, and Stamping such of them as shall be found correct.....

At the BELL INN, at Rowley Regis, on Thursdays, July 15th, August 12th, and September 9th, 1858, at ten o'clock am.”

Frederick Haynes = Frederick Haines

Stourbridge Observer 18/4/1868

“On Tuesday an inquest was held at the BELL INN, before Mr. E. Hooper, Esq, Coroner, touching the death of a man named William Haycock, aged 54 years, who died very suddenly on Sunday night last.

From the evidence of Mrs. Haycock it appears that the deceased resided at Spring Field, near Rowley, and that on Sunday morning he, in company with herself, went to Netherend to see his son. In the evening they commenced their return, but deceased was taken very poorly, and when opposite the BELL INN he sat down on a Bench in front of the house, while she called up some of the inmates and obtained three-pennyworth of brandy. With some difficulty they got the deceased to swallow it, and then seeming to be very cold, permission was asked to take him into the house to the fire. He was led into the house, and in about five minutes afterwards he expired.

As soon as possible Mr. Hodgson was present, but deceased was quite dead.

The Coroner was very particular in ascertaining what he had had during the day, and whether his wife had partaken of the same things. Having been satisfied on this point, the jury returned a verdict of Died from Natural Causes.”

Stourbridge Observer 1/5 1869

“At the Petty Sessions, on Wednesday last, before F. W. G. Barrs and N. Hingley, Esqrs, Frederick Haines was charged by William Laister with assaulting him on the 23rd ult. Mr. Addison appeared for the defence.

Complainant said on the above date he was at Rowley at defendant’s house, the BELLS. Defendant’s wife began to abuse him, and defendant came out and struck him a severe blow on the mouth. Did not strike defendant in return. Had not spoken to him. Gave him into custody of Police-constable Slinn, who was there.

Cross-examined: Had put defendant’s wife into the County Court, about some malt. Have been to Mr. Robinson’s, but did not tell him that they were not fit to live there. Did not put her in the Court out of spite. Was at a club on the Wednesday previous. Defendant was there in the doorway. Picked up a poker to defend myself. Defendant came to him and asked him what he meant. Put the poker down. Had some words with the defendant.

Police-constable Slinn said he was stationed at Blackheath. Was at the sale at the BELLS, on the 23rd. Saw defendant strike complainant on the face. Complainant got out of the way. Complainant gave the defendant into custody.

Richard Parkes proved seeing the defendant rip complainant’s jacket.

Fined 5s and costs; in default 14 days.”

Closed

BELL AND BEAR

71, (26), (8), Gorsty Hill Road, (33, Gorsty Hill), OLD HILL

OWNERS

Thomas Fereday [1860]

Fanny Wright Fereday

Samuel Lowe (acquired in 1895)

Messrs. Grigg and Brettell (acquired on 2nd February 1935)

Ansells Ltd.

Colin Waring

Punch Taverns [2007]

Star (Heineken UK) (acquired on 5th March 2018)

LICENSEES

Edmund Mason [1841] – [1856]

Thomas Fereday [1860] – 1865;

Fanny Wright Fereday (1865 – []

Sarah Lowe [1865] – 1865);

John and Samuel Lowe (1865 – []

John Lowe [1866] – [1881]

Samuel Lowe [1891] – 1934);

Fred Lowe (1934 – 1935);

Isaac Bishop (1935);

Thomas Bishop (1935 – 1941);

Lilian May Trevis (1941 – 1951);

Robert Muir (1951 – 1952);
John Leslie Robinson (1952 – 1957);
Stanley ‘Stan’ Rogers (1957);
Samuel Horace Pugh (1957 – [1962]
Colin Waring [] – 1978)
Bill Valance [1983] – [1985]
Colin Waring (1988 – [1995]
Martin Corcoran [2001]
Stephanie Corcoran [2004] – [2011]
Stephanie Cox [2011] – [2012]
Stanley John ‘Stan’ Gardner (2014 – [2017]
Natalie and David Clynschaw (2014 – [2022] managers

NOTES

33, Gorsty Hill [1881], [1891]
8, Gorsty Hill Road [1901], [1911]
26, Gorsty Hill Road [1939]
71, Gorsty Hill Road [1992], [2018]

BELL INN [1851], [1880], [1892], [1896], [1904], [1908], [1912], [1916], [1921], [1924], [1940]

1841 Census

Gosty Hill

[1] Edmund Mason (35), victualler, born Staffordshire;
[2] Amelia Hodgetts (17), born Staffordshire;
[3] Elizabeth Hodgetts (4), born Staffordshire:

1851 Census

Gosty Hill

[1] Edmund Mason (48), unmarried, public house keeper, born Rowley Regis;
[2] Elizabeth Hodgetts (14), house servant, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Journal 29/3/1856 - Advert

“Left His Home.

On Wednesday, the 19th inst, Mr. Edmund Mason, of Gosty Hill, Rowley, Publican, Left his Residence, and has not since been heard of. He is 54 years of age, about 5 feet 6 inches in height, lusty, and stout built; had on, when last seen, a white smock frock, cassimere breeches, and a pair of new half-boots. Information respecting him will be gratefully received by his disconsolate relatives, William Davies, Oakeywell Street, Dudley; or Mrs. Stainton, the LORD WARD ARMS, Rowley, Staffordshire.”

Black Country Bugle - Pub of the Month

“....That was when the farmstead was first converted into a tavern with stabling and a wheelwright’s and a blacksmith’s forge The family prospered. In 1860, Thomas Fereday owned the property. He married into the wealthy Wright family of Old Hill, and when he died in 1865, the BELL and surrounding lands passed to his daughter Fanny Wright Fereday. She married Edward Lloyd Gatacre but they were divorced in 1877. Around that period the inn was known locally as ‘Fanny’s.’ She stayed at the BELL until 1895, when Mr. Samuel Lowe purchased the public house which he owned until his death in 1934. It was then acquired by Messrs. Grigg and Brettell who were subsequently taken over by Ansells.”

County Advertiser 25/8/1866

“Rowley annual licensing meeting was held yesterday....

There were 82 applications for the renewal of licenses, all of which were granted with the exception of that of John Lowe, of the BELL, Gorsty Hill, whose certificate was suspended till the adjourned meeting.”

John Lowe, beer retailer, Gorsty Hill [1870]

Aris’s Birmingham Gazette 26/3/1870

“The common nail makers have been for some time complaining of deviations made by some of the masters from the list of prices unanimously agreed to on the 15th of September, 1869, when a disastrous and protracted strike terminated. It appears that a firm having an out-warehouse at Kates Hill, Dudley, have particularly offended in this respect. In consequence a meeting of the committee of the Amalgamated Association of Nailmakers was held a short time ago, at Mr. Jno. Lowe’s, the BELL INN, Gosty Hill, when Mr. Price presided; and it was resolved that he should wait upon the firm referred to, in reference to the reduction of 5 per cent, and in some instances of 10 per cent, which they were making from the recognised trade list. It was also resolved that, in the event of the firm refusing to abide by the trade list, Mr. Price should be empowered to put the nailers of the Kates Hill district on strike.

After waiting upon the firm, and obtaining a promise that the list price should be conceded, Mr. Price took no further action till yesterday, when, ascertaining that the Kates Hill nailers were still being paid at the reduction, he instructed them to take out no more iron, and announced that whilst on strike they would be supported by the association.

He had also convened an open-air meeting, to be held at twelve o'clock on Monday, in Porters Field, Dudley.”

1871 Census

Gosty Hill

- [1] John Lowe (38), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Elizabeth Lowe (29), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Martha Lowe (14), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] John Lowe (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Arthur Lowe (1), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Mary Lowe (5 months), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Samuel Lowe (35), boarder, labourer, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 20/5/1871

“On Tuesday evening, at the house of Mr. John Lowe, the BELL INN, Gorsty Hill, a new Court was opened, called Bold Robin Hood, No.5595, of the Ancient Order of Foresters, when about sixteen new members were initiated. Mr. Joseph Gibson, DCR, presided. Mr. Standish, who was present, was appointed surgeon. Mr. Homer, the District Secretary, was present, and several other friends. An excellent supper was provided by the host, and the utmost harmony pervaded the whole proceeding. The company separated well satisfied with the evening’s enjoyment.”

Birmingham Daily Post 15/1/1874

“On Monday a meeting of delegates of the Thousand Nailmakers’ Union was held at the BELL INN, Gosty Green, near Hales Owen, at which it was resolved to postpone all business till Monday the 19th inst, in consequence of information having been received that the masters intended to hold a meeting in reference to the trade today.”

County Express 25/7/1874

“Court Bold Robin Hood, No.5595, held its third anniversary on Monday, July 20th, at the BELL INN, Gosty Hill, when between thirty and forty sat down to an excellent dinner provided by the host, Bro. John Lowe.....”

County Express 21/7/1877

“Court Robin Hood (5595) of the Ancient Order of Foresters held its sixth anniversary on Monday last, at the BELL INN, Gorsty Hill, Old Hill. About forty members sat down to dinner. The chair was afterwards occupied by Bro. J. Parsons, CR, and the vice chair by Bro. E. Parsons, SCR.....”

County Express 24/7/1880

“The annual meeting of Court Bold Robin Hood, No.5595, of the Ancient Order of Foresters, was held on Monday last at the BELL INN, Gosty Hill. Forty members sat down to an excellent repast provided by the host, Bro. John Lowe. After the cloth had been removed the chair was occupied by Bro. Jos. Parsons, PCR, and the vice-chair by Bro. B. Tibbetts, SCR. After the usual loyal and patriotic toasts had been given and duly responded to, the Chairman, in a few well chosen words, proposed ‘Prosperity to Court Robin Hood,’ coupling with it the name of Bro. John Owen, their Secretary, who in responding, read the report of the past year, which showed the Court to be in a very flourishing condition. The rest of the time was spent in harmony, and a very enjoyable evening was spent.”

1881 Census

33, Gosty Hill – BELL INN

- [1] John Lowe (47), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Elizabeth Lowe (39), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Martha Lowe (23), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Arthur Lowe (11), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mary Lowe (9), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Annie Lowe (8), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Edward Lowe (7), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Amy Lowe (4), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Lucy Lowe (3), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Sarah Ann Lowe (1), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [11] Samuel Lowe (44), lodger, labourer at tube works, born Rowley Regis:

1891 Census

33, Gorsty Hill – BELL INN

- [1] Samuel Lowe (32), victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Mary Lowe (28), wife, born Rowley Regis;

- [3] Fred Lowe (7), son, scholar, born Halesowen;
- [4] John Lowe (6), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Frances Elizabeth Partridge (22), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 23/3/1895 - Advert

“Servant Girl Wanted, 16 or 17 years of age.
Apply to Mrs. Lowe, BELL INN, Gorsty Hill, near Halesowen.”

1901 Census

8, Gorsty Hill Road – BELL INN

- [1] Samuel Lowe (42), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Mary Lowe (38), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Fred Lowe (17), son, iron tube examiner, born Halesowen;
- [4] John Lowe (16), son, striker iron tubes, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Albert Lowe (9), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Louisa Giles (20), domestic servant, born Dudley:

1911 Census

8, Gorsty Hill Road – BELL INN

- [1] Samuel Lowe (52), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Mary Lowe (48), wife, married 28 years, born Blackheath;
- [3] John Lowe (26), son, motor engineer, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Albert Lowe (19), son, electrician, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Emma South (30), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

Sports Argus 15/5/1915

“The Langley and District Bowling League have been fortunate enough to fill the two vacant places with the Hill and Cakemore Conservative Club, and BELL INN, Gorsty Hill, so that there will be a good championship contest with ten clubs in the competition. One of the newcomers, BELL INN, commenced well by defeating BARREL away from home by five points.....”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 26/7/1915

“The Game Of Bowls..... Friendly Games.....
Old Hill v BELL INN (Gorsty Hill). Played at Old Hill Liberal Club.....”
[Old Hill won 268-230.]

It had a successful bowling team in the 1920s.

It was the headquarters of Blackheath Town FC. [1927/28]

Birmingham Daily Gazette 8/2/1934

“Out of a population of more than 43,000 only four persons were convicted for drunkenness in Rowley Regis last year. When interim authority was granted to Fred Lowe to carry on the BELL INN, Gorsty Hill, it was stated that his late father, Samuel Lowe, had held the license 49 years without a single complaint.”

1939 Register

26, Gorsty Hill Road – BELL Public House

- [1] Thomas Bishop, date of birth 8/12/1882, licensed victualler, married;
- [2] Nellie Bishop, dob 21/1/1884, unpaid domestic duties, married;
- [3] Beatrice M. (Bishop) Laing, dob 20/5/1918, shop assistant, single;
- [4] Isaac Bishop, dob 19/4/1879, contractor’s labourer, widowed:

Evening Despatch 26/3/1940

“Two motor-cars and a pony and trap were involved in a collision at the junction of Beeches Road and Gorsty Hill Road, Blackheath, late last night. George Jones, a caravan dweller, of Illey, Halesowen, who was thrown out of the cart, was taken to Dudley Guest Hospital for treatment, but was not detained. The pony was slightly injured and the trap damaged. The motorists, who escaped injury, were Pte. Clifford B. Jackson and Arthur Laing, of BELL INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath.”

Vince Trevis kept racing greyhounds.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 11/3/1944 - Advert

“Greyhounds: Several young Irish high-class for Sale; guaranteed honest, never raced in England.
Trevis, BELL INN, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath.”

Stanley Rogers was married to Joyce.

See also TRAVELLERS REST, BIRD IN HAND, St. Andrews Street, DOLPHIN and ELEPHANT AND CASTLE, all Netherton.

Sandwell Evening Mail 18/3/1983

“If Snowy the lamb wakes up feeling a bit woolly in the morning it’s probably because he’s got a hangover. The youngster was rescued by Halesowen licensee, Mr. Bill Valance, from a local market when he was just four hours old after being rejected by his mother. Bill, aged 49, took him home to the BELL at Gorsty Hill and had to get up during the night to feed him with powdered ewe’s milk. But now Snowy has developed a taste for something a little more potent, whisky and dry ginger, which he sucks from Bill’s finger. ‘Snowy loved the odd drink but we don’t want to encourage the habit,’ said Bill.”

Bill Valance – see also HILLCREST, Kingswinford.

Closed

It reopened in 1988

Sandwell Evening Mail 17/2/1990

“A Sandwell pub which was refurbished at a cost of £100,000 is to be re-opened later this month – by a bear. Hercules, an eight foot Scottish grizzly, is due to re-open the BELL AND BEAR in Rowley Regis on February 28 at 11.30am. Hercules became well known in 1980 when he got lost while filming a television commercial.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 3/3/1990

“Hercules the giant grizzly bear tucked into his favourite dish of prawns at the opening of the newly refurbished BELL AND BEAR pub in Gosty Hill, Rowley Regis. The pub, bought by Colin and Hilary Waring, who previously ran the BARLEY MOW in Tividale, had been closed for several years. More than £100,000 was spent refurbishing it.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 28/3/1990 - Advert

“Cook Required full time/part time, early evenings.
Please contact the BELL AND BEAR INN, Rowley Regis.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 1/6/1991

“Views extending across miles of open country to Shropshire and other far distant parts can be enjoyed from a Black Country pub that once faced the horrors of its own bleak business outlook. With its doors firmly barred and bolted, the BELL AND BEAR at Rowley Regis, Warley, was in grave danger of fading from the scene. That is until it was rescued from a near-derelict state and given the kiss of life by Colin and Hilary Waring.

Today the pub, perched on the side of Gorsty Hill Road, is in a healthy trading condition and workmen have set about adding a restaurant to bar and dining facilities already bulging at the beams. ‘We could see the potential even though the pub had been closed for a long time,’ said Colin, who bought the business and is seeing his investment pay off after lots of hard work. The day I called in, it was clear enough to look out across the heart of the Black Country to the Shropshire hills. ‘We used some of our leisure time to clear a ‘rubbish tip’ behind the pub and turn it into a garden terrace. It’s a very popular spot in the summer,’ Colin told me.

People flock to the BELL AND BEAR not merely for the panoramic views but also they like what they find inside the pub – a good range of cask ales and mouthwatering items on a well stocked menu. How about Gornal Smokies, a spicy cheese-flavoured sausage, or a pork and leek sausage, both from the Lower Gornal kitchens of Robert Middleton, who has won numerous awards for handmade ‘bangers’ that have become a culinary treat. ‘We can serve up to 60lb of them in a week,’ said Colin, as local businessmen made a meal of their smokies or considered one of the many other options available as main courses, hot snacks, sandwiches, starters, salads or sweets. A Black Belter turns out to be a combination of black pudding, cheese and cucumber. ‘Food is certainly a big attraction and, because we are open all day during the week, people often come in for a late lunch or an early evening meal,’ said the licensee who was no stranger to the BELL AND BEAR when he arrived three years ago. He first ran it as a tenant before going off to make a success of another trade venture.

Colin draws his main selection of ales from the Black Country brewery Holt, Plant and Deakin, and also sells a former British Beer of the Year from Timothy Taylor’s of Keithley, in Yorkshire. ‘It is still predominantly a pub despite all the food we serve, and people seem to travel miles to visit us,’ said the man who certainly put the BELL AND BEAR back on the map.

Pubfile.

Pick of the Pints: Holts Bitter; Draught Burton Ale; Holts Entire Bitter; Benskins Bitter; Timothy Taylors.

Average Price of a Pint: Bitter, £1.09; Mild, £1.05; Lager, £1.30.

Food: Comprehensive menu, including local delicacies.

Facilities: Traditional style bars; large garden area.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 9/10/1991 - Advert

“Female/Male Full time Bar Staff, experience not essential – bubbly personality is.
The BELL AND BEAR INN, Rowley Regis.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 6/7/1992

“They’re the pubs that YOU think are the best in the Midlands – and now they’re all in the running for our prestigious Midland Town and Country Pub of the Year.....”

The Evening Mail has teamed up for the contest with the Midland Counties Brewers' and Licensed Retailers' Association, to raise a toast to the very best of our region's pubs. Now it is up to the judges, who face a huge task choosing the two winners from the enormous entry. They'll be looking for service and standards of comfort demanded by today's discerning pub-goer. And they will be awarding marks for another important ingredient of a successful pub – the part it plays as a hub of social life in the community.....

BELL AND BEAR INN, Rowley Regis.”

It was one of the last eight finalists in the Evening Mail Midland Pub of the Year competition in 1992.

Sandwell Evening Mail 5/5/1994 - Advert

“Manageress/Manager for busy pub in Blackheath area. Must be prepared to work hard and have bubbly personality. Poss live-in, not suitable for children. The BELL AND BEAR, Rowley Regis.”

Colin Waring – see also BARLEY MOW, Tividale.

Martin Corcoran married Stephanie McGrath.

Stourbridge News 8/9/2009

“Here's your chance to shout about your local. The News is looking for the best pubs in Stourbridge, Halesowen and Dudley – and we want you, the regulars, to make yours an award-winner by voting in our Best Local Pub competition. It could be the friendly welcome from the landlord, traditional pub grub, sparkling barmaids who never forget your favourite drink, or maybe it's somewhere the family is always welcome. Or maybe your local goes that extra mile, throwing a surprise birthday party for you or raising money for charity. All you have to do is vote for one of the locals featured in our Pub Awards to say thank-you for all that they have given to your community....

The shortlist of pubs is Halesowen: LIGHTHOUSE, BELL & BEAR, OLD CROWN, WAGON & HORSES.”

Express & Star 28/4/2011

“Royal Wedding fever was sweeping the West Midlands today with 24 hours to go until the historic spectacle.....

There will be a party in the beer garden of the BELL AND BEAR in Gorsty Hill Road, Rowley Regis, from 1pm tomorrow.

[The wedding of Prince William to Kate Middleton.]

Halesowen News 19/12/2011

“Sandwell publicans have been given a crash course in their new responsibilities by local police. The vexed issues of assault, noise nuisance, fire safety, underage selling and temporary event notices were discussed by the publicans, police, trading standards and council officers. Sandwell police constable Jim Potts said, ‘Licensees and bar staff are more likely to become victims of violent crime because of the environmental conditions of their workplace and the consumption of alcohol by their customers. We felt that by showing licensees what support is available to them and by working together we can contribute to reducing crime and anti-social behaviour, and help to make people feel safer.’

The event was the first of its kind in Sandwell and was attended by over 50 licensees and bar staff. Stephanie Cox from the BELL AND BEAR in Rowley Regis said, ‘The day has been really informative. It was good to meet up with other licensees and partner agencies.’

Paul Archer from the CROSSWELLS in Oldbury added, ‘It was very useful to hear about the new legislation on licensing regulations.’”

It reopened on December 19th 2014, after an extensive refurbishment.

Stanley John Gardner, of the WATERFALL, was the licensee.

Express & Star 11/6/2020

“While some support the idea other pub bosses in the region have said as long as the two-metre distancing rule is still in place opening would not be viable.....

However, Karl Gardner, director of the BELL AND BEAR INN in Cradley Heath, said it would be ‘50/50’ whether he would reopen. ‘It all depends on what the breweries want to do,’ he added. ‘We’d have to get the beer in, and some people will be uncertain about coming to pubs. We’ve lost so much trade because of what’s going on, it’s been a nightmare. We have taken the time to refurbish the pub.’”

Halesowen News 1/8/2020

“A new Eat Out to Help Out postcode checker has been launched by the government that allows you to find out which business in Halesowen and the surrounding areas are taking part in the scheme.

Eat Out to Help Out officially begins on Monday, August 3. Customers will be able to get a 50 per cent discount on food or non-alcoholic drinks (up to a £10 discount per diner) at participating establishments. The scheme will run every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday until Monday, August 31. Establishments will claim a reimbursement from the government for the discount they’ve given. Participating establishments may include restaurants, cafés, bars or pubs, work and school canteens and food halls. Here are the establishments so far registered to take part in the scheme within five miles of Halesowen town centre.....

BELL AND BEAR, Gorsty Hill Road.”

Express & Star 21/2/2022

“A pub was forced to close and customers were evacuated when a large tree fell onto the building and caused extensive damage during Storm Franklin. The tree fell in the back garden of the BELL AND BEAR INN on Gorsty Hill Road, Rowley Regis, and split at around 4pm on Sunday. As well as smashing through part of the roof, the tree damaged the bedroom, the kitchen and living room, with the business forced to shut as a result. It was one of several trees to come down across the region. There is no timescale for when the BELL AND BEAR will be able to reopen with manager David Clynschaw waiting to hear back from owners Star Pubs and Bar about repairs. He said, ‘I had a phone call to say one of the trees has come down so I jumped in my car and had to come back from Surrey. It happened at about 4pm on Sunday afternoon and now there’s a big old tree in the back garden and when it came down it completely split – and landed on the roof which has caused a hell of a lot of damage and holes in the roof. I’ve got a javelin spear of wood in my bedroom, damage in the kitchen and further damage to the living room. It’s a bit of a nightmare. The pub was open at the time, we were trading. People were eating, staff were working and we had to close the pub down. We had to get people to finish off and then close. The fire brigade came out, water was leaking through and we didn’t know about electrical sparks, etc. They made it all safe and got the debris off the roof as well. Staff were panicking but thankfully nobody was hurt or anything.’

A maintenance team has visited the pub and assessed the property and has labelled it as a ‘priority’ due to the extent of the damage, but the manager is still waiting guidance on the next step. ‘We’re waiting to see what’s best to do – it could be a few days or it could be a week (before the pub can reopen), it’s a nightmare,’ said Mr Clynschaw, who has been living at the pub for the last eight years. He had been visiting family in Surrey and had just finished off a Sunday roast when he received a phone call from his partner alerting him to the damage which left him ‘massively shocked,’ despite initially thinking she was joking. ‘The damage is extensive and we’re going to need scaffolding to come up around the outside (of the pub). We’re going to need a tree surgeon too because there’s still part of the tree in the garden which we need to take down ASAP. The tree is nearly as old as the pub and the tree trunk was very very thick.’”

Stanley John Gardner – see also HADEN CROSS and WATERFALL.

[2022]

BIRD IN HAND

39, Upper High Street / Reddal Hill Road, (32, Spinners End), Four Ways, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

William Parkes
Benjamin Price
Mrs. Heming
James Hadley, ROSE AND CROWN (acquired in 1889 for £1,240) (He died 1918)
Joseph Horton, Colmore Row, Birmingham [1920]
Joseph P. Simpkins, Dennis Brewery, Brierley Hill (acquired in 1930)

LICENSEES

William Parkes [1849] – [1854]
Timothy Parkes [1858] – 1868;
Cornelius Deeley (1868 – 1873);
Mrs. Sarah Deeley (1873);
Sarah Price (1873);
Benjamin Price (1873 – 1882);
Aquila Parkes (1882 – 1889);
John Wright (1889 – []
Henry Mather [1891] – 1925);
Thomas Sidaway (1925 – 1931);
Samuel Jukes (1931);
George Willetts (1931 – 1933);
Thomas Priest (1933 – 1952);
Thomas Thomas (1952 – 1957);
Jack Cartwright (1957 – 1961);
Mrs. Mary Ann Harris (1961 – 1972);
Mrs. Ann Marie Garbett (1972)

NOTES

Four Ways [1849]

Spinners End [1861], [1896], [1911]

32, Spinners End [1881], [1891], [1904], [1908], [1911], [1912], [1916], [1921], [1924], [1932]

39, Upper High Street [1939], [1940]

William Parkes was also a chain manufacturer. [1849], [1850]

Birmingham Journal 8/6/1850

“A boy named Benjamin Knight, ten years of age, was killed by a quantity of coal falling upon him, whilst at work in a pit belonging to Messrs. Badger, at Old Hill, on Tuesday last. The inquest was held before George Hinchliffe, Esq, on the following day, at the sign of the BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, when a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Birmingham Journal 29/10/1853 - Advert

“Sale of Household Furniture, Brewing Utensils, Casks, &c, at the BIRD IN HAND, near the Four Ways, Cradley Heath, Rowley. To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Monday, the 7th day of November, 1853, upon the Premises as above.

The whole of the Household Furniture, Brewing Utensils, Hogshead, Half-hogshead, and other well-seasoned Casks; excellent Four-pull Beer Machine, with Piping, &c, complete; set of mahogany Dining Tables, capital Piano-forte, Bedsteads, Bedding, and various other Effects of the late Mr. William Parkes, of the BIRD IN HAND Public House, near the Four Ways, Cradley Heath, which will be described in catalogues, to be had from the Auctioneer, Dudley, and at the Place of Sale.

Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock precisely, at which hour the Auctioneer requests a punctual attendance, in consequence of the large number of lots to be sold.”

Birmingham Journal 19/11/1853 - Advert

“Freehold Public House, Dwelling Houses, Chain and Nail Shops, Gardens, and Premises, at Cradley Heath and Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley, and at Darby End, in the Parish of Dudley.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Monday Next, the 21st of November, at Six o'clock in the evening, at the house of Mr. Noah Fellows, the TALBOT INN, near the Five Ways, Cradley Heath, in the following lots, and subject to conditions then to be produced.

Lot 1. A newly-erected and well-situated Public House, known by the sign of the BIRD IN HAND, with the Club Room, Brew-house, Stable, Yard, Garden, and Premises belonging thereto, situate near the Four Ways, at Cradley Heath aforesaid, late in the occupation of the Proprietor, Mr. William Parkes, deceased.....”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 9/1/1858

“Timothy Parkes, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, was charged with having his house open, for the sale of liquor, at an illegal hour, on the night of the 25th ult. PC Lucas said he was on duty on the above night, and hearing a noise in defendant's house, directed his steps thither, and found four men and a quart of ale in the bar. In defence, defendant said the men had simply come to sing him a carol, and he thought there could not be much harm in presenting them with a quart of ale for their kindness. Fined 5s, with costs.”

Timothy Parkes was also a chain and trace manufacturer. [1860]

He was also a chainmaker. [1861], [1864], [1865]

1861 Census

Spinners End

[1] Timothy Parkes (37), victualler and chainmaker, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth Parkes (40), wife, born Cradley;

[3] William Parkes (9), son, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Alfred Parkes (7), son, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Aquilla Parkes (19), brother, chainmaker, born Rowley Regis;

[6] George Samders (18), son-in-law, chainmaker, born Cradley;

[7] Elizabeth Sanders (20), daughter-in-law, born Cradley;

[8] Edward Sanders (3), grandson, born Stourbridge;

[9] Elizabeth Pugh (17), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 22/6/1867 - Advert

“Foresters' Grand Demonstration, at the Leasowes, Halesowen, July 15th, 1867, by the kind permission of B. Gibbons, Esq.

Persons desirous of Tendering for the Sale of Refreshments and Confectionery at the above Demonstration, will please send in their Tenders, on or before the 26th inst, addressed to the Secretary, at Mr. Timothy Parkes's, BIRD IN HAND INN, Cradley Heath, Brierley Hill.

There will be Two Refreshment and One Confectionery Booths.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 30/12/1869

“On the afternoon of Tuesday, a number of chainmakers were drinking together at the BIRD IN HAND public house, Four Ways, Cradley Heath. Three or four of them, it appears, became inebriated, and then commenced larking, a man named Henry Coley being made the subject of their fun. His face was blackened, and afterwards a quantity of snow was pushed down his back, next the skin. He appeared to take this in good part for some time, but suddenly turned to one of his companions and asked him if he had a knife he could lend him to cut his finger nails with. A pocket-knife was given to him, and he immediately thereupon opened it, and rushed at a man named Edward Bowen, and stabbed him in the neck. Bowen shortly afterwards gave information at the police station, and was taken by Police-constable Craddock to Mr. Hodgson’s surgery. Mr. Hodgson stitched up the wound, but said he did not think there was any immediate danger to be apprehended. Coley was at large yesterday.”

[At Old Hill Police Court the Bench treated the case as one of common assault. Henry Coalbourn paid costs.]

Stourbridge Observer 7/1/1871

“Daniel Round was charged with being drunk, and refusing to quit the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, when requested on the 26th ult.

Mrs. Daley [sic], the landlady, said defendant was in her house on the above date, drunk. She requested him to leave, but he refused, and struck her.

Defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined 1s and costs; in default 14 days.”

1871 Census

Reddall Hill Road

- [1] Cornelius Deeley (40), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sarah Deeley (33), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] William Deeley (15), son, chain brightener, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Elizabeth Deeley (12), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Clara Deeley (7), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Albert Deeley (5), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Lotty Deeley (3), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Mary A. Deeley (10 months), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Betty Deeley (73), mother-in-law, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Urena Cooksey (21), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 12/8/1871

“George Hirley, chainmaker, was fined 5s and costs, for assaulting, on the 1st inst, Helena Cooksey, barmaid at the BIRD IN HAND public house, Cradley Heath.

Benjamin Hirley was fined 5s and costs, for assaulting, on the same day, Sarah Deeley, landlady of the BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath.”

Stourbridge Observer 19/8/1871

“Early on Monday morning Cradley Heath was all astir and hundreds of persons could be seen wending their way towards the Five Ways to witness the procession of Foresters, which was announced to take place that day. The weather being fine thousands of persons were present to witness the procession through the various streets. Ten o’clock was the appointed time for starting, but it was nearly half-past eleven before they got away, owing to their having to wait for some of the Courts from a distance.

The various Courts assembled at the Five Ways, and then formed themselves into order of procession. The following Courts were represented: No.3068, Hope and Anchor, QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Street, Cradley Heath; No.3595, Cable and Anchor, BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath; 4127, Good Samaritan, BEEHIVE, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath; 4196, Foresters’ Home, VINE AND RAILWAY HOTEL, Cradley Heath; 4233, Loyal Shenstone; 4340, Loyal Marlborough, COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill; 4398, Moss Rose, ROYAL OAK INN, New Town; 4546, Robin Hood’s Merry Rangers, CROWN INN, Five Ways; 4970, Lye Reformed, WINDMILL INN, Lye. Although the district of Cradley Heath and Halesowen comprises 36 Courts, only nine took part in getting up the Fete.

The procession started from the Five Ways, headed by the Cradley Heath Brass Band. The Pensnett Victoria Brass and Reed Band and the Halesowen Drum and Fife Band also took part in the procession. Each band played lively quick steps passing through Lomey Town, Five Ways, Four Ways, Reddall Hill, Old Hill, and Haden Hill, en route for Halesowen, passing through the principal streets and then to the Leasowes. The procession was three-quarters of a mile in length, and was accompanied with three magnificent banners bearing suitable mottoes of the Order, and a large number of flags, the members wearing the various badges of the Order, and accompanied by Robin Hood, Little John, Will Scarlet, Friar Tuck, Shepherds, &c, &c.

On arriving at the beautiful and classic grounds, famed as having been the seat of the poet Shenstone, the procession passed round the house of B. Gibbons, Esq, who had kindly placed the whole of the grounds at the disposal of the Committee.....

There was a number of shooting galleries, Aunt Sallys, and other things to amuse all classes. During the day a number of balloon ascents took place.....

It is estimated that between six and seven thousand persons were present, upwards of £100 being taken at the gates, and it is expected there will be a good surplus in aid of the funds of the Order and General Hospital.

We must not close without a word of praise to the Committee, who were indefatigable in carrying out the arrangements according to the programme. The refreshments were provided by Mrs. S. Cartwright of Cradley Heath, and the tea and confectionery by Mr.

J. Corns of Wolverhampton.”

County Advertiser 27/7/1872

“The members of the Hand of Providence Friendly Society, held at Mr. Benjamin Price’s, Spinners End, celebrated their second anniversary on Monday week. Brother Aquilla Parkes presided and Brother William Baker was in the vice-chair. The report showed an increase of funds, and an addition of 14 members since last anniversary.”

County Advertiser 31/5/1873

“On the 12th ult the members of Court Cable and Anchor, No.3595, A.O.F. held at the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, presented their treasurer with a testimonial in the shape of a handsome silver medal, raised entirely by voluntary subscription, as a token of the high respect in which he is held by the members. The brothers present sat down (previous to the presentation being made) to a very substantial dinner. After dinner Brother E. Jones made the presentation of the medal, and Brother Parkes returned thanks for the very handsome present.”

County Advertiser 14/6/1873

“Thomas Stevens was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, on the 3rd inst. Defendant was fined 5s and costs.”

Sarah Deeley married Benjamin Price in the 3rd quarter of 1873.

County Express 18/7/1874

“Joseph Weaver was charged by Benjamin Price, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND INN, with being disorderly and refusing to quit his house when requested to do so on the 8th inst. The wife of complainant said she would not press the case if defendant would pay the costs, and promise not to offend again. There being some hesitation on his part, the case was adjourned.”

County Express 25/7/1874

“Joseph Weaver, for being disorderly, and refusing to quit the BIRD IN HAND INN, Cradley Heath, when requested to do so on the 7th inst, was fined 10s and costs, or fourteen days.”

County Advertiser 8/7/1876 - Advert

“Excellent Freehold Well-Established Public House, and Two Retail Shops, at Spinners End, Cradley Heath. Mr. S. Leonard is instructed to Sell by Auction, at the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday, the 18th day of July, 1876, at Six for Seven o’clock in the Evening, subject to conditions, in one Lot. All that well-known Old-Licensed Freehold Public House and Extensive Premises, known as the BIRD IN HAND INN, situate fronting the main road, at Spinners End, Cradley Heath aforesaid, now occupied by Mr. Benjamin Price. The House contains Liquor Shop, Parlour, Front and Back Kitchens, Three Bed Rooms, large Club Room, and Four good Cellars. The Outbuildings comprise Brewhouse, Stable, Malt Room, small Office and Warehouse, Piggeries, and other Appurtenances. The Premises have an additional entrance from a new street leading out of New Town Lane, are advantageously situated, and having every accommodation for carrying on a large and profitable trade. Several Clubs are attached to the house, and it affords an unusual opportunity for an energetic man desirous of entering the business. Also all those Two Valuable Freehold Retail Shops and Premises adjoining and fronting the said main road, each containing Front Shop, Kitchen, Two Bed Rooms, Cellar, and Brewhouse, together with Two large Chainshops, and other Appurtenances, in the occupation of Samuel Cooper and Aquilla Parkes. For further information apply to Mr. Thomas Homer, Solicitor, Brierley Hill and Colley Gate, or the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 16/6/1877

“James Woodall and David Davis were charged at the instance of Police-constable Cooper, with being drunk and disorderly near the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, on Saturday last. The first-named was fined 5s and costs; and the latter, it being his first offence, 2s 6d and costs.”

County Express 30/6/1877

“A large meeting of chainmakers was held at the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, on Monday; Mr. Billingham in the chair. A number of speeches were delivered by chainmakers present, who stated that trade was never so bad as at present, and that their children were walking about barefooted, and they themselves were worse off than agricultural labourers. It was considered a fair week’s work for a man to make 6cwt of chain, and after paying his blowers, he only received 11s 6d to keep himself and family. Letters were read from Messrs. Tinsley and Co. and Messrs. Hartsorne and Taylor agreeing to give the men the price asked for (the 4s 6d list), and it was resolved that the men in the employ of Messrs. Hartsorne and Taylor be allowed to work on; and it was also carried unanimously, ‘That the men keep out on strike until all the masters give the 4s 6d list.’”

1881 Census

32, Spinners End, Reddall Hill Road

- [1] Benjamin Price (57), chainmaker, born Cradley Heath;
- [2] Sarah Price (43), wife, born Cradley;
- [3] Clara Deeley Price (17), wife’s daughter, born Cradley Heath;

- [4] Albert Deeley Price (15), wife's son, chainmaker, born Cradley Heath;
[5] Mary A. Deeley Price (11), wife's daughter, scholar, born Cradley Heath;
[6] Martha Price (5), daughter, scholar, born Cradley Heath;
[7] Betty Deeley (93), lodger, invalid, birth place not known;
[8] Isaac Westwood (40), lodger, invalid, born Cradley Heath:

Dudley and District News 13/8/1881

"Local Failures.

On Saturday a petition in liquidation was filed in the Dudley County Court on behalf of Benjamin Price, licensed victualler and chain manufacturer, of the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath. Liabilities estimated at £900. Mr. W. O. C. Addison is the debtor's solicitor, and Mr. Herbert Humphries has been appointed receiver."

County Advertiser 8/10/1881 - Advert

"Reddal Hill, Cradley Heath.

Highly Important and Valuable Freehold Property, situate at Reddal Hill, Cradley Heath, consisting of Noted Old-established Full-licensed Inn, capital Beerhouse, &c, &c, both transacting good Businesses.

In Liquidation. Re Benjamin Price.

Mr. Herbert Humphries (in conjunction with Mr. William Edwards) has been favoured with instructions from the Trustees, Messrs. Felix Coley and Samuel Edwards, of Cradley Heath, to Offer by Auction, at the house of Mr. Charles Yardley, the CHAINMAKERS ARMS INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday, October 11th, at Six for Seven o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions to be then read.

Lot 1. All those Two Freehold Dwelling Houses and Shops, with the usual Out-buildings and Chain Shops adjoining, adjacent to the BIRD IN HAND INN, having a frontage of 11yds 1ft to the High Street, and containing in the whole 364 square yards or thereabouts, in the occupation of Aquila Parkes and Abner Smith respectively, and producing a Rental of £31 4s per annum.

Lot 2. All that Freehold Old-Established Full Licensed and truly valuable Inn, known as the BIRD IN HAND, situate at High Street, Reddal Hill aforesaid, having a frontage of 12yds 2ft to the High Street, and containing 444 square yards or thereabouts, in the occupation of Benjamin Price, and consisting of Front Spirit Vaults, Tap and Smoke Rooms, large Club Room, 29ft 6in by 24ft; Three Chambers, Back Kitchen, Brewhouse, large detached Assembly Room, 38ft 6in by 14ft 3in; Stabling, Piggeries, Store Rooms, Cellaring, Gateway Entrance; and the excellent and valuable Plot of Building Land at the rear of the above premises, fronting to Church Street leading from Park Street to Newtown, containing 282 square yards, the whole being 726 square yards or thereabouts.

NB. The whole of the Public House Fixtures will be Sold with this Lot, inventory of which may be seen at Place of Sale....."

County Advertiser 5/11/1881 - Advert

"Cradley Heath. To be Let or Sold, with immediate possession, that Old-established, Full-Licensed House, known as the BIRD IN HAND INN, situate at Reddal Hill, surrounded by Chain and other works, and containing 726 square yards of land. The greater portion of the purchase money may remain on Mortgage. This is a rare opportunity to an enterprising man. The outbuildings are spacious and offer facilities for the introduction of any trade requiring room and a central position.

For particulars, apply to Herbert Humphries, Auctioneer, Brierley Hill; or Mr. Wm. Edwards, Auctioneer, Stourbridge."

Evening Star 25/1/1882

"On Tuesday night a well attended meeting of chainmakers was held at the BIRD IN HAND INN, Skinners End, Cradley Heath, to consider the wages question. Mr. Benjamin Billingham (chairman of the Cradley Heath and District Chainmakers' Association) presided, and spoke very hopefully of the course the agitation was taking. The trade was daily improving and there was every reason to believe that their demands would be conceded when notice for an advance was given. He reported that two of the largest firms in the trade, viz, Messrs. J. Wood Aston and Co, Cradley Heath, and Mr. Bird of Carless Green, Lye, had conceded an advance of 10 per cent on best trade chain, upon which a large number of operatives were engaged. The announcement was received with applause. At the close, a resolution in favour of giving notice for an advance of 10d per cwt on best chain, and 6d per cwt upon common chain, was unanimously carried."

County Express 4/2/1882

"The Bench allowed the following license transfers.....

BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, from the trustees of Benjamin Price to Aquila Parkes."

Aquila Parkes = Aquilla Parkes = Acquila Parkes = Aquila Parks

Dudley and District News 13/5/1882

"At the Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday, before Messrs. W. Bassano and C. Holcroft, William Ball, alias George Keel, Poplar Place, Bridge Street, West Hockley, Birmingham, pearl and stud turner, and John Johnson, 12, Eaton Street, Hockley, pearl turner, were charged with uttering and putting off counterfeit coins representing half-crowns, and one florin, at Old Hill and Cradley Heath, on the 8th inst. On the prisoner Ball was found 8s 9d and five coins, and on Johnson 29s 7½d and two coins.

Joseph Manning, QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Road, said on Monday evening last the prisoners came to his house while he was sitting at tea. Ball called for two drinks, and was served by his wife, who called him to look at the half-crown they had tendered for the drink. He looked at the coin and broke it in two. It was bad, and he sent for a police officer, and detained Ball, but Johnson would not stay, and went out because he said he had nothing to do with Ball.

Aquilla Parkes, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, said Ball came to his house on Monday afternoon about 4.30 and called for a glass of ale, tendering the base half-crown produced, he filled the glass of ale and gave him 2s 4½d back. It rang well on the counter. Ball drank the ale and went out. The next morning a police officer came and asked if he had taken any bad money, and his wife examined the money they took on Monday and picked the half-crown out, it being the only one they took that day. He identified Ball next day.

Susan Harris, wife of Thomas Harris, licensed victualler, CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, New Town, said on Monday Ball came to her house and asked for a bottle of soda water, she had none and gave him a bottle of ginger beer, he tendered her half-a-crown, she gave him 2s 4½d in change and he went out. Next day she found that the coin was bad.

Louisa Nicklin said she was servant to Priscilla Foley, who kept the BRITISH OAK, High Street. On Monday afternoon both the prisoners came to the house and Ball called for a pint of ale. She filled it and Ball gave her half-a-crown which she took to her mistress who gave her change. She was quite sure that Johnson was with Ball. Priscilla Foley said when her servant brought the half-crown and she had given her the change she went into the shop and saw the prisoners standing by the counter. Two more men were with them. When she went into the bar Ball asked for the cup to be filled, and gave her a two shilling piece, she gave him 1s 9½d in change, they did not wait to empty their cup but said they must go so as not to be caught in the rain. Ball and Johnson then left the other men and went out. The two coins she received were bad, and she gave them to the police.

Emma Johnson (14), daughter of Samuel Johnson, the HEARTY GOOD FELLOW, King Street, Old Hill, said she saw the prisoners come into the house on Monday afternoon. Ball called for a quart of ale, she supplied it and Ball gave her half-a-crown in payment. She gave the change, Ball threw the drink down and both went out. Her father wanted some change and she took it to Chances for sixpences.

Hanna Webb, barmaid at Mr. John Foley's, the SWAN INN, Old Hill, said the prisoner came into the house and Ball asked for some ale and tendered her half-a-crown, she took the coin to Mrs. Foley and gave Ball the change. Hannah Foley said Hannah Webb brought her a half-crown which she put in her pocket with the other money. The same night she gave it to a police officer. PC Litherley said he was sent for to the QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Road, on Monday and received the half-crown produced, from Mr. Manning, who said in the presence of Ball, that he had received it from him. He took Ball into custody, and he at first gave the name of George Keel, Hart Yard, Hatton Garden, London, and said it was not half-a-crown but a two shilling piece which he gave. PCs Litherley and Lawrence proved receiving the base coins produced from the witnesses.

Inspector Walters said on Monday the prisoner Ball was brought to the station and gave the name of George Keel, Hart Yard, Hatton Garden, London. He declined to give any reference, and said witness might enquire about it. He took him to Birmingham to the detective department, where he saw detective Baker, who called Keel by his right name, and said, 'How do William Ball.' He then went to Ball's address in Bridge Street, West Hockley, and on going into the house he found the prisoner Johnson lying on a screen, he then gave the name of George William Hobson, No.13, Eaton Street, Abbey Fields, Hockley. He told him he would be charged with being in company with Ball the previous day at Old Hill, and passing counterfeit coins. He replied, 'I know nothing at all about it.' He searched him and found £1 9s 7½d all in small coins. He told him he would have to go with him to Old Hill, when he became very violent, and rushed to the table to get a knife, but he put the handcuffs on him and brought him to Old Hill. He was present in the office when Ball was identified, and he might add that he went to Eaton Street, Hockley, but no such person as the prisoner Johnson was known there.

Honor Chance, wife of John Chance, 2, King Street, underground manager for Messrs. Hingley, said she changed half-a-crown for Emma Johnson on Monday afternoon. Emma came and told her that it was a bad half-crown, and took it back.

Eliza Johnson, wife of George Johnson, publican, KINGS HEAD, Elbow Street, said four men came to her house on Monday, and Ball asked for half-an-ounce of tobacco and a pipe, and gave her half-a-crown which she changed. PC Rowlands came at night, and she found the coin was a bad one.

Mr. Henn, Cradley Heath, said PC Litherley showed him three half-crowns which he examined and found to be bad. They were made principally of lead. PC Rowlands also showed him four half-crowns, and one two shilling piece which were counterfeit. The half-crowns were all from the same mould, dated 1875, and plated.

Prisoners were remanded to Stafford to appear on Wednesday."

[At the Staffordshire Quarter Sessions, William Ball (32) and John Johnson (27), both button makers, were each sentenced to twelve months, Ball pleading guilty.]

Dudley and District News 10/6/1882

"The following persons, all of Cradley Heath, were charged by Mr. John George Horder, one of her Majesty's Inspectors of Weight and Measures, with infringing the Act.....

Acquilla Parkes, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, was fined 1s and costs for having in his possession an unstamped pint measure."

Dudley and District News 22/3/1884

"Thomas Bradley and Joseph Priest were charged with being drunk on licensed premises.

Sergeant White stated that on the 15th inst, he visited the BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath. He saw the defendants there. They were very drunk. He called the landlord's attention to the state in which they were in, and he ordered them out.

PC Tytherley gave corroborative evidence.

Defendants were fined 1s and costs."

County Advertiser 30/8/1884

"William Westwood, Wagon Street, Old Hill, was fined 2s 6d and costs for being drunk and disorderly on the licensed premises of Aquila Parkes, BIRD IN HAND INN, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 14/3/1885

“Ryland Barnsley, gun-barrel maker, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk on the premises of Aquila Parkes, the BIRD IN HAND, Spinner’s End, on the 2nd inst. Police-constable Tytherley went to the house and saw the man drunk there. A fine of 1s and costs was imposed.”

County Express 2/5/1885

“Aquila Parkes, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his premises on Easter Monday last. Mr. Waldron prosecuted on behalf of the police authorities, Mr. E. Warmington defended. Police-constable Peake said he visited the house on the day named in company with Police-constable Kegan, at half-past seven in the evening. Going into the taproom they found fifteen or sixteen men, all more or less drunk, and using bad language. Witness complained to the defendant, and he replied that none of the men were drunk; they had not had drink enough yet. At half-past eight the house was again visited, and they found Stephens, one of the men who was previously there drunk, in the house still. He had an empty cup before him, and asked witness to pay for a pint for him. Witness again pointed Stephens out to the landlord, and the man was led out to the back by a man, where he was staggering about for some time.

Police-constable Kegan gave corroborative evidence.

Mr. Warmington for the defence said that Stephens had not been served with anything in the house, and had been ordered out several times by the defendant. He then called the defendant, who said he had not served Stephens with any ale on the occasion referred to. Stephens had been several times ordered off, as he was an annoyance in the house.

Benjamin Billingham, a brewer to defendant, said he had been serving ale in the house on the day named. Stephens called for no ale at all.

Defendant’s son, Thomas Parkes, was also called, and said no ale was supplied to Stephens.

Cross-examined witness said he could not say whether Stephens had drunk out of other customers’ cups.

Defendant was fined £1 and costs, and ordered to pay the prosecuting solicitor’s fee.”

County Advertiser 27/6/1885

“Arthur Tromans, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of Aquila Parkes, BIRD IN HAND INN, on the 16th inst. Prosecutor said that on the night in question the defendant came into his house and asked for beer. When refused the defendant used bad language, and had to be put out. Defendant was fined 5s, including costs.”

County Advertiser 29/8/1885

“On Wednesday the annual brewster sessions for the Petty Sessional Division of Rowley Regis, were held at the Court House, Old Hill.....

The following was the black list Licensed victuallers.....

Aquila Parkes, BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, permitting drunkenness, 22nd April, 1885, 20s and costs.....

The Bench said they would not now renew the licenses of those who had been convicted, but would reserve them for consideration till the adjourned licensing day.”

County Express 26/9/1885

“On Monday a large meeting of small chainmakers on strike was held at the BIRD IN HAND, Four Ways, Cradley Heath. Mr. Ed. Fellowes presided, and stated that he was convinced that if the men were unanimous in coming out on strike the struggle would be of short duration. Mr. John Cooper, the president of the Chainmakers’ Association, stated that there was also a good demand for chains, and there was no earthly reason why the work should be executed practically for nothing for the sake of a section of the employers, whose sole aim appeared to him to be cut down prices. He hoped the men would be firm, and then the victory would be theirs. Another speaker stated that a skilled workman, after paying his expenses, could not at present prices earn more than 9s a week. It was decided to continue the strike until the 4s list of prices is conceded.”

County Express 3/10/1885

“This being the adjourned licensing day the magistrates granted the renewal of licenses to the following persons, whose names had appeared on the black list.....

Aquila Parkes, BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 29/9/1888

“Aquila Parks, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting gambling on his licensed premises, on the 18th inst. Mr. Travis defended.

Police-constable Davies stated that he went to the defendant’s house on the day in question, and saw four men gambling by throwing at corks, the company paying for the beer. When the game had ended, a man named Tom, who was the winner, called for a quart of ale, and the loser, whose name was Aston, said, ‘Put it down to me.’

Mr. Travis pleaded guilty to the offence, and said that the defendant did not know it was gambling to allow men to play for beer. Defendant, who had previously convicted, was fined £1 and £1 11s 10d costs.”

Dudley Mercury 16/3/1889 - Advert

“Staffordshire. Spinners End, Cradley Heath. Valuable Old-Licensed Freehold Public House and other Property.

Mr. H. King is instructed by the Trustees of the late Mrs. Heming, deceased, to Sell by Auction, on Tuesday, March 19th, 1889, at the BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, at Six o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions of Sale. All that Freehold, Full-Licensed Public House, known as the BIRD IN HAND, situate fronting High Street, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, with Three Chain Shops and Appurtenances; also the Two Front Shops and Dwelling Houses adjoining, the whole in the occupation of Mr. Aquila Parkes and Mr. Abner Smith, producing a total rental of £71 per annum. The Property contains an area of 1,090 square yards, and extends to St. Luke Street, to which it also has a frontage. The Public House contains large Front Spirit Vaults, Tap and Smoke Rooms, Three Bed Rooms, large Club Room, Brewhouse, Four Cellars, also Stabling, with large warehouse over, and is in an excellent situation for business purposes. For further particulars, apply to Mr. Chas. E. Collis, Solicitor, Stourbridge; to Messrs. Mills and Curry, Solicitors, 20, Bucklersbury, London; or to the Auctioneer, Stourbridge."

County Express 23/3/1889

"Mr. H. King, Stourbridge, offered for sale by auction, the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, on Tuesday evening. The property was ultimately knocked down to Mr. Jas. Hadley, for £1,240. Mr. Chas. W. Collis was solicitor to the vendor."

Dudley Mercury 20/4/1889

"Inkerman Rose, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the 19th January. Police-constable Jewson said he saw the defendant drunk in the BIRD IN HAND INN, Cradley Heath. He drank the customers' beer, broke several jugs, and threatened to break the windows. Defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs."

Dudley Mercury 31/8/1889

"The annual licensing session was held on Wednesday.....

The Black List contained the names of.....

Aquila Parkes, BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, for permitting gambling fined 20s and costs, and for permitting drunkenness 20s and costs.....

None of these licenses were renewed."

Dudley Mercury 28/9/1889

"Adjourned Licensing Session. These sessions were held at Old Hill, on Wednesday. At the annual licensing sessions the magistrates decided to refuse to the licenses of those publicans who had been convicted during the past year, and at Wednesday's meeting the persons referred to applied for their renewals.....

Aquila Parkes, of the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, stated that his business had been disposed of, and that he would leave the premises in December.

Mr. John Wright applied for the renewal of the license, and informed the magistrates that the house had been purchased, and that Parkes would leave it shortly. The magistrates decided to renew the license."

Henry Mather issued tokens from here.

1891 Census

32, Spinners End – BIRD IN HAND INN

- [1] Henry Mather (38), licensed victualler, born Dudley;
- [2] Mary Mather (29), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Edith S. Mather (5), daughter, born Dudley;
- [4] Frederick L. H. Mather (2), son, born Dudley;
- [5] Emily Cooper (25), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 14/11/1891

"At the Rowley Police Court, on Wednesday, John Jones (36) and Thomas Pell (22), chimney sweeps, of Birmingham, were charged with stealing half a sovereign, the property of Mrs. Frederick Stanton, fishmonger, Cradley Heath. It appeared that complainant had engaged defendants to sweep a chimney, and about 6.20am, on the 16th inst, the servant came to complainant's bed room, and asked for some money to pay the sweeps. It was dark and complainant took out of her purse a sixpence as she thought, but some time afterwards discovered that instead of giving a sixpence she had given a half sovereign by mistake. The men had then gone away, but afterwards returned for the soot. When complainant asked for the 9s 6d change out of the half sovereign Jones replied, 'I have not had a half sovereign,' and pulled out of his pocket a handful of silver, which included a five shilling piece, that he said he had had for two or three months. Pell also said he had not had the half-sovereign. On the night previous she had in her purse only one half sovereign, which was slightly worn, and similar to the one produced. Sarah Homer, the servant girl, after receiving the coin from her mistress did not examine it but gave it to the men. The defendants went away, and called at the house of Henry Mather, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, shortly before seven o'clock am, and were supplied with 'two two's' of whiskey. Jones tendered half-a-sovereign in payment, and witness changed it. Mather gave him 9s 8d change, amongst it being a five shilling piece. Jones picked up the money, and defendant hurried away as soon as they got the change. Police-sergeant Hayward went to defendant's lodgings at Cradley Heath on Friday last. They denied having received the half-sovereign. Jones said he had not half-a-sovereign, and Pell said, 'I should like the chance to handle one.' In further conversation Jones said it was only sixpence that the girl gave him, and Pell said that was so. When the officer said he should charge them with stealing, Jones said, 'You can't call it stealing when a person gives you half a 'nicker' in mistake.' Pell said that if they had had the money they should have given it back. Hayward reminded them of having changed half-a-sovereign that morning, and Pell replied, 'When I saw the change on the counter I thought it was the bloke at the boozer we had done down,' and Jones said, 'So did I.' Afterwards Jones remarked, 'It is no use denying it. We had the half-sovereign. It was a great temptation, and I don't think a policeman would have given it back.' (Laughter.) Pell added, 'If we had given the money back to the woman when we went for the soot, we should not have got into this.'

Inspector Bishop said Pell had been convicted nine times previously, and Jones seven times. Pell had also had two terms of supervision.

The Bench committed defendants to take their trial at the adjourned Sessions."

[John Jones and Thomas Pell each received two months' imprisonment.]

County Advertiser 2/9/1893

"Yesterday morning, Mr. Edwin Hooper (district coroner) held an inquest at the BIRD IN HAND INN, Cradley heath, touching the death of Alice Baker (19), a domestic servant, who was believed to have died from poisoning.

The first witness was Edward Baker, the father of the deceased, who said that he resided at Parkes Street, Brierley Hill. the deceased had been a domestic servant at the BIRD IN HAND INN about one month. She had previously held situations at Stourbridge and Kinver. He had not seen the deceased for two months. She left home about two years ago, in consequence of his marrying a second wife. The deceased was very passionate, and at times very sulky. From what he had heard, the deceased was happy in her situation. He had heard that she had a sweetheart at Stourbridge. He could not say why deceased would not speak to him if she met him in the street. She had, however, said she would sooner die than humble herself to her father.

She was annoyed at your getting married a second time, I suppose? – Witness: That is so.

Mary Mather, the wife of Henry Mather, licensed victualler, said the deceased had been in her employ five weeks. She had always been attentive to her work, and was of a lively disposition. She was not aware that the deceased had a sweetheart. There had not one come to the house whilst she had been there. On Tuesday afternoon, at about four o'clock, she found the deceased lying across her bed. She could smell carbolic acid, and on the table was a glass which had contained carbolic acid. Medical aid was quickly obtained, but it was of no avail, death taking pace at half-past six o'clock. Dr. Keay, upon seeing her said it was impossible to save her.

The Coroner: Where did she get the carbolic acid from? – Witness: From a shelf in the children's bed room.

The Coroner: That is not a very safe place. You ought not to have had poison in the children's bed room. What did you use the carbolic acid for? – Witness: For disinfecting the drains.

In reply to further questions, the witness said deceased appeared to be strange in her manner on the day she was found dead. She had said that she was not on friendly terms with her father.

Joseph Barnsley, jun., butcher, said he saw the deceased about four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon in the bar. Deceased said to him, 'You are a butcher. Which is the easiest way to kill yourself – by drowning or poisoning?' Witness replied, 'Eating and drinking until you burst.' (Laughter.) She said, 'I know a better remedy – carbolic acid' and witness replied, 'That is best left alone.' An hour later he heard that the deceased had poisoned herself.

Mr. Mather said that on Tuesday the deceased was frequently joking, and was full of fun.

The Coroner having summed up, the Jury returned a verdict that the deceased committed Suicide, but there was no evidence to show the state of her mind at the time she took the poison."

County Express 9/10/1897

"The second annual parade of Foresters in the Cradley, Cradley Heath, Quarry Bank, and Dudley Wood districts, for the benefit of the home at Clent, took place on Sunday afternoon, with every element of success attending it – the day was fine, the crowd was large, and the collections were very satisfactory. A pleasing feature about the parade was the number of members who turned out, and the number of courts. The following courts were represented.....

Cable and Anchor, BIRD IN HAND INN, Cradley Heath."

1901 Census

Spinners End – BIRD IN HAND

[1] Henry Mather (47), licensed victualler, born Dudley;

[2] Mary Mather (39), wife, born Dudley;

[3] Edith S. Mather (15), daughter, teacher, elementary school, born Dudley;

[4] Frederick H. Mather (12), son, scholar, born Dudley;

[5] Florence Davies (15), domestic servant, born Handsworth:

County Advertiser 5/11/1904

"On Saturday evening last the members of the sick and draw club held at the house of Henry Mather, BIRD IN HAND INN, Cradley Heath, dined together. Upwards of thirty members sat down to the capital repast provided by the host, after which Mr. W. King presided, and an excellent programme was carried through by Messrs. W. King, S. Taylor, A. Whittle, W. Shaw, S. Danks, H. Homer, and W. Kendrick. A vote of thanks to the host and hostess brought a pleasant evening to a close. Mr. S. Danks accompanied."

County Express 12/9/1908

"Friendly Societies' Parade. On Wednesday evening the committee of the above met at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Mr. W. Coley presiding over a large attendance. The following was a complete list of those boxes which contained amounts of 1s and upwards.....

Mr. H. Mather, BIRD IN HAND, 6s.”

Tipton Herald 13/2/1909

“The employees of Lloyds Testing Co, Cradley Heath, held their annual dinner at the BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, Cradley Heath. After doing justice to a good repast, which was catered for in an admirable manner by the Host and Hostess, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mathers, the remainder of the evening was spent in harmony.....”

County Express 21/1/1911 - Advert

“On Monday Next. Meredith Street, Cradley Heath. Sale Valuable of Freehold Properties.

E. O. Nightingale has received instructions to Sell by Auction, at the House of Mr. H. Mather, the BIRD IN HAND INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, on Monday, the 23rd day of January, 1911, at 7 o'clock in the Evening.....”

1911 Census

32, Spinners End

[1] Henry Mather (57), licensed victualler, born Dudley;

[2] Mary Mather (49), wife, married 26 years, assisting in business, born Dudley;

[3] Edith Sarah Mather (25), daughter, school teacher, born Dudley;

[4] Frederick Harry Mather (22), son, clerk, born Dudley;

[5] Maud Phipps (25), domestic servant, born Tipton:

Birmingham Daily Gazette 15/7/1929

“Gazette Insurance. Payments of Benefits for Minor Accidents.....

Mr. Thomas Sidaway, BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, Cradley Heath. Accident to reader's child.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 14/9/1929 - Advert

“By Order of Messrs. Atkinsons Brewery Limited and Messrs. Peter Walker & Co. Limited.

In The Black Country Industrial Area, and Embracing Properties in Staffordshire and Worcestershire.

Important Sale In Separate Lots, of 45 Freehold Licensed Houses, some with adjoining properties, and including 36 Fully-licensed Houses, 8 On-Beer Houses and 1 Off-License, situate in.....

Old Hill and Cradley.....

BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End.....

Boswell & Tomlins, FAI, in conjunction with William Fowler, Bewlay & Co., Will submit the above for Sale by Public Auction, in 45 Lots (subject to Conditions of Sale), at the Grand Hotel, Birmingham, on Monday, October 14, 1929, Commencing at 3.30 pm Promptly.

Printed particulars may be obtained from the Solicitors, Messrs. Redfern and Co., 25, Colmore Row, Birmingham; or from the Auctioneers, Messrs. Boswell and Tomlins, FIA, 88 and 89, Darlington Street, Wolverhampton (Tel. No.1116 (two lines), Telegrams ‘Auctions’), and Messrs. William Fowler, Bewlay and Co., 59, Temple Row, Birmingham (Tel. Midland 6120).”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 15/10/1929

“An important sale of freehold licensed premises in the Black Country was held at the Grand Hotel, Birmingham, yesterday, when Messrs. Boswell and Tomlins, Wolverhampton, and Messrs. William Fowler, Bewlay and and Co., Birmingham, offered 45 lots, the vendors of which were Messrs. Atkinsons Brewery Ltd, and Messrs. Peter Walker and Co. Ltd.

Of the 45 lots which were situate at West Bromwich, Tipton, Dudley, Brierley Hill, Old Hill, and Stourbridge, 32 were sold at the sale, and these realised over £80,000.....

BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, was sold for £2,600.”

1939 Register

39, Upper High Street

[1] Thomas Priest, date of birth 29/8/1894, publican, married;

[3] May Priest, dob 21/6/1893, (unpaid) house duties, married;

Jack Cartwright was married to Nancy.

He died in 1985.

See also WHITE HORSE, Cradley.

Nancy Cartwright died in 1987.

Mary Harris was married to Harry.

Ann Marie Garbett (nee Harris) was the daughter of Harry and Mary Harris.

She was born in October 1943 at Spring Meadow, Old Hill.

She married John Garbett.

Tipton Herald 22/9/1956

“Cradley Heath Old Age Pensioners Christmas Party Fund will be richer on October 3rd by £55. The money, which will be presented at the SWAN INN, Cradley Heath, is the net result of the newly-formed Detheridge darts competition. All told, 34 teams from Cradley Heath and its neighbouring districts took part in the competition which was eventually won in front of a 300 crowd by the BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath, who beat the ANCHOR ‘B’ team, also of Cradley Heath. Secretary C. Burtlett tells me next year’s competition will commence some time in March and is expected to attract an even greater number of entries.”

Closed

It was demolished in 1973 after being Compulsory Purchased.

BIRD IN HAND

Gorsty Hill, OLD HILL

OWNERS

LICENSEES

John Child [1825]

NOTES

Aris’s Birmingham Gazette 29/8/1825 - Advert

“Freehold Building Land, at Gosty Hill, in the Parishes of Rowley Regis and Hales Owen.

To be Sold by Auction, by Jesse Wright, at the dwelling house of John Child, the BIRD IN HAND INN, at Gosty Hill, in the parish of Hales Owen, in the county of Salop, on Thursday the 8th day of September, 1825, precisely at three o’clock in the afternoon, and subject to such conditions as will then be produced.

Lot 1. All that Dwelling House and Premises now occupied by John Child, known by the sign of the BIRD IN HAND, consisting of three parlours, a large kitchen, excellent cellaring, brewhouse, stable, cowhouse, large garden, pleasantly situated by the side of the turnpike road leading from Hales Owen to Dudley and Rowley Regis.....

The above Public House and the Garden attached to it are situated in the county of Salop, the other lots are in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford. The premises are pleasantly situated and well supplied with water, and the land contains an excellent mine of clay.

Mr. John Child, the present tenant, will shew the same, and for further particulars apply at the office of Messrs. Bourne and Sons, or to the Auctioneer, in Dudley.”

BLUE BALL

2, Peartree Lane (2, Pear Tree Street), (Pear Street), (Buck Street) / Petford Street, (Lawrence Lane), OLD HILL

OWNERS

William Foley, brewer, Old Hill [1898]

Albert E. Sidaway

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd. [1938], [1952]

Avebury Taverns [2001]

LICENSEES

Joseph Willetts [1857] – [1862]

Benjamin Willetts [1864] – 1868;

John Henry Stafford (1868 – [1874])

James Willetts [1881] – 1884;

John Henry Stafford (1884);

James Willetts (1884 – [])

William Foley [1891]
Mrs. Mary Ann Foley [1891] – [1896]
James Price (1897 – []
David Charles Price [1898] – [1901]
Mrs. Louisa Ellen Price (1903)
Frederick Stanton [] – 1903);
Mrs. Mary Jane Weston (1903 – 1904);
Frederick ‘Fred’ Weston (1904 – [1912]
William Foley [1908] – [1912]
Clarence William Dingley [1916]
Henry Dingley [1919] – 1920);
Frederick Joseph Foley (1920 – 1922);
Hannah Williams (1922 – 1923);
Robert William Botfield (1923 – 1925);
Joseph Nock (1925 – 1931);
George Thomas Owen (1931 – 1941);
Mrs. Mildred Lucy Owen (1941 – 1946);
George Thomas Owen (1946 – 1948);
Harold Noah Homer (1948 – 1962);
George William Cresswell (1962 – 1965);
Geoffrey Harry Arthur Snape (1965 – 1966);
Barry Edward Blizard (1966 – []
George Brown []
Trevor Henry Smith [1983] – [1985]
David and Kathryn Jackson [2000] – [2001]
Janet Allbut [2002] – [2004]

NOTES

Buck Street
Lawrence Lane [1862], [1865]
2, Pear Tree Street [1881], [1891]
2, Peartree Lane [1908], [1912], [1924]

BALL [1873]

It is sometimes mis-spelt as the BLUE BOAR or the BLUE BELL.

County Advertiser 18/4/1857

“An inquest was held on the 4th inst, at the BLUE BELL [sic] INN, kept by Joseph Willetts, on the body of John Green, a child aged one year and four months, who met with his death under rather painful circumstances. On the afternoon of the 30th ult, the mother of the deceased was sitting at tea with him on her lap, when, by some means or other, she upset a cup filled with hot tea, which falling over him scalded him to that degree that death ensued two days afterwards. Verdict, Accidental Death.”

Birmingham Daily Post 22/10/1858

“On Tuesday last an inquest was held before G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, at Mr. J. Willett’s, the BLUE BELL [sic] INN, on the body of James Taylor, a miner, 28 years of age. It appears that the deceased was on the preceding Wednesday at work in one of the ironstone pits belonging to the British Iron Company at Netherton. He was engaged in holing stone, when suddenly a mass, nearly a ton in weight, detached itself from the roof, and falling upon poor Taylor, it required the force of three or four men to extract him from his situation. He was taken home at once, when medical aid being procured, it was found that he was dreadfully crushed and injured on his back and head, and from the effects of such injuries he died on the following Saturday. The place where the fall took place was considered safe, and it was the duty of deceased himself to see that it was so, there being plenty of timber for propping in the pit. When the place was tried it appeared ‘hard,’ but Taylor had incautiously been moving some loose stuff near, and thus caused the mass of stone to fall as above. The Jury, after hearing the remarks of the Coroner on the whole case, returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 23/1/1861

“An inquest was held on Thursday afternoon, at the BLUE BALL, Peartree Lane, Old Hill, before Mr. Hooper, coroner, on the body of Robert Rush, 35, who was killed at the colliery of Messrs. Skidmore and Waldron, on Tuesday. Mr. Baker, the Government Inspector of Mines, was present. It appeared that the deceased was at work at a quarter to nine o’clock, when he removed a prop and placed it near him, resting the lower end, which was sharp, on a heap of slack, and neglecting to put a board under it to prevent its sinking into the heap. The prop, in consequence of the omission, was forced into the slack, and the roof being unsupported gave way. A large mass of coal and rubbish immediately fell on the deceased, and crushed him in a fearful manner, killing him instantaneously. The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death. Deceased has left a widow and five small children.”

1861 Census

Peartree Street – BLUE BALL

- [1] Joseph Willetts (70), publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Elizabeth Willetts (67), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Mary Willetts (55), daughter-in-law, born Shenstone, Staffordshire;
- [4] Prudence Willetts (17), grand-daughter, dressmaker, born Rowley Regis:

Benjamin Willetts = Benjamin Willets

County Advertiser 9/9/1865

“Keturah Tromans and Mary Ann Willets were charged with assaulting Hannah Detheridge on the previous Monday week. The first-named defendant is a servant at the BLUE BALL public house, Lawrence Lane, and the last-named is the wife of Benjamin Willets, the landlord of the BLUE BALL. The evidence of the complainant was to the effect that as she was passing the house the defendants came out and assaulted her. Tromans ‘beat her all into a mummy.’ The reason that Mrs. Willets assaulted her was that she had advanced her (complainant) 1s on her wedding ring, and would not now give it up, though she had offered her the 1s. Tromans, in defence, alleged that on the Sunday before the assault the complainant called her bad names, but it being Sunday she took no notice of the matter, and allowed it to stand over till Monday, when she did beat the complainant. Tromans was fined 1s and costs. Willets was discharged, as an action for the recovery of the ring had been entered in the County Court.”

County Advertiser 21/10/1865 - Death

“On the 10th inst, aged 5 years, Elisha, the beloved child of Mr. Willetts, BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill; deeply regretted.”

Stourbridge Observer 8/8/1868

“Samuel Nock was charged by John Stafford with assaulting him on the 25th ult. From the evidence of the complainant it appeared that he was landlord of the BLUE BALL, Old Hill. Defendant was there, and came behind him and struck him a blow on the neck while he was talking to another man. Did not give the defendant any provocation. It was a lodge night. The Bench considered the case proved, and fined the defendant 2s 6d and costs. There was a charge against the defendant of refusing to leave the BLUE BALL when requested. This case was withdrawn on the payment of costs.”

County Advertiser 8/8/1868

“Mr. E. Hooper, Coroner, held an inquest on Tuesday, at the BLUE BALL public house, Old Hill, on the body of a little girl named Alice Jane Hackett, aged about seven years. On the previous Friday the deceased was, with a number of other children, roasting potatoes on the ‘mount’ of the Brettell Pit. By some means her clothes caught fire, on perceiving which she ran in the direction of home. There was a strong breeze at the time, and the consequence was that the flames spread with rapidity. Deceased was so severely injured that death took place on Sunday. Mr. Hodgson, surgeon, attended the deceased. The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 27/11/1869

“On Monday an inquiry was held at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, on the body of Harry Wilshaw, a boy four years of age. On the morning of the 26th of October the mother of deceased left him in bed. Shortly afterwards she heard screams, and on rushing upstairs found him in flames. There had been a box of matches left in the room, and while deceased was playing with these something caused them to ignite. Dr. Malins was sent for, but despite medical aid the poor lad expired about three weeks after the accident. Verdict, Accidental Death.”

1871 Census

Peartree Street – BLUE BALL

- [1] John H. Stafford (29), licensed victualler, born Worcestershire;
- [2] Prudence Stafford (27), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] James H. Stafford (5), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] John J. Stafford (7), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mary Ann Taylor (24), domestic servant, born Worcestershire:

County Advertiser 17/6/1871 - Advert

“HARE AND HOUNDS INN, Careless Green, near Wassell Green.

The Proprietor, Mr. G. Newnham, begs to announce that he intends to hold a Grand Gala, Pic-Nic, and Fete, on the Beautiful Grounds, adjoining the above Inn, on Monday, June, 19th, 1871, and has secured the services of the Cradley Heath Brass Band! To perform a choice selection of Vocal and Instrumental Music at intervals, under the leadership of Mr. W. Bennett.

Myers Barnett, the splendid Serio-Comic Singer, from the London Music Hall, will appear.

The following amusements will take place: Dancing on the Green, Foot Racing, Foot-balling, Climbing the Pine Pole, and all the Old English Sports.

Balloon Ascents at intervals; and at Nine o'clock a Monster Balloon will ascend, surrounded with a Blaze of Fireworks and Coloured Fires, by a celebrated Artiste.

A large tent will be erected on the Grounds, and refreshments of the best quality will be provided for the occasion. The Grounds will be open at Two o'clock.

Tickets 4d each, if purchased before the day; at Gate 6d each.

Tickets may be had at the above Inn, and of Messrs. W. Rhodes, RAILWAY INN, Lye; W. Wallins, HOLLY BUSH INN, Lye; W. Westwood, WAGGON AND HORSES INN, Cradley Forge; S. Cartwright, VINE AND RAILWAY INN, Cradley Heath; H. Heaton, FIVE WAYS, Cradley Heath; John Stafford, BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill; and any Member of the Band."

County Advertiser 14/10/1871

"John Stafford, landlord of the BLUE BALL, Old Hill, was charged with selling a quantity of rum on the 8th inst, during prohibited hours. Police-constable Griffin deposed that he saw the defendant's servant serve a little girl with three pennyworth of rum, about half-past eight on the previous Sunday morning. The defendant admitted that his servant had sold the rum, but affirmed that she had done so without his knowledge. He further stated that the little girl told his servant that the spirits were for a person who was very ill. Sergeant Powner, in answer to the Bench, said that the defendant had kept the house about five years in an orderly manner. The defendant was ordered to pay costs."

County Advertiser 13/7/1872

"The annual dinner in connection with the United Brotherly Order of Oddfellows, numbering 150, took place at the house of Mr. John Stafford, BLUE BALL, Old Hill, on Monday. The members started in their full regalia and silk scarves, headed by the Cradley Heath Brass Band, to the house of their medical and honorary brother, Mr. Kerr, where they were supplied with ale. They then proceeded to the Wesleyan Chapel, where a sermon was preached by the Rev. T. Dodd, of Dudley. After the service the brothers, accompanied by the rev. gentleman and some friends, marched to the Lodge, and dined in the usual good English style. After dinner, the accounts, &c, were examined, and reported to be in a satisfactory condition. Mr. Kerr, in commenting upon the accounts and the report, said that he was highly gratified to find the Lodge in such a flourishing condition. He believed that it was one of the strongest and most successful lodges he knew of, and hoped it would continue to prosper in the manner it had for many years. Votes of thanks were given to the host and hostess, Mr. Kerr, Mr. D. Priest (secretary), Mr. J. Tromans, and also the musicians. A pleasant evening was spent."

County Advertiser 16/5/1874 - Advert

"Wanted, a Servant to undertake all work.

Apply, J. Henry Stafford, BLUE BALL INN, Pear Tree Street, Old Hill."

Dudley Herald 1/4/1876

"Thomas Priest, secretary of the Miners' Association Lodge held at the BLUE BALL, Peartree Street, Old Hill, appeared on remand, charged with having on diverse days between the 14th March 1874 and the 13th August 1875 misapplied various sums of money, amounting to £6 7s, with intent to defraud the trustees. Mr. Stokes appeared to prosecute, and Mr. Clulow defended. Mr. Stokes said that by the Act of Parliament under which he was proceeding there were two courses open to him – to indict the defendant and get a committal to the Sessions, or to apply for summary conviction, when the defendant was liable to a penalty of £20, and to be ordered to refund the money, and he (Mr. Stokes) proposed to take the latter course.

After hearing the evidence on both sides, the Bench fined defendant £5 and costs, and ordered him to refund the £6 7s, in default two months' imprisonment.

Defendant applied for time to pay the money, but the Bench refused the application."

County Advertiser 21/7/1877

"Samuel Morris was charged with having been disorderly at the BLUE BALL INN, Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, and with having refused to quit the house when ordered to do so by the landlord. He was fined 2s 6d and costs."

County Advertiser 19/7/1879

"The annual meeting of the United Brotherly Order of Odd Fellows was held on Monday last, at the BLUE BALL INN, Pear Tree Street, when upwards of 140 sat down to dinner. The funds of the society were stated to be in a very satisfactory condition. The usual toasts were given, and the evening was spent convivially."

James Willetts = Samuel Willetts

1881 Census

2, Pear Tree Street – BLUE BALL INN

[1] James Willetts (38), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth Willetts (32), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Elisha Willetts (12), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Benjamin Willetts (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Walter Willetts (8), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Mary Willetts (6), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 17/9/1881

“Samuel Willets, BLUE BALL INN, Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, was fined 1s and costs for allowing a horse to stray in Lawrence Lane.”

County Express 4/2/1882

“James Willets, landlord of the BLUE BALL INN, Peartree Street, Old Hill, was charged with allowing a horse to be worked whilst in an unfit state, and was fined 5s and costs. James Bayliss was fined 5s including costs for working the horse.”

Dudley and District News 8/12/1883

“Alleged Embezzlement.

This was a summons brought by James Willets, landlord of the BLUE BALL INN, Peartree Street, Old Hill, against John Williams, of Reddal Hill, Old Hill, charging him ‘that he, being a member of a certain co-partnership, did steal or embezzle certain money, to wit £3 10s 2d belonging to such co-partnership.’

Mr. J. Wright, who appeared for the prosecution, stated that for some time the parties had been partners, and there was simply a dispute of affairs between them. He felt that the Bench would not commit the defendant, and asked permission to withdraw the summons.

Mr. T. Cooksey, on behalf of the defendant, said he believed it was entirely a matter of dispute as to the accounts of the parties, and was a matter for a civil court.

The summons was allowed to be withdrawn.”

Dudley and District News 5/1/1884

“James Willets, landlord of the BLUE BALL INN, Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, was summoned for being drunk on his licensed premises. On the night of the 25th ult, Inspector Willets visited the premises and found defendant drunk in the tap-room. Defendant, through Mr. Wright, pleaded guilty, and was fined 10s and costs.”

Dudley and District News 29/3/1884

“James Willets, landlord of the BLUE BALL INN, Peartree Street, Old Hill, was fined 20s and costs, for being drunk and disorderly on his own licensed premises, on the evening of the 17th inst. Defendant said he had given way to drink in consequence of his wife refusing to let him have any at home.”

County Advertiser 30/8/1884

“The annual brewster sessions for the Parish of Rowley Regis were held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

Inspector Walters presented the black list.....

Mr. J. Wright applied for an interim authority from James Willets, BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, who had been twice convicted, to John Henry Stafford. The application was granted.”

County Advertiser 27/9/1884

“The adjourned licensing sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division was held at Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday.....

The following persons, whose names appeared on the black list, and whose licenses were held over from the annual licensing session, now had their licenses renewed. James Willets, BLUE BALL, Enoch Westwood, OLD ENGINE, Sarah Morris, PIG AND WHISTLE, Old Hill, Philip Mansell, BULLS HEAD, Windmill End, and Elisha Waring, SEVEN STARS, Tividale.”

Dudley Mercury 27/7/1889

“A striking instance of the fidelity of a dog has been afforded this week in connection with a sad railway fatality at Cradley Heath. The body of a young man named Patrick White (18), a farmer, residing at Codsall, near Wolverhampton, was found on Sunday, on the Great Western Railway, midway between Old Hill and Cradley Heath. On Saturday night the deceased visited Old Hill, and after transacting business, he called at a public house. He left late at night, accompanied by a terrier dog. On Sunday morning some men were attracted to the railway by the barking of a dog, and upon getting up a steep embankment, they were horrified to find White’s mangled body. The face was reduced to a pulp, and some of the limbs were severed from the body. It is supposed that the deceased was knocked down by a train early on Sunday morning. It is stated that the dog followed the remains from where they were found to his late home, and has several times since been to the scene to the accident.

An inquest was held on Monday, at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath, by Mr. Topham (deputy coroner) relative to the fatality. Evidence was given that deceased visited Old Hill on Saturday night and called at the BLUE BALL INN, when he intimated his intention of walking home along the railway. Nothing further was heard of him until his body was found in the four-foot. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Birmingham Daily Post 21/11/1890

“Last night a well-attended meeting of miners was held at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill. Mr. B. Winwood (agent), in the course of a long address, remarked that there were various opinions as to how the eight-hours working day should be secured for miners. Some thought it should be granted to them by Act of Parliament. He did not care much as to how it was obtained, but he meant to do this utmost to accomplish it, because he knew it was wanted by the men. He observed that Mr. Hickman had been speaking on the eight-hours question, and said that the miners did not want to work more than seven hours a day. (Hisses.) He (the speaker) asserted without fear of contradiction, that the miners in the Black Country at the present time worked nearer nine than eight hours per day. There were so many things to be done before the men commenced their day's work, and after they had finished their ordinary task, that the men were employed on an average about nine hours per day. The federation were determined to secure eight-hours working-day from bank to bank. Mr. Hickman's estimate that if the Eight-hours Bill was passed it would mean an increase of 2s per ton upon the cost of getting the coal he considered erroneous and misleading. But, cost what it might, they were determined to have the eight-hours day, either by Act of Parliament or a national strike. (Applause.) If they failed to obtain it at the proposed conference of the employers, then the whole of the miners in the country would be called out on strike. (Applause.) A resolution was passed unanimously approving of the course taken by the Bristol conference with regard to the men's representatives meeting the employers to discuss the eight-hours proposal, and to obtain the views of Parliament on the question, and agreeing to be represented at such conference when it is held."

County Express 7/2/1891

"William Southall, Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, was charged with being disorderly on the premises of Mary Ann Foley, the BLUE BALL, Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, and was fined 2s 6d and costs."

1891 Census

2, Pear Tree Street

- [1] William Foley (25), licensed brewer, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Mary A. Foley (28), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] John B. Foley (5), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Foley (4), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Edith A. Foley (2), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Priscilla Phipps (17), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;

Birmingham Daily Post 9/7/1891

"At the Old Hill Police Court, yesterday, Mary Ann Foley, landlady of the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, was summoned for permitting betting on her licensed premises on Sunday, 28th June. Mr. Waldron prosecuted, and Mr. Ward defended. The case for the prosecution was that on Sunday, 28th June, the defendant's house was crowded with people, and they were betting on a dog-race which was to take place on the following day. The people in the various rooms were making bets on the dog-race, and Mr. and Mrs. Foley were going in and out, and could have heard the betting going on. A man named Bannister made a bet with another man named Jeavons. Nock, the owner of one of the dogs, Judy, was serving beer. Mr. Ward submitted that the landlady did not know that betting was going on in her house, and if that was the case there could be no conviction. Mr. Bassano (chairman) remarked that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction against the landlady, and the case would be dismissed."

County Express 29/8/1891

"The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis division of Staffordshire were held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

The application on behalf of Mary Ann Foley, of the BLUE BALL INN, Pear Tree Street, was made by Mr. S. Ward (Dudley). Inspector Bishop said the applicant was summoned on the 8th of July under the Betting House Act, the case being dismissed. Mr. Ward said that the case having being dismissed, he did not think the police could go behind the dismissal. Inspector Bishop said he had been directed to serve Mrs. Foley with an objection notice, and the police objected also to the premises on account of their not being structurally adapted for licensed premises. He had a letter from Mr. Ward, asking him to see Mrs. Foley, and promising that anything he suggested to make the premises more select should be done. Witness had been to the premises and suggested that they should be walled in. Mr. Goodman (magistrates' clerk) said the conviction did not take place owing to a technical difficulty. Mr. Ward said with regard to the alterations, anything suggested by the police should be carried out before the adjourned licensing meeting. He did not wish to raise any objection to the notice served upon Mrs. Foley, but he submitted that it was bad. The notice stated that the house was the resort of betting men. It was no offence for a betting man to go into a public house if he did not bet. Mr. Benjamin Hingley said with respect to the remark made by Mr. Waldron that a certain house was necessary for the requirements of the district, the Bench were of opinion that if they went into that question they would have a very difficult task to perform. They felt disposed to refuse a great many licenses, but they did not want to adopt any stringent measures. At the same time, however, they did not take the view that licenses were strictly given to individuals. The houses were licensed houses, and if offences were committed in them the owners of the houses would at any rate, in the future, have to bear the penalty. Adjourned."

County Express 3/10/1891

"Old Hill Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

Mr. W. Bassano said the only case in which they proposed not to renew the license was in the case of the CROSS INN, Old Hill.....

Mr. Ward asked if all the other licenses were granted without any special application being necessary. Mr. Bassano said this was so. Of course they had, in the exercise of their discretion, thought there were several cases in which they might reasonably withhold the license, and the Bench had had a long discussion that morning before coming into Court as to whether they should do so in the case of a man fined £10 and costs. However, they had decided to grant the whole of the licenses this year, and they gave an intimation that in future the Bench would deal very stringently in cases of conviction under the licensing laws, both as regards the amount of fines and endorsements, and in the cases of endorsements they would deal more stringently. In plain English, this meant that a person with an endorsement against the house would in future have a very small chance indeed of getting his license renewed. They hoped the licensed victuallers and other licensed persons in the district would take a warning from that."

County Express 27/2/1897

“Jemima Price, an old woman, of Lion Lane, Old Hill, was charged with stealing two packets of tobacco, a bottle of ginger beer, and a salt cellar, the property of William Foley, BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, on the 16th inst. Mr. Ward defended. The magistrates thought there was not sufficient evidence as to the salt cellar, but thought there was no doubt the defendant stole the ginger beer and tobacco, and fined her 20s and costs.”

County Advertiser 29/5/1897

“A temporary authority to sell liquor at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, was granted to James Price.”

County Advertiser 6/8/1898 - Notice

“To the Overseers of the Poor of the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, and to the Superintendent of Police of the District in which the Premises hereinafter mentioned are situate.

I, David Charles Price, now residing at the BLUE BALL INN, Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, in the County of Stafford, Do Hereby Give Notice, that it is my intention to Apply, at the next General Annual Licensing Meeting, to be holden at the Public Office, at Old Hill, in the said County of Stafford, for the Provisional Removal and Confirmation of a License to hold any of the Excise Licenses that may be held by a Publican to Sell by Retail, under the Intoxicating Liquor Licensing Act, 1828, and Acts amending the same, Intoxicating Liquor to be consumed either on or off the House or Premises, situate and being in Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, aforesaid, and known by the sign of the BLUE BALL INN, and now in my occupation, from the last-mentioned Premises to new Premises about to be erected, and to be situate at the corner of Pear Tree Lane and Petford Street, Old Hill, in the said Parish of Rowley Regis, and County of Stafford.

I Hereby Further State that William Foley, of Old Hill, aforesaid, Brewer, is the owner of the said Premises. That such House when built will be of the annual value of £40 0s 0d, and will contain, exclusive of the rooms occupied by the Inmates thereof, Three Rooms.

Given under my hand this 25th day of July, 1898.

David Charles Price.

Witness: David Wall, Clerk with Mr. J. W. Clulow, Solicitor, Brierley Hill.”

Dudley Herald 27/8/1898

“The annual Licensing Sessions of the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held at the Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday.....

Mr. W. Clulow (Brierley Hill), on behalf of David Charles Price, applied for a removal of the license of the BLUE BALL INN to premises about to be erected at the corner of Pear Tree Lane and Petford Street. Mr. Clulow pointed out that the present buildings were in a dilapidated condition, and it had been a licensed house for a number of years, and the substantial manner in which the new building was proposed to be erected would effect a considerable improvement.

The Chairman said if the application was granted there must be none of those aids and inducements so much practised, viz, dancing and singing. There were in the parish more licenses than were required, and if the police and the Bench desired to get rid of a few it must be by extinguishing one or more where they were thickest.

The application was granted.”

County Advertiser 8/10/1898

“The annual meeting of the Licensing Committee of the county of Stafford was held at the Shire Hall, Stafford, on Saturday.....

Mr. J. Walter Clulow applied for the confirmation of a provisional grant which was made by the Old Hill Licensing Justices on the 24th August last, for the removal of the full license held by David Charles Price, at present at the BLUE BALL INN, Peartree Street, Old Hill, to a new hotel about to be erected in Petford Street and Peartree Lane, Old Hill. The Licensing Committee granted the application.”

County Advertiser 26/8/1899

“The Licensing Sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday, at Old Hill.....

On the application of Mr. Clulow, the magistrates approved of the structural alterations carried out on the premises of the NEW BLUE BALL INN, Peartree Street, Old Hill.”

1901 Census

Petford Street

- [1] David Charles Price (58), publican, born Evesham;
- [2] Ellen Louisa Price (48), wife, born Birmingham;
- [3] Lucy Elizabeth Harrison (24), niece, domestic servant, born Evesham;
- [4] Albert Edward Robins (9), nephew, born Evesham;

County Express 1/6/1901

“On Wednesday morning Mr. H. A. Pearson (South Staffordshire coroner) held an inquest at the BLUE BALL HOTEL, Peartree Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of Thomas Frederick Stevens, aged 2½ years, the son of Thomas Stevens, tube worker, Peartree Street, who had died from scalds.

The evidence showed that on the 20th May, the deceased, when passing the kitchen fire, caught hold of the saucepan handle and upset the saucepan, which contained boiling water and potato peelings. The water fell on to the child's head and breast, and also on the feet of Thomas Stevens, the father, both being badly scalded. The deceased died on the 26th May.

Dr. De Denne said the injuries were of a very extensive character, and death was due to shock.

Inspector Hodgkinson said as the result of inquiries he could not say that the parents were in any way to blame. They had the reputation for properly looking after their children.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

David Charles Price died in the 1st quarter of 1903.

County Advertiser 5/9/1903 - Advert

"BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, Staffs.

Mr. T. Pateshall is instructed to Sell by Auction, as above, on Monday Next, September 7th, 1903, the General Household Furniture and Effects, comprising Marble Eight-day Time-piece, Bronze Marble Horses, Pier Glass, in black and gold frame; Lady's and Gentleman's Mahogany Easy Chairs, Mahogany and Cane-seated and Windsor Chairs, Mahogany and Deal Tables, Musical Box, Oil Paintings and Water Colour Drawings, Walnut Over-mantel, Elegant Walnut Drawing Room Suite, in crimson plush; Gipsy Table, Dinner and Tea Services, Full-compass Cottage Pianoforte, in walnut case; Handsome Walnut Duchesse Toilet Table and Wash Stand, Toilet Ware, Mahogany Chests of Drawers, Brussel's Carpet, Night Chair, Four Sets of Brass-mounted and Iron French Bedsteads, Feather Beds, Mahogany Sofa, Mahogany Corner Cupboard, &c, &c, belonging to representative of the late Mrs. Louisa Ellen Price.

Sale at Eleven o'clock.

Catalogues from the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath."

County Advertiser 3/10/1903 - Advert

"Re Mrs. Louisa Ellen Price, Deceased.

All Persons having any Claims or Demands against the Estate of Mrs. Louisa Ellen Price, late of the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, in the County of Stafford, Innkeeper and Widow, deceased, who died on the 30th day of August, 1903, are requested to Send Particulars of the same to the undersigned on or before the 10th day of October next.

Dated this 23rd day of September, 1903. Thomas Cooksey, Old Hill, Staffs, Solicitor for the Executor."

It had a bowling green. [1904]

County Advertiser 30/1/1904

"Air-Gun Shooting. Friendly. REINDEER, Cradley Heath, 309. BLUE BALL, Old Hill, 281."

County Advertiser 30/1/1904

"The following licenses were transferred.....

BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, Mary Jane Weston to her husband, Frederick Weston."

County Advertiser 27/8/1904

"On Sunday afternoon the eighth annual parade and service arranged by the various friendly societies in the Old Hill district took place under favourable circumstances. The proceedings commenced with a large procession.....

The Old Hill Brass Band started from the BLUE BALL INN, Peartree Street, and proceeded by way of Peartree Street, Ridding Street, and New Street to Halesowen Road, calling for societies at the GEORGE HOTEL. Afterwards they proceeded across Spring Meadow and Cherry Orchard to the field.....

Upon arrival at the field a grand procession was formed This paraded the principal streets of the locality for some time, after which they proceeded to a field in High Street, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. A. E. Sidaway. Here a service was held, the chair being occupied by Dr. T. E. Mitchell. Notwithstanding the threatening state of the weather there was a large attendance.....

A collection was made upon the route, and at the service, on behalf of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, Birmingham Eye Hospital, Birmingham General Hospital, Birmingham Ear and Throat Hospital, and the Old Hill Nurses Fund."

County Advertiser 27/8/1904

"An occasional license was granted to Frederick Weston, BLUE BALL INN, Cradley Heath, from two till eight pm on Saturday, on the occasion of the Cradley Heath band contest."

County Advertiser 22/10/1904

"On Saturday evening last, at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, there was a large gathering of members of the Order of Druids Friendly Society and others, for the purpose of making a presentation to Brother Joseph Westwood, who has been for nine years secretary to the Pride of the Bridge Lodge of the Order (Dudley and Tipton District). Bro. Dearn, DDMG, presided, and among those present were Fred Weston (host).....

[Joseph Westwood was presented with a clock and two bronze Marly horses.]

County Advertiser 19/5/1906

"On Monday night, a smoking concert, for the benefit of James Morgan, of Old Hill, took place at the BLUE BALL HOTEL. Mr. D. Gill occupied the chair. Messes. Charles Gee, S. Evans, G. Plimmer, F. Morgan, F. W. Hudson, J. H. Taylor, A. James, and J.

Cox contributed items, and Messrs. J. H. Williams and D. Adams acted as accompanists.”

County Advertiser 23/6/1906

“Mr. W. L. Lewis (deputy coroner) held an inquest last night at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, concerning the death of Alice Finlow, two years of age, whose parents reside at Peartree Street, Old Hill. It appeared that on Wednesday the child was playing in the brewhouse, and was missed by the mother. A search was made, and after some time the dead body of deceased was found in a cistern. The boards which covered the cistern were decayed, and had given way. The jury found a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 27/10/1906

“Mr. G. C. Lewis (coroner) held an inquest at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, on Tuesday night, respecting the death of Beatrice Edwards, aged two years and nine months, whose parents reside in Petford Street, Old Hill, and who died on the 22nd inst from the effects of severe scalds sustained on the 17th inst. The evidence showed that on the latter date a sister, who is an imbecile, was lifting a bowl of boiling water when she slipped, and it toppled over upon the deceased, who was badly scalded about the neck and arms. The child was attended by Dr. Tibbetts but died as stated from shock. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 3/11/1906

“Friendly Societies Committee. On Thursday night the annual dimmer in connection with this committee was held at the BLUE BELL [sic] INN, Old Hill. A capital repast was provided by the host (Mr. F. Weston) after which Councillor J. Wheeler presided.....”

Leominster News 12/4/1907

“Mr. G. C. Lewis on Wednesday held an inquest at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, respecting the death of Ann Smart (77), of Yew Tree Lane, Rowley, which occurred under strange circumstances on the 9th inst. The evidence showed that some time ago deceased was blown over during a gale and sustained a severe injury to her elbow. She recently went to live with a relative at Petford Street, Old Hill, and was supplied with a quantity of liniment containing poison for the purpose of rubbing her elbow. On the 7th inst deceased, whilst in bed, drank a quantity of the liniment believing it to be a bottle of medicine. When deceased realised her mistake she shouted to her relatives, and Dr. Tibbetts was at once summoned. Death, however, resulted on the following day. The jury returned a verdict of Death by Misadventure.”

County Advertiser 13/7/1907

“On Saturday night the annual dinner in connection with the Old Hill Red Rose Football Club was held at the BLUE BALL INN, Peartree Lane, Old Hill. About fifty members and supporters of the club sat down to an excellent repast prepared by the host and hostess (Mr. and Mrs. F. Weston). Subsequently Mr. James Wheeler presided over the gathering.....”

County Express 8/5/1909

“A general meeting of the members of the Cradley Heath St. Luke’s Football Club was held at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, on Monday for the purpose of considering the advisability of converting the club into a limited liability company. There was only a small attendance.....”

Tipton Herald 11/9/1909

“The annual dinner of the Pride of the Bridge Lodge, Order of Druids, was held at the Lodge House on Saturday, when a good number of members sat down to an excellent repast provided by the host, Bro. Fred Weston, Old Hill, in a manner which reflected great credit on him as a caterer.....

Bro. Joseph Westwood (secretary) congratulated the lodge upon the position it had attained. Financially, they stood equal to any in the district. Its degree of solvency was 31s 6d in the £; its average age was only 27 years; its sickness experience was only four days per member, and they had gained £30 during the year, having gained in the past ten years £178. The worth of the Order was £200,000, with a membership upwards of 85,000. He urged upon the members to do their best to bring new members, as no other society offered better benefits, independent of the Accident Compensation Fund, from which Bro. Joseph Dearn received a grant of £15 on account of his accident.

Votes of thanks to the host for his able catering, and the chairman, brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.”

County Express 17/9/1910

“The Order Of Druids. The fourteenth anniversary of the Pride of the Bridge Lodge was held at the BLUE BALL, Old Hill, on Saturday night, when upwards of thirty members sat down to an excellent dinner provided by the host, Mr. Fred Weston. After the withdrawal of the cloth, Bro. Frederick Neal, NGA, presided, and Bro. Joseph Hutland, VGA, was vice-chairman.....”

1911 Census

Peartree Lane – BLUE BALL INN

- [1] Frederick Weston (48), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Lillian Weston (25), wife, married 1 year, born Dudley;
- [3] Elizabeth Davis (25), general servant, born Cradley;
- [4] Florance May Whitcombe (14), general servant, born Woodside:

[Was Frederick Weston the manager for owner, William Foley?]

County Express 8/6/1912

“BLUE BALL Bowling Club, Old Hill.

A meeting was held at the above club house, on Tuesday evening for the purpose of presenting the pair of bowls to Mr. J. Jackson (captain) which he won in the bowling tournament on Saturday.....

Mr. Griffiths (secretary) announced that the last two matches played with the CASTLE INN had both resulted in victories, by 23 away from home and by 43 at home. This was a good start for the season.

Mr. S. Cockin proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Fred Weston for presenting the bowls to the above club, and this was supported by Mr. H. Griffiths and other members of the above club.

After the meeting the members participated in an enjoyable smoking concert.”

Dudley Chronicle 27/7/1912

“Yesterday, at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, Mr. G. C. Lewis (coroner) held an enquiry into the death of Fanny Westwood, a child of three years and seven months, daughter of William and Lily Westwood, of 64, Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, who died on Wednesday as the result of scalds sustained on Tuesday. From the evidence it appeared the child was playing in the yard, and fell into a bath of hot beer which had been placed in the entry by a neighbour named Mrs. Bowen. Another neighbour named Nock heard screams, and got the child out. Mrs. Bowen, in evidence, said it was her custom to put the hot beer in the yard and not in the entry, but it was raining on this day. Asked by the Coroner whether she did not think the practice a dangerous one, she replied that she would not do it again.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and expressed the hope that people who followed such dangerous practices would discontinue them.”

County Express 17/8/1912

“The Bowling Green.....

The BLUE BALL, Old Hill, received a visit from the DUKE WILLIAM. Rain spoilt a close contest when the visiting team were leading by 4 points. It was hard lines for the BLUE BALL, as their best bowlers had not bowled.”

Dudley Chronicle 31/8/1912

“The annual general meeting of the Cradley Heath St. Luke’s Football Club was held on Friday evening at the BLUE BALL HOTEL, Old Hill.....”

The Stage 18/5/1916 - Advert

“Wanted Known. Pianist at Lib, May 29, Ineligible. Ex. Refs. Pictures only. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Pianist, c.o. BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill, Staffs.”

It was the headquarters of BLUE BALL Rovers FC from the 1900s to the 1930s.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 31/8/1922

“Declaring that they did not consider the evidence sufficiently strong to justify a conviction, the magistrates at Old Hill yesterday dismissed a summons against Hannah Williams, licensee of the BLUE BALL INN, Petford Street, for supplying intoxicating liquor during prohibited hours on 5 August.

Summonses against Benjamin Tromans, licensee of the DUKE WILLIAM, Colley Gate; Frederick Denning, licensee of the CROWN INN, Kingswinford; and Frederick Tromans, of Intended Street, Cradley, for consuming the drink were accordingly not proceeded with.

The police observing a light in the smoke room at 11.15pm and hearing voices and the clinking of glasses, entered the premises from the rear. They found the three men and the husband of the licensee sitting in the room, a number of glasses, which with one exception, were empty, being upon the table.

The defence was that the three men were friends of the husband, and all the drinking which took place occurred before 10 o’clock. The clinking of glasses was caused, it was said, by the barmaid who was engaged in washing them.”

Robert William Botfield – see also ANCHOR, BELL and BEEHIVE, Cradley Heath.

It had a pigeon club.

George Thomas Owen – see also PACK HORSE.

Black Country Bugle

‘Old Hill Pub, No Mystery’ - letter from Mrs. E Stevens

“Sorry – I can’t remember all the names. The picture was taken during the war and most of those on it belonged to the BLUE BALL bowling team. Whilst her husband was in the navy, Mrs. Owen and myself looked after the pub.”

Harold Noah Homer – see also TIMBERTREE.

Sandwell Evening Mail 25/8/1987

“Black Country actor and comedian Ray Hingley After leaving school at 14 he wanted to go into showbusiness but had no connections, so started doing amateur concert party work. His first semi-professional job brought him ten old shillings from doing a monologue ‘Albert and the Lion’ in an upstairs room at the BLUE BALL INN, Old Hill.....”

Its name was changed to BLUE BULL. [1999]

Halesowen News 26/8/1999 - Advert

“The BLUE BULL. Under New Management.

Dave and Kath would like to extend a warm welcome to all customers old and new.

Bank Holiday Family Fun Day on Monday 30th August, 11am onwards, including Bouncy Castle, BBQ and Children’s Games.

Happy Hour Every Day 6pm - 9pm.

Traditional Irish music sessions each Monday from 8pm - 11pm.

Peartree Lane, Old Hill.”

Its name was changed to BLUE BALL. [2004]

[2005]

Its name was changed to GOLDMINE. [2007]

Closed [2007], [2008]

Halesowen News 19/1/2007

“A Cradley Heath pub, which recently shut its doors, could soon be demolished and redeveloped into a residential home if Sandwell Council planners give the green light. The council has received a planning application for the GOLDMINE public house, formerly the BLUE BALL, and its current fenced off car park in Peartree Lane. The application, submitted by Brightwell Properties Ltd, outlines plans to demolish the Victorian pub and construct a 38 bedroomed care home for the elderly. Planning Officer Mike Nicholls has recommended council planners pass the plans, stating a nursing home for the elderly would be an acceptable use in a residential area. Sandwell Council have also received an application to demolish the COOKSEY public house, with plans to build six two bed apartments. The traditional Victorian pub in Halesowen Road, has been closed and de-licenced for the past three years. Both applications will appear in front of councillors at a future planning committee meeting.”

[\[In 2008 planning permission was granted to demolish and build a care home.\]](#)

Demolished [2009]

BLUE BALL

Rowley Village, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

LICENSEES

William Mills [1818] – [1834]

BOAT

141, (114), (67), Station Road, (14, (122), Granville Road), (122, Gorsty Hill), (Slack Hillock), OLD HILL

OWNERS

Joshua Hipkins, Brierley Hill

Smith and Williams (acquired on 22nd February 1928)

Julia Hanson and Son Ltd. (acquired in 1934)

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd.

Marstons plc

LICENSEES

J Edmonds [1831]
James Smith [1833] – [1849]
Elias Benton [1851]
James Smith [1852]
Elijah Benton [1854]
James Smith [1855]
Jane Benton [1861]
Jabez Tromans [1861] – [1872]
James Tromans [1862]
Jane Tromans [] – 1869;
Joseph Tromans (1869 – [1871])
Thomas Tromans [1881] – [1887]
William Tromans [1891] – [1901]
John Hingley [] – 1903;
Enoch Rodnick (1903 – [])
William Tromans [1908]
Sarah Tromans [] – 1908;
Elizabeth Tromans (1908 – [])
Sarah Tromans [1911]
Mrs. Eliza (Tromans) Willetts [1912] – [1916]
Isaac Hughes [1919] – 1926;
Benjamin Davis (1926 – 1928);
William Powell (1928);
William Charles Smith (1928 – 1932);
William Powell (1932 – 1934);
James Leonard ‘Len’ Stafford (1934 – 1940);
Mrs. Agnes Rock (1940 – 1948);
Wilfred Hayes (1948 – 1961);
Harry Allport (1961 – [1965])
Joe Marsh [1975] – [1978]
Bryan Blewitt [1984]
John Smith [1987]
Carol Salisbury (1991 – [])
Sue Murphy []
Neal Hughes []
Elaine Gordon [2009]

NOTES

Slack Hillock [1851], [1861]
122, Gosty Hill [1881], [1891]
122, Granville Road [1896]
14, Granville Road [1901]
67, Station Road [1908], [1912], [1916], [1921], [1924], [1932], [1939], [1940]
114, Station Road [1993]
141, Station Road [1996], [2008]

It was situated close to the Dudley No.2 Canal.

It was popular with boatmen.

Aris: Birmingham Gazette 28/2/1831 - Advert

“To be Let, and entered upon immediately, a small Public House, called the BOAT, situate near Gosty Hill, Hales Owen. As the coming-in will be very low, this is a favourable opportunity for any young couple wishing to commence in the above line. Enquire of Mr. J. Edmonds on the premises.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 28/8/1847

“Inquests before George Hinchliffe, Esq, Coroner.....

On Monday at the BOAT INN, Rowley Regis, on the body of Jeremiah Brownes, aged 3 years, who accidentally fell out of his father's boat into the canal, while passing through the Gusty Hill Tunnel, on Saturday night, and was drowned. Verdict Accidentally Drowned."

1851 Census

Slack Hillock

- [1] Elias Benton (36), victualler and engineer, born Tipton;
- [2] Jane Benton (36), wife, born Cradley;
- [3] Elias Benton (7), nephew, scholar, born West Bromwich;
- [4] Sarah Whitehouse (16), general servant, born Birmingham:

Hoof marks reported on the roof in 1855.

Elias Benton died in the 3rd quarter of 1859.

Jane Benton married Jabez Troman on 4th September 1860.

Jabez Tromans = Jabez Troman = Jabez Trowmans = Jabez Yeomans

1861 Census

Slack Hillock – BOAT INN

- [1] Jabez Troman (36), victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Jane Troman (46), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Jane Morris (19), general servant, born Brierley Hill:

Worcestershire Chronicle 1/10/1862

"William Smith, licensed victualler, Gorsty Hill, was summoned for having, on the 16th inst, unlawfully sold a quantity of ale on a race course without being duly licensed to do so. Defendant pleaded guilty, but urged that he had applied to the Excise for a license, and was informed that a license was not required, and that he might sell what he wished during the wake. The Clerk pointed out to the Bench that by the 25th Vic. chap.22, sec.13, the Commissioners of Inland Revenue could grant permission to licensed victuallers to sell on race courses after the consent of two Justice of the Peace had been obtained. He further suggested that as the Act was a new one, it could not be very well known, and that all purposes might be served if the defendant would plead guilty and pay costs. The defendant agreed to this course, and the case was dismissed.

John Wright and James Tromans, publicans at Gorsty Hill, were brought up on similar charges, and were dismissed under the same conditions."

Birmingham Daily Post 3/11/1862 - Advert

"Staffordshire. Desirable Freehold Property. Gorsty Hill, Rowley Regis.

Davies and King will Sell by Auction, Tomorrow (Tuesday), the 4th November, at Six o'clock in the Evening, at the house of Jabez Trowmans, the BOAT INN, Gorsty Hill, Rowley Regis."

Stourbridge Observer 22/8/1868

"An inquest was held on Monday last at the house of Jabez Tromans, Gorsty Lane, before Mr. E. Hooper, touching the death of William Rose (9).

From the evidence adduced it appears that the deceased went to fetch some water from the canal, about mid-day on Saturday last. He had been missed about half an hour.

Search was made for him, and he was found in the canal, and when taken out was dead.

The jury returned a verdict of Found Drowned."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 2/11/1868

"Shocking Accident On The Stourbridge Extension Railway.

The first fatal accident on this line, which was opened on the 1st of April, 1867, occurred on Saturday morning, near the Old Hill Station. The goods train from Pontypool arrived here a few minutes before seven, and was accompanied by a young man named Jno. Llewellyn, aged 24 years, who was a junior guard. Llewellyn got out of the van at Old Hill for the purpose of uncoupling the train from the pilot engine, when somehow or other he missed his footing and fell under the train. The engine-driver a few seconds afterwards was horrified to see his body lying on the line, frightfully mangled; both his legs cut clean off, as well as his right hand and left arm. His body was at once conveyed to J. Troman's, the BOAT INN, where it lies awaiting the coroner's inquest. Unfortunately, deceased leaves a young wife and a child to lament his untimely end. Old Hill Station is only a mile from Hales Owen, and caused much excitement there. Great commiseration is expressed for the young widow."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 30/8/1869

"The annual licensing meeting for Rowley Regis division was held on Friday, at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill.

Mr. Superintendent Mills handed in to the Bench the following list of licensed victuallers who had been fined within the last year.

Jabez Yeomans, BOAT, Gorsty Hill."

County Express 16/10/1869

“Transfer of Licenses.....

BOAT INN, Gosty Hill, from Jane Tromans, deceased, to Joseph Tromans.”

County Advertiser 16/7/1870

“On Tuesday evening, a boy, named Benjamin Billingham, about three years of age, son of a rivet-maker, living at Gorsty Hill, was missed from home. A search was instituted, and the canal close by dragged during the night. About five o'clock next morning his dead body was found in the canal, near the BOAT INN. At the inquest a verdict of Found Drowned was returned.”

1871 Census

Gosty Hill – BOAT INN

- [1] Joseph Tromans (81), licensed victualler and nail maker, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Maria Tromans (21), grand-daughter, house keeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Elisha Willets (56), lodger, nail maker, born Halesowen;
- [4] Charlotte Brooks (15), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

1881 Census

122, Gosty Hill – BOAT INN

- [1] Thomas Tromans (62), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Phoebe Tromans (60), wife, born Cradley;
- [3] George Tromans (26), son, nail warehouseman, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Charlotte Tromans (25), daughter-in-law, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Phoebe A. B. Tromans (2), grand-daughter, born Rowley Regis:

Dudley and District News 27/8/1881

“Benjamin Smith, no address, was charged with stealing a silk handkerchief and a tin containing three pounds of preserved meat from the person of Mark Parkes, residing at Gorsty Hill.

Complainant said that while returning from Blackheath on the previous Saturday, he met defendant in the BOAT INN. They had a glass of beer, and left together. When undoing a gate near Gorsty Hill, his hand got entangled in a staple, and while he was in this condition prisoner snatched the handkerchief containing the meat out of his other hand, and made off. The following day he sought out prisoner and took the tin from him; but the meat had been eaten.

There being only one magistrate on the Bench, the case was remanded for a week.”

Dudley and District News 3/9/1881

“Benjamin Smith (45), labourer, no fixed address, was charged with stealing a tin containing 2lbs of preserved meat and a silk handkerchief, value 3s 6d, from Mark Parkes, labourer, on the road between Gorsty Hill and Blackheath, on the 13th inst. Complainant said he had been at Blackheath for the meat, and had the tin rolled up in his handkerchief. On the way home he went into the BOAT INN, where he met the prisoner. They left the Inn together, and when complainant was undoing a gate on the road near his house his hand became entangled in a staple. Prisoner seized the opportunity and snatched the bundle out of his other hand, and made off with it. He saw prisoner the following day and took the tin from him, but the meat had been extracted. Prisoner, pleading not guilty, said he did not leave the Inn at the same time as complainant. He was going down the road some time afterwards, and came upon the tin of meat lying on the ground.

PC Lightfoot deposed to arresting prisoner on the 22nd inst. When taken into custody, he confessed having eaten the meat.

The Bench found the charge proved, and sentenced prisoner to 14 days imprisonment.”

County Advertiser 11/11/1882 - Deaths

“On the 6th inst, Phoebe, wife of Thomas Troman, BOAT INN, Gorsty Hill, aged 68 years.”

County Advertiser 23/7/1887

“At the Rowley Regis Police Court, on Wednesday, before Mr. Walter Bassano and Mr. J. Walker, six publicans named Edwin Cooper, Waterfall Lane; James Southwick, Yew Tree Lane; Isaac Mullett, Ross, Blackheath; Thomas Tromans, Gorsty Hill; James Andrews Levett, Perry's Lake; and Joseph Tibbetts, Cromwell Street, Blackheath, were each brought up for defrauding the Inland Revenue by using sugar in the beer after the Excise Officer had made an entry of the brewing. Mr. Shakespeare, of Oldbury, represented the first five-named defendants.

Mr. J. Blake Davies (supervisor of Excise) stated that the whole of the defendants were licensed victuallers. In April last Excise officers visited their cellars. After brewings had taken place and the entries been made, it was discovered that the defendants had put loaf sugar into the barrels. The sugar was found at the bottom of the barrels in a partly dissolved state. In each instance the beer was racked, and each offender said that the sugar had been used for the purpose of ‘fining’ the beer. Notices had from time to time been published to the effect that it was illegal to use sugar after entries had been taken by the Excise officers, because the Board of Inland Revenue was defrauded by the beer being increased in strength and no increased duty paid.

Mr. Bassano: Dose the use of sugar with beer that has been racked increase the gravity of the beer?

Mr. Davies: A brewer might by adding sugar increase his ‘twopenny’ into ‘sixpenny.’

Mr. Bassano: And are the consumers of beer any way prejudiced by the use of such beer as you have referred to?

Mr. Davies: It is heavy and certainly not wholesome.

Mr. Bassano: That is important.

Mr. Davies (continuing) said the illegal use of sugar was on the increase, and the Board of Inland Revenue desired to put a stop to the practice.

Mr. Shakespeare said the whole of his clients pleaded guilty, but had acted in ignorance, and as the Board of Inland Revenue had really sustained no loss he should with confidence ask the magistrates to only inflict nominal penalties. The Excise officers had in each instance seized the beer and utensils, and one of the defendants had had to pay as much as £3 14s for the purchase of his beer from the Excise officers. He also asked the magistrates to bear in mind that the publicans of the Black Country had been in the habit of using sugar to 'fine' the beer. He was assured the defendants had not used it for the purpose of increasing the gravity of the beer, and as a matter of fact had not gained a single farthing by what they had done.

Mr. Davies said he thought it only right that he should inform the magistrates and the public that the use of sugar in racked beer did not 'fine' the beer, but only increased its specific gravity. He must ask the magistrates to make examples of the defendants.

Mr. Bassano said it was important that the law should be observed, and that the public should be supplied with a wholesome article.

The defendant were each fined £20 including costs, which amounted to £120."

1891 Census

122, Gosty Hill – BOAT INN

- [1] William Tromans (50), publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sarah Tromans (56), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Frank Tromans (20), son, striker, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Tromans (16), son, general labourer, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Sarah A. Tromans (23), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Hannah Tromans (18), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Eliza Tromans (12), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 1/9/1900

"An invitation supper in connection with the BOAT INN Sick and Draw Club took place there on Monday, a good number of members and friends being present. After the dinner, Mr. J. Hingley was voted to the chair, and under him, a capital programme of songs etc, was rendered. Before breaking up, votes of thanks were unanimously passed to the host and hostess, the donors, and friends who had helped musically, thus closing a most pleasant evening."

1901 Census

14, Granville Road

- [1] William Tromans (60), publican, born Old Hill;
- [2] Sarah Tromans (67), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Sarah Ann Tromans (33), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [4] Hannah Tromans (28), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [5] Eliza Tromans (22), daughter, born Old Hill:

William Tromans – see also WHARF.

County Express 15/8/1908

"At Old Hill, on Wednesday, licenses were transferred as follows.....

The BOAT INN, Gorsty Hill, to Elizabeth Tromans from Sarah Tromans, the executrix of her late father....."

Tipton Herald 16/1/1909

"Mr. G. C. Lewis held an inquest at the BOAT INN, Old Hill, concerning the death of Thomas Henry Newton (14), horse driver, of Gorsty Hill, who met with his death under shocking circumstances on the 5th inst. The evidence showed that the youth was employed by his uncle, Mr. James Brookes, haulier, of Old Hill, and on the date named was in charge of a chain horse working between Old Hill railway station and Coombs Wood Tube Works. Newton attempted to get on the horse's back at the top of the incline in Station Road. His left foot became entangled in the chain, and at the same time the horse bolted. The unfortunate youth was dragged along the road for several hundred yards before the horse was stopped by deceased's father, who did not recognise his son until he had pulled up the animal. Newton sustained terrible injuries. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

1911 Census

Station Road – BOAT INN

- [1] Sarah Tromans (75), licensed victualler, born Dudley;
- [2] Hannah Tromans (37), daughter, assisting in the business, born Old Hill;
- [3] Eliza Tromans (32), daughter, born Old Hill:

Dudley Chronicle 6/12/1913

"The license of the BOAT INN, Tividale [sic] was granted to Mrs. Eliza Willetts, who formerly held it in the name of Eliza Tromans."

Birmingham Daily Post 5/2/1914

“The licensing sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held yesterday.....

The Bench granted an application to carry out structural alteration at the BOAT INN, Station Road, Old Hill, Eliza Willetts, the licensee, stating that the improvements would lessen the drinking area.”

Conveyance 2/7/1934

“All that messuage or dwelling-house with the outbuildings yard and premises thereto belonging for many years used and occupied as a public house and known as the BOAT INN situate in Station Road Gorsty Hill in the Parish of Rowley Regis and also all that messuage or dwelling house the hereinbefore described property situate in and known as 68 Station Road Gorsty Hill aforesaid with the lock-up shop adjoining thereto all now in the occupation of Roland Barnsley.....”

1939 Register

67, Station Road – BOAT INN

[1] James L. (Len) Stafford, date of birth 9/4/1898, public house manager and machine tool setter, married;

[2] May Stafford, dob 1/5/1897, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[4] Sadie (Stafford) Patrick, dob 9/7/1928, at school, single;

Sandwell Evening Mail 11/11/1991

“A licensee’s husband suffered horrific facial burns after becoming engulfed in flames when he used petrol to light a bonfire at a Black Country pub. Firemen said Brian Salisbury started the bonfire on land at the front of the BOAT pub, Station Road, Old Hill. A blast blew flames back into Mr. Salisbury’s face and body. Customers rushed to put out the flames while others telephoned the emergency services.

Mr. Salisbury, aged 47, was taken to Birmingham Accident Hospital with burns to a third of his face and body. His condition today was poorly but stable. Mr. Salisbury’s stepdaughter Kelly, aged ten, was also hurt after having been struck on the head by an object blown from the fire.

Martin Hetherington, who lives at the pub, said, ‘I went out to light the bonfire for customers but Brian turned up and I went inside. The pub doors were shaken by an explosion and people came rushing in to say Brian had been burned. Some people were so upset they went home. Brian is a great chap, well liked and always joking. He is a pipe fitter and his wife Carol is the pub licensee. She only took over the pub a few months ago.’

The couple live at Halesowen and Mrs. Salisbury was said to be too upset to talk today.

Station Officer Derek Maddock, of Halesowen Fire Station, said, ‘Mr. Salisbury made the mistake of using petrol to ignite the bonfire on Saturday night. He suffered 35 per cent burns when the ignition blew the flames back on him. It is a dangerous practice to use petrol in this manner and people should not do it. We were called because there were fears of the fire spreading,’ he added.”

Halesowen News 7/4/2009

“A string of events are planned at the BOAT pub on Station Road to raise money for a syringe driver for the Black Country House Nursing Home in Halesowen Road, Old Hill. Macmillan nurses use the driver to deliver drugs to cancer patients at the home. BOAT landlady Elaine Gordon decided to try and help the home because she knows some of the staff there.

Fundraisers will be kicked off on Friday April 10 with an auction during which items including signed West Bromwich Albion and Wolves footballs will be up for grabs. The auction starts at 8pm. A jumble sale with tombola will start at 10am on Saturday (April 11) followed by a darts knockout match at noon.

The pub has already raised £240 from donations.”

Halesowen News 15/4/2013

“A group of Old Hill pub-goers have souped up old bangers for a Wacky Races style road trip inspired by a Halesowen leukaemia sufferer. The friends who drink in the BOAT INN and are part of Old Halesonians Rugby Club came up with the idea to do up cheap cars in various themes and don fancy dress to drive to Aberystwyth. Around ten cars will revv off from the Station Road pub on Saturday (April 20) before 9am. The aim is to raise more than £5k for Birmingham Children’s Hospital where Lutley Primary pupil Daisy May is being treated. Organiser Trevor Patrick’s daughter Ellie May Patrick, aged five, is in the same class as Daisy, also five. Themes for the cars include Starkey and Hutch, Ghost Busters, Blues Brothers and Batman and Robin. Among around 25 pals taking part is John Clark, a sales manager for Tata Steel. John, aged 48, said, ‘It’s turning into a real Top Gear style challenge. The idea is to buy a cheap car, theme it up, and travel into the depth of Wales, where upon, we have several car related challenges and a treasure hunt on route. The blokes involved have spent a lot of time and money getting the cars prepared for the run, and once the event is completed the cars will be weighted in for scrap value which will also be donated to the charity.’ Cash will go to the hospital’s ward 15 Children’s Cancer Appeal. The drivers are expected to return to the pub on Sunday April 21 at around 3pm where their wives and partners will lay on a welcome home buffet. It is the pub-goers fourth challenge. In 2011 they raised £5k for Help the Heroes by staging a superheros on mopeds race.”

Closed [2015]

It was converted into housing. [2019]

BRICKHOUSE

Harvest Road, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. [1997]

Marstons Pub Co. [2007]

LICENSEES

Martin Ridley Barnsley [] – 1956);

Charles Richard Hodgetts (1956 – 1965);

Alfred Archibald Beesley (1965 – []

Mick Sullivan (1981 – [] manager

NOTES

Sports Argus 9/4/1960

“Round The Dartboards.....

Rowley Regis League have just ended a great struggle for their championship. In the end ROBERT PEEL triumphed by two points over BRICKHOUSE.....”

News Telephone 6/8/1981

“Angry Rowley Regis residents have called for an end to discos at a local pub after complaints that skinhead gangs were terrorizing the area.

They say that the discos at the BRICKHOUSE pub on the Brickhouse Farm Estate attract troublemakers and that violence frequently erupts after the pub has closed.....”

Sandwell Evening Mail 7/4/1986 - Advert

“Antique Auction, Tuesday, April 8, over 300 lots.

BRICKHOUSE pub, Harvest Road, Rowley Regis, viewing 6.15pm. Sale 7.30pm.”

Express & Star 24/11/1997 - Advert

“Large bar, function room, medium sized lounge; car park.”

[2007]

Closed [2009], [2013]

Dudley News 24/1/2012

“A Planning application has been submitted to transform the blighted BRICKHOUSE pub in Rowley into eight residential flats. Local residents have complained about fly tipping, graffiti and litter at the Harvest Road pub and Sandwell Council have demanded the owner take action. John Hart from Great Bridge Estates resubmitted the plans for the flats in December and is hoping to get planning permission by March. The state of the former pub was raised at the Rowley Regis Neighbourhood Forum at St. Michael’s School last Thursday.

Brickhouse resident Caroline Old said, ‘The fly tipping and litter around the pub looks awful and something has to be done as soon as possible.’

Councillor Barbara Price said, ‘Planning has received an application for the change of use from a public house to form eight residential flats. This however was invalid and the architect has to re-submit part of the application and the owner has said he will get onto the matter. They are aware of and will sort out the removal of litter and fly tipping at the pub’.”

It was converted into housing in 2014.

BRIDGE

71, (54), Reddal Hill Road, Spinners End, (Plants Green), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

Showells Ltd. Langley, Oldbury [1893]
In Coope and Allsopp Ltd. (acquired on 3rd July 1935)

LICENSEES

Benjamin Harris [1870] – [1875]
Mrs. Mary Harris [1877] – [1884]
Samuel Baker [1887] – [1890]
Henry Watkins* [1891]
William Watkins* [1891]
John William Haines (1891 – [1892])
Henry Weston [1891]
Richard John Amphlett [1892] – [1893]
David Price [1896]
George Frederick Stanton [1900] – [1901] manager
George Slinn [1902] – 1904);
Arthur Salt (1904 – []
Gilbert Willetts []
Elijah Henry Annes [1906] – 1909);
Albert Ernest Blackford (1909 – 1910);
Thomas Lander (1910 – [1912])
Francis John ‘Frank’ Ellis [1915] – 1921);
Daniel Williams (1921 – 1924);
Henry Surman (1924 – 1925);
Thomas Edward Thomas (1925 – 1929);
William ‘Billy’ Hall (1929 – 1936);
Clifford Carey Lewis (1936 – 1940);
John Thomas Garratt (1940 – 1941);
Alfred John George Garratt (1941 – 1943);
Rolfe Scott (1943 – 1946);
Walter George Heath (1946 – 1958);
Mrs. Ethel Maria Penbury (1958 – 1959):

NOTES

54, Reddall Hill Road [1881], [1891], [1901]
71, Reddall Hill Road [1911], [1932], [1939], [1940]

County Express 27/8/1870

“The annual licensing meeting for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held yesterday.....
The following beerhouse keepers applied for wine and spirit licenses.....
Benjamin Harris, Reddall Hill. Application granted.”

1871 Census

Reddall Hill Road

- [1] Benjamin Harris (53), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Mary Harris (53), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Alfred Harris (21), son, carter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Thomas Harris (13), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Joseph Harris (23), boarder, chain maker, born Rowley Regis:

Stourbridge Observer 21/10/1871

“Benjamin Harris, the BRIDGE INN, Rowley, was charged with selling a quantity of liquors during prohibited hours, on the 8th inst. Mr. W. Hayes defended.

Police-constable Griffin said on the above date about half past eight, he, in company with Police-constable Johnson, visited defendant’s house, and in one of the back rooms of the house he saw defendant, and another man named Johnson. There were several glasses of rum on the table. The landlord said the man had come to pay him £5, which he had borrowed the day before. Defendant said he had given the man the rum because he had brought him his money back.

Cross-examined: Defendant was in his shirt sleeves, and he had not got his boots on. The man Johnson gave me his name and address. There was no one else in the house.

Police-constable Johnson corroborated Griffin.

Defendant was ordered to pay the costs.”

County Advertiser 11/11/1871 - Advert

“Wanted, a Servant Girl, for a Public-house. A good character required.

Apply to Mr. B. Harris, BRIDGE INN, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 11/10/1873

“The Essex Hurdle and Cooler Question.

On Monday last a meeting of delegates, representing the makers of the above kind of nails, was held at Mr. Benjamin Harris's, OLD BRIDGE INN, near Reddal Hill. It was stated that the men had been on strike during the past month, and showed no signs of giving way. It was also stated that while some of the masters had agreed to give the 10 per cent asked for they refused to give way in the matter of the yield, whilst others agreed to give the yield and not the 10 per cent. After mature deliberation, the delegates came to the resolution that the strike be carried on till both points now at issue are conceded. The proceeding then came to a close.”

County Advertiser 31/10/1874 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant. One used to public-house.

Apply to Mrs. B. Harris, BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 3/7/1875 - Advert

“Wanted, a good honest Servant Girl, for a public house.

Apply, Mr. Benjamin Harris, BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, near Old Hill.”

County Advertiser 29/9/1877

“Roland Tromans and Joseph Weaver, chainmakers, were charged with being disorderly on the licensed premises of Mary Harris, BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, and with refusing to leave when ordered to do so. Mr. Hayes, who appeared on behalf of complainant, wished to withdraw the charge, but it was proceeded with, and each defendant was fined 1s and costs.”

County Express 2/11/1878

“On Wednesday morning Mr. Hooper, coroner, held an inquiry at the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, into the circumstances attending the death of Thomas Gryce, aged 21, miner. The evidence showed that the deceased, who resided at Spinners End, was employed at the Earl of Dudley's Lye Cross colliery. On Saturday whilst he was at work in the pit a fall of coal took place and he was buried underneath it and instantly killed. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

County Advertiser 5/7/1879 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant.

Apply, Mary Harris, BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill.”

1881 Census

54, Reddall Hill Road – BRIDGE INN

[1] Mary Harris (61), widow, licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Thomas Harris (23), manager, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Ann M. Baker (13), grand-daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Annie Guest (19), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 26/5/1883 - Deaths

“On the 11th inst, suddenly, Thomas, the youngest son of the late Benjamin and Mary Harris, of the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill Road, Old Hill, aged 24; deeply regretted.”

Dudley and District News 14/7/1883

“Levi Stevens, puddler, was committed for a month's hard labour for being drunk and disorderly at the BRIDGE TAVERN, Cradley Heath, on the 2nd inst. This makes his 18th conviction.”

Dudley and District News 8/12/1883

“Mary Harris, landlady of the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, was summoned for selling ale during prohibited hours, on the 1st inst. Mr. Cooksey defended.

PC Cheeseman stated that on Saturday night last, at ten minutes past eleven o'clock, he saw a man named John Williams cross the horse-road with a empty jug in his hand, and go into the licensed premises by the back way. When Williams came out he (witness) met him and took the jug from him, and it was then full of ale. He then took Williams back into the house and told the defendant that it was thirteen minutes past eleven.

Mr. Cooksey submitted that as there seemed to have been no attempt either to deny the offence, or to act so as to mislead the police or anyone else, and as there was nothing to show any intention to commit an offence, it would be a great hardship to convict the defendant. The defendant had for upwards of twenty-two years, either by herself or with her husband, had the management of the public-house, and during that time there had not been any conviction against her, and it had not been shown to the Bench that the defendant had conducted her house differently now. This did not answer the case, but they were circumstances, he contended, which ought to bear weight on their minds to show that there had been no intention to commit an offence in this particular instance. There was evidently a mistake some where, and he had several witnesses, who were on the premises, who would say that the ale was filled and supplied before eleven o'clock.

Matilda Baker, the defendant's daughter, stated that on the night in question she closed the front door of the house ten minutes before eleven o'clock, and that about five minutes before, the defendant came to the back door and asked for a quart of ale. She refused to fill it, not because she thought it was after eleven o'clock, but because she had closed the front door. The defendant, however, went into the bar and was supplied with the ale by the defendant. It was then five minutes to eleven. The police withdrew the summons on payment of costs."

Dudley and District News 22/12/1883

"Mary Harris, landlady of the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness. Mr. Waldron (instructed by the police) appeared to prosecute, and Mr. T. Cooksey defended.

About 10.35 on the night of the 17th inst, PCs Rowlands and Cheeseman were on duty near the place, and heard a disturbance going on in the house. They went in, and found a man named Homer, who was drunk, stripped, and quarrelling. When the officers went in, Homer became quiet, and put on his jacket, and drank out of a cup.

The defendant was fined 10s and costs."

County Advertiser 5/1/1884

"William Homer, Arthur Bagnall, and Henry Weaver, chainmakers, all of Cradley Heath, were each fined 5s and costs for being drunk on the licensed premises of Mary Harris, BRIDGE INN, Spinners End."

County Express 2/2/1884

"Alfred Harris and Samuel Harris, Spinners End, were charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the premises of Mary Harris, their mother, on the 25th inst.

Complainant keeps the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, and on the above date her two sons were in the house quarrelling. She ordered them to leave the house, but they refused to do so and commenced to fight. In attempting to separate them the mother received some injuries.

The former was fined 10s and costs, and the latter 5s and costs.

Joseph Harris, another brother, was then charged with assaulting Elizabeth Harris, the wife of Samuel Harris, at the same time.

Complainant said she went to the house on the Friday evening previous, and the defendant, after pushing her about, struck her two or three times.

Defendant said complainant had a poker in her hand with which she threatened to assault him.

The Bench decided to dismiss this charge."

Dudley and District News 15/3/1884

"Joseph Harris was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the 8th inst, by PC Bradbury. The officer said on the night in question he went to the BRIDGE INN, and saw defendant there drunk. He requested him to leave, and he did so; but afterwards returned again. He was very drunk, and using very bad language.

Defendant denied being drunk, but admitted quarrelling with a man named Baker.

Flora Hickman said she was in the BRIDGE INN on the night in question. She saw the defendant there, and he was quite sober.

The case was dismissed."

Dudley and District News 3/5/1884

"George Stevens, George Hussey, and John Dunn, all of Cradley Heath, were charged by Sergeant White with being drunk on the licensed premises of Mary Harris, of the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, on the 26th April. Fined 2s 6d and costs, or in default seven days."

County Advertiser 30/8/1884

"The annual brewster sessions for the Parish of Rowley Regis were held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

Inspector Walters presented the black list.....

In the case of Mary Harris, BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill Road, Cradley Heath, the license was granted on a promise not to offend again."

Dudley and District News 13/12/1884

"Thomas Stevens, chainmaker, of Newtown, was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, on Saturday night. The defendant went into the house very drunk and was refused beer. He was requested to leave but he refused to do so. Inspector Walters came into the house and the defendant then left. Fined 5s and costs, or seven days."

County Express 14/3/1885

"Thomas Stevens, chainmaker, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk at the BRIDGE INN, Cradley Heath, on the 2nd inst.

Police-constable Kegan proved the case, and defendant, who had been previously convicted, was fined 5s and costs or fourteen days.”

County Advertiser 22/8/1885 - Advert

“The Primrose Loan and Investment Society, held at the BRIDGE INN, Plants Green, Reddal Hill Road, Old Hill, every Saturday Evening. A Dinner will be provided in connection with the above Society on Thursday, August 27th, 1885, at Six o’clock pm, prompt. Average dividend, 2s 5d per £5 Share per quarter. Any person wishing to join may obtain all information by applying at the above Inn, or to Mr. S. Baker, Secretary, Plants Green. Ales, Wines, and Spirits of the best quality.”

County Advertiser 18/9/1886

“Samuel Harris, living at the BRIDGE INN, Reddall Hill, was charged with stealing 19s 7d, the money of Thomas Sidaway, chainmaker, of Newtown Street, Old Hill, on the 31st ult. Complainant stated he gave to defendant a sovereign in payment for some ale. Witness was talking to a friend at the time and forgot the change, but next morning went about it to the defendant, who denied having had the sovereign. Subsequently some of the defendant’s friends tendered the complainant the money, but having instituted proceedings he did not accept it. He, however, did not wish to press the case.

The Bench said they should not allow the case to be withdrawn, and defendant would go to gaol for fourteen days.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 5/2/1887

“Samuel Baker, landlord of the BRIDGE INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his premises on the 16th ult. John Amos Small, draper, Dudley, stated that he went to defendant’s house on the date in question, about 4.30, and paid for 5 or 6 quarts of beer, which was shared amongst four of them. He remembered nothing after this, until he was aroused up on some wasteland about 9.30 by the police. He lost 15s in addition to what he spent, and he could not say what became of it.

Mr. J. Clarke appeared for the defence.

PC Winn stated that he found Joseph Small helplessly drunk near to the BRIDGE INN, on some waste land. A crowd of women and children were around him. He took him to the station for safety.

Miss Baker stated that she saw Small come into the house, and he was perfectly sober at the time and she filled him some beer, and subsequently she noticed that he seemed to have had sufficient beer, and she told him to go.

A witness stated that he saw Small after leaving the house and he walked straight.

The Bench said they considered there was a laxity of management, but would only impose a light fine of 10s and costs.

Mr. Clarke also applied for a temporary authority in the same house, which was granted.”

Dudley Mercury 20/4/1889

“Noah Dunn, Dudley Wood, was fined 2s 6d and costs for being drunk on the licensed premises of Samuel Baker, the BRIDGE INN, and also refusing to quit, on the 10th inst.”

Dudley Mercury 17/8/1889

“Joseph Priest, New Town, Cradley Heath; William Easthorpe, Old Hill; and Thomas Stevens, Old Hill, all chainmakers, were charged with bring drunk on licensed premises, on the 29th July. Mr. Travis (Perry and Travis) defended. Police-constable Hingley visited the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill, kept by Samuel Baker, and there saw the defendants in the bar. They were drunk. Easthorpe asked him to drink, and as witness refused, he called him a — fool. Mr. Travis, for the defence, denied the charge in toto. His clients informed him they only had two pints each, and his experience was that it took considerably more than two pints to make a chainmaker drunk. Captain Tromans said he would swear the men were not drunk. Two other witnesses were called, and swore the defendants were not drunk. The case was dismissed.”

County Advertiser 11/1/1890 - Advert

“Freehold Old-Licensed Premises and Dwelling Houses, Cradley Heath.

Mr. T. Pateshall is favoured with instructions to Sell by Auction, at an early date, all that important and highly-valuable Freehold Corner Public House, the BRIDGE INN, situate at Reddal Hill Road, Cradley Heath, occupied by Mr. Baker.

Also the Two substantially-erected and Genteel Dwelling Houses adjoining.

Further information may be obtained from Mr Thos. Cooksey, Solicitor, Old Hill and Blackheath; Mr Wm. Waldron, Solicitor, Brierley Hill; Messrs. John Wright and Tanfield, Solicitor, Cradley Heath and Halesowen; or the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 25/1/1890 - Advert

“Highly Valuable Freehold Old-Licensed Public House and Dwelling Houses, Cradley Heath.

Mr. T. Pateshall is favoured with instructions to Sell by Auction, at the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill Road, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday, the 18th day of February, 1890, at Six for Seven o’clock in the Evening, subject to conditions.

Lot 1. All that very important Freehold Old-Licensed Corner Public House, the BRIDGE INN, situate at Reddal Hill Road, Cradley Heath, aforesaid, now in the occupation of Mr. Samuel Baker.

The Premises are very conveniently arranged, and comprise Tap Room, Smoke Room, Kitchen, two Cellars, with rolling way from yard; large Club Room. three Bed Rooms, and Malt Room. The Outbuildings comprise Brewhouse, three-stall Stable, with loft over; Card Shed, Piggeries, and Closets, together with large enclosed Yard.

The Premises occupy an excellent position on the main road to Old Hill, have an extensive frontage to, and Cartway Entrance from, New Town Street, and are in close proximity to several large Manufactories.....”

County Advertiser 3/5/1890 - Advert

“BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath.

Mr. T. Pateshall is instructed to Sell by Auction upon the Premises as above, on Tuesday Next, May 6th, 1890, the whole of the excellent Household Furniture, &c, comprising Chimney Glass, in rosewood frame; Engravings, Crown-back Windsor and Cane-seated Chairs; Arm Chair, Mahogany Centre and Dining Tables, capital Mahogany Horsehair-seated Couch and Sofa, large quantity of Dinner Ware, Iron, Four-post, and Arabian Bedsteads; Feather and Flock Beds, Straw Mattresses, American Lounging Chair, Mahogany and Oak Chest of Drawers, Mahogany Night Chair, Mahogany Eight-day and American Clock, Kitchen and Cooking Utensils, Malt Crusher, Two knife Chaff Engine, and other Effects, belonging to the representatives of the late Mr. Harris.

Sale at Twelve o'clock.”

* probably the same person

County Express 21/3/1891

“Mr. Edwin Hooper, district corner, held an inquest on Tuesday afternoon, at the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, respecting the death of Ellen Wilimore (14), the daughter of Alfred and Hannah Wilimore, Spinners End. A few nights ago the deceased was found in an unconscious state lying across the grate in her bed room. She was enveloped in flames, and her face, back, and chest were shockingly injured. She is supposed to have fallen on to the fire when seized with a fainting fit. Verdict, Accidental Death.”

1891 Census

54, Reddal Hill Road

[1] Henry Walkins (40), public house manager, born Birmingham;

[2] Mary Walkins (35), wife, born Worcester;

[3] Daisy Walkins (9), daughter, born Birmingham;

[4] Ann Walkins (84), mother, widow, born Halesowen;

[5] Annie Wright (18), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 16/5/1891

“Henry Watkins, manager of the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises. Mr. Waldron prosecuted for the police authorities, and Mr. Tanfield defended.

At 9.15 on the night of April 27th, Police-constables Wynn and Lewis went to the defendant's house, and upon going into the bar they found three brothers named James, Samuel, and Levi Stevens in a very drunken condition. The defendant volunteered a statement to the officers that the men had only been there half an hour, and they had not been supplied with anything to drink, and that he had been trying to get them out for half an hour. Defendant asked the officers to request the men to go, and they did so, the men leaving, staggering as they went out. If the case rested here there would be no offence against the defendant, but the men would be called, and they would prove that they were there for two hours, and that a great quantity of beer was supplied to them. Police-constables Wynn and Lewis gave evidence in support of the charge.

In reply to Mr. Bassano, Lewis said a young woman who came from the direction of the public house, informed him of the men being drunk in the house.

Police-constable Insley said he saw Levi Stevens go in drunk at 8.30.

James Stevens said he went into the defendant's house just turned dinner, and remained till 9.15, when the policemen came. The defendant supplied him with fourpenny. They were drinking all the time.

Levi Stevens said he went in at about eight, and had some fourpenny. He had seen the defendant that morning, and he told witness to say he had had nothing to drink.

Mr. Tanfield addressed the Bench for the defence, after which defendant was called, and stated that two of the men were in in the afternoon and had some beer. They left and returned at about eight, and he refused them beer. They refused to go, and he sent for the police.

Cross-examined: He had not asked Levi to say he had nothing to drink.

Annie Wright, a servant at the house, also said the men were refused beer, and when they would not go she was sent for the police, and found Lewis.

John Mansell, fitter, said the men were not supplied with beer.

The Bench said when there were the elements of doubt in a case, the full benefit of it should be given to the defendant, because it was a difficult trade to carry on. When there were no elements of doubt, the Bench always felt disposed to deal severely with defendants. They, however, thought the elements of doubt were sufficient to warrant the Bench in dismissing it, but it was a very proper case to bring before them, and the costs would be remitted.

Mr. Tanfield applied for the transfer of the license to John William Haynes.

Mr. Bassano said the whole system of granting licenses to managers was abominable, and he should like never to renew the license to such persons.

Mr. Goodman said the Bench had power to do this.

Mr. Bassano said he didn't think the time had come to take this course.

Superintendent Woollaston said one half of the characters presented on behalf of managers were not worth a straw. He knew cases where persons had signed characters when they didn't know the individual for whom they were signing.

An interim authority to sell was granted.”

John William Haines = John William Haynes

John William Haines – see also WHITE SWAN, Oldbury; COCK, Smethwick; and OLD ENGINE, Smethwick.

County Advertiser 1/8/1891

“Cain Siviter, chainmaker, Reddal Hill Road, Old Hill, was charged with assaulting Matilda Lynton, on the 25th inst. [sic] Complainant said that on the night in question she went to the BRIDGE INN, and sat down for a few minutes. The defendant, who was present, then went out with complainant’s father, and witness went out to see where her father was, when she found he had hold of her father’s muffler, trying to strangle him. Defendant then threw a jug of ale over her and the baby. She didn’t know why he did it.

Charles Lynton corroborated, and ‘Captain’ Tromans, called for the defence, said that the ale was accidentally spilt over complainant.

Defendant was also charged with using threatening language towards Samuel Brettell, who deposed to defendant using threatening language to him, and to his being afraid that defendant would do him some harm.

The Bench dismissed the case of assault, and ordered the costs to be divided. In the case of threats, defendant would be bound over in his own recognisances to keep the peace for three months.”

Henry Weston = Henry Wesson

County Express 21/11/1891

“Henry Weston, landlord of the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his premises. Mr. Waldron prosecuted, and Mr. Tanfield defended.

Police-constable Wynn said at 9.45 on the 7th inst, in company with Police-constable Adams, he was standing outside defendant’s house, when he saw a man named Harris being led out of the house by another man. Harris was drunk. Witness then went inside and found a man in the bar named Dunn drunk. Witness said to the landlord, ‘You see this man, here, he has had too much drink.’ The landlord replied, ‘Yes; he has been here to a supper tonight, and I will get him out as soon as possible.’

Cross-examined: Witness did not see Harris drink.

Police-constable Adams corroborated.

Inspector Bishop said he visited defendant’s house at about five minutes to eleven, in company with Police-sergeant Hayward. He said to defendant, ‘You have had some of my men here,’ and defendant replied, ‘Yes,’ and from another question witness put to him he replied that Dunn had got drunk on his premises.

Police-sergeant Hayward corroborated.

For the defence, the landlord said on the 7th inst he was giving a dinner to a club which he held at his house. All the members which were to come did not turn up, and Dunn volunteered to help them to eat the dinner. (Laughter.) Dunn had only had two pints then, and witness allowed him to partake of the supper. There were twelve at the supper, and they had five quarts between them. Dunn did not have any more drink, and he was not drunk.

Cross-examined: He did not contradict Police-constable Wynn when he said Dunn was drunk, because he thought nothing would come of it.

Several witnesses supported this statement.

Defendant was fined £5 and costs.

John Dunn, for being drunk at the BRIDGE INN on the occasion referred to, was fined 5s and costs.”

County Advertiser 27/8/1892

“The annual Brewster Sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division, were held at Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday.....

Inspector Bishop presented his report Appended is a list of publicans who have been convicted during the year....

Henry Wesson, BRIDGE INN, Cradley Heath, permitting drunkenness, November 18th, 1891, fined £5 and costs.....

Mr. W. Waldron applied on behalf of Richard John Amphlett, tenant of the BRIDGE INN, Cradley Heath, previously occupied by Henry Wesson, for the renewal of the license. Inspector Bishop proved two convictions against the house, but, in answer to Mr. Waldron, said Mr. Amphlett was conducting the house to his entire satisfaction. In answer to the Bench, Inspector Bishop said there was no public house close to, but there were several within a radius of 400 yards.

The Bench said it was a house which needed careful management, and renewed the license.”

County Advertiser 13/5/1893

“Richard John Amphlett, landlord of the BRIDGE TAVERN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises, and also with selling liquor to a drunken person. Mr. Waldron defended.

Police-sergeant Newman deposed to visiting the house kept by defendant, about seven o’clock pm, on the 29th ult, in company with Police-constable Wynn. In the bar they found a man named Richard Tyrell, very much the worse for beer. Tyrell was leaning upon the counter, between two other men, talking to the defendant. Witness said to defendant, ‘That man has had enough,’ to which defendant replied, ‘Yes, I have asked him to go.’ He and Wynn then went outside, and in about five minutes saw the man come out, going away in the direction of his home. At Reddal Hill, Tyrrell stopped to speak to a man, and fell down, and witness had to send a constable to take him home. Witness went back to the house, and asked the landlord how long Tyrrell had been there. He replied that he was there about twenty minutes, and had one glass of whiskey.

Police-constable Wynn and John Hill corroborated.

Cross-examined: Defendant said the man had only had a glass of whiskey in his house. He could not say whether the man was supplied with drink there. He was not aware that a heated discussion about the Home Rule Bill was going on. Mr. Waldron, who said he appeared for Messrs. Showell, to whom the house belonged, said they had instructed him to place the facts before the Bench. These cases were the most difficult cases one could be engaged in, for the law, at the present moment, seemed to be very stringently interpreted against the publican. But although that might be so, he asked the Bench not to inflict a heavy penalty or even convict in the case, because the landlord did not know the man was drunk or receive notice of the fact. Tyrrell had a glass of whiskey in the house, and a discussion arose about the Home Rule Bill, leading to some exciting talk, and the excitement of the man might have led the police to make a mistake. There was no general drunkenness going on, and the defendant turned out the man directly his attention was called to him, and there was no disorder, and he therefore asked the Bench to inflict a light penalty. Of course it was really one offence, and the police did not press the second charge. The Bench dismissed the second charge, and fined defendant £5 and costs on the first. Richard Tyrrell, Wrights Lane, Old Hill, was fined 2s 6d and costs for being drunk on the licensed premises.”

Birmingham Daily Post 12/5/1894

“Yesterday afternoon Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the BRIDGE INN, Cradley Heath, respecting the death of Thomas Bagley (54), chainmaker, who committed suicide by hanging himself on the 10th inst. Evidence was given showing that deceased had complained of the shortness of work. He made ½in chain, and was paid at the rate of 2s 9d per cwt. He generally made about 7cwt of chain a week, and to do that he had to work each day from six o’clock in the morning until eight o’clock at night. His earnings were about 12s a week, and out of that he had to pay 6s for firing and 2d per cwt for the carriage, which left about 5s for himself and wife to live upon. The Coroner said there was no doubt that the man’s mind had been affected in consequence of the slackness of work. He had heard a great deal about the chainmakers, and he thought it was a great pity he could not have summoned some of the legislators of the country to attend that enquiry, for he felt sure if they had done so there would soon be an alteration in that trade. His impression was that for a man and his wife to be compelled to exist on 5s a week as deceased had done was enough to make him destroy himself. Such a state of affairs was a scandal to the country. The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst Temporarily Insane.”

County Advertiser 16/6/1894

“Thomas Tinsley, Brook Lane, Old Hill, was fined 20s including costs, for being drunk in the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, on the 5th inst.”

County Express 30/1/1897

“A child named Elsie Eliza Sidaway, residing with her parents in New Town Lane, Cradley Heath, died on Wednesday morning from the effects of burns. Whilst the mother of the deceased was ill in bed on the 9th inst, the deceased got too near the fire, her clothes were speedily enveloped in flames, and she sustained such shocking injuries as to cause her death, as above stated. An inquest on deceased was held on Thursday, by Mr. Betham (deputy coroner) at the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End. The Coroner remarked that the grate was fixed so low as to be dangerous. He hoped that it would be a warning to persons who had similar grates. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 17/11/1900 - Advert

“Reddal Hill, Cradley Heath. Sale of Highly-Important and Valuable Freehold Land and Buildings. E. O. Nightingale has received instructions from Mr. W. Wallace, to Sell by Auction at the House of Mr. Stanton, the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill, Cradley Heath, on Wednesday, the 21st day of November, 1900, at Six for Seven o’clock in the Evening, subject to Conditions of Sale then to be produced.....”

1901 Census

54, Reddal Hill Road – BRIDGE INN

- [1] George Frederick Stanton (39), commercial hotel manager, born Tipton;
- [2] Sarah Stanton (38), wife, born Tipton;
- [3] Kate Stanton (14), daughter, born Tipton;
- [4] Beatrice Stanton (10), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Alfreda James (20), niece, mantle maker, born Tipton:

George Slim = George Slimm = George Slinn

Smethwick Weekly News 12/4/1902

“George Slim, landlord of the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, Old Hill, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises; also with supplying a drunken person on the 14th ult. Mr. J. W. Clulow, who prosecuted, explained that on the date named PCs Horne and Gratage visited the defendant’s premises and found a man named James Tromans in a drunken condition, with a quantity of whisky on the table. Tromans was eventually locked up. Mr. Waldron, who defended, admitted the offences, and defendant was fined £5 17s 6d including costs.”

County Advertiser 14/2/1903

“On Wednesday the annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held at the Court House..... Superintendent Spendlove had given notice that he should oppose the following licenses.....
George Slinn, BRIDGE INN, Cradley Heath, selling whiskey to a drunken man, and not a fit and proper person.....
License renewed.”

A team from here took part in the Rowley Regis and District Air-Gun Shooting League. [1903]

County Advertiser 27/8/1904

“On Sunday afternoon the eighth annual parade and service arranged by the various friendly societies in the Old Hill district took place under favourable circumstances. The proceedings commenced with a large procession.....

The Cradley Heath Salvation Army Band started from the ROSE AND CROWN INN, proceeded down Reddal Hill Road as far as the BRIDGE INN, turning across Plant Street, Lawrence Lane, Trinity Street, picking up another society. Afterwards they marched by way of Elbow Street and Wagon Street to the field, calling at the KINGS HEAD INN and ENGINE INN for societies.....

Upon arrival at the field a grand procession was formed This paraded the principal streets of the locality for some time, after which they proceeded to a field in High Street, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. A. E. Sidaway. Here a service was held, the chair being occupied by Dr. T. E. Mitchell. Notwithstanding the threatening state of the weather there was a large attendance..... A collection was made upon the route, and at the service, on behalf of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, Birmingham Eye Hospital, Birmingham General Hospital, Birmingham Ear and Throat Hospital, and the Old Hill Nurses Fund.”

Gilbert Willetts played football for Cradley Heath St. Peters.

Elijah Henry Annes = Elijah Henry Annis

County Advertiser 1/12/1906

“Thomas Roach, chainmaker, of Plant Street, Old Hill, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill, Cradley Heath, kept by Elijah Henry Annis, on the 17th ult.

Mr. J. S. Sharpe (West Bromwich), who prosecuted, explained that on the night in question whilst drinking in the public house defendant commenced to use bad language. Prosecutor asked defendant to desist, and when he refused he ordered him to leave the premises. This he declined to do, even when Police-constable Horton appeared on the scene; he was put of the house. Defendant, who admitted the offence, was fined 10s and costs.”

County Express 8/8/1908

“On Sunday afternoon there was held the twelfth annual service promoted by the united friendly societies in the Old Hill district. The occasion was favoured with brilliant weather, and there was a large attendance at the services. The proceedings opened with a large procession, which aroused considerable interest in the district. The Old Hill Ironworks Band started from the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, at one o'clock, and proceeded to the OLD HOUSE AT HOME INN for sick and draw club, through Cherry Orchard, calling for Court Robin Hood's Cave and BRITISH OAK sick and draw club; by way of Wagon Street, calling for Success-to-the-FOX-HUNT Lodge; Elbow Street for Court Benjamin and KINGS HEAD sick and draw club; Halesowen Road, calling for Provident Institution, and on to the field. The Cradley Heath Salvation Army Band started from COOKSEY'S HOTEL at one o'clock with Snowdrop Lodge, by way of Halesowen Road, calling for Court Loyal Marlborough; Bank Street, Queens Street, High Street, and on to the field. The Cradley Heath Town Prize Band started from the ROSE AND CROWN INN, Reddal Hill, with Court Robin Hood the Brave; by way of Reddal Hill Road, calling for the WHY NOT sick and draw club, and on to the BRIDGE INN for Welcome to the Bridge Inn Lodge, across Plant Street, Lawrence Lane, Clyde Street, Petford Street calling for Druids Society; Pear Tree Street, Riddings Street, New Street, Halesowen Road, calling for Court Royal Sherwood and Rechabites Society and ROYAL EXCHANGE sick and draw club; High Street to the field. A grand procession was then formed.....”

County Express 12/12/1908

“Rowley Regis Fire Brigade. The annual dinner in connection with this brigade was held on Saturday night, at the BRIDGE HOTEL, Old Hill. After an excellent dinner provided by the host and hostess (Mr. and Mrs. Annis), Mr. J. E. Harris (chairman of the Fire Brigade Committee) took the chair.....”

Tipton Herald 14/8/1909

“The Deputy Coroner (Mr. W. Lewis) on Saturday held an inquest at the BRIDGE INN, on the body of an unnamed child of William Henry and Alice Gladders, of 9, Albert Street.

Mrs. Gladders said she retired with the child on the 4th inst, at 10.30. Twice during the night it had the breast. When she awoke the third time, at 5.0 the following morning, the child commenced coughing. She noticed it change colour, so she called in a neighbour, in whose arms the baby died.

Dr. Kelly said he had made an external examination of the body, and said everything pointed to the baby having had convulsions. The child was 24 days old.

The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the doctor's evidence.”

Tipton Herald 25/9/1909

“At Old Hill on Wednesday, an application was made for the transfer of the license of the BRIDGE INN, Spinners End, Cradley Heath, from Elijah Henry Annes to Albert Ernest Blackford.

Superintendent Johnson said he had no objection to the character of the applicant, but the out-going manager had left the house for five weeks before an application was made for the transfer of the license. No intimation had been received from the firm until the police called the attention of the representative of the brewery company to the fact that Annes had left the house. He objected to the loose manner in which the company conducted their business, because the man Blackford had been in charge of the house for five weeks whilst Annes held the license. Mr. Hingley (chairman) asked if Superintendent Johnson objected to the transfer. Superintendent Johnson replied that he did not, but he was opposed to the loose system of the brewery company concerned. The Bench granted the application, and Mr. Hingley asked the company’s representative (Mr. Dingley) to see that such a thing did not occur again.”

County Express 15/1/1910

“Election Results.

The County Express have arranged for a complete service of Election Results between today (Saturday) and January 29th, by night and day.

Night Results tonight (Saturday) and on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week will be shown by limelight lantern (worked by Mr. W. A. Dallow of Stourbridge) from the windows of the Head Office, High Street, Stourbridge.

Day Results as received will be posted in the following places:

County Express Head Office, High Street, Stourbridge.

BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill, Cradley Heath.

Mr. U. Beddall’s (County Express Branch Office, Brierley Hill).

VINE AND RAILWAY HOTEL, Cradley Heath.

Mr. G. Evans, High Street, Quarry Bank.”

1911 Census

71, Reddal Hill Road – BRIDGE INN

[1] Thomas Lander (43), licensed victualler, born Tardebigge, Worcestershire;

[2] Louisa Lander (42), wife, born West Bromwich;

[3] Martha Lander (19), daughter, assists in the business, born Aston, Warwickshire;

[4] Thomas Lander (17), son, assists in the business, born Wilnecote, Warwickshire;

[5] Leah Brough (20), general servant, born Chadsmoor, Staffordshire;

[6] Minnie Aston (4), visitor, niece, born Great Barr:

County Express 7/9/1912

“On Thursday week Miss Nellie Lander, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Lander, of the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill, celebrated her 21st birthday. About 36 sat down to tea, and subsequently a large number of customers were entertained. A musical evening was afterwards enjoyed. Many presents were received and included the following: Mrs. Lander, household linen; Miss G. Payne, table centre; Miss Amy Tromans, set of vases; Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs (Matlock), silver salt cellars; Mrs. J. Fereday, covers; Mr. Wood, tablecloth; Miss P. Whitehouse, d’oyleys; Mrs. Detheridge, fancy dish and vase; Mrs. Hawkes, set of vases; Miss L. Whitehouse, cress dish and stand; Miss S. Hubble, belt and writing case; Miss M. Whitehouse, decanters; Miss C. Tromans, celery glass; Miss B. Tromans, table centre; Miss G. Hall, sugar basin and cream jug; Miss E. Oliver, duchesse set; Miss E. Hall, glass dish; Miss R. Betts, dessert dishes; Miss E. Potts, fancy tea pot; Mrs. Dorse, dessert dishes; Miss F. Powell, table centre; Mr. W. Detheridge, cut glasses; Miss W. Thompson, vases; Miss E. Detheridge, fruit dish; Miss B. Garbett (Wednesbury), pinafore; and Mrs. Broom, kitchen requisites.”

Dudley Chronicle 23/8/1913

“Harry White, George Road, Warley, and Benjamin Reid, Swan Street, Dudley, were charged with leaving a horse and dray and a donkey cart respectively unattended.

The police officer stated that on the 14th August he was passing the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill Road, Old Hill, at 12-25. He saw Reid’s donkey cart draw up in Newtown Road, near the corner by the BRIDGE INN. The defendant White was just bringing his dray to a standstill behind the donkey cart. White took something in a box off his cart, and went into the BRIDGE. The officer watched the carts for some time, and at 12-50, 25 minutes after the cart stopped, he went into the BRIDGE, and there saw the two defendants talking to customers in the bar. He told them he should report them for leaving their carts unattended where there was a great deal of traffic, and when they could have put them in the yard.

Both defendants said they did not think they had been in the house for so long.

They were each fined 10s.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 2/2/1915

“The following are the handicap and start made by the handicappers for the Birmingham and District Licensed Victuallers’ Billiards Tournament.....

F. J. Ellis, BRIDGE INN, Old Hill, receives 125.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 7/3/1917

“Local Billiards.....

The first round of the Birmingham and District Licensed Victuallers' Handicap was continued at the Royal Exchange, Dale End, Birmingham. In the Afternoon F. J. Ellis, BRIDGE INN, Old Hill (rec.125) beat B. Barlow, Golden Lion, Aston (rec.125) by 400 to 302. Ellis played consistently, making breaks of 18, 17, and 13 (twice). The loser's best was 17."

Evening Despatch 3/4/1918

"In a billiards match played at the BRIDGE INN, Old Hill, on Monday, in aid of the Worcestershire prisoners of war, Mr. W. Martin, sen. (Stourbridge) beat Frank Ellis (rec.150 in 750 up) by 34 points."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 19/4/1918

"The final of the Birmingham Licensed Victuallers' Billiards Handicap was played at the Exchange Hotel, Dale End, Birmingham, yesterday, when Mr. Frank Ellis, of the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill Road, Old Hill, beat Mr. Harry Higgs, of the White Swan, Sherlock Street, Birmingham, after a keen and capital game. The final consisted of 800 points, and Mr. Higgs was in receipt of 490 and Mr. Ellis 260. At the interval the scores were Mr. Higgs 614, Mr. Ellis (in play) 531. In the evening Mr. Ellis gradually advanced his score, and at 726 the scores were level. Subsequently Mr. Ellis enjoyed the run of the balls and won, the final scores reading Mr. Ellis 800, Mr. Higgs 755."

William Hall was an ex-miner.

Dudley Herald 19/12/1931

"Mr. Frank Cooper held an inquest at the BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill Road, on Tuesday, respecting the death of Stuart John Haden (63), 68, Reddal Hill Road, a retired signalman, who died suddenly in bed on Sunday morning. Lottie Haden, widow, said her husband had a seizure seven years ago, and as a result of seeing a specialist, did not return to his work as a signalman, but was given a light job as a telephone operator at Old Hill. He retired some years ago, and had not seen a doctor for 12 months. On Saturday she and her husband went to the pictures, and returning home at 9.30, retired to bed at 10.30. At 5.30 on Sunday morning she heard a gurgling noise, and woke up to find her husband unconscious. When the doctor arrived he was dead. Dr. W. Allen said his opinion was that the man died from apoplexy. A verdict of Death from Natural Causes was returned."

1939 Register

71, Reddal Hill Road – BRIDGE INN

[1] Clifford C. Lewis, date of birth 14/4/1880, publican, married;

[2] Frances M. Lewis, dob 27/8/1889, unpaid house duties, married:

The license was put up for consideration of redundancy on 4th February 1959.

Lichfield Mercury 29/5/1959 - Notice

"The Licensing Act, 1953. Notice of Principal Meeting. County of Stafford.

Notice is Hereby Given that the Principal Meeting to be held pursuant to the Licensing Rules, 1910, by the Compensation Authority of the above area, will be held in the Council Chamber, County Buildings, Stafford, on Thursday, the 25th day of June, 1959, at 2.15 o'clock pm.

And Notice Is Hereby Also Given that the Compensation Authority will at the Meeting be prepared to hear, with reference to the renewal of the licenses of the premises specified in the subjoined list, all those persons to whom under the Licensing Act, 1953, they are bound to give an opportunity of being heard.....

List of Licensed Premises.....

BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill Road, Old Hill. Nature of License, Publican's. Licensee, Ethel Maria Denbury."

Lichfield Mercury 14/8/1959 - Notice

"The Licensing Act, 1953.

Notice as to Sending in Claims to be Treated as Persons Interested in Licensed Premises.

County of Stafford.

Notice is Hereby Given that the Compensation Authority for the above area, having decided at their Principal Meeting, held on the 25th day of June, 1959, to refuse the Renewal of the Licences of the premises specified below, all persons claiming to be interested in the said premises for the purpose of the payment of the compensation under the said Act (other than the Licensees and Registered Owners of the said premises) are required to send to the Compensation Authority notice of their claims before the 5th September, 1959, for the purpose of enabling the Compensation Authority to ascertain in manner provided by the Licensing Rules, 1910, the persons entitled to compensation under the said Act in respect of the said premises.

Notice of claims must be given in the form of annexed and may be sent to the Clerk of the Compensation Authority at the County Buildings, Stafford.

Licensed Premises.....

BRIDGE INN, Reddal Hill Road, Old Hill. Nature of License, Publican's. Licensee, Ethel Maria Denbury. Registered Owners, Ind Coope Ltd."

Compensation was paid on 24th December 1959.

The license was extinguished on 31st December 1959.

BRITANNIA

124, (77), Halesowen Street, BLACKHEATH

OWNERS

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd. [1949]
Enterprise Inns [1993], [1994]
J. D. Wetherspoon [2007], [2019]

LICENSEES

David Darby [1868]
John Haynes [1871]
John Harris [] – 1874);
Alfred Cox (1874 – []
Mrs. Alfred Cox [1876]
Thomas Smart [1876] – 1880);
Thomas Chapman (1880 – [1901]
Titus Hadley [] – 1903);
William Foxall (1903 – 1907);
Alfred Edward Fewtrell (1907 – []
George Pooler [1908]
Joseph George Littlewood [] – 1909);
Frederick Salt (1909 – 1916);
Mrs. Charlotte Steventon Darby [1919] – 1927);
Ernest Slater (1927 – 1930);
Solomon Westwood (1930 – 1931);
Robert John Mullins (1931 – 1946);
Frederick William James Gipton [1949] – 1951);
Sydney Chapman (1951 – 1955);
John James Woodfell (1955 – 1964);
Bert William Strong (1964);
Edward Ernest Johnson (1964 – [1965]
S S Cheema [1983]
Tony James [1984]
Roy Stanley [1986]
Jacqueline Nash [1991]
Carolyn Timmins and Elizabeth Gallagher [2000]
Elizabeth Ann-Marie Gallagher [2002]
Vicky Devine [2012] – [2014]
Siobhan Rustom [2017]
Jonny Miles [2019]

NOTES

77, Halesowen Street [1881], [1891], [1901], [1911]
124, Halesowen Street [1939], [1940]

It had an ante '69 beerhouse license.

County Express 13/6/1868 - Advert

“BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath.

Mr. Chandler will Sell by Auction, on Monday, June 22nd, 1868, at Eleven o'clock, the Valuable Public House Fixtures, Seasoned Ale Casks, Four-pull Ale Machine, Capital Malt Crusher, Gig, Light Spring Trap, Two Narrow-wheel Carts, Set of Gig Harness, Blacksmith's Anvil, Two Iron Vices, Gas Fittings, &c; also a portion of the Useful Household Furniture, American Clock, Mahogany Chest of Drawers, and Effects, at the BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, by the direction of Mr. David Darby, who is declining the business and leaving.

Auction Offices: Cradley Heath.”

1871 Census

Halesowen Street – BRITANNIA

- [1] John Haynes (49), beer seller, born Clun, Shropshire;
- [2] Margaret Haynes (45), wife, born Llanwair Waterdine, Shropshire;
- [3] John Haynes (19), son, carpenter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Margaret Haynes (17), daughter, domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Harry Haynes (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Alice Haynes (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

County Advertiser 19/2/1876 - Advert

“Wanted, a honest, industrious Servant Girl, used to a public house, 20 to 25 years of age. Apply, Mrs. A. Cox, BRITANNIA INN, Blackheath.”

County Advertiser 30/9/1876

“Thomas Smart, landlord of the BRITANNIA INN, Blackheath, charged Joseph Walters with being disorderly upon his premises, and with refusing to quit when ordered to do so on the 16th inst. Defendant was further charged with having been drunk and disorderly on the same date. Both offences were proved, and the Bench inflicted a fine of 2s 6d and costs each.”

County Advertiser 20/11/1880

“Fanny Parkes, Hackett Street, Blackheath, was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the licensed premises of James [sic] Chapman, BRITANNIA INN, Blackheath. The case was proved, and defendant was fined 10s including costs.”

1881 Census

77, Halesowen Street

- [1] Thomas Chapman (34), carpenter, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Emma Chapman (27), wife, born Oldbury;
- [3] Harry E. Chapman (4), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Frank H. Chapman (2), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Thomas F. Chapman (1 month), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Sarah Ann Slade (14), boarder, domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;

Dudley and District News 12/11/1881

“A meeting of nailers’ delegates was held on Monday night at the BRITANNIA INN, Blackheath, Rowley, for the purpose of considering the advisability of forming a union to embrace the whole of the districts of East Worcestershire and Staffordshire. Mr. Solomon Westwood presided. Councillor Davis and Mr. C. Williams, jun, of Birmingham, were present.

Mr. Williams submitted to the meeting a scheme for the formation of a union, and suggested that the members should contribute 4d per week for men, and 1d each week for women and children. In cases of sickness a member who had been in the society for twelve months to receive 10s per week for the first six months, 5s for the next three months, and 3s per week for the following three months. A suitable allowance also to be made in case of death. Under the same scale it was proposed that the strike pay should be 6s per week for a man, 3s for the wife, and 1s 6d for each child.

Councillor Davis said he thought if an association was commenced there would be no lack of members, and he considered that out of the 28,000 operatives engaged in the trade they could reckon on at least 15,000 or 16,000 members. (Hear, hear.) He strongly advocated the necessity for the Bromsgrove districts, in which there were over 5,000 operatives, to amalgamate with the up-country districts in the formation of the union. If they would follow the scheme laid down by Mr. Williams, the society could be worked successfully. (Hear, hear.)

It was resolved to form a union forthwith. Mr. Williams was appointed general secretary, and an executive and sub-committee were elected. The appointment of a president was left with the Executive Committee.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 3/12/1881

“On Monday, a meeting of nailers’ delegates was held at the BRITANNIA INN, Blackheath, Mr. John Price being in the chair. The general secretary, Mr. C. Williams, junr, reported that he had many encouraging replies in answer to the appeal sent to the local gentry and clergy, expressing their sympathy with the nailers in their position, and their willingness to assist them. One of the gentlemen had also promised a donation of £5. He also reported that the ‘Labour Standard’ has agreed to receive donations for the union and acknowledge them. He further reported that the new scheme had met with the approbation of the whole of the men, and was being well taken up.”

County Express 8/9/1883

“On Monday last the members and friends of Court Britannia’s Pride, No.7000, of the Ancient Order of Foresters, met at the Court House, BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Road, Blackheath, for the purpose of presenting Bro. E. Willetts, PCR, with an emblem of the Order, handsomely framed. Bro. Joseph Parsons, PCR, occupied the chair, and Bro. Joseph Willetts the vice-chair. The presentation was made in a suitable manner by Bro. John Owen, secretary. Bro. Willetts ably responded. A very enjoyable evening was spent.”

Thomas Chapman was also a brewer. [1884]

County Express 28/6/1890

“A meeting of the Stourbridge and District Licensed Victuallers’ Society was held on Thursday evening, at Mr. Thomas Chapman’s, BRITANNIA INN, Blackheath. The president (Mr. A. Walker) was in the chair, and Mr. J. Billingham, in the vice-chair, and there was a large number of members present.....”

1891 Census

77, Halesowen Street

- [1] Thomas Chapman (43), beerhouse keeper and builder, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Emma Chapman (37), wife, born Oldbury;
- [3] Harry E. Chapman (14), son, assistant brewer, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Frank H. Chapman (12), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Thomas F. Chapman (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Emma F. Chapman (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] John W. Chapman (5), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Mary A. O. Chapman (3), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Ellen E. Chapman (3 months), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

County Advertiser 23/9/1899 - Advert

“Tuesday, September 26th, 1899.

Important Sale of Valuable Freehold Licensed and Other Property, situate at Blackheath, Rowley Regis.

Mr. W. Hackett has received instructions to Sell by Auction, at the Grand Hotel, Colmore Row, Birmingham, on Tuesday, September 26th, 1899, at Seven o’clock in the Evening, subject to Conditions of Sale incorporating those of the Birmingham Law Society. All that most Valuable Freehold Beerhouse and Premises, the BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, now in the occupation of Mr. Thomas Chapman, together with Six Houses and Premises adjoining, and a Corner Piece of Building Land, the whole producing at low rentals £80 9s 8d.

The Auctioneer calls special attention to Brewers and others seeking a good Free House, as the above is situate in a good neighbourhood and is well known, and has always done a good trade, which may easily be increased. The property is well and substantially built, and the six Houses always command good and respectable tenants.

For further particulars, apply to Messrs. Wright and Hollins, Solicitors, or to the Auctioneer, both of Church Street, Oldbury.”

It was sold at auction on 26th September 1899 for £2,310.

Dudley Herald 8/9/1900

“Thomas Chapman, landlord of the BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, was charged with permitting drunkenness to take place on his licensed premises, and also with selling to a drunken man. Mr. Collis, solicitor, of Stourbridge, pleaded guilty to the offence. He said that the date on the summons was July, and it was very hot weather at that time. The defendant had been ill, and that rather upset him. The house, too, had been bought over his head after his having kept it for 20 years without any previous complaint against him. It was difficult to keep a house like that so long with a clean sheet, and he hoped the Bench would only impose a small fine.

Superintendent Spendlove said that was the first complaint against Chapman, who, he understood, was leaving the house. He proposed to tender no evidence under the circumstances, and should be content to withdraw the case with a small penalty. Defendant was fined 10s and costs.

Absalom Gould, of Blackheath, was ordered to pay 10s including costs, for being drunk on the above-named licensed premises.”

1901 Census

77, Halesowen Street

- [1] Thomas Chapman (56), builder and contractor, born Old Hill;
- [2] Emma Chapman (46), wife, born Oldbury;
- [3] Thomas F. Chapman (20), son, carpenter, born Blackheath;
- [4] Emma F. Chapman (18), daughter, born Blackheath;
- [5] John W. Chapman (15), son, nut forger, born Blackheath;
- [6] Mary A. V. Chapman (13), daughter, born Blackheath;
- [7] Ellen E. Chapman (10), daughter, born Blackheath;
- [8] Gladys V. Chapman (2), daughter, born Blackheath;

County Advertiser 28/9/1901 - Advert

“BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, Staffordshire.

To Publicans, Dealers and Others.

Mr. W. H. Hackett has received instructions to Sell by Auction, upon the Premises as above, on Monday Next, September 30th, 1901, the Brewing Plant, Surplus Household Furniture, and other Effects, comprising Two good Working Cobs, Two capital Spring Traps, Nearly-new Fruiterer’s Truck, Two 160-Gallon Brewing Boilers, Doors, and Bars; Two Oval Mash Tubs, Collecting Square, Two Wood Vats and Supports, Copper Cooler, Sieves, Two Mash Rules, Two 120-Gallon Barrels, Four 60-gallon Barrels, Four Round Tubs, Malt Crusher, Ladle, with skimmer; Tin Tunpail, Set of Iron Bedsteads, Spring Mattress, Wool Mattress, Cane-seated and other Chairs, Washstand and Dressing Table, Fire-guard, Fenders, Dust Preventers, Wringing Machine, Sundry Ironwork, Quantity of Timber, etc; Two capital Cobs, 14 hands high, quiet to ride and drive, and good workers; Two Spring Traps, in good condition; Nearly-new Fruiterer's Truck, and numerous other Effects.

The whole on View Morning of Sale.

Sale to commence at Twelve o'clock.

Auctioneer's Offices: 13, Church Street, Oldbury, and Clent near Stourbridge. Telephone No.63 Oldbury."

County Advertiser 25/11/1905

"William Howard, labourer, of Blackheath, was charged with assaulting John Wharton, a bricklayer, on the 21st inst. Mr. Plant, who appeared to prosecute, explained that on the day in question complainant was drinking in the BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Road, Blackheath, with some friends. Complainant recently broke his left collar bone whilst at work, and was in receipt of compensation. This appeared to annoy defendant, who tried to thrust a quarrel upon the complainant. This was, however, avoided, but when Wharton got out of the house Howard rushed at him, and said, 'I will give you compensation.' He then struck Wharton upon the shoulder, and made further attempts to assault him. Complainant felt pain from his shoulder, but attributed this to his previous accident, but a few days later he visited Dr. Freer, who informed him that his collar bone was again broken.

Evidence was given in support of this statement by complainant and two other witnesses.

Defendant denied assault, but the Bench bound him over to keep the peace for six months, and also ordered him to pay the costs, 14s 6d."

County Express 29/8/1908

"At Old Hill, on Wednesday, George Pooler, licensee of the BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath was summoned for permitting drunkenness upon his licensed premises, and also for selling to a drunken person on the 5th inst. Mr. J. W. Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. J. S. Sharpe defended.

Mr. Clulow said he had gone through the evidence, and had had a conversation with Supt. Johnson and Mr. Sharpe, and as a result he asked for the cases to be withdrawn on payment of costs. It appeared that an old man named Joseph Parkes was seen to come out of the house in a drunken condition. Pooler was absent at the time, but as soon as Mrs. Pooler perceived that Parkes was in a drunken condition she got him off the premises. Under those circumstances, and having regard to defendant's good character, the police consented to the case being withdrawn.

Mr. Sharpe said Parkes was an elderly man, and showed no signs of drunkenness until he 'went off suddenly.'

The Bench agreed to this course being adopted, the costs amounting to £3 6s.

A charge against Joseph Parkes, of Halesowen Road, Blackheath, of being drunk on licensed premises, was also withdrawn on payment of the costs."

County Express 9/7/1910

"An enquiry was held yesterday, before Mr. G. C. Lewis (coroner), at the BRITANNIA INN, Blackheath, touching the death of Thomas Windsor, aged 83, of Hackett Street, who died on Thursday morning. On June 8th Windsor was found by his daughter sitting in bed with his throat cut and a razor by his side. He was attended by Dr. McQueen, and lingered till Thursday morning. A verdict of Suicide while Temporarily Insane was returned."

1911 Census

77, Halesowen Street – BRITANNIA INN

[1] Frederick Salt (68), beerhouse keeper and police pensioner, born Stone, Staffordshire;

[2] Charlotte Salt (67), wife, married 42 years, born Waterhouses, Staffordshire;

[3] Hannah Salt (36), daughter, born West Bromwich;

[4] Herbert Salt (28), son, warehouseman, steel tube works, born Brierley Hill;

[5] Charlotte Steventon Darby (26), daughter, widow, assistant in the business, born Brierley Hill;

[6] Jessie Steventon Darby (3), grand-daughter, born Blackheath:

Frederick Salt, beer retailer, 124, Halesowen Street. [1916]

He died in 1916.

See also GEORGE AND DRAGON.

Mrs. Charlotte S. Darby, beer retailer, 124, Halesowen Street. [1924]

A Wine License was granted on 2nd March 1938.

Provisional Removal of License granted to land adjoining premises partly on present site. Wine License and Provisional Removal confirmed at Stafford on 26th April 1938.

Staffordshire Advertiser 30/4/1938

"The County Licensing Confirmation Committee sat at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Tuesday, to consider the confirmation of provisional licenses and removal orders granted in the petty sessional courts.....

Mr. Gilbert Griffiths successfully applied for the removal of the beer licence of the BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, to premises proposed to be erected partly on the land forming the site of the existing inn and land adjoining, also for the sale of wine on the premises.”

1939 Register

124, Halesowen Street

- [1] Robert J. Mullins, date of birth 15/10/1886, public house manager, married;
- [2] Marian (Dorothy) Mullins, dob 3/12/1892, unpaid domestic duties, married;
- [3] Robert H. Mullins, dob 24/9/1923, improver to constructional and heating engineers, single;
- [5] Marian (Mullins) Davis, dob 24/9/1928, at school, single;
- [6] Dorothy (Mullins) Whitehouse, dob 22/9/1930, at school, single;

Birmingham Mail 24/11/1939 - Advert

“Bar-General Wanted, live in; commence December 7; references required.
Apply, BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Black Heath.”

Provisional grant of Removal given on 8th February 1939, confirmed on 6th December 1939.

Closed
Demolished
Rebuilt

An application for a full license granted on 2nd February 1949 and confirmed on 27th April 1949.

Tony James was a former wrestler billed as “Jumping Jimmy James”.

Sandwell Evening Mail 19/2/1986

“A Blackheath landlord has taken only £15 in three days and may be forced to board up his pub if his request for a rate reduction fails. Mr. Roy Stanley, of the BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, said that between Sunday night and Tuesday night he only sold £15 worth of drink, and that his weekly sales have plummeted from £1,000 a week four months ago to under £300. Mr. Stanley is among 47 landlords whose applications for rate reductions may be heard before a valuation panel at Dudley on March 11. And fellow applicant Mr. Gian Singh Cheema, of the SPRING COTTAGE, in Harvills Hawthorn, agrees. ‘It is a highly unemployed area with very little money,’ he said.

One of the owners of many of the pubs, Ansell's Brewery Co. Ltd., has admitted that falling sales are hitting landlords hard. ‘There are many reasons why individual tenants feel they need a rate reduction, but is mainly due to the changing circumstances of an area, such as factories and firms closing down,’ said Mrs. Pat Nixon, publicity officer for Ansell's.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 30/7/1991

“A hooded raider threatened to harm a 10-month-old baby unless his mother handed over the £1,400 takings from her Blackheath pub. Terrified Jaqueline Nash, licensee of the BRITANNIA INN, Halesowen Street, had parked her car in West Bromwich to bank the cash when the raider struck. Her son Paul was in a child seat in the back of the car and as Mrs. Nash opened the boot to get the pushchair the thief struck.

The robber said he had kept her and the baby under observation and the child would be harmed if she did not hand over the cash, hidden under the front seat. After handing over the money, he told her to get back in the car where she sat petrified for several minutes before raising the alarm.

She said today, ‘As soon as he threatened the baby, the money became irrelevant. You just don’t know what people like this might do – even hurt a baby. No money is worth that.’

Mrs. Nash, aged 26, who has kept the BRITANNIA with her husband Paul for two years said, ‘Because of roadworks I went to the car park in Church Street. I had just removed the pram from the car boot when I noticed this man.’

Det. Chief Insp. Derek Bloxham, of West Bromwich CID, said the half-caste Afro-Caribbean man, aged 30 to 35 was wearing a tracksuit with a maroon or red hood.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 13/12/1993 - Advert

“Fancy Running a Pub in the Birmingham Area?

Could one of the following houses be of interest to you?

BRITANNIA, Halesowen Street, Black Heath, Birmingham.....

Enterprise Inns Limited now have a number of opportunities available for licensees to run their own business. Investment level required is between £10,000 - £20,000, dependent on the house.....”

Sandwell Evening Mail 7/2/1994 - Advert

“Enterprising Pubs for Enterprising People.

We have a number of opportunities available in the licensed trade within an area covering the Midlands, Leicestershire going up into South Yorkshire.

An Open Day is being held at the BRITANNIA, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, Birmingham, to give you the chance to have an informal chat with us.

Enterprise Inns offers all the back up and support you'd expect from one of the country's leading independent pub operators. The kickstart programme will enable you, with a minimum investment between £5,000-£8,000, to take a house either on a Three Year Tenancy or a 21 year Assignable Lease.

For more information come along to the Open Day on Wednesday 9th February between 4.00-7.00pm.

Enterprise Inns Limited, Friars Gate, Stratford Road, Solihull, B90 4BN.”

Halesowen News 8/9/2008

“Wine lovers can tickle their tastebuds with a selection of award-winning wines at three local pubs taking part in a 19-day wine festival. The MOON UNDER WATER in Cradley Heath, the BRITANNIA in Rowley Regis and the WILLIAM SHENSTONE in Halesowen are all taking part in the wine festival which runs from September 17 until October 5.

Six new wines will be on offer, including a Cabernet Sauvignon Shiraz 2006 from South Australia and a German Naked Grape Riesling 2006, none of which have previously been served in the pubs. The wines will be sold at £2.20 for a 175ml glass, at £2.95 for a 250ml glass and at £7.69 for a bottle.

The MOON UNDER WATER manager Maxine Tolley said, ‘The wine festival will give people the opportunity to sample a range of award-winning wines at affordable prices.’”

Halesowen News 11/12/2012

“A Rowley Regis pub is holding a funday this weekend to raise cash for the family burnt out of their home last week. Louise Pilkington, aged 31, is recovering from burns after a blaze at her home which left her and two daughters homeless.

The landlady and regulars at the BRITANNIA, Halesowen Street, are holding a fun day on Saturday between noon and 4pm.

Vicky Devine, landlady at the Wetherspoons pub, said, ‘We all know Louise and the family in the BRITANNIA and we wanted to do something for the family. Santa will be here in our grotto and there will be facepainting, a table top sale and a raffle for people to enter. We are looking for donations for table top sale and all the money raised will go to Louise and the family.’ She added, ‘Louise has got two children what we are all doing is the typical Black Country mentality, we look after our own.’”

Halesowen News 17/3/2014

“International beers will be gracing the pumps of pubs in Halesowen, Cradley Heath, Rowley Regis and Oldbury during 17 day festival. The WILLIAM SHENSTONE, MOON UNDER THE WATER, the BRITANNIA and the COURT OF REQUESTS will have beers from South Africa, New Zealand, Sweden, Canada, USA, Belgium, Australia, Germany, Spain and Norway. The Wetherspoons beer festival runs from Friday, March 28 to Sunday, April 13 with all beers priced from £1.99 to £2.15 a pint. Many of the beers are available in the pubs for the first time, having been brewed exclusively for the festival. Customers will be able to sample any three of the real ales in special third of a pint glasses for the price of a pint.”

Halesowen News 20/9/2014

“Four Wetherspoon pubs across Halesowen and Sandwell are dropping their prices by 7.5 per cent on Wednesday as part of the company's ongoing tax battle with the Government. The MOON UNDER WATER, Cradley Heath, the BRITANNIA, Rowley Regis, the WILLIAM SHENSTONE, Halesowen, and the COURT OF REQUESTS, Oldbury are joining in national Tax Equality Day which is highlighting the benefit of a VAT reduction in the hospitality industry.”

Halesowen News 6/1/2016

“A boozy row has erupted between Sandwell Council and Wetherspoons after the authority officially called for residents to observe Dry January. The council ‘challenged’ residents to stop drinking alcohol for 31 days as part of the Alcohol Concern and Public Health England backed campaign.

Councillor Darren Cooper, leader of Sandwell Council, said, ‘Once the excesses of Christmas and New Year are over, many of us plan to start off the year in a healthy way. Dry January is something I like to do every year. It's a good opportunity to give your body the chance to have a detox after the festive period. People who have taken part in previous years say after a month without alcohol they sleep better, lose weight and generally feel more energetic.’ He added, ‘Dry January isn't about forcing everyone to give up alcohol for a month but remembering we all need to look after ourselves and live as healthy a lifestyle as possible.’

However, giant pub firm JD Wetherspoon, which runs the COURT OF REQUESTS in Oldbury, the BRITANNIA in Blackheath and the MOON UNDER THE WATER in Cradley Heath, blasted Cllr. Cooper and the council for being ‘nannyish.’ Wetherspoon's PR spokesman Eddie Gershon said, ‘People enjoy going out for a drink in a local pub, if people decide to drink less in a particular time then that is a decision for them to make. We are not sure that a leader of a council needs to be endorsing something like Dry January and one could ask the council whether it would also put out statements about not having a fry up, having a takeaway or eating less during a particular month of the year. People who go to the pub are not stupid and can make their own decisions, it feels a bit nannyish, and it could lead to councils pontificating on a whole range lifestyle actions.’

However, Cllr. Cooper hit back, he said, ‘I don't see anything nannyish about it – we're not telling people they shouldn't drink, but like many public organisations, we're backing a national campaign that encourages people to think about their health. As the authority responsible for public health and alcohol treatment, of course we're going to support public health campaigns that help tackle things like excessive drinking, obesity and inactivity.’ He added, ‘I am sure JD Wetherspoon's profits will survive whether customers are drinking a pint of lager or a pint of lemonade.’”

Halesowen News 8/9/2017

“A trio of Black Country boozers are cutting prices to protest against tax rules they say are unfair. On Wednesday September 20 the MOON UNDER WATER in High Street, Cradley Heath, the BRITANNIA in Halesowen Street, Rowley Regis and the WIL-

LIAM SHENSTONE in Queensway, Halesowen, will drop the cost of all food and drink by 7.5 per cent. The pubs are taking the action, which will last one day only, to support national Tax Equality Day, aimed at highlighting the benefit of a VAT reduction in the hospitality industry. All food and drink in pubs is subject to 20 per cent VAT while supermarkets have a zero VAT rate on all food. Publicans say the big retailers use that saving to sell alcohol at a discounted rate.

Gabrielle Tandy, manager of the MOON UNDER WATER, said, 'We are keen to highlight the amount customers would save if VAT in pubs was lowered permanently. So, for example, the total price of a meal and drinks for an individual would be reduced from £10 to £9.25 on Tax Equality Day. A reduction in the level of VAT on a long-term basis will generate growth and create jobs in the important leisure and hospitality sector and help the high street of which pubs are an integral part.'

Dudley News 25/11/2017

"Dudley News Loos at five borough Wetherspoon pubs have been rated among the best in the country. The FULL MOON in Dudley, the ABRAHAM DARBY at intu Merry Hill, the CLIFTON in Sedgley were all given a platinum star rating in the Loo of the Year Awards 2017.

Inspectors also gave the top rating to the MOON UNDER WATER in Cradley Heath and the BRITANNIA in Rowley Regis. Meanwhile, gold ratings were given to the WATERFRONT INN in Brierley Hill and the WILLIAM SHENSTONE in Halesowen. The awards, celebrating their 30th anniversary this year, aim to highlight and improve standards of 'away from home' toilet provision across the UK. Loo of the Year Awards inspectors made unannounced visits to thousands of toilets at sites across the UK, in order to judge them. All of the toilets were graded from bronze to platinum – unacceptable toilets were not graded at all. The platinum rating was only given to outlets which offered 'exceptional toilets.'

Toilets were judged against numerous criteria, including décor and maintenance, cleanliness, accessibility, hand washing and drying equipment and overall management.....

The BRITANNIA manager, Siobhan Rustom, said it was 'great' that efforts to keep the toilets in tip top condition had been recognised by inspectors.

Mike Bone, managing director of the awards scheme, added, 'The toilets at all seven pubs have been designed and fitted out to a very high standard and are both clean and well maintained. The pubs richly deserve their awards.'

Dudley News 2/8/2018

"Wetherspoon's pubs to host gin festival. An 11-day gin festival is coming to Black Country pubs later this month.

The MOON UNDER WATER in High Street, Cradley Heath, the BRITANNIA in Halesowen Street, Rowley Regis, and the WILLIAM SHENSTONE in Queensway, Halesowen, will have numerous award-winning and flavoured gins on offer throughout. The FULL MOON in High Street, Dudley, the ABRAHAM DARBY at intu Merry Hill, the CLIFTON in Bull Ring, Sedgley and the WATERFRONT INN in Level Street, Brierley Hill, will also be involved in the festival, which will run from Friday, August 17 to Monday, August 27."

[2019]

BRITANNIA

CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

James Hyde (1863 – [1865])

NOTES

County Advertiser 9/1/1864

"James Hyde, landlord of the BRITANNIA beerhouse, Cradley Heath, was charged with having his house open for the sale of beer at half-past eleven o'clock on the night of Saturday last. Police-sergeant Powner proved the charge, and as the defendant had only kept the house a month, he was dismissed on promising to pay costs and not offend again."

Stourbridge Observer 26/3/1864 -Advert

"The BRITANNIA INN, Cradley Heath.

To be Disposed Of, with immediate possession, the above well-accustomed Inn, situate near to the Five Way, and extensive Iron Works of the New British Iron Company, and now doing a steady business. Coming-in about £60. Cause of leaving, business engagements at a distance.

Apply to Mr. Chandler, Auctioneer &c, Cradley Heath."

BRITANNIA

5, Springfield Lane, (Knowle Lane), Five Ways, Springfield, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Thomas B. Williams and Lizzie Bate, Rowley Regis

LICENSEES

John Knowles [1854]
Joseph Parkes [1861]
John Tranter [] – 1874);
Benjamin Round (1874 – [1885]
James Round [1891]
William Woodall [1901] – 1906);
Albert Barnsley (1906 – [1911]
Joseph Plant [1919] – 1928);
Frank Taylor (1928 – 1929);
Thomas Benjamin Mason (1929 – 1931);
Laura Mason (1931);

NOTES

It was an ante '69 beerhouse.

1861 Census

Springfield Lane – Public House

- [1] Joseph Parkes (49), brass caster, born Wolverhampton;
- [2] Nancy Parkes (54), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Jane Parkes (18), daughter, born Wolverhampton;
- [4] John Parkes (11), son, scholar, born Dudley;
- [5] Rebecca Parkes (6), daughter, scholar, born Dudley;

County Express 21/11/1868

“On Monday, an inquest was held, before Edwin Hooper, Esq, coroner, at the BRITANNIA INN, Springfield, on the body of Henry Barnet, aged 38, whose death occurred in a coal-pit, at Windmill End Colliery, on Wednesday, the 11th inst. He was last seen alive at about half-past six on the previous evening, in the engine fire-hole. He was the next morning found dead in the pit, at the bottom of the shaft. It was not known how he got there. Something was heard in the shaft about three o'clock. The Jury returned a verdict of Found Dead, and it was supposed he came to his death accidentally. A slight cut was found on the head. Deceased leaves a widow and five children. Mr. Baker, Government Inspector of Mines, was present.”

Stourbridge Observer 21/2/1874

“At the Police Court on Wednesday, before Messrs. F. W. G. Barrs and H. Smith, John Tranter, landlord of the BRITANNIA INN, Springfields, was summoned for unlawfully opening his house during prohibited hours, on the 8th inst.

Police-constable Cooper said he was stationed at Old Hill. On the above date, at 5.25pm he visited defendant's house in company with Police-constable Goodfellow. He found four men in the house. One of the men came from Dawley Brook [Kingswinford], and the others lived within 200 yards of the house. There was a stain on the table as if some ale had been there a short time before. Police-constable Goodfellow gave corroborative evidence.

Defendant said he had invited the men to tea, and there was no ale had in. Fined 20s and costs.”

County Advertiser 22/5/1875

“Benjamin Brown [sic], landlord of the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley, was charged with having kept his house open after eleven o'clock for the sale of ale on the 26th ult. Mr. Clulow defended.

Police-constable Giles said that at twenty-five minutes past eleven o'clock on the night in question he visited the defendant's house, and found in the tap room eight men and women, and in another room thirteen men and women. He called the attention of the defendant to the men and women, and on going into the smoke room he found the defendant's daughter putting back the clock. Cross-examined: Was not asked for his watch whilst he was in the house.

He afterwards left the place, as there was a lot of men there, and he thought they would interfere with him. He went to a neighbouring publican's, Mr. Harrison's. Reached there about twenty minutes to twelve, and was supplied with a glass of beer. Mr. Clulow said that after hearing the evidence he should produce, his client would be entitled to have the case dismissed. He should be able to call four witnesses who would totally deny the statement of the officer that the clock was put back, or that it was after eleven o'clock. Both defendant's daughters would deny that anything of the sort took place. The officer might have thought he saw the clock put back, but his witnesses would say it was incorrect. Mr. Clulow then called witnesses in support of his statement.

The Bench retired, and on returning into Court said they had decided to dismiss the case."

County Advertiser 3/5/1879

"Benjamin Round, BRITANNIA INN, Springfield Lane, Rowley, was summoned on a charge of illegally selling porter on the 20th ult, at a time when his house ought to have been closed. Mr. T. Homer (Brierley Hill) defended.

Evidence for the prosecution was given by Police-constables Rowlands and Frost, who in plain clothes visited the house of the defendant at 11am on Sunday the 20th ult. They stated that they saw a woman standing at the back door. The door was opened by a girl, and they went in, when they found a boy at the top of the cellar with the bottle of porter produced, which, on seeing them, he put under a bench. On being questioned about what had taken place, defendant's wife at first said she knew nothing about the porter, but she afterwards admitted that it was for a poor person, and was to be paid for at dinner time.

Mr. Homer's defence was that the porter was given, and not sold to the woman. He called defendant's wife and daughters and the daughter of a woman named Hill to prove that the latter spoke to the landlady on the night previous to the day of the alleged offence, and asked her if she could have half a pint of porter about eleven o'clock on Sunday morning, as her mother was ill and was ordered to drink porter. The landlady said she could not sell her any, but under the circumstances she would give her half a pint at that time.

There were several discrepancies in the statements made by the witnesses, and the magistrates thought the explanation offered was not satisfactory. They remarked that they could attach no importance to the defence after such evidence, and fined defendant (as it was the first offence) 10s and costs."

1881 Census

5, Springfield Lane

[1] Benjamin Round (58), beer seller, born Rowley;

[2] Elizabeth Round (57), wife, born Rowley;

[3] Phoebe Ann Round (19), daughter, barmaid, born Brockmoor;

[4] James Round (16), son, bricklayer's labourer, born Old Hill:

West Bromwich Weekly News 28/5/1881

"Benjamin Round, jun, was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit his father's house, the BRITANNIA INN, Springfield, on the 19th inst. He was also charged with breaking the windows, and assaulting Mary Davis, and using threats towards his mother. It appeared that on the night in question defendant was at his father's house drunk. He asked for some beer, and being refused he drew it himself. Being remonstrated with he broke the cups, and then assaulted his sister by pulling her hair and striking her. He was put out, and he then used threats towards his mother, and also smashed 14 panes of glass, doing damage to the extent of 14s.

Defendant said he was very sorry for what he had done.

He was sent to prison for one month for assaulting his sister, and ordered to pay the costs, amounting to 32s 6d in the other cases, or another month."

County Express 11/4/1885

"On Wednesday, at the Old Hill Police Court, warrants for the apprehension of several men were granted on a charge of brutally ill-treating two young men named Benjamin and James Round, sons of the landlord of the BRITANNIA INN, Spring Vale, Rowley, on Tuesday afternoon. For the past few days a series of pigeon homing matches have taken place in the district, and several disturbances have ensued. On Tuesday afternoon a number of men visited the BRITANNIA in a very drunken condition and demanded drink. The landlady instructed her sons not to serve the men, and they were ordered out. They then went into an adjoining garden and commenced a disturbance. The sons of the landlady went out to order them away, when they took off their buckled belts and struck the young men about the body and head with such ferocity as to render them unconscious. Both of them are now under medical treatment, and they appeared in Court on Wednesday with bandaged heads, and looking very ill."

County Advertiser 18/4/1885

"At the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, before Messrs. W. Bassano and C. Holcroft – John Townsend, Thomas Collier, William Manby, Edward Pearson, and Alexander Waldron, all young men, of Springfield, Rowley, were charged with assaulting Benjamin Round, son of the landlady of the BRITANNIA INN, Springfield Road, on the 6th inst. Collier and Pearson were further charged with assaulting James Round, brother of Benjamin Round, on the same date. Mr. W. Waldron prosecuted, and Mr. Ward defended.

In opening the case Mr. Waldron stated that the assault was a shocking and brutal one. Most of the defendants were in the Militia, and the assault was committed with the belts usually worn by militia men. Manby, however, used a poker. After the assault some women took the complainants away, and the defendants, not content with having assaulted complainants, stoned the women. If he proved what he had opened he should ask the Bench to mark their sense of disapprobation of the unmanly conduct on the part of the defendants by a severe penalty.

The evidence for the prosecution was that on Easter Monday the defendants had been drinking at the BRITANNIA. After six o'clock in the evening they were ordered to leave, and went and stood in the road some distance from the house, but as they returned the landlady locked the front door to prevent them re-entering the house. Townsend tried to force the door by kicking it with his foot and bunting it with his shoulder. He tried to climb a gate, but could not, and then jumped a fence, and was followed by Collier. Townsend struck prosecutor in the face. The other defendants came up, and a fight took place. Benjamin Round stated that he had to engage with three of the defendants – Collier, Pearson and Waldron – who stood in a row with their belts doubled round their wrists, and 'with the buckle ends slapped him over the head as hard as they could strike.' Manby had a poker in his hand, and after witness fell down, 'rapped him on the head' with it. Witness said the fight was with fists at first, and it was when Townsend and defendant Waldron saw they were getting behind that these two pulled off their belts.

James Round stated that Pearson and Collier struck him with their belts. It was also stated that some women neighbours got complainant away, and that the defendants stoned the women.

Mrs. Venables stated that the fight was a fair one until belts were used. She added that defendant Waldron had a strap.

Mr. Waldron: Had it got a buckle on? – Witness: I suppose it had; it would be no good without.

The wife of Benjamin Round stated that all the defendants had their belts off.

Cross-examined: She did her best to release her husband, but did not throw any stones or brickbats.

Mr. John O'Dowd, surgeon, Netherton, spoke to Benjamin Round having received four scalp wounds, two of which penetrated to the bone. One wound was an inch and quarter in length, another an inch, and the other two were smaller. The wounds were not yet healed. James Round had two scalp wounds which penetrated to the bone. Both the men, when he saw them, were bleeding profusely.

For the defence, Mr. Ward submitted that if there was a free fight as had been opened, there was no case to answer. Addressing himself to the surroundings of the case, Mr. Ward went on to say that the defendants had been drinking at the BRITANNIA, and having spent all their money, they left the house voluntarily. Shortly afterwards a man named Clee came out of the house, threw up his hat, and wanted to fight any of them. Townsend and Clee commenced fighting, and Collier attempted to separate them. Benjamin Round at that moment came upon the scene, struck Collier on the nose, and a general scuffle and free fight took place. Mr. Ward commented on the fact that the poker which figured in the case was the property of the landlady, and the inference from that must, he contended, tell in favour of the defendants. As he was instructed, the poker was brought from a public house by a man named Parkes, who struck Pearson on the head with it. Then it was that one or two of the defendants took off their belts, not militia belts as had been stated, for the men were not in the Militia, and defended themselves. He should ask the Bench to believe that complainants were the aggressors and that defendants did nothing more than protect themselves.

Witnesses were then called and gave evidence in keeping with Mr. Ward's statement.

Manley stated that not more than one belt was used, and Mary Faulkner deposed that Benjamin Round struck the first blow.

Mr. Bassano said the Bench felt they must inflict a heavy fine in this case, inasmuch as they considered fighting with belts was only one degree removed from fighting with the knife. The defendants would therefore be fined 40s and costs, with the alternative of six weeks' imprisonment with hard labour. The surgeon's fee and bill and were allowed."

1891 Census

5, Springfield Lane – BRITANNIA INN

[1] James Round (26), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth D. Round (27), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Lily Round (3), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] James Round (2), son, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Elizabeth Round (5 months), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Benjamin Round (68), father, living on his own means, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Elizabeth Round (67), mother, born Rowley Regis;

[8] Florrie Riley (14), domestic servant, born Oldbury:

County Express 9/1/1897

"David Davies, miner, Springfield, was charged with refusing to quit the BRITANNIA INN, Springfield, and with assaulting William Woodall, the landlord, on the 21st ult. Mr. Waldron defended.

It was stated that Davies entered the BRITANNIA intoxicated. Witness told defendant to leave the premises, but he obstinately refused to do so although asked several times. His conduct caused a disturbance in the house, and he was eventually turned out. When in the street defendant was very violent and kicked and struck the landlord and also burst the house door.

For the defence, Mr. Waldron denied on behalf of the defendant that he was drunk, and was therefore in a condition to be supplied. Further, the defendant did not start the disturbance.

For refusing to quit defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs and 20s and costs for the assault."

Dudley Herald 8/10/1898

"The Knowle Friendly Societies held their annual services on Sunday last in the Knowle New Connexion Chapel, in aid of the Dudley Dispensary, Guest Hospital, and Birmingham Eye Hospital. The service in the afternoon was conducted by Mr. J. Robinson, of Constitution Hill, Dudley, and in the evening by Mr. R. Darby, of Coombs Wood, near Halesowen. In the afternoon a procession was formed by members of the Court Robin Hood's Pride, AOF, the Knowle Friendly Society held at the Knowle New Connexion School, and White Pink Lodge of Free Gardeners held at the BRITANNIA INN, Springfield Lane. The procession, headed by the Dudley Christ Church Early Sunday Morning School Band, paraded the principal streets of the district. A collection was made at each service and along the route of the procession, and a sum of £6 15s 0¼d was realised.....”

1901 Census

5, Springfield Lane

- [1] William Woodhall (34), fitter (engine), born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Jessie Woodhall (33), wife, born Old Hill;
- [3] Joseph S. Woodhall (13), son, born Dudley;
- [4] Sydney Woodhall (11), son, born Old Hill;
- [5] Harry Woodhall (5), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Dorothy Woodhall (3), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Hubert Woodhall (1), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Joseph Early (29), boarder, general labourer, born Cradley Heath:

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

22nd November 1905 - Norah \(b. 25/9/1905\), daughter of William and Jessie Woodall, publican, Springfield Lane.

County Advertiser 4/2/1905

“Yesterday morning Mr. A. A. Betham (Deputy Coroner) held an inquest at the BRITANNIA INN, Springfields, Rowley, touching the death of Mary Elizabeth Crow, aged three, whose parents reside at Springfield Lane, Rowley, and who met with her death under shocking circumstances on the 31st ult.

Rosannah Crow, the mother, stated that at 1.30pm on the date named, she left deceased, with two other young children in the house while she went to Warren’s Hall Colliery to pick coal. When she returned she found that the child had been badly burned and was dead. There was no fireguard in the house. She asked a woman named Darby to look after the house. She admitted that her husband was a miner but she went to pick the coal because she had run out of it. She denied she was in habit of picking coal. William Crow, the husband, stated that he knew his wife went to pick coal when they ran short, but she generally left the children in charge of some friends.

Rachel Smart stated that on the date named she heard Mrs. Crow’s children crying in the house. She went to the house, pushed open the door, and saw the deceased child with her clothes in flames, which were subsequently extinguished by a man named Thomas Mason.

Rose Ann Darby, a neighbour, denied that Mrs. Crow asked her to look after the house whilst she was away, and said that the mother was in the habit of picking coal from the colliery even when she had received her allowance coal.

Police-constable Bowers corroborated this.

The Deputy Coroner said it was the worst case he had ever heard in his experience of neglect on the part of the mother. It almost amounted to criminal neglect. In cases like that he hardly knew what they could do.

Mr. J. Chapman (foreman of the jury) said it was a common practice in the district, and in performing his duties as school attendance officer he found that young children were too frequently left alone by their parents in the house.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and on their recommendation the Deputy Coroner severely censured the mother, and also disallowed her expenses. In another such case he should commit the persons to the Assizes for trial. He also cautioned the husband to see when his wife went out to pick coal again that some one was left in the house.

The coroner produced a piece of flannelette, known as ‘non-flam,’ which did not blaze when ignited. He proceeded to show the article to the jury, and recommended that this should be used by people.

The foreman of the jury, at the conclusion of the inquiry, asked the coroner when they would come up to the standard of Worcestershire, and pay the jurymen for their services. The Deputy Coroner sympathised, and said that he would write to the County Council upon the matter.”

County Advertiser 13/7/1907

“Mr. G. G. Lewis (coroner) held an inquest at the BRITANNIA INN, Springfields, Rowley Regis, on Tuesday, concerning the infant male child of James and Beatrice Peters, of Springfields, Rowley, who died suddenly on Monday last. The evidence of Dr. Beasley showed that death was the result of suffocation, caused by convulsions, or by being overlain. The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes.

Mr. J. Tibbetts, a juror, asked the coroner if there was any likelihood of coroner’s juries being paid in Staffordshire in the same way as they were in Worcestershire. He said that nearly all the men summoned on that day had been fetched from work, and ought to be paid.

The Coroner said he should be pleased for juries to be paid in the district he was responsible for, but he could make no recommendation. The matter was in the hands of the ratepayers, who could urge their county councillors to vote in favour of payment.

Mr. Tibbetts said that in the interests of the working men, he should bring the question under the notice of the County Council.

The Coroner reminded the jury that the cost would fall on the ratepayers.”

1911 Census

5, Springfield Lane

- [1] Albert Barnsley (34), potter (moulder), born Dudley;
- [2] Laura Barnsley (31), wife, married 11 years, born Dudley;
- [3] Laura Barnsley (7), daughter, born Dudley;
- [4] Adelaide Davies (18), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

Dudley Herald 17/1/1931

“The death of Mr. Thomas Benjamin Mason, licensee of the BRITANNIA INN, Springfield, took place after a short illness on Wednesday last week. Deceased who was well known and highly respected, was 59 years of age. He leaves a widow and a wide circle of friends, by whom he will be sadly missed. The interment was on Sunday, at St. Andrew’s Church, Netherton, where other members of his family are buried. The curate officiated.....”

It was referred to the Compensation Authority on 4th March 1931, on the grounds of redundancy.

Dudley Herald 7/3/1931

“The licensing justices, besides renewing several licenses, heard three cases in which the police recommended that the house should be referred to the Compensation Committee for closure. In two cases – those of the VINE INN, Rowley, and the BRITANNIA INN, Springfield – they referred to the committee, and in that of the ROYAL OAK INN, Banner Street, Cradley Heath, Mr. J. T. Higgs appeared on behalf of the licensee (Mr. Joseph Bennett) and opposed the closure of the house. Inspector Davison said the application was being made by the police on the grounds of redundancy. He considered that there were enough houses of a better class to serve that locality. After further statements had been made the Chairman said the Bench felt that there was no likelihood of the Compensation Committee entertaining the case, and the license would be renewed.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 23/5/1931

“The Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910. Notice of Principal Meeting. County of Stafford. Notice is Hereby Given, that the Principal Meeting to be held pursuant to the Licensing Rules, 1901, by the Compensation Authority for the above Area, will be held at the Shire Hall, Stafford, on Monday, the 27th day of July, 1931, at 11 o’clock am. And Notice Is Hereby Also Given, that the Compensation Authority will at the Meeting be prepared to hear, with reference to the Renewal of the Licences of the several Premises specified in the subjoined list, all those Persons to whom under the Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910, they are bound to give an opportunity of being heard.....
List of Licensed Premises.....
BRITANNIA INN, Rowley. Beerhouse ante 1869. Licensee, Laura Mason.”

Lichfield Mercury 8/1/1932

“At Staffordshire Quarter Sessions, held at Stafford on Tuesday, the County Licensing Committee reported that the number of licences referred last year from seven divisions and boroughs was ten, seven of which the committee refused to renew, compensation being fixed as follows.....
Rowley Regis Division: BRITANNIA INN, Rowley, beerhouse, £1,591.”

Compensation paid.
Closed.

BRITANNIA

18, Rowley Village, (18, The Village), (Bell End), (Lillipot), ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Thomas B. Williams and Lizzie Bate, Rowley Regis
Ansells Ltd. (acquired on 15th June 1946)
John Pardoe (acquired in 1988) [1991]
Woodman Taverns [2015], [2019]

LICENSEES

William Taylor [1868] – [1881]
Thomas Southall [1891] – [1901]
John Haden [1904] – 1921);
James Nock (1921 – 1934);
William Dunn (1934 – 1959);
Neville Joseph Lockwood (1959 – 1962);
David Holland (1962 – 1965);
Charles Loughran (1965 – []
John Pardoe (1988 – [2004]

Becky Jones [2013]
Dean Cartwright [2017] – [2019]
Pete Walker [] – 2021

NOTES

Lillipot [1871]
Rowley Village [1870], [1872], [1939], [1940]
18, The Village [1881], [1891], [1911]
18, Rowley Village [1901]

It had an ante '69 beerhouse license.

William Taylor, farmer and beer retailer, Rowley Village. [1868], [1870], [1872]

County Advertiser 6/3/1869 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant Girl. One used to a Public-house preferred.
Apply to Mr. William Taylor, BRITANNIA INN, Rowley.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 30/8/1869

“The annual licensing meeting for Rowley Regis division was held on Friday, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.....
The following applications were made for alehouse licenses.....
William Taylor, BRITANNIA, Rowley. Application refused.”

County Express 27/8/1870

“The annual licensing meeting for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held yesterday.....
The following beerhouse keepers applied for wine and spirit licenses.....
William Taylor, BRITANNIA INN, Rowley. Application refused.”

1871 Census

Lillipot – BRITANNIA INN

- [1] William Taylor (40), farmer of 33 acres, employing 1 man, and beerhouse keeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sarah Taylor (38), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] George Taylor (15), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Taylor (13), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Maria C. Taylor (11), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Joseph Taylor (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Mary P. Taylor (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis
- [8] Thomas Taylor (7), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] John Taylor (5), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Elizabeth Taylor (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [11] Frank Taylor (6 months), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [12] Ellen Homer (20), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 8/6/1872 - Advert

“Wanted, immediately, a good General Servant, used to a Public-house.
Apply to Mrs. William Taylor, BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Village.”

Stourbridge Observer 9/11/1872

“On Thursday evening a number of friends met at the house of Mr. William Taylor, the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley; and partook of a splendid repast, served up in very good old English style by the worthy host. After the cloth was removed, a number of songs, recitations &c, were gone through in a creditable manner, and an enjoyable evening was spent.”

County Advertiser 21/2/1874 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, one used to a Public-house preferred.
Apply, Mrs. W. Taylor, BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Village.”

County Advertiser 25/5/1878

“A meeting of the masters in the rivet trade was held last night, at Mr. Taylor’s, BRITANNIA INN, Blackheath, for the purpose of taking into consideration the question of the wages to be paid in the trade, and the decision of the men to give up work unless they were paid according to the same rates as paid before the agreement of last November. Mr. James Slim presided.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 10/6/1878

“The Blackheath Rivet-makers and the Truck System.

On Friday evening a conference of the masters and representatives of the men was held at the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley, for the purpose of receiving the report of the deputation appointed to confer with the men relative to the proposal made a fortnight ago for the settlement of the difficulty at present existing in the trade. Mr. J. Slim presided, and Messrs. J. Cashmore and S. Parsons were present on behalf of the men. Mr. Cashmore stated that the outworkers, who had been the cause of the difficulty, had been waited upon, and they had agreed to discontinue work on Saturday, the 8th, unless the masters at present paying their men at reduced rates advanced them equal to the lists fixed in November last. The delegates also reported the result of the interview with Mr. David Willetts, Old Hill, and other masters, who, it was stated, were not paying the full list prices. They (the masters) expressed their willingness to pay their workmen according to the November list, or equal to the Blackheath masters, provided the latter would close their shops and pay the men ready-money for their work, as the Old Hill masters did.

An animated discussion arose between the masters and the delegates concerning the ‘truck system,’ which they alleged prevailed extensively in the Blackheath and Rowley districts, to the great injury of the trade. It was understood that prompt steps would be taken to stop the practice.

It was agreed to postpone action with regard to the difficulty in the trade for another fortnight, in order to ascertain what course would be adopted by the outworkers and their employers.”

County Advertiser 10/8/1878 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, one used to public-house preferred.
Apply, Mrs. Taylor, BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Regis.”

1881 Census

18, The Village – BRITANNIA INN

- [1] William Taylor (49), beer seller and farmer of 33 acres, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sarah Taylor (47), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] George Taylor (24), son, clerk, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Henry Taylor (23), son, collector of rates, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Maria Cole Taylor (21), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Mary Pearson Taylor (19), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Thomas Gould Taylor (17), son, apprentice patternmaker, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] John Taylor (15), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Frank Taylor (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Sarah Taylor (8), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [11] Ellen Taylor (6), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [12] Mary Barton (26), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 27/4/1889

“On Tuesday, Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley, relative to the death of Caroline Price (67), wife of John Price of Belle End, formerly a leader of the nailers, who was found drowned in a pool on Saturday. The husband of deceased said he had been married 46 years, and deceased had never been very healthy. Since Christmas deceased had been in a very desponding state, and had said she would like to go like her daughter – out of her mind. Witness last saw his wife alive on Friday night. They retired to bed about 10.30pm, and when he awoke he found his wife out of bed. Later on he missed her, and upon going down stairs found the door unbolted. Witness went to the pool at the back of his house, where he discovered his wife’s body in the water. He raised an alarm, and with the assistance of a neighbour the body was taken out of the water and doctor was sent for. Upon Dr. Beasley arriving he pronounced life to be extinct. Three weeks ago last Sunday deceased told her daughter that she had tried to strangle herself. Shortly after they were married she attempted to destroy herself. The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst in a state of Unsound Mind.”

1891 Census

18, The Village

- [1] Thomas Southall (58), farmer and beerseller, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Eliza Southall (58), wife, born Halesowen;
- [3] Alice Haden (23), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] John Haden (24), son-in-law, labourer on farm, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mary A. Haden (3), daughter, born Worcestershire;
- [6] Sarah A. Haden (19), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 28/4/1894

“At the Rowley Police Court, on Wednesday – before Messrs. W. Bassano, J. H. Smith, and W. H. Holcroft – James Morris (24), rivet-maker, Ross, Blackheath, was charged with feloniously wounding John Parkes, with intent to do him grievous bodily harm, on the 17th inst. Mr. Ward defended. The case excited great interest throughout the district, and many people waited outside the Court while the proceedings were going on.

Complainant said he lived at Rowley Village. On the 17th inst, about six o’clock, he went to the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley, and found defendant in the house. Witness had a pint of ale, but afterwards drunk with defendant, who gave him some twist tobacco. A short time afterwards a dispute arose between them, and they exchanged blows in the room. They were, however, separated, and the witness went out of the house at the back. He came back in a short time, and prisoner had then gone. Witness stayed in the house till closing time, eleven o'clock, and then went away towards his own home, in company with James Whitwell and William Horton. On the way they saw prisoner standing in the road, and when they came up to him he said to witness, 'Now, Jack, we have got to have it out; I have been waiting for you coming up the road.' Prisoner took his coat off, and witness prepared to defend himself. Just as they were beginning the fight, prisoner said, 'Wait a bit, Jack,' and fumbled about his clothing as if he was finding something. The fight commenced, and witness knocked prisoner down. The fight lasted about three minutes. The next day he found he had been injured under his arm, in his side, leg, and on the back of the head. The handkerchief he wore round his neck, his coat, vest, and shirt were saturated with blood, and there were cuts in them. He was able to walk home after the fight. He did not see prisoner with any weapon at the time, but he was quite sure that the prisoner made the cuts in the clothing. Witness saw Dr. Beasley the next morning, and he examined the wounds, which were bathed by witness's mother when he got home. Witness had not been to work since the occurrence, and was not at work yet.

Cross-examined: He and prisoner were friendly up to ten o'clock. It was a dark night. He made no complaint while Morris was there, but he was not aware he was wounded until his attention was called to it. His wounds were not yet well, because the stitches were not yet out. He did not say to a man named Reece that he did not know who had done it. He said, 'It is a bit of Jim's work,' and Reece said, 'He's good enough for it.' He did not fall on a spiked wall. The spiked wall was about two yards from the footpath.

William Horton deposed to going up the road with complainant who was a 'pal' of his. Morris was leaning against the wall, and said to prosecutor, 'Jack, you have got — well to fight before you go any further.' Parkes said, 'If I have to fight I reckon I will fight.' They fought about five minutes, and had four or five rounds. He did not see any weapon used.

Cross-examined: He did not see Morris with any weapon in his hand, nor did he see him attempt to use any weapon. The next day he saw prisoner, who asked him whether Morris used a knife, and he said he did not.

Alexander Parkes, brother to prosecutor, said he was told by a woman about eleven o'clock on the night of the 17th, that his brother was fighting, and he went down the road to see. He saw his brother putting his jacket on, and saw blood on his neck and handkerchief. There was a long cut on his neck, and he saw holes in his clothing the same night.

Police-constable Jewson, stationed at Cradley Heath, deposed to receiving the articles of clothing from prosecutor's brother, and arresting prisoner at Blackheath on the 18th inst. When he charged him with wounding, prisoner said, 'I did not stab him; I and he were fighting. I did not use a knife, and why did he not tell me about it last night? I have not had a knife for months.'

Police-sergeant Winfield said he received a complaint from prosecutor's brother on the 19th inst, and visited the spot he described. In the gutter, about five feet from the wall, he found some spots of blood. He examined the wall, and found some spikes on it. The greatest portion of these were turned downwards, were old, and not sharp at all. There were marks of a struggle on the horse road and footpath.

Dr. Beasley, of Rowley, said that between nine and half past on the morning of the 18th, Parkes came to his surgery, and he examined him. He found an incised wound on the left side of the neck, a deep incised flesh wound on the right arm on the inner surface under the arm pit. There was also a deep wound about the middle of the fifth rib, which had penetrated the bone, a smaller punctured wound on the same side, and two small punctured wounds on the scalp at the back of the head. The wounds on the neck, arm, and on the rib were clean cut, and were certainly dangerous. These wounds would, no doubt, be caused by a sharp-edged instrument, like a knife. These wounds, which were of a serious character, would not be caused by spikes on a wall; the minor ones might. The wounds were not dangerous in themselves. Parkes was four days in bed, and would not be able to follow his employment for a week or fortnight. The holes in the clothing corresponded with prosecutor's wounds. It was possible Parkes might walk home under certain conditions without knowing that he had received such injuries.

The Bench intimated that they considered a case made out for committal, and Mr. Ward said he should reserve his defence. Prisoner, when finally charged, said he was not guilty, that it was a stand-up fight, and that he did not use a knife at all.

Thomas Aldridge deposed to being present at the fight, and to seeing no knife used by the prisoner. Prisoner was repeatedly struck by Parkes.

Sarah Danks and Maria Foster gave evidence for the defence, deposing to the fight taking place on the footpath and road, and no knife being used.

Prisoner was committed to the Assizes. Bail was fixed at prisoner's own recognisance of £50, and two sureties in £20 each." [James Morris was tried at the Assizes on 26th July, found not guilty and discharged.]

County Advertiser 14/1/1899

"On Thursday morning, Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the MANCHESTER HOUSE, High Street, Blackheath, concerning the death of William Wheeler, aged two-and-a-half years, whose parents reside in Hackett Street, Blackheath, and who was found drowned in a cistern on Tuesday afternoon last.

Elizabeth Wheeler, mother, stated that on Tuesday afternoon, at 1.20, deceased after having had his dinner, went out to play in the yard. About five minutes later witness called to him, and receiving no answer she tried to find him, but she was unable to do so. A search was then made in the cistern, and his body was ultimately recovered. Dr. Freer was called in, but he could only pronounce life extinct.

The landlord of the houses was Mr. Thomas Southall, of the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Village. The cistern had been uncovered for about three months, but previous to that it was covered up. The boards were rotten, and if the child had been playing on them it was likely to fall through. The cistern was not used.

John Blakeway, an old man, aged 77, deposed to entering the cistern, the water in which was 3 feet 6 inches deep, and recovering the body.

Evidence was also given by Police-constable Smith, and the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.

The Foreman of the jury (Mr. T. P. Moyle) said he thought the owner should be requested to see that the danger was removed.

Another jurymen said he understood that there were similar cisterns in yards in the same street, which were a great source of great danger to persons residing in the houses.

Mr. E. T. Barnsley (sanitary inspector to the Rowley Urban District Council) said he warned Mr. Southall of the dangerous cistern twelve months ago, and he told him that day that he knew some accident would occur. Mr. Southall also owned a house on the opposite side of the street to the one where the accident occurred, where the cistern was left unprotected.

Mr. Moyle said there was no doubt in this case it was a standing danger.

Mr. Barnsley said his Council could not regard it as a nuisance, but they had requested Mr. Southall to have it filled in, and now that a fatal accident had occurred they would make some move in the matter.

The Coroner said he would write to the owner informing him of the jury's decision, requesting him to remove the danger. If he did not, and another case of that character was reported to him, he might find himself in an awkward position. He would also request the police to call upon Mr. Southall.

The Foreman said Mr. Southall was liable to be sued for damages by the parents.

Mr. Barnsley also promised to see Mr. Southall, and point out the seriousness of the matter should another similar case occur."

County Advertiser 28/7/1900

"The weather during the past week has been so oppressive in the Halesowen, Cradley Heath, Old Hill, and Blackheath districts that the various factories and manufacturing concerns were carried on with the utmost difficulty. A large number of chainmakers at Cradley heath ceased work in consequence of the excessive heat. On Wednesday evening there was a sad occurrence in the harvest field at Old Hill. A man named Henry Windsor (42), a rivet maker by trade, and formerly residing at Bell End, Rowley, was employed in mowing a field, when he was suddenly overpowered by the intense heat. He was conveyed to his home, but expired on the way. Drs. Beasley and Freer, who were called in, said death was caused by sunstroke.

Mr. A. A. Betham, deputy coroner, held an inquest on deceased, yesterday, at the BRITANNIA INN, Bell End. The evidence did not add anything to the above facts. He complained to his wife of the excessive heat. William Handley, of Corngreaves Road, saw him fall down, and assisted him in a way that called forth the commendation of the coroner. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased died from the effects of the extreme heat. He was 46 years of age."

1901 Census

18, Rowley Village

[1] Thomas Southall (68), farmer and publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Eliza Southall (68), wife, born Halesowen;

[3] John Haden (33), son-in-law, farm labourer, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Alice Haden (32), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Mary Alice Haden (13), grand-daughter, born Halesowen;

[6] Amelia Haden (1), grand-daughter, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 11/3/1905

"On Tuesday night last week the annual meeting of the Rowley Cricket Club was held at the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley, Mr. E. Westwood being in the chair. The report of the match secretary (Mr. T. Baker) showed that the first eleven had had a successful season, 18 matches being played, of which 9 were won, 2 drawn, and 7 lost. The second eleven was hardly so good, as they had fulfilled 14 engagements, and only secured six victories....."

County Advertiser 2/3/1907

"The annual meeting of the members of the Rowley Regis Cricket Club took place on Monday night at the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley....."

1911 Census

18, Village – BRITANNIA INN

[1] John Haden (44), farmer and innkeeper, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Alice Haden (43), wife, married 23 years, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Amelia Haden (11), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Frances May Haden (7), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Thomas Southall (77), father-in-law, retired farmer, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Eliza Southall (78), mother-in-law, married 55 years, born Halesowen:

Evening Despatch 28/4/1914

"Further inquiries into the 'horse maiming' occurrence at Rowley establish beyond doubt that the wounding was an accident. Mr. Green, veterinary surgeon, of Dudley, examined the animal and stated at once that it had been staked, apparently by a jagged stoke of a fence which, it is stated, was broken down overnight unknown to the owner of the horse.

The wounds extended for several inches into the horse's body, and are of such a character that a man could not have caused them with such a blunt instrument as a stake.

The horse – a dark brown cob – belonged to Mr. John Haden, the landlord of the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Regis, and was found lying dead in the yard early yesterday morning. The animal was lying in a pool of blood, and there were two big wounds. Overnight the animal had been left in a field on which Rowley Associates play football. Mr. Haden naturally at first thought that an outrage had been committed, and reported the affair to the police.

Superintendent Spendlove (West Bromwich) and Superintendent Johnson (Brierley Hill), together with Inspector Myatt, of Old Hill, visited the place, and a thorough examination was made. It was found that the horse had been literally disembowelled. A trail of blood was found leading from the field to the spot where the horse was found dead, and portions of its entrails were also discovered.

The animal was nine years old, and valued at £20.”

Sports Argus 13/11/1915

“Suburban League.

Rowley Associates v Cradley Heath St. Luke’s.

Played at the Rear of the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley village, before a fair gate.....

Result: Cradley Heath 4. Rowley Associates 0.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 28/7/1931

“The County of Staffordshire Compensation Authority, at their principal meeting at Stafford, yesterday, refused to renew the licenses of the following seven houses.....

BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Village.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 21/4/1938

“References to a man’s visits to public-houses before committing suicide were made at an inquest at Old Hill yesterday on Thomas Mansell, aged 56, 63, Mackmillan Road, Blackheath, a refuse collector, employed by Rowley Regis Town Council.

The widow, Elizabeth Mansell, stated that her husband returned from work at mid-day on Saturday and left at one o’clock to have a drink at the SIR ROBERT PEEL INN. He returned at 1.35 and he had had a few drinks. He afterwards went out for a walk, and said he should be back at eight o’clock.

William Dunn, licensee of the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley, stated that at 2.50 Mansell called at his house and asked for a gallon of beer, but he refused to serve him. He was too much over the mark.

Walter Watts, landlord of the KINGS ARMS INN, Rowley, said that at about three o’clock Mansell asked for a gallon of beer, but he refused to supply it. Witness said he would not describe the man as drunk, but he had had enough.

Other evidence showed that Mansell’s coat, waistcoat, and cardigan were found by the side of Rowley Hall pool at 4.30.

A verdict that Mansell committed Suicide while the Balance of his Mind was Disturbed was returned.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 30/4/1938

“The County Licensing Confirmation Committee sat at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Tuesday, to consider the confirmation of provisional licenses and removal orders granted in the petty sessional courts.....

The committee refused an application for a license to sell wine at the ROYAL EXCHANGE, High Street, Blackheath, and a similar application in respect of the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Village, Blackheath, was adjourned, the Chairman intimating that the committee did not consider the sanitary arrangements satisfactory.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 21/5/1938

“Sixteen applications, granted earlier in the year by the local justices, remained to be dealt with when an adjourned meeting of the Staffordshire County Licensing Confirmation Committee was held at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Tuesday.....

The granting of a wine license to William Dunn in respect of the BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Regis, now a beerhouse, was confirmed, subject to structural alterations being completed by the end of August. Mr. Bergendorff (for applicant) explained that the application was adjourned from the last meeting to enable plans of the alterations to be submitted to the local justices. This had been done and the plans provisionally approved.”

1939 Register

Rowley Village – BRITANNIA INN

[1] William Dunn, date of birth 19/4/1891, licensee, married;

[2] Hilda M. Dunn, dob 7/8/1899, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[4] Margaret (Dunn) Lockwood, dob 6/8/1928, at school, single;

It was transferred to a full license on 27th April 1949.

Closed [1987]

The pub was reopened in 1989 after extensive renovation.

Sandwell Evening Mail 10/8/1991

“Bar Talk. BRITANNIA, Rowley Village, Rowley Regis.

Licensee John Pardoe is selling up and getting out of his Black Country pub. There is nothing too unusual in that kind of decision as more publicans find it hard to make their businesses pay in tough economic conditions. But John isn’t leaving for that reason.

On the contrary, when he does hand over the keys of the BRITANNIA in Rowley Village, Rowley Regis, it will put the final seal on a venture brimming with success. For the pub that John re-built, from what he describes as a terrible state, has attracted a tempting offer from a leading brewery.

‘I suppose it is the highest accolade a licensee can get when a brewery comes along and wants to buy his pub,’ said the man who has raised the worth of several trading posts under his command. A Wolverhampton garage he turned into a restaurant was sold on as a prized addition to a national brewery's chain of steakhouses. His knack of turning opportunity into a gilt-edged asset also worked in the case of fish and chip shops he once owned.

The BRITANNIA has certainly gained in value and reputation since John bought it four years ago. He went to town spending a great deal to improve the bars, create a proper dining area and generally give the pub a better impression. Yet there were few obvious signs to show he was making a sound investment. Apart from much-needed structural work, John also had to make stern efforts to get rid of customers who were giving the pub a bad name.

That a brewery now sees the BRITANNIA as a valuable acquisition is testimony enough to the result of John's own efforts to put the pub back on its feet. 'I have always enjoyed a business challenge and only when I lose that interest will I know it is time to stop,' he said, 'and that hasn't happened yet.' He didn't want to leave the BRITANNIA but found the brewery's offer too good to refuse. John said he had another reason for calling 'time' on his career as boss of the BRITANNIA. He wants to be nearer his grandchildren and, because he is also anxious to stay in the pub trade, he has bought the Round Oak at Wombourne, near Wolverhampton.

On the basis of what he and his wife, Sandra, have achieved at the BRITANNIA, look out for another success story from a management team with the Midas touch.

Pubfile.

Pick of the Pints: Banks's Mild and Bitter; Carling Black Label lager, Draught Bass.

Food: Restaurant and bar meals.

Price of a pint: Mild, £1; Bitter, £1.05; Lager, £1,10.

Opening hours: 12am to 2.30pm (3pm Friday and Saturday); and 6.30pm to 11pm."

It was renamed BRITANNIA PUB AND BREWERY in 2017.

It had a brewery at the rear, a satellite of Pig Iron Brewery of Brierley Hill.

Halesowen News 25/10/2018

"Hot-Footing it to help the homeless – that's what Halesowen Parliamentary candidate Ian Cooper is doing as part of a fundraising firewalk. Mr. Cooper, Labour's candidate for the Halesowen and Rowley Regis constituency, will be walking over hot coals at the BRITANNIA pub in Rowley Village on Saturday, November 3.

Firewalk organiser Martin Clee – who is putting on the event to raise money for the Homeless One project (formerly Homeless Heroes) – is an old friend of Mr. Cooper's from their days studying at Rowley College.

Mr. Cooper said, 'When Martin announced he was organising a firewalk I thought it's the least I can do to risk a singed toe or two to help. The BRITANNIA is in my native Rowley and has recently had a makeover, plus a brewery is now on site for real ale fans. That's a good excuse to come along and support a great cause while having a warming drink or two.'

The Firewalk starts at 4pm, with training beginning an hour before."

Halesowen News 25/10/2018

"A firewalk held in Rowley Regis to raise money for the homeless proved to be a blistering success. Parliamentary hopeful Ian Cooper was among more than 50 fire walkers braving the heat with their feet at the BRITANNIA INN for the Homeless One charity.

Mr. Cooper, Labour's candidate in Halesowen and Rowley Regis, estimates his sponsorship figure will top £350. He said, 'It was a pleasure to support organiser Martin Clee and to join over 50 other people who came together to do something about the homeless in our society. I would like to thank the organisers and everyone who took part and also my friends, family and Labour Party supporters who came down to cheer me on. I think everyone enjoyed the experience – I know I did – and no one's toes were toasted as far as I know!'

Although not all the sponsorship money has been collected, organisers say the final total raised from the event is expected to be around £10,000."

Halesowen News 1/8/2020

"A new Eat Out to Help Out postcode checker has been launched by the government that allows you to find out which business in Halesowen and the surrounding areas are taking part in the scheme.

Eat Out to Help Out officially begins on Monday, August 3. Customers will be able to get a 50 per cent discount on food or non-alcoholic drinks (up to a £10 discount per diner) at participating establishments. The scheme will run every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday until Monday, August 31. Establishments will claim a reimbursement from the government for the discount they've given. Participating establishments may include restaurants, cafés, bars or pubs, work and school canteens and food halls. Here are the establishments so far registered to take part in the scheme within five miles of Halesowen town centre.....

BRITANNIA INN, Rowley Village."

[2020]

BRITISH ARMS

Corngreaves, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Joseph Hollies [1866]

NOTES

Stourbridge Observer 1/9/1866

“At Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, Joseph Hollies, of the BRITISH ARMS, Cradley Heath, was charged with an offence against his license by allowing some men to be in his house drinking on Sunday week, before half-past twelve at noon. Police-constable Fox proved the case. Hollies was ordered to pay costs, and mind what he was about in future.”

County Advertiser 15/12/1866 - Advert

“The BRITISH ARMS INN.

To be Let, with immediate possession, that well-situated Public House, containing Bar and Parlour, Front and Back Kitchens, and Three Bed Rooms, and a large Club Room, opposite Corngreaves Iron Works. The Stock and Fixtures to be taken to at a fair valuation. Coming-in about £50. Rent low.

Apply to Mr. Chandler, Auctioneer, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 26/1/1867 - Advert

“BRITISH ARMS INN, Corngreaves, Cradley Heath.

To be Let, with immediate possession, the above Inn, which is situate near the entrance to the extensive Works of the New British Iron Company, and adjoining a great thoroughfare. The Premises consist of Front and Back Parlours, Bar, Kitchen, Club Room, three Bed Rooms, Malt Room, Brewhouse, large Yard; have a good supply of Hard and Soft water, and are arranged for carrying on a large trade, which the situation guarantees. Coming-in about £20. Rent low.

Apply to Mr. Chandler, Publicans' Valuer, &c, Cradley Heath.”

BRITISH OAK

68, (22), High Street / Wrights Lane, (21+22, Garratts Lane), OLD HILL

OWNERS

Joseph Foley Jnr.

Albert Eland Sidaway

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd. (leased from 1938)

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired on 14th August 1947)

LICENSEES

James Dimmock [1851] – [1855]

Edward Hewlett [1857] – 1859)

Joseph Foley Jnr. [1860] – 1878);

Mrs. Priscilla Foley (1878 – [1883])

John Green [1884]

Albert Eland Sidaway [1891] – [1912]

William Scriven [1916] – 1938);

Harry Willetts (1938 – 1946);

William Raybould (1946 – 1950);

Percy Benjamin Hackett (1950 – 1960):

NOTES

Garratts Lane [1860], [1861], [1896]

22, Garratts Lane [1881]
21+22, Garratts Lane [1891]
22, High Street [1908]
68, High Street [1912], [1932], [1940]

James Dimmock = James Dimmack

1851 Census

Garratts Lane

- [1] James Dimmock (45), coal miner and beer seller, born Dudley;
- [2] Sarah Dimmock (45), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] Joseph Dimmock (20), son, grocer, born Dudley;
- [4] Sarah Dimmock (15), daughter, born Rowley;
- [5] James Dimmock (12), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [6] Ephraim Dimmock (10), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [7] Alfred Dimmock (5), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [8] Hannah Dimmock (1), daughter, born Halesowen:

Birmingham Journal 29/4/1854 - Advert

“Staffordshire. Eligible Freehold Property, at Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by T. W. Coldicott, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, on Monday, the 8th day of May next, at Six o’clock in the evening, the undermentioned desirable Properties, in lots to be determined on, and subject to conditions.

All that well-accustomed Public House, known as the BRITISH OAK, with Brewhouse, Shopping, Stable, Out-buildings, spacious Yard, and other conveniences, now in the occupation of James Dimmack; also, Three Messuages or Dwelling Houses adjoining, with Nail Shop, Yard, Out-buildings, and conveniences, in the occupations of Mary Bettridge, William Johnson, and Thomas Walker; the whole comprising an area of 1,367 square yards, or thereabouts, and producing an aggregate annual rent of about £37.

All the above Premises are situated in Garratt’s Lane, and near to the Dudley and Hales Owen Turnpike Road, at Old Hill aforesaid, in a populous and thriving neighbourhood, and have a communication with a new street running parallel to Garratt’s Lane.”

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 23/9/1855

“The Ring. Fights to Come October 22 Davis and Edmonds.....

Davis and Edmonds. We have received the second deposit of £3 a side for this match; the third, of £3 a side, is to be posted at Mr. Dimmock’s, BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, tomorrow (Monday) evening.”

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 30/9/1855

“Davis and Edmonds. A further deposit of £3 a side for this match was made on Monday at the BRITISH OAK, Old Hill. The fourth, of £3 a side, is to be made at the OLD CROWN, Oldbury, tomorrow.”

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 28/10/1855

“Davis of Oldbury and Edmonds of Cradley met on Defford Common on Monday, at catch weight, for £15 a side Just as the men were ready the police appeared, and a move was at once made to Cleg Common, near Brockidge, a distance of five miles across the country, where a good ring was pitched, and the fight came off without further interruption. The fight was destitute of any interest. It may be said to have been all one way The stakes are to be given to Edmonds on Tuesday at Mr. Dimmock’s, BRITISH OAK, Old Hill.”

County Advertiser 13/6/1857

“The following persons, keepers of public houses, were fined for offences against their tenor of the licenses, the respective charges being proved by the testimony of Police-officer Burton. Anne Cole, WHITE LION INN, Rowley Regis, 5s, including costs, for having her house open for the sale of liquor during the hours of divine service on Sunday, the 31st ult; Edward Hewlett, of Garratts Lane, 2s 6d and costs for a similar offence on the same day.”

Birmingham Journal 7/11/1857 - Advert

“BRITISH OAK, Garratts Lane, Old Hill.

To be Let, and may be entered upon immediately, that well-known accustomed House, known by the sign of the BRITISH OAK, at Garretts Lane, in the parish of Rowley Regis, now doing a first-rate Business. The House and Premises are replete with every convenience, having excellent Tap Room, Smoke Room, Bar, Kitchen, Club Room, Yard, Stabling for three Horses, good Brewhouse, capital Cellaring, Piggeries, &c. The House is surrounded by Collieries and Ironworks. The present Proprietor is leaving on account of his having entered into the Farming Business.

For further particulars, apply to T. P. Stokes and Son, Public House Valuers, Priory Street, Dudley.”

Shrewsbury Chronicle 21/10/1859 - Died

“15th inst, at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, Staffordshire, after a long and painful illness, aged 40, Edward, third son of the late Mr. R. Hewlett, of Harlescott, in this county.”

Joseph Foley Jnr. was also a saddler [1861], [1872]

Stourbridge Observer 1/9/1866

“An inquest was held on Tuesday, at eleven in the forenoon, at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, before Mr. E. Hooper, District Coroner, touching the death of a child named Elizabeth Wall, aged one year and eight months. Among the witnesses produced was Sarah Wall, mother of the deceased, who stated that her husband was a boatman, living in Garratts Lane. On Wednesday, the 8th inst she gave permission to a girl ten years of age to take her daughter out for a walk, merely telling her to take care of her. Shortly afterwards she heard an outcry, and on running into the road saw her daughter in flames which were put out by a woman who was standing by. A surgeon was immediately sent for, and every possible means were taken to ensure her recovery but after a few days’ suffering she died. John Rock, ten years of age, was next called. He gave his answers with great hesitation, and although closely questioned by the Coroner, all the evidence that could be got out of him was that he assisted in making a fire in a meadow near Garratts Lane, but that he had nothing to do with setting the child on fire. The Coroner observed that no reliance could be placed on the last witness’s statements, and Police-sergeant Powner stated that the witness’s mother had refused any information or assistance whatever in getting up the case. He also stated that there were several boys in the village who were in the habit of lighting these fires, and the Coroner said that the practice must be put a stop to, and gave orders to the police to take all persons into custody who were found near them. Another boy who was mixed up in the affair, named Thomas Shakespeare, was also called, but although he admitted that he was present when the catastrophe occurred, he denied either that he set fire to the deceased, or saw anyone else do so. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that the child died from scorching and burning, but how it happened there was no direct evidence to show.”

County Express 3/8/1867

“The members of Court Britain’s Glory (No.4821) of the Ancient Order of Foresters celebrated their first anniversary at their court house, Brother T. Gaunt’s, OLD BUSH REVIVED, Powke Lane, Rowley Regis, on Monday, when upwards of 30 members sat down to an excellent dinner and supper provided by the host, Thomas Gaunt. Brother H. Whittall, secretary of the court, took the chair, and Brother Cornelius Parsons, the vice-chair. The room was handsomely decorated for the occasion. The usual loyal toasts having been given, the chairman addressed the members on the benefits received by joining Foresters’ societies, and said it was the best thing a working man could do to join a society of this sort. The members formed themselves into a procession, and marched through the village to pay a visit to Court Robin Hood’s Cave, No.4737, BRITISH OAK, INN, Garrets Lane, Old Hill, who were celebrating their anniversary on the same day, and after refreshing themselves they re-formed, and returned to the court house, where the evening was enlivened by a variety of songs, glees, and recitations, by Brothers Heber, Whittall, G. Firkn, W. Edwards, and Curtis. The conviviality was kept up to a late hour, when the members separated, highly gratified with the events of the day.”

County Express 10/4/1869

“Quarterly Meeting of Foresters. The quarterly meeting of the Dudley and Cradley Heath district of this important and popular order, took place at the house of Brother Joseph Foley, BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, on Monday The various courts in the district were represented by 32 delegates, one from each court. After having called for the credentials of the various courts, the meeting was duly opened and a great quantity of business dispatched. At six o’clock the party sat down to an excellent dinner provided by the host in his usual excellent style, and to which the bretheren did ample justice.....”

County Advertiser 19/6/1869

“At the Police Court, on Wednesday, Joseph Priest, a collier, was charged with stealing £1 10s belonging to Eliza Starkey, wife of David Starkey, also a collier. Mr. Stokes appeared for the defence. Prosecutrix said she lived in Garrets Lane. On the previous Saturday night she went to pay her husband’s club money, at the BRITISH OAK public house. Prisoner was in the kitchen, and asked her to drink with him. She did so, and afterwards paid for two pints of ‘brown stout’ for herself and prisoner to drink. Prisoner asked her to lend him a shilling, and she at once gave him one. Witness then went to purchase some grocery, and on her return again called at the public house. Prisoner said he wanted to see her son, and she and prisoner walked to her home together. It was about eleven o’clock when they reached the house. They sat side by side for about two hours. When prisoner was about to leave, witness discovered that prisoner had robbed her of £1 10s. Her husband was away from home, but her son lay asleep in the room on a screen. At the close of her cross-examination prosecutrix said she should like to withdraw the case. The case was accordingly allowed to be withdrawn, prisoner at the same time expressing his willingness to give prosecutrix a sovereign. The evidence and cross-examination of prosecutrix, and the looks of injured innocence prisoner attempted to assume, caused no little fun in Court.”

1871 Census

Garratts Lane – BRITISH OAK

[1] Joseph Foley (36), publican and saddler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Priscilla Foley (36), wife, born Willenhall;

[3] Mary Foley (11), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Frederick A. Foley (7), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

- [5] Joseph E. Foley (6), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Henry B. Foley (4), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] William C. Foley (2), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Sarah Ann Tucker (21), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Agnes Ella Waterhouse (11), nurse, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 22/7/1871

“Foresters’ Anniversary. On Monday last, at the house of Mr. Joseph Foley, BRITISH OAK INN, the members of Court Robin Hood’s Cave (No.4737) held their anniversary, when upwards of sixty sat down to an excellent dinner.....”

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

13th July 1873 - Frances Priscilla, daughter of Joseph and Priscilla Foley, publican, Old Hill.

County Advertiser 26/7/1873

“On Monday last the members of court Robin Hood Cave, No.4737, held their anniversary. The members met at their court house, the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, and about 70 sat down to an excellent dinner provided by the host, Mr. Joseph Foley. Mr. E. S. Lewis, CR, presided, and Mr. James Jones was in the vice chair. The usual loyal and other toasts were given from the chair, and a most pleasant evening was spent.”

County Advertiser 20/5/1876

“John Smith was charged with unlawfully withholding a contribution book belonging to the trustees of lodge Robin Hood’s Cave, No.4737, of the Ancient Order of Foresters Friendly Society, to which lodge he was formerly secretary. Mr. Hayes prosecuted. He said that the defendant was formerly secretary to the above lodge, which was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill. Some time ago the defendant made an application for an increase of salary, which being refused, he stated that he would not continue to discharge the duties of secretary. Another man was accordingly elected at the last general meeting to fill the office, but defendant refused to give up the books. After some trouble they obtained all the books from him but one – a contribution book– which he persistently refused to deliver up. As the lodge had every five years to draw up returns, which were forwarded to the Registrar and to the chief Court, they urgently required the book, because unless the return was properly made out they became subject to a heavy penalty. He then called Edward Solomon Lewis, the newly-elected secretary, and William Sadler, one of the trustees of the lodge, whose evidence was in accordance with the facts as above stated.

In defence, Smith stated that he took the whole of his books to the lodge, but the trustees refused to sign the one in question, the contribution book. He therefore refused to give it up until it was signed by them.

The Bench ordered him to give up the book.”

County Advertiser 22/7/1876

“The members of Court Robin Hood’s Cave of the Ancient Order of Foresters held their anniversary dinner at Mr. J. Foley’s, BRITISH OAK INN, on Monday night. A procession was formed, and headed by the officers and members, dressed in the several characters of ‘Robin Hood,’ ‘Little John,’ ‘Friar Tuck,’ &c, and the Cradley Heath Brass band, marched through the principal streets of the place to the Court house. After an excellent dinner, the chair was taken by Bro. W. Harrison, CR. The secretary read his report, which showed the court to be in a most satisfactory state; 36 new members had joined during the year, making a total strength of 214; and £450 was at the disposal of the court. The remainder of the evening was most agreeably spent by all present, in songs, and the usual friendly toasts and compliments.”

County Advertiser 21/10/1876

“Mr. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest on Wednesday, at the BRITISH OAK INN, touching the death of James Green (35), a collier, of Wrights Lane, Old Hill. The deceased went to bed, apparently in his usual good health, at half-past eleven o’clock on the night of Saturday last, and in an hour afterwards he was found dead. A verdict of Died from Natural Causes was returned.”

County Advertiser 30/6/1877

“On Thursday, Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on the body of Henry Higgs (19), who formerly resided in Garratts Lane. On the night of the 21st inst the deceased was walking home at about 11.40pm, in company with two other men, named Thomas Goode and William Ashmore. In crossing an entry he fell down, and his two companions, who were close behind him, fell accidentally upon the top of him. He appeared to have been injured by this, and complained of pain in the lower part of the abdomen. Mr. Standish, surgeon attended him, and it was thought probable he would recover, but his injuries terminated fatally on the 26th inst. The Jury heard evidence showing the above facts, and returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Birmingham Daily Post 24/4/1878 - Died

“On the 16th inst, aged 43 years, Mr. Joseph Foley, BRITISH OAK, Old Hill; deeply regretted.”

County Express 8/6/1878

“Alehouse Transfers. The Bench allowed the following transfers.....

ROYAL OAK INN, Garratts Lane, from Joseph Foley (deceased) to Priscilla Foley.”

County Express 6/7/1878

“Forestry. The annual quarterly meeting of the Dudley and Cradley Heath District was held at the BRITISH OAK, Old Hill, on Monday last. Bro. E. Lewis, DCR, in the chair. The usual business was got through in a satisfactory manner. Several deserving cases were met with a spirit which reflected great credit to the delegates present. Bro. J. S. Shinner, of Brierley Hill, was elected district representative to the coming High Court Meeting to be held in August next. The auditor’s report showed the district to comprise of 40 Courts, with 3,464 members, and funds to the amount of £1,487 0s 1½d, £1,000 of which was very advantageously put out as mortgage at 5 per cent. The usual vote of thanks ended the meeting.”

County Advertiser 14/6/1879 - Deaths

“On the 29th ult, aged 12 years, Henry Brevitt, third son of the late Joseph Foley, BRITISH OAK, Old Hill, Dudley.”

Dudley Herald 9/8/1879

“Thomas Bryan was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of Priscilla Foley on the 28th ult. Prosecutrix said she kept the BRITISH OAK, and on the day in question defendant refused to quit when she asked him. Defendant was ordered to pay costs.”

County Express 4/10/1879

“An inquest was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on Monday, before Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, relative to the death of Timothy Priest, Cherry Orchard. It appeared that deceased, who was 51 years of age, was at work getting stone at No.22 pit, Netherton, the property of the Earl of Dudley, on the 24th ult, when a quantity of stone fell upon him, breaking his back and dislocating his right hip. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.

The same day an inquest was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, by Mr. E. Hooper on the body of a man named Joseph Williams, aged 57, Garratts Lane, Old Hill. Deceased was employed under the New British Iron Company, loading wagons, at the Black Wagon Wharf, Old Hill. On the 29th ult, he saw some empty wagons coming quickly down the incline, and endeavoured to stop them with a ‘sprag.’ In doing so he was knocked down, and the wagons passed over him. The jury found a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Dudley Herald 14/2/1880

“Mr. Edwin Hooper, South Staffordshire Coroner, held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on Thursday, on the body of Phoebe Ann Thompson, a year and a half old. The mother of deceased was giving breakfast to her family on the morning of the 19th ult, when a boy but little older than the deceased overturned a cup containing hot tea. The deceased was thereby badly scalded, and died from the effects on the 8th inst. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

London Gazette 26/3/1880

“Pursuant to an Order of the High Court of Justice, made in an action in the matter of the estate of Joseph Foley, deceased, Mayhew against Foley, 1879, the creditors of Joseph Foley, late of the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, Innkeeper, who died on the 16th day of April, 1878, are, on or before the 1st day of May, 1880, to send by post, prepaid, to Messrs. Robinson and Watts, of Dudley, in the county of Worcester, the Solicitors for the defendant, Priscilla Foley, the administratrix of the said deceased, their Christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, the full particulars of their claims, a statement of their accounts, and the nature of the securities (if any) held by them, or in default thereof they will be peremptorily excluded from the benefit of the said Order. Every creditor holding any security is to produce the same before the Vice-Chancellor Sir Charles Hall, at his chambers, situated No.14, Chancery-lane, in the county of Middlesex, on Wednesday, the 26th day of May, 1880, at one o’clock in the afternoon, being the time appointed for adjudicating on the claims. Dated this 15th day of March, 1880.”

County Advertiser 10/4/1880

“At the Police Court, on Wednesday, William Woodhouse, chainmaker, Four Ways, was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of Priscilla Foley, BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on the 31st ult. He was further charged with breaking a spirit glass, value 4d. Defendant cross-examined complainant to show that she had told him (defendant) that she wanted neither Liberal nor Radical in her house, and that she herself broke the glass. For refusing to quit defendant was fined 5s and costs, and for the other offence 6d, 4d damage and costs.”

Dudley Herald 8/5/1880

“An inquiry was held on Saturday, before Mr. E. Hooper (district coroner) at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, touching the death of Emma Weston (27). Deceased, who was the wife of Thomas Weston, grocer, Black Wagon Street, died the previous Wednesday night, from the result of injuries self-inflicted. From evidence tendered by deceased’s husband and a neighbour named Joseph Jones, it appeared that on the night in question, Mr. Weston left home and returned shortly after eleven o’clock, when the nurse in the family, in reply to his question, said his wife had gone to bed. On going upstairs he failed to find her in bed or in the room, and, becoming alarmed, he searched the shop and cellar, but in vain. He then aroused Joseph Jones and a Mrs. Shakespeare, two neighbours, both of whom entered the house and assisted in the search. Blood was found at the back of deceased’s bedstead upstairs, and also on the room floor, that on the floor having the appearance of having been wiped up with an apron which was found saturated with blood. Nothing, however, was then seen of the deceased, and after the house had been searched throughout, even to the back premises, the water cistern, and the washtubs, Jones and Mrs. Shakespeare returned upstairs, when the former lifted the valance of the child’s cot, and there discovered deceased lying underneath, with her head resting in her hand, and her throat cut.

She was not then dead, but died about half an hour later. A medical man having in the meantime been called in, Mr. Weston said his wife had lately suffered from spasms and cramp, and since her last confinement had appeared despondent in her mind. The fact of her mother having married again had also seemed to affect her spirits. Was satisfied that his wife's injuries were self-inflicted. Two of deceased's relatives had suffered from insanity, and one, an aunt, had attempted suicide by cutting her throat. Police-constable Johnson, who was called to the house when deceased was found, described the position in which she lay, and said upon searching the room he found the knife produced (a large shop knife) smeared with blood; it had been pushed between the bed and the mattress, the point being outwards. Full inquiries had been made into the matter, but there were no suspicious circumstances attending the affair.

The Coroner, in summing up, remarked that there appeared to be little doubt that deceased destroyed her own life, and also that she suffered temporarily from insanity, especially when it was remembered that other members of the family had been similarly affected.

The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst in a state of Temporary Insanity."

Dudley and District News 24/7/1880

"An inquest was held on Saturday, at the BRITISH OAK, Old Hill, before Mr. E. Hooper, on the body of Joseph Rock (17), boatman, who was drowned in the canal at Tipton a day or two ago under the following painful circumstances. It appears the deceased, with his father and another man, were in charge of a boat at Bloomfield. The deceased accidentally fell over the side of the boat into the water, which at that point is rather deep. The unfortunate man, being unable to swim, struggled in the water and cried loudly for help. His father and his comrade were both afraid to jump in to rescue him, as neither of them could swim. All other available means were tried, but failed, and after a short but painful scene, the poor man sank and was drowned in the presence of his father and fellow-workman. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

County Express 24/7/1880

"The fifteenth anniversary of court Robin Hood's Cave, No.4737, was celebrated on Monday last, at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, and a most sumptuous dinner was served up under the superintendence of the hostess, on whom the excellency of the repast and the arrangements generally for the enjoyment of the numerous guests, reflected great credit. Mr. A. Crumpton, CR, was voted the to the chair, and Bro. S. Robinson, PCR, the vice-chair. The usual toasts were given, and several excellent speeches were made, and a present to the hostess was made as a token of respect and appreciation. The Secretary, Bro. C. S. Lewis, read a few statistics from the annual balance sheet which showed that the income for the year had been £318 9s 8d; expenditure, £274 11s 4d; total worth of the Court, £725. Various toasts were given and duly honoured, and the proceedings were enlivened by some excellent singing."

Evening Express 17/2/1881

"James Powell, the prisoner in the previous case, Joseph Pool (22), labourer, Powke Lane, Blackheath, and William Ashfield (30), miner, Old Lion Road, Old Hill, were charged with the theft of some silver-mounted harness, a saddle, and a pair of reins, belonging to Thomas Tibbetts, landlord of the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill.

Prosecutor lent the saddle and reins to a neighbour in November last, by whom they were placed in a stable at the BRITISH OAK public house in Garratts Lane, and were afterwards missed. Subsequently the prisoner Powell offered the saddle for sale to a man named Burgess, who, however, refused to purchase it, and afterwards Ashfield, with whom Powell lodged, and Pool sold the saddle to Edward Mason, a carter, of Blackheath, for 5s and three quarts of ale, Ashfield then promising to send him the reins at a future day.

Prisoners were each sentenced to one month's imprisonment, with hard labour, and the Bench expressed their disapproval of the conduct of Mason in purchasing the stolen property."

1881 Census

Garratts Lane

- [1] Priscilla Foley (45), widow, innkeeper, born Willenhall;
- [2] Frederick A. Foley (17), son, saddler, born Rowley;
- [3] Joseph E. Foley (16), son, pattern maker, born Rowley;
- [4] William C. Foley (12), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [5] Louisa Nicholls (20), servant, born Dudley:

Dudley and District News 11/6/1881

"In the High Court of Justice (Chancery Division). In the matter of the estate of Joseph Foley, deceased.

Mayhew v Foley. Sale of Valuable Freehold Properties, comprising and Old-licensed Inn and premises. Three Front Shops and Seven Dwelling Houses, all situate at Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford.

To be Sold by Auction (pursuant to an order of the High Court of Judicature, dated 13th February, 1880), by

Mr. John Bateman (of the firm of Messrs. Bateman and Son), the person appointed to sell the same, on Monday, the 13th day of June, 1881, upon the above premises, the BRITISH OAK INN, High Street, Old Hill, at six o'clock in the evening, and subject to conditions annexed to the particulars, and to be produced at the time of Sale, the following Valuable Freehold Properties.

Lot 1. The Old-licensed Inn and Premises known by the sign of the BRITISK OAK, situate and being No.22, Garratts Lane, now called High Street, and forming the corner of High Street, Wrights Lane, and Black Waggon Street, at Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, with Sadler's Shop and the front Piece of Land, forming the corner part thereof, with spacious and convenient Brewhouse, two-stall Stable, Gig Shed, large walled-in yard and premises, the whole in the occupation of

Mrs. Priscilla Foley.....”

West Bromwich Weekly News 24/9/1881

“Priscilla Foley, of the BRITISH OAK, Garratts Lane, was charged with permitting drunkenness. Mr. Thomas Cooksey defended.

PC Rowlands said at 10.45pm on Saturday, the 3rd instant, he visited the defendant’s house, and found one of the men whom they had seen at the GATE HANGS WELL [another case], the same evening, who was standing near the counter in a drunken condition. He called the defendant’s attention to it, when she replied that the man came there, and asked to be provided with lodgings. She then ordered him to leave.

PC Rowe gave corroborative evidence.

Several witnesses were called for the defence, who said when the man went into the house he appeared to be sober, and walked straight across the room, and asked if anyone could tell him where he could be accommodated with lodgings. He did not make any disturbance, but left as soon as requested.

Mr. Cooksey urged upon the Bench that the house had always been conducted in a proper manner, and there had not been any complaint made against it for the past twenty years.

The Bench said that due care was not exercised in endeavouring to ascertain that the man was sober before supplying him with drink, and imposed a fine of 5s and costs.”

AND

County Advertiser 24/9/1881

“Priscilla Foley, landlady of the BRITISH OAK, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was charged with permitting drunkenness on the 3rd inst. Mr. Cooksey defended.

The same officers who were in the other two cases went to defendant’s house, and saw there a man named Hobban, leaning against the counter with a glass of ale before him. The man came out of the house shortly afterwards, and it was noticed that he was drunk. They followed him, and as he refused to give his address, they locked him up.

For the defence, Mr. Cooksey called the barmaid who supplied the ale, and other witnesses, to show that the man was not drunk when served with the ale.

The Bench said due care had not been exercised by the barmaid in supplying the man with beer, but the defendant was responsible for that. A fine of 5s and costs was inflicted.”

Dudley and District News 13/5/1882

“At the Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday, before Messrs. W. Bassano and C. Holcroft, William Ball, alias George Keel, Poplar Place, Bridge Street, West Hockley, Birmingham, pearl and stud turner, and John Johnson, 12, Eaton Street, Hockley, pearl turner, were charged with uttering and putting off counterfeit coins representing half-crowns, and one florin, at Old Hill and Cradley Heath, on the 8th inst. On the prisoner Ball was found 8s 9d and five coins, and on Johnson 29s 7½d and two coins.

Joseph Manning, QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Road, said on Monday evening last the prisoners came to his house while he was sitting at tea. Ball called for two drinks, and was served by his wife, who called him to look at the half-crown they had tendered for the drink. He looked at the coin and broke it in two. It was bad, and he sent for a police officer, and detained Ball, but Johnson would not stay, and went out because he said he had nothing to do with Ball.

Aquilla Parkes, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, said Ball came to his house on Monday afternoon about 4.30 and called for a glass of ale, tendering the base half-crown produced, he filled the glass of ale and gave him 2s 4½d back. It rang well on the counter. Ball drank the ale and went out. The next morning a police officer came and asked if he had taken any bad money, and his wife examined the money they took on Monday and picked the half-crown out, it being the only one they took that day. He identified Ball next day.

Susan Harris, wife of Thomas Harris, licensed victualler, CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, New Town, said on Monday Ball came to her house and asked for a bottle of soda water, she had none and gave him a bottle of ginger beer, he tendered her half-a-crown, she gave him 2s 4½d in change and he went out. Next day she found that the coin was bad.

Louisa Nicklin said she was servant to Priscilla Foley, who kept the BRITISH OAK, High Street. On Monday afternoon both the prisoners came to the house and Ball called for a pint of ale. She filled it and Ball gave her half-a-crown which she took to her mistress who gave her change. She was quite sure that Johnson was with Ball. Priscilla Foley said when her servant brought the half-crown and she had given her the change she went into the shop and saw the prisoners standing by the counter. Two more men were with them. When she went into the bar Ball asked for the cup to be filled, and gave her a two shilling piece, she gave him 1s 9½d in change, they did not wait to empty their cup but said they must go so as not to be caught in the rain. Ball and Johnson then left the other men and went out. The two coins she received were bad, and she gave them to the police.

Emma Johnson (14), daughter of Samuel Johnson, the HEARTY GOOD FELLOW, King Street, Old Hill, said she saw the prisoners come into the house on Monday afternoon. Ball called for a quart of ale, she supplied it and Ball gave her half-a-crown in payment. She gave the change, Ball threw the drink down and both went out. Her father wanted some change and she took it to Chances for sixpences.

Hanna Webb, barmaid at Mr. John Foley’s, the SWAN INN, Old Hill, said the prisoner came into the house and Ball asked for some ale and tendered her half-a-crown, she took the coin to Mrs. Foley and gave Ball the change. Hannah Foley said Hannah Webb brought her a half-crown which she put in her pocket with the other money. The same night she gave it to a police officer. PC Litherley said he was sent for to the QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Road, on Monday and received the half-crown produced, from Mr. Manning, who said in the presence of Ball, that he had received it from him. He took Ball into custody, and he at first gave the name of George Keel, Hart Yard, Hatton Garden, London, and said it was not half-a-crown but a two shilling piece which he gave. PCs Litherley and Lawrence proved receiving the base coins produced from the witnesses.

Inspector Walters said on Monday the prisoner Ball was brought to the station and gave the name of George Keel, Hart Yard, Hatton Garden, London. He declined to give any reference, and said witness might enquire about it. He took him to Birmingham to the detective department, where he saw detective Baker, who called Keel by his right name, and said, 'How do William Ball.' He then went to Ball's address in Bridge Street, West Hockley, and on going into the house he found the prisoner Johnson lying on a screen, he then gave the name of George William Hobson, No.13, Eaton Street, Abbey Fields, Hockley. He told him he would be charged with being in company with Ball the previous day at Old Hill, and passing counterfeit coins. He replied, 'I know nothing at all about it.' He searched him and found £1 9s 7½d all in small coins. He told him he would have to go with him to Old Hill, when he became very violent, and rushed to the table to get a knife, but he put the handcuffs on him and brought him to Old Hill. He was present in the office when Ball was identified, and he might add that he went to Eaton Street, Hockley, but no such person as the prisoner Johnson was known there.

Honor Chance, wife of John Chance, 2, King Street, underground manager for Messrs. Hingley, said she changed half-a-crown for Emma Johnson on Monday afternoon. Emma came and told her that it was a bad half-crown, and took it back.

Eliza Johnson, wife of George Johnson, publican, KINGS HEAD, Elbow Street, said four men came to her house on Monday, and Ball asked for half-an-ounce of tobacco and a pipe, and gave her half-a-crown which she changed. PC Rowlands came at night, and she found the coin was a bad one.

Mr. Henn, Cradley Heath, said PC Litherly showed him three half-crowns which he examined and found to be bad. They were made principally of lead. PC Rowlands also showed him four half-crowns, and one two shilling piece which were counterfeit.

The half-crowns were all from the same mould, dated 1875, and plated.

Prisoners were remanded to Stafford to appear on Wednesday."

[At the Staffordshire Quarter Sessions, William Ball (32) and John Johnson (27), both button makers, were each sentenced to twelve months, Ball pleading guilty.]

Dudley and District News 2/9/1882

"Old Hill annual Brewster Sessions were held at the Police Court on Wednesday.....

The following is the black list, and in each of the cases the licenses were suspended till the adjourned licensing meeting.....

Priscilla Foley, BRITISH OAK, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, supplying ale to drunken men, fined 5s and costs."

Dudley and District News 30/9/1882

"This being the Old Hill adjourned licensing sessions the Bench granted a renewal of the licenses which were suspended at the last annual general sessions. The Chairman stated that the magistrates had very carefully considered each case, and they had decided to renew the licenses on the understanding that some assurance was given on the part of each defaulter, that their respective houses should be better conducted in the future. The Bench were determined that the law should be enforced, and if the defendants were guilty of any further offence against the Licensing Laws they would be severely punished and their licenses forfeited. The Chairman added that Henry Heath, who was convicted for selling ale during prohibited hours on Sunday, was now taking out a six days' license instead of a seven days', and his license was renewed on that condition; and if any of the others wished to have six days' licenses the Bench would be pleased to grant them."

Dudley and District News 29/12/1883

"A meeting of the creditors of Mrs. Priscilla Foley, of the BRITISH OAK INN, High Street, Old Hill, publican and saddler, took place at the office of Messrs. Warmington and Thompson, Castle Street, Dudley, solicitors for the debtor, on Monday last. The statement of affairs showed liabilities £438 9s 8d and assets £28. It was resolved to accept a composition of 1s in the £, payable within three months from the confirmation of the resolution."

County Advertiser 7/6/1884

"The members of court Robin Hood's Cave, No.4737, met on Monday at the house of Mr. John Green, BRITISH OAK INN, High Street, Old Hill, to celebrate the 19th anniversary of this court. One hundred and fifty sat down to dinner. Dr. Standish, surgeon, addressed the members, and a vote of thanks was passed to him for past services. During the day the members formed a procession and paraded the principal streets. The evening was spent convivially."

County Express 28/6/1884

"Mr. Edwin Hooper (District Coroner) held an inquest on Tuesday at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, touching the death of a little girl named Sarah Ann Nock, who had been found drowned in a tub of water. The child was sent on a visit to her grandmother's house in Cherry Orchard, and during the temporary absence of her nurse she fell into a tub of water and was drowned. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

West Bromwich Weekly News 23/4/1887

"Mr. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, on Monday, respecting the death of Joseph Pearson (54), chainmaker, of Garratts Lane.

David Pearson, son of the deceased, said on Friday last he heard that his father had been kicked by a horse. Witness immediately went to his home and found the deceased lying on a sofa, insensible, and blood was flowing from his right ear.

Isaac Hodgkins, Francis Bloomer, and Polly Garratt, a little girl, also gave evidence to the cause of the death, and the Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

Dudley Mercury 25/5/1889

“Moses Phipps, miner, Waggon Street, Old Hill, was charged with wounding Emma Bryant, Wrights Lane, Old Hill, on the 18th inst. Complainant said she went to the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, to look for her husband, who was a very drunken fellow, and never brought any money home. While she was there defendant came in with her husband and another man named Jones. Witness’s husband gave his money to Jones, and as she was getting it from him, the defendant nearly cut one her fingers off with a knife. Defendant said he intended cutting the pocket handkerchief which held the money, and complainant put her finger in the way, and he only ‘nicked’ it. The Bench said they were of opinion that the injury was caused accidentally, and dismissed the case. The costs would be remitted.”

Dudley Mercury 6/7/1889

“Ebenzer Garratt, breeze burner, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of Albert Elon Sidaway, landlord of the BRITISH OAK, Garratts Lane, on the 1st inst.

Mr. Goodman: Are you guilty, or not guilty? – Defendant: I was tipsy in beer, but did not use the knife as was said. No knife was used.

Mr. Goodman: You are simply charged with being drunk. Do you admit it? – Defendant: Yes, sir.

Police-constable Keegan said that at 9.30 on the morning in question the defendant’s wife came to the Police Station and reported to him that her husband had inflicted a cut two and a half inches long on her left wrist. He went to the BRITISH OAK and found the defendant sitting in the bar in an intoxicated condition. Witness took him to the station, and found, from enquiries, that his wife struck the defendant on the face with a jug, and that the cut on her wrist was done in the struggle.

Defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs, or seven days.”

County Express 25/1/1890

“On Monday night a meeting of miners was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill. Mr. B. Winwood reported that he had written to the MPs in the surrounding districts to ascertain their opinions on the eight hours question. He had received a letter from Staveley Hill, QC, MP, who pointed out that, speaking at Kingswinford, he explained he was in favour of lessening the hours of labour for miners, but could not pledge himself to vote for a bill before seeing it. Mr. Brooke Robinson, MP, said that if it were the wish of the general body of miners to have an Eight Hours Bill he saw no reason why he should not support it. Mr. B. Hingley, MP, had not replied to the communication addressed to him.”

Birmingham Daily Post 5/2/1890

“Yesterday, a meeting of miners employed at the Granville (‘Clipper’) Colliery, Old Hill, was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, under the presidency of Mr. B. Winwood.

The Chairman explained that the men had laid down their tools in consequence of being called upon to work during half the time appointed for the dinner hour, and after the proper hours at night. The men had been working from twenty to forty minutes later than they ought to do at night, and had only been having half an hour for dinner. He had visited the colliery twice, but had been unable to see Mr. Collis. There were about 150 men concerned in the strike.

A resolution was passed deciding not to resume work until Mr. Collis had interviewed their agent (Mr. Winwood) and promised to remedy the evils complained of. They further instructed Mr. Winwood not to wait upon the employer again until he was requested to do so.”

County Express 19/4/1890

“Joseph Green, St. John Street, Netherton, and William Green, Tory Street, Blackheath, were charged with being drunk in the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on the 5th inst, and on the evidence of Police-constables Insley and Hegan, defendants were each fined 5s and costs.”

1891 Census

21+22, Garratts Lane

[1] Albert E. Sidaway (30), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Mary A. Sidaway (27), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Edith S. M. Sidaway (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Matilda Belfield (17), domestic servant, born Brierley Hill:

County Express 25/4/1891

“On Friday night last a meeting of miners was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, for the purpose of receiving the report of the delegate (Mr. B. Winwood) who attended the Paris Conference on behalf of the Old Hill and District Miners’ Association. A resolution was passed unanimously approving of the action taken by the British delegates at the recent Congress in Paris with regard to the formation of an International Miners’ Federation, and the eight hours question, and also agreeing to stand firmly together until the eight hours working day is secured in England by legislation or other means.”

Birmingham Daily Post 7/6/1892

“Yesterday the annual celebration in connection with Court Robin Hood’s Cave, No.4737, of the Ancient Order of Foresters, took place at Old Hill. The business meeting was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, the Chief Ranger (Mr. S. Thompson) presiding. The secretary (Mr. J. Darby) presented a report showing that there were 384 members in the lodge, an increase of 26 during the year. The total worth of the society was about £1,800.....”

County Advertiser 3/12/1892 - Advert

“Old Hill. Notice of Sale by Auction of Excellent Freehold Dwelling Houses, with the Mines and Minerals, and Building Land. Alfred W. Dando has received instructions to Sell By Auction, at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on Tuesday, December 13th, 1892, at Six o'clock in the Evening for Seven precisely, subject to Conditions of Sale, then to be produced, as follows.....”

County Advertiser 15/7/1893

“On Tuesday night a largely-attended meeting of miners under the auspices of the Old Hill and District Miners' Association was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, to consider what steps should be taken in the event of a proposal to reduce wages which appeared to be imminent Up to within the past few months they had enjoyed two or three years' prosperity in the trade, and through the loyalty of the members of the Federation, and the energy and untiring perseverance of its leaders, they had obtained and retained 40 per cent advance in their wages. The time had come when their employers said they should submit to a reduction of 25 per cent, leaving them 15 per cent of the previous gain, and it was for them to say whether they were prepared to make the sacrifice which their employers said they must make if they were to carry on their work at a profitIt was unanimously decided to resist any reduction if proposed.”

County Advertiser 29/12/1894

“On Thursday afternoon, Mr. E. Hooper (coroner), held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, touching the death of a female child, one month old, of Samuel and Sarah Ann Nock, of Park Lane, Old Hill, who was found dead in bed on the 25th inst. The mother stated that the child went to bed on the night of the 24th inst with her. Upon awaking early on the morning of the 25th she found deceased dead in bed. The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes.”

AND

“On Thursday afternoon, Mr. E. Hooper (coroner), held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of Felix Walker, aged 56 years, formerly residing at Garratts Lane, and who died suddenly on the 23rd of December. Isabella Walker, wife, stated that deceased had been in very good health. On Sunday morning he was taken ill, and about eight o'clock he went upstairs to go to bed, but when near the top of the stairs he called out. Witness's son-in-law ran up the stairs, and took him into the bed room. A doctor was sent for, but deceased expired before he arrived. In answer to the coroner, witness said that deceased had been an excessive drinker. The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes, accelerated by excessive drinking.”

County Advertiser 8/6/1895

“Yesterday (Friday) Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest, at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, respecting the death of Patrick McDonald (68), formerly residing in Wrights Lane, who died suddenly on Tuesday last. Maria McDonald, wife, said during the past six years deceased had occasionally been ill, but with those exceptions he had enjoyed very good health. Witness last saw her husband alive about two o'clock on Whit-Tuesday afternoon, when he started to drive some relatives and neighbours to Hagley. About half an hour afterwards witness was informed that deceased was dead, but for some time she could not realise that such a thing had happened. George Hayward, son-in-law, said on Whit-Tuesday afternoon deceased was driving a horse and trap through Cradley Heath, en route to Clent Hills, when he suddenly fell back and expired in a few minutes. Witness fetched Dr. de Denne, who pronounced life to be extinct. It was stated that several of deceased's relatives had died in a similar way. The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes.”

County Express 21/8/1897

“The first of what is intended to be an annual demonstration of the friendly societies in the Old Hill district, was held on Sunday, the object in view being to help the funds of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital the day was bright and promising, and there were large numbers of people all along the route. At one o'clock the 1st Worcestershire Volunteer Band started from the CROSS INN, proceeded across Halesowen Road, calling at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL; then across Lawrence Lane into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the Cross, where the final procession was formed. Meanwhile the Old Hill Brass and Red Band started from the WHITE LION INN, proceeded by way of Powke Lane and Garratts Lane to Wrights Lane (as far as the PRINCE OF WALES INN), and returned to Garratts Lane, calling for lodges at the BRITISH OAK INN, FOX HUNT INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, VINE INN, to the Cross. On the arrival of this contingent a huge line was formed, and very pretty it looked. Members of the various lodges wore their regalia, and these being interspersed with the more elaborate honorary members' scarves, gave the line a very bright appearance.....”

County Advertiser 4/12/1897

“On Thursday morning, Mr. A. A. Bethan (acting coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on the body of Zachariah Pearson (30), chainmaker, of Wagon Street, Old Hill, who was found hanging from the ceiling at his house, on Sunday last. It appeared from the evidence that deceased came home about 10-15 on Sunday night, his wife being in bed. She was awakened by the bed shaking, and on going downstairs found deceased hanging by a handkerchief from a hook in the ceiling. She called in George Jones, a neighbour, who cut him down, Dr. Mitchell meanwhile being sent for. The evidence of Dr. Mitchell was to the effect that he found deceased on the floor. Life was not extinct, and witness opened a vein in the arm and resorted to artificial respiration. Deceased made no spontaneous efforts to breathe, and death resulted in about ten minutes afterwards. The cause of death was strangulation, and there was no dislocation of the neck. He said he should like to add his testimony to the great assistance rendered by Inspector Given and the policemen.

Deceased, it appeared, had complained of pain in his head, and he had been out of employment for five weeks; and these things seemed to have preyed on his mind. He, it was stated, made several attempts to hang himself.

The jury found a verdict that deceased committed Suicide whilst Temporarily Insane.

The Coroner remarked that the mortuary was great convenience for coroner, jurymen, and relatives of the dead persons taken there, and the building was not only a good one, but it was well fitted up and kept properly clean. The jurymen concurred in the Coroner's remarks."

County Advertiser 26/2/1898

"On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. A. A. Betham (acting coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, concerning the death of Priscilla Treviss (44), formerly residing in Garratts Lane, who died suddenly on Sunday night. The evidence of the husband showed that deceased expected confinement, and retired to bed on Sunday night. Later on she suddenly awoke her husband, and said she was going to die, as things were not right. She was bleeding profusely, and the husband went for Dr. Mitchell. His assistant attended, and said it was a sad case, but he would do all he could. Shortly afterwards she expired. Death was due to haemorrhage. The Jury returned a verdict in accordance with the doctor's evidence."

Dudley Herald 25/6/1898

"On Thursday morning Mr. H. A. Pearson held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, respecting the death of Samuel Siviter (75), banksman, who died through injuries received by falling down in the street. Deceased has been unable to follow his employment, as he had been suffering from senile dementia. On the 16th inst he went out for a walk, and fell down and dislocated his right hip. He was attended by Dr. de Denne, and died on the 24th inst. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned."

County Advertiser 2/7/1898 - Advert

"Preliminary Notice.

E. H. Boilstone has been favoured with instructions from the Exors. of Joseph Barnsley, deceased, to Sell by Auction, at an Early Date, at the house of Mr. Sidaway, the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, the whole of the Valuable Freehold Properties and Building Land situate at Reddal Hill, Old Hill, Cherry Orchard, and Cradley.

Further Particulars next week.

Further information may be had from Thos. Cooksey, Esq, Solicitor, or the Auctioneer, both of Old Hill."

County Advertiser 27/8/1898

"On Sunday afternoon the annual hospital parade and open-air service, arranged by the various friendly societies in Old Hill and the surrounding district took place. Processions were formed at different points of members of the Foresters, the Free Gardeners, and provident societies, numbering altogether about 1,000, and these, accompanied by the Blackheath, Halesowen Temperance, and Old Hill Bands, paraded the principal streets of the locality, after which they marched to a field in Garratts Lane, lent for the occasion by Mr. A. Sidaway, where a special service was held. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. E. Brewer, MA (vicar of Old Hill), and W. B. Cheshire (Primitive Methodist). A collection was made along the route and at the service in aid of the Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital, this realising £25 14s 5³/₄d.

The following was the order of procession issued by the committee. The Blackheath Village Band will start from the WHITE LION INN, Powke Lane, at 1-45 prompt, proceed down Garratts Lane, calling for societies at the BRITISH OAK INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, and VINE INN, turning across Queen Street on to the old football ground (by kind permission of Mr. W. H. Jarvis). The Halesowen Temperance Band will start from the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, at 1-45 prompt, proceed round Cherry Orchard Street, into Wrights Lane, turning down Wagon Street, calling at the OLD ENGINE INN, proceeding down Elbow Street and King Street, across Halesowen Road, to the old football ground. The Old Hill Band will start from the CROSS INN at 1-45 prompt, calling for societies at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL, proceed across Lawrence Lane, turning up New Street, Ridding Street, Pear Tree Street, Pear Tree Lane, thence into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the old football ground. A grand procession will be formed as follows....."

County Advertiser 13/5/1899

"Strike Of Clay Miners At Saltwells.

Mr. B. Winwood, agent to the Old Hill and District Miners' Association, has issued an appeal on behalf of the men who are on strike in consequence of the dispute at Messrs. Doulton's works. The Dispute, he says, shows the necessity of union, and calls upon the miners employed at the different collieries to collect yesterday or to-day on behalf of the men on strike. The proceeds of all collections should be paid over, either at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, from 6 to 7pm each Saturday; or to Mr. Winwood, Clent View, Olive Lane, near Halesowen, who will acknowledge all sums sent."

County Advertiser 27/5/1899 - Advert

"Wanted, a good General Servant, not under 20 years of age.

Apply, Mrs. A. E. Sidaway, BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill."

County Advertiser 29/7/1899

"On Tuesday afternoon, the coroner, (Mr. H. A. Pearson) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, concerning the death of Edward Tromans (43), formerly residing in Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, who was killed whilst following his employment at the Rowley Hall Colliery, belonging to Messrs. W. Bassano and Sons, on Saturday last. Mr. S. Dimmock, under manager, represented the firm, and Mr. W. B. Scott, Government inspector of mines and quarries, was also present.

Mary Ann Tromans, the widow, gave evidence of identification, and said deceased worked for the firm for twenty-four years. George Holloway stated that about eleven o'clock on Saturday morning, one of the horse drivers called his attention to the lagging in the roof that was breaking. He called deceased, who was looking at lagging, when a quantity of it broke, and two of the slabs struck the deceased, knocking him down, and he was buried under several tons of coal that followed. He was extricated about fifteen minutes later, but he was dead.

William Hadley, fireman, stated that the last witness called to him on the morning in question, and told him that deceased was buried under six tubs of coal. Witness had examined the workings about ten minutes previously to the accident, and the place appeared all right.

Dr. J. S. Beasley stated that when he saw deceased at the colliery he was dead, and the body was removed home. Deceased's neck was broken, and a verdict of Accidental Death was returned by the jury.

Mr. Barnsley, sanitary inspector to the Rowley Regis District Council, complained to the coroner that when acting upon his precept to remove the dead body of the deceased from a small house in Pear Tree Street, in which there were only two sleeping rooms, in which a mother and eight children slept, to the public mortuary, the relatives objected to the removal, and caused upwards of 200 people to assemble and subject him to great annoyance. The body was in a very decomposed state, and for the safety of the family it was necessary that it should be removed.

The Coroner expressed the hope that the officer would not be interfered with again."

West Bromwich Weekly News 8/9/1900

"On Wednesday Mr. A. A. Batham (deputy coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, respecting the death of William Darby (71), platelayer, Gorsty Hill, Blackheath, who was killed at the Haden Hill Colliery, Old Hill, belonging to Messrs. W. Bassano and Son. Mr. W. H. Pickering (deputy inspector) was present and Mr. L. Meacham represented Messrs. Bassano.

Deceased had been employed at the colliery for about 36 years. He had recently been pensioned, and it was optional whether he went to work, but he frequently visited the colliery for the purpose of repairing the rails. On the 3rd inst he was found lying across the tram lines on the pit bank near the tunnel, with serious injuries. It was supposed that he was knocked down by some loaded tubs of coal. It was stated that it was not his duty to be on the tram lines. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

County Express 29/12/1900

"On Monday some eighty workmen in the employ of Mr. Robert Fellows were entertained at the BRITISH OAK INN to dinner. Mr. J. Willetts presided, and Mr. R. Fellows and Mr. D. Fellows attended. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. R. Fellows, proposed by Mr. J. Weaton, seconded by Mr. T. Brooks, thanking him for his kindness. Mr. Fellows suitably acknowledged this. A very enjoyable gathering concluded with a vote of thanks to the host."

County Express 19/1/1901

"On Thursday afternoon, Mr. A. A. Bentham (deputy coroner) resumed the adjourned enquiry at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, concerning the death of Noah Crewe, of Overend, Cradley, who was killed in a colliery accident at No.24, Saltwells Pit, belonging to the Earl of Dudley.

The Coroner explained the enquiry was adjourned in order for the man Davies to attend, who was the only man who could throw some light upon how the accident occurred. He had a letter handed to him from the surgeon of the Guest Hospital, dated January 15th, in which he said, 'The patient Davies is still under our care, and will not be able to leave for a month or six weeks.'

Inspector Given said he saw the doctor on the previous night, and gathered from his conversation that the probabilities were that Davies would not be able to attend the inquest for the next two or three months. From enquiries he (Inspector Given) had made in other quarters, he gathered that Davies would not be able to throw much light upon the matter, and in fact the first question Davies asked was how did it happen, so it would appear that he was very much in the dark about it.

The Coroner thought he would be able to throw some light on it when examined. It was not very likely a man should have been in a certain position, and did not know what that position was, unless the injuries had affected his brain. He (the coroner) had adjourned the inquest twice for Davies to attend, and he thought if there was any possibility of his attending – and from the letter it appeared there was – he should adjourn it again.

Inspector Given: He was very ill last night, but there is a possibility of his recovering.

The Coroner: In any case I think it is best to adjourn again, in fact, I have made up my mind about this.

After consultation with the jury the inquest was adjourned to March 14th."

Smethwick Weekly News 2/2/1901

"On Monday morning Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of William Downing (65), foreman bricklayer, formerly residing at Hipkins Street, Burnt Tree, Tividale, whose dead body was recovered from the engine pool at No.24 Saltwells Colliery, Cradley Heath, belonging to the Earl of Dudley, on Friday. The evidence showed that deceased left home on Friday morning to go to his employment at the Saltwells Colliery, and shortly after seven o'clock a stoker named Joseph Foxall recovered the body from the engine pool at the colliery. Dr. T. V. De Denne who made a post mortem examination, attributed death to apoplexy. He supposed that deceased was seized with a fit, and fell into the water. There were no signs of drowning.

The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes."

County Express 16/3/1901

“Mr. A. A. Bentham (deputy coroner) resumed the adjourned enquiry at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, respecting the death of Samuel Noah Crewe (17), engine driver, formerly residing at Butcher’s Lane, Cradley, who met his death at No.24 Saltwells Colliery, Cradley Heath, belonging to the Earl of Dudley, on November 13th. Mr. W. H. Pickering (assistant inspector of mines) was present at the enquiry. Mr. W. Waldron represented the Earl of Dudley, Mr. T. B. Eastley the engine driver (Joshua Crewe), and Mr. G. B. Raybould (from the office of Mr. Cooksey) the deceased’s relatives.

The coroner read over the evidence given at the previous enquiries by Moses Crewe (deceased’s father), and Joshua Crewe, the engine driver.

John Davies, of Darby End, said he was a collier, and on the day of the accident was at work at No.24 pit, Saltwells Colliery. About 6.30pm something went wrong with the water tank, which came up the pit empty. Witness and deceased were as a rule ordered to attend to it when anything went wrong. On the night of the occurrence the engine driver, Joshua Crewe, sent them to look at the tank, and they found the chains were wrapped round the lever which opened the valve. They experienced some difficulty in disentangling it, and called for more rope. At the same time witness asked the engine driver to come and look at it. Witness did not remember whether the required rope was given or not, and he did not see the engine driver leave the engine house. Witness did not remember anything more that happened. At the time the accident occurred witness and deceased were standing on the water tank. Replying to the jury, witness said he did not know whether the employers were told the tank frequently went wrong. He had never called the engine driver before, but on this occasion the chain was in a bad mess. There was a banksman employed at the pit, but he was old and feeble. Replying to Mr. Pickering, witness said he did not remember whether the rope went slowly or fast. By Mr. Waldron: Witness did not blame anyone for the accident. He made no complaint about the tank not working. Henry Lucas, engineer, said the tank was five feet high and four feet in diameter. He had never heard of any complaints respecting the working of the tank or any accidents in connection with it before. He was of the opinion that when the engine commenced to creep the eccentric fell, and the steam caused the overwinding; or the engineman made a mistake and put the steam in the wrong way, and so, instead of lowering the tank, he caused it to rise.

David Danks (67), the banksman, stated that whilst the two youths were standing on the water tank they were pulled over the pulley.

Police-sergeant Picher gave evidence as to removing the body to the mortuary. Deceased had sustained shocking injuries.

The Coroner said the jury had to consider whether there was any negligence on the part of the engine-driver.

The Jury, after a short deliberation, returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and no blame whatever to the engine-driver. They, however, added an expression of opinion that a more active person should be employed as banksman at the colliery.”

1901 Census

22, Garratts Lane

[1] Albert E. Sidaway (41), licensed victualler and brewer, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Mary A. Sidaway (38), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Edith S. M. Sidaway (12), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Albert J. Sidaway (9), son, born Rowley Regis;

[5] John F. Sidaway (7), son, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Emily F. Sidaway (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Blanche M. Chapman (12), niece, born Rowley Regis;

[8] Sarah Haywood (17), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;

[9] Polly Davies (17), domestic servant, born Dudley:

County Express 13/4/1901

“An inquest was held on Wednesday evening, at the BRITISH OAK INN, by Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner), concerning the death of Allan Brookes (49), ales fittings maker, who had resided at Birmingham Road, Blackheath, and whose body was found in the Birmingham Canal, near Powke Lane Bridge, Old Hill, on Tuesday morning. Mr. G. Green was present, representing the deceased’s relatives.

Edith Brookes, deceased’s daughter, who identified the body at Old Hill Mortuary, said they last saw her father alive on Monday morning, when he left Blackheath Station by the 10.19 train to Windmill End. He had never threatened to make away with himself, and when he left home on Monday he was all right. He was of a cheerful disposition.

Albert Sidaway, landlord of the BRITISH OAK INN, deposed to deceased calling at the house shortly before eight o’clock on Monday evening. When he left just after eight, he said he was going to do other business. He appeared to be in his usual state of mind. Replying to Mr. Green, witness said he knew the spot where the body was found. It was, in his opinion, and unsafe place, and a regular death trap. Several persons had got into the canal there during the last few years, and he believed some had been drowned. Deceased would be going in the direction of home that way.

John Halebond, a boatman, of Yew Tree Lane, Netherton, deposed to finding the body of deceased in the canal, at 5.30am on Tuesday morning. He obtained the assistance of John Stafford, of the NEPTUNE INN, Powke Lane, to get the body out.

Police-constable Horne deposed to removing the body to the mortuary. He found £4 12s 6d in money upon the deceased. He considered the place where deceased was found very dangerous, and it should be protected by a gate. Dr. T. V. deDenne, who had made a post-mortem examination, said death was due to drowning.

A Juryman said he has passed along this road on many occasions at night, and although accustomed to it, he had fallen into the canal.

A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Smethwick Weekly News 11/5/1901

“Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest on Monday, at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of Fanny Willetts (68), formerly residing at Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, who was found drowned in a disused marlhole in Halesowen Road, Old Hill, on Sunday morning. The evidence showed that deceased, who had suffered from ill health for about twenty years, had also suffered from cancer.

The Coroner remarked that no doubt the pain deceased had suffered had driven her to commit the rash act. The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst of Unsound Mind.”

Smethwick Weekly News 18/5/1901

“Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner), held an inquest on Tuesday at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of Daniel Price, aged five years, whose parents reside at Garratts Lane, Old Hill, and who was drowned in the Bowling Green Pool, Netherton, on Saturday afternoon. The evidence showed that deceased and a number of other lads were fishing at the pool, when in trying to reach a stick he overbalanced himself and fell into the water. A nine year old lad, named Benjamin Bennett, residing at the Cross, Old Hill, jumped into the pool, but was unable to rescue deceased, and in order to save his own life he clung to some brickwork in the pool until he was rescued. Deceased was eventually got out of the pool by a young man, named William Harris, and Dr. Mitchell tried to restore animation by means of artificial respiration, but without success.

The Coroner said it was extremely plucky for the lad Bennett to risk his life in attempting to save his companion. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and the Coroner rewarded Bennett for his plucky conduct.”

County Advertiser 20/7/1901

“William Rose, of Birmingham Street, Dudley, was charged before the Borough Bench with a violent assault upon Ellen Downes, a woman who cohabited with him. The woman subsequently left the house and went to her mother’s at Springfield, Rowley Regis, where she remained till her death a few days ago.

An inquest was held yesterday, at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, upon Downes, who was only 26 years of age.....

Dr. Beasley deposed to making a post mortem examination of the body. Death was caused by acute pneumonia. In reply to the Coroner, he said there was a remote possibility of this being associated with violence; but he found nothing to connect death with anything but pneumonia.

The Coroner said there was no doubt a fierce assault had been committed upon the unfortunate woman, but it would be difficult for the jury, in face of the medical evidence, to make Rose criminally responsible for the unfortunate woman’s death.

The jury, after a lengthy deliberation, returned a verdict that death was the result of Natural Causes.

It was stated that Rose would have to answer to the charge of assault.”

[William Rose (49), fish hawk, was sentenced to three months hard labour.]

Smethwick Weekly News 5/10/1901

“Yesterday, Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, respecting the death of Patrick Malay (31), a slater and plumber, formerly residing at Trinity Street, Langley, who was killed whilst employed at the Bell End Colliery, Rowley, on Wednesday afternoon. Deceased was engaged to paint the pit frame. For this purpose ladders were secured to the pit frame, and placed upon a railway, upon which waggons ran to and from the colliery. One of these came in contact with one of the ladders, and deceased was thrown to the ground, a distance of 27 feet, and sustained a fractured skull and fractures of both arms, death taking place immediately afterwards. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, but expressed the opinion that more care should have been exercised in ascertaining if the tubs could pass under the ladder, also that a man should have been placed at the foot of the ladder.”

County Express 2/11/1901

“On Saturday evening, Mr. H. A. Pearson conducted an enquiry at the BRITISH OAK INN, relative to the death of John Hackett, 29, pikeman, formerly of Wrights Lane, who was killed by a fall of slack whilst working at Haden Hill Colliery, belonging to Messrs. W. Bassano and Co. Mr. W. H. Pickering, Government Inspector of Mines, and Mr. L. Meachem, representing the owner of the colliery, were present. From the evidence it appeared deceased, with another miner named Elijah Lowe, was engaged in removing trees when several tons of slack fell upon them, burying them. Lowe was rescued alive, but when deceased was got out he was found to have been suffocated. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

County Express 31/5/1902

“The circumstances surrounding the death of Mr. Giles Bloomer, chain manufacturer, of Maple Tree Lane, Cradley, whose body was recovered from the Pig Lane Pool, Old Hill, on Thursday week, as reported in our last issue, were investigated at an inquest held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on Saturday, by Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner).

The Coroner stated that the widow of the deceased was so ill that she was not in a fit condition to give evidence. She had, however, made a statement to the effect that Mr. Bloomer, had resided at Maple Tree Lane, Cradley, and that he had suffered for some time from depression and delusions. He was apprehensive that when he died he would not go to heaven.

Thomas Southall, a step-son, stated that the deceased left home on Thursday morning with the intention of seeing his father. After he had been out some time Mrs. Bloomer became uneasy, and asked witness to go in search of deceased at Overend. He accordingly did so, but could not trace him. He afterwards went in the direction of Pig Lane Pool, Old Hill, and a young man named Cartwright pointed to him a body floating on the water face downwards. Witness recognised the body as that of his step-father, whose hat and umbrella were on the embankment. The deceased had lately suffered from delusions.

George Cartwright, of Garratts Lane, Old Hill, deposed to finding the body in the pool, and to giving information to the police. PC Maisey stated that when the body was recovered, deceased was fully dressed. There were no papers in his pocket giving any reason for the deceased taking his life. The pool was properly fenced, and to get to the water the deceased would have to climb the fence.

Dr. Tibbetts said he had attended the deceased for influenza, and since the attack, which was a severe one, he suffered from depression and delusions. He could not say deceased suffered from religious mania, but he was continually under the impression that God had abandoned him. He had given instructions that the deceased should be watched, and he believed that had been done as much as possible.

The Coroner, in summing up, remarked that influenza was evidently responsible for the state in which deceased was.

The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst Temporarily Insane."

County Advertiser 21/3/1903

"On Wednesday morning, Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, respecting the death of Ann Bradley (52), a married woman, of Pear Tree Street, Old Hill, who died suddenly under tragic circumstances on Monday night.

James Bradley, husband, stated that deceased had been in fairly good health recently. About 8-30pm on Monday night she went to the BLUE BALL INN to pay some club money. He subsequently heard screams, and saw his daughter and her husband quarrelling in the house. He went to his daughter's house and saw his wife fall to the ground, and Dr. Mitchell, who was called, pronounced life extinct.

Sarah Elizabeth Moore, daughter of the deceased, stated that on the night in question she had a few cross words with her husband through him drinking. Her mother came into the house and suddenly fell to the ground without being struck by anyone.

Noah Moore, husband of the last witness, said that deceased came and pushed witness into the house while he was having some words with his wife. He did not strike the deceased, neither did anyone else, nor did he threaten her.

Police-constable Gratage deposed to making inquiries into the case, and found that deceased was injured by no one.

Dr. Mitchell stated that there were no marks of violence upon the body, and that death was due to syncope, brought on, no doubt, by the excitement of the moment. The heart was in an extreme condition of fatty degeneration, and death might have resulted from any unusual exertion.

The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes."

County Advertiser 12/9/1903

"An occasional license was granted to A. E. Sidaway, landlord of the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on Saturday from 2pm till 9pm, on the occasion of the brass band contest."

County Advertiser 12/3/1904

"District Council Nominations Rowley Regis Old Hill Ward.....

Albert Eland Sidaway, licensed victualler, Garratts Lane, Old Hill."

County Advertiser 26/3/1904

"Rowley Regis Urban District Council Election, March, 1904, Old Hill Ward. To the Electors.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

We, the undersigned, offer ourselves for election upon the District Council as five members who are united upon questions of local administration.

We believe in true economy, which consists in spending nothing unnecessarily, and in getting twenty shillings' worth for every pound that is spent.

A firm hand, and a united Council, are required to keep the expenditure of this Parish within reasonable limits, while effecting such improvements as are from time to time rendered necessary or advisable.

We would, if elected, endeavour always to conduct your business with industry and perseverance, by deeds and not by words, and in the spirit of modern business method and application.

Your interests are great, and the field of public work is ever widening, and now, more than ever before, do you need responsible men who themselves have a substantial stake in the parish, and who cannot afford to trifle with matters of Public Importance.

We beg earnestly for your votes, not for ourselves individually, but as a whole united Five.

Alfred H. Bassano, James Billingham, E. H. Boilstone, John Priest, Albert E. Sidaway."

[None of them were elected.]

Birmingham Daily Gazette 21/6/1904

"A meeting of the Joint Unionist Association for Old Hill district was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, last night. After the election of officers, Mr. Councillor W. E. Lovsey, of Birmingham, delivered an address."

Birmingham Mail 17/8/1904

"Last evening Mr. H. A. Pearson held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, respecting the death of Alfred Edward Hackett (23), labourer, Surfet Hill, Cradley Heath, who met with his death by falling down a marlhole belonging to Messrs. Swindell and Collis at Old Hill on Saturday night.

Sarah Ann Adams, Hackett Street, Blackheath, stated that she had kept company with the deceased for a fortnight. On Saturday night she met him close to her home, and they walked together across some fields at Haden Hill. As they were crossing the fields witness hesitated and told the deceased that she did not think there was a road in existence at the spot. They had missed the footpath, and at length they reached a fence. Deceased urged witness to get over the fence, as he would take her a nearer way home. Witness refused to do so, and then Hackett got over. Witness again warned him not to go over, but upon reaching the other side deceased held out his hand and said to her, 'Come on, it is all right.' She drew back, and immediately afterwards her companion fell backwards and disappeared. Witness, who did not know that a marlhole existed at the spot, shouted loudly for help, but no one came to her assistance. She then found her way back with much difficulty in consequence of the darkness, and obtained the assistance of Police-constable Emms, who went to the place.

Police-sergeant Bentley deposed to finding the dead body of the deceased at the bottom of the marlhole. He had fallen a distance of 50ft, and his cap was upon a small ledge 14ft from the top. Witness had examined the spot, and found that the marlhole was securely fenced.

Dr. Freer stated that deceased's neck was broken, and death must have been instantaneous.

Mr. H. R. Makepeace (Government Inspector of Mines) pointed out that the edge of the marlhole was about 10ft from the fence, and deceased must have walked forward a short distance after getting over the fence.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

County Advertiser 27/8/1904

"On Sunday afternoon the eighth annual parade and service arranged by the various friendly societies in the Old Hill district took place under favourable circumstances. The proceedings commenced with a large procession.....

The Halesowen Temperance Prize Band started from the OAK TREE INN, Waterfall Lane, at one o'clock, and proceeded down Waterfall Lane and Clifton Street to Wrights Lane, calling for the societies at the PRINCE OF WALES INN and the BRITISH OAK INN. Afterwards they marched to the field.....

Upon arrival at the field a grand procession was formed This paraded the principal streets of the locality for some time, after which they proceeded to a field in High Street, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. A. E. Sidaway. Here a service was held, the chair being occupied by Dr. T. E. Mitchell. Notwithstanding the threatening state of the weather there was a large attendance..... A collection was made upon the route, and at the service, on behalf of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, Birmingham Eye Hospital, Birmingham General Hospital, Birmingham Ear and Throat Hospital, and the Old Hill Nurses Fund."

County Advertiser 1/7/1905

"On Sunday afternoon a shocking discovery was made in the Haden Hill Colliery, Old Hill, belonging to Messrs. W. Bassano and Co, when two miners and four horses were found dead in the workings.....

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. A. A. Betham (deputy coroner) opened the inquest of the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill.....

Dr. T. E. Mitchell deposed to making a post mortem examination of deceased, and attributed death to the inhalation of carbon monoxide gas. One per cent of this gas would kill within two minutes.

The Deputy Coroner, in summing up, said it was for the jury to consider whether the ventilation in the pit on Sundays was sufficient, and whether anyone was to blame.

The jury, after deliberating for over half an hour returned a verdict of Accidental Death, but considered that this was due to the ventilation at the time being insufficient. They added a rider to the effect that more care should be exercised in future by persons in charge of the pit, in keeping the ventilation pure and good on Sundays as well as week days. Mr. A. H. Bassano said that his firm would carry out the recommendation. He also expressed sympathy with the relatives of the men."

County Advertiser 22/12/1906

"On Tuesday evening Mr. G. C. Lewis (Coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of Joseph Raybould (56), carter, formerly residing at Lodge Forge Lane, Cradley, whose dead body was recovered from the River Stour at Cradley Heath, on the 17th inst.

The evidence showed that on the night of the 15th inst deceased paid a visit to a friendly society club at Cradley Heath, and was last seen alive when he was walking in the direction of his home. Nothing was seen of or heard of him afterwards until he was found head foremost in the River Stour at Cradley Bridge, on Monday morning, by a woman, several hundred yards away from the place where he must have got into the water. The body was taken from the water by Police-sergeant Wood, and removed to the Old Hill mortuary. It was stated that the night was rather foggy and wet, and deceased was supposed to have missed his way when passing over the bridge, and to have walked up a private road and fallen into the river.

Several of the jurymen commented upon the dangerous position of the road, but the Coroner pointed out that they could do nothing in the matter as the road was a private one.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

County Advertiser 16/2/1907

"The annual dinner of the Old Hill Cricket Club took place on Monday night, at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill....."

County Express 18/1/1908 - Advert

"On Wednesday. Blackheath And Rowley Regis, Staffs.

Highly Important Sale of Valuable Freehold Shops and Dwelling Houses. To Investors and Others.

Alfred Hill has been instructed to Sell By Public Auction, at the house of Mr. A. E. Sidaway, the BRITISH OAK INN, High Street,

Old Hill, on Wednesday the 22nd day of January, 1908, at 7.30 on the Evening precisely, subject to Conditions of sale to be then read.....”

County Express 8/8/1908

“On Sunday afternoon there was held the twelfth annual service promoted by the united friendly societies in the Old Hill district. The occasion was favoured with brilliant weather, and there was a large attendance at the services. The proceedings opened with a large procession, which aroused considerable interest in the district. The Old Hill Ironworks Band started from the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, at one o’clock, and proceeded to the OLD HOUSE AT HOME INN for sick and draw club, through Cherry Orchard, calling for Court Robin Hood’s Cave and BRITISH OAK sick and draw club; by way of Wagon Street, calling for Success-to-the-FOX-HUNT Lodge; Elbow Street for Court Benjamin and KINGS HEAD sick and draw club; Halesowen Road, calling for Provident Institution, and on to the field. The Cradley Heath Salvation Army Band started from COOKSEY’S HOTEL at one o’clock with Snowdrop Lodge, by way of Halesowen Road, calling for Court Loyal Marlborough; Bank Street, Queens Street, High Street, and on to the field. The Cradley Heath Town Prize Band started from the ROSE AND CROWN INN, Reddal Hill, with Court Robin Hood the Brave; by way of Reddal Hill Road, calling for the WHY NOT sick and draw club, and on to the BRIDGE INN for Welcome to the Bridge Inn Lodge, across Plant Street, Lawrence Lane, Clyde Street, Petford Street calling for Druids Society; Pear Tree Street, Riddings Street, New Street, Halesowen Road, calling for Court Royal Sherwood and Rechabites Society and ROYAL EXCHANGE sick and draw club; High Street to the field. A grand procession was then formed.....”

County Express 20/3/1909

“On Saturday Mr. G. C. Lewis (coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, respecting the death of Ann Southall (62), widow, formerly of Petford Street, who died suddenly yesterday week. It was stated that the deceased had suffered from bronchitis for 20 years, but had not been medically attended for four years. Late on Friday night she was taken suddenly ill, and died before Dr. Tibbetts could arrive. The recent severe weather had affected the deceased, and Dr. Tibbetts, who made a post mortem examination, stated that death was due to heart failure as the result of bronchitis. The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes.”

Tipton Herald 12/6/1909

“At the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on Monday afternoon, Mr. G. C. Lewis, coroner, held an inquest into the circumstances attending the death of Daniel Samson Cox, aged 54, labourer, formerly residing in Spring Street, Cradley, who was found drowned in the canal at Waterfall Lane, Old Hill, on Friday last week.

A son of the deceased, Lawrence Cox, who resides at Spring Street, Cradley, identified the body as that of his father. Witness last saw him on the 3rd inst, when he appeared to be in good health. He had never heard him complain of any trouble. Deceased had had his leg broken, but was in receipt of compensation. His father had not said anything to him to make him believe he should commit suicide. He had no trouble at home. The reason he was in Old Hill district might be that he had been to see his sister at Blackheath.

A thirteen year old lad named Alfred Robinson, of Powke Lane, Blackheath, deposed that on the 4th inst shortly after 12 o’clock he was standing on the Waterfall Lane Bridge, when he saw the deceased walking along the towing path in the direction of Old Hill. Suddenly deceased stopped, laid his stick on the path, and put his feet in the water, holding to the side of the bank. Deceased started splashing with his feet, and he loosed the side and went into the water. Deceased did not shout or struggle. He went under several times. Then witness ran home and told his mother.

Ernest Gill, of Old Hill, said he saw the deceased about 12 o’clock. There was nothing in the man’s conduct that was out of the common.

Daniel Lewis, of Station Road, spoke to getting the body out of the water at 12.50 on the date named. The body was floating in the middle of the canal. Witness applied artificial means of respiration, but without success.

Dr. T. M. Tibbetts said he had made a post mortem examination on the body. Death was due to suffocation from drowning.

The Coroner said he deemed it necessary to have a post mortem examination in order to clear up any doubt that might have existed as to whether deceased was seized with sudden illness and fell into the water.

The Rev. B. Irwin, of Cradley, said he met the deceased prior to the occurrence, and he was then in very good spirits. He expressed his intention of going to see his daughter at Blackheath, but witness thought that his leg had become painful and he had gone to see his son in law, who worked close to the canal side.

The Coroner, in summing up, said they had to decide whether the witness Robinson was near enough to the deceased to see what actually happened. If they did not believe his story, they must return an open verdict.

The jury consulted in private and afterwards returned a verdict of Found Drowned.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 19/6/1909

“The principal meeting of the Staffordshire County Compensation Authority, adjourned from the 11th inst.....

The decision of the local licensing magistrates to refuse the renewal of the FOX HUNT alehouse, Old Hill, tenant, Arthur E. Jew, was opposed.....

In opening the case, Mr. Lawrence said that the house was fully licensed, and he thought the main fact to be borne in mind in coming to a decision was the situation of the adjoining licensed houses. There was one – the QUEENS HEAD (a beerhouse) – actually next door. There was another full licence – the BRITISH OAK – only 51 yards away, and there were others within a short distance.....”

Tipton Herald 26/6/1909

“On Thursday night a largely attended meeting under the auspices of the Old Hill and Highley Miners’ Association was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, for the purpose of receiving a report from the delegates appointed to interview the employers with reference to the working of the Eight Hours Act in the district.

A miner presided, and expressed satisfaction that the Eight Hours Act would come into force on the 1st of July. It was not all the miners had asked for, but they must, at present, be satisfied and see how it worked. One colliery manager had said there was sufficient room to drive a motor car through the Act, and this should only make them more alive to their own interests (hear, hear). . . .”

Tipton Herald 26/6/1909

“At the BRITISH OAK INN, High Street, Old Hill, on Saturday morning, the Coroner (Mr. G. C. Lewis) held an inquest into the circumstances attending the death of George King, aged nine years and ten months, of Wagon Street, Old Hill, who was drowned in the canal at the Fly Colliery Basin, Old Hill, on the 16th inst.

The father of the boy, said he last saw the boy alive on the 16th inst, when he went to play with a number of other lads. He was present when the body was recovered from the water.

A twelve-year-old boy named Samuel Priest, of Wagon Street, Old Hill, said that on Friday night he went with the deceased to the Fly Colliery Basin. Deceased got on to one of the boats for the purpose of having a ride upon it. He unloosed the rope, and pushed the boat off. Witness did not see the deceased fall into the water, but he heard a splash. Then he saw his comrade rise to the surface of the water. Witness jumped on to the boat, and made an effort to save King by hanging over the side of the boat. He got hold of the deceased’s coat and tried to pull him out. The weight, however, was too much for him, and he was pulled into the water. Witness could not swim. He still retained his hold of the deceased’s clothing, but after struggling a short time he became exhausted and had to let him go. Deceased sank and witness was immediately afterwards rescued.

Frank Evans, fitter, of Clifton Street, Old Hill, stated that upon hearing the cries for help he ran to the spot and saw the last witness struggling in the water. He put his hand in the water and pulled him out. The body of the deceased was recovered shortly after. The Coroner said it was clear that the deceased over-balanced himself and fell into the water while playing on the boat. Boys would be boys, and as long as they took such risks those accidents would happen. At the same time it was very creditable on the part of Priest to make such a plucky attempt at rescue. Had it not been for the presence of Evans, Priest also would have been drowned. The thanks of the parents were due to both of them.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death and expressed appreciation of the conduct of Evans and Priest.”

Tipton Herald 31/7/1909

“At the Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday, Mr. A. E. Sidaway, landlord of the BRITISH OAK INN, High Street, made application to the Old Hill magistrates for a special license to sell intoxicants on the occasion of the Rowley Regis Fire Brigade Sports today. It was granted.”

County Express 7/8/1909

“On Monday afternoon an inquest was held by the deputy coroner (Mr. W. L. Lewis), at the BRITISH OAK, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of Frank Bate (18), horse driver, Long Lane, Blackheath, who was killed whilst following his employment at the Ramrod Hall Colliery, belonging to Messrs. H. S. Pitt and Co, on the 30th ult. Mr. Johnstone, Government Inspector, was present at the enquiry.

The evidence showed that the deceased was employed in the underground workings as a horse driver, and on the date named a tub laden with coal, which was drawn by a horse, jumped the rails. Whilst deceased was making an effort to replace it the horse plunged and collided with a tree, which had been erected to support the roof. About 14cwt of coal and dirt fell on the deceased, and before it was possible to rescue him he was suffocated. In reply to a juryman, Mr. Johnstone said so far as he had been able to ascertain every precaution had been taken for the safety of the miners. The Deputy Coroner said the colliery officials ought not to have interfered with the place where the accident occurred until the Government Inspector had made his examination.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.

Much regret has been expressed in the district at the young man’s untimely end. He was a member of the Church Institute and other societies in the district, and was very much respected.”

County Express 3/12/1910

“On Saturday morning Mr. G. C. Lewis (coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN concerning the death of Daniel Smart (54), frost nailmaker, Clifton Street, who died suddenly on Wednesday week, at his home.

Pamilla Smart, wife, stated that her husband complained of pains in his side, but otherwise was in good health. On the Wednesday night while witness was upstairs she heard screams from the children, and on going down found her husband had fallen backwards into the chair. He died immediately.

Dr. Tibbetts said a post mortem examination had revealed that death was due to heart failure, following on pleurisy.

The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes.”

1911 Census

68, High Street – BRITISH OAK INN

[1] Albert Eland Sidaway (50), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Mary Ann Sidaway (47), wife, married 23 years, assisting in the business, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Blanche Mary Chapman (22), niece, assisting in the business, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Albert John Sidaway (19), son, brewer, born Rowley Regis;

- [5] Edith Sarah Maria Sidaway (22), daughter, assisting in the business, born Rowley Regis;
[6] John Foley Sidaway (16), son, junior clerk, born Rowley Regis;
[7] Emma Foley Sidaway (12), daughter, school, born Rowley Regis;
[8] Alice Mary Sidaway (7), daughter, school, born Rowley Regis;
[9] Maria Billingham (22), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

Dudley Chronicle 26/8/1911

“A meeting of the Old Hill Parade Committee was held on Thursday last week at the BRITISH OAK. Mr. Sam Edwards was in the chair, and Mr. M. Bagley was vice-chairman. It was resolved that the offer of the Rev. C. L. Tack to conduct a service in the Tabernacle on behalf of the parade on September 3rd be accepted, and also the offer of Councillor Fry to preside at the organ. Messrs. Edwards and Partridge were deputed to arrange with two artistes to give their services.

Dr. Tibbetts is to be asked to preside.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Tom Edge for his excellent services in regard to the flower stalls, a similar compliment being accorded Inspector Needham and his staff.

The 5s prize for the best turnout at the parade was won by the PEAR TREE Sick and Draw Club, and Mr. J. H. Taylor, who received it on their behalf, handed it over to the funds.”

County Express 2/9/1911

“On Saturday morning the Coroner (Mr. G. C. Lewis) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK, High Street, Old Hill, concerning the death of Samuel George Danks (18), labourer, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, who was drowned whilst bathing in the Birmingham canal at Garratts Lane on the previous day.

John Henry Danks, father of the deceased, said his son was a labourer at Messrs. Lowe’s timber yard, Powke Lane. Between one o’clock and 1.30 on the Friday he came home and had a fairly good dinner. He was ten minutes to a quarter of an hour at dinner, and then went off in hurry to bathe. Witness did not know he was going. The place where he bathed was close to his works, and about 100 yards away from his home. Witness heard of the fatality about two o’clock while at work. He was informed that his son could swim, but he had never seen him in the water.

Alfred Collins, Broad Street, Kingswinford, stated that he was employed at Messrs. Lowe’s timber works and knew deceased. He was bathing with deceased at 1.35 on the Friday, Danks having come down to the water a few minutes before. He did not see him come. They were bathing close to the works, and deceased appeared to be undressing in a hurry. Witness had bathed with deceased several times. He was a swimmer but not a good one. Deceased had been swimming in the water about ten minutes when he went down. Witness was about 100 yards away, and he got out of the water and ran along the side, but before he could get him out deceased went down. Witness saw him struggling and he only went down once. Witness was about to catch hold of him when he sank. Witness got him up within twenty seconds from the time he sank. Witness got him on the boat, ran the water out of him, and tried artificial respiration for five minutes, after which time a sailor succeeded him and continued the efforts until the doctors arrived and pronounced life extinct. He did not hear deceased shout when he sank.

Charles Edwards, another employee at Messrs. Lowe’s, said he was sitting on the canal side when he saw deceased hurrying from his room to the boat for the purpose of undressing. He got into the water, and a little later witness turned round and saw him struggling with his hands above his head.

Dr. Tibbetts said when he arrived artificial respiration was continued for five minutes without success.

The Coroner: Can you say whether he was drowned or whether he died from heart failure? – Dr. Tibbetts: I should say he had died from exhaustion after having had a hearty meal. Deceased would be fatigued.

The Coroner: Would it be his heart failure which would cause him to go down? – Dr. Tibbetts: He would be spent and would go down.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Express 16/9/1911

“The Coroner (Mr. G. C. Lewis) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK, High Street, on Saturday respecting the death of an unnamed child of Nora Priest wife of David Priest, of Wagon Street, which took place on the previous day ten minutes after birth, the mother having not been attended by a doctor.

Mrs. Jemima May, of High Street, said she attended Mrs. Priest at the birth. The baby was born ten minutes to six the previous day, and it died ten minutes later. There was nothing unusual to account for death. Witness would have sent for a doctor if she had had time.

Dr. T. M. Tibbetts said he had seen the child that morning. The cause of death was suffocation. Such a thing might easily happen. Had a doctor been attending the mother and recognised what was the matter he might have saved the child.

The jury agreed that there was no neglect on the part of the midwife, and returned a verdict of Death from Suffocation.”

Albert Eland Sidaway, BRITISH OAK, 68, and brewer, 27, High Street. [1912]

Albert Eland Sidaway – see also DUKE WILLIAM.

County Express 31/8/1912

“An enquiry was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on Tuesday, by the Coroner (Mr. C. G. Lewis) touching the death of George Plant, of Nolan Villa, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath. The deceased was a colliery agent, and was found poisoned in his house on Saturday night.

The widow gave evidence of identification. She stated that on Saturday the deceased came home at half-past three and went out shortly afterwards. He came back about five, and had his tea. He then went to lie down. The first she knew of anything wrong was about 7.30 when her daughter called out, 'Oh! Mother. Come to father, he's hurt himself.' She went and found him in an unconscious condition on the sofa.

The Coroner: Do you know this bottle? – Witness: I have never seen it before.

Do you know what cause your husband had to do this? Had he any troubles? – His master died a month ago, and he has not been the same man since. He had worked for him for seven years, and they were more like brothers than master and servant. He was never treated as a servant.

Do you think the death of his master made him take his life? – I am certain.

Dr. Waugh said he was sent for at 7.45pm, but the man was dead when he arrived. Witness was handed the bottle produced, and he found it contained nicotine, judging from the smell. He made a post mortem examination, and found there were no signs of injury. The organs were all perfectly healthy. From the signs he found he came to the conclusion that death took place owing to nicotine poisoning.

PC Weston was called, and questioned by the Coroner as to the discovery of the bottle of nicotine, but he said the bottle was handed him by the doctor.

Dr. Waugh stated that the bottle was taken out of the deceased man's pocket by a neighbour.

The Coroner, addressing the jury, said the cause of death was perfectly clear. He would like to tell the jury this. He was informed on proper authority that the deceased's business concerns were quite in order, and there was nothing to suggest there was anything wrong. He rather came to the conclusion that the widow's surmise was correct, and that the man was depressed owing to the death of his employer.

The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst of Unsound Mind."

County Express 16/11/1912

"The coroner (Mr. G. C. Lewis) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on Wednesday, touching the death of Alfred Nock (61), miner, Bloomfield Street, Halesowen, who died suddenly at Old Hill railway station on Monday.

Hugh Watson, son-in-law, said deceased left home at 6.20 in his usual health. He was last attended by a doctor in July for a chest affection.

Harold Pasfield, booking clerk, stated that he heard a fall in the waiting room, and found the deceased lying unconscious on the floor. He applied some smelling salts, but the man gave one movement and expired.

Dr. T. E. Mitchell deposed that a post mortem revealed signs of an old standing depressed fracture of the skull. This, however, had nothing to do with the death, which was due to syncope, brought about by fatty degeneration of the heart. The morning was boisterous, and probably deceased had hurried to the station. That would accelerate his death.

The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes."

Tipton Herald 22/2/1913

"The body of Daniel Weston, aged 21, striker, of Cherry Orchard, Old Hill, was recovered from the Birmingham canal near the Fly Colliery, Old Hill, on Saturday.

The young man, it is stated, left home at 11pm on Friday evening. It being his usual custom to have a walk, after partaking of supper. On Saturday morning his jacket was found on the towing path. PC Flowers recovered the body, which was removed to the mortuary in High Street, Old Hill, to await an enquiry.

An inquest into the circumstances attending the sad occurrence was held at the BRITISH OAK, High Street, Old Hill, on Friday afternoon. It was conducted by Mr. W. C. Checkley. Mr. A. Thompson was the foreman of the jury.

Lavinia Weston, 19, Cherry Orchard, Old Hill, was the first witness. She said she was the brother of the deceased, who was a fitting striker in the employ of Messrs. Stewart and Lloyds, at the Lion Works, Old Hill. She last saw him alive at ten past 11 on the 14th inst. He was then apparently in good health.

The Coroner: Was he sober? – Yes, sir. Well he had had a pint of beer, but he was sober.

He had had beer, but was not drunk? – Yes.

Did he have his supper? – Yes, and then he went out. He usually went out after supper and stayed out half an hour or more.

Had he had any trouble? – He had a touch of the rheumatic fever just before Christmas.

But he got over it? – He has not been the same boy since.

Has he ever threatened to take his own life? – No, but on the Friday night father asked him what was the matter. He had something heavy on his mind, but he would not say what it was.

Did you think he would do anything in the shape of taking his life? – No. We left the door open all night. When I shouted him at 5.0 in the morning he was not there.

At the inquest of the Coroner, PC Flowers asked questions of the witness.

Did you receive 6s 8d from your brother? – He put it on the table and told me to take it upstairs when I went.

That was something unusual? – Yes.

Mr. Thompson: Have you ever heard him threaten to take his life? – No.

Mr. Willetts: Did he give you any reason for taking the money upstairs? – No.

It would seem strange, wouldn't it? – I did not think anything about it.

Mr. Thompson: When he did not return did you think to report his absence? – We left the door open as usual. We went to bed and took no notice of it.

Mr. Thompson: It is rather strange.

Reuben Willetts, 86, Clifton Street, Old Hill, a fitting maker at Messrs. Stewarts and Lloyds, said the deceased was his striker. He had worked for him 2½ years. The relations between them had been pleasant. So far as he knew deceased had no trouble on his mind.

The Coroner: Have you given him notice? – No, but on the previous Monday he told me he should give me notice on Saturday. I said, ‘Oh, all right, if that is it. Let me work comfortably until the weekend.’ He did not turn up on the Tuesday. He came on the following day, and worked up till Friday night, when I paid him 10s. It is a common thing for people to have a miff as in most trades. They were generally made up in no time.

Have you ever heard him threaten to take his own life? – No.

PC Flowers: Was the quarrel about the tools? – Well, it was like this. We had a quarrel, but really it was not a quarrel. He struck over a tool three times, and it flew across the shop. Then he struck again too hard, and I told him to chuck it as I should not have it, and he could chuck it if he was not satisfied.

Mr. W. Willetts: Did he do it intentionally? – No, any man might do it.

The Coroner: Was he in a temper? – Yes.

Benjamin Homer. 40, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, said he was a labourer in the employ of Messrs. Fellows at the Fly Colliery. When he went to the canal on the day in question, he saw the deceased’s coat near the canal. Later in the day, a man named Charles Underhill told him that he had heard as he came along the railway line deceased had threatened to commit suicide, and that the coat was his.

The Coroner: Enquiries have been made and Underhill denies it.

Witness: It’s true that he told me.

Mr. Thompson: Are you prepared to swear that Underhill told you that Weston told him he was going to drown himself? – I did not say that. I said Underhill told me that he had heard.

Mr. Thompson: The probability is somebody must know of it.

PC Flowers said he recovered the body at 5am on the Saturday, minus the coat. I have seen Underhill, he proceeded, and he said he did not tell Homer that Weston was going to drown himself. He said that he had heard that he was, but he could not say who had told him. I have made exhaustive inquiries, but can get to know nothing further. They did not seem to render the assistance they ought to.

In summing up, the Coroner said the case was a most extraordinary one. He was sorry they had no further evidence. Rumours of the kind they had heard did sometimes get about after the event. There was no direct evidence to how the man got into the water, and there was no evidence that he was of unsound mind. Perhaps the best verdict they could return would be an open one.

Mr. W. Willetts to the constable: Did you mean to say that the people did not tell you what you thought they might?

The constable: Yes, sir. They seemed to be holding something back.

You think he said something? – Yes, but I can’t prove it.

The Foreman: It is extraordinary that no alarm was made until the following day. He received the wages, and had 6s 8d left.

What about the other?

Another Juror: He would not have much difficulty in getting through that.

Mr. Thompson: Then would he be sober?

The Coroner: It is doubtful.

An open verdict of Found Drowned was returned.”

A team from here won the Sidaway Bowls League in 1927.

A team from here won the Langley and District Bowls League in 1928.

Dudley Herald 28/2/1931

“Mr Frank Cooper (District Coroner) held an inquest at the BRITISH OAK, Old Hill, on Thursday afternoon, relative to the death of Jesse Greenfield, aged 39, 65 Cherry Orchard, Old Hill, which took place suddenly on Wednesday morning about four o’clock. The widow (Mrs. E. R. Greenfield) said deceased was employed as a driller at Oldbury. He was a healthy man as far as she knew, for during the nine years she had been married to him he had not been attended by a doctor. A fortnight ago he complained of pains in his chest, and his head was hot, but continued to work until Tuesday last, when he did a full day’s work. Returning home that day he had a light tea and supper, and went to bed at 11pm. He roused her just before 4am on Wednesday, and said he felt very ill, and that his chest and head were ‘red hot.’ His head was wringing wet with sweat, and he was very sick. He suddenly started to gurgle in his throat, and died immediately.

Dr. H. D. Findlay said he had made a post mortem examination, and found extensive congestion of the right lung, which was the first stage of pneumonia, and lesser congestion in the left lung. There were some old scarrings near the left groin, which was well healed, and showed no signs of recent trouble. The cause of death was acute pneumonia.

The Coroner: Does it come as any surprise to you that the man should work on Tuesday and die on Wednesday?

Witness: Not if it was influenza pneumonia, which comes on quickly, and is fatal early. It is of a very toxic type, and produces the symptoms very rapidly. There is a great deal of influenza pneumonia about. I have attended one or two cases where death has taken place within twelve hours of onset.

A verdict of Death from Natural Causes was returned.”

Dudley Herald 4/4/1931

“When two little boys were playing in a scrapyard at Cradley Heath, on Monday they dislodged a 22cwt pipe, which fell on the one and killed him.

The inquest was held on Tuesday at the BRITISH OAK HOTEL, Old Hill, by Mr. J. H. F. Pearson (Deputy Coroner), at which the father of the deceased boy gave evidence of finding his son pinned beneath the huge iron tube.

The lad's name was Victor Billingham aged 11, of 62, Lomey Town, Cradley Heath, and his father is George Cornelius Billingham. He stated that he was employed by the Midland Scrap Iron and Hardware Company at their scrapyards in Lomey Town, Cradley Heath. On Monday he saw some lads playing in the yard. They had built a sort of hut against a stack of tubes, and were playing in it. He went away for a time, and was told that one of the tubes had fallen on a lad. Running back he found his own son underneath one of the pipes, dead. He lay face downwards, and with the pipe across his back. He and the other employees had found it impossible to keep the children out of the yard, and when they put a fence round they came in by another way.

Dr. A. W. Tibbetts said he was called to the spot, and found the boy dead. He had slight abrasions to his knees, and no other apparent injuries. No bones were broken, and he would expect that death was due to shock owing to the heavy iron pipe falling on the lad. He certainly had not died from anything else but shock.....

Sidney J. Edwards (secretary and manager of the company) said that hundreds of children went to play in the yard every day, and the police had done all they could to keep them away. The men engaged there tried to send them away, and got stones thrown at them. It was difficult to keep them out, as there were certain rights of way through the yard, and an open siding on one side. He expressed his sympathy with the lad's parents, and said it was a great shock that one of their own employees had lost a boy in the yard.

The Coroner returned a verdict of Accidental Death caused by shock. He expressed his regret and sympathy with the boy's parents, and said no blame could be attached to the owners of the yard. It was unfortunate that the children had not a better place to play in, for such a place was bound to have a fatal attraction for them. He felt that everything had been done to prevent a recurrence."

Dudley Herald 12/12/1931

"'Goodbye. Look after my lad. I am innocent, but can't prove it. They are crooks and blackmailers.' That was the dramatic message left by Lois Jennings, aged 51, who committed suicide at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, 4, Wrights Lane, Old Hill, last Saturday. The note was read by the Coroner (Mr. J. H. F. Addison) at an inquest held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on Wednesday.

Thomas Nock, an accountant, of 4, Wrights Lane, Old Hill, said deceased was his sister-in-law. She was married, but lived apart from her husband for about 17 years. Her husband, Leonard Jennings, had held a number of positions, including those of ship's cook, gun-layer and boat-maker. He was engaged in the last named when witness heard of him last, ten or twelve years ago. During the time deceased had lived with him she had been a healthy woman, but in the last eight or nine days had seemed disinterested. He knew of no worry she had at that time, and apart from a business worry he knew of nothing since. He had no reason to think she took minor financial troubles seriously, but she was a very secretive woman, and rarely, if ever complained about or discussed her business transactions. The trouble he knew of was that she thought she had incurred a debt for rent. It was not very much, but she took it seriously, and it was a worry to her. When he left for work last Saturday morning deceased was no more depressed than she had been for the past few days. He returned home at one o'clock, and found his wife, who had returned a little earlier, was unable to get into the house. At first he took no serious view of the situation, but after gaining an entrance by means of a ladder and an upstairs window, he found his sister-in-law in her bedroom, and dead. The room was full of gas, and a tube which was used in connection with the kitchen gas oven was attached to a bracket on the wall, and the other end lay on the floor. The woman was lying with her head to the foot of the bed. The note was left on the breakfast room table. He was now well satisfied that the reference to 'crooks and blackmailers' was made to people she was in business with. As far as he knew, there was only one man in the business. He had seen that man, but had never spoken to him. Deceased kept her worries to herself very much indeed.

Mrs. Rebecca Nock, wife of the previous witness, said her sister was quite healthy and cheerful up to a few days ago. Regarding her characteristic secretiveness, she confirmed the evidence of her husband. The cause of the depression was trouble at Blackheath. A man came to their house and asked deceased to take tea from him and act as an agent in selling tea. She was to get so much commission, and she accepted the position. She had been selling this tea for some time, when he told her he had had some words with his firm, and he was going to 'start a business on his own.' He said he had a shop premises at Blackheath, and if she would go there to work with him it would be much better for both of them. The lady who lived behind the shop was going to leave, and she (deceased) could have the house, and could supervise the service of the agents. She agreed to go into partnership with the man, and to live on the premises he had mentioned, and share the firm's liabilities equally with him. He came later and told deceased to be ready to move into the shop premises between November 26th and December 18th. After she had packed all her things in preparation to go, deceased took a walk to Blackheath to see the shop and house. She was then told by the woman living at the rear of the premises that she knew nothing about going out of the house. The man mentioned had disappeared for four or five weeks. There was a quantity of tea left on the premises. Since that day her sister had been very depressed. A week before her death she told witness, 'I shall have to have the Blackheath job settled,' and seemed very worried about it. She said she had been deceived. Deceased had signed a contract to pay half the liabilities, and had it on her mind that she would have to pay the man's debts when she had no money to do it. She did not know to what extent he was in debt, other than the Blackheath affair, and it was driving her mad. Witness had not heard of the man since. She was sure that was the only trouble on her sister's mind, as she had heard her use the phrase, 'It is the fear of the unknown,' in reference to the possible extent of the debts. It was suggested deceased should go to the police last Friday evening, but she was dissuaded, as that would have worried her still more.

Dr. Graham C. Campbell said he was called to the house and there viewed the body. Death was due to gas poisoning.

Summing up, the Coroner said this seemed rather a tragic case, because there seemed no reason why the woman should have taken the steps she had taken. She probably would not have done it if only she had confided in her friends as to what was on her mind. She was evidently a woman who kept her worries to herself a good deal, and, no doubt, the thing did weigh upon her mind. His verdict would be Suicide whilst Temporarily of Unsound Mind."

Dudley Herald 26/12/1931

“An obsession during the period of change of life was said to be responsible for the death of Harriet Turner Heath (50), 4, King Street, Old Hill, who was found hanging in a chain shop, by a chain, specially forged by her own hands for the purpose, on Friday afternoon last. These were the facts revealed by Mr. Frank Cooper at an inquest held by him at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on Monday afternoon.

Edwin Frederick Parkes, a male nurse at a Northfield Mental Institution, said deceased was his aunt. She was single and made chain for a living. She worked in the shop at the rear of his uncle's house at 7, King Street. When he saw her a week ago she seemed very depressed. His father had been in hospital for an operation for internal trouble, and this had worried her. She had not, to his knowledge, threatened to take her life.

William Henry Parkes, 7, King Street, Old Hill, said he had known deceased for 30 or 40 years. She worked as a chainmaker at the rear of his house. She had not seemed the same woman for the last week or two, and had complained of a pain in her back. At 2.30 on the 18th she came into his house for some fire, which she took to the chain shop and began to work. He saw her at work at 3.45, and at about 4.30 he went to lock up as he thought she had gone home. He saw something down the shop, and going in saw her hanging from a beam by a piece of chain. The chain was round her neck and the other end hooked over the beam. She must have got on to the platform of a weighing machine to put the chain up. Her feet were so near the floor at first he thought she was standing up. He lifted the weight off the chain and called for a man to come and assist him. Deceased made the chain which was round her neck. It was a specially made chain, for she had not orders for a similar one, and he could see no other use for it. A large link on one end allowed the remainder of the chain to pass through it and so make a noose.

Mrs. Mary Horton, 275, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, knew deceased very well, as they had worked together for the same firm for the past two years. She had been in the habit of going to the shop where deceased worked, for her own hearth was not far away. For the past few weeks the woman had been depressed, and told her of an eating, burning pain in her back. She asked, ‘Do they have cancer in the back?’ and witness told her age was to blame for her trouble. She heard deceased say, ‘If I have to have an operation I'd rather drown myself.’ On the 18th she and Miss Heath took some chain to Bowling Green, and she seemed rather quieter than usual. While there they got a little order, and deceased picked up the iron for the work. In the afternoon she went to deceased's chain shop and saw her standing in the corner with a chain in her hand. Witness hailed her, and she threw the piece of chain down and acted in a mesmerised way. That deceased made the chain (produced) she had no doubt. She saw her working on it three weeks ago in an order for traces, but at that time the big link was not on it, and it should not be on for any other purpose than the one for which it was used.

Dr. J. Davison said deceased visited his surgery on the 9th, where he examined her for pains in her back. He diagnosed lumbago and treated her. She told him she was rather worried about some trouble, and that her sister's husband had undergone an operation for a growth. The doctor said that had the woman had an obsession about cancer it was likely to upset her mental balance having regard to her time of life. Death was due to hanging, the neck being dislocated.

The Coroner said he hesitated often to find that a person was insane when committing suicide, but in this case he had no doubt that the woman was not of sound mind. She was at a time of life when the mind, if any undue stress was put upon it, was apt to go wrong. She was worried because her brother-in-law suffered from what she thought was a serious malady. That, together with the change of life, brought about a mental state during which she committed suicide. That she committed suicide in such an extraordinary way led him to come to that decision. There was no doubt that she met her death with a chain made by her own hand. He had never known a case of hanging with a chain, much less a case where a person had actually forged with her own hand the implement with which to commit suicide. His verdict was Suicide whilst of Unsound Mind.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 21/9/1936

“A form of ‘harvest home’ was held at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill. Customers and friends brought garden produce for competition and subsequent disposal to hospitals. A magnificent collection of vegetables secured the first prize for W. Williams, a Blackheath Council house tenant.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 14/5/1938

“William Scriven, aged 56, who, as licensee of the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, had in the past prepared for scores of inquests at the public house, which was a recognised place for such enquiries, was himself the subject of an inquest yesterday.

He was found gassed on a couch in a downstairs room of the inn on Wednesday evening.

His wife and son had gone to Birmingham, and when it was noticed at 6.55pm that the house had not been opened for custom an entrance was effected and the tragedy was discovered.

A terrier, Scriven's favourite dog, was whimpering about the house and during today's inquest sat, a pathetic object, in the room where the inquiry was being held.

A note left by Scriven read, ‘Goodbye, but how much I love you all no one knows. Forgive me, as God will. I felt giddy and depressed.’

Albert J. W. Scriven said his father had a serious operation 16 years ago, and 12 months later seriously injured himself while helping to lay a bowling green for his cousin. He ignored the advice of a specialist to undergo another operation and had suffered a good deal since. For about two years he had eaten very little, and for six months had been very depressed and suffered from giddiness. Mrs. Scriven had also been ill, and that had further depressed him. Moreover, he had eye trouble, which worried him.

On Wednesday afternoon witness took his mother to Birmingham, and on their return at 7.30 they heard of what had happened. Horace Patrick Powell, of 62, High Street, Old Hill, said that when his attention was drawn to the fact that the BRITISH OAK INN was not open at 6.55 on Wednesday evening, he investigated and found all the doors locked. He obtained a ladder, got into the house by a bedroom window and found Scriven dead in a downstairs room, lying on the couch, with rubber tubing attached to the gas jet by his mouth.

Arthur Hudson, Scriven's brother-in-law, described Scriven as a man of buoyant spirits who kept a lot of his personal suffering to himself.

The deputy coroner, Mr. J. F. Addison, in recording a verdict that Scriven took his life while the balance of his mind was disturbed, referred to the many times he had seen Scriven on occasions of inquests and said that he observed on the last occasion that he was looking very ill. He expressed sympathy with the relatives as also did Inspector Davis.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 17/5/1938

“Some 50 members of the licensed trade attended the funeral ay Cradley Heath yesterday of Mr. William Scriven, for 24 years licensee of the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, who was found dead on Wednesday. The service, held at St. Luke’s Church, Cradley Heath, was conducted by the Rev. H. Card, Vicar of Rowley Regis, and Mr. A. B. Heys was at the organ. The bearers were Ald. G. Palmer, Councillor S. Willetts, Messrs. W. L. Edwards, M. Stephens, L. Round, D. Wellings, S. Edwards, and T. Foley. Among those present were the Mayor of Rowley Regis (Ald. C. C. Lewis), Ald. B. Hobbs, Ald. D. M. Chapman, Messrs. W. Craddock, and F. S. Tomley (Messrs. Mitchells and Butlers), representatives of the Old Hill Canine Society, Black Heath and District Bowling Club, the Sidaway Bowling League, the BRITISH OAK Bowling Club, and the local lodges of the AOF and the RAOB.”

1939 Register

68, High Street

[1] Harry Willetts, date of birth 22/8/1907, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Mary Jane Willetts, dob 26/1/1911, unpaid domestic duties, married;

The license was surrendered on the grant of a Final Order in respect of the BULL TERRIER.

It closed on 7th December 1960.

It was demolished in 1971.

BUILDERS ARMS

95, (98), Oldbury Road, BLACKHEATH

OWNERS

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd.

LICENSEES

William Wilson [1867] – [1882]

William Elcock Fletcher [1888] – 1906);

Joseph Kite (1906 – []

James Martin [1911] – 1926):

NOTES

98, Oldbury Road [1881]

95, Oldbury Road [1891], [1896], [1901]

It had an ante ‘69 beerhouse license.

County Advertiser 31/8/1867

“Rowley. The Annual Licensing Meeting.....

There were thirteen applications for spirit licenses. The applications of the following were refused.....

William Wilson, Black Heath.”

William Wilson, builder and beer retailer, Blackheath. [1868], [1870]

Stourbridge Observer 11/12/1869

“William Wilson, beerhouse keeper, Blackheath, was charged by Superintendent Mills with selling ale during prohibited hours on Sunday, the 28th ultimo. Defendant pleaded guilty, and the Bench, without hearing any evidence, fined him 2s 6d and costs.”

County Express 18/12/1869

“George Homer, Thomas Stone, Thomas Yardley, Samuel Yardley, Thomas Tromans, and Thomas Weston were charged with being drunk and riotous at the house of Mr. William Wilson, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, on Friday, the 12th ult. They each paid costs.”

County Express 27/8/1870

“The annual licensing meeting for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held yesterday.....

William Wilson, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath were all cautioned in reference to the future conduct of their houses.”

1871 Census

Blakeheath

[1] William Wilson (35), carpenter and publican, born Birmingham;

[2] Phebe Wilson (32), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Thomas H. Wilson (11), son, born Rowley Regis;

[4] James W. Wilson (10), son, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Maria M. Wilson (8), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[6] George Wilson (6), son, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Ellen A. Wilson (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[8] Ann J. Wilson (1), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[9] William Wilson (64), father, widower, carpenter, born Birmingham:

County Advertiser 22/3/1873

“William Wilson was charged with permitting drunkenness in his house, the BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, on the 10th inst.

Police-constable John Wade said he was sent for to the house by the defendant’s wife, about 10pm, to eject some men. He saw two men in the house named Isaac Parkes and William Poole stripped. They were both drunk. One had a glass of wine, the other a pint of ale. He ejected them. He visited the house again in half an hour. He found the same men there again. Could not tell whether they had ale. Poole had a ginger beer bottle in his hand. The defendant’s wife was called and said the men were not drunk. They were talking loud. The defendant said he was out at the time. He instructed his wife if any disturbance arose to send for a police officer. The case was dismissed.”

County Advertiser 25/7/1874

“Richard Plant was charged with having assaulted David Moore, on the 20th inst, at Blackheath. Complainant said that on the above date he was in the BUILDERS ARMS having a pint of ale, when the defendant came in and struck him without any provocation. He also kicked him after leaving the house. Defendant was fined 20s and costs, or one month’s hard labour.”

County Advertiser 21/11/1874

“William Wilson, was charged by Phoebe Hodgetts with having assaulted her, on the 11th inst. Mr. Addison prosecuted.

The evidence of complainant was to the effect that on the above date she was in a public house in company with her husband. A quarrel took place and she, on going to interfere, was knocked down and kicked on the knees by the defendant.

William Hodgetts, the husband of the complainant gave corroborative evidence.

The defendant called a witness for the defence to prove that no assault was committed by him upon the complainant.

William Hodgetts was charged by William Wilson, junior, with having refused to quit the BUILDERS ARMS INN, Blackheath.

Mr. Addison defended.

The complainant said the defendant came into his house and commenced a quarrel with his (complainant’s) father. He requested defendant to leave but he refused, and on attempting to turn him out of the house, defendant tore his clothes. Cross-examined:

Was not drunk. His father did not pick up a poker to strike defendant.

Police-constable Jackson said that on Wednesday night he visited the house and found defendant and complainant struggling together on the floor. Defendant was given in charge, but he did not take him into custody. The complainant’s clothes were torn, and the windows of the house broken.

For refusing to quit defendant was fined 10s and costs or 14 days, and the other case was dismissed.”

Stourbridge Observer 12/12/1874

“William Gould was charged with feloniously stealing a watch on the 3rd inst, the property of William Steventon. Prosecutor, who resides at Blackheath, said that he was in the BUILDERS ARMS, sitting near the fire. Several persons were present. He had a silver watch in his possession, and showed it to those in the room, and the watch was passed from one to another. The prisoner went out of the room, and he asked those present for it. They denied having it. He then went with the police, and pointed the prisoner out as the man who had got his watch. Prisoner gave it to the police officer at once. The Bench did not think there was any felonious intent, and dismissed the case.”

County Advertiser 6/5/1876 - Deaths

“On the 1st inst, Phoebe, the beloved wife of William Wilson, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath; deeply lamented.”

County Express 26/5/1877

“William Mills, butcher, was charged on remand, with having stolen a stone bottle containing ale, of the value of 3s, the property of William Wilson, publican, Blackheath.

Joseph Strickley said he saw the prisoner carry a bottle from prosecutor’s cellar to the brewhouse, but it was afterwards found concealed in the yard.

Police-constable Stiles said that he went to the prosecutor's house on Saturday night and saw prosecutor who informed him that Mills had taken a bottle containing ale from his cellar. Witness subsequently found a bottle concealed underneath some timber, and seeing prisoner upon the premises, he arrested him and charged him with stealing a bottle of ale, the property of Mr. Wilson. Prisoner said, 'No, sir, I'll speak the truth when I get down there.' On the way to the station prisoner said, 'I know I am not innocent. I did it, and I'll speak the truth.'

Mills now pleaded guilty, and had nothing to say in defence. He was sentenced to one month's hard labour."

County Advertiser 19/10/1878

"John Bateman, miner, Henry Mole, and Joseph Priest, rivet makers, were charged by William Wilson, landlord of the BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, with gambling with coins on the 6th inst. Mr. Addison defended.

Mr. Wilson said he heard them playing cards in an outhouse on his premises, and spoke to them. They said they were doing nothing, and followed him into the house, where some time afterwards he discovered them tossing with coins. Some cards were afterwards found in the outhouse. On finding the men tossing in the house he said he should summon them, and bade them leave his premises, at the same time picking up the coin, a shilling, with which they had been playing. The men offered no denial to what he said. A witness named Willetts spoke to seeing the defendants 'dating' coins – a kind of gambling.

The defence was merely a denial of this evidence, a witness alleging as to the shilling that it had been put down by one of the men in payment for some beer.

The Bench thought the case very clearly proved, and made worse by the fact that it occurred on Sunday. They fined Moule and Priest 5s and costs, with the alternative of twenty-one days' hard labour; and as Bateman had been convicted several times during the present year, they sentenced him to a month's hard labour."

County Advertiser 28/6/1879

"At the Police Court on Wednesday, Richard Taylor and Ezra Smith were charged with disorderly conduct and refusing to quit the licensed premises of William Wilson, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, on the 14th inst. The offence was proved by the landlord. A penalty of 2s 6d and costs was imposed in the case of Taylor, and Smith who had been previously committed was fined 5s and costs or 14 days."

AND

Dudley Herald 28/6/1879

"Richard Taylor and Ezra Smith were charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of William Wilson, landlord of the BUILDERS ARMS, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, on the 16th inst.

Prosecutor said on the day in question the defendants came to his house and began to fight. He ordered them out but they would not go, so he and his son forcibly ejected them.

The Bench fined Taylor 2s 6d, and Smith 5s, and costs."

1881 Census

98, Oldbury Road – BUILDERS ARMS

[1] William Wilson (44), builder and beerhouse keeper, born Warwickshire;

[2] Elizabeth Wilson (56), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Ellen Wilson (12), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Ann Wilson (11), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[5] William Wilson (9), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Harry Wilson (7), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Mail 24/5/1882 - Advert

"Pony, Trap, and Harness for Sale. £10 the lot.

W. Wilson, BUILDERS ARMS, Black Heath, Rowley Regis."

William Elcock Fletcher = William Elcocks Fletcher

County Express 5/5/1888 - Advert

"Wanted, a good General Servant; age about 18.

Apply, BUILDERS ARMS, Oldbury Road, Blackheath."

Dudley Mercury 17/11/1888

"James Wilson, miner, Blackheath, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the licensed premises of William Elcock Fletcher, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, on the 10th inst, and also with damaging a window. Mr. Tanfield prosecuted, and Mr. Travis defended.

Defendant was fined 5s and costs for refusing to quit, and was ordered to pay 1s 3d damage in the other case."

County Express 14/2/1891

"Henry Taylor, labourer, Blackheath, was charged with assaulting Jonah Mole, and with being disorderly on the licensed premises of W. E. Fletcher, the BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, on the 31st ult. Mr. Jackson prosecuted. A concert was being held at the BUILDERS ARMS, and whilst singing was going on, the defendant, who was in company with his father, went round begging from the company. He was asked to desist but refused, and also refused to leave. Mole spoke to him about his conduct and then defendant struck him in the mouth knocking him to the ground. Mole had two cups containing beer in his hand, and these were smashed, and defendant sustained a slight injury from one of them. It was also alleged that defendant bit Mole and attempted to strangle him. Fined 10s and costs in the first case, and 5s and costs in the second.”

1891 Census

95, Oldbury Road

- [1] William E. Fletcher (36), beer retailer, born Smethwick;
- [2] Mary E. Fletcher (22), wife, born Oldbury;
- [3] William E. Fletcher (12), son, scholar, born Smethwick;
- [4] Louisa Fletcher (11), daughter, scholar, born Smethwick;
- [5] Eliza Hodgetts (19), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 26/3/1892 - Advert

“Highly Important Sale of Machinery, Brewing Plant, Traps, Wagonette, and other Effects, in the Yard at the Back of the BUILDERS ARMS INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, Rowley Regis.

Mr. W. Hackett has received instructions to Sell by Auction, on the Premises, as above, on Wednesday, March 30th, 1892.....”

County Advertiser 7/5/1892

“William Fletcher, landlord of the BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, was charged with assaulting Mary Eliza Fletcher, his wife, on the 29th ult. Mr. Tansfield appeared for the complainant, and said she has asked him to apply for the withdrawal of the summons, which had been taken out in a fit of temper. The circumstances were entirely her own fault, and she was to blame.

Inspector Bishop objected saying that it was not the first time an assault had been committed.

Complainant was, after some further argument, called, and stated that on the day named she and her husband had some unpleasantness. Witness threw a mop at defendant, who gave her a slap on the face discolouring it, but she did not wish to press the case against him at all.

The case was dismissed.”

William Elcocks Fletcher, beer retailer, 95, Oldbury Road. [1896]

County Advertiser 31/7/1897

“George Poole, of Oldbury Road, Blackheath was charged with refusing to quit the licensed of the BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath; Charles Poole, also of Oldbury Road, was charged with assaulting the landlord, William, Elcock Fletcher; and both defendants were also charged with assaulting a man named William Jones. The cases were proved.

George Poole was fined 10s and costs for refusing to quit, and 1s and costs for the assault; Charles Poole was fined 10s and costs for the assault on Fletcher, and 1s and costs for the other.”

Smethwick Telephone 4/6/1898

“At the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, Elias Lones (33), traveller, of Burnt Tree, Tipton, was charged with stealing £2 19s 6d from a till belonging to William Elcock Fletcher, landlord of the BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, on the 21st ult. It was alleged that the prosecutor’s wife locked up the money in the till. The prisoner, who said he had called to settle an account for Mr. Cheshire, of Windmill Brewery, Smethwick, was seen standing by the counter and when he left, the money was missed. Inspector Given asked for a remand for a week, which was granted.”

County Advertiser 11/6/1898

“Elias Lones, commercial traveller, of Burnt Tree, Tipton, was charged with stealing £2 19s 6d, the moneys of William Elcock Fletcher, landlord of the BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, on the 21st ult.

Mrs. Fletcher, complainant’s wife, said that on the day in question prisoner went to the house and was supplied with ale in the bar. There was no one else in the room at the time while prisoner was there. Witness had occasion to go to a drawer to change half a sovereign. Prisoner got up of his seat and could see what witness was doing. In the drawer there was £2 19s 6d, witness left the room, and no one else went in. In about ten minutes prisoner left the house, and shortly afterwards she went to the drawer and then missed the money. She gave information to the police.

Mr. B. Shakespeare, for the defence, admitted that at the time prisoner committed the offence, he was very much under the influence of drink. His wife said she had also been to a doctor to ascertain his state of mind. He was most respectably connected, and produced a letter as to prisoner’s good character from the Vicar of Tividale.

The Bench said that in consideration of prisoner having been in prison for 14 days already, they would commit him for only another 14 days, or otherwise it would have been a month’s imprisonment.”

Dudley Herald 3/9/1898

“Trust and Hope lodge, Free Gardeners, held at the BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, had their first annual outing on Monday last to Kinver. The members including the worthy host (Mr. W. E. Fletcher) were conveyed in brakes by Mr. E. Mason. On the outward journey a brief halt was made at the YEW TREE HOTEL, Wallheath, and at the Cat Hotel, Enville. On arrival at the Spring Gardens Hotel a dinner was partaken of and to which full justice was done. After dinner the party visited places of interest. After an enjoyable day the party reached the BUILDERS ARMS shortly before 9 o’clock.”

Dudley Herald 17/9/1898

“Eliza Fletcher, wife of Mr. William Elcock Fletcher, landlord of the BUILDERS ARMS INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, committed suicide on Wednesday morning, in a very determined manner. Deceased left her bedroom shortly after eight o’clock, as usual, in the morning. She appeared to be strange in her manner, however, but this was thought to be due, it is alleged, to her recent heavy drinking. She subsequently returned to her bedroom, and opening the window, shouted to passers by that she had been locked up for two days, and that her husband was starving her. As there was no truth in this allegation it clearly proved the deceased could not have been in her rational senses. Soon after this, about ten o’clock, Mr. Fletcher heard a fall in the bedroom, and at once rushed upstairs. Here he was met with a sickening spectacle, his wife was lying in a pool of blood. There was a deep gash in her throat, the windpipe and the main arteries being severed. It was evident that deceased had inflicted the wound herself as a razor was lying near her body. Dr. Griffiths, of Blackheath, was called in immediately, but he was unable to render any assistance, as life was extinct.

Yesterday morning Mr. H. A. Pearson held an inquest at the BUILDERS ARMS, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, respecting the death of Mary Eliza Fletcher (30), wife of William Elcock Fletcher, publican, who committed suicide on Wednesday morning last. Mr. S. Ward was present on behalf of the deceased’s husband.

William Elcock Fletcher stated that lately the deceased had given way to drink and at times was very violent in her manner. On Monday and Tuesday she appeared to be better, but was very depressed. He had remonstrated with her for her excessive drinking. Six months ago she said she wished herself dead, but he had never known her threaten to commit suicide. On Wednesday morning she seemed to be very strange and not responsible for what she said. He heard a fall in the room upstairs. The servant girl said her mistress must have knocked something over, but expressed herself as too afraid to go and see what was the matter. Witness went upstairs and in the bedroom found deceased on her back near the chest of drawers. He noticed blood and on lifting her head saw the wound. She was alive then, but could not speak, and she died whilst witness and his son held her in their arms. It was quite true there had been words between them in consequence of his wife’s drinking propensities, but he had not struck her during the past twelve months.

The Coroner drew attention to a book in which was some handwriting and witness explained that on the previous Tuesday night she came to him and asked him how to spell intoxicants and expressed her intention of abstaining from drink for six months. She said ‘she could manage for the other part of her life, if she succeeded in abstaining for the six months.’

The Coroner: Then this is an informal signing of the pledge? – Witness, Yes, sir.

In reply to Mr. Edwin Simpson, journalist, Oldham, brother to the deceased, witness denied having systematically beaten his wife in the most shameful manner, and she had not to go home in consequence of being several times turned out at night. He had not refused to give her anything to eat, and he also denied taking her drives to atone for his ill-treatment. A summons was issued against him some years ago but it was withdrawn.

In answer to Mr. Ward witness said deceased was very violent when under the influence of drink, and had to be forcibly restrained. He had frequently called in the police to her. She had not wanted for food and medical attendance. Her drinking had caused her to be subject to fits.

PS Onions said that on one occasion she complained that her husband had turned her out and ill-used her. She was not sober when she said that.

Edwin Simpson, deceased’s brother, elected to give evidence, and stated that deceased and her husband had had a very unhappy life for the past ten years. She had complained of his ill-treatment, and he had seen bad bruises seven weeks ago. She seemed extremely weak then. He had never seen her intoxicated. In his opinion she committed suicide through worry, and not as a consequence of drink.

James Winfield, a former police-sergeant stationed at Blackheath, said from what he knew of deceased she was not a sober woman, and he had seen her very drunk on several occasions. When in that state she was very violent and excitable. He had seen her challenge her husband to fight, and put up her fists, and also pick up a carving-knife to him. She had complained of her husband assaulting her, but afterwards she would say it was her own fault and it would not occur again. He had seen her with bruises, and on one occasion he believed she took out a summons for assault, but withdrew it.

The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst in a state of Unsound Mind.”

County Advertiser 24/9/1898

“A large number of persons assembled on Saturday afternoon in Blackheath Parish Churchyard, to witness the funeral of Mary Elizabeth Fletcher, the wife of William Elcock Fletcher, a well-known licensed victualler, who had committed suicide. At the inquest it was alleged that the deceased woman had been ill-treated on several occasions during the last few years, but the husband denied many of the allegations. At the conclusion of the funeral service, hundreds of women hooted and booed at Mr. Fletcher, and an attempt was made to push him into the grave. When entering the car with other mourners, after leaving the churchyard, he received a very hostile reception, and on arriving at his residence in the Oldbury Road, he was groaned and shouted at, and but for the presence of Police-sergeant Onions and other police officers would in all probability have been subjected to other indignities.”

Wellington Journal 7/4/1900 - Advert

“Housekeeper, Wanted, honest and trustworthy (age from 35 to 40), to a widower; servant kept; no children. Apply, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, near Dudley.”

1901 Census

95, Oldbury Road

[1] William Fletcher (46), beer retailer, born Smethwick;

[2] Ellen Fletcher (39), wife, born Shrewsbury;
[3] William Fletcher (22), son, brewer, born Smethwick:

Wellington Journal 11/4/1903 - Advert

“Strong Girl Wanted, age about 19 or 20, for May 6th next.
Apply, Mrs. Fletcher, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, near Birmingham.”

County Advertiser 22/10/1904

“William Elcock Fletcher, landlord of the BUILDERS ARMS INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, was charged with using bad language on the 10th inst. Police-constable Orme who proved the offence stated that he received several complaints from neighbours respecting the conduct of defendant. Fletcher urged that he had a dispute with his wife over the servant. He was fined £1 including costs.”

County Advertiser 12/11/1904 - Advert

“General, strong, age 19. Good character. No washing; no children.
Apply, Fletcher, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath.”

County Advertiser 11/2/1905

“The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday.....
Superintendent Johnson presented his annual report.....
During the twelve months ended January last, three licensed victuallers and two beerhouse keepers had been proceeded against and convicted for offences against the Licensing Acts. One beerhouse keeper had also been convicted for using obscene language in his own house. The whole of the licenses (except the one for using bad language) have since been transferred. Since the transfer each house has been conducted satisfactorily.....
The following is a list of the licenses objected to by Superintendent Johnson.....
William Elcocks Fletcher, BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, on the ground that the premises were ill conducted, and that the character and fitness of the proposed holder is unsatisfactory.....
The Chairman told William Elcocks Fletcher, of the BUILDERS ARMS, that if he used bad language in his own house again, the Bench would not accept his excuse. He would lose his license if it occurred again.”

County Advertiser 3/3/1906 - Advert

“Preliminary. BUILDERS ARMS, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, Staffs.
Alfred Hill has been instructed by the Trustees of the late W. E. Fletcher, to Sell by Auction, on the Premises as above, on Monday, March 12th, 1906, the whole of the Excellent Household Furniture.
Light Cart, Dennett Gig, and other Miscellaneous Articles.
Full Particulars Next Week.
Auctioneer’s Offices, Halesowen.”

County Advertiser 10/3/1906 - Advert

“Monday Next, March 12th, 1906.
BUILDERS ARMS, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, Staffs.
To House Furnishers, Brokers, and Others.
Alfred Hill has been instructed by the Trustees of the late W. E. Fletcher, to Sell by Auction, on the Premises as above, the whole of the Excellent Household Furniture and Effects, including capital Full-trichord Upright Iron Grand Piano, check action (by Lieder), Six Old Mahogany-frame Horsehair Chairs, Inlaid Oak Corner Cupboard, Weather Glass, Drawing Room Suite, Velvet Pile, Walnut Frames (7 pieces), Mahogany Folding Table and other Tables, Capital Hand Sewing Machine, Pictures, Windsor, Cane-seated, and other Chairs; Steelyards, Scales and Weights, Flour Scales, Sofa (leather covered), Mahogany Night Chair (fitted), Wash Stands and Dressing Tables, Brass Rail and Mahogany Bedsteads, Feather Beds, Bolsters and Pillows, Swing Glasses, Flock Beds, Mattresses, Muzzle-loading Gun, Violin and Case, Brass Meat Jack, Several Driving Bits and Curbs, Crockeryware, Stone Jars, Fenders, Small Writing Desk, Wringer, Oil Tank and Cabinet, Carpenter’s Bench, Chaff Cutter, Malt Crusher, and other Odd Tackle, Corn Bins, small Light Cart (equal to new), Capital Light Dennett Gig, with lamps and cushions complete; and other Miscellaneous Articles.
Sale to commence at Two o’clock sharp.
Auctioneer’s Offices, Halesowen.”

County Advertiser 10/3/1906

“The license of the BUILDERS ARMS, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, was transferred from William Elcocks Fletcher (deceased) to Joseph Kite.”

1911 Census

Oldbury Road – BUILDERS ARMS

[1] James Martin (44), beer retailer, born Wolverhampton;
[2] Fanny Rebecca Martin (38), wife, married 17 years, born Birmingham;
[3] Hilda May Martin (16), daughter, feeble minded from birth, born Birmingham;

[4] William Arthur Martin (15), son, errand boy, born Birmingham;
[5] Beatrice Marie Martin (6), daughter, born Birmingham;
[6] Charlotte Pearson (16), general servant, born Dudley:

James Martin, beer retailer, 95, Oldbury Road. [1912], [1924]

The license renewal was referred to the Compensation Authority on the grounds of redundancy in February 1926.

Staffordshire Advertiser 31/7/1926 - Notice

“The Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910. County of Stafford.

Notice as to sending in Claims to be treated as Persons Interested in Licensed Premises.

Notice is Hereby Given, that the Compensation Authority for the above area, having decided at their Principal Meeting, held on the 28th day of June and the 12th day of July, 1926, to Refuse the Renewal of the Licenses of the Premises specified below.....

BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath. Beerhouse, ante 1869. Licensee, James Martin. Registered Owner, Mitchells and Butlers Limited.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 18/12/1926

“The Licensing Committee for the County have fixed the following sums as compensation.....

BUILDERS ARMS, Blackheath, ante '69 beerhouse, £1,500.”

Compensation was paid on 24th December 1926.

It closed on 31st December 1926.

James Martin – see also FOUNTAIN, Dixons Green, Dudley.

BULLS HEAD

86+87, (83), (88), Oldbury Road, (Whiteheath Road), BLACKHEATH

OWNERS

Stephen Rollason [1884]

J. Rolinson and Son

Thomas B. Williams and Lizzie Bate, Rowley Regis

LICENSEES

Stephen Rollason [1881] – [1884]

Ezra Homer (1885 – [1891]

William Cooper (1890 – []

Ezra Homer [1901]

William Harris [1902]

James Richards [] – 1903);

John Horton (1903– 1905);

Ezra Homer (1905 – 1906);

Samuel Chatwin (1906 – 1910);

Thomas Goode (1910 – [1911]

Samuel Tromans [1919] – 1922);

Thomas Dudley (1922 – 1924);

NOTES

88, Oldbury Road [1881]

83, Oldbury Road [1884], [1891]

86-87, Oldbury Road

Whiteheath Road [1903], [1905], [1940]

It had an ante '69 beerhouse.

It had a pigeon club.

Stephen Rollason = Stephen Rollinson = Stephen Rolinson

1881 Census

88, Oldbury Road – BULLS HEAD INN

- [1] Stephen Rollason (45), corn dealer and beerhouse, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Mary Rollason (47), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Alice Rollason (19), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Sarah Rollason (16), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Ann Rollason (12), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Jonah Rollason (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Polly Rollason (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 9/8/1884 - Notice

“To the Overseers of the Poor of the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, and to the Superintendent of Police of the District or Division of Rowley Regis, and to all whom it may concern.

I, Stephen Rollason, Beerhouse Keeper, now residing at Blackheath, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, do Hereby Give Notice, that it is my intention to Apply, at the General Annual Licensing Meeting, for the Division of Rowley Regis, to be holden at the Public Office at Old Hill, in the said County, on the 27th day of August next ensuing, for a License to hold an Excise License to sell Wines by Retail, to be consumed on and off the premises known as the BULLS HEAD, Blackheath, in the Parish of Rowley Regis aforesaid, in pursuance of the Act 23 Victoria, cap.27, section 3, and Acts amending the same, of which said premises I am the owner, and the same are of the annual value by law required, and are now in my own occupation.

Given under my hand this 31st day of July, 1884.

X Stephen Rollason. His Mark.”

County Advertiser 30/8/1884

“The annual brewster sessions for the Parish of Rowley Regis were held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

Mr. Cooksey applied for a license for British and foreign wines for the BULLS HEAD INN, Blackheath, in the occupation of Stephen Rollinson. Mr. Cooksey pointed out that there was already an ale license to the house, and as the house was very much frequented by commercial travellers and others, a wine license was applied for. Mr. Bassano called the attention of Mr. Cooksey to the large number of drunken cases mentioned in Inspector Walters’s report. Mr. Cooksey said that if the persons who had got drunk had drunk wines, for which he applied for a license, instead of beer, there is no doubt they would have stopped when they had had enough. (Laughter.) The application was refused.”

Dudley and District News 13/9/1884

“On Tuesday Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, relative to the death of Stephen Rollinson (42), beerhouse keeper, of No.83, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, who was fatally injured on Thursday last by being thrown out of a trap.

Enoch Hadley, rivet maker, of Causeway Green, said he met the deceased in Birmingham; they had been at several public houses on their drive home. Witness drove the trap the whole of the time. When they got near to Langley Green he ran into a wagon. He did not see the wagon until he had run into it as it was dark. Both he and his friend were thrown out, and the trap was upset. As soon as he came to himself he found deceased lying in the road in an unconscious state, and he could see that he was badly injured. Witness and the deceased were both sober. Witness went to see the deceased on Sunday, but he was dead.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 2/5/1885

“Ezra Homer, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises on the 6th inst. Mr. Waldron prosecuted on behalf of the police, and Mr. Shakespeare defended.

Police-sergeant Salt said that at 10.30 on Easter Monday night he visited the defendant’s house with Police-constable Lavin. The house was filled with 60 or 70 men and women, many of whom were drunk and staggering about. There were not more than a dozen sober persons in the house. He called the attention of the landlord to the condition of the drunken persons and left. Ten minutes later he went to the house again with Police-constable Whiston, and found the drunken persons were still there. Shortly afterwards the house was cleared, and many of the persons who left staggered up the street. In cross-examination witness said he never saw a more disorderly house. There had been pigeon matches near the house during the day.

Police-constable Lavin, who corroborated Police-sergeant Salt’s evidence, said that one man who got up to drink out of a cup and was so drunk that he fell headlong on the floor.

Police-constable Whiston corroborated the evidence.

In addressing the Bench for the defence Mr. Shakespeare said that the defendant was new to the business, only having been in the house about a week. On the day in question there had been a pigeon match, and 60 or 70 drunken men rushed into the house, the result being that the defendant lost all control.

Defendant was fined £1 and costs, the costs to include the solicitor’s fee.”

County Express 25/7/1885

“Ezra Homer, innkeeper, Blackheath; Frederick Homer and Harry Homer, his brothers, potters, were summoned for neglecting to contribute to the maintenance of their mother, who is in receipt of 2s 6d per week from the Dudley Union. Mr. Allen (Clerk to the Dudley Guardians) appeared in support of the summonses, and stated that the defendants were willing to pay something, but could not agree as to the respective amounts for each. Mr. Cooper, relieving officer, having given evidence in support of the summonses, the Bench made an order on Ezra Homer, for the payment of 3s per week, and 1s per week in each of the other cases.”

County Advertiser 29/8/1885

“On Wednesday the annual brewster sessions for the Petty Sessional Division of Rowley Regis, were held at the Court House, Old Hill.

The following was the black list Beerhouse keepers.....

Ezra Homer, BULLS HEAD INN, Blackheath, permitting drunkenness, 29th April, 1885, fined 20s and costs.....

The Bench said they would not now renew the licenses of those who had been convicted, but would reserve them for consideration till the adjourned licensing day.”

County Express 3/10/1885

“This being the adjourned licensing day the magistrates granted the renewal of licenses to the following persons, whose names had appeared on the black list.....

Ezra Homer, BULLS HEAD, Blackheath.”

Birmingham Daily Post 1/9/1887

“The annual Licensing Sessions for the Old Hill petty sessional division was held yesterday.

Mr. Wright appeared on behalf of Mr. Ezra Homer, BULLS HEAD, Blackheath, and applied for an extension from a six days’ to a seven days’ house. He pointed out that his client had conducted the house in an admirable manner, and to the satisfaction of the police. A memorial was handed to the Bench, signed by a society of Oddfellows, asking the magistrates to grant the application. The application was granted.”

County Advertiser 12/5/1888 - Advert

“To Ironmasters, Colliery Owners, Brewers and Others.

The BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath.

Mr. E. H. Boilstone has received instructions from the representatives of the late Mr. Stephen Rollinson, to Sell by Auction, on Monday, May 14th, at the above address, at Two o’clock sharp.

Four capital strong Wagon Horses and Two Hackneys, Two strong Wagons, Breeze Cart (nearly new), capital lot of strong Wagon Harness, excellent Chaff Machine, and other Effects.

Offices, Old Hill and Halesowen.”

Birmingham Daily Post 13/2/1890

“At Old Hill Police Court, yesterday, William Parry, William Crump, and Henry Rowe, of Blackheath, trustees of the Mayflower Lodge, 1004, of the Nottingham Ancient Imperial United Order of Oddfellows’ Friendly Society, held at the BULLS HEAD INN, Blackheath, were summoned to show cause why John Rose, a member of the society, should not receive the sum of £3 18s due to him for sick pay under the rules of the society.

The defendant Parry said they had no money in the society.

The Magistrates’ Clerk: It is insolvent? – Mr. Parry: Yes, sir.

The Magistrates’ Clerk: Have you never made an application for a dissolution if it?

Mr. Parry said they had been suspended, and in a month or two they should be able to pay out money again. They had not paid anything out for six months. They did not want to apply for a dissolution on account of the old members. They had borrowed money from the landlord of the house to pay claims with.

The Bench adjourned the case for a fortnight, in order that the books might be examined by an independent person.”

County Express 1/3/1890

“William Parry, Henry Roe, and William Crump, trustees of the May Flower Lodge, No.1004, of the Nottingham Ancient Imperial United Order of Oddfellows’ Friendly Society, held at the BULLS HEAD INN, Blackheath, were summoned by Ellen Rose, on behalf of her husband, John Rose, for the sum of £3 18s, being the arrears of twenty-six weeks’ sick pay. The case was adjourned a fortnight ago in order that the books of the lodge might be investigated by Mr. Joseph Williams, assistant overseer.

Mr. Goodman said when the case was last adjourned, the defendants admitted that the sick pay was due to Mrs. Rose, but they alleged they had not sufficient funds to pay it with.

Mr. Williams said he had examined the books of the society, and found there were about forty members in it. He found the society had not paid out any sick pay since August 12th, 1889, and now they had in hand £11 1s. They were indebted to sick pay to the amount of £12, besides Mrs. Rose.

Mr. Goodman: As long as you continue the society you are bound to pay the sick pay.

Mr. Parry: We are aware of that, but we have not got it.

Mr. Walker: You are drawing a weekly sum from the members.

Mr. Parry: Yes, but it don’t supply it.

Mr. Walker: You have sufficient funds in hand to supply this case, and we must make an order upon you for the amount claimed, and the other persons who have claims must claim in the usual way.

Mr. Crump: The members are going out of the society. Old members are in, and are entitled to £10 at the funeral.

Mr. Walker: That rests with the members of the society.

Mr. Goodman: You must apply to the registrar for an order to wind up your society. That is the only thing to do.

Mr. Crump: But our articles state that if there is any dispute it shall be settled by an arbitrator.

Mr. Goodman: You have had notice from Mrs. Rose consenting to have the matters referred to arbitrators. Have you complied with the demand? – Mr. Crump: No, we have not.

Mr. Walker: We must make an order upon you.”

1891 Census

83, Oldbury Road – BULLS HEAD INN

[1] Ezra Homer (55), gun patent breech forger and licensed brewer, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Emma Homer (58), wife, born Halesowen;

[3] Albert Homer (26), son, general labourer, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Mary Ann Parkes (7), niece, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Ezra Homer (17), son, coal miner, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Mary Osborne (18), cousin, domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

1901 Census

Oldbury Road

[1] Ezra Homer (66), widower, innkeeper, born Blackheath;

[2] Sarah Hadley (33), daughter, domestic servant, born Blackheath;

[3] Mary Hadley (17), niece, domestic servant, born Blackheath;

[4] Luther Hadley (13), grandson, born Blackheath:

County Advertiser 11/1/1902

“At an inquest held at the GEORGE AND DRAGON INN, Blackheath, on Tuesday last, by Mr. H. A. Pearson, one of the jury-men, William Harris, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, arrived about a quarter of an hour late. His excuse was that he had mistaken the time whilst at work. Mr. Pearson severely reprimanded him for being late, and said he did not know but what he ought to fine him 40s. He had kept the other twelve jurymen and himself waiting for more than a quarter of an hour. He would be summoned on the next inquest, and if he was a minute late he should fine him 40s.”

Manchester Courier 7/4/1902

“The South Staffordshire police on Saturday made raids on betting men at the BULLS HEAD, Blackheath, and the RAILWAY HOTEL, Cradley Heath, arresting altogether 33 men, including the two publicans. An inspector and 20 policeman arrived at each house in a furniture van. The men were brought up and remanded.”

County Express 12/4/1902

“As a result of a clever ruse on the part of the police authorities, the RAILWAY HOTEL, Lomey Town, Cradley Heath, and the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, were raided on Saturday afternoon, and a large number of men, who, it is alleged, frequented the houses for the purposes of betting, were captured. The police adopted a modus operandi which, although not new in the annals of the force, was new to the district, and caused considerable amusement to those not immediately concerned. Two large furniture vans were chartered, and the one, containing Inspector Hodgkinson, PS Pitcher, and fourteen constables, drew up outside the RAILWAY HOTEL; while the other, containing Supt. Spendlove, PS Harris, and twelve constables, was drawn up outside the BULLS HEAD INN. Immediately the vehicles stopped, the officers raided the premises and secured the men they found there. It is alleged upon being searched, these were found to be in possession of betting papers and tickets. The men submitted quietly to the arrests, and were conveyed to Old Hill Police station in the vans. Naturally, the news of the occurrences quickly spread, and caused great excitement and some consternation in the districts. Later in the evening they were all brought before Messrs. W. Bassano and C. W. Bassano, and charged with offences under the Betting Act. Formal evidence was given by Supt. Spendlove and Inspector Hodgkinson, and the prisoners remanded until Wednesday, bail being allowed to the landlords themselves in £50 each and one surety of £50 or two £25 each, and the other men on their own recognisances of £10 each.”

County Express 19/4/1902

“A large crowd assembled at the Old Hill Police Court yesterday, when a special session was held to hear the charges against the persons concerned in the recent betting raids at Cradley Heath and Blackheath. The magistrates in attendance were Messrs. W. Bassano, J. F. Pearson, A. H. Bassano, R. Hill, and J. Billingham.

In the first instance W. Harris, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, was charged with wilfully and knowingly permitting his house to be used for betting on March 24th, 25th, and April 5th. George Adams, butcher, Blackheath, was charged with unlawfully using the house for the purposes of betting, and George Clift, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, was charged with a similar offence on March 24th, 25th, and April 5th.

Mr. Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. Vachell (instructed by Mr. G. Green) defended. Mr. Vernon watched the case on behalf of the owners of the house.

The case for the prosecution, as stated by Mr. Clulow, was that on March 24th, PC Kent, accompanied by an independent witness, found some thirty men in the tap room who had a number of newspapers relating to horse racing. The conversation was also about horse racing. Harris supplied many of the persons with slips of paper, upon which they wrote the names of horses picked from the papers. They then put money in these slips and handed them back to the landlord or to Clift, who apparently assisted the landlord. One man in particular was seen to write on his paper 'Duchess of Kent and Little Jim the Second, 3s for a double' on the bar counter in front of Harris. On the 25th Kent and his companion again visited the house and again slips of paper containing money were given to the landlord or Clift. On this occasion Kent's companion backed a horse and the landlord supplied him with the paper and pencil. He wrote 'Squire Jack and a shilling to win' on the paper, and signed it Wakefield. Squire Jack won, and on the following day the man received 9s 4d as a result of the bet. On April 5th Supt. Spendlove and the police raided the house, and found numerous sporting papers and slips of paper which they saw the men had thrown away, containing the names of horses running at Alexandra Park that afternoon. Supt. Spendlove took a book from Harris's waistcoat pocket which contained the names of horses running in the Water Orton handicap on March 31st, and in the Kineton stakes, Warwick, on April 7th. PS Bentley also found two books underneath the counter.

PC Kent was called to substantiate this statement and, while giving evidence, Mr. Vachell intimated that having heard what this officer had to say, it would be hopeless for him to suggest that betting was not going on on some of the days that had been mentioned, and with the knowledge of the landlord. He had pointed out the cogency of the evidence to his clients, and upon his advice they withdrew the plea of not guilty, and pleaded to the commission of one of the offences. He could only hope the Bench would consider that justice would be met by a conviction being recorded in respect of one of the days only.

Mr. Clulow did not oppose the suggestion, and left the matter entirely in the hands of the Bench.

The Bench reserved their decision until the Cradley Heath cases were heard.....

Harris was fined £100, costs, and solicitor's fee of £2 2s; Adams and Clift were fined £50 and costs each.

Mr. Vachell asked the Bench to grant a case in Clift's case and this was consented to.

The following men who were charged with using the licensed premises for the purposes of betting were bound over not to take part in any betting transactions for six months, and ordered to pay the costs.....

Thomas Blakemore, painter, Oldbury Road, Blackheath; George Darby, traveller, Halesowen Street, Blackheath; George Henry Pratt, labourer, Birmingham Street, Blackheath; William Portman, labourer, Oldbury Road, Blackheath; Mark Bickerstaff, miner, Hackett Street, Blackheath; Isaac Baker, miner, Short Heath, Blackheath; Benjamin Rose, fitting-maker, Causeway, Blackheath; Josiah Westwood, miner, Oldbury Road, Blackheath; Thomas Taylor, labourer, Birmingham Road, Blackheath; Joseph Smith, rivet-maker, Hackett Street, Blackheath; and George Osborne, miner, Maltmill Lane, Blackheath."

County Advertiser 6/9/1902

"Police-constable Kent, who created such a stir in Cradley Heath and Blackheath districts, and took the principal part in the betting raids successfully made at the RAILWAY HOTEL, Cradley Heath, and the BULLS HEAD INN, Blackheath, retired on Monday last from the Staffordshire police force, after serving for ten years....."

James Richards, beer retailer, 86-87, Oldbury Road.

County Advertiser 14/2/1903

"On Wednesday the annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held at the Court House..... Superintendent Spendlove had given notice that he should oppose the following licenses....."

James Richards, BULLS HEAD INN, Blackheath, Betting House Act.....

License renewed."

County Advertiser 2/5/1903

"The case, adjourned from the previous week, in which Thomas Hackett and George Evans, both of Blackheath, were charged with assaulting Joseph Strickley, farmer of Cakemore Farm, Blackheath, on Easter Tuesday, was again called on. It was alleged by prosecutor that, whilst sitting in the BULLS HEAD INN, Blackheath, the defendants and another man Hezekiah Plant, who has since absconded, threw some sawdust in the cup he was drinking from.

The complainant, whose face was still badly disfigured, stated that on the night in question he went into the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, to have a pint of ale, when a man named Hezekiah Plant put some sawdust in his beer, and also struck him two violent blows on the head. A warrant had been issued against him, and he had absconded. The landlady afterwards turned them all out of the house, and when in an entry the two defendants and Plant savagely assaulted him, and inflicted on him very serious injuries.

Witnesses were called who stated that considerable larking was resorted to, one man being dressed in a policeman's uniform.

The defendants denied the assault, and said they protected defendant from the violence of Plant.

The Bench held the offence to be proved, and fined each defendant 10s and costs, or in default fourteen days' imprisonment."

County Advertiser 9/7/1904

"William Plant, labourer, of Cardale Street, Blackheath, was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and also with refusing to quit the licensed premises of the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, on the 25th ult. The landlord stated that defendant became quarrelsome in the house and he requested him to go. Defendant, however, refused to leave. Police-constable Heath proved the charge of drunkenness. Defendant pleaded that he quarrelled over some sports, and promised to sign the pledge. Defendant was fined 15s including costs, or fourteen days' imprisonment."

County Advertiser 26/11/1904

"Hezekiah Plant, a labourer, of Mott Street, Blackheath, was charged with assaulting Joseph Stuckey, a farmer, of Cakemore, on the 14th of April, 1903. Prosecutor alleged that on the date in question he was drinking in the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, when defendant and two other men threw some sawdust in his cup of beer. Witness remonstrated with him, when they attacked him in a violent manner. He was dragged into an entry and left in an unconscious condition. Defendant absconded at the time he was summoned, and was not arrested until the 18th inst. He was fined 20s and costs, or a month's imprisonment."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 8/2/1906

"Midland Wills.....

Mr. Ezra Homer, of the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, Staffs. Gross Estate £340 16s 9d."

1911 Census

Oldbury Road – BULLS HEAD

- [1] Thomas Goode (26), sanitary worker, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Minnie Goode (27), wife, married 4 years, born Whiteheath;
- [3] Clifford Goode (3), son, born Whiteheath;
- [4] Lily Dyas (14), servant, born Whiteheath:

The license renewal was referred to the Compensation Authority on the grounds of redundancy.

Dudley Chronicle 13/2/1924

"The Adjourned Licensing Sessions for the Old Hill Petty Session Division was held at the Police Court on March 5.....

Objection was made by the police to the renewal of the license of the BULLS HEAD INN, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, kept by Thomas Dudley and belonging to the executors of the late Mr. T. Williams, on the grounds of redundancy.

PS Sharratt gave particulars regarding the accommodation of the house for the general public, and said the weekly sale so far as he knew was 2½ barrels. The structural condition of the premises was bad. Within a distance of 500 yards there were five fully licensed houses and seven beer houses (on).

Mr. Williams said he could show a much better trade than that given by Sergeant Sharratt. The average weekly sales had been 3½ barrels for a long time past.....

The Bench retired and after deliberating in private for some time, the Chairman said that the four houses of which the Bench had taken details would be scheduled for compensation at Stafford."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 29/7/1924

"At a meeting under the Licensing Consolidation Act the Staffordshire Compensation Authority refused yesterday to renew the licenses of fifteen house on the ground of redundancy.....

The houses in respect of which the authority declined to renew the licenses were as follows.....

BULLS HEAD, Oldbury Road, Blackheath, ante 1869 beerhouse."

Staffordshire Advertiser 2/8/1924

"The principal meeting of the Compensation Authority (Licensing Consolidation Act) for the county of Staffordshire was held at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Monday.....

The following licenses, all of which had been referred by the licensing justices on the ground of redundancy, were refused, no objection being offered by the owners.....

BULLS HEAD, a beerhouse, Oldbury Road, Blackheath."

It closed on 31st December 1924.

Lichfield Mercury 9/1/1925

"The County Licensing Committee, in their report for 1924, stated that they had fixed the compensations in respect of a number of houses as follows.....

BULLS HEAD, Blackheath, £1,500."

BULLS HEAD

121, High Street, Five Ways, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

John Biggs [1878]

Benjamin Buttery, Kidderminster

John Thomas Webb (acquired on 13th March 1935)

Grigg and Brettell [1941]

LICENSEES

Thomas Westwood [1858] – [1865]
H Harmshaw [1866]
J Mason [1869]
Thomas Burgess [1870] – [1876]
Samuel Burgess [1874]
John Biggs [1877] – [1892]
Benjamin Hingley [1897] – 1908;
Mrs. Hannah Hingley (1908 – 1914);
Benoni Buttery (1914 – 1922);
Samuel Buttery (1922 – 1927);
Richard William Griffin (1927 – 1929);
Benjamin Davis (1929 – 1931);
John Thomas Webb (1931 – 1944);
Cyril Rogers (1944 – 1950);
Victor Dennis Rollason (1950 – 1952);
Leslie Norman Grainger (1952 – 1955);
Henry Herbert Biggins (1955 – 1957);
David Whitehouse (1957 – 1960);
William Stanley Witton (1960 – 1961);
Leslie Walter Senter (1961 – []

NOTES

It had an ante '69 beerhouse license.

County Advertiser 16/10/1858

“A most barefaced robbery has been perpetrated at Cradley Heath, under the following circumstances. A farm servant, named John Howell, who thirteen years ago lived at Cradley, but who now resides at Mount Pleasant, near Wordsley, went over on Monday last to visit his old locale, and paid a visit to the BELL INN, where he remained all night. He left on the following morning, having first ascertained that his purse, containing about £20, was quite safe. In the course of Tuesday he went to Mr. Westwood's beerhouse, also at Cradley Heath, and known by the sign of the BULLS HEAD. Here he remained drinking in company with a number of other men for some time, and ultimately fell asleep. While thus recovering from the effects of the drink he had imbibed, someone of the multitude of loose characters which infest that neighbourhood relieved him of his money, and made clear off, without leaving the slightest clue to their discovery. The landlord was out at the time, and his wife knew nothing about the affair till Howell proclaimed his loss on awakening.”

County Advertiser 12/2/1859 - Advert

“In consequence of the bad state of the Chain Trade, a Splendid Fat Sheep will be Roasted and Given Away, at Mr. Thomas Westwood's BULLS HEAD INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, on Monday, the 14th day of February, 1859.”

Thomas Westwood, beer retailer, Cradley Heath [1861]

1861 Census

High Street – BULLS HEAD

- [1] Thomas Westwood (41), retail brewer, born Kingswinford;
- [2] Elizabeth Westwood (35), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] Alice Westwood (13), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [4] Mary Westwood (12), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [5] Thomas Westwood (9), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [6] Ann Maria Westwood (7), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [7] Emma Elizabeth Westwood (4), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [8] John Westwood (1), son, born Rowley;
- [9] Mary Huggings (27), house servant, born Tipton:

Thomas Westwood, retailer of beer, Cradley Heath. [1862]

Thomas Westwood, beer retailer and butcher, High Street. [1865]

County Advertiser 14/1/1865 - Advert

“Wanted, a good Servant Girl; one used to a Public-house preferred.
Apply to Mr. Thomas Westwood, BULLS HEAD INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 10/11/1866 - Advert

“BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, Cradley Heath.

To be Let, with immediate possession, the above well-accustomed Inn. From its proximity to the Market Place, Five Ways, and the great traffic which is continually passing by, renders it a most valuable house of business. The Premises contain Bar, Parlour, Smoke Room, Tap Room, Three Bed Rooms, Club Room, Three excellent Cellars, Kitchen, good Brewhouse, Malt Room, Stable, Piggeries, spacious Yard, &c, and are plentifully supplied with Water. The House, being double-fronted, is well adapted for two trades. Stock, Plant, and Fixtures at valuation. Cause of leaving, illness of the Proprietor. Apply to Mr. Chandler, Publicans' Valuer, &c, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 1/12/1866 - Advert

“BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, Cradley Heath. Clearing-Out Sale.

Mr. Chandler will Sell by Auction, on Monday Next, December 3rd, 1866, at Eleven o'clock.

The valuable Brewing Plant, consisting of 160-gallon, 70-gallon, and 18-gallon Iron Furnaces, with grates and fixings; Two large Deal Ale Vats, about 8ft by 4ft, with refrigerator and lead pipe to cellar; strong 20 strike Mash Tub, Coolers, and other Tubs; also the Stock of superior Cooper's-made seasoned Ale Casks, including One 200-gallon, Eight 130-gallon, Two 120-gallon, and Nine Half-hogshead Ale Casks, all in fine condition; an excellent Malt Crusher, Boarded Floor to Malt Room, 8ft 9in by 6ft 6in; Flight of Steps, and Effects appertaining to a small Brewery, by direction of Mr. H. Harmshaw, who has made arrangements to sell for a large brewery, and has no further use for the same.

The Auctioneer has much pleasure in recommending the above Plant and Stock to the trade, it having been recently laid in regardless of cost, and is in excellent condition.”

County Advertiser 29/6/1867 - Advert

“Wanted, a strong General Servant. One accustomed to a public-house preferred.

Apply at the BULLS HEAD INN, Cradley Heath.”

London Gazette 13/4/1869

“Thomas Westwood, now and for the last nine months of Corngreaves Street, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, in the county of Stafford, Butcher, and previously thereto of the FALCON INN, Lye Waste, near Stourbridge, in the county of Worcester, and then carrying on the business of a Licensed Victualler and Butcher, and previously thereto of the BULLS HEAD INN, High-street, Cradley Heath aforesaid, and then carrying on the business of a Retail Brewer and Butcher, having been adjudged bankrupt under a Petition for adjudication of Bankruptcy, filed in the County Court of Worcestershire, holden at Dudley, on the 22nd day of March, 1869, a public sitting for the said bankrupt to pass his Last Examination, and make application for his Discharge, will be held at the said Court, at Dudley, on the 30th day of April instant, at twelve o'clock at noon precisely, the day last aforesaid being the day limited for the said bankrupt to surrender. The Registrar of the Court is the Official Assignee, and Mr. William Shakespeare, of Oldbury, is the Solicitor acting in the bankruptcy.”

Stourbridge Observer 12/6/1869 - Advert

“Unreserved Sale at the BULLS HEAD INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.

To Publicans, Brokers and Others.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Thomas Homer, on Monday Next, 14th June, 1869, the Possession of the above well-situated Premises, together with the Stock, Brewing Vessels, and Public-house Fixtures, comprising Oak Ale Casks, Wash Tub, Cast-iron Boilers, Ale Coolers, Tubs, Shop Fixtures, 4-pull Ale Machine, Tables, Benches, Jugs, Glasses, Fittings, and part of Household Furniture, belonging to Mr. J. Mason, who is giving up the Business.

Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock.

Auctioneer's Office: Five Ways, Cradley Heath.”

Thomas Burgess = Thomas Burges

Birmingham Daily Post 5/4/1870 - Advert

“Found, a Bull-and-Mastiff Bitch, about 10 months old. The owner may have it by paying expenses. If not owned in three days will be Sold.

Apply to Thomas Burgess, BULLS HEAD, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 27/8/1870

“The annual licensing meeting for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held yesterday.....

The following beerhouse keepers applied for wine and spirit licenses.....

Thomas Burgess, BULLS HEAD, Cradley Heath. Application refused.”

1871 Census

High Street

[1] Thomas Burgess (33), beer seller, born Dudley;

[2] Selena Burgess (30), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] William G. Burgess (10), son, scholar, born Kingswinford;

[4] Ann Timmings (18), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 17/2/1872

“Thomas Evans appeared in answer to a summons, which charged him with being disorderly in the BULLS HEAD public house, Cradley Heath, on the 25th ult, and refusing to leave when required. Mr. Hayes appeared for the landlord, whose name was Thomas Burgess, and Mr. Homer appeared for the defendant.

Mr. Hayes said that the defendant was drinking in prosecutor’s public house on the date referred to, and he (defendant) began using very bad language, and his conduct was very beastly. Defendant was making some very unbecoming remarks about his wife, from whom he was separated. One of the company took it up, when defendant offered to fight anyone in the house. Some members of a club entered the room, and he began an altercation with them. Subsequently the man went into the yard to fight someone, and the landlord ordered him to leave the premises. He refused to go, so the prosecutor turned him out by force. Defendant entered the house again, and commenced using very bad language. He was again ordered out, but refused to go, saying that no one in the place could turn him out. The landlord then again took hold of defendant and ejected him from the house, but in doing so he knocked the defendant’s head against a glass door in the passage. The glass was broken by the blow, and defendant’s head was seriously cut; but this was brought on entirely by the defendant’s refusing to leave the house and his opposition to the landlord, who was determined to put him out in consequence of his bad conduct.

Witnesses were called, whose testimony supported this version of the case.

Mr. Homer urged that there was no case against his client. It was not proved that the defendant was drunk, and there was no doubt that he was very badly used. His client was about to bring an action against the complainant in the County Court for the injuries he had sustained through the ill-usage which he had been subjected to at his hands; and there was no doubt that the prosecutor in this case was taking these proceedings in order to forestall the County Court action, and render it ineffective and useless, if possible, by being able to state there that Evans had been convicted of riotous behaviour in the Police Court.

Witnesses called for the defence then endeavoured to prove that the landlord had interfered with the defendant when he ought not – when, in fact, defendant was perfectly orderly in his conduct, comporting himself like a sober man, as they alleged he was.

The Magistrates were of opinion that he had committed an offence, and fined him sixpence and the costs.”

County Adviser 3/8/1872

“On Saturday last, at Mr. T. Burgess’s, BULLS HEAD INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, a quarterly meeting of the New Grand Junction Company was held for the purpose of settling the accounts of the preceding quarter. An excellent supper was provided. Mr. Arthur Griffiths presided. After the business had been disposed of, the evening was spent agreeably.”

Stourbridge Observer 7/3/1874

“On the evening of the 27th ult, upwards of 20 persons sat down to a convivial supper at the house of Mr. T. Burgess, the BULLS HEAD INN. The host prepared a substantial supper.....”

County Advertiser 14/3/1874 - Advert

“High Street, Cradley Heath. To Publicans and Others.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. T. Homer, on Monday, March 16th, 1874, 5,000 Gallons of Prime Herefordshire Cider and Perry, in splendid condition for Draught or Bottling, removed for convenience of Sale to the Large Yard of Mr. Burgess, BULLS HEAD INN, High Street.

Sale to commence at Eleven o’clock.”

Stourbridge Observer 21/11/1874

“At the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, before Messrs. F. D. L. Smith and H. Howard, George Homer was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the BULLS HEAD INN, Cradley Heath when requested. Samuel Burgess, the landlord, said the summons was taken out for the 15th October 1873, but defendant absconded and was only apprehended on Tuesday night last. On the day in question defendant was drunk in the house, and he requested him to leave. Defendant refused to go, and witness sent for a police constable. Defendant was fined 5s and costs; in default 21 days.”

County Express 24/4/1875 - Advert

“Small Gig, for Pony, to be sold cheap, at T. Burgess’s, BULLS HEAD INN, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 8/5/1875

“Thomas Burgess, landlord of the BULLS HEAD, Cradley Heath, was charged with having on the 2nd and 3rd insts, used threats to his wife, whereby she was afraid he would do her some bodily harm. Mr. Homer prosecuted. The complainant stated that on Sunday night she returned from chapel, and found her husband at home. He, however, left, and did not return till a little before eleven o’clock. The servant then asked him to have his supper. He afterwards got a knife, and said he would cut her (complainant’s) — throat. The servant, however, took the knife from him. The defendant afterwards went upstairs and made use of similar threats, but he had not the knife in his hand. He also threatened her the following day, and she was now afraid he would do her some bodily harm. She had not slept at home since the threats were made use of. Defendant admitted having made use of certain threats to his wife, but said he had been ‘put upon’ by the whole family, and they had tried to do him an injury. He was ordered to find two sureties in £10 to keep the peace.”

County Advertiser 18/3/1876 - Advert

“BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, Cradley Heath.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. S. Leonard, on Monday, March 27th, 1876.

The whole of the Brewing Plant, Public House Fittings and Fixtures, Household Furniture, &c, comprising 5-pull Beer Machine, 4-pull ditto, with piping and taps; quantity of Jugs and Cups, Ale Glasses, Cross-leg Ale Tables, 8 Hogshead Casks, 4 Half-hogs-head ditto, Mash Tub, Wort Vats, 54-gallon Boiler, with door and frame; 180-gallon ditto, with brickwork, &c; Malt Mill, 6 Store Pigs, capital Dog Cart, with lamps and cushions; light Spring Trap, 2 Counters, with mahogany tops; Painted Desk, Mahogany Horsehair-seated Sofa, 6 Mahogany Horsehair-seated Chairs, 2 Mahogany Centre Tables, Imperial Sewing Machine, by Wheeler and Wilson; Kidderminster Carpet, 2 Clocks, and other Effects, belonging to Mr. Thomas Burgess, who is leaving the Premises. Sale at Eleven o'clock in the Morning.

Catalogues may be had of the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath and Halesowen."

Thomas Burgess – see also GEORGE, Old Hill.

County Express 25/8/1877

"After the business of the Petty Sessions had been disposed of the Annual Licensing Sessions were held.....

John Biggs, the BULLS HEAD INN, Cradley Heath, applied for a license to enable him to sell intoxicating liquors either on or off the premises.

Mr. Hayes, who supported the application, said that his client at present held a seven days' beer license but he proposed if the Bench granted his application to discontinue the sale of all intoxicating drinks on Sunday; an arrangement which he thought very desirable.

Mr. Taft, of the TALBOT HOTEL, opposed, on the ground that his business would be injured by the granting of an additional license in the neighbourhood, as there were already a number of public houses in close proximity to this one.

Application refused."

County Advertiser 9/2/1878

"John Finlow, shoemaker, the Stoneyard, Cradley Heath, was brought up on a charge of stealing a silver watch, value £7, the property of Joseph Wilkes, shoemaker, on the 5th inst.

The prosecutor said he lived at Cradley Forge. He knew the defendant, and was with him at the BULLS HEAD INN, Cradley Heath, on the previous day (Tuesday) from about eleven o'clock in the morning till half-past ten at night. At this time he left to go home, and prisoner followed and struck him, knocking him down. When he got up he missed his watch and chain, and could not find it anywhere about. He did not see the prisoner take it, but no one else touched him. He had the watch safe in his waistcoat pocket when he came out of the public house. He went down the road, and on meeting a policeman told him what had occurred, and the officer went with him to the prisoner's house.

Police-constable Sylvester, the officer whom prosecutor met, said he went along with him to the prisoner's house, and demanded admittance, but prisoner refused twice to open his door. On prosecutor speaking to him, however, he admitted them, and Wilkes then gave him into custody on the charge of stealing his watch. Witness charged him with the theft, and he replied, 'You are charging me with that which I know nothing about.' He then said, 'Well, let me see what you've got about you,' and prisoner replying, 'That won't do,' put his hand into his right hand coat pocket, and pulled out the watch by the chain. They were standing in the yard at the back of Finlow's house then, and without saying anything prisoner threw the watch away, and witness heard it drop on an outhouse. Afterwards witness found the watch on the roof of a chainshop close by.

In answer to the Bench, the officer said both prosecutor and prisoner were 'muddled,' though not drunk.

Prisoner denied knowing anything about the watch, and made a statement about some dog-fighting between a dog of the prosecutor's and another. He was committed for trial at the March Assizes."

County Express 23/3/1878

"Staffordshire Spring Assizes.....

John Finlow (on bail) was indicted for feloniously assaulting George Wilkes, on the 5th of February, at the parish of Rowley Regis, and stealing from his person one silver watch and one chain. Mr. Selfe prosecuted, and Mr. Darling defended. It was alleged by the prosecution that prisoner and prosecutor, with other men, were drinking in the BULLS HEAD, Cradley, and that on prosecutor leaving at night prisoner followed, and overtaking him in a quiet neighbourhood, knocking him down and took the watch out of his pocket. The jury found the prisoner not guilty, and he was therefore acquitted."

County Express 17/8/1878 - Notice

"To the Overseers of the Poor of the Parish of Rowley Regis, and to the Superintendent of Police for the Rowley Regis Division of the County of Stafford.

I, John Biggs, Beerhouse Keeper, now residing at the BULLS HEAD INN, situate in High Street, Cradley Heath, in the said Parish of Rowley Regis, and County of Stafford, Do Hereby Give Notice that it is my intention to Apply at the General Annual Licensing Meeting, to be holden at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill, in the said Division and County, on Wednesday, the 11th day of September now next ensuing, for a License or Licenses to Sell by retail under the Intoxicating Liquor Licensing Act, 1828, all Intoxicating Liquors to be consumed either on or off the premises thereunto belonging, situate in High Street, Cradley Heath, in the said Parish of Rowley Regis, and County of Stafford, of which house and premises I am the owner and occupier.

Given under my hand this 9th day of August, 1878.

John Biggs."

County Advertiser 14/9/1878

“Rowley Annual Licensing Session.....

Mr. Wright applied on behalf of John Biggs, the BULLS HEAD, Cradley Heath, for a spirit license; Mr. Waldron opposing. It was refused.”

1881 Census

121, High Street

[1] John Biggs (37), beer retailer, born Dudley;

[2] Ann Biggs (42), wife, born Cradley Heath;

[3] Benjamin Hingley (23), son-in-law, brewer, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Sarah Biggs (13), niece, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Hannah Poole (21), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 16/4/1887

“As reported in our special edition, on Thursday evening in last week, at about twenty minutes to seven o’clock, there was a terrible and fatal explosion of a powder magazine, belonging to Mr. H. Mould, ironmonger, of High Street, Cradley Heath. The building in which the powder was stored was completely wrecked, and five houses situated near had all the window frames blown out. Two children were fatally injured and three others were seriously hurt. Several large plate-glass shop windows belonging to different tradesmen situated on the other side of the street were also shattered.....”

West Bromwich Weekly News 16/4/1887

“Mr. Edwin Hooper, coroner, opened the inquest on Monday afternoon at the BULLS HEAD INN, Cradley Heath, on the bodies of the two children who were killed by the explosion of gunpowder at the back of the shop of Mr. H. Mould, ironmonger, of High Street, Cradley Heath, on Thursday week. Mr. Waldron represented Mr. Mould’s assistant, George E. Millward; and Mr. Shakespeare had been instructed on behalf of Mr. Mould.

A considerable number of people assembled in the vicinity of the public house where the inquest was held, and the collection on behalf of the sufferers was largely augmented during the day, altogether a sum of nearly £20 having now been received.

Thomas Billingham, chainmaker, father of Thomas Lot Billingham, and Thomas Birch, baker, father of Lily Birch, the victims of the explosion, gave evidence of identification, and the Coroner, addressing the jury, then said: It is not my intention to take any further evidence in this case. The case is one of so much importance to the district and the country at large, considering the amount of powder that has exploded and considering the neighbourhood in which the store was situated, that I felt it my bounden duty to lay the whole of the facts before the Home Office. I have arranged with them that they will send their Inspector here, and to attend the adjourned inquiry on Thursday next, I have been obliged to fix the inquiry myself for the convenience of the Home Office, and have fixed next Thursday, at a quarter past one. That is therefore the day to which I am bound to adjourn it. I am sure you will see with me the importance of the case, and that it is one that requires to be thoroughly sifted and investigated. I don’t think we shall have any difficulty in proving how the explosion occurred, but there are certain other matters connected with the case which certainly require investigation.

The inquiry was then adjourned.

The adjourned inquest was resumed on Thursday, when Mr. Waldron, of Brierley Hill, appeared for George Edward Millward, Mr. Mould’s assistant; Mr. W. Shakespeare was present on behalf of Mr. Mould, the proprietor; and Major Condill, RA, (Her Majesty’s Inspector of Explosives) represented the Home Office.

Police Inspector Walters (the inspector of explosives for the district) said the premises of Mr. Mould were registered to store 200lb of gunpowder. The store was a brick building, about 5ft square, roofed with tiles, the inside being cased with wood. The floor was composed of bricks covered with wood. He inspected the magazine on the 5th February last, when he found it in good condition, and had given Mr. Mould advice about having the powder in bags. Mr. Mould promised to see to it. Every recommendation that he had made prior to his suggestion with regard to procuring the powder in bags had been carried out by Mr. Mould.

Isaac Meacham, surveyor, of Cradley Heath, produced a plan of the premises.

George Edward Millward, apprentice in the employ of Mr. Mould, said it was part of his duty to go into the powder store. The key of the store was kept in the shop, and no one excepting his master and himself had access to the store. On Thursday afternoon, about two o’clock, he went into the store to receive a consignment of powder, which had been brought from the Dudley magazine on a trap. It consisted of a barrel containing 100lb and four quarters. The carter carried the powder from the trap to the store, and the large barrel was placed in the far corner on the left hand side. About six o’clock the same evening he again visited the store, for the purpose of supplying a man with two pounds of powder. He found the store in exactly the same condition as when he left in the afternoon. He opened the barrel containing the 100lb with a piece of wood and filled a tin can with the powder. In doing so he spilt about a tablespoonful on the floor. He then locked the magazine up and returned to the shop with the powder, and after serving the customer he went back again to the store. He did not label the parcel ‘gunpowder’ and he was not aware that he was required to do so by law. He had never read the Explosives Act, and was not provided with a copy. When he went back to the store he took a broom with him and swept the powder up that he had previously spilt, and with an iron shovel put it into the large barrel which contained 100lb. He did not know it was dangerous to do so. He knew the powder was used for blasting purposes, but he was not aware that there would be a danger of it exploding whilst being used by miners on account of the grit which was mixed with it. He returned to the shop and in about half an hour afterwards he heard the report of the explosion, and upon going into the yard discovered that the store had been blown up. He was quite clear that he did not sweep the powder from the store into the yard, and he was not able to form any idea as to how the explosion occurred. He was confident that he did not spill any of the powder out of the can whilst conveying it from the store to the shop.

Mr. E. Mould, the proprietor, said he ordered the powder from the traveller on the day previous to the accident. In reply to the Coroner witness admitted that he had never read the Act of Parliament relating to the storage of gunpowder.

William Felton, miner, residing in Waliths Building, said he was walking up the yard to his home on the evening in question, when he saw some children playing with powder on the ground. They were gathering it in small heaps, and setting fire to it with a lighted paper. He cautioned Adam Billingham, and told him that he would have the children injured if he was not careful. The boy, who was about thirteen years of age, disregarded the caution. Shortly afterwards, whilst he was in his own house, he saw Adam Billingham with a lighted paper on the ground about a yard from the magazine. Presently he saw a flash and heard a loud report, and he was knocked down by the force of the explosion. In reply to Mr. Shakespeare, witness said he had resided in that locality eight years, and could testify that Mr. Mould had been very careful in the management of the magazine, and he had never seen loose powder lying about the yard. He attributed the accident entirely to the conduct of Billingham in firing the powder close to the magazine.

Police-sergeant Hayward, who came upon the scene immediately after the explosion, deposed to finding the children among the debris.

Major Condill said he made an examination of the premises. He did not think the magazine was a proper place in which to store 200lbs of powder. The utmost that should have been stored in a place so situated was 50lbs.

The Coroner, in summing up, remarked that if Adam Billingham had been older the matter would have assumed a serious aspect as far as he was concerned, as he would have been guilty of manslaughter. There was no doubt that it was through his act that the children lost their lives. He was astonished that a powder magazine should have been allowed to remain in the midst of a thickly populated neighbourhood; and if the store had been a proper distance away from the dwelling houses in all probability the accident would not have occurred. There had been breaches of the Act of Parliament, but that matter would no doubt be dealt with by the Government Inspector.

The jury ultimately returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and added to it an expression of opinion that the authorities ought to be strongly condemned for allowing such a place to be used as a magazine for storage of gunpowder in such close proximity to inhabited houses.”

Birmingham Daily Post 26/7/1889

“An inquest was held at the BULLS HEAD INN, Cradley Heath, yesterday, by Mr. F. W. Topham (deputy coroner), respecting the death of Lottie Maria Walker, whose parents reside in High Street, Cradley Heath, who died on the 23rd inst, from the effect of injuries caused by some boxes falling upon her, from a Shropshire Union Railway and Canal Company’s wagon, on the 22nd inst. John Beddard said that on the date mentioned he saw a wagon with two horses pass underneath an entry, when a bacon box, containing about 5cwt of bacon, came in contact with the brickwork. The box fell on the deceased, who was running behind the wagon. Joseph Coley, the drayman, said he did not see the child. The child was extricated from its perilous condition by Mr. Allwood. Sergeant Hayward said that on the evening in question, shortly after seven o’clock, he went to the house of the deceased’s father. Dr. Dedenne examined the deceased, and found the back of the head had been severely injured, and also the back and other parts of the body were injured. He understood there were internal injuries. Deceased was unconscious, and died on the 23rd inst. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Express 29/11/1890

“Mr. Edwin Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the BULLS HEAD INN, Cradley Heath, on Monday, respecting the death of Francis Parker (63), watchman and banksman, who had been found dead in an engine-house at Lord Dudley’s No.30 Saltwell’s Colliery.

Deceased had for two years complained of pains in his stomach, but he refused to have medical aid or to take medicine. On the night of the 20th inst he went to work in apparently good health. About half-past nine o’clock he went into the engine-house, and complained to the engine-driver (Edward Guest) that he had violent pains in his stomach, and could not do his work. The fireman (Edward Darby) fetched him some rum, and after drinking it he said he felt better. He afterwards asked the engine-driver to allow him to lie down for a short time. He lay down for about an hour, and was afterwards found dead.

In reply to the Coroner, Guest stated that he was not aware he was committing a breach of the law in permitting the banksman to remain in the engine-house.

The Coroner said it was a breach of the law, and it would be his duty to report the matter to the Government Inspector of Coal Mines.

Witness: I am not aware it is a breach of the law to allow a man who is ill to remain in the engine-house.

The Coroner: As you will no doubt be called upon to make an explanation elsewhere I would advise you to say no more about it. A juryman said he knew it was customary for the banksman to visit the engine-driver in the night time.

The Coroner: It is not for the Coroner’s Court to deal with the customs at collieries.

In reply to further questions from the Coroner witness said it was deceased’s duty to attend to the coke fires, which were about fifty yards from the pits. There were fourteen men at work in the pits on the night in question.

The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes.”

1891 Census

121, High Street – BULLS HEAD INN

[1] John Biggs (47), beerhouse keeper, born Dudley;

[2] Ann Biggs (52), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Sarah Biggs (22), niece, barmaid, born Rowley Regis;

[4] John Hingley (8), grandson, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Pollie Perks (12), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

John Biggs was also a brewer. [1892]

County Advertiser 14/8/1897

“William Billingham, of High Street, Cradley Heath, was charged with damaging a window to the value of 10s, the property of Benjamin Hingley, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, Cradley Heath, on the 5th inst. Police-constable Wynn stated that on the afternoon in question defendant came to him and said, ‘I am going to break that window; I want to be locked up. That man who lives there robbed me of £100.’ He then threw a brick at the window, which completely smashed it. He was fined 10s and costs, and ordered to pay 10s damage.”

County Advertiser 27/5/1899 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, age about 20 years. Apply, Mrs. B. Hingley, BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, Cradley Heath.”

1901 Census

121, High Street

- [1] Benjamin Hingley (43), publican, born Cradley Heath;
- [2] Hannah Hingley (41), wife, born Cradley Heath;
- [3] John Hingley (18), son, teacher, board school, born Cradley Heath;
- [4] Florence Hingley (14), daughter, born Cradley Heath;
- [5] Herbert Hingley (9), son, born Cradley Heath;
- [6] Nellie H. Russell (21), general servant, born Cradley Heath:

County Advertiser 10/8/1901 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, age 18 to 20. Apply Mrs. B. Hingley, BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, Cradley Heath.”

Benjamin Hingley, beer retailer, 121, High Street. [1904]

County Advertiser 12/11/1904 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, age about 20. Apply, Mrs. B. Hingley, BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 15/8/1908

“At Old Hill, on Wednesday, licenses were transferred as follows. The BULLS HEAD, High Street, Cradley Heath, to Hannah Hingley, widow of the late licensee.”

County Express 12/9/1908

“Friendly Societies’ Parade. On Wednesday evening the committee of the above met at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Mr. W. Coley presiding over a large attendance. The following was a complete list of those boxes which contained amounts of 1s and upwards. Mrs. B. Hingley, BULLS HEAD, 5s 6d.”

1911 Census

121, High Street – BULLS HEAD HOTEL

- [1] Hannah Hingley (51), widow, innkeeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Florence Hingley (24), daughter, assisting in business, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Herbert Hingley (19), son, apprenticed electrical engineer, born Rowley Regis:

Hannah Hingley, beer retailer, 121, High Street. [1912]

Birmingham Mail 30/3/1915

“The dead body of Thomas Brittle (36), brewer, of Cradley, was found hanging yesterday afternoon in an outhouse at the BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, Cradley Heath, where he was formerly employed.”

Benoni Buttery, beer retailer, 121, High Street, Cradley Heath. [1916], [1921]

Benoni Buttery – see also BELL and SALUTATION.

Samuel Buttery, beer retailer, 121, High Street. [1924]

A wine license was granted on 3rd March 1937.

Staffordshire Advertiser 1/5/1937

“County justices attending a meeting of the Staffordshire Licensing Confirmation Committee at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Tuesday, had to deal with the heaviest agenda for many years, and it was found impossible to get through the whole of the business in the day. There were no fewer than 36 applications for the confirmation of either provisional licences or removal orders..... Application was made for confirmation of the granting of wine licenses to the following beerhouses.....

BULLS HEAD, High Street, Cradley Heath.....

After hearing evidence by the individual applicants the justices retired, and on their return the Chairman said they had given careful consideration to the applications. It would be appreciated that it was their duty to see that the public were protected to a certain extent. They wished to give all the accommodation, comfort and satisfaction that they could, but at the same time they had to bear in mind their responsibility as a licensing authority. In some of the cases they felt the evidence showed the application was much more justifiable than in others, but they had decided that in all the cases there was sufficient evidence to justify the granting of the application. The licenses would, therefore, be confirmed in every case.”

1939 Register

121, High Street – BULLS HEAD

- [1] John T. Webb, date of birth 24/4/1892, licensed victualler, married;
- [2] Florence Webb, dob 17/2/1893, unpaid domestic duties, married;
- [3] Thomas E. Webb, dob 26/7/1914, clerk, costing department, single;
- [4] Ruby C. (Webb) Neath, dob 31/10/1919, shorthand typist, boiler works, single;
- [5] Kenneth B. Webb, dob 24/4/1928, at school, single;

John Thomas Webb was also a brewer. [1940]

Birmingham Daily Mail 12/7/1956

“A Cradley Heath publican, Henry Herbert Biggins, licensee of the BULLS HEAD INN, High Street, after denying allegations that he narrowly avoided a head-on collision with a stationary police car, was fined £20 at Old Hill yesterday for being in charge of a car while under the influence of drink, and fined £5 for dangerous driving. He was ordered to pay £15 15s costs and was disqualified from driving for a year. The prosecution alleged that shortly after midnight on June 22, Biggins was seen to drive erratically. He headed straight for a police car on his offside, making a late swerve to avoid it. The police car pursued and stopped Biggins, who, it was alleged, walked unsteadily. A doctor certified him unfit to be in charge of a car. Submitting that the accused should be given the benefit of the doubt, Mr. A. Williams, defending, said that Biggins was tired after a hard day’s work and became confused when confronted with being arrested and taken to a police station.”

Henry Herbert Biggins – see also KINGS ARMS, Rowley Regis; MARKSMAN, West Bromwich; and BOAT, Darlaston.

It closed c.1963.

BULLS HEAD

1, Dudley Road, Springfield, (Tippetty Green), ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Ferdinando Dudley Lea-Smith
Thomas Benjamin Williams and Lizzie Bate, Rowley Regis
Ansells Ltd. (acquired in 1946)
Sue Whittall and Mark Franks [1997]

LICENSEES

Joseph Bowater [1834] – [1856]
Mrs. Eliza Bowater* [1857] – [1860]
Elizabeth Bowater* [1861] – [1865]
William Henry Hingley [1868] – [1870]
William James Hingley [1867] – [1874]
William Williams [1875] – [1875]
Thomas Benjamin Williams [1875]
Thomas William Williams [1877] – 1904;
Howard Woodhouse (1904 – 1909);
Simeon Dunn (1909 – [1912]

Gertrude Fletcher (1913 – []
John Hughes [1916] – 1932);
Jess Smith (1932 – 1936);
Richard Hughes (1936 – 1955);
George Thomson McBride (1955 – 1959);
Richard Henry James Reeves (1959 – 1960);
Stanley Clarke Withers (1960 – 1961);
John Smith (1961 – [1965]
Violet Bent (1967 – []
Tony Brinton (1976 – []
Graham Tolley (1997 – []
Harginder Singh [2013]
Andrew McCarter [2015]

NOTES

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 12/1/1835 - Advert

“Public Acknowledgment.

Whereas Indictments were preferred and true bills found against us, the undersigned Joseph Bowater, of Tippetty Green, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, butcher, and Charles Haywood, of Dudley, in the county of Worcester, butcher, at the last Shrewsbury Sessions, for a misdemeanour in having in part demolished the Turnpike Gate at Oldbury, and broken off the locks, and the Prosecutor at our request has kindly promised to withdraw the Indictments on our thus publicly acknowledging our offence, and paying the sum of Ten Pounds. We hereby acknowledge ourselves guilty of the above offence, and express our thanks to the prosecutor for his lenity, and promise not to be guilty of a like offence in future.

X The mark of Joseph Bowater.

X The mark of Charles Haywood.

Dated the second of January, 1835.”

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 8/2/1841 - Advert

“Eight Freehold Dwelling Houses and Premises, at Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Newbold, at the house of Mr. Joseph Bowater, called the BULLS HEAD INN, at Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, on Tuesday the 16th day of February inst, at six o'clock in the evening.....”

1841 Census

Tippetty Green

[1] Joseph Bowater (50), butcher, born Staffordshire;

[2] Elizabeth Bowater (50);

[3] William Cooper (20), ms, born Staffordshire;

[4] Catherine Hargrove (25), fs;

[5] John Crosley (35), labourer;

[6] Elijah Wright (20), labourer;

[7] Thomas Hopwell (20), labourer:

Wolverhampton Chronicle 9/7/1845

“On Wednesday last an inquest was held at the BULLS HEAD, Tippetty Green, Rowley Regis, on the body of Joseph Slater, a boy about eleven years of age, whose death was caused the day before by an explosion of fire damp, which took place in one of the pits of Lord Ward, in which he worked. It is the practice in the mine in which the accident occurred to make a thorough examination twice a day, to detect, if possible, the existence of fire damp. This was done on the 30th of June last, by the manager of the pit, and no trace of foul air could be discovered. There were two sons of the manager of the pit working with the lad in a remote part of the mine, and it is supposed that in their operations with the pick a crevice was opened and a rush of foul air took place, followed by instant explosion, when the poor boy was dreadfully burnt, and his companions also received serious injuries. The father of the deceased usually worked in the same part of the mine with his son, but fortunately at the time of the accident was on the bank, and escaped the danger. The coroner and jury were particular in their inquiries as to the adoption of proper precautions on the part of the manager of the mine, but no blame whatever was found to attach to him, every part of the pit having been explored with the safety lamp that day. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 3/9/1845

“Inquests before G. Hincliffe, Esq, Coroner.....

On Wednesday, the 27th of August, at the BULLS HEAD INN, Tippetty Green, Rowley Regis, on the body of George Kyte, a miner, employed in Mr. Richard Davis's coal pit. It appeared that a quantity of coal fell on deceased while at work on the Wednesday, and killed him on the spot. Verdict, Accidental Death.”

Birmingham Journal 10/1/1846

“On Friday se’night an accident happened to a poor woman, named Phoebe Darby, who was drowned by falling into the canal. We learn from the evidence which was adduced before the Jury, that she had gone from Rowley Regis to Dudley, to receive her parish pay; and when returning to Rowley at night, between six and seven o’clock, by a bye road through some of the works, she fell over one of the temporary bridges which cross the canal, and was drowned. A boatman, who was passing at the time, heard a splash in the water, and immediately gave the alarm, when the poor old woman’s basket was discovered floating upon the canal. The body of the deceased was afterwards taken out, but life was extinct. An inquest was held over the body on Saturday last, at the house of Mr. Bowater, BULLS HEAD, when the Jury returned a verdict of Found Drowned.”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 19/8/1846

“On Thursday evening an inquest was held at the BULLS HEAD, Rowley, before George Hinchliffe, Esq, coroner, on the body of Joseph Silvester. It appeared that the deceased was working in a coal pit belonging to Messrs. Spittle and Haines, and on Thursday morning, while he was at work, a quantity of coal fell upon him, and killed him on the spot. It appearing that it was quite accidental, the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 11/8/1847 - Advert

“Valuable Building Land, Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Francis Lea, on Tuesday, the 31st day of August, 1847, unless previously disposed of by Private Treaty, of which notice will be given, at the house of Mr. Joseph Bowater, the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley Regis, at the hour of 5 o’clock in the afternoon, and in one or more Lots as may be agreed upon at the time of sale, and subject to such conditions as will be then and there produced.....”

Joseph Bowater was also a butcher. [1849]

1851 Census

Tippetty Green

- [1] Joseph Bowater (64), vittler and butcher, born Rowley;
- [2] Elizabeth Bowater (66), wife, born Birmingham;
- [3] Luke Lashford (21), servant, butcher, born Birmingham;
- [4] Hannah Bate (29), general servant, born Halesowen;
- [5] Sarah Morris (27), general servant, born Tipton;
- [6] John Smart (14), general servant, born Dudley;
- [7] William Bowater (40), visitor, born Rowley:

Staffordshire Advertiser 10/5/1851

“Joseph Bowater and C. Cliffe, licensed victuallers, of Rowley Regis, were each fined, the former 10s, the latter 5s, and costs, for having their houses open otherwise than for the accommodation of travellers, during divine service on Sunday, 27th of April.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 7/1/1852

“Joseph Bowater, Rowley Regis (BULLS HEAD), was fined 20s and costs, for permitting drunkenness and disorderly conduct in his house on the 30th ult.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 29/8/1855

“Wordsley Public Office, Monday, August 10. Before W. Trow, Esq.

Joseph Bowater, landlord of the BULLS HEAD, Rowley Regis, was fined 10s and costs, for having his house open at illegal hours on Sunday, 19th inst. William Humphries, of the HORE SHOE INN, for a similar offence on the same day, was fined 5s and costs. Thomas Llewellyn, a beer-house keeper, also of Rowley Regis, was fined 2s 6d and costs, for selling beer after eleven o’clock on the 22nd.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 12/9/1855

“The adjourned licensing meeting was held at the Public-office, Wordsley, on Monday last.

Four publicans, whose licenses had been suspended at the annual meeting at Stewponey on account of complaints made against them, again appeared. They were Joseph Bowater, BULLS HEAD, Rowley Regis.....

After a strong caution from the bench, their licenses were renewed.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 10/9/1856

“At It Again. Joseph Bowater, a victualler, of Rowley Regis, was charged with having his house open during service on Sunday, the 31st ult. Defendant, who has often been convicted before, was fined 15s and costs.”

County Advertiser 8/11/1856

“Joseph Bowater, of Rowley Regis, was fined 15s and costs for having his house open on Sunday morning the 26th ult.”

Joseph Bowater died on 16th January 1857.

*probably the same person

County Advertiser 26/9/1857

“The license of Mrs. Bowater, innkeeper, at Rowley Regis, was, after a caution to the effect that she must keep her house more respectable than heretofore, granted.....

These cases were suspended at the last general licensing day.”

Birmingham Daily Post 18/4/1859

“On Wednesday an inquest was held at Mrs. Bowater's, the BULLS HEAD INN, before G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, on the body of John Porter, a miner, thirty years of age. It appeared that on the preceding Monday deceased, working in Lord Ward's pit, was taking a knock or support from under some coals which were required to be taken down. This support was about six feet square, and deceased had got about half-way through it, when at least a boat-load of coals came down from the roof. The mass fell upon the poor man, and breaking his back and both his legs, killed him on the spot. There was a tree under the coals and the witnesses stated that it was usual to cut partly through the support with a pike and then to remove the remainder with a pick-axe. They attributed the fall of the coal to what is called a ‘slip thing’ behind. This coming down broke the support which deceased had cut half through. It did not appear that criminal blame attached to any person. The doggy stated that they knew of the slip, and that he was at the place just before the coals fell. The Coroner, in the course of his remarks to the Jury, addressing the doggy, told him that he thought it was his duty to have staid and seen them taken down. A verdict of Accidental Death was then returned.”

1861 Census

Tippetty Green – Public House

[1] Elizabeth Bowater (77), publican, born Birmingham;

[2] Ruth Parish (23), house servant, born Dudley;

[3] John Clark (20), boarder, stone dresser, born Dudley:

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 15/10/1870 - Deaths

“On the 7th inst, at her granddaughter's, Oldbury, in her 86th year, Elizabeth, wife of Joseph Bowater, formerly of the BULLS HEAD, Rowley; deeply regretted.”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 1/11/1865

“On Wednesday an inquest was held before Mr. E. Hooper, Coroner, at the BULLS HEAD, Rowley, on the body of Henry Parkes, who was killed at the Gawn Colliery (Mr. W. Mills's) at seven o'clock on the previous Saturday night. Mr. Homfray appeared for Mr. Mills, and Mr. Addison for the friends of the deceased. On Saturday night last the deceased, after having his share of ‘reckoning drink’ on the pit bank, went to the office and received his wages. On coming from the office he is supposed to have mistaken his direction, in consequence of his being unable to see well in the dark after leaving the light in the office, and he walked right into the mouth of the pit, and of course fell to the bottom, a depth of 200 yards. Several of the men about saw him fall, but he had taken the fatal step before they could warn him of his danger. His body was a shapeless mass at the bottom of the pit, and had to be taken home in a bag. The inquest was adjourned for a week.”

Birmingham Daily Post 2/11/1865

“An adjourned inquest was held at the BULLS HEAD, Perry's Lake, yesterday, before Mr. E. Hooper, Coroner, touching the death of Henry Parkes (44), collier, who met with his death through falling down a coal pit on the 21st ultimo. On that day, the deceased and several others who all worked for Mr. Mills, of Gornal, went to the office to receive their wages. Deceased left the office first, and walked towards the pit, to pay his club money. One of the men heard a sound, and immediately missing deceased, some tackle was procured, and a miner named Edwards and another man descended and brought deceased from the bottom of the shaft. He was quite dead. The pit according to the witnesses' statements, was fenced all round, and was not at work. A man and a boy have both lost their lives previously by falling down the same pit. After the first inquest, the Coroner and Jury went to view the pit. At the adjourned inquest, yesterday, Mr. Baker, Government Inspector of Mines, was present, and also Mr. Homfray, solicitor, with Mr. Mills, on behalf of the proprietors of the colliery.

Some further evidence was taken of the state of the fencing round the pit, and William Morgan, the banksman of the pit, was called by Mr. Homfray. He stated that the pit was in the same state when the Jury saw it as at the time of the accident.

Mr. Mills was also sworn, and deposed to the same circumstance, and promised that new iron railing should be placed round it.

The Coroner summed up, impressing upon the Jury the fact that there was no evidence as to how the deceased got into the pit. If they were of opinion that the pit was properly fenced, the death, of course, would be accidental; but if they thought that the pit was not properly fenced, they would leave the matter in the hands of the Government Inspector.

The Jury retired for ten minutes, and then returned a verdict of Accidental Death, accompanied with the opinion that the pit was not properly fenced at the time.”

possibly the same person

Stourbridge Observer 28/9/1867

“William James Hingley, landlord of the BULLS HEAD, Tippetty Green, was charged by Superintendent Mills with unlawfully and knowingly permitting drunkenness in his house on the 9th instant.

Police-sergeant Powner said that he visited the defendant's house after eleven o'clock. He found about forty men in the house, several of whom were quite drunk. Two of the men were playing at dominoes, and four others at cards. About one o'clock in the morning he heard great screaming at the defendant's house, and some person shouting 'Murder'. He visited the house again just before two o'clock, and there was fighting going on, the defendant taking no notice. Defendant admitted that there were a number of persons 'fresh,' but he did what he could to get them out. Fined 5s and costs."

Dudley Herald 9/1/1869

"At the Rowley Hall Colliery, belonging to Messrs. Wright and North, the management, a short time ago, introduced a system of working by which the employees were to be paid by the ton, and by 'gate road'. This alteration has not met with the approval of the miners, and the consequence was that, on Saturday last, a 'turn out' took place. Yesterday morning a meeting of the men recently employed at the colliery took place at the BULLS HEAD INN, Tippetty Green. Mr. Breakwell (miners agent) was in attendance, and in addressing the meeting, stated that by the new system the men were unable to carry anything like a sufficient amount to maintain themselves. Several other speakers followed, and the general tenor of the speeches was in favour of a resistance. A resolution was passed pledging the men to oppose to the utmost the terms imposed, and another to the effect that the men had no particular objection to work on the tonnage system, providing a good and reasonable price was given. Several votes of thanks were passed, and the meeting soon after dispersed."

Stourbridge Observer 28/8/1869

"William James Hingley was charged by Edward Thomas, Supervisor, with neglecting to enter on his brewing paper, the time he was going to brew, whereby he had incurred a penalty of £200. Mr. Stokes defended.

Mr. Thomas said the defendant was charged with not entering his brewing on the brewing paper 24 hours previous to brewing, whereby he had made himself liable to a penalty of £200. The Supervisor of Solihull had visited the defendant's house, and found the entry had not been made, and the defendant had brewed.

Mr. Stokes said defendant pleaded guilty, and there was no fraud contemplated against the revenue; but defendant had made himself liable to the penalty through negligence. He might say that defendant's wife had been ill, and the defendant had been sitting up with her all night, and in consequence lay down to rest himself for a short time. Previous to so doing, he had told his man to go on with the brewing, which was done while he was asleep.

Mr. Thomas said he could not say it was done to defraud, but believed it was, and that was the reason why he was summoned. The Bench fined defendant to the mitigated penalty of £50, and intimated that they would further memorialize the Board of Inland Revenue to reduce it to 20s."

The Sportsman 23/10/1869

"J. Howles, of Rowley, and W. Baker, of Blackheath, run 100 yards, for £5 a side, on Monday next. They have to make good their final deposit to the stakeholder, Mr. Hingley, BULLS HEAD, Rowley, this (Saturday) evening. On the mark at three o'clock."

1871 Census

Tippetty Green – BULLS HEAD

- [1] William J. Hingley (32), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Ann Maria Hingley (25), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Caroline M. Hingley (7), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William H. Hingley (4), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mary Hingley (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis:

Stourbridge Observer 27/5/1871

"An inquest was held at the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, on Tuesday, before Mr. Hooper, Coroner, on the body of William Hipton, a sinker, who came to his death in the following manner. It appears that on Saturday he was employed at No.2 Pit, the property of Mr. Samuel Minton, at Turners Hill, and whilst picking up a scaffold he fell through a distance of 20 yards, and was instantaneously killed. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

Stourbridge Observer 21/2/1874

"William James Hingley, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, was charged with a similar offence [being open during prohibited hours] on the 8th inst.

Police-constable Cooper said he visited defendant's house on the above date at 5.40pm and found a man and a woman there. The landlady was warming some ale. The man gave the name of Joseph Whitehouse of Dudley. Defendant's wife said the two people said they were travellers, and she was getting them something to eat and drink, when the officer came in. Joseph Whitehouse also gave evidence. The case was dismissed."

Dudley Herald 7/3/1874

"Unreserved Sale at the BULLS HEAD, Tippetty Green near Rowley Regis the whole of the excellent brewing plant, well seasoned hogshead and half-hogshead ale casks, 350 gallon store cask, 2 and a half pockets fine Farnham and Worcester hops, malt, whiskey, stock of old and fresh ale, crossleg and oblong tables, rail back benches and forms, quantity of chairs, 4-pull beer machine, tap tables, malt crusher, iron boilers, vats, coolers, fowls, stock of hay &c, together with the neat and clean household furniture....."

Stourbridge Observer 27/6/1874

"William James Hingley, landlord of the BULLS HEAD, Tippetty Green, Rowley, was charged by Police-sergeant Walters with selling ale during prohibited hours on the night of the 13th inst, to wit, at 20 minutes to twelve.

Defendant's wife pleaded not guilty.

Police-constable Jackson said that he visited the defendant's house at twenty minutes to twelve o'clock, when he heard some persons laughing and talking. Witness pushed the door, but it was fastened. He got over the wall and found several men sitting in the bar, and some women. Cole had a glass of liquors, as also had a man named Joseph Baker. A woman named Priest had a stone bottle full of ale. He went to the front door, and met the woman coming out. Witness told Mrs. Hingley of it. She said the ale was filled before eleven o'clock. Witness saw the bottle filled.

Defendant said it was club night, and there was a dispute over a bondsman, and could not help it.

Sergeant Mills said defendant had been previously convicted; although it had been some time since.

The Bench considered it a bad case, and fined defendant 20s and costs."

County Express 4/7/1874

"Elizabeth Priest, Joseph Baker, Joseph Radfern, John Parks, and David Cole were charged with being in the BULLS HEAD INN, Blackheath, after eleven o'clock at night on the 13th of June. Police-constable Jackson found the defendants in the house at twenty minutes to twelve o'clock on the Saturday night in question. Elizabeth Priest was leaving the house with a bottle of beer in her hands. Last week, the landlord, Mr. Hingley, was fined 20s and costs for having his house open after eleven o'clock. Defendants were each fined 6d and costs."

Dudley Guardian 4/7/1874

"Important Meeting of Colliers at Dudley.

On Monday morning a district meeting, representing forty-five lodges belonging to the Dudley district, was held at the Central Lodge House, SHAKESPEARE INN, New Mill Street, Dudley.

Mr. Joseph Lee occupied the chair, and in opening the proceedings, he said he should have been glad to have met the delegates under more gratifying circumstances, but it appeared that they could not turn back. How long the struggle would last it was not for him to say; in fact, he did not know. It rested with the delegates who represented the men to say what was the feeling of their constituents – whether they were disposed to play on, or go to work at the reduction – (cries of 'No'). The masters, by their conduct, did not seem disposed to give way, or offer any conciliatory terms; but the men, on the other hand, wanted to have the dispute amicably and honourably settled They had carried on the fight for thirteen weeks.....

The reports from each delegate were then verbally given.....

No.2 Lodge, BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley; 90 members. Men are determined to continue the struggle until the masters pay the old rate of wages or refer the point to some arbitrator. The men at work regularly pay the levy, and are doing all they can to secure a victory for the men out on strike."

[The consensus was overwhelmingly to remain on strike.]

County Express 27/2/1875

"A week ago, the whole of the hands employed at Messrs. Dalton and Co., Rowley, Pipeworks, went out on strike, in consequence of notice being served on them that their day's labour would be extended from nine hours to ten.....

On the 17th inst, a mass meeting of pipemakers was held at the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley Regis, when a resolution was passed, pledging them not to return to work until the extension of hours was withdrawn.

On the 22nd inst, a similar meeting was held at the same place A resolution was carried unanimously not to return to work until they could do so on the same system upon which they had been working hitherto, namely, nine hours per day."

Midland Counties Evening Express 30/3/1875

"Yesterday, a large meeting of Messrs. Dalton and Co's workmen, who are now on strike, in consequence of their employers insisting on their working the ten instead of nine hours, was held at the BULLS HEAD INN. The meeting unanimously decided to 'strike on' rather than submit."

Midland Counties Evening Express 29/5/1875

"On Monday last the men locked out at the manufactory of Messrs. Doulton and Co., sanitary drain and pipe makers, held a meeting at the BULLS HEAD, Rowley, and resolved not to return to work except upon the old scale, namely nine hours per day and the previous rate of wages."

possibly the same person

Thomas Benjamin Williams was born on 6th August 1844, at Glasbury on Wye, Radnorshire.

He married Alice Susannah Darby on 8th September 1874 at Rowley Church.

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

15th August 1875 - Ella Mary, daughter of Thomas Benjamin and Alice Susannah Williams, publican, Tippetty Green.

Black Country Bugle 16/1/2003

'Tippetty Green - The Tromans Family - And The Rowley Quarries' by Peter Goddard

"The BULLS HEAD was a little more upmarket thanks largely to the efforts of Thomas Benjamin Williams and his wife

Thomas had left the quarries to take the tenancy of the BULLS HEAD and it was here that their two children were born – Lizzie and Thomas Benjamin Jnr. The pub prospered much to the reported displeasure of the Levett family who were running the PORTWAY TAVERN One night the windows of the BULLS HEAD were mysteriously smashed. The following night, Thomas, always called Master by his wife, was seen leaving his pub with a poker up his sleeve, and setting out over Allsops Hill. The following day it was reported that the windows of the PORTWAY TAVERN had been broken during the hours of darkness! The BULLS HEAD suffered no further damage.

Having worked in the quarries Thomas knew the hardships the local families suffered and during very severe periods he would send a cart to Old Hill Bakery for a load of bread which he distributed free of charge to his customers.

.....The pub continued to improve its trade and Thomas eventually purchased the freehold and began to brew his own beer. The business made rapid progress and Thomas purchased other pubs in the area, including the WHEATSHEAF at Turners Hill and the GRANGE in Rowley Village. They had 14 pubs in all and to meet the demand they built a bigger brewery on land to the rear of 'The Turnpike' immediately opposite the BULLS HEAD. Williams' Fine Rowley Ales continued at the Rowley Brewery until 1st November 1927 when they began to purchase beers from the Holt Brewery of Birmingham. Thomas (Jnr) had taken over the business when his father died in 1908. Anells Brewery bought out the Holt Brewery and being keen to expand further, made a bid for young Thomas' business. After protracted negotiations an 'attractive' offer was finally made and accepted and the enterprising business of T. W. Williams and their Fine Rowley Ales finally came to an end....."

T. W. Williams – Rowley Brewery was situated here.

It ceased brewing on 1st November 1927.

County Advertiser 23/10/1875

"Mr. William Williams, the landlord of the BULLS HEAD, Rowley Regis, was yesterday charged at the Dudley Police Court, before Messrs. Fisher and Tilley, with 'having in his possession certain moneys amounting to £16 15s 6d of a certain friendly society called, 'The Miners' Association of the Dudley District,' held at the SHAKESPEARE INN, New Mill Street, and the sick and accident friendly society of the said association, duly established according to law, unlawfully did withhold the same from the said society and had not paid the same or any part of it thereof to the treasurer of the said society.' Mr. Waldron prosecuted on behalf of the association, and Mr. Underhill (instructed by Mr. Sheldon) defended.

Mr. Waldron opened the case, and said the money was made up of subscriptions from the members of the lodge at the BULLS HEAD.

Reuben Lovell said he was general secretary of the association.

Mr. Underhill, interrupting, said he wanted to see any rule which compelled Mr. Williams to pay over the money.

Mr. Waldron and Mr. Barradale said the defendant was charged with unlawfully withholding the money.

The witness then put in the rules which had been duly enrolled. No.2 lodge was held at Rowley, and William Hollies was the secretary, but he did not know who was the treasurer. He had received money from No.2 lodge, but it was for all sorts of delegates appointed by the lodge to bring the money.

Mr. Underhill said he would admit that, but he held that the defendant was not bound to account to the particular society. The prosecution had only proved at present that No.1 lodge paid money, and not the defendant.

Witness, continuing, put in the book showing that the No.2 lodge was an offshoot of the general association. At the time the charge related to there were 46 lodges. William Guest was the trustee of the general association, and with him were William Thomas and Henry Higgins.

Mr. Underhill then produced, according to the demand of Mr. Waldron, a subscription book of No.2. Mr. Underhill said his client had a receipt. He should prove in a few minutes that the defendant had only to pay over to his own trustees. Mr. Underhill here offered some rules but Mr. Waldron objected unless the original rules were put in.

The rules being admitted, Mr. Underhill said each lodge was independent as to the conduct of the business, and his client had paid over to Mr. Davis, Mr. Tibbetts, and Mr. Hill; and if the association had any charge, it was against the trustees. But there had been a dispute, into which they need not go. Mr. Barradale said it appeared to him that there was only one society in law, and that was the one at the SHAKESPEARE.

Mr. Underhill said he was not arguing that altogether. He was arguing that each lodge had the right to conduct its own business, and that Mr. Williams was only responsible to his own trustees.

The Bench said that according to Mr. Underhill there should be 46 lots of trustees.

Mr. Underhill said that all connection the No.2 lodge had with the SHAKESPEARE was in subscribing to the burial fund. They did not subscribe to the sick and accident fund, having the same under their own control.

Mr. Waldron: The witness said that was not so, and the latter added that No.2 lodge had received benefit for the sick and accidents.

Witness, cross-examined, said No.2 lodge paid their own sick, but in March, 1875, the income for No.2 lodge was £3, and the outcome was £4 1s.

Mr. Underhill said that related to burials.

Witness, continuing, said he had never received a penny from the defendant. The money always came by delegates.

David Parkes, miner, Kates Hill, a member of No.2 lodge, said the defendant was treasurer of the lodge, and the money was handed over to him. That was for death and sick.

Mr. Underhill said the only question was, had the defendant the money in hand? If he had not, there could be no order made on him, whether he had given it over to the trustees legally or not. The question should have been tried at the County Court.

Mr. Waldron said the defendant had paid over the money to someone after the summons was issued, but there could be no trustees except those at the SHAKESPEARE.

William Collis, secretary, said they paid their sick at No.2 lodge, and what balance there was was sent on to the SHAKESPEARE.

Defendant had nothing in hand now, but before the summons was taken out he had in hand £19 3s 10d. Then the trustees of the No.2 lodge gave him orders to pay it over to them. Then they paid the money over to witness, who was to keep it until there was another treasurer.

Mr. Barradale said it was plain that defendant was no proper legal officer, and only received the money gratuitously. He had, in accordance with a notice from the trustees, paid it over to them, thereby giving a reasonable account of the money. Still the magistrates ought not to be played with, and some arrangement should be made as to the prompt settlement of the money.

Mr. Waldron submitted that the treasurer had not paid the money over in the usual way, but given it to so-called trustees, and not the delegates.

Mr. Barradale thought there was an answer to the case, that the defendant had not the money, but it would be well if there was no further passing over of the money.

Mr. Waldron said he would take out a summons against Hollier.

Mr. Underhill asked that the three men, Tibbetts, Hill, and another, should hold the money.

Mr. Waldron objected, and after a long discussion, Joseph Tibbetts demanded the money from the secretary, and it was given up to him, on the understanding that Tibbetts would be summoned. The case was then dismissed, it being understood that it would be re-heard."

County Advertiser 25/12/1875

"Joseph Mills, licensed victualler, Dudley, and William Davis, also a Dudley tradesman, were charged with stealing a shovel, the property of Levi Law, on the 10th inst. Mr. Stokes defended.

Nancy Darby, domestic servant, said she borrowed a shovel like the one produced by Levi Law. She used it to get some coal in, and left it inside of a palisading in the road for a few minutes. It was gone when she returned.

William Williams, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, said that the defendants came to his house on the 10th inst. Davis had the shovel produced with him, and he offered to sell it to witness for 1s 6d. He accepted the offer.

Levi Law said he lent a shovel like the one produced to the witness Darby. Could not identify it by any mark but believed it to be his. Cross-examined: Had not been to defendants and asked for 10s and 1s paid to the constable to settle it.

Mr. Stokes, on behalf of Mills, contended that there was no evidence in support of the charge against him. He therefore asked the Bench to dismiss the case, which they did. He said that the defendant Davis was a very respectable tradesman of Dudley. On the day in question he was at Rowley on business, and there being snow on the ground, engaged in a game of snowballing. In the course of the game he discovered the shovel produced lying in the road, and at a long distance from where the witness Darby said she put it. As a 'lark' he did a very foolish thing, viz, took it to the witness Williams's house, and, stating that he had found it, sold it to him for the sum stated. He contended the shovel produced was not the one belonging to Law, or, if it was, it had been removed previous to its discovery by the defendant. He contended that the defendant acted with no felonious intent. The Bench dismissed the charge also on the ground of insufficient evidence."

County Express 22/1/1876

"William Jones for refusing to quit the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, on the 18th May, 1875, was fined 20s and costs."

County Advertiser 14/4/1877

"James Haywood, a stone quarry labourer, was charged with being disorderly at the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, on the 2nd inst, and with refusing to leave when ordered to do so by the landlady, Mrs. Williams. Mr. Addison defended.

Mrs. Williams stated that defendant became very disorderly, and refused to leave when she ordered him.

Defendant was then charged with doing wilful damage to a table and a quantity of cups and glasses, the property of Thomas William Williams. It was shown that while in the house he damaged the property of the landlord to the amount of 7s 6d by kicking a table, breaking five glasses, a jug, and some cups.

There was also a charge preferred against him and against William Dingley, stone quarry labourer, of assaulting William Hollis with intent to do him grievous bodily injury, at the same time and place as in the above charges.

The prosecutor said he was a brewer's agent. On the date above given he went to Mrs. Williams's house, and a glass of ale was supplied to him. While he was drinking it Haywood came up to him and said, 'I'll give you a punch in the eye.' Witness asked him why he would do so, and he said, 'It's your fault that my brother's out of the society.' Witness told him that if he hit him he would make him pay for it, and defendant then struck him, knocked him down, and kicked him severely. Dingley also came to his (defendant's) assistance, and assaulted him.

Cross-examined: It was not true that Dingley tried to get Haywood away from him.

A witness named Stringer gave evidence corroborating prosecutor's statement as to Haywood assaulting him, but stated that he did not see Dingley strike or kick him.

A servant of Mrs. Williams also gave supporting evidence.

For the defence Mr. Addison submitted that there was a general drunken row at the public house, and whatever took place was the result of it. He called no witnesses.

The Magistrates considered all the cases proved, and decided as follows: Haywood for being disorderly, fined 5s and costs, or fourteen days; for damaging the property, 7s 6d damages, 6d fine and costs, or twenty-eight days' imprisonment; Dingley, for assaulting Hollis, 2s 6d and costs, or fourteen days."

Cambrian News 22/8/1879

"List of Visitors. Aberystwyth.

Union Street. Mr. F. W. Williams, BULLS HEAD, Rowley Regis, near Dudley."

Dudley Herald 15/11/1879

“Charles Morris was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of Thomas William Williams, BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, on the 3rd inst. Mr. Joseph Stokes defended.

PC Styles said he visited the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, on the evening in question, and saw the defendant there lying on a bench asleep. He was drunk. He told the landlady and landlord that the defendant was asleep. He awoke the defendant, who got up and went out cursing and swearing. Cross-examined by Mr. Stokes: Witness would not undertake to swear that he told the landlord defendant was drunk. After being cautioned by Mr. Stokes witness said he did not, neither did he say anything to anyone in the house that the defendant was drunk.

Mr. Stokes said that Styles went into the house and said to the landlord, ‘Oh, you’re up to your old games again.’ He contended that Styles should have told the landlord that the defendant was drunk. He was sure that the police officer had made a serious blunder, and after the Bench had heard the witnesses he proposed to call he asked that they would dismiss the case.

Thomas William Williams, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, said when PC Styles came in he said, ‘Oh, you’re up to your old games again; you’ll have to be off to Old Hill.’ Defendant was there with his wife. He finished his ale and went home with her.

Thomas Retford said he was at the BULLS HEAD on the 13th inst, and saw Morris and his wife come in. Morris had a pint of ale. Some persons were lifting bricks, and Morris was sitting on a bench, with his arm resting on a table, looking at them. He was perfectly sober, was not asleep, and did not speak to the police officer at all.

Charles Dovey said he was at the BULLS HEAD, and saw Morris come in. He was sober. When PC Styles came in witness was picking up some bricks and Morris was watching him. Morris was perfectly sober and not asleep.

Mr. Stokes said he had five other witnesses for the defence.

The Bench said it was not necessary to call any more. Case dismissed.”

Birmingham Daily Post 17/11/1879 - Advert

“If the Broken Gig, left at BULLS HEAD, Rowley Regis, is not Claimed before 25th of November, it will be Sold to defray expenses.”

County Advertiser 15/5/1880

“Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the BULLS HEAD, Rowley, on Monday last, touching the death of Samuel Hadley, aged 65, blacksmith, who committed suicide on Saturday last. Deceased had been ailing for some time. He was last seen alive about twenty past six in the morning, and shortly after was found by his daughter lying in an outhouse with a piece of rope by his side. The man was dead, and there was mark round his neck as if caused by a rope. A verdict of committed Suicide whilst in a state of Temporary Insanity, was returned.”

1881 Census

Dudley Road – BULLS HEAD

[1] Thomas W. Williams (36), licensed victualler, born Glasbury, Radnorshire;

[2] Alice S. Williams (29), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Ella M. Williams (5), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Florence Williams (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Lizzie Williams (7 months), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Louisa Plant (14), general servant, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Hannah Horton (14), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Daily Post 1/5/1885

“An inquest was held yesterday, before Mr. E. Hooper, at the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley Regis, relative to the death of Benjamin Atkins (16). Deceased, who was employed as a horse-driver, at the Rowley Hall Colliery, was working in the pit on the 25th inst, when, in consequence of the horse of which he was in charge slipping, he got crushed between a tree and the tub, thereby receiving fatal injuries. Mr. Scott, Government inspector of mines, said that the Act of Parliament had not been infringed, and that the boy ought to have been in his place behind the tub. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

County Express 14/7/1888

“Quarrymen’s Strike.

On Wednesday last, the stone-setmakers employed at the Rowley Hailstone and Lake Quarries struck, owing to a dispute with reference to a new system recently introduced for the performance of their work. At a meeting of the men, held at the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley – Mr. John Price – presiding – it was explained that the new system was a disadvantage to the men. Formerly the men had to work the ‘box,’ being allowed a quarter of an inch above the ‘box;’ but they were now called upon by their employers to perform the work with an allowance only of the sixty-fourth part of an inch, which they considered insufficient. A resolution was passed pledging the men to refuse to work by the ‘box’ in future, and it was also decided to issue an appeal to the stone-quarrymen in the district for assistance during the strike.”

Birmingham Daily Post 16/10/1888

“Last night a well-attended meeting of miners employed at the Rowley Hall Colliery was held at the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley. Mr. B. Winwood (the chairman) explained the decision at which the employers had arrived at the meeting held at Dudley.

A resolution was passed to resume work at the 5 per cent increase, providing that an extra 5 per cent be paid when conceded by employers in other districts.”

Birmingham Daily Post 27/3/1889

“Nomination of Guardians. Mr. Thomas Allen, the clerk to Dudley union, received the following nominations There are others nominated who are almost unknown beyond their own particular street. . . . Rowley Mr. Thomas William Williams, Dudley Road.”

1891 Census

1, Dudley Road

- [1] Thomas W. Williams (46), licensed victualler, born Glasbury, Radnorshire;
- [2] Alice S. Williams (39), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Lizzie Williams (10), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Thomas B. Williams (8), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Ellen Hill (22), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 9/4/1898

“The polling for the election of eight Guardians for the parish of Rowley Regis took place on Monday last. . . . Thomas William Williams 1,456 votes.”

[He was elected.]

1901 Census

1, Dudley Road – BULLS HEAD INN

- [1] Thomas W. Williams (56), brewer, born Glasbury, Radnorshire;
- [2] Alice S. Williams (49), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Lizzie Williams (20), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Thomas B. Williams (18), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Maria Parsons (19), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

Tipton Herald 16/5/1903

“Mr. H. A. Pearson (South Staffordshire Coroner) conducted an inquiry on Monday afternoon at the BULLS HEAD, Rowley, into the circumstances of the death of John and Elizabeth Tibbetts, who formerly resided at Dudley Road, Rowley. It will be remembered that on Friday last the husband murdered his wife by inflicting a deep wound in the throat, and afterwards he committed suicide by gashing his own. Many villagers and people from adjoining localities gathered round the public house where the inquiry was held, notwithstanding that rain fell heavily during the holding of the inquest. The Coroner deemed it unnecessary to have the bodies of the dead young couple removed, and they were locked in the residence in which the fatal deed was done.

Mr. Joseph Williams was elected foreman of the jury.

The first witness called was Edward Tibbetts, who stated that he was a miner, and resided at 73, Springfield Lane, Rowley. The deceased was his eldest son and was 22 years of age. He was a labourer, but occasionally did some butchering. He married the deceased woman about seven months ago, but their married life had been anything but happy. He had a violent temper, and had often threatened to do witness bodily harm. About 18 months ago he held a knife over witness whilst the latter was in bed and threatened to cut his head off. Deceased afterwards attacked him with a chair, and about 15 months ago he had to summons him for assault. Deceased was then fined 20s and costs. He also assaulted his sister, and he was then fined and bound over to keep the peace. He had never known him assault his wife before, neither had he heard his wife complain about his conduct. Mrs. Tibbetts had been an industrious woman, and had worked very hard. His son had got a job at a stonemason’s yard, and could earn £1 per week as well as being able to obtain remuneration by means of killing pigs. Deceased was a sober man.

The Foreman: I suppose there is no insanity in your family, is there?

Witness: No sir, there is not.

The Foreman: Was he in debt at all before this unfortunate occurrence?

Witness: When he left my home about seven months ago he had £50, but I believe he was in debt at the time this happened.

The Foreman: Had any judgement summons been issued against him?

Witness: I could not say, sir.

The Foreman: He was out of a situation?

Witness: Yes, but he had a job to go to on Friday morning at Messrs. Doulton and Co’s.

James Parkes, a miner, residing at the Knowle, Rowley, said he was the father of the deceased woman. She was 30 years of age. She was married to John Tibbetts seven months ago. Previous to her marriage she was employed by a Mrs. Setton, of London Road, Edgbaston. He had never heard her say she was afraid of her husband, who was idle. His daughter had worked very hard and was very industrious. When she married she had over £50 which she had saved, but her husband had spent this. He had often heard his daughter say that her husband would not get up to go to work when he had work to do. He had done little or no work since their marriage.

A Juror: About a month ago did your daughter leave him?

Witness: Yes. She left him because he would not work, and she told him that unless he found employment she should not live with him. She was away from him about five days.

A Juror: Did he send word to her that if she did not return to him he should do something at her, and that he should commit suicide?

Witness: He came to my house, and when my daughter told him she would not return he commenced to cry, and pulled a pocket-knife out and drew it across his throat, and the same time saying that if she did not come home he would commit suicide. Isabella Dunn, a neighbour, the wife of Simon Dunn, said she saw both of the deceased persons on Thursday night before the tragedy took place. During their married life they had frequently quarrelled. The deceased woman bore an excellent character. She was hard working and industrious. She did not know much about the man, but knew him to be of lazy habits, for he had not done much work since they had been married. In fact, he was too idle to work, and that caused the trouble. She had constantly seen him the worse for beer. On the Friday morning in question she saw Mrs. Tibbetts go to the brewhouse door and unlock it. She afterwards went into the house by the back door, which banged somewhat violently, but witness could not say who shut it. About a minute after that she heard a scream. Witness ran to the back door and opened it a few inches, as it was not locked. A ghastly sight then presented itself. She saw blood running all over the floor towards the door. She gave the alarm after shutting the door, and called out to her mother and husband.

Her husband went into the house, and saw them both bleeding profusely from wounds in the throat. He told witness that the murderer had cut his wife's head off. Her husband then went for the police. She did not see the bodies. On Thursday night she saw Mrs. Tibbetts at half-past ten, and a quarter of an hour previous to that she encountered the murderer.

The Foreman: Have you ever heard Mr. Tibbetts threaten his wife?

Witness: No sir.

Hannah Dovey, a widow and mother of the last witness, said she had known the man Tibbetts for a long while and always knew him to be a lazy fellow. This had constantly caused unhappiness between him and his wife, who was a hard working person. There had been no children. On Friday morning, at about quarter to seven, her daughter (the last witness) came to her and said, 'Oh mother, Jack has murdered Lizzie.' She went to Tibbetts' house and looked through the window. She saw the deceased man kneeling on the hearthrug before the fire. He had a butcher's knife (produced) in his hand and she saw him digging his throat with the weapon. She then ran away.

PC Reynolds stated that about 10 minutes to seven on Friday morning from information received he proceeded immediately to Tibbetts' in Dudley Road. With much difficulty he forced the unlocked door open, and behind it he found the body of Mrs. Tibbetts in a pool of blood. Her head was almost severed from her body and she lay at the bottom of the staircase. She was quite dead. He then found the deceased, John Tibbetts, lying huddled about the table legs in another pool of blood. His throat was badly gashed, and he was groaning and foaming at the mouth. He at once fetched Dr. Beasley, who arrived at 30 minutes past seven, and stayed until the deceased man died at about a quarter past eight. Tibbetts made no statement, but kept muttering. He found the butcher's knife on the side of the hearthrug at the side of Tibbetts, which was covered with blood. The cleaver was on the table, but there were no bloodstains on it. The supper things were on the table. On Saturday morning he took his wife and another woman to lay the bodies out. He went upstairs to fetch some pillows, when he discovered a butcher's knife (produced) underneath the pillow on which the man would sleep. He found a purse containing 14s 5³/₄d in the woman's pocket, also a threepenny piece and some keys. In the deceased man's pocket he found a pocket knife. The man had been idle, whilst his wife had been a hard-working woman.

Dr. J. G. Beasley deposed that on the day in question he was called by PC Reynolds to the house. He found the woman lying on her back in a pool of blood, close to the door. Death had recently taken place. There was a large quantity of blood on the floor. There was an extensive gash in the woman's throat. The man was lying on the hearthrug and although attempts were made to save his life all was in vain. It was a hopeless case with him. When he arrived he was only partly conscious, and died in about half an hour. Before his death he was cursing incoherently. He had since made an external examination of the bodies. The gash inflicted on the woman would cause instantaneous death. Both bodies were drained of blood, and the cause of death was hemorrhage, caused by the wound in both cases. It was impossible for the wound in the woman's throat to be self-inflicted.

The Coroner, in summing up, explained that the facts were grim, yet simple. It was clear from the evidence that the wound in the woman's throat was not self-inflicted and that the man committed suicide. The woman was hardworking and industrious, but the least said about the husband the better. He was a lazy man of dissolute habits. The discovery of the knife underneath the pillow clearly showed that the murder had been premeditated, so that dispensed with the question as to whether the man was or was not insane when he committed the ghastly crime. A verdict of Wilful Murder should be returned.

The jury returned a verdict of Wilful Murder against the deceased man, John Tibbetts, and after retiring in the second case returned a verdict of Felo de se. [suicide – literally felon of himself]

The Coroner explained that he had received a communication from the former employers of the deceased woman, which stated that she was held in high esteem during the time she was a domestic servant. She bore a good character and was very clean in her work. They requested that the presents they had given her from time to time should be returned."

AND

"The final stage of the ghastly tragedy at Rowley was reached on Wednesday, when the interment of the bodies of John Tibbetts and his wife, Elizabeth Tibbetts, took place in the Parish Churchyard at Rowley Regis. On Tuesday a rumour had been circulated to the effect that the mortal remains of Tibbetts would be buried at midnight, in accordance with the ancient custom of dealing with the dead bodies of persons against whom a verdict of felo de se had been returned. Consequently soon after dusk on Tuesday night a large concourse of people wended their way to Rowley from all the surrounding districts, and when the police arrived on the scene shortly after nine o'clock they found a great crowd of people assembled in the vicinity of the house which was the scene of last Friday's tragedy. A cart was drawn up in front of the house shortly afterwards and in this the coffin containing the remains of the murderer was placed. As soon as it became known that the police were removing the body of Tibbetts there was a hostile demonstration, the people hissing, using offensive epithets, and otherwise expressing their abhorrence of the awful crime. Hundreds of people had gathered to hurl stones at the coffin, but the hurried departure of the cart that contained it prevented any damage. The mob, however, followed the vehicle to the churchyard, but they were not allowed to enter the gates. Inside the churchyard, the coffin was placed in the tool-house at one end of the burial ground where it remained all night. On Wednesday morning, at ten o'clock, the coffin was placed upon a barrow, and with this serving as a bier, it was conveyed to the other end of the burial ground and was interred in a grave where the deceased man's mother was laid to rest some years ago. Police-constable Reynolds was the only bearer. The corpse was not taken into church, and it was lowered into the grave without any ceremony whatever. The only persons who witnessed the singular interment were Police-sergeant Bently, Police-constable Reynolds, the grave-digger, the deceased man's father, and the Rev. David Turner (Vicar). The murderer was thus laid to rest, the proceeding only being watched by two or three persons from an eminence in the locality."

AND

"The funeral of the murdered woman, Elizabeth Tibbetts, took place on Wednesday afternoon, amid general manifestations of sympathy, esteem and sorrow. Her relatives had selected a spot for her grave in a secluded portion of the churchyard, directly on the opposite side to the place where her husband was interred earlier in the day. An extensive crowd again assembled, sympathisers coming from all parts of the Black Country. As the funeral cortege filed up near the deceased woman's late home many expressions of sympathy were given vent to. The cortege proceeded the short distance to the church, and her remains were followed to their last resting place by her parents and many other relatives, and the usual service of the Church of England was performed. The Vicar (the Rev. David Turner) conducted the service both inside the church and at the grave-side. Several wreaths were placed upon the coffin, these including tributes of respect from the deceased woman's former employers in Birmingham, and other parts of the district, by whom she had been engaged as a domestic servant. The event will long remain in the minds of those persons who witnessed the performing of the last rites to the poor woman, who had been the victim of her husband's ghastly and mad act."

County Advertiser 12/3/1904

"District Council Nominations Rowley Regis Rowley Ward.....

Thomas William Williams*, licensed victualler, Dudley Road, Rowley.....

Those marked with an asterisk are the retiring members seeking re-election."

[He was elected.]

County Advertiser 29/9/1906

"Philip Hill, of Tippet Green, Rowley, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the licensed premises of the BULLS HEAD INN, Dudley Road, Rowley, on the 14th inst. Howard Woodhouse, the landlord, stated that defendant visited his house in a drunken condition. Witness refused to serve him, and requested him to leave. Defendant produced a hammer from his pocket and said he would knock witness's head in with it.

Mr. Bassano said the publican's business was a very difficult one, and the Bench must assist them as much as possible. Defendant was fined 20s, including costs."

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

15th September 1909 - Wilfred, son of Simeon and Isabella Dunn, brewer, 1, Dudley Road, born Rowley Regis.

1911 Census

1, Dudley Road – BULLS HEAD INN

- [1] Simeon Dunn (45), brewer, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Isabella Dunn (43), wife, married 23 years, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] James Dunn (22), son, coal haulier, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Dunn (19), son, bricklayer's apprentice, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Amy Dunn (18), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Arthur Dunn (15), son, blacksmith's striker, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Lily Dunn (12), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Florence Dunn (9), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Hilda Dunn (6), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Wilfred Dunn (1), son, born Rowley Regis:

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

29th July 1911 - Thomas Raymond (b. 9/7/1911), son of Thomas Benjamin and Jessie Williams, brewer, The Croft, Rowley Regis.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 4/10/1934

"Old Hill Licensing Justice yesterday granted a music and dancing license in respect of the new Liberal Club, Cradley Heath. Permission was also given for structural alterations at the VINE INN, Blackheath, the OLD DUN COW, Gorsty Hill, and the BULLS HEAD, Rowley."

1939 Register

Dudley Road – BULLS HEAD

- [1] Richard Hughes, date of birth 7/6/1902, gas fitter, married;
- [2] Letitia Hughes, dob 29/10/1905, unpaid domestic duties, married:

Violet Bent was married to George.

They were previously licensees of the COTTAGE SPRING, Netherton for 25 years.

It was renamed CHAPLIN in July 1997.

Richard Joseph Blakeway, of Rowley, aged 19, was murdered outside the pub, during a fight, on 14th December 2007.

It was renamed BULLS HEAD. [2010]

Halesowen News 27/11/2019

“A Rowley Regis pub will transform into a soup kitchen to help the homeless in the run-up to Christmas. The BULLS HEAD, Dudley Road, will serve free soup and bread every Wednesday from today (November 27), from noon till 2.30pm until Christmas. Kylie Hemas, who runs a cafe at the pub, said kind-hearted staff wanted to give something back in the festive season. She said, ‘The weather has got really cold and we thought about all the people on the streets, you wouldn’t wish it on anybody. People are welcome to come in and enjoy a bowl of soup and a roll for free.’”

It closed in 2021.

Express & Star 23/10/2021

“Fire crews were called to fire at a derelict pub on Friday night. Nearby residents were asked to keep windows closed after fire-fighters were called to the site of the BULLS HEAD in Hawes Lane, Rowley Regis shortly after 11pm. Several small fires were found inside, one in the bar area and another out the back. Crews from Haden Cross and Oldbury fire stations attended the scene. A spokesperson for West Midlands Fire Service said, ‘There were several seats of fire within the derelict property. Two hose reels were used, and the gas and electricity were isolated.’

Tweeting during the incident shortly before 11.30pm last night, the fire service said, ‘We currently have two fire appliances from Haden Cross and Oldbury in attendance at a derelict pub fire on the Hawes Lane, in Rowley Regis. Please avoid the area, and if you are from the area please keep your windows closed.’

Nobody was found inside the building.”

BULLS HEAD

Birchfield Lane, (111, (31+32), Whiteheath), (31, (30), Whiteheath Gate), WHITEHEATH

OWNERS

Edward Morgan Harper

John Rolinson and Son Ltd. [1902], [1906]

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. [1947]

LICENSEES

Edward Morgan Harper [1860] – 1890)

Louisa Harris (1890)

Clement Bayliss (1890 – [1891])

Walter Bates [1898]

James Parkes [1900] – [1901]

Edward Burchell [1902] – 1905);

Arthur Wilson (1905 – 1906);

Walter Bolus (1906 – 1907);

William Turner (1907);

Ezbon Toy (1907 – []

John Rowley [1919] – 1928);

John Oliver Newey (1928 – 1931);

Richard William Susted (1931 – 1932);

Irving Augustus Keeling (1932 – 1934);

Thomas Henry Bloomer (1934);

William ‘Billy’ Lowe (1934 – 1949);

William John Gallagher (1949 – 1950);

Frederick Henry Witts (1950 – 1953);

William Lowe (1953 – 1959);

William Wallace (1959 – [1965])

Barry Atkinson []
Peter Tonks [1978]
Maurice Hall [1981]
Miss Nicky Howen []
John and Annette Whitehead (1999 – []

NOTES

30, Whiteheath Gate [1881]
31, Whiteheath Gate [1891]
31+32, Whiteheath [1901]
111, Whiteheath [1939]
Birchfield Lane

It was known locally as “Lowe’s Pump”.

It had an ante ‘69 beerhouse license.

Birmingham Daily Post 8/5/1860

“At the Old Hill Petty Sessions last week a case came on for hearing which showed how careless some of the London registration agents of friendly societies manage their business. At the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, Rowley, there formerly was a club held, called the Miners’ Friendly Society, and the landlord was the treasurer of the club. Lately the landlord has removed to Birmingham, and has, it was stated, left some of the papers belonging to the club at his former house. Three of the members, thinking those papers were the property of the club and would be useful to it, summoned the landlord about three weeks ago to produce them. Mr. Burbury appeared for the complainants, and Mr. Coldicott for the defendant. On that occasion the latter gentleman took a preliminary objection, to the effect that before it could be proved that the Magistrates had jurisdiction in the case, the due registration of the society, under the Friendly Societies Registration Act, must be proved. Complainants were not then in a position to prove that fact, and accordingly an adjournment took place for the production of a certified copy of the rules, or the certificate of registration. A copy of the rules of the society was produced, which contained at the end what purported to be a copy of the registrar’s certificate, but of course this fact was not sufficient proof of actual registration. When the case came on for hearing last week, Mr. Burbury informed the Bench that the rules had been supplied by a Mr. Watkins, of London, who undertook to supply printed rules and get them registered at a saving of expense to the society. The rules, as before stated, contained a copy of the certificate of registration at the end, and the members naturally thought all was right. Upon applying for the original certificate, however, it was found that the rules were not registered till the 16th of April last. The summons in the case was taken out on the 14th, and consequently, as the society was not then legally complete, the jurisdiction of the Magistrates had not commenced. Under these circumstances, Mr. Burbury wished to withdraw the case. Mr. Coldicott applied for costs, but Mr. Burbury urged that giving costs would be adjudicating, which the Bench had no power to do. Costs accordingly refused.”

Birmingham Journal 14/7/1860 - Advert

“To be Disposed Of, a Freehold Property, consisting of a new Licensed Beer House, Butcher’s Shop, and two Dwelling Houses adjoining, with out-offices, &c, situated at Whiteheath Gate, near Rowley.
Apply to Mr. E. Harper, on the Premises; or at 153, Hockley Hill, Birmingham.”

1861 Census

White Heath

- [1] Edward Harper (45), farmer of 12 acres and beerhouse keeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Fanny Harper (49), wife, born Halesowen;
- [3] Ann Peace (19), wife’s daughter, born Harborne;
- [4] Elizabeth Harper (14), daughter, born Halesowen;
- [5] Matilda Harper (12), daughter, born Halesowen;
- [6] Clara Harper (10), daughter, born Halesowen:

Edward Harper, retailer of beer, White Heath. [1862]

Edward Harper, beer retailer, Whiteheath Gate. [1864], [1865], [1870], [1872]

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 10/2/1866

“R. Bennett (the Brewer) of Langley Green will run any of the following men level: J. Cutler of Oldbury Green, or T. Lowe of Tat Bank, or W. Price of Church Bridge, or W. Baker of White Heath; or take two yards of T. Dugin of Oldbury Green, for their own sum. Money ready at Mr. E. Harper’s, BULLS HEAD, White Heath, any night next week.”

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 18/8/1866

“Royal Oak Grounds, Burnt Tree, Dudley.

J. Rhodes (formerly of Wolverhampton, now of Oldbury, pedestrian, aged 51) and W. Hill (the Nailer) of the Lye Waste are matched to run four miles at the above grounds, Rhodes receiving 400 yards start, for £5 a side, on Monday, the 3rd of September, at twelve o'clock. £1 a side is down, and a further deposit has to be made on Monday at Mr. Harper's, BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath Gate. Mr. N. Homer, final stakeholder."

Edward Harper, beer retailer, Whiteheath. [1868]

1871 Census

Whiteheath

- [1] Edward Harper (57), farmer of 10 acres of land and publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Fanny Harper (58), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Matilda Harper (21), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Clara Harper (19), daughter, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 13/3/1880 - Advert

"Valuable Freehold Building Land, Whiteheath Gate, Titford, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, Near to Langley Green and Rowley Railway Stations.

To be Sold by Auction, by Messrs. Oates, Perrens, and Wooldridge, at the house of Mr. Edward Harper, the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath Gate, on Tuesday, the 16th day of March, 1880, at Six o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions, which will incorporate the common form conditions of the Birmingham Law Society.

Six parcels of Freehold Building Land, having valuable frontages to the Roads from Blackheath to Oldbury, and from Whiteheath Gate to Rowley, near to the WHITEHEATH GATE INN, and adjoining to the BULLS HEAD INN, varying from 460 to 640 square yards in each Lot.

The Mines and Minerals under all Lots belong to the Earl of Dudley or his Trustees....."

1881 Census

30, Whiteheath Gate – BULLS HEAD

- [1] Edward Harper (63), beerhouse keeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Fanny Harper (65), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Jane Jackson (28), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Robert H. Jackson (4), son, born Barrow in Furness:

Dudley and District News 26/8/1882

"Edward Harper, BULLS HEAD, Whiteheath, was charged with assaulting Thomas Goodwin. Complainant said he was playing round defendant's rick with his grandson, who, on seeing his grandfather coming, ran away. Defendant then came up, struck him, knocked him down, and kicked him. Jane Harris deposed to hearing the boy 'hooting,' and coming from the rick shouting 'murder.' She went up to the rick and saw the boy's eye bleeding. Defendant admitted giving the boy a smack on the head, but denied kicking him. The Bench considered that the defendant had no right to take the law into his own hand, and fined him 6d, complainant to pay costs."

AND

County Advertiser 26/8/1882

"Edward Harper, publican and farmer, living at Whiteheath, was charged with assaulting a boy named Thomas Goodden, residing at the same place.

It was alleged that the complainant was playing near a hay rick belonging to the defendant, along with defendant's grandson, when Harper came upon him, knocked him down, and kicked him, and when complainant got up again, the defendant repeated the kicking. Complainant crawled away on his hands and knees. Replying to the Bench, complainant said he could not walk because defendant kept kicking him.

Defendant pleaded that he thought lads were cutting the tarpaulin ropes, and that being night, he thought the complainant was a man. He denied kicking the lad.

The Bench fined defendant 6d; and ordered complainant to pay the costs."

Edward Morgan Harper died on 14th June 1890.

County Express 28/6/1890

"Thomas Bates, landlord of the BULLS HEAD, Whiteheath, was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the 19th inst. Mr. Jackson defended. Defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined 5s and costs.

There was a further charge against the defendant for assaulting Clara Mason. Mr. Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. Jackson defended. Mr. Jackson applied for an adjournment on the ground that defendant had not had time to summon witnesses. Mr. Clulow objected on the ground that defendant had no witnesses to call, because there was only a policeman present. The defendant was a brother-in-law to the complainant, and it was on the day of the funeral of the complainant's father that the assault was committed. Defendant struck her, and he should prove by the policeman that he used most filthy language. The Bench granted an adjournment."

AND

"Mr. H. Jackson (West Bromwich) applied for the temporary transfer of the BULLS HEAD, Whiteheath, kept by the late Edward Harper, who died some ten days previous, to Mrs. Elizabeth Bates. The deceased, in his will, had appointed Mrs. Bates his executrix, and gave her instructions to remain in possession of the house for seven years, until a grandson attained his majority. Mr. Bassano said he had grave doubts as to whether it was competent for a married woman to hold a license, her husband living with her in the same house. She was not the head of the house, and he did not think they could properly deal with it that day. Mr. Jackson said he would now say something he did not desire to say. He was instructed that the police had been giving advice in the case, and had told Mrs. Bates that unless she applied for a license they should stop her house from selling. Superintendent Wollaston: I've not told her that. Sergeant Salt said he spoke to her about it. Mr. Jackson: It is a very bad law. Mr. Bassano: Yes. Mr. Jackson said the husband was not the occupier, and never would be. Mr. Bassano said the Bench would be glad to do everything to carry out the deceased's wish, but he had grave doubts about it. Mr. Jackson contended that the Bench had power to deal with it that day, as the husband had nothing to do with it. Mr. Bassano thought the best thing to do would be to adjourn the case for a week." [Other newspaper reports state Matilda Bates.]

Birmingham Daily Post 3/7/1890

"At the Old Hill Police Court, yesterday, Thomas Bates, of White Heath, horse dealer, was charged with assaulting his sister-in-law, Clara Mason, on 19th June. Complainant stated that a short time ago they attended the funeral of Mr. Harper, who formerly kept the BULLS HEAD INN, White Heath. When they returned to the public house after the funeral defendant used bad language towards her, and struck her in the face. Defendant had previously assaulted her twice on the same day. She was co-executrix with Mrs. Bates to the will and the property the deceased had left. The defendant was, she believed, dissatisfied with what was left him. The Bench fined defendant 40s and costs."

AND

"At the Old Hill Police Court, yesterday, Mr. Waldron made an application on behalf of Louisa Harris, of Langley, for a temporary license for the BULLS HEAD INN, White Heath. He explained that at the last court day an application was made for the license to be transferred from Edward Harper (deceased) to Mrs. Bates. A question arose as to whether Mrs. Bates was the executrix, and some objection was taken to the license being granted to Mrs. Bates whilst her husband lived with her. The deceased Harper left the house to Mrs. Bates, to be carried on for a few years, when the estate would be realised for the benefit of a relative of his. Mr. Bassano said it was within their power to grant the license to the executrix, but where the difficulty came in was in granting the license to the executrix when her husband, who had been convicted, lived with her. It was quite impossible for the Bench to grant a license to a married woman whose husband had a list of convictions against him. Mr. Waldron applied for the Bench to grant a temporary license to Louisa Harris. Mr. Bassano asked if there was any collusion between the parties. Mr. Waldron said there was not, and that the applicant would have entire control of the house. The application was granted."

County Express 5/7/1890 - Advert

"BULLS HEAD INN, White Heath Gate, Near Oldbury.

To Farmers, Cow Keepers, Horse Keepers, Brokers, and Others.

Mr. W. Hackett has received instructions from the Executors of the late Mr. Edward Harper, to Sell by Auction, on Friday, July 11th, 1890.

Household Furniture, Public House Fixtures, Farming Produce, &c, &c, as above, comprising set of Mahogany Four-post Bedsteads, with hangings; Mahogany Chests of Drawers, Mahogany Swing Glass, Dressing Table, Wash Stand, Mahogany Night Chair, Cane-seated and Windsor Chairs, Arm Chair, two Weather Glasses, Mahogany Corner Cupboard, Mahogany Centre Table, Leaf Table, Papier Mache Table, Two Oil Paintings, Horsehair-seated Sofa, Easy Arm Chair, in hair seating; Treadle Sewing Machine, by Wheeler and Wilson; Four-pull Beer Machine, with piping and taps, by Mason; Cross-leg Drinking Table, Wood Benches, Shelving and Counter, Set of Cart Tackle, Set of Chain Gears, capital Black Mare, well-known good worker; Spring Trap, Rick Sheet, with poles, blocks, and ropes; Heel Rakes, quantity of Hay Forks and Rakes, One-horse Cart, with loose gearing; Narrow-wheel Cart, Iron Plough, about 20 Acres of Excellent Mowing Grass, with Aftermath up to September 28th next, about 5 Acres of Wheat, about 30 Tons of Prime Hay, to go off before September 28th.

Sale of Furniture will commence at Twelve o'clock, the Crops will be Sold at the Field Gates, at Two o'clock.

Auctioneer's Offices, 78, High Street, Blackheath, and Oldbury Road, West Smethwick."

1891 Census

31, Whiteheath Gate

[1] Clement Bayliss (38), retail brewer, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Mary Bayliss (35), wife, born Brierley Hill;

[3] Alfred Ernest Bayliss (11), son, scholar, born Brierley Hill;

[4] Thomas Adams (60), visitor, manager at ironworks, born Stourbridge;

[5] Matilda Smith (20), boarder, domestic servant, born Leeds:

Dudley Herald 16/7/1898

"At the Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday Walter Bates, butcher, and landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, was charged with having in his possession for the purpose of sale a quantity of meat which was unfit for human food The Bench considered the charge proved, and fined defendant £5 and costs."

County Advertiser 14/1/1899 - Advert

“To Brewers, Maltsters, Wine Merchants, and Freehold Property Buyers.

Notice of Important Sale by Auction of a Valuable Beer and Wine House, Butcher’s Shop, and Other Properties, at White Heath Gate, Rowley Regis.

Mr. Geo. Sidney Gough, FAI, is instructed by the Trustees of E. M. Harper, deceased, to Sell the following Desirable Properties by Auction, at the TALBOT HOTEL, Oldbury, on Tuesday, January 24th, 1899, at Six for Seven o’clock in the Evening, subject to Conditions of Sale then to be read.

Lot 1. All that Highly Valuable and Important Free Beer and Wine House, known as the BULLS HEAD INN, situate on the Hale-sowen Main Road, White Heath Gate, near Oldbury. The accommodation comprises Bar, Tap Room, large Club Room, Kitchen, also a Front Room (used as a Butcher’s Shop, doing a good business), Three Bed Rooms, and good Cellaring, capital Yard with Gateway Entrance, Brewhouse, Slaughterhouse, Stabling for four horses, Two good Pigsties.

The above is well known as a house of call, and by its important position on the main road must always command a large share of the trade of the district. The Property is now in hand, and vacant possession can be had. Fixtures, Fittings, and Trade Utensils, together with the Fixtures, &c, belonging to the Butcher’s Shop, to be taken to at a sum to be named at the time of Sale, an Inventory of which will be produced.....”

County Advertiser 17/2/1900

“William Rose, labourer, Whiteheath, was charged with being drunk and disorderly in the public highway on the 6th inst. Police-constable Dale proved the offence.

Defendant was further charged with being drunk and disorderly in the public highway on the 10th inst. Police-constable Smith proved the offence.

Defendant was further charged with being drunk and disorderly on the licensed premises of the BULLS HEAD INN, kept by James Parkes; and with refusing to quit the same when requested by the landlord on the 29th ult; and also with damaging two cups, two glasses, and four panes of glass, the property of James Parkes, on the same date.

James Parkes, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Rowley, said that on the date named, defendant came on his premises drunk. Witness put him outside three times, but defendant kept coming in every time, and refused to leave the premises at all. On going out the last time defendant broke two cups, two glasses and when he got outside smashed four panes of glass. The total damage amounted to 12s. The next morning defendant came again and threw a brick through the window, but witness had not summoned him for this offence. Witness said defendant was a perfect pest in the neighbourhood, and he always refused to serve him with beer.

Defendant was sent to prison for four months, one month for each case.”

1901 Census

31+32, Whiteheath

[1] James Parkes (39), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Annie Parkes (37), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Ginnie Parkes (11), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Katherine Sharpe (42), visitor, living on own means, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 22/6/1901

“James Parkes, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, was charged with assaulting John William Berry, of Whiteheath, on the 14th inst, and Berry was charged with refusing to quit the BULLS HEAD INN when requested by the landlord on the same date. Mr. G. Williams appeared for Parkes.

John William Berry said that on the 14th inst he went to Blackheath to see a cricket match played for half a sovereign a side, and when he arrived there the game was just finishing. At nine o’clock he went into the BULLS HEAD, Whiteheath, when the landlord, Parkes, ran at him, banged him into the street, and there struck him several times with his clenched fist on the face and threatened to kill him if he came again. He went to the sergeant and reported the matter.

Thomas Croxton corroborated.

Mr. Williams said that on the night in question Berry went into the BULLS HEAD INN and commenced drinking from other people’s glasses, but bought no beer himself. The landlord remonstrated with him, and he became disorderly and was ordered out three times, but refused to go, saying that he was ‘gaffer’ there. Eventually the landlord took him by the shoulder and put him out. He did not assault him in any way, nor did he go into the street. Witness had refused to have defendant on his premises on account of his conduct, and twice he had had to eject him.

Parkes and three other witnesses gave evidence in support of this statement.

Police-sergeant Bentley said he saw Berry on the Tuesday night and found him injured.

The Bench decided to convict in each of the cases, Parkes and Berry having to pay 13s 6d each.”

County Advertiser 6/7/1901

“James Parkes, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, was charged with permitting gaming on his licensed premises on the 14th ult. Mr. J. Walter Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. W. H. Tinsley defended.

Mr. Clulow said the gambling was done by a game called cork pitching. The game was played with corks, one being fixed at one corner of the table, and the players pitching at it with other corks from the opposite corner, each player being entitled to 21 pitches. On Friday evening, the 14th ult, the defendant had pre-arranged a pitching match between a man named Moreton, who was a professional, and a man named Harvey, and they were to play for 5s a side. The game was played in the defendant’s presence, and many of the customers were betting on the game, Harvey’s father betting 2d on Moreton against his son. In the end Moreton won, he having hit the cork 14 times and Harvey 13. Moreton went to the defendant, who handed him the 5s he had won. Other games took place, and the betting continued. A man named Berry was put out of the house by the landlord for drinking other customers' beer, and he carried the information respecting the gaming to the police. During the game the defendant brought in the beer. William Morgan, William Berry, and Joseph Harvey, who were in the house on the night in question, bore out the above facts in evidence.

Mr. Tinsley, in his defence, said that his client had pleaded not guilty to the charge, because he had no knowledge that any gaming was taking place in his house; he knew cork pitching did take place, but this was no offence. The prosecution had to prove that the defendant had a knowledge that gaming was going on; this they had failed to do, and the real reason why they were summoned was because Berry was ejected from the house by the defendant. He denied that any match was pre-arranged between Moreton and Harvey. When defendant's wife heard some one start to bet, she immediately went in and took the corks away, and stopped the playing. Defendant did give Moreton 5s, because he asked him for it. He always gave people money when they were poor, sooner than let them have beer on the strap. Defendant was an ex-policeman, and had kept this house two years without conviction.

Defendant and several witnesses were called for the defence.

The Bench considered the case proved, and fined the defendant £5 and costs, in all £9 3s 6d, and allowed solicitor's fee."

County Express 19/4/1902

"On Wednesday, at Old Hill Police Court, an application was made on behalf of Messrs. Rolinson and Sons, Netherton, the owners of the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, near Blackheath, for sanction to make certain alterations at the premises. Mr. F. C. Lewis, architect, submitted plans, and in reply to a question from the Bench, he said it was proposed to increase the licensed area by 80 feet. The presiding magistrate (Mr. W. Bassano) said it appeared to be a tendency in the district to increase the selling area in public houses, which the justices would set their faces against. This was an application which would be granted."

Edward Burchell = Edward Birchell = Edward Birchill

County Express 22/11/1902

"Edward Birchell, landlord of the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, was summoned for permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises; and Thomas Millerchip, of Oldbury, was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the licensed premises. Mr. Clulow prosecuted on behalf of the police, and Mr. Waldron defended.

PS Bentley stated that on the night of the 8th inst he went to the BULLS HEAD INN at about ten o'clock, and found Millerchip drunk, and the defendant admitted that he had not been on the premises for half-an-hour, but he had not been supplied with drink, and he had been most anxious for him to go. He had been fighting outside, and had evidently fallen down, his clothes being covered with mud. On the following day defendant intimated to witness he should summons Millerchip for being drunk and refusing to quit.

PC Heath gave corroborative evidence.

Mr. Waldron submitted that his client had done everything to conform with the law, and that it would be a great hardship to convict him.

Defendant gave in support of Mr. Waldron's statement.

In cross-examination he admitted he did not try to turn Millerchip out of the house, because he did not like to do so.

The Bench held that Birchell should have done something further than have ordered Millerchip out of the house, and fined him 20s and costs, the latter to include £2 2s solicitors' fee.

Millerchip was fined 30s for being drunk and refusing to quit."

County Advertiser 14/2/1903

"On Wednesday the annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held at the Court House.....

Superintendent Spendlove had given notice that he should oppose the following licenses.....

Edward Birchill, BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, permitting drunkenness, and not a fit and proper person.....

License renewed."

Birmingham Mail 7/11/1906

"At Old Hill Police Court, today, Walter Bolus, licensee of the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, Black Heath, was summoned for permitting betting upon his licensed premises on October 20th and 23rd. Mr. J. W. Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. Norris Foster (instructed by Mr. C. H. Harper, of Birmingham) defended. Mr. Marshall watched the case on behalf of the owners of the house, Messrs. Rolinson and Co.

Mr. Clulow explained that on the morning of the 20th ult Police-constables Wilshaw and Clark visited the public house in plain clothes. The landlord was behind the bar at the time, and there were a number of men inside. The officers saw a man who tore a piece off a sporting paper, on which he wrote something, and, having put some silver in it, handed it to Bolus, who opened it, and placed it behind the counter. After other persons had given slips to the landlord, Police-constable Clark then made out a paper. He backed Red Mint and Brosna, running at Stockton, for a win, and handed the paper, containing a shilling, to the landlord, who opened it and put it at the back of the counter. Wilshaw next backed Red Mint and Brosna for a double, and handed the slip containing the money to the landlord, who at this time called out to the customers, 'They seem to be all gone on Red Mint, but Queen of Sheba is my favourite.' (Laughter.) Bolus subsequently called Wilshaw into the back premises, and asked him to take part in a rabbit coursing sweep. On the evening of the 23rd ult, Police-constable Wilshaw again visited the house, when Bolus went up to him and handed him the two slips of paper given to him on the 20th ult, and the 2s, remarking at the time, 'My mate does not know you. He seems to be afraid. Your mate did not sign his name to it.' This error on the part of Clark, Mr. Clulow pointed out, had raised the landlord's suspicion, but the officer then handed him back two tickets containing 2s and the names of Sweet Katie and Polymelus. On the following day Police-sergeant Bentley informed defendant that he would be reported, when he replied, 'That is all right. I am the victim of others. I should have liked to have seen the superintendent, but to tell the truth I have been to Oldbury to back Polymelus, the winner of the big race.'

Police-constable Wilshaw corroborated this statement, and said whilst at the public house on the 20th ult, Clark and himself joined in a football sweep, which one of the customers said was the best in the district.

In reply to Mr. Norris Foster, witness said he went to the house as a dog fancier. He did not know there was a raid on the house on the day the Cambridgeshire was run.

Mr. Norris Foster denied that either officer made a bet with the landlord. Bolus consented to put their money on with a bookmaker at Oldbury, and when Wilshaw visited the premises he returned him the money, saying that he could not get the bets on. On the 24th ult the police made a raid upon the house, when they expected to make a big haul, but nothing was found there. He contended that defendant only acted as the agent for the policemen, and consequently had not committed an offence.

The magistrates imposed a fine of £25 and costs in each case, £56 8s 6d in all, or in default six months' imprisonment."

County Advertiser 9/2/1907

"The annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday at the Police Court.

Walter Bolus applied personally for the renewal of the license of the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath.

This was opposed by Superintendent Johnson on the ground that applicant had been convicted of two offences under the Betting House Act.

Applicant said he had been a publican for eleven years, and that was his first conviction.

Mr. Bassano said it was a very flagrant case, and the Bench felt that they would be doing wrong if they accepted the applicant.

The application would be refused on the ground that Bolus had failed to produce satisfactory evidence of good character."

County Advertiser 9/3/1907

"The adjourned annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday at the Police Court.

The Bench renewed the license of the BULLS HEAD INN, Whiteheath, to William Turner. It was explained that the magistrates declined to renew the license to Walter Bolus at the annual sessions on the ground that he had been convicted for permitting gaming and had not satisfied the Bench of his good character."

Dudley Chronicle 16/2/1928

"Annual Licensing Sessions for Rowley Regis.

They had all the applications for renewals before them, and they had given consideration to them with a view to reducing their number. They had decided to defer until the adjourned licensing day the licenses of.

BULLS HEAD, Whiteheath, on the ground of redundancy."

Dudley Chronicle 15/3/1928

"The adjourned annual Licensing Meeting was held at Old Hill Police Court last week.

With regard to six licenses, adjourned at the annual Licensing Sessions for further consideration on the grounds of redundancy, the chairman said they had decided to renew the licenses of three of them. BULLS HEAD, Whiteheath."

1939 Register

111, Whiteheath

[1] William Lowe, date of birth 9/4/1898, public house manager, married;

[2] Sarah Lowe, dob 8/4/1896, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[3] Florence (Lowe) Billington, dob 3/3/1924, drilling machinist, single:

"Big" Billy Lowe also worked at Birchley Rolling Mills.

He weighed 17 stones.

A spirit license was granted on 5th February 1947, and confirmed on 24th April 1947.

The Whiteheath Five Bird Club (pigeons) was based here. [1981]

Maurice Hall was married to Edna.

See also CALIFORNIA and BEECH TREE, Blackheath.

Nicky Howen – see also RAILWAY, Oldbury, and STRUGGLING MAN, Dudley.

Halesowen News 26/8/1999

"Twenty jobs have been created in Oldbury thanks to a new look at the BULLS HEAD, Birchfield Lane.

The Oldbury pub closed its doors to customers over six weeks ago for a refurbishment by Banks's Brewery. The facelift has cost £1.5m and the new management team John and Annette Whitehead are looking forward to the challenges that lie ahead. The BULLS HEAD has a record for long running staff and the couple are looking forward to their stint behind the bar. John said, 'The pub will look great and we are looking forward to making lots of new friends.'

The doors of the pub will reopen at the end of the month."

Renamed RED BULL SPORTS BAR. [2018]

Halesowen News 7/12/2021

"An Oldbury pub can keep its outdoor decking and pergola which it put up before getting planning permission. The BULLS HEAD INN, on Birchfield Lane, has been granted retrospective planning permission for the outdoor seating area, which it built in April. The application from Mr. Emini Perparim was for the 'retention of raised decking and pergola forming new external seating area.'

Planners at Sandwell Council said the pub could keep the construction as long as it is closed to customers between 9pm and mid-day except for smokers complying with smoke-free legislation. They said 'no drinks shall be permitted in external areas between 9pm and noon (midday)' and that no 'amplified music could be played outdoors at the pub.' They said this was to prevent nearby residents from noise and 'general disturbance.' Notes to planners state the pub employs four part-time and four full-time employees."

[2021]

BULL TERRIER

54, (8), Surfeit Hill Road, (Codsall Road), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd.

LICENSEES

Arthur Burrows (1960 – [1965])

William 'Bill' Taylor []

Jim Beasley [1971] – [1973]

Philip Cherrington [1984]

Derek Pincher [1986]

NOTES

8, Surfeit Hill

54, Surfeit Hill [1990], [1994], [1998]

Staffordshire Advertiser 3/5/1941

"County Licensing Confirmation Committee.....

Application for the confirmation of a grant for the removal of the full licence of the ANCHOR INN, Dudley Wood Road, Cradley Heath, to premises to be erected on land and premises now numbered 8, Surfeit Hill, Cradley Heath.....

Mr. H. A. Tucker (barrister), who appeared in support of the application, said the ANCHOR INN belonged to the Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd, who also owned the proposed new site. The ANCHOR INN was a fully licensed house doing a good trade, but there were other licensed houses in that area, whereas there was no proper provision for licensed refreshments in the area to which it was proposed to move the licence. The value of the ANCHOR INN was assessed at £5,000, and the value of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, which it was proposed to surrender if the application were granted, was assessed at £3,000.....

Evidence was also given by Albert Thomas Butler, architect, who, in reply to the Chairman, said that under normal conditions it would take about 18 months to build the new house. He agreed that it was unlikely that building would be commenced until the war had ended.....

After a retirement the Chairman announced that the committee were unable to confirm the transfer that day, but they would be willing to consider another application when there was a likelihood of the new licensed house being erected."

The building was completed in December 1960, replacing an off license of the same name.

The Final Order was granted on 7th December 1960.

The team from here won the Cradley Heath Dominoes League in 1962 and 1963.

They were runners up in 1961.

Black Country Bugle 1973 - Advert

“Now Open: The luxurious new Brindle Lounge at the BULL TERRIER, Surfeit Hill Road, Cradley Heath. After extensive alterations the new lounge is now open.”

Black Country Bugle 1973

‘New Room At The Bull Terrier’

“A pub called the BULL TERRIER can hardly go wrong, in the Black Country, and when it opens a palatial lounge called the Brindle Room and invites Joe Mallen along to the ceremony it’s a pretty fair bet that someone at the brewery knows a little bit about the terrain and its people! The BULL TERRIER, in Codsall Road, Cradley Heath, is by no means one of the oldest taverns in the town but it has succeeded in capturing the old spirit of such establishments, while dispensing with the sawdust and spittoons of half a century ago.

Licensee, Jim Beasley, has spent the last three years at the BULL TERRIER, which was opened about 12 years ago by another great bull terrier man, Billy Taylor, who has owned some great dogs in his time but reckons that his ‘Brindle Bill’ was the best bull terrier ever spawned in the Black Country, winning over 200 firsts in a great show career. There are those who would argue with this viewpoint, not least Joe Mallen, whose great Crufts champion ‘Gentleman Jim’ really put the breed on the map in 1939! But that’s the kind of argument which could go on forever; the kind that the clientele of a ‘boozer’ like the BULL TERRIER love to get involved in.

When we dropped in the other day to get the lie of the land we were privileged to talk to some real old Black Country characters and the conversation soon got round to dogs and pigeons and old time entertainment. To illustrate the latter, Fred Guy (aged 77) gave us a few choruses of ‘Burlington Bertie from Bow’ in the style he used as a pub, club and music-hall entertainer, 60 years ago. Although he concedes that his wind wasn’t what it was, he gave a very spirited performance which had the company calling for an encore and Fred for an oxygen mask!

We then had a look at the Brindle Room which Joe Mallen had opened a few nights before and saw a fine portrait of ‘Gentleman Jim’ etched in copper, a fitting reminder of a great and famous dog. There are also pictures of the most famous representatives of the breed, supplied by Mrs. Priest.....”

Arthur Burrows was married to Annie.

A team from here took part in the Cradley Heath Darts League. [1970]

Sandwell Evening Mail 26/6/1986

“Kind-hearted regulars at a Black Country pub are hoping to boost funds for a three-year-old boy with a rare skin disease by staging a week-long series of fun nights. Customers at the BULL TERRIER pub in Surfeit Hill, Cradley Heath, plan to raise £1,000 for toddler Neil Lewis to help research into the rare affliction. Neil, of Lloyds Road, Halesowen, has so far had 14 operations to remove a giant mole covering his body.

Licensee of the BULL TERRIER Mr. Derek Pincher said a charity darts exhibition by Tipton player Steve Parkes boosted the appeal by £200, while regulars had also been contributing during the pub’s novelty nights this week.”

Birmingham Weekly Mercury 11/4/1999 - Advert

“Elaine did it, so can You!

Elaine found it hard to slim on her own so she finally went along to one of our slimming classes for help. Elaine found the friendly atmosphere and individual attention was just what she needed to concentrate on losing weight.

Lose Your Weight with Super Slim. We give you a choice of 3 successful diets on which you will Never be hungry, individual attention, recommended only normal family foods and No Calorie Counting.....

BULL TERRIER, Surfeit Hill, off Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath, Mon 7.00pm.”

Dudley News 7/2/2012

“The Kingfisher Club is launching its monthly disco at the BULL TERRIER, Surfeit Hill Road, on Thursday March 1 and is hoping to give local young DJs their first taste of stardom. Les Partridge, founder of the Kingfisher Club, is hoping the monthly disco will become a regular fixture in Cradley Heath. He said, ‘We are looking forward to the first disco in March and we hope it will be a success because there is not enough activities for people with learning difficulties in this area. We are hoping some local DJs who have been practicing in their bedrooms and would like an audience will get in contact and play the music at our discos. The disco is for over 16s and the music will be whatever the young people want to listen to these days but we thought it would be nice to give a DJ their first break.’

The Kingfisher Club has been providing activities for people with learning difficulties from across the Black Country for the last 14 years including organising day trips and annual holidays to Brixham.

Mr. Partridge said, ‘We are trying our best to help people of all ages with learning difficulties but we have a great time whenever we put activities or holidays on. We are self-funded and rely on donations as well as grants and are always on the look out for either financial or practical help.’”

It was converted into a shop in 2015.

BUSH

Four Ways, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Adams [1868]

NOTES

Stourbridge Observer 11/4/1868

“At the Petty Sessions, on Wednesday last, before E. Moore and F. W. G. Barrs, Esqrs, John Billingham and Benjamin Bradbury were summoned as stewards of a Friendly Society held at Mr. Adams's, the BUSH INN, Cradley Heath. Mr. Stokes defended. Complainant said he was a member of the above society, and was entitled to twenty four weeks' pay.

Defendants refused to pay because witness had sold sixty cabbage plants to a young man for 2d. Witness had received twenty weeks' pay, at 4s a week.

Cross-examined: I have been ill, and the club finds a doctor. There are two belonging to the society, Messrs. Morrow and Higgs. Have not been to the medical officer since the 28th of March, nor for a fortnight previous, as they said medical aid would do my complaint no good. I applied at the end of the week for my pay. Defendants refused to pay. I had a note of the surgeon at the time, but did not produce it. The president of the society called upon me, and told me not to get 'pottering' in the garden. He did not tell me that the members were complaining of me, working in the garden, but told me to be cautious. I employ my son in the garden. I cultivate my land for the purpose of selling the produce. Have sold plants before, but never pulled them out of the garden myself before, stood and pointed out which were to be drawn.

Mr. Stokes addressed the Bench for the defence, and said that though it appeared a trivial case in itself, it was one of importance to the society. They had had repeated complaints about complainant working in the garden. He had been cautioned and had been fined 10s for so doing, but had refused to pay it.

Samuel Billingham, president, said he visited the complainant, and remonstrated with him for working in the garden. He had done so at the request of the stewards. Witness found him at work in the garden, apparently setting beans or peas. From a communication received the case was brought before the lodge, and the result was that the complainant was fined 10s, and ordered to return the money he had received, according to the rule. Complainant's wife came to the lodge, and she was told of it.

Thomas Mason, engine driver, said that complainant had a farm near to his engine, and he (witness) saw him at work in the garden, and he sent for the president and gave information, as he was himself a member of the society.

Mr. Stokes said they did not wish to take the least advantage against the complainant. To show that, the president and other members had paid three weeks' arrears for him, so that he should be entitled to his pay.

W. Wood said that he went to the complainant's for some cabbage plants. Complainant pulled them up and tied them together, and witness paid him twopence for the plants. The secretary of the club was called and stated that no minute of the fine was made, or that the resolution of the members was upon the books.

The Bench considered that defendant had admitted being in the garden at work, and dismissed the case; but thought it was a trivial offence.”

Stourbridge Observer 8/4/1871

“Benjamin Billingham and Thomas Blunt, trustees of a Friendly Society held at the BUSH INN, Rowley Regis, were summoned for unlawfully refusing to pay Thomas Clee the sum of 14s, as a member of the society, for four weeks' allowance during his sickness, up to the 27th of March. Mr. Homfray appeared for the complainant, and Mr. Shakespeare for the defence.

Complainant said he lived at Rowley, and was a chainmaker. He was 67 years old. He was a member of the Friendly Society in question, and had been a member for 47 years. It was held at the BUSH INN, Four Ways. The rules produced are the rules of the society. He had been on the box about two years and three quarters. Mr. Higgs is the doctor of the society. Witness went to him, and after the examination he received 5s 6d per week. They paid him up to five weeks ago. He applied for it, and they refused to pay because Joseph Brandon, one of the members, thought he was getting in coal. He had a fork in his hand. He attended a committee meeting a fortnight afterwards. They decided to stop his pay, and he had not had it since. He had applied for it three times, and had been refused. He was always tottering, and was unable to work. He was in the same state now as when the surgeon examined him.

Cross-examined: Have been receiving pay for about two years and three quarters. He had the stomach ache for six months before he went on the box. He had had it since then. He went on the box on account of having the stomach ache. It caused him pain in the back, and he could not stoop to work. He tried to work before he went on the box. He had four houses, which brought him 3s 6d per week each. Had always had his pay up to the time he had the load of slack. He only had 14cwt of slack, the load, and his daughter got it in. He did not get any of it in. He was forking little pieces of coal out of some ashes. He was not at it five minutes. He was not picking it up and throwing it into the shop. He knew Joseph Brandon, who told him that the society did not allow that. The President of the society went to him on the following Tuesday, and asked him to attend a committee meeting. He did attend a meeting, and heard some of the members say that he was picking up coal and throwing it into the shop. He said if he did wrong he would try to do right. He had seen Mr. Higgs, and he told him he was not able to do any laborious work.

Hannah Mansell, daughter of complainant, said she recollected the 18th of February last, when they were having some fine slack got in. Witness got it in herself. It was for the use of the house. She got it in baskets. Complainant did not carry any coal in. He got a potato fork and rooted out some of the pieces, and she carried them in. Brandon went by at the time, and said they did not allow complainant to work, and she told him he was not carrying it in. He had been on the box for some time.

Cross-examined: Would swear her father did not carry any coal in. There were some lumps about 4lbs, but he did not carry them in.

Mr. Shakespeare, in defence, called James Homer, who said on the 18th of February he was passing complainant's house, when he saw him pick lumps of coal weighing five or six pounds, and throw them into the shop. He informed the officers of the society what he had seen.

Cross-examined: Did not see his daughter there.

Joseph Brandon, chainmaker, said he remembered the 18th of February. He was passing complainant's house. He saw defendant, who had a fork in his hand. He was rooting coal up, and pushing in towards his daughter. Witness told him that the society did not allow him to work. He informed the stewards of the society.

Samuel Billingham, President of the Society, said from information received he went to see complainant on the Tuesday, and told him of the charge. Complainant said he had a fork in his hand, getting out the large pieces of coal from the slack. They had a committee meeting, and it was decided to fine the complainant 10s, and for him to refund the money he had received from the society. Everything was done in a proper manner.

The Bench did not consider there had been any breach of the rules, and made the order."

Check HOLLY BUSH.

CABLE AND ANCHOR

CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

C Homes [1865]

NOTES

Hope and Anchor Lodge of A.O.F. met here. [1865]

CALIFORNIA

1, Halesowen Street, BLACKHEATH

OWNERS

City Brewery (Lichfield) Co. Ltd.

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. [1941]

LICENSEES

Benjamin Gadd []

Adam Hickman [1857]

Ann White [1861]

Joseph Downing [1866] – [1881]

Josiah Downing [1891] – [1902]

Henry Foxall [] – 1905);
James Winfield (1905 – 1906);
George Willetts (1906 – 1930);
Frank Tromans (1930 – 1940);
Thomas William Nock (1940 – 1944);
George Ivan Wood (1944 – 1959);
George Henry Breakwell (1959 – 1960);
Albert Clifford Hawkins (1960 – 1963);
Arthur James Goulds (1963 – 1965);
Mrs. Dorcas May Comley (1965 – []
Maurice Hall [1970s]
David J Woodhall-Lawrence [2002]

NOTES

It had a beerhouse license.

Black Country Bugle - Pub of the Month

“Its construction was financed by Benjamin Gadd, a Rowley man who emigrated to America in the 1830s, struck it rich in the 1849 Gold Rush and returned to his native acres a wealthy man. He named the tavern, the CALIFORNIA to commemorate his own lucky strike in the American goldfields. He was a reckless gambler and is said to have lost the tavern in a card game to a Lichfield brewer at Stourbridge racecourse ‘almost before its windows were glazed.’

No expense was spared in its construction and the lower frontage of the building was clad in the glazed brick which still remains in prime condition. The pub became a virtual goldmine in those Blackheath pioneering days. It was a favourite haunt of local colliers, many of whom were new to the town, having poured in from all points of the compass when our own Black Gold Rush was in full swing. Many of those early settlers found a home and put down roots in Blackheath’s teeming tenements. In those days the CALIFORNIA was a regular venue for blood sports. Cock-fights and contests between bull terriers (then called the miners’ dog) took place in its backyard with Sergeant Salt, the Blackheath lawman, turning a blind eye to such activities. He was a dog man and was to organize such events himself, when he took over the license of the DRAGON.”

Aris’s Birmingham Gazette 24/8/1857 - Advert

“Valuable Freeholds, at Black Heath, on the main road from Oldbury to Hales Owen and Rowley, and at Cradley Heath, near the Corngreaves Works, both in the county of Stafford.

Most Substantially-Built Inn and Dwelling Houses, in Excellent Letting Situations.

To be Sold by Auction by Joseph Parkes, on Tuesday the 8th of September next, at seven o’clock in the evening, at the house of Mr. Joses Nicklin, the ROYAL OAK INN, Blackheath, subject to conditions then to be produced, either in two or more lots, as may be agreed upon at the time of sale – a very desirable, commodious and well-built Inn, and two Dwelling Houses and Shops adjoining, situate at Black Heath aforesaid.

Also an excellent-built Dwelling House and Workshops at Cradley Heath.

The Inn at Black Heath is well known by the sign of the CALIFORNIA INN, in the occupation of Adam Hickman, and consists of commodious front parlours and tap-room, cooking kitchen, bar, large club-room, two large bed rooms, and attic; Malt-room, and Cellaring under the whole; two-stall Stable, Piggery, spacious Yard, Chainmaker’s Shop, and other Out-offices, with a good supply of hard and soft Water.

The two Houses adjoining comprise a Dwelling House, in the occupation of Charles Yardley; consisting of front and back sitting-room, four bed-rooms, large Brewhouse, with Garden, Piggery, and Yard; and also a Dwelling House, in the occupation of Mr. Baker, consisting of front shop, back sitting-room, two bed-rooms, cellaring, and Outbuildings.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 5/7/1858 - Advert

“Public House Fixtures, Furniture, &c.

By Mr. Hawkins, This Day (Monday), July 5, at the CALIFORNIA INN, Black Heath, near Rowley.

The whole of the Public House Fixtures, Brewing Utensils, part of the Household Furniture, &c.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 22/12/1860

“Staffordshire Winter Assizes.

James Slim, 27, wheelwright, was indicted for having feloniously cut and wounded William Laister, with intent to murder him, at Rowley Regis, on the 15th of September, 1859. Mr. Motteram was engaged to conduct the prosecution, and Mr. Kenealy defended the prisoner.

Mr. Motteram, in stating the case to the jury, said the prosecutor was a maltster residing at Rowley Regis, and on the evening of the 15th of September, 1859, he went into the CALIFORNIA INN, in that place, accompanied by Mr. Crump. When they got there they found the prisoner’s brother, Benjamin Slim, quarrelling with a man named Brooks, and treating him in the most violent manner. The prosecutor desired Benjamin Slim to discontinue his ill-usage of Brooks, and he and Mr. Crump, not liking to see what was going on, left the house. The prosecutor either went to fetch a policeman or sent for one, and that was the cause of what afterwards occurred. The prisoner became angry, and uttered threats with respect to the prosecutor. The prosecutor became alarmed and went home, and remained till ten or eleven o'clock, when he unfortunately left his house to see if all was right. Although the prosecutor had left the CALIFORNIA at seven or eight o'clock the prisoner seemed to have waited for him, for he no sooner got out of his house than the prisoner struck him with some sharp instrument – a dagger or a knife – causing him to fall on the ground. Not satisfied with that, it appeared that when the prosecutor was on the ground the prisoner jumped on him, kicked him, and otherwise ill-treated him. But even that did not satisfy the prisoner, for when the prosecutor was helped up, and on his way to his house, he (the prisoner) took something out of his pocket, which he threw at him and knocked him down. The prosecutor was then led into the house of Mr. Crump dangerously wounded; and the prisoner afterwards went up to the house and made violent exclamations as to what he would do and what he would not be satisfied without doing. The learned counsel then called the following witnesses.

William Laister, the prosecutor, deposed that he resided at Black Heath, Rowley Regis, about 100 or 150 yards from the CALIFORNIA INN, where he went between seven and eight o'clock on the evening of the 15th September, 1859, with Mr. Crump, whose residence was about half-way between his own house and the inn. While at the inn he made an observation as to what the prisoner's brother Benjamin was doing, requesting him in a friendly way not to strike Brooks, with whom he was quarrelling, whilst he was down. In consequence of the quarrelling he left the house with Mr. Crump, and as he was going out he observed the prisoner in the kitchen. On his way home William Robinson gave him information which induced him to fetch a policeman. Between ten and eleven o'clock he went out of his house to ascertain whether the place was quiet and whether he might venture to go to bed.

The Judge: You say you left the house to see if all was quiet so that you might venture to go to bed – did you receive intimation that anything was happening which might render it unsafe for you to go to bed?

Prosecutor replied that he did. On his way from his house to Mr. Crump's the prisoner came up to him, and after uttering an uncouth expression, said, 'You've been to fetch the bobbies, haven't you?' and struck him on the left temple with a sharp instrument. He fell down, and when was on the ground the prisoner kicked him several times on his head, jumped on his breast, and said that he would 'jump his heart out.' He (prosecutor) believed he was helped up, and when moving in the direction of Mr. Crump's house he received a tremendous blow on the back of his head from some missile that had been hurled at him. He bled profusely, and was taken into Mr. Crump's house. A surgeon was sent for and his wounds were afterwards dressed at his own house. He was put to bed, and confined there from the effects of the wounds for several days. A short time afterwards erysipelas ensued, when Mr. Duncalf, surgeon, attended him and his life was endangered.

Cross-examined: He (prosecutor) had not been drinking before the attack. He only remonstrated with Benjamin Slim, who was beating Brooks in a brutal manner. He fetched the police on his own account soon after he reached home, because he received information from William Robinson, railway pin maker, which alarmed him. He knew James Slim, the prisoner, before, but had never quarrelled with him.

William Robinson, who was present at the CALIFORNIA when the quarrel took place between Benjamin Slim and Brooks, said he heard the prosecutor ask Benjamin Slim not to ill-treat Brooks. After the prosecutor was gone, Benjamin Slim threatened that he would kill him. Benjamin remained in the house and the prisoner went out, and on returning said, 'Hold your noise, I have been after the —,' meaning the prosecutor, 'and if I catch him I will murder him this night.' They both used threats whilst in the CALIFORNIA INN, and it was after those threats that he (witness) communicated to the prosecutor what he had heard. Whilst the prisoner was in the CALIFORNIA he took out of his pocket a large knife, the blade of which was six inches in length, and cut Brooks's jacket.

William Grove, nailmaker, residing near the prosecutor's house, deposed that between ten and eleven o'clock on the night in question he saw the prosecutor go out of his house in the direction of Mr. Crump's. He saw the prisoner and his brother Benjamin meet the prosecutor. The prisoner said, 'You've been to fetch the bobbies; I'll pay you; I'll kill you;' and he then struck him on the forehead, and he fell from the blow. The prisoner repeated his threat to kill him. The prosecutor then called out, and he (witness) called out also. Before the prosecutor got up from the ground the prisoner kicked him over his body and his head. Benjamin Slim then pulled the prisoner away, and witness lifted the prosecutor up. Whilst the prosecutor was crossing to Mr. Crump's house, the prisoner took something out of his pocket, which he threw at the prosecutor, striking him on his head, and knocking him down. Witness said, 'Good God, James, you have killed him.' He found the prosecutor was bleeding, and he lifted him up, and assisted him into Mr. Crump's house.

Cross-examined: No one was present but the prosecutor, the prisoner, Benjamin Slim, and himself (witness). He did not interfere because he was frightened.

Aaron Moyle, watchman at Black Heath, deposed that about nine o'clock on the night in question he saw the prisoner at the CALIFORNIA INN with a bright sharp instrument – a dagger or a knife – about six inches in length.

Thomas Smith, innkeeper, stated that he saw the prisoner and his brother Benjamin near Mr. Crump's house, at about half-past ten o'clock on the night of the 15th of September, in last year. He heard a cry of 'murder' after he had seen them. He ran out and saw the prosecutor taken into Mr. Crump's house. He saw the prisoner shake the door, and declare he would murder the prosecutor. He said that if he could not have his end of the prosecutor he would blow his house up.

In cross-examination the witness said he was not examined before the magistrates, because he was never called. He did not mention that he was there until after the examination before the justices. There were a 'good few' people about at the time the attack was made on the prosecutor.

Police-constable Joseph Powell, of Rowley Regis, deposed that about half-past eight o'clock on the evening of the 15th of September, in last year, he went into the CALIFORNIA to apprehend the prisoner. He saw Benjamin Slim there, and told him that he had a warrant against him for stealing powder. The prisoner came in, and with an oath said, 'What's the game now?' He took a knife out of his pocket, which was six or seven inches long, and said to witness, 'If you put a hand on me, I'll put this into you.'

Mr. Kenealy submitted that this was not evidence against the prisoner.

His Lordship said this was only a little time before the occurrence with the prosecutor, and he thought that everything the prisoner did with the knife ought to be related. They ought not to shut out from the jury what the intention of the prisoner was shortly before the alleged attack was made by him.

Witness continued. When the prisoner got out on the road he struck at the watchman (Moyle) with the knife. The watchman, to defend himself, pulled out a revolver. Witness said, 'Don't shoot him,' and they separated from each other. The prisoner then said if he could see the prosecutor he would stick the knife into his heart, and if he thought he was in his arm-chair he would fetch him out and murder him. He afterwards saw the prosecutor when blood was gushing from the back of his head. The warrant was taken out three or four days after the occurrence; but it was only executed a short time ago, because the prisoner could not be found. Mr. S. Crump proved that the prosecutor was taken to his home after he had been attacked, and that he was bleeding.

Mr. Henry Duncalf, surgeon, Westbromwich, said that he was called in to attend the prosecutor when he was suffering from erysipelas, which had resulted from a severe lacerated wound on the back of his head. That wound had been produced by a blunt instrument; and there was another wound, partly healed when he saw it, on the left temple. That had been caused by a sharp instrument. The prosecutor's life was in danger three or four days.

Cross-examined: It was the erysipelas, and not the wound, that endangered the prosecutor's life. Erysipelas was sometimes produced by a wound, and sometimes by a cold. It was not a necessary result of a cold.

Mr. Kenealy, for the defence, argued that there was no evidence against the prisoner except that of two witnesses, and even their testimony was not to be implicitly relied on. In reference to the evidence of Moyle, he said it was clear that he was, on the evening in question, in a state of great excitement, and would probably have shot the prisoner had not the policeman been there. They would not find the prisoner guilty because he had made a threat, for any one might make a threat to burn the Houses of Parliament, although he had no intention whatever to carry the threat into execution. Men were in the habit of using intemperate language; but what was there to show that the prisoner intended to carry out his threat? The statement of Smith was fished up three weeks ago, and was introduced to prejudice the case. It was no evidence that a man intended to do wrong if he pulled out a knife and threatened to stick any one who might lay hands on him especially when he was excited by another man threatening to shoot him with a revolver; nor was it any evidence that he had committed a crime if he left the neighbourhood and was not found for a year, for he might have left to escape being apprehended on the charge of stealing powder. Then, what motive had the prisoner for attempting to murder the prosecutor? The prosecutor had never done anything to the prisoner. He had not spoken to him or done anything to excite his animosity; and it was absurd to suppose that he would make such a murderous attack because the prosecutor had simply remonstrated with Benjamin Slim when brutally treating Brooks. Mr. Kenealy then contended that as it was Benjamin Slim who received the provocation from the prosecutor it must have been Benjamin who made the attack, and that the prosecutor and Grove were mistaken in the identity of the man who attacked and the other took him away when kicking the prosecutor while he lay on the ground. He maintained the prosecutor's mind was in such a perturbed state that he was not able to judge whether Benjamin Slim or the prisoner attacked him, and that Grove, the only other witness present at the time, was mistaken.

His Lordship, in summing up, pointed out there had been no question put to the witnesses by the prisoner's counsel to show that there was any resemblance between the prisoner and his brother by which they were liable to be mistaken for each other, and one might have been a little man and the other a tall man. He reminded them that the wound on the temple was inflicted by a sharp instrument, and the prisoner had been seen flourishing a sharp instrument, and threatening what he would do to the prosecutor; that he was not altogether without motive for using the knife, inasmuch as the prosecutor had fetched the policeman, who went to the CALIFORNIA for the purpose of apprehending him on the charge of stealing powder; and in considering whether the prisoner – if they were satisfied that it was the prisoner who struck the blows – had attempted to kill the prosecutor, or only to do him grievous bodily harm. They must judge of the intention partly by the act itself, partly by the language which accompanied it, and partly by the language that preceded it.

The jury almost immediately returned a verdict of guilty of the attempt to murder, and sentence of death was recorded.

His Lordship, addressing the prisoner, said, 'A very few years ago your life would have been forfeited for this ferocious attack; but the law is now more merciful, and although sentence of death is recorded against you, it is my duty to tell you that it will not be carried into effect. A more ferocious attack, a more violent assault, without adequate provocation – committed as far we know while you were perfectly sober, and coupled with the most violent threats – never was proved in a court of justice. It is almost impossible to conceive that you were conducting yourself in a civilised community, when you acted so ferociously with such a weapon, and without the least provocation. I should not be doing my duty, although that sentence will not be carried out, if I did not recommend to her Majesty's Government, that the whole of it, short of death, be carried out, and that you will be kept in penal servitude for the term of your natural life.'

It is understood that the prisoner is the brother of that William Slim who on the 12th inst, was convicted of a similar crime at Worcester, having, without any provocation, nearly killed an old man who had given him a shilling in a public house, and then poured his blood into the poor man's mouth."

1861 Census

Black Heath

[1] Ann White (60), widow, beerhouse keeper, born Hunnington;

[2] Dorothy White (24), daughter, born Dudley;

[3] Hannah Baker (13) general servant, born Oldbury:

County Advertiser 22/12/1866

"John Rollason, alias Stringer, and Samuel Foster were charged with cruelly ill-treating two dogs, by causing them to fight; and John Ward was charged with aiding and abetting in the same. From the evidence of Police-constables Hulme and Taylor it seemed that at a quarter to eleven o'clock on the night of Saturday, the 8th inst, they were sent for by the landlord of the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, to quell a disturbance in the house. In the kitchen the officer found two dogs, belonging to Rollason and Foster, fighting. The exhausted and bleeding condition of the dogs showed that the fight had been going on some time. Ward had the handling of one of the dogs; and an uproarious company were standing on the benches looking at the fight. The appearance of the officers caused a general panic, and the defendants only could be recognised. Rollason and Foster were each fined 10s and costs, or twenty-one days; and Ward was fined 5s and costs, or twenty-one days.”

County Advertiser 22/12/1866

“At the Police Court, on Wednesday, Thomas Darby was charged with assaulting Emmanuel Perry, a parish constable, on the 12th inst. The complainant was seated in the CALIFORNIA public house, Blackheath, and the defendant came in, and commenced to abuse him. This went on for some time, and defendant having ‘waxed warm,’ assaulted complainant, and tore his coat. Fined 1s and costs, or seven days.”

County Advertiser 25/8/1866

“Rowley annual licensing meeting was held yesterday.....
The following are the new applications and their results.....
Joseph Downing, Blackheath, refused.”

Joseph Downing, beer retailer, Blackheath. [1868]

Stourbridge Observer 4/6/1870

“William Stevenson, alias ‘Sugar,’ a well-known character, was charged with assaulting the police whilst in the execution of their duty, on the 30th ultimo, at Blackheath. Mr. Addison appeared for the defendant.

Joseph Downing, landlord of the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, said: On the 30th ult there was a disturbance at my house about eight pm. Defendant was present. He was creating a disturbance among the company. I told him to leave several times, and he refused to do so. I sent for the police, and Police-constables Taylor and Hume came. Taylor ordered him out, and he refused to go, and they were compelled to put him out by force. He resisted, and struck, kicked and fought the officers. He struck Taylor in the face. Defendant threw himself on the floor, and they were obliged to pull him out.

Cross-examined: Saw Dick Parkes, Jack Cliff, ‘Father’ Robinson, Samuel Roberts, James Fisher, and ‘Monster’ in the room.

There were several there I did not know. Do not know Mr. White. Did not see him there. Defendant came into the house about half past eight. I was sober. Do not recollect any of the men staking to fight. Heard something said about 5s having been spent. James Fisher and Dick Parkes did not fight in my house before defendant came in. The quarrelling was over. Defendant tried to set Mounter on to fight. Did not see Police-constable Taylor strike defendant, or put his foot on his arm.

Police-constable Taylor said: I am stationed at Blackheath. Was fetched by last witness’s daughter on the 30th ult, with Police-constable Hume. When we went into the house defendant was there making a disturbance. The landlord and his son frequently requested him to leave. Hume and I told him to leave and not kick up a disturbance like that. He said, ‘I shall not leave for a b— like you,’ and struck me on the face. We then closed with him, and tried to put the handcuffs on him. He instantly began kicking, biting, and fighting. We got the handcuffs on one hand, and managed to get him outside into the street. In the house he kicked me on the side of my head. Slynn came up and put the handcuff on the other hand. He struck me twice on the nose and made it bleed and seized hold of Hume’s hand with his teeth, and bit him. At last we had to get a cart to bring him to the station. When we went in he was cursing and swearing, with another man named Mounter.

Cross-examined: Saw Ambrose Damper in the passage. Defendant said to him, ‘Will you see me taken like this?’ and Damper said, ‘I dare not.’ I did not stand upon him. We held him down with our hands. He did not complain of his arm being hurt. Did not use our staves. Hume hit him on the eye in order to make him loose his hold on his (Hume’s) hand.

Police-constable Hume corroborated Taylor.

Mr. Addison admitted the assault, and asked the Bench to be as merciful as they could, as defendant has a wife, and five children to support. He called Henry White, nailmaster, Blackheath, who said he went into the CALIFORNIA INN with defendant, on the above date, about half past seven. He was quite sober then. There was a row going on, and he went away and left defendant there.

The Bench considered the case was clearly proved against defendant, and fined him 50s and costs; in default three months’ imprisonment.”

Stourbridge Observer 18/6/1870

“Thomas Knight, butcher, Blackheath, was charged with unlawfully refusing to assist the police when called upon to do so on the 30th of May, at Blackheath.

Police-constable Slynn said: I am stationed at Blackheath. On the 30th of May last I was called into the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, to assist in turning a man named Shenstone out. We got him outside, when he began kicking and fighting. There was a great crowd in the road. Defendant was there, and I called on him to assist us. He turned round on his heel and said, ‘Not me,’ and walked away laughing. He was about five yards away from me, and I was in uniform. We obtained a horse and cart, and took the prisoner (Steventon) to the station.

Police-constable Taylor corroborated Slynn.

Defendant said he was not aware that he was bound to assist the police when called upon. Committed to take his trial at the next Stafford Sessions, bail being accepted in one surety of £40, and himself in one of £20.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 2/7/1870

“Staffordshire Quarter Sessions Bills Ignored.....

Thomas Knight, on bail, charged with unlawfully without lawful excuse refusing when duly called upon by one Thomas Slynn to aid and assist him in quelling a disturbance on the public highway, at Rowley Regis, on the 30th of May, the said Thomas Slynn then being a police constable in the due execution of his duty.”

Stourbridge Observer 28/1/1871

“William Parsons and James Hill were charged by Jane Sturman with assaulting her on the 9th instant. Mr. Addison appeared for complainant.

Complainant said she lived at Blackheath, and on the above date she was going to Downing's public house about ten o'clock in the morning. As she was going in defendants threw snowballs, and hit her in the face. As she was going out of the house they again threw at her and hit her. She told Parsons she should make him pay for it, and he laughed at her.

Cross-examined by Parsons: About 20 boys followed me to Downing's. I struck one of them.

Hill pleaded guilty, but said Parsons did not throw.

Parsons called Samuel Parsons, who said he was with defendant on the 9th, about ten o'clock. He did not see him throw anything at the complainant.

Cross-examined: Know John Smith, but did not tell him I saw defendant throwing.

Defendants were fined 6d and costs; or 24 hours in the cell.”

1871 Census

Halesowen Street – CALIFORNIA INN

- [1] Joseph Downing (62), publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Leah Downing (52), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Mary Downing (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Ann Downing (14), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Josiah Downing (32), lodger, blacksmith, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Mary Downing (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] James Downing (7), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Josiah Downing (2), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Thomas Kite (28), lodger, labourer, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Susanna Kite (26), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [11] Sarah A. Kite (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

Leah Downing died in the 2nd quarter of 1871 and was buried at St. Paul's, Blackheath.

Birmingham Daily Post 6/10/1871

“Threatened Strike in the Wrought Rivet Trade.

On Wednesday night, a meeting of the rivet and stud makers was held at the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, Rowley Regis, to consider the present state of affairs, and to agitate for an increase on the present prices paid by the masters. Mr. Cashmore presided, and in a long speech pointed out that the masters had for many years past paid a lower scale of wages than the men thought they were entitled to. Mr. Price also spoke, and commented strongly on the evil effects of strikes. He would rather the men sent two of their number to the masters, with a request that the old price list might be re-established on Saturday next. If the masters failed to give in their adhesion to the proposition, he should advise the men to give fourteen days' notice on Saturday. This advice was ultimately put into the proposition, and carried unanimously.”

Birmingham Daily Post 25/10/1871

“The Rivet and Stud Trade.

A meeting of masters and men was held at the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, Rowley Regis, on Monday evening, but in consequence of the small attendance nothing of importance was done. Another meeting was held yesterday morning. Mr. Isaac Cashmore presided, and Mr. John Price addressed the men. In opening the meeting, the Chairman read the masters' altered price list, which the men would not adhere to, and insisted upon having the price they asked for. Unless the masters would give this they were determined to continue the strike. The real difficulty is with the little masters, who will not accede to the wishes of the men, and thus keep the whole trade in a state of agitation.”

Joseph Downing, beer retailer, Blackheath. [1872]

County Advertiser 7/12/1872

“Silvanus Harris and James Hooper were charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, on the 26th ult. Defendants were fined 5s each and costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 14/12/1872

“Joseph Downing, beerhouse keeper, of Blackheath, was charged with permitting drunkenness in his house, on the 26th ult. Mr. Stokes defended.

Police-constable Jackson said that on the above date he visited the defendant's house about half past six o'clock. He found some men there fighting. Visited the house again at ten o'clock and found men fighting in the house. The men were stripped. The defendant asked witness to put the men out of the house, the first time, and he did so.

Cross-examined: Defendant was trying to put the men out of the house the first time I went.

Police-constable Wade said he visited defendant's house at ten o'clock, in company with the last witness. He saw three men drunk, two of whom were stripped, fighting. One was bleeding. Defendant asked them to get the men out, and they did so. The landlord did not send for them. They heard a noise and went in.

Mr. Stokes addressed the Bench for the defence, and contended that defendant did not permit drunkenness; but, according to the evidence of Jackson, defendant was trying to get the men out when the police went in. If that was true the defendant was not liable. If the Bench considered that the defendant had transgressed he thought that the paying of costs would meet the ends of justice.

Mr. Moore said that, taking defendant's previous good character into consideration, they should order him to pay costs only."

County Express 18/4/1874

"William Taylor, Richard Taylor, and Solomon Roberts, were charged with being drunk and disorderly at the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath on the 30th ult. Police-constable Jackson proved the offence, and the defendants were each fined 2s 6d and costs."

Birmingham Daily Post 11/4/1877

"The Strike in the Rivet Trade.

The strike in Black Heath still continues, the men having been out for six weeks. A crowded meeting was held at the CALIFORNIA INN, on Monday, when the following resolution was carried: That this meeting pledges itself not to commence work until the list price be acceded."

County Advertiser 16/6/1877

"David Bennett, nailmaker, was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the premises of Joseph Downing, on the 2nd inst, and with refusing to quit when ordered to do so. Mr. Hayes prosecuted.

Mr. Superintendent Woollaston said there was a charge against the prosecutor for permitting drunkenness in his house, and Mr. Hayes apologised for his client not being present, stated that he was injured in attempting to eject the defendant, and was unable to attend.

Rosannah Downing, wife of prosecutor, said that on the night of the 2nd inst the defendant came into her house, the CALIFORNIA INN, Old Hill. After being in some time a man began 'chaffing' him about working while the other nailmakers were on strike. He then became disorderly, and prosecutor ordered him to leave, which he refused to do. In attempting to eject him the latter fell down, and his knee was hurt so much that he had to have medical assistance. Defendant was afterwards put out of the house by a policeman.

Police-constable McGourty said he went to the house, and found the defendant there in a very drunken state, and creating a disturbance by fighting.

In his defence, Bennett said he was enraged by the taunts of the men referred to by Mrs. Downing, and did not know whether he was ordered to leave or not.

Before the magistrates decided the case, the defendant and another nail-maker, named Neri Hingley, were charged with being drunk and disorderly on the 2nd inst, in Halesowen Street and High Street, Blackheath. They pleaded guilty, and Police-constables McGourty and Frost proved the offence. Hingley was fined for the drunkenness 2s 6d and costs, or seven days; and Bennett for each of the offences he was charged with, was fined 5s and costs, or fourteen days.

Joseph Downing was then charged with permitting drunkenness in his house on the 2nd inst, Mr. Woollaston being the prosecutor. Police-constable McGourty said he was near the place, and heard a great noise of cursing and swearing inside. Somebody who was standing by suggested that he should go in, and he did so, when he found the two former defendants, Bennett and Hingley, there. They were very drunk, and were fighting, but no one endeavoured to separate them.

Cross-examined: Had known Hingley for some time before the date of the occurrence.

Police-constable Frost said that on three separate occasions on the night in question he visited the public house, and found a man named Robinson inside, very drunk. Witness also noticed another man who was the worse for liquor.

Police-sergeant Hand deposed that he went to the defendant's house along with the former witness and found Robinson there, quite tipsy. On finding him there a second time he called the landlord's attention to the drunkenness which was going on, to which he replied that he was lame, and could not see to the men himself. Witness also saw other people leave the house who were the worse for drink.

Bennett was called and said he was in the house, and was so excited with the drink he could not tell what happened distinctly.

Mr. Hayes submitted for the defence that the man Bennett came into his client's house while sober, and when he became disorderly, no ale was supplied to him, but he was ordered to leave. He denied that Neri Hingley was there at all. In support of this Mrs. Downing, Hingley, and another witness were called. Thomas Robinson was then charged with being drunk at the CALIFORNIA INN, Police-constable Frost and Police-sergeant Hand gave evidence in proof of the offence. He was fined 5s and costs, in default fourteen days' imprisonment.

Joseph Downing, landlord of the public house, was fined £5 and costs, the magistrates remarking that on the present occasion they should not endorse his license, but hoped that the fine would act as a caution to him."

County Express 25/8/1877

"After the business of the Petty Sessions had been disposed of the Annual Licensing Sessions were held. The Black List was first called on, and it appeared that the following were the publicans who had been convicted of offences against the Licensing Laws during the past year.....

Joseph Downing, CALIFORNIA INN, Old Hill.....

Mr. Superintendent Woollaston opposed the renewal of Downing's license on the ground that he had since last licensing day been heavily fined by the Bench for an offence under the Licensing Act. It was also a fact that a man had been seriously injured in a brawl which took place at Downing's house.

The Bench thought the case rather a serious one, and suspended the license until the adjourned licensing day.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 28/9/1877

“Old Hill Adjourned Licensing Meeting was held on Wednesday, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.....

The license of Joseph Downing, of the CALIFORNIA beerhouse, Blackheath, which had been suspended from the annual licensing meeting, was renewed on the application of Mr. Hayes.”

County Express 2/2/1878

“Joseph Mole, Jonah Mole, Samuel Mole, William Parsons, and John Round, rivet makers, all of Blackheath, pleaded guilty to a charge of refusing to quit a licensed house kept by Joseph Downing, the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath. Complainant stated that on the 21st ult the defendants were in his house and commenced fighting. He ordered them to leave but they refused to do so. Police-constable Frost said that on the night in question, he went to complainant’s house, and saw the defendants there, but did not see any one fighting. They left at his request. Joseph Mole was fined 5s and costs or fourteen days, and the other defendants 1s and costs or seven days.”

County Advertiser 16/3/1878

“A well-attended meeting of the rivet makers of Rowley, Blackheath and Old Hill district was held on Wednesday night at the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath. The meeting was convened for the purpose of considering the difficulty cause by the breach of a contract entered into between the masters and workmen in November last as to the wages to be paid for the various classes of work.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 26/3/1878

“Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the rivet-makers of the Rowley and Blackheath districts was held at the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, for the purpose of receiving the report of the delegates who attended the conference on Friday night last, and also to consider what steps should be taken with a view to a satisfactory settlement of the difficulty existing at present in the trade..... It is believed that if the masters carry out their resolution to reduce the men, a general strike will take place in the district.”

County Express 13/4/1878

“William Dingle and James Westwood, rivet makers, were charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of Joseph Downing, CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath. The landlord stated that on the night of the 6th inst the defendants visited his house and created a disturbance. He ordered them to leave but they refused to do so, and ultimately a policeman was sent for and they were ejected. Police-sergeant Cooper gave confirmatory evidence. Defendants were fined 2s 6d and costs each, or fourteen days’ imprisonment.”

County Express 9/11/1878

“Joseph Downing, landlord of the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, was charged with having permitted drunkenness in his house on the 31st ult. Mr. Stokes appeared for the defence.

Police-constable Hicklin gave evidence to the effect that at about five minutes before eleven o’clock on the night of the 31st ult, he visited defendant’s house and found there a man named Lowe who was drunk. Another man was in the act of holding him up, and was offering him liquor. On defendant’s attention being called to Lowe he said, ‘Oh, he’s all right, he’s quiet.’ Witness left the house and made a communication to Police-sergeant Cooper and they both returned to the house just as defendant was turning out his customers. Lowe was supported down the steps leading into the street by two men, and when left alone he fell against a wall. Witness and a companion assisted the man to his home which was about a mile from Blackheath. When on the way Lowe asked them to release him, but immediately they withdrew their support, he ‘pitched’ on to his head and lay upon the ground in a helpless state.

Mr. Stokes for the defence submitted that the case had not been made out, inasmuch as the prosecution had not shown that defendant was aware that any person was drunk upon his premises, or that he had wilfully permitted a drunken man to remain there. The landlord was married on the day in question, and being absent he was not aware that the man had been at his house several hours of the day. He pointed out that Lowe did not show any signs of intoxication until near closing time when the officer visited the house and drew the landlord’s attention to him. Defendant had Lowe turned out of the house, and thus prevented a violation of the law.

The officer was re-called, and stated that when he served the summons defendant admitted to him that he was in his house after ten o’clock on the night of the alleged offence.

A witness named Pearson, called for the defence, said that he had charge of defendant’s house during his absence. Lowe entered the house between nine and ten o’clock in the morning and remained during the whole of the forenoon and the afternoon. The defendant did not return home until about nine o’clock at night and he thought he did not see Lowe until the officer pointed him out. It was then nearly eleven o’clock.

William Jones said he was in company with Lowe for some hours. He left Lowe at nine o’clock and Lowe was then perfectly sober.

A third witness said that between nine and half-past nine defendant ‘just popped into’ the room in which he and Lowe were. Joseph Lowe was then charged with having been found drunk in Downing's house. He pleaded guilty, and said he did not know whether he was taken home or not. Fined 2s 6d and costs, or seven days.

The Bench then decided Downing's case, and as he had been previously fined £5 for an offence against the Licensing Act, they now fined him £10 and costs, and ordered that his license should be endorsed."

Dudley Herald 30/8/1879

"The annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis division was held on the 26th ult.

All the applications were renewed with the exception of Arthur Dabbs, of the JUNCTION INN, Tividale, who had been twice convicted during the previous year for offences against the Licensing Act, his application was refused; and Joseph Downing, of the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, whose license had been endorsed. His application was ordered to stand over until the adjourned licensing session.

The convictions against beerhouse keepers were.

Joseph Downing, CALIFORNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, permitting drunkenness. Fined £10 and costs. Licensed endorsed, second offence."

County Express 27/9/1879

"Adjourned Licensing Session.

Joseph Downing, licensed victualler, CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, applied for a renewal of his license. The application, which was supported by Mr. Hayes, was granted."

1881 Census

1, Halesowen Street

[1] Joseph Downing (69), beerhouse keeper, born Blackheath;

[2] Polly Downing (58), wife, born Blackheath;

[3] Mary Downing (18), daughter, barmaid, born Blackheath;

[4] Elizabeth Homer (18), boarder, domestic servant:

1891 Census

1, Halesowen Street

[1] Josiah Downing (51), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Mary Downing (50), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] James Downing (27), son, master blacksmith, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Josiah Downing (23), son, assistant brewer, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Harry Downing (16), son, assistant blacksmith, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Thomas Downing (14), son, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Joseph Downing (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[8] Mary A. Westwood (19), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

Josiah Downing, beer retailer, 1, Halesowen Road. [1896]

County Advertiser 16/5/1896 - Notice

"Advertisement of Cancelling.

Notice is Hereby Given that the Chief Registrar of Friendly Societies has, pursuant to 38 and 39 Vic, c.60, s.12, by writing under his hand, dated the 13th day of May, 1896, Cancelled the Registry of the Handel Friendly Society (Register No.1401), held at CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, Dudley, in the County of Stafford, at its request.

The Society (subject to the right of appeal given by the said Act) ceases to enjoy the privileges of a registered society, but without prejudice to any liability incurred by the society, which may be enforced against it as if such cancelling had not taken place.

E. W. Brabrook, Chief Registrar."

Josiah Downing was also an iron gate manufacturer. [1900]

1901 Census

1, Halesowen Street

[1] Josiah Downing (63), blacksmith, born Blackheath;

[2] Mary Downing (63), wife, born Blackheath;

[3] James Downing (41), son, blacksmith, born Blackheath;

[4] Harry Downing (25), son, blacksmith, born Blackheath;

[5] Thomas Downing (24), son, carpenter, born Blackheath;

[6] Joseph Downing (20), son, barman publican, born Blackheath;

[7] Fanny Perks (19), domestic servant, born Whiteheath:

County Express 2/8/1902 - Advert

"Monday, August 11th, 1902. CALIFORNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath, Rowley Regis, Staffs.

To Publicans, Machinery Brokers, Blacksmiths, Furniture Buyers, and Others.

Mr. W. Hackett has received instructions from Mr. Josiah Downing, who is leaving the Premises, to Sell by Auction, upon the Premises as above on Monday, August 11th, 1902.

A quantity of Household Furniture, the whole of the Nearly-new Brewing Plant, large quantity of Blacksmith's Tools, Engines, Boilers, Lathes, Anvils, Dies, &c, comprising Chests of Drawers, Swing Glasses, Overmantels, Wash Stands and Dressing Tables, Sewing Machine, Clocks, Cane-seated and other Chairs, Sets of Iron Bedsteads, Toilet Ware, Scales and Weights. Pianoforte in Walnut Case, by Ward, of London; Two Guns, Quantity of Dinner and Tea Ware, &c. 5 Horizontal and Vertical Steam Engines, on Iron Beds, from 2½ to 6-horse power, nearly new. Heating Apparatus for Greenhouse, One Vine, Quantity of Trees and Tree Pots. 35 Yards of New Unclimbable Fencing, large Quantity of Banding and Pulleys. Drilling Machines, with Band and Pulleys, by Pratt and Co. of Halifax. Treadle Screw Cutting Lathe, 6in Centre, 7ft Bed, and 23 Change Wheels, all complete, by Taylor of Birmingham, with Over-head Motion. 2 Hand Presses. 5 Vices and Benches. 2 Pairs of Blacksmith Bellows. 4 Anvils, 2 Hearth Plates. 50ft of Shafting, 4 Band Pulleys, Carriages and Coupling. 10ft 6in of Shafting, 2 Band Pulleys and Carriages, Large Quantity of Blacksmith's Tools, Lashing Chains, Sledge and other Hammers, 36 Band Pulleys, Wrought-iron Boiler. 3 Upright Steam Boilers, and Fittings, in good condition. 7 ft Treadle or Steam Power Wood Turning Lathe. Circular Saw Bench, and 2 Saws, on Iron Beds. Large Quantity of Wrought-iron Tubing. Large Quantity of Scrap Iron. Stop Valves, large Quantity of Brasses. Lead Piping, Stocks and Dies. Large Quantity of odd Timber, and Pump Trees, Blocks, Pulleys, Chains and Ropes. Quantity of Leather Belting. Swage Blocks, on Iron Plates; Iron Boshes. Quantity of Corrugated Roofing, 3 Wood Sheds. 320-gallon nearly-new Copper Boiler, and large Brass Tap, Doors, Bars, and Seating. 200-gallon Wrought-iron Boiler, Doors, Bars, and Seating. 60-gallon Cast-iron Boiler, Doors, Bars, and Seating. Wood Platform, with Iron Hand-rail. 12-bushel nearly-new Oval Mash Tub, Wort Cooler, Copper Refrigerator, Copper-bottom Sieve, Hop Press on Iron Stand, Two Wort Spouts, Mash Rule, Ladle, Copper Wort Pump, Set of Steps. Strong Two-wheel Spring Cart, in good condition. Brown Pony, 13 hands high, 8 years old, work in chains or harness, quiet, and passes all kind of steam. 20-bushel Oval Mash Tub, 2 Round Collecting Tubs, 9 120-gallon Casks, 6 Round Tubs, 3 Wood Blocks, 54 Gallon Casks, Iron Piping from Brewhouse to Cellar, Shovels, Rakes, and numerous other Effects. The whole on View Morning of Sale. Sale to commence at Twelve o'clock. Auctioneer's Offices: 13, Church Street, Oldbury, and Clent, near Stourbridge. Telephone No.63 Oldbury."

1911 Census

Halesowen Street – CALIFORNIA INN

- [1] George Willetts (46), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Mary Ann Willetts (47), wife, married 25 years, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Lily Willetts (19), daughter, born Cakemore;
- [4] Ethel Florence Willetts (16), daughter, general domestic, born Cakemore:

George Willetts, beer retailer, Halesowen Street. [1912]

George Willetts, beer retailer, 1, Halesowen Street. [1916], [1921], [1924]

Birmingham Daily Gazette 30/3/1933

"William Harris, aged 58, a galvaniser, of 41, Hackett Street, Blackheath, was at Old Hill yesterday, committed for trial at the Assizes charged with having murdered his son, Robert Campion Harris, aged 33, a labourer (of the same address), by cutting his throat with a table knife on Saturday, 25, February.

He pleaded 'Not Guilty' and reserved his defence.

Mr. R. Pashley appeared for the Director of Public Prosecutions, and Harris was represented by Mr. F. J. Bourke, instructed by W. Waldron and Son, Brierly Hill.

Mr. Pashley said that the magistrates would hear that on the Saturday evening the prisoner had been in the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, from 8.15 to about 9.15, and during that time he consumed three pints of beer. From there he straightaway proceeded to the CALIFORNIA INN, Blackheath, where he consumed two more pints of beer. He left the inn about 10.5, and then proceeded to his home, arriving about 10.30.

Mr. Pashley explained that he was not suggesting that the man was otherwise than sober. He did suggest, however, that he was in a somewhat excited condition. In one way it was more dangerous to be in an excited condition than it was to be drunk.

There was an interval during which, Mr. Pashley said, he could not say exactly what happened, but the next development was at 11 o'clock, when the prisoner walked into Blackheath Police Station, where he said to PS Perkins, 'You had better come down to our house. I've cut my son's throat with a knife. He's lying on the floor and I think he's dead.'

The sergeant very naturally said, 'Do you know what you are talking about?' and quite properly cautioned him. The accused then said, 'Yes. I've done it. He came home drunk and threatened to kill me. I went for him and we had a struggle on the floor. I saw the knife close by and picked it up and let him have it. I hope he's dead, as I'm ready any time; I've had enough trouble.'

The sergeant went with Harris to his house. The man seemed quite rational.

Mr. Pashley next commented upon what he described as the callous way in which Harris behaved on the return to the house in Hackett Street. The man, he said, walked into the very room where, as the prosecution stated, he killed his son, and the first thing he did was to take out his pipe, light it, and then sit down in a chair by the fire as if nothing whatever had happened.

Shortly afterwards, he picked up a kettle, went outside into the yard, where he was followed by a constable, and there he said to the officer, 'You need not bother about me. I shan't run away. I've done it and I'll stand by it. It doesn't matter if it is this (drawing his finger to the left side of his neck) or stopping inside.' Harris proceeded to fill the kettle and returned to the kitchen. There was no one else in the house when the police got there, as the prisoner's wife, who in the ordinary way would have been there, had gone to her cousin's at No.4 Hackett Street. When she arrived there, one witness would say, she was speechless, and her left hand was bleeding from a cut which she had received.

Dr. Ribchester would tell the court that the dead man has no fewer than eight very severe wounds on the face, throat and neck.

The one across the neck was 4ins long, another was in the vicinity of the ear and measured 3ins, another 2½ins, and the others of 1½ins and 1in. In the doctor's opinion all of those cuts could have been caused with a table-knife which was found lying on the floor beside the dead man. The table-knife, Mr. Pashley added, was a blunt one, and it must have needed a great amount of energy to have inflicted such cuts as were found.

Dr. Hamblin Smith was asked to make a report on certain scratches or so-called injuries which were present when Harris arrived at Winson Green Prison, Birmingham. The doctor has submitted a report. The prosecution had no desire to conceal anything contained in that report, and Dr. Smith would be called to give the result of his examination. The doctor was of opinion that they were merely superficial scratches. In addition, there was a black eye, which might have been caused by a blow or by the man's eye coming into contact with some hard substance. It was suggested by the prosecution that those scratches and the black eye were received when the dead man was defending himself from being killed by the prisoner, who, at that time, had a deadly weapon in his hand.

It was not for him, Mr. Pashley added, to suggest what the defence would be, but he anticipated it might be manslaughter. 'Our law, however,' he continued, 'is that if one man had a deadly weapon in his hand, and the other man has nothing, and the other man is killed, that is murder.'....."

[The evidence of the witnesses was then heard.]

[At Stafford Assizes, William Harris was found not guilty of murder, but guilty of manslaughter under great provocation. He was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment.]

1939 Register

1, Halesowen Street

- [1] Frank Tromans, date of birth 28/5/1886, publican, married;
- [2] Maud C. Tromans, dob 28/3/1892, unpaid domestic duties, married;
- [3] Elsie M. Tromans, dob 20/7/1906, incapacitated, epileptic, single;
- [4] Lily (Tromans) Bill, dob 21/5/1910, domestic duties assisting mother, single;
- [5] Frank Tromans, dob 16/8/1916, tube cutter, non-ferrous metal, single;
- [6] Leonard Tromans, dob 18/1/1919, motor mechanic, single;
- [7] Alice (Tromans) Pettican, dob 8/10/1921, shorthand typist, single;
- [8] Robert C. Tromans, dob 9/5/1929, at school, single;

Birmingham Daily Gazette 1/1/1944 - Engagements

"The Engagement is announced between Rennie, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Thompson, 16, Thornhill Avenue, Brambles Farm, Middlesbrough, and Nancy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Nock, CALIFORNIA INN, Halesowen Street, Blackheath."

An application for a Publican's license was granted on 2nd February 1945.

Transferred to a full license on 27th April 1949.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 28/2/1952

"Draw for the quarter finals of the Dudley Town FC darts cup competition is as follows: CALIFORNIA INN B (Blackheath) v GPO (Wolverhampton) or NELSON INN A (Wednesbury), VICTORY INN A (Tipton) v BUSH INN A (Lower Gornal), Belgrave Sports A (Blackheath) v CALIFORNIA INN A (Blackheath), Vono Sports (Tipton) v Ex-Servicemen's Club (Bradley). These matches must be completed by Saturday March 8."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 14/3/1952

"Draw for the semi-finals of the Dudley Town Football Club's darts challenge cup is: CALIFORNIA A v CALIFORNIA B (Blackheath); VICTORY A (Tipton) or BUSH INN (Lower Gornal) v Vono Sports Club."

It was referred to the Continuation Meeting for consideration of redundancy on 5th February 1958.

The license was renewed on 5th March 1958.

It closed in 2008.

It was converted into a shop.

CASTLE

20, (30), (15), (6), Halesowen Road, OLD HILL

OWNERS

William Foley
Albert E. Sidaway
Mitchells and Butlers Ltd.

LICENSEES

James Guest [1871] – [1881]
Mrs. Matilda Guest [1891]
Thomas Guest [1895]
William Basterfield [1897] – 1904);
Joseph Woodhall (1904 – []
William Adams (1908);
Joseph Woodhall (1908 – []
William Adams [] – 1910);
George Johnson (1910 – 1912);
Frederick Harbur Moyles* (1912 – []
Frederick Miles* [] – 1914);
James Shaw (1914 – []
Robert Turner [1919] – 1923);
Daniel Bill (1923 – 1925)
Joseph Welding (1925 – 1929);
Sidney Tromans (1929 – 1931);
John Thomas Garratt (1931 – 1937);
Bert Cole (1937 – 1938);
Arthur Harold Garratt (1938 – 1940);
William George Rumant (1940 – 1944);
Joseph Jinks (1944 – 1947);
Joseph Rock (1947 – 1954);
Kenneth William Chapman (1954);
Alfred John Baker (1954 – 1956);
John Harry Ashcroft (1956 – [1965]
Bob Gordon [1997]

NOTES

6, Halesowen Road [1881], [1891]
15, Halesowen Road [1911], [1939], [1940]
30, Halesowen Road [1990]
20, Halesowen Road [1994], [1997]

It had an ante '69 beerhouse license.

Stourbridge Observer 17/9/1870

“John Fletcher was charged by Aaron Moyle, a parish constable, with assaulting him on the 12th inst.

Complainant said he was at the CASTLE TAVERN. Defendant was very drunk, and making a great noise. Went up to him, and the defendant struck him several times. Defendant said he was drunk, and did not recollect it.

Finced 2s 6d and costs.”

County Advertiser 27/5/1871

“On Thursday, a child named Rosannah Haywood, aged 4 years, was at the house of her grandfather, James Guest, innkeeper, CASTLE INN, Old Hill, when she fell into a tub of hot wort, which was running from a mash tub near at hand, and was fearfully scalded. Mr. F. H. Hodgson, surgeon, was sent for immediately, and attended the child, but it died at two o'clock the next morning, twelve hours after the accident.”

County Express 22/11/1879

“A large number of persons were summoned for selling bread otherwise than by weight.
Joseph Guest, CASTLE INN, Old Hill, paid costs on a charge of selling bread without weighing it.”

1881 Census

6, Halesowen Road

- [1] James Guest (65), beerhouse keeper, born Winswell, Staffordshire;
- [2] Matilda Guest (63), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Ann M. Guest (29), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [4] Thomas Guest (18), son, engine fitter, born Old Hill;
- [5] Ann Cole (5), grand-daughter, scholar, born Darby End;
- [6] Mary Hayward (33), widow, born Old Hill;
- [7] Ann E. Hayward (3), daughter, born Old Hill:

James Guest died in the 2nd quarter of 1886.

County Express 25/10/1890

“Rowley Regis Local Board Medical Officer’s Report.....

Another case of typhoid fever was reported in a van stationed at the back of the CASTLE HOTEL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill. This was in a lad of 19 years of age, and the disease was contracted at Wednesbury. The owner was ordered to stay till the patient was convalescent, and the van was ordered to be disinfected and painted. This was carried out, and he had now left the district.”

1891 Census

6, Halesowen Road

- [1] Matilda Guest (72), widow, beerhouse keeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Thomas Guest (28), son, engine fitter, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Ann Cole (15), grand-daughter, barmaid, born Dudley;
- [4] Emma Taylor (14), domestic servant, born Dudley:

County Advertiser 6/8/1892

“Eli Chatman, of the Brook, Old Hill, was charged with stealing a sovereign, the money of James Guest, of Old Hill, on the 1st of June. Mr. A. G. Prichard prosecuted, and Mr. T. Homer, junr. defended.

The complainant’s case was that on the night in question he and defendant went into a public house called the CASTLE INN, where they challenged each other to see who had the most money. Complainant pulled out his purse, and a sovereign dropped on the floor. Both complainant and defendant stooped to pick it up, and the former secured it. Defendant thereupon said it was his, and complainant thinking it was, gave the money up to him. Upon counting his money, which amounted to £5 before the occurrence, he found he had only got £4. The landlady also counted the money, and complainant then asked defendant to give it up, which he refused to do. Police-constable Insley was thereupon sent for, and defendant was taken to the station, where he denied the theft.

Mr. Homer, for the defence, said an important witness named Smith was, unfortunately, unable to attend, as he was ill. His instructions were that on the day named, defendant had received £2 15s from his mother-in-law to pay some funeral expenses, and after paying some sundry expenses he had £2 5s 6d on him. The man Smith had been in Chatman’s company the whole of the afternoon, and they went together into the CASTLE INN. Guest came up to Smith and challenged him to produce a sovereign. The latter had not got one on him, and Chatman attempted to pass the piece of money required to Smith. The attempt, however, was not successful, and the money rolled on the ground. It was defendant’s money, and he was a most respectable man. The case was dismissed.”

County Advertiser 29/12/1894 - Deaths

“On the 27th inst, at her residence, Wellington Street, Old Hill, Matilda, widow of the late James Guest, aged 76 years. Deeply regretted by her family and a great number of friends. Her end was peace.”

County Advertiser 21/9/1895

“Thomas Guest, landlord of the CASTLE INN, Old Hill, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises on the 3rd inst, and also with allowing riotous conduct to take place on his premises on the same date.

Police-constable Buckler said on the date named, about seven o'clock in the evening, he visited the defendant’s premises, and saw a man named Eli Johnson there. Johnson had a severe wound on the head, and was bleeding very badly. He seemed to be weak from loss of blood. There was blood on the floor and on the table. Witness called defendant outside, and asked him the cause of the bother. Defendant replied that there had been no bother there, and he and Johnson had only been having a bit of fun. There were four more men in the house. About a quarter-past ten he visited the house again, in company with Police-constable Wynn, and saw defendant and a man named Hubery there, both of them being drunk. Hubery was 'haggling' with the landlord about a sixpence. Hubery said he was going to have a — pint of beer before he went away. Eli Johnson said he was in the CASTLE INN on the 3rd inst, and had four or five pints. There was a dispute between him and the defendant as to the payment for the ale, and the landlord challenged him out to fight. Defendant went out of the room, and witness followed him, being prevented by defendant's wife, however, from going out. Defendant afterwards pushed him on to the fender, and his head was badly cut. His injuries had to be attended to by a doctor. Charles Lester corroborated as to the injuries received by Johnson, and said he considered that the landlord was drunk. Police-constable Wynn deposed to visiting the house and finding Hubery and defendant drunk. Defendant denied being drunk, and defendant called him a — liar. Witness thanked him, and he and Police-constable Buckler left the house. Police-constable Plant also gave evidence. Defendant said his father, mother, and himself had held the license for thirty-nine years. He denied that he was drunk, or permitted riotous conduct. The Bench fined defendant £1 and costs for permitting drunkenness, and dismissed the other charge. Francis Hubery, Old Hill, was fined 10s, including costs for being drunk on the premises."

County Express 5/6/1897

"William Basterfield, landlord of the CASTLE INN, Old Hill, was charged with selling ale to a drunken man on the 12th inst. Police-constable Buckler deposed to seeing John Crewe drunk in the Halesowen Road on the afternoon named. After ordering Crewe home he saw him enter the defendant's house. When witness went in five minutes later Crewe had been served with a pint of ale by the defendant's daughter. The landlady's attention was called to Crewe, and she took the beer off the man and returned the money. Defendant said he was away from home, and his little daughter served the beer without perceiving Crewe's condition as he stood against the counter. He expressed regret. Inspector Given said the house had been very well conducted. Defendant was ordered to pay the costs."

County Advertiser 28/8/1897

"The annual licensing sessions for the Petty Sessional Division of Rowley Regis were held on Wednesday, at the Police Court, Old Hill. The licenses, they had decided, would be all renewed. The following were the licensed victuallers who had been convicted. The beerhouse keeper convicted was William Basterfield, CASTLE INN, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was ordered to pay costs for selling ale to a drunken person on the 2nd June."

County Express 11/1/1902

"Thomas Baker, of no fixed abode, who was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the 4th inst, and also with refusing to quit the CASTLE INN, Old Hill, when requested, told the Bench he would always be in prison as long as he remained in the district. If he ever went into a public-house, or if he was walking along the street people continually insulted him. Mr. W. Bassano: I don't wonder at it. You are such a bad lot. Baker asked the Bench to send him out of the district, to South Wales, or somewhere. PC Smith and William Basterfield, landlord of the CASTLE INN, proved the cases, and the prisoner was sent to prison for a month with hard labour on the first charge, and fined 10s and costs, or a further fourteen days for the second offence."

Tipton Herald 5/6/1909

"Readers will regret to hear of the serious illness of Mr. Joseph Woodhall, of Netherton, who for some years was the landlord of the CASTLE INN, Old Hill. Since he went to live at Netherton Mr. Woodhall has suffered from gangrene in the foot, and is being attended by Dr. Mitchell. In view of the circumstances in which he and his wife are placed a number of Old Hill friends have agreed to arrange a benefit concert, to be held in the clubroom at the VICTORIA HOTEL, Old Hill, on June 30th. A subscription list will be opened this weekend, and in the course of a few days tickets for the concert will be on sale. A committee has been appointed to carry out the arrangements."

County Express 9/7/1910

"Bowling. Friendlies. Fixtures for Today. CASTLE INN (Old Hill) v MAYPOLE INN (Cradley)."

1911 Census

15, Halesowen Road

- [1] George Johnson (31), licensed victualler, born Cradley Forge;
- [2] Henzie Johnson (33), wife, married 11 years, born Lye;
- [3] Elsie Johnson (11), daughter, born Lye;
- [4] George Stanley Johnson (10), son, born Quarry Bank;
- [5] Reggie Johnson (6), son, born Quarry Bank;
- [6] Edith May Johnson (4), daughter, born Quarry Bank:

George Johnson, beer retailer, 15, Halesowen Road. [1912]

County Express 8/6/1912

“BLUE BALL Bowling Club, Old Hill.....

Mr. Griffiths (secretary) announced that the last two matches played with the CASTLE INN had both resulted in victories, by 23 away from home and by 43 at home. This was a good start for the season.....”

Dudley Chronicle 31/8/1912

“The annual general meeting of the Cradley Heath St. Luke’s Football Club was held on Friday evening at the BLUE BALL HOTEL, Old Hill.....

Mr. A. Baggott was appointed trainer to the club after some discussion. Mr. George Johnson, who has had the position for many years, is now in charge of a busy licensed premises, and it was felt that his duties there would not allow him in future to be away, especially in the distant matches, as in previous years. Mr. A. Baggott has had considerable experience, and should prove a worthy successor.”

*possibly the same person

Birmingham Daily Post 2/7/1914

“At Old Hill yesterday, in connection with an application for the transfer of the license of the CASTLE INN, Hales Owen Road, Old Hill, from Frederick Miles to James Shaw, it was explained that the outgoing tenant had disappeared from the house, leaving no one in charge. The usual notice had not been given to the police, and Shaw asked the Bench to treat it as a matter of urgency. Inspector A. E. Myatt offered no objection, and the application was granted.”

Daniel Bill, beer retailer, 15, Halesowen Road. [1924]

Joseph Welding was a relative of Albert Eland Sidaway.

1939 Register

15, Halesowen Road

[1] Arthur H. Garratt, date of birth 26/8/1912, manager of public house, married;

[2] Annie Garratt, dob 28/2/1912, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[3] Annie L. (Ann Loretta) Edwards, dob 30/3/1939, under school age, single:

A Publican’s License was granted on 1st February 1950.

John Ashcroft was well-known for lifting cast iron tables with his teeth.

[1998]

Closed

It was demolished in 2001.

Houses were built on the site.

CHAINMAKERS ARMS

29, Corngreaves Road, (Four Ways), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

Mrs. Sarah Yardley

North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd. (acquired in February 1905 for £2,000)

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1909) [1919], [1946]

LICENSEES

Joseph Yardley [1857] – 1878);

Charles Yardley (1878 – [1898]

Mrs. Sarah Yardley [1902] – 1905);

Walter Harrison (1905);

Sarah Chatwin (1905 – 1907);

Frederick Marris Mason (1907 – []

George Radcliffe [] – 1908);
Frederick Horace ‘Fred’ Mason (1908);
Philip John Sykes (1908 – 1931);
Isaac Brooks (1931 – 1936);
Fred Smith (1936);
Henry Facer Soden (1936 – 1937);
William Lewis (1937 – 1941);
Joseph Woodall (1941 – 1943);
George Henry Rose (1943 – 1949);
Derek Stanley Smith (1949 – 1959);
Jesse Levi Tromans (1959 – 1960);
William Alec Titley (1960 – [1965]

NOTES

It was known locally as “The Chainees”.

Black Country Bugle (December 1994)

“.....at one time, famous for its association with rat-killing ledgers.”

County Advertiser 7/3/1857

“Joseph Yardley, CHAINMAKERS ARMS INN, Rowley, for having his house open before one o’clock on the morning of the 22nd ult was fined 5s and costs.”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 27/2/1858 - Advert

“The second night of the Woman’s Club, held at Mr. J. Yardley’s, CHAIN MAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, will be held on Tuesday next, at Eight pm. Any person wishing to enter, may apply to the Landlady.”

County Advertiser 5/11/1859

“Joseph Yardley, landlord of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, was summoned by Joseph Billingham, a chainmaker, for assaulting him on Monday night last. The complainant, in company with several other young men, had spent the evening convivially at a public house at Cradley Heath, and on their way home at the ‘small hours’ of the morning made a friendly call at defendant’s house, for the purpose of imbibing a final glass of rum, the more effectually to assist the inclement night air. Here they became somewhat frisky, indulged in some eccentric conduct, and finally overturned the tables and broke the glasses. The interference of the landlord was rendered necessary; and Billingham now summoned Yardley for knocking him down and ill-using him. A person who assisted the landlord, named Joseph Williams, a customer in the house at the time, was also summoned by Billingham for an assault, he having, according to complainant, commenced the disturbance by asking Billingham ‘What he was going to stand?’ This interrogation, not being favourably received, a row ensued, and Police-constable Farmer was ultimately sent for to quell it, after ‘murder’ had several times been shouted.

The other persons implicated was Joseph Woodhouse, summoned by Nehemiah Stafford and Joseph Foy, against the same defendant and his brother Thomas Woodhouse, who were likewise charged respectively with assaults.

The Bench said it was the duty of the landlord to keep order in his house, and they should therefore dismiss the case against him, although it was reprehensible on his part to allow persons to assemble in his house at such an unreasonable hour. The other defendants were near their own houses, and ought not to have been in the house at the time and they should, therefore, fine each of them 2s 6d and costs, or twenty-one days’ imprisonment. Mr. Homfray appeared for Yardley.”

County Advertiser 12/11/1859

“At the Old Hill Petty Sessions on Wednesday, two offending innkeepers were charged and dealt with as follows. Joseph Yardley, landlord of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, for keeping a disorderly house on the occasion of the drunken fracas which gave rise to the proceedings against the defendant last week, was cautioned by the Bench and dismissed. Joanna Meredith, landlady of the TALBOT INN, Cradley Heath, for a similar offence, was ordered to pay costs.”

1861 Census

Corngreaves Road

- [1] Joseph Yardley (37), victualler, born Rowley;
- [2] Maria Yardley (42), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] James Yardley (18), son, chain maker, born Rowley;
- [4] Mary Ann Yardley (16), daughter, chain maker, born Rowley;
- [5] Joseph Yardley (14), son, chain maker, born Rowley;
- [6] Charles Yardley (12), son, chain maker, born Rowley;
- [7] Henry Yardley (9), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [8] Emma Yardley (5), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [9] Emma Roberts (23), domestic servant, born Tallington, Lincolnshire:

County Advertiser 27/5/1865

“On Wednesday, at the Public Office before Messrs. F. W. G. Barrs and H. O. Firmstone, Joseph Yardley, landlord of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, was summoned for allowing drunken and disorderly conduct in his house on the 15th inst. Mr. Lowe appeared for the defence. Police-constable Fox deposed that he was sent for to the defendant’s house. In the yard he found four men named Shaw, Hampton, Davis, and Westwood, fighting, and the landlord standing against the wall looking at them. This was about half-past five o’clock in the morning. He had called twice in the course of the night and cautioned the defendant. Davis was called for the defence, but he stated that he could not say what took place, as they were all drunk together. The defendant was fined 10s and costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 2/11/1867

“On Thursday last, an inquest was held at the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, before E. Hooper, Esq, District Coroner, on the body of the illegitimate infant son of Ellen Westwood, who died under rather suspicious circumstances. The inquest was opened on the 16th ult, and was duly adjourned till Thursday, for the purpose of having a post mortem examination of the body made. It appeared from the evidence that the mother of the child is 29 years old. On the 13th ultimo she left her father’s house in the afternoon, and went to the house of a woman named Mrs. Wood, of Corngreaves Road. There she was delivered of a child in about two hours; and the woman Wood said that it only lived two hours, apparently having died from fits. The mother of the young woman was examined, and she said that she had seen her daughter during her confinement, and she seemed to have everything that was wanted. She denied that her daughter had a child two years ago, who died shortly after birth; but admitted she had one alive about four years of age. Wood deposed that the mother had not seen her daughter during her confinement; and she (witness) also denied that any one had had a child in her house for twenty years. The woman Wood attempted to get the death of the child registered, but the Registrar refused to register the death until an inquest had been held. Police-constable Powner deposed there was a report about eighteen months ago that Westwood was in the family way, and he had great reason to believe that the child on which the inquest was being held had not died from natural causes. Mr. Morrow, surgeon, gave evidence to the effect that he had made a post mortem examination of the body, and from appearance he found his opinion was the child died from the fact that the funis having been tied too soon. It was such an act as would be done by an inexperienced person; and but for that he thought the child would have been alive. The jury found that the child died from exhaustion caused by improper treatment at the time of its birth; and with this verdict they coupled a recommendation to the Coroner to censure Mrs. Wood, and the grandmother of the child. The Coroner accordingly cautioned Mrs. Wood how she acted as a midwife in future; and he informed Mrs. Westwood that he should probably recommend the Secretary of State to institute proceedings against her for wilful and corrupt perjury.”

County Advertiser 22/1/1870

“Joseph Yardley, of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, was charged with selling liquor, on the previous Sunday morning, during hours prohibited by law. Police-constable Craddock said he visited the house about twelve o’clock, and in an out-house in the yard he found two men. There were wet marks on a barrel as if a jug had lately been on it, and in some grains close by witness found a jug concealed. The Bench said they did not think there was sufficient evidence to prove the charge, and it was accordingly dismissed.”

Birmingham Daily Post 29/11/1870 - Advert

“To be Shot For, at Joseph Yardley’s, CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, on Monday, the 12th December, 1870, a fat Pig, by 20 Subscribers at 10s 6d each. Shooting to commence at Twelve o’clock. Three Birds each. Pigeon Shooting Rules.”

1871 Census

Corngreaves Road – CHAIN MAKERS ARMS

- [1] Joseph Yardley (48), licensed brewer, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Ann M. Yardley (53), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Mary A. Yardley (26), daughter, bonnet cleaner, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Matthew H. Yardley (18), son, chain maker, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Emma Yardley (15), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Lotty Yardley (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Alice Yardley (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Sarah J. Yardley (5), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

County Advertiser 24/6/1871 - Advert

“The Ancient Order Of Free Gardeners intend holding a Pic-Nic in Cradley Park, on the 26th of June Next, 1871. The members will start from Mr. Samuel Bennett’s, the NEW TWO GATES INN, at Ten o’clock in the morning, and proceed to Mr. William Morgan’s, the PEAR TREE INN, where they will join their united brotherhood, and form a Grand Procession, which will parade the principal streets of the Lye Waste, Lye, Quarry Bank, Cradley Heath, and Cradley, and will then proceed to the beautiful enclosed grounds kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. Edwin Oliver. The Procession will be headed by Two Splendid Brass Bands, viz: The East Worcestershire Brass Band, Mr. Jeremiah Whitehouse, Bandmaster; The South Staffordshire Brass Band, Mr. William Wakelum, Bandmaster.

The Metropolitan Minstrels! Note the Names: Mr. R. Lemont, the littlest and the greatest Negro delineator in the world.

Yevert, Silver-toned Tenor.

Tomes, the side-splitting lively Pompey.

Mr. Tomes, Violinist.

Mr. Ted Gant, Piccolo and Jig Dancer.

Mr. H. Beaumont, Harp and Baritone, Jig and Eccentric Dancer, &c.

A Singing Contest for Amateurs. The First Prize, 10s; Second, 5s; Third, 2s 6d. Entrance, 1s each.

A Jingle Race. The First Prize 10s. Entrance, 6d each.

The Celebrated Fitzgerald is engaged for the occasion, who will perform some of his wonderful Rope Feats.

Balloon Ascents at Intervals. Old Aunt Sally, &c.

The Bands will play, at intervals, some selections of music, from the most eminent composers; likewise will play, for Dancing, Polkas, Waltzes, Galops, Varsovianas, Schottisches, Quadrilles, Country Dances, &c.

Refreshments of all kind will be supplied on the Grounds.

Tickets, 6d each, may be had of the following persons:

Messrs. S. Bennett, the TWO GATES INN, Two Gates; W. Morgan, PEAR TREE INN, Lye Waste; W. Oliver, VINE INN, Colley Gate; Thomas Cox, ROUND OF BEEF INN, Windmill Hill; W. Pearshouse, Netherend; G. Lickert, Lye; John Owen, Cherry Orchard, Old Hill; Thomas Woodhouse, Netherton; William Wakelum, Gornal Wood; J. Yardley, CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath; R. S. Timmins, DOG AND PARTRIDGE INN, Brierley Hill."

County Express 20/6/1874

"Joseph Yardley, landlord of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with allowing drunkenness in his house, on the 9th inst. Police-constable Cooper found a drunken man in the house on Tuesday night week. The defendant's wife said she was not aware that the man was in the house and she did not draw him any ale. The man lived in the house and worked for her husband. The Bench dismissed the case, but said the police were quite right in bringing it before them."

County Advertiser 28/11/1874

"Joseph Yardley, landlord of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, was charged with having on the 16th inst permitted gaming in his house.

James Mansell said that on the afternoon of the above date he visited the defendant's house. There were between twenty and thirty persons in a room, and the defendant was also present. Two men named Ward and Davies were gambling for a quart of ale, and he saw the ale supplied. There were also other men playing at cards in the house.

Police-constable Cooper said that he visited the defendant's house on the afternoon in question, and found the yard doors locked. He entered with Police-constable Collier through the front door. Passing through the bar, he saw the landlady, who tried to get into the kitchen, but he prevented her. On going into the kitchen he found about thirty men, and several of them were engaged playing at cards. The company, on seeing them, made a rush for the door. He called the attention of the landlady to the state of the house, and on leaving, a number of men rushed downstairs.

Police-constable Collier gave confirmative evidence.

Defendant said he had been out all day, and was not aware that anyone was gambling in his house.

The Bench inflicted a fine of 50s and costs."

County Advertiser 5/12/1874

"Joseph Davis, William Stringer, William Hampton, James Hurley, and Benjamin Hurley, were charged with having played a certain game of chance with cards on the 16th ult, at the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath. Defendants pleaded guilty, and were fined 5s each and costs.

The landlord was summoned and fined last week."

County Advertiser 2/10/1875

"Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

The following publicans who had been convicted during the year having been cautioned had their licenses renewed.....

Joseph Yardley, CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath."

County Advertiser 23/3/1878 - Advert

"Wanted, a good General Servant, one used to Public Business, no other need apply.

Apply, Charles Yardley, CHAIN MAKERS ARMS, Four Ways, Cradley Heath."

County Express 2/11/1878

"A well attended meeting of the members of the Conservative Association was held on Tuesday evening last, at the house of Mr. B. Billingham, BELL HOTEL, Cradley Heath. A gentleman well known for his zeal in the cause of Conservatism occupied the chair, and delivered a lengthy speech upon the position of affairs with Afghanistan.....

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Mr. C. Yardley's, CHAINMAKERS ARMS, on Tuesday evening, November 26th at 7 o'clock."

1881 Census

29, Corngreaves Road – CHAINMAKERS ARMS

- [1] Charles Yardley (58), licensed victualler, born Cradley Heath;
[2] Sarah Yardley (39), wife, born Cradley Heath;
[3] Anne Bedall (24), domestic servant, born Cradley:

Dudley and District News 8/10/1881 - Advert

“Reddal Hill, Cradley Heath. Highly Important and Valuable Freehold Building Land.

Mr. Herbert Humphries had been favoured with instructions from Felix Coley, Esq, to Sell by Auction, at the House of Mr. Charles Yardley, the CHAINMAKERS ARMS INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday, October 11th, at Seven for Eight o'clock in the Evening, and subject to conditions to be then read.....”

County Advertiser 15/10/1881

“Charles Yardley, landlord of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath, was charged with keeping open his house during prohibited hours for the sale of intoxicating liquors. At seventeen minutes past eleven o'clock, on the 6th inst, Police-constable Twiggs went to the defendant's house and found there two men standing near the counter with two glasses of beer before them. He called the landlady's attention to the time, and she said it wanted five minutes to eleven. She went outside to satisfy herself that the other public houses were closed, and when she returned said that the clock must have stopped. Defendant now urged the same plea. The Bench thought defendant had committed the offence through inadvertence, and only fined him 2s 6d and costs.”

County Advertiser 22/10/1881

“Stephen Golden, carpenter, and Richard Davies, were charged with being on licensed premises during prohibited hours. Police-constable Twiggs found the defendants at the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, on the night of the 6th inst, at seventeen minutes past eleven. When he called their attention to the time they drank their ale and left immediately. The defence was that the clock was slow. Defendant were only ordered to pay the costs.”

Dudley and District News 2/9/1882

“Old Hill annual Brewster Sessions were held at the Police Court on Wednesday.....

The following is the black list, and in each of the cases the licenses were suspended till the adjourned licensing meeting.....

Charles Yardley, CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Corngreaves Road, open after hours, fined 2s 6d and costs.”

Dudley and District News 30/9/1882

“This being the Old Hill adjourned licensing sessions the Bench granted a renewal of the licenses which were suspended at the last annual general sessions. The Chairman stated that the magistrates had very carefully considered each case, and they had decided to renew the licenses on the understanding that some assurance was given on the part of each defaulter, that their respective houses should be better conducted in the future. The Bench were determined that the law should be enforced, and if the defendants were guilty of any further offence against the Licensing Laws they would be severely punished and their licenses forfeited. The Chairman added that Henry Heath, who was convicted for selling ale during prohibited hours on Sunday, was now taking out a six days' license instead of a seven days', and his license was renewed on that condition; and if any of the others wished to have six days' licenses the Bench would be pleased to grant them.”

County Advertiser 14/10/1882 - Advert

“A Bicycle and Tricycle Club will commence on Saturday, the 14th October, 1882.

For particulars, apply to Mr. C. Yardley, CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath.”

Dudley and District News 2/2/1884 - Advert

“In the County Court of Worcestershire holden at Dudley.

Birmingham, Dudley, and District Banking Company Limited v William Woodhouse.

Freehold Land at Fox Oats, Cradley Heath, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction (by order of the Judge of the Dudley County Court) by Mr. Thomas Pateshall, on Monday, the 11th of February, 1884, at the house of Mr. Charles Yardley, the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, at Six for Seven o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions to be then produced.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 16/3/1886

“Yesterday afternoon, Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, touching the death of Albert Southwick, aged three years, whose parents reside at No.10, Corngreaves Street, who died on the 10th inst from the effects of burns received the same day. During the absence of his mother the child was playing near the fire, when his clothes became ignited, and he was burnt in a shocking manner. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Birmingham Daily Post 23/11/1886

“Yesterday afternoon Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the CHAINMAKERS ARMS INN, Graingers Lane, respecting the death of Benjamin Plant (25), miner, of 144, Corngreaves Road.

Mary Ann Plant, wife of the deceased, said her husband was employed at the Saltwells Colliery, belonging to the Earl of Dudley. On Wednesday he was brought home injured in a cart.

Thomas Spinner, underground manager, stated that on the 17th inst deceased was engaged in the workings, when a quantity of coal fell upon him, causing severe injuries to his body, from which he died on the 19th inst.

Mr. Pickering, assistant Government inspector, stated that there had been no breach of the Mines Act; and the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

1891 Census

29, Corngreaves Road – CHAIN MAKERS ARMS

[1] Charles Yardley (68), chain manufacturer and licensed victualler, born Cradley Heath;

[2] Sarah Yardley (49), wife, born Cradley Heath;

[3] Sarah A. Smith (14), domestic servant, born Great Bridge:

County Advertiser 23/3/1895 - Advert

“Servant Wanted, about 24 years of age; must be thoroughly experienced.

Apply, CHAINMAKERS ARMS INN, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath.”

Dudley Herald 23/4/1898 - Advert

“Highly Important Announcement of Sale by Auction of Valuable Freehold Properties at Cradley Heath, formerly of the late Henry Cole.

Alfred W. Dando has received instructions to Sell by Auction at the house of Mr. Charles Yardley, the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, on Monday, May 2, 1898, at Seven o’clock in the Evening precisely.....”

County Advertiser 29/4/1899

“Benjamin Willetts, Providence Street, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk on licensed premises, on the 22nd inst. Police-constable Massey said that about ten o’clock on Saturday, he visited the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, and found defendant drunk in the tap room. Defendant was fined 10s and costs.”

Charles Yardley died in the 1st quarter of 1900.

1901 Census

29, Corngreaves Road

[1] Sarah Yardley (59), widow, licensed victualler, born Cradley Heath;

[2] Ellen White (24), domestic servant, born Dudley:

Sarah Yardley was also a brewer. [1902]

County Advertiser 11/2/1905 - Advert

“Important Sale of the Valuable and Well-known Freehold, Fully-Licensed Property, the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath.

E. O. Nightingale is favoured with instructions from Mrs. Yardley to Sell by Auction, at the house of Mr. James Rowland, the VINE AND RAILWAY HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday, the 21st day of February, 1905, at Seven o’clock in the Evening, subject to Conditions of Sale then to be produced.

All that Highly-valuable Freehold Fully-Licensed House known as the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, and situate in Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath, and now in the occupation of the Owner.

The Premises, which are most conveniently arranged, comprise Spacious Entrance Hall, with Vestibule; Bar Parlour, with Bay Window; Large Tap Room, with Bay Window; Smoke Rom, Siting Room, Long Verandah, Large Kitchen, Pantry, Three Good Cellars, with Rolling Way from Yard; Two Large Bed Rooms, fitted with Wardrobes and w.c.; Attic, Spirit Room, Spacious Club Room, with separate Entrance; Roomy Landing, with Cupboard; together with the Large Brewhouse, Wash-house, Large Coalhouse or Store Room, Large Yard, Gateway Entrance, and usual Appurtenances, together with the Business Premises at the rear, now used as a Chain Factory, which comprises large Chain Warehouse, Chainshop, large Store Room with Loft over, Stabling for Four Horses with Loft over, Large Coach-house, and usual appurtenances thereto, and producing at a low rental £20 a year.

The premises are most substantially built, in excellent repair, and very commodious and well adapted for carrying on a large trade. The House has been occupied by the present family for upwards of Half a Century, and the opportunity thus offered is almost unprecedented for securing such a valuable Licensed Property.

The House is without doubt one of the best Licensed Premises in the district, as it is situate in the midst of one of the most thickly populated parts of Cradley Heath and within a few yards of the High Street, and is one of the few remaining Licensed Houses in Cradley Heath which is free from any Trade ties.

The particular attention of Brewers and others concerned in Licensed Properties is invited to this important Sale, as with the Freehold the Purchaser will be given possession on completion, thus including the valuable Goodwill.

For further particulars, apply to George Williams, Esq, Solicitor, Bank Buildings, Cradley Heath, or the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 24/8/1907

“Applications for the temporary transfer of licenses were made for the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, from Sarah Chatwin to Frederick Marris Mason; and the CROWN INN, Old Hill, from Walter Willetts to Sarah Chatwin.

Inspector Gibbs: Are you the licensee of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS? – Mrs. Chatwin: Yes.

How long is it since you left? – Twelve weeks.

Not more? – Not more.

It is more than twelve weeks, is it not? – No.

You have not had charge of the house although it has been in your name? You left the business entirely in the hands of Mason? – I have attended there when I could. My health failed.

Are you going to be the tenant of the CROWN INN? – Yes.

Are you going to reside there? – Yes.

And look after the business yourself? – Yes, with my father.

The applications were granted.”

County Express 10/10/1908

“On Wednesday, at Old Hill, Mr. G. T. Plant applied for the transfer of the license of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath from Frederick Horace Mason to Philip John Sykes.

A man named Ratcliffe appeared before the Court, and complained that after being in the house as a manager for seven or eight weeks he was to be turned out into the streets. It had cost him £20 to go into the house, and now he was told by the owners, the North Worcestershire Breweries Company, that he and his wife were not the class of people they desired to carry on the business of the house. He was in possession of the premises up till nine o’clock that morning, and his furniture was still there.

In reply to Mr. T. Cooksey (magistrates’ clerk) Ratcliffe stated that the company induced him to come to the house, and now had practically turned him out. He wanted his character cleared.

Mr. Cooksey said if there was any breach of contract he could bring an action against the company.

Ratcliffe said he did not think it right for brewers to treat people in that manner. It meant ruination for them.

Inspector Needham remarked that since Ratcliffe had been in the house he had kept it in a most respectable manner, and could not for the life of him understand why the company were anxious to get him out of it.

Mr. Cooksey said this statement would clear the man’s character.

Mr. A. H. Bassano said the Bench had no option but to grant the application. Ratcliffe had a legal remedy for his grievance.”

Indenture 28/10/1909

“All that piece or parcel of land situate at Cradley Heath aforesaid with the messuage or tenement standing thereon now occupied as an inn and called the CHAINMAKERS ARMS and the stabling chainmakers’ shop and outbuildings thereto belonging heretofore used as a brass foundry and which said piece or parcel of land contains in the whole 567 square yards or thereabouts.....”

The Stage 5/5/1910 - Advert

“Wanted Known. If Scenery left at CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, belonging to Messrs. Chabot and Ballard, is not Claimed in 14 days, the same will be Sold to Defray Expenses.

Signed, Philip J. Sykes.”

County Express 23/7/1910

“Much interest was taken in the wedding celebrated at St. Luke’s Church on Saturday between Miss Edith Adelaide Levaine and Mr. Will Glenn. The parties are members of Mr. Gus Levaine’s pierrot troupe, now performing at the local theatre a reception was afterwards held at the CHAINMAKERS ARMS.”

1911 Census

29, Corngreaves Road – CHAINMAKERS ARMS

[1] Philip John Sykes (36), swivel maker and licensed victualler, born Cradley Heath;

[2] Isabella Sykes (35), wife, married 14 years, assisting in business, born Cradley Heath;

[3] Clarie Sykes (11), daughter, school, born Cradley Heath;

[4] Richard Edwin Sykes (2), son, born Cradley Heath;

[5] Rose Nock (23), domestic servant, born Cradley:

Philip Sykes was also a fried fish dealer of 27, Corngreaves Road. [1924]

Isaac Brooks = Isaac Brookes

Birmingham Daily Gazette 19/11/1931

“At Old Hill yesterday an application for the transfer of the license of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath, from Phillip John Sykes to Isaac Brookes was granted.

Answering questions by his solicitor, Brookes said there were no previous convictions against him of any sort, but he agreed that his son was convicted for having upon him a betting slip which he (witness) had given him when he made a casual bet upon the Grand National.

Supt. Elliot: Doesn’t the fact that your son was carrying a betting slip of yours rather suggest that you are implicated with betting men?

Brookes: I don’t think so. I did no betting before that, and I have done none since.

Supt. J. R. Elliot said he opposed the application on the ground that Brookes was not a fit and proper person to hold a license.

The chairman (Mr. C. A. Lloyd) said the magistrates considered the police had done quite right in drawing their attention to certain facts, but they had decided to grant the application, and the police would keep the house under close observation and would report if anything illegal took place.”

1939 Register

29, Corngreaves Road – CHAINMAKERS ARMS

- [1] William Lewis, date of birth 17/10/1886, licensed victualler, married;
- [2] Sarah Lewis, dob 22/7/1896, unpaid domestic duties, married;
- [3] Harry Wright, dob 11/9/1919, fitting tube striker, single;
- [5] Joseph Wright, dob 19/10/1925, at school, single;
- [6] Sarah J. Wright, dob 20/4/1928, at school, single:

Staffordshire Advertiser 3/5/1941

“County Licensing Confirmation Committee.....

Application for the confirmation of a grant for the removal of the full licence of the ANCHOR INN, Dudley Wood Road, Cradley Heath, to premises to be erected on land and premises now numbered 8, Surfeit Hill, Cradley Heath.....

Mr. H. A. Tucker (barrister), who appeared in support of the application, said the ANCHOR INN belonged to the Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd, who also owned the proposed new site. The ANCHOR INN was a fully licensed house doing a good trade, but there were other licensed houses in that area, whereas there was no proper provision for licensed refreshments in the area to which it was proposed to move the licence. The value of the ANCHOR INN was assessed at £5,000, and the value of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, which it was proposed to surrender if the application were granted, was assessed at £3,000.....

Evidence was also given by Albert Thomas Butler, architect, who, in reply to the Chairman, said that under normal conditions it would take about 18 months to build the new house. He agreed that it was unlikely that building would be commenced until the war had ended.....

After a retirement the Chairman announced that the committee were unable to confirm the transfer that day, but they would be willing to consider another application when there was a likelihood of the new licensed house being erected.”

Bilston and Willenhall Times 9/3/1946

“An application made by Mr. M. Higgs on behalf of the Dudley and Wolverhampton Breweries Ltd, for the transfer of the license of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, to proposed new premises at the junction of City Road and Birmingham Road, Tividale, was refused by Rowley Regis Licensing Justices on Wednesday.”

It was referred to the Compensation Authority on 3rd March 1948.

The license was renewed.

Closed

It was demolished in the 1970s.

The site was occupied by a garden centre.

CHERRY ORCHARD

54, (9), (13), Wrights Lane, Totnall, OLD HILL

OWNERS

John Perry

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd.

Joseph Henry Davis

Grigg and Brettell Ltd. (acquired on 4th December 1936)

Ansells Ltd.

LICENSEES

Thomas Hendley [1855]

John Perry [1860] – [1870]

John Perry [1881] – [1908]

Bertha Perry [1910]

William Henry Taffley [] – 1911);

Samuel Lester (1911 – 1933);

Clifford Harris Pearson (1933 – 1934);

John Alfred Tipton (1934 – 1938);
Thomas William Johnson (1938 – 1949);
Ralph Windsor (1949 – 1955);
Ernest Arthur Attwood (1955 – 1957);
Jim Billingham (1957 – 1958);
Harry Lowe (1958);
Katherine Elizabeth Checketts (1958 – 1962);
James Patrick Cunningham (1962 – 1963);
Daisy Loughran (1963 – 1965);
David Holland (1965 – []

NOTES

13, Wrights Lane [1881], [1891]
9, Wrights Lane [1896], [1901]
54, Wrights Lane [1911], [1912], [1924], [1932], [1939], [1940]

Worcestershire Chronicle 19/9/1855

“Thomas Hendley, landlord of the CHERRY ORCHARD, Rowley Regis, was fined 2s 6d and costs, for selling beer before one o’clock on Sunday, the 9th instant.”

Birmingham Journal 26/6/1858 - Advert

“Freehold Dwelling Houses, at Dudley Wood.

To be Sold by Auction, by John G. Wright, on Monday Next, the 28th day of June, at the CHERRY ORCHARD INN, Old Hill, at Six o’clock in the evening, subject to conditions to be then read.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 20/11/1862

“At the Old Hill Petty Sessions, yesterday, James Turner was charged with having stolen a can of mustard from the CHERRY ORCHARD INN. As the landlord of the inn did not wish to press the charge, the defendant was discharged on payment of costs.”

Birmingham Journal 12/1/1866 - Advert

“Freehold Property, Cherry Orchard, Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by John G. Wright, on Wednesday Next, January 17th, at the house of Mr. John Perry, CHERRY ORCHARD INN, Old Hill, at Six o’clock in the evening, subject to conditions to be then read.....”

Stourbridge Observer 30/3/1867

“On Saturday last, an inquest was held at the CHERRY ORCHARD INN, before Mr. E. Hooper, District Coroner, respecting the death of James Guest, aged 24, a miner. Mr. Baker, the Government Inspector, attended.

The particulars respecting deceased’s death were reported in our last week’s issue.

Mr. Jeffries, the agent of the colliery, Mr. M. Fletcher, mine agent, appeared on behalf of Earl Dudley, the proprietor of the colliery.

Richard Scriven stated that he was the doggy of the pit No.19 Salt Wells. On the previous Tuesday morning he examined the pit, in company with his son and the deceased, who was under-doggy. About four o’clock, whilst the deceased was engaged in loading a skip, a fall of coal occurred, and he was killed. The place where the deceased was at work was about 10ft high and 24ft wide. Near the place was a ‘thing.’ A ‘thing’ is, in the language of miners, a strata of rock running through the coal measures. From its peculiar formation, it is liable to ‘slip’, and bring away a portion of the coal attached to it. They are of two kinds, black and white, the former being scarcely distinguished from the strata of coal.

By Mr. Baker: The piece was about five tons weight. It fell from the solid. Thought there was scarcely room for timbering. Was perfectly acquainted with the new rule relative to the timbering of the pit. There was no timber in the opening.

Samuel Weaver, miner, stated that he knew the deceased, with whom he was working when the accident happened. He was injured by the same fall of coal, but not seriously.

By Mr. Baker: Knew of the ‘thing’, but did not think there was any necessity for timbering. The pit looked safe.

By Mr. Jeffries: The ‘thing’ was a black one.

By a Juror: Had no fear of giving his evidence.

Mr. Hughes was then examined as to the plan of the pit produced.

Mr. Baker recommended the plentiful use of timber, and thought there was sufficient room for a tree in the place where the deceased was at work.

The Coroner hoped that the Inspector’s remarks would be attended to.

The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Stourbridge Observer 14/11/1868

“On Saturday morning last a little boy, named George Wakeman, met with his death under the following circumstances. Deceased was playing in the brewhouse with other boys, when his clothes caught fire, and he was so severely burnt that he died on the following Sunday morning.

Mr. Maling, surgeon, was called in, and rendered all the assistance he could.

An inquest was held on Monday last, at John Perry's, the CHERRY ORCHARD, before E. Hooper, Esq, Coroner, and a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.

The Coroner recommended that a fire guard should be placed before the fire.”

County Advertiser 27/8/1870

“On Tuesday an inquest was held before Mr. E. Hooper, at the CHERRY ORCHARD INN, on the body of James Priest (18), who was found dead in No.18 Pit, Saltwells Colliery, on Saturday night. The evidence taken showed that deceased went down the pit on Saturday morning for the purpose of working, and was told by the doggy that he would not be required that day. It was supposed that he had ascended the pit, but on his being missed at night a search was instituted, and his dead body was found in a gate-road that had not recently been used. The doggy admitted that the road was not fenced off, and that he had not made an examination of the place since the previous Wednesday. In order that the Government Inspector might attend, the inquest was adjourned until Monday next. Mr. Matthew Fletcher, mine agent, and Mr. Hughes, mine surveyor, were present.”

Stourbridge Observer 17/9/1870

“At the CHERRY ORCHARD INN, Old Hill, on Monday last, before Mr. Hooper, the inquest was resumed upon the body of Thomas Priest (18), who was found dead in No.18 Pit, Saltwells Colliery, on the 20th ult. Mr. Stokes appeared on behalf of the deputy manager, James Montgomery.

During the inquiry Mr. Matthew Fletcher, mine agent, Mr. Hughes, mine surveyor, and Mr. Baker, Government Inspector were present.

After the evidence had been read over, which was given at the opening of the inquest, and which we have already recorded, Mr. Baker put several questions to Montgomery, the deputy manager, as to the ventilation of the pit.

After a few moments' deliberation the jury returned their verdict, which was made known by the Coroner, who observed that it had been determined to return a verdict of Accidental Death, but the jury were of opinion that the deputy was guilty of neglect to a certain extent. It was his duty to have obtained the air pipes at once, and if he could not do so, to have ceased the working in that particular place till they were provided.”

1881 Census

13, Wrights Lane

[1] John Perry (34), unmarried, licensed victualler, born in the British Colonies;

[2] Elizabeth Hendley (64), mother, widow, born in the British Colonies:

1891 Census

13, Wrights Lane

[1] Elizabeth Hendley (82), widow, born Rowley Regis;

[2] John Perry (54), son, unmarried, licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis:

1901 Census

9, Wrights Lane

[1] John Perry (64), brother, unmarried, publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] William Perry (54), head, general dealer, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Bertha Perry (46), wife, born Brierley Hill;

[4] Joseph Perry (20), son, shop, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Gertrude A. Perry (19), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Horace Perry (18), son, shop, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Sarah E. D. Perry (15), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[8] John Perry (8), son, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 3/7/1909

“On Saturday evening a gas explosion, fortunately unattended with serious results, occurred in the highway at Wrights Lane, Old Hill. The residents were startled by a loud report, and upon going into the street found that a portion of the roadway had been blown up, whilst damage had also been caused to an entry close to the PRINCE OF WALES INN. The shock was felt in many houses, and at the CHERRY ORCHARD INN the tea table was upset by the explosion. Mr. Walter Cutler informed the police, and PCs Davies, Heathcote, and Pass visited the place. Upon examination it was found that large volumes of gas were escaping from one of the mains. How the gas was ignited is a mystery. At one time it was feared that an old woman residing in Wrights Lane had been suffocated, as she could not be seen, but when PC Pass effected an entrance to her house she was found safe and sound.”

1911 Census

54, Wrights Lane

[1] William Henry Taffley (40), publican and iron tool fitter, born Wednesfield;

[2] Clara Jane Taffley (40), wife, married 12 years, born Willenhall;

[3] Minnie Pattie Taffley (10), daughter, born Old Hill;

- [4] Elsie Taffley (8), daughter, born Brierley Hill;
[5] Cora Taffley (3), daughter, born Brierley Hill;
[6] Elizabeth Duggan (20), domestic servant, born Fleckwood Lane:

William Taffley – see also OLD BUSH, Brierley Hill.

Samuel Lester was a coachman to brewer Daniel Rollinson.

Clifford Harris Pearson – see also HEATH TAVERN.

1939 Register

54, Wrights Lane

- [1] Thomas William Johnson, date of birth 3/2/1871, licensed victualler, married;
[2] Lucina Johnson, dob 6/6/1888, unpaid domestic duties, married;
[3] Harry Albert Johnson, dob 28/8/1909, ships navigation lamp maker, single;
[4] Winifred Johnson, dob 2/2/1918, tailoress, single;
[5] Thomas William Johnson, dob 3/3/1925, office boy, single;

Ralph Windsor – see also BELL, Cradley Heath.

Closed

It was demolished c.1970.

CHERRYWOOD SMOKEHOUSE BAR & GRILL

5, Graingers Lane, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

NOTES

Formerly Cradley Heath Labour Club.

It opened in November 2019.

Halesowen News 10/2/2020

“A van driver rammed into a police car in an attempt to escape a pursuit after being seen leaving a burglary in Cradley Heath. A 47-year-old man has been arrested on suspicion of burglary after the CHERRYWOOD SMOKEHOUSE BAR AND GRILL was targeted in the early hours. The van was spotted leaving the scene of a burglary at the restaurant, which is based at the former Cradley Heath Labour Club building, in Graingers Lane, just before 5am today (Monday). Police pursued it to Lye, where the driver smashed into the patrol car in a bid to escape.

A 47-year-old man, who was the passenger, was arrested on suspicion of burglary after a foot chase but the driver escaped after driving through Stevens Park in Wollescote, where the vehicle ended up in a ditch.

Police constable Jamie Follows said on the force’s neighbourhood alert, ‘On arrival at the scene in Cradley Heath, we saw this van driving away and we began to pursue it. The van was driven dangerously and reversed into our police vehicle repeatedly in an attempt to escape. The passenger alighted the van and was arrested. The driver of the van continued at speed to Stevens Park, Wollescote. He drove through the park and abandoned the van in a ditch. He was chased on foot however despite our best efforts and a track by our police dog he managed to escape.’

A spokesman for West Midlands Police told Black Country Live, ‘A 47-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of burglary after officers were called to the Cradley Heath Labour Club on Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath, shortly before 5am today.’

Stolen items in the van were recovered.”

Halesowen News 1/8/2020

“A new Eat Out to Help Out postcode checker has been launched by the government that allows you to find out which business in Halesowen and the surrounding areas are taking part in the scheme.

Eat Out to Help Out officially begins on Monday, August 3. Customers will be able to get a 50 per cent discount on food or non-alcoholic drinks (up to a £10 discount per diner) at participating establishments. The scheme will run every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday until Monday, August 31. Establishments will claim a reimbursement from the government for the discount they've given. Participating establishments may include restaurants, cafés, bars or pubs, work and school canteens and food halls. Here are the establishments so far registered to take part in the scheme within five miles of Halesowen town centre.....

CHERRYWOOD SMOKEHOUSE, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath.”

[2020]

CHURCH TAVERN

Rowley Village, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Zachariah Partridge [1836] – [1858]

NOTES

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 31/10/1836 - Advert

“Taken up on the 4th of October, a Bay Mare Pony, about 13 hands high, with switch tail, and has got the Blacksmith's name on the shoes. Whoever has lost her may have her again by giving sufficient proof, and paying all reasonable expenses, on application at Zachariah Partridge's, near the Church, Rowley Regis, Staffordshire.”

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 5/12/1836 - Advert

“Notice. Taken up on the 4th of October, a Bay Pony, about 13 hands, with switch tail. If not owned in a fortnight it will be sold to defray expenses.

Zachariah Partridge, Rowley Regis, Staffordshire.”

1841 Census

Village

- [1] Zachariah Partridge (35), maltster, born Staffordshire;
- [2] Mary Partridge (30);
- [3] Thomas Partridge (2), born Staffordshire;
- [4] William Partridge (1), born Staffordshire;
- [5] John Partridge (1), born Staffordshire:

1851 Census

Village

- [1] Zachariah Partridge (47), married, licensed victualler, born Halesowen;
- [2] Mary Ann Partridge (45), wife, born Harborne;
- [3] Thomas Partridge (12), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Partridge (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] John Partridge (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Sarah Ann Partridge (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Hannah Partridge (4), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Jane Roberts (19), general servant, born Oldbury:

Birmingham Daily Post 28/5/1858 - Advert

“Sale at the CHURCH TAVERN Rowley Regis, by Mr. Hawkins, on Monday Next, the 31st day of May. The whole of the Public House Fixtures, part of the Household Furniture and Effects.”

County Advertiser 29/5/1858 - Advert

“Rowley, near Oldbury. Sale at the CHURCH TAVERN.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. W. Hawkins, on Monday, May 31st, 1858, the whole of the Public House Fixtures, Part of the Household Furniture, Screens, Drinking Tables, Beer Machine, well-seasoned Casks, Mashing Tub, Vats, Copper Furnaces, Sign Boards, and other effects, belonging to Mr. Zachariah Partridge, who is giving up the Public Business. Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock.”

COCK

75, (20), (16), Dudley Road, Springfield, (Spring Hill), (Knowle), (Cock Green), ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Exors. of S. Bate, Rowley Regis [1919]
Thomas Benjamin Williams and Lizzie Bate
Ansells Ltd. (acquired on 15th June 1946)
Holt, Plant and Deakin [1988], [1989]
Allied Domecq
Punch Taverns
Mr. and Mrs. Johnson [2021], [2022]

LICENSEES

Richard Bate [1814]
Mrs. Hannah Bate [1834] – [1865]
John Bate [1864] – [1873]
Darby [1876]
Henry Heath [] – 1881;
John Bate (1881 – [1883])
Henry Heath [1887]
Mrs. Sarah Sophia (Pearson) Mason [1891] – [1912]
Meshack Hackett (1913 – [])
James Hackett [1916] – 1925;
Thomas Bray (1925 – 1927);
Samuel Lewin Rose (1927 – 1935);
Clarence Edgar Newnham (1935 – 1937);
Harry Hipkiss (1937 – 1949);
Garibaldi Tapper (1949 – 1950);
Albert Evans (1950 – 1966);
Wilfred Horace Nicholls (1966 – 1972);
Michael Turella Dalwood (1972 – 1973);
David John Lewis (1973 – 1974);
Robert Howard Sullivan (1974 – 1979);
Michael Burton (1979 – 1983);
Caroline Janette Meddings (1983 – 1985);
Edwin Eric Heal (1985 – 1987);
Anthony McMahan (1987 – 1988);
Terence ‘Terry’ Bucknall (1988 – 1992);
Terence Christopher MacMaster (1992);
Stephen Martin Smith (1992);
Robin William Hancock (1992 – 1997);
Graham Martin Tuck (1997 – 1999);
Angus Gilchrist McMeeking (1999);
Kevin Smith (1999 – 2000);
Jennifer Hutchinson (2000 – [])
Lys Hughes and Angus McMeeking [2002]

NOTES

16, Dudley Road [1881], [1891], [1901]
20, Dudley Road [1911]
75, Dudley Road

It was reputedly built in 1693.

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

20th November 1814 - John, son of Richard and Hannah Bate, victualler, Cock Green.

Hannah Bate = Hannah Bates

1841 Census

Cock Green

[1] Hannah Bate (47), publican, born Staffordshire;

[2] Ann Caddicke (15), born Staffordshire:

Birmingham Journal 8/6/1850

“On Monday last, an accident of a distressing nature occurred at Mr. Thomas Darby’s coalpit at Birch Tree Colliery, in the parish of Hales Owen, resulting in the death of one man and the serious injury of another, with the very narrow escape of other two from similar consequences. It would appear that on the above morning Thomas Lowe, the regular engineer belonging to the colliery, had left a boy named John Stockley, aged fifteen years, in charge of the engine, whilst he was at a public house drinking, and that this boy had drawn up two skips full of men. A third had to be drawn up, occupied by four miners, Thomas Tibbets, two brothers named Bird, and another of the name of Mellard. They gave the usual signal for ascending, but on reaching the mouth of the pit, instead of the engine being stopped for the purpose of pushing the waggon over the shaft, in order that the men might be landed safely, it went on working, and the skip was drawn over the pulley. The two Birds had the presence of mind to leap out upon the bank, but Tibbets fell down the shaft, and though Mellard escaped instant death, yet he was dreadfully injured by being thrown with great violence on the ground within a few inches of the pit mouth. At this time Stockley was in the engine house, while Lowe was seen staggering towards the colliery in a state of intoxication; and on being remonstrated with by one of the Birds, he showed his callous insensibility in regard to the catastrophe of which he had been the cause, by taking off his jacket on purpose to fight. The shaft is 170 yards deep, and as might be expected Tibbets was found a mangled corpse at the bottom. He was twenty-one years of age, and has left a widow and one child. Lowe and the boy were taken into custody by the police, and were present at the inquest on the body of the deceased, which was held at the COCK INN, Cock Green, in the parish of Rowley Regis, before George Hinchliffe, Esq, on Wednesday. After evidence had been taken at some length as to the facts of the case, the inquiry was adjourned until Thursday evening, in order that the engine might be inspected by Mr. Northall, the engineer. We have not heard the result, but it was expected that a verdict of manslaughter would be returned against Lowe.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 24/7/1850

“Summer Assizes.....

Lowe, Samuel, 47, engineer, was then placed at the bar charged with the manslaughter of Thomas Tibbets on the 7th of June last.....

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and his Lordship, in passing sentence, observed that it would be a disgrace to the law of England were he not to make a severe example of the prisoner, for the gross neglect of which he had been clearly convicted. Sentence, one year’s imprisonment.”

County Advertiser 8/11/1856

“Hannah Bate, licensed victualler, Rowley, for having her house open at illegal hours on Sunday morning, the 26th ult, was fined 5s and costs.”

Birmingham Journal 16/9/1857

“In last Saturday’s Journal we gave account of an explosion which occurred on Thursday morning, at the colliery of Messrs. W. Mills and Son, at Windmill End, two miles from Dudley, and by which seven lives were sacrificed. Since then another man, John Dainty, who, it may be remembered, was partially buried in the pit for upwards of sixteen hours, has succumbed to the injuries he then sustained. The poor fellow underwent much suffering while under ground, in consequence of being well nigh suffocated. When recovered he complained of cold, and gradually sinking expired on Friday afternoon. The man Daniel Chink, whose body had not been recovered at the time our last report was written, was found about seven o’clock on Friday evening, not far from the bottom of the shaft, where he had been buried from the Thursday morning under an immense heap of earth brought from the roof by the force of the explosion. Life was, of course, quite extinct, and the body, which was dreadfully crushed, was fast decomposing. Of the other five or six persons injured the case of the young man Samuel Siveter, who lived with his mother in a hut not far from the scene of the occurrence, seems to be the most serious. He was not burnt by the explosion itself, but being one of the four or five men who were about to ascend the shaft, was buried beneath the earth and coals at the bottom, which forced him against a number of hot bricks that had previously formed the ventilating furnace. Here he endured the most intense suffering, and a deep hole was burnt into his side. He has been attended by Messrs. Fereday and Timmins, of Dudley, and his recovery is hardly probable. He was somewhat better on Saturday, and he then told a gentleman who visited the house, that just prior to the explosion he saw Abraham Sherwood and William Timmins go into the ‘crop’ side of the mine, where, as we have before stated, the explosion took place, with a lighted candle; the doggy of the pit, George French, being at that time nearer still to the crop. If this be true, and so far as we can ascertain there is no reason to doubt it, the cause of the dire event is explained. Still, it must be remembered that the butty, Francis Griffiths, had only a few minutes previously cautioned the men against going unguardedly into that part of the work, and that it is to be presumed, from a safety lamp having been found near French, that the latter had taken it with him to avoid the possibility of an explosion. Under such circumstances, it can scarcely be credited that Sherwood and Timmins would have the hardihood to take a lighted candle into the most dangerous part of the mine, as alleged. These three – French, Sherwood, and Timmins – were the only persons burnt by the explosion; the other five deceased being at the time at a distance of about two hundred yards from them at the bottom of the upcast shaft. They were buried beneath a mass of coals.

On Friday and Saturday last the Government Inspector of Mines, Lionel Brough, Esq, was at the spot, and descended the pit in company with one or two officials. The force of the explosion was of such a nature as to render the workings a complete wreck. Mr. Brough made an examination, and although he attended one of the inquests on Saturday afternoon, he will not present his official report until Monday next, the 21st instant, to which day one of the inquests, viz, that on the doggy, George French, which is to be made the principal enquiry, has been adjourned.

As we said on Saturday, the bodies of the deceased lie in three different parishes, and come under the jurisdiction of three Coroners – G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, R. Docker, Esq, and W. Robinson, Esq.

The Coroner afterwards held an inquest at the house of Mrs. H. Bates, the COCK INN, Cock Green, Rowley, about two miles from the SHOULDER OF MUTTON INN, on the body of Joseph Darby, aged fourteen. Lionel Brough Esq, was present at this inquest.

The same witness, William Walker, was examined and gave similar testimony. He added that he never heard anything said as to sulphur being in the pit, and that it was not long since Mr. Aston, the bailiff, was down. In answer to Mr. Brough, he said he did not see any flame come out of either pit. This inquest was adjourned till Tuesday, the 22nd inst, at three.

By this unhappy event six wives have been made widows and twenty-three children orphans.”

[Other inquests were held at the CROSS GUNS, West Bromwich, the SHOULDER OF MUTTON, Blackheath, the FOX HUNT, Old Hill, the GATE HANGS WELL, Darby Hand and the CROSS GUNS, Oldbury.]

[At the adjourned inquest on Joseph Darby the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death and they censured the proprietors of the pit for not carrying out Mr. Brough's suggestion for improved ventilation.]

Birmingham Daily Post 8/7/1859 - Advert

“To Coal Masters, Butty Colliers, Horse Dealers, and Others.

Sale, at the COCK, Cock Green, Rowley Regis.

To Be Sold By Auction, by Mr. Hawkins, on Tuesday Next, July 12th.

The whole of the powerful well-known working Pit Horses, with their Gearing; thick Coal Wheel Skips, Tackling Chains, Skip Rings, Chaff Engine, two spring Carts, Drink Cart, Blacksmiths' Tools, Bellows, two Anvils, Screwing Tackle, Vice and Bench, Hand and Sledge Hammers, Tongs, Punches, Seats and Swages, and other useful Tools and Effects, removed as above for convenience of sale, belonging to Messrs. Francis Griffiths and James Williams, who have finished their contract under Mr. William Mills.

Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock.”

1861 Census

COCK HOUSE – Publick

[1] Hannah Bate (68), widow, innkeeper, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Sarah Griffiths (16), servant, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Benjamin Plant (60), boarder, gardener, born West Bromwich:

Birmingham Journal 3/12/1864 - Advert

“Lost, on Tuesday, a Black Greyhound Dog, with white breast, hair off between eyes and nose. Answers to ‘Locust.’

Any one returning the same to John Bate, COCK, Cock Green, Rowley, will be Rewarded. Any one detaining him after this notice will be Prosecuted.”

Birmingham Daily Post 26/9/1865 - Advert

“Lost, on Thursday night, September 21, a Red Milking Cow, with one bow horn, and a brass knob on the other. Any one returning the same to Mr. John Bate, Cock Green, near Rowley, will be Rewarded.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 17/3/1866

“Staffordshire Lent Assizes. Bate v Griffiths.

Mr. Huddleston, QC, and Mr. Matthews were for the plaintiff, and Mr. Henry James for the defendant.

The action was brought by the plaintiff, John Bate, as executor and trustee of his deceased mother, Hannah Bate, who kept a public house at Rowley Regis, to recover possession of two deeds from the defendant, Francis Griffiths, son-in-law of Hannah Bate, having married her daughter Sarah. Hannah Bate, the testatrix, died in June, 1864, having made a will in August, 1862, under which John Bate, the plaintiff, and the brother of Hannah Bate, Josiah Parkes, were executors and trustees. The will left some cottages to the defendant, which were subject to a mortgage for £200 advanced by Mr. Parkes. The testatrix had herself advanced £200 on mortgage to a person named Lowe on a piece of land, and she received as security for the advance the conveyance of the land to Lowe and a mortgage deed executed by Lowe to Mrs. Bate, and these were the two deeds the possession of which was sought to be recovered, Mr. Bate requiring them in order to call in the one mortgage so as to pay off that on the houses left to the defendant. The daughter of the defendant, a young woman, it appeared, used to assist her grandmother, and nursed her in her illness. This daughter in some way, probably by taking them from the house of the deceased, got possession of the deeds in question, and in the first instance gave them into the possession of a person named Plant, who had formerly lodged with the testatrix. She afterwards got them from Plant, and defendant was asked for them in order that the £200 lent to Lowe upon them might be called in, and the mortgage to Parkes on the cottages left to defendant paid. He refused to give them up, saying that he should not part with them until he got the mortgage from Parkes on the cottages left to him. At last he and his wife saw Mr. Boddington, solicitor for the executors, who explained to him that he had no right to the deeds, and that the mortgage could not be paid off his cottage without the deeds, and he at last consented to give them up the next morning to the plaintiff, but on the latter going for them he again refused to give them up, and did so on several occasions, but never denied that he had the deeds. At last a writ was served on him, and he then said he would throw the matter into Chancery, and a bill was a few days afterwards filed in Chancery. In subsequent letters by defendant's attorney, Mr. Warmington, it was asserted that the defendant had never had possession of the deeds, and at last it was stated that his daughter Hannah had them.

After several witnesses had been called, and it being evident that there was no defence, a verdict was taken for the plaintiff by consent for the amount of the mortgage with interest due, and 1s for detention, and the Judge observed that the defendant was the most stupid man in the county of Stafford. He wanted the mortgage on his property to be paid off, and he knew that the only mode of doing it was by giving up these deeds, which he refused to do. He wanted his own little property made safe, and free of charge, and was determined it should not be by involving it in legal expenses. If that was not an exemplification of a stupid man, he did not know what was."

1871 Census

Cock Green

- [1] John Bate (56), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sarah Bate (54), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Sarah Mancill (15), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

John Bate was also a farmer. [1873]

He was the father of Samuel (FOX HUNT, Old Hill).

County Advertiser 15/4/1876

"John Carter was charged with stealing a horsewhip and rug, the property of John Duce, wine and spirit merchant, on the 1st inst. William James Symonds said he was a traveller for Mr. Duce, and on the day named was delivering some goods for him at Mr. Darby's, the COCK INN, Rowley. He had the whip produced with him, and also a rug, which he left in the trap whilst he was in Mr. Darby's house. When he came back to the trap he missed the whip and the rug. The value of each of the articles was 5s. Police-constable Wickstead said he received the whip from Mr. Darby, but had heard nothing about the rug. He apprehended the prisoner on the 3rd inst, and charged him in the usual manner, to which prisoner replied that he did take the whip, but knew nothing of the rug. Prisoner pleaded guilty to stealing the whip, and said that as he was passing the trap the whip caught him, and he then took it out. He knew nothing at all of the rug.

The Bench committed him to prison for twenty-one days, with hard labour."

1881 Census

16, Dudley Road – COCK INN

- [1] Henry Heath (40), licensed victualler, born Churchill, Worcestershire;
- [2] Ruth Heath (40), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Mary Jane Heath (14), daughter, barmaid, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Alfred Heath (11), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Edwin Heath (9), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Edith Ruth Heath (3), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Roland Henry Heath (1), son, born Rowley Regis:

Staffordshire Advertiser 21/7/1883

"Staffordshire Summer Assizes. Archer and Others v Bate.

The hearing of this case, which was commenced on Thursday, was resumed by the calling of Timothy Hollis, miner, who gave evidence of remembering the sinking of the pit on Brickhouse Farm and the subsequent making of a roadway from Treacle Lane in the direction of the pit.

Mr. W. Davis, tenant of the Brickhouse Farm from 1869 to the present time, said the road leading from Treacle Lane to the coal pit was closed by a gate, which was kept locked for five years after he became tenant. Then Mr. Bate built a house, and two years after that time the gate was forced open. He renewed the lock three or four times, then put up a wood fence, also hurdles, but they were all pulled down. For the first seven years nobody went along the road.

In cross-examination, witness said that within the last seven years Jas. Parkes had gone along the road in question. Witness ordered Parkes away and told him he should summon him if he went that way again, to which Parkes replied, 'You can do so if you like; Bate has ordered me to come and says he will find the money if I am summoned.'

Re-examined: A second time he saw Parkes on the road and made him turn back and go up Perry Lane.

Samuel Davis, son of the last witness, confirmed his evidence and testified to the destruction of the fence by James Parkes under the direction of the defendant and his son in 1880. Witness had seen several persons go along the road the last seven years and he had turned them back.

Mr. Archer, surgeon, Birmingham, said he had been one of the trustees of St. John's, Deritend, nearly 40 years. He had instructed the tenants not to allow the road in question to be used as a public road and the first complaint he had was, when the defendant was building his house seven or eight years ago, the lock was broken off the gate. He (witness) gave instructions for the notice board 'No Road' to be put up to caution persons not to go along the road. The minute book of the trustees, the private Act of Parliament relating to the mines, and other documents showing the powers of the trustees were put in by Mr. Matthews.

Mr. Bickerton Williams, surveyor, Birmingham, was called to produce a plan of the Brickhouse Farm, prepared by a former surveyor to the trustees in 1821; but Mr. Anstie objected to his evidence, and the objection was allowed by the Judge.

Mr. Anstie then addressed the jury for the defence. He observed that the defendant's claim was a claim of public right of way..... Mr. John Bate, the defendant, said he was 70 years of age, and was born at the COCK INN, Rowley, where he now lived. It was about 140 yards from the fold-yard of the Brickhouse Farm. When he went to school he passed through the fold-yard twice a-day. When he was 21 years of age he went to live at Old Hill, and subsequently he returned to the COCK INN, and continued to use the fold-yard road, which he used more than the new road the first five years after the latter was made. Mr. Levett, the tenant at the time, then asked him to use the new road.

Mr. Mathews objected to the evidence contending that permission by the tenants would not have any affect as against the landlord, and the objection was allowed.

The defendant, in continuation of his evidence, said he was never turned back from the road through the fold-yard. He had seen the new road used by other people ever since it had been made, and he had used it himself. He was never told that he was a trespasser when on the new road till about three years ago. He had never known the gate to be locked till Mr. Davis became tenant of the farm. He had seen people constantly using the new road since he had been ordered to use it. He had used it frequently the last ten years.....”

[The case was subsequently adjourned again.]

Dudley and District News 28/7/1883

“Archer and Others v John Bate.

At the Staffordshire Summer Assizes, on Saturday, before Mr. Justice Matthews, the hearing of this case was resumed.....

Plaintiffs are the trustees of St. John's Church, Deritend, Birmingham, and owners of the Brick House Farm, Rowley Regis.

Defendant is the owner and occupier of a narrow piece of land lying between plaintiff's land and Treacle Lane, Rowley Regis. A colliery had been constructed by the plaintiffs on the farm, and for the better approach to these collieries plaintiffs many years ago constructed a road down to the Treacle Lane, along the end of defendant's property. Over this road defendant now claimed a public right of way, which the plaintiffs denied.....”

[The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiffs.]

County Advertiser 29/8/1885

“Yesterday (Friday) morning Mr. E. Hooper (district coroner) held an inquest at the COCK INN, Cock Green, Rowley, on the body of Joseph Kirkham (27), miner, of Cock Green, who was killed at the Rowley Hall Colliery, on Tuesday.

Police-constable Lafford informed the coroner that he summoned a man named Ode Fellows as a juryman, and when the summons was served Mr. Fellows told him he would not attend as he was not a married man.

The Coroner said if he always had to rely on married men he would come very poorly off. He would fine Fellows 10s.

Subsequently Mr. Fellows turned up, and on his offering an apology the fine was remitted.

Mary Garfield, mother-in-law of the deceased, identified the body, and said the deceased was 27 years of age two days before he was killed. Deceased had worked at Rowley Hall Colliery for some time, and witness never heard him make any complaints as to the manner in which the work at the colliery was carried on. Deceased had left a wife and four children.

Abraham Sherwood, deputy manager at the colliery, said that at a quarter to five o'clock on Tuesday morning he made the usual examination of the colliery and found everything to be safe. At seven o'clock deceased and the other men went down the pit, and witness put deceased to work at the corner of No.6 stall, where it was intended to make an air way. Witness marked the timber which deceased was to use and went away. He returned about twenty minutes afterwards, and found the deceased at work with the timber. About half-past nine he went to the place again and then found that the roof had fallen in and the deceased was buried. Men were at once set to work to clear away the debris, but the dead body was not recovered till half-past four in the afternoon. About 20 or 30 tons fell on the deceased. The coal at the colliery was being got in two seams and the deceased was at work in the bottom seam. The road was 'barred and treed,' and when the fall occurred it brought down the timber. The road was about six feet wide and five feet high, and the bars and trees were about three feet apart. There was coal on either side of the road, and the roof was also coal. Before the accident occurred the road appeared to be quite safe, and witness would have had no objection to do the same work as the deceased was set to do. The owners of the colliery provided the timber, and deceased could have had as much as he liked. Witness thought the accident was caused by the deceased hammering the timber too much, and so causing the bars to fall out of position. When taken out the deceased had his pipe in his mouth.

The Coroner: Then is it usual for the men to smoke in the pit? – Witness: I don't smoke myself, but I see no objection to the men smoking, as we use candles. This is the first accident I have had since I have been at the colliery.

The Coroner said the inspector of mines and his deputy were unable to attend the inquiry, but Mr. Pickering, the deputy inspector, inspected the pit on Thursday. If the jury thought the inspector should be present he would adjourn the inquest to enable them to attend, but he thought that if there were anything wrong at the pit the inspector would have written him to that effect. The deputy manager seemed to be a man of experience and a good workman, and he was pleased to find there were gentlemen on the jury who understood the working of a colliery.

The jury thought there was no reason for adjourning the inquest, and returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Sarah Sophia Pearson was the daughter of Samuel Bate of the FOX HUNT, Old Hill.

She married Benjamin Pearson in the 1st quarter of 1885.

She married, secondly, Richard Mason (the son of Mary Ann Mason, ROYAL OAK), in June 1896.

She died in 1913.

1891 Census

16, Dudley Road

- [1] Sarah Pearson (27), widow, publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Fanny Pearson (3), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Elizabeth Davenport (19), servant, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Daily Gazette 8/6/1891 - Advert

“General Servant Wanted; clean and honest; age about 20.
Mrs. Pearson, COCK INN, Rowley Regis, near Dudley.”

County Express 13/6/1891

“Enoch Powell (30), and Samuel Clee (27), colliers, Springfields, Rowley, were charged with stealing a horse and trap, the property of Joseph Davies, butcher, Oldbury, on the 4th inst.

Prosecutor said on the date named he called at the COCK INN, Knowle, between two and three o’clock, leaving his horse and trap outside, in charge of a boy. After he had been in the house about twenty minutes he came out and missed his horse. He made enquiries, and subsequently sent for the police. Witness saw the defendants in the public house. The horse and trap was worth over £40.

James Parkes (12), Dog Lane, said on the previous Thursday he was asked by Mr. Davies to take charge of the horse outside the COCK INN. Whilst he was minding it, the defendants came out of the public house, got into the trap and drove away. The men were not drunk. Clee took charge of the reins, and they went in the direction of Windmill End.

Mrs. Sarah Pearson, landlady of the COCK INN, said the defendants were in her house on the 4th when the prosecutor came in. During the time they were in the house, the defendants had several pints of ale, but she could not say how many.

Police-constable Hyman said he received information of the matter, and went in search of the men. He found them in High Street, Dudley, at about seven o’clock the same evening, driving in the direction of the parish church. He arrested the men and charged them. Clee said, ‘I knew — well we should get locked up,’ and Powell said, ‘Oh, we will get out with three months.’ Powell was very drunk, and Clee was also under the influence of drink.

Inspector Bishop said Powell was fined for being on premises for an unlawful purpose a fortnight ago, and Clee had been fined for larceny and drunkenness.

Defendants were committed to take their trial at the next Sessions, bail being allowed.”

County Express 4/7/1891

“Staffordshire Quarter Sessions.....

Enoch Powell (30), and Samuel Clee (26), miners, were charged with stealing on June 4th, at Rowley Regis, a mare, a cart, a set of harness, a whip, and other things, the property of Joseph Davies. Mr. Udall prosecuted.

Prosecutor went into the COCK INN, at Knowle, on business, leaving his horse and cart outside under the care of a little boy.

Prisoners, who had been in the house, went out shortly afterwards and drove off with the cart.

Prisoners said they were drunk, and were only having a ‘spree.’ They were on the way back when arrested.

Prisoners were acquitted.”

1901 Census

16, Dudley Road – COCK INN

- [1] Richard Mason (36), mining engineer, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sarah S. Mason (37), wife, innkeeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Fanny Mason (13), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Richard Mason (4), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Minnie Green (18), general servant, born Netherton:

County Express 31/8/1901

“James Philip Mansell, of Oakham, Dudley, and Richard Mason, of the COCK INN, Rowley, were charged with ill-treating a horse on July 11th, by causing it to be worked while in an unfit state. Mason alone appeared. Mr. Ruane, inspector under the S.P.C.A., said like summonses had been taken out against two more persons on the same charge, and were heard at the Court on July 17th, but owing to an admission made by Mansell, who gave evidence then, those summonses were dismissed, and further ones taken out against Mansell and Mason, as the joint owners of the horse in question, and who had sent the horse out to work. Police-constable Dale said on July 11th he saw the horse at the Eagle Colliery, and noticed it was very lame on the off forefoot. It was drawing coal from the pit mouth over very rough ground to a wharf. The driver of the animal told him the horse had been lame from the first, the spike of a boat-hook having run into the fetlock. This was much swollen, and matter was oozing out from it. The colliery was in an isolated position, and he had gone there on another errand, or the chances were no-one would have seen the animal.

Mr. Dawes, veterinary surgeon, said he examined the injured leg; the horse was, in his opinion, suffering great pain, and had been for some time totally unfit for work.

Mr. Mason said this occurred while he was away at Blackpool; when he saw it last, the animal was turned out in a field to recover. The Bench fined each defendant £2 and costs.

Mr. Mansell arrived at Court some twenty minutes after the decision had been given, and asked to be heard in defence, but the magistrates said they saw no reason for this.”

Smethwick Weekly News 10/5/1902

“At Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday – before Messrs. W. Bassano, J. H. Smith, G. Green, J. W. Tilley, and C. W. Bassano – Sarah Sophia Mason, landlady of the COCK INN, Rowley, was summoned for permitting gaming to take place upon her licensed premises on Easter Tuesday last. Mr. J. W. Clulow prosecuted on behalf of the Chief Constable, and explained that on the date named PC Kent and another man visited defendant’s house, and saw four men playing at a game called ‘tippit’ for beer. Mr. J. S. Sharpe, who defended, admitted the offence, but explained as soon as the landlady became aware that gambling was taking place she stopped it. The house had been owned by the family for 100 years, and defendant had kept it without any complaint from the police for 15 years. The Bench dismissed the case on payment of the costs, £4 8s.

Mr. Bassano (presiding magistrate) said one of the worst features in licensing offences was the endeavour made to bolster up a bad case with a great array of evidence which was palpably far from what it ought to be. It proved that the man who was accused of committing the licensing offence was totally unfit to hold a license. That was the view the Bench were taking more and more, for a man who would bring a lot of people to perjure themselves, as they unhappily had known it to be the case, made the second case worse than the first. He only wished it were possible for the justices to prosecute for perjury more frequently than they could.”

County Advertiser 14/2/1903

“On Wednesday the annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held at the Court House.....

Superintendent Spendlove had given notice that he should oppose the following licenses.....

Sarah S. Mason, COCK INN, Rowley, permitting gaming, and not a fit and proper person.....

License renewed.”

Tipton Herald 14/3/1903

“On Saturday morning last, an inquest was held at the COCK INN, the Knowle, Rowley, by Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) respecting the death of John Northall (46), miner, formerly residing at Dog Lane, Rowley, and who met with a shocking death whilst following his employment at the Warrens Hall Colliery, Rowley, belonging to the Earl of Dudley, on the 4th inst.

Mr. H. R. Makepeace, Government Inspector of Mines, was present at the inquiry, and Mr. Griffiths, certificated manager, represented the owner.

Samuel Hotchkiss, who was working with the deceased on the day of the accident, stated that Northall found it necessary to release a prop which appeared to be safe. When the prop was released about a ton of coal fell upon the deceased, who died ten minutes after he was extricated from the debris.

In reply to Mr. Makepeace witness said he examined the place at least six times on the day in question, and worked himself in getting the bottom coal. When the fall of coal occurred there was no bump and no warning at all. A piece of coal fastened the deceased’s foot to the ground, and when in this helpless condition other pieces fell upon him.

Thomas Bryant, who was also working with the deceased, said he considered the place was safe.

Daniel Gill, chartermaster, stated that the deceased had worked at the colliery about nine months. On the day of the accident he was in the workings and gave instructions for a tree to be set when the coal was being obtained.

Dr. Freer gave medical evidence and explained that deceased had sustained terrible injuries, including a fractured leg and spine.

PC Reynolds also gave evidence and the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Tipton Herald 27/3/1909

“Richard Mason, of the COCK INN, Rowley Regis, was summoned under the County Council regulations for failing to report to the police an outbreak of parasitic mange which had occurred at his premises on the 12th inst.

PS Bentley stated that on the date named he called at a colliery at Oakham, Rowley, belonging to the defendant, where he saw two geldings suffering from the disease. Two days later he paid another visit, and saw two other geldings suffering from the disease. Defendant pleaded ignorance of the law. He found the animals suffering from what he thought was the ‘riff’ and he called in a veterinary surgeon to them.

Superintendent Johnson said this was the second prosecution in the district under the new order.

Defendant was fined 20s and costs, Mr. J. Green (chairman) remarking that it was a serious offence.”

1911 Census

20, Dudley Road

[1] Richard Mason (46), colliery proprietor, born Kingswinford;

[2] Sarah Sophia Mason (47), wife, married 15 years, licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Richard Mason Jnr. (14), son, colliery clerk, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Fanny Pearson (23), stepdaughter, assisting in business, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Edith Haywood (21), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;

County Express 10/6/1911 - Advert

“Knowle and Perrys Lake, Rowley Regis. Notice of Sale of Nine Freehold Dwelling Houses.

To Investors and Others. Alfred Hill has been instructed by the Trustees of the late Mr. Richard Griffiths to Sell By Public Auction, at the House of Mrs. Richard Mason, the COCK INN, Rowley Regis, on Monday, June 19th, 1911, at 7.30 in the Evening precisely, subject to Conditions of Sale to be then read.....”

Dudley Chronicle 20/7/1912

“One of the cases on the list at Old Hill Police Court on Monday was that of Frederick Bryant, of Rowley, summoned for refusing to quit the COCK INN, Rowley, kept by Sarah Sophia Mason. There was a further summons against Bryant for malicious damage. Bryant, however, failed to appear, and a warrant for his arrest was issued.”

Dudley Chronicle 27/7/1912

“A young man named Frederick Bryant, Doulton Road, Rowley, was charged with refusing to quit the COCK INN, Rowley, and breaking a window, value £2.

Mrs. Mason said that on the 8th of July prisoner charged a man named Mullett with being the cause of his tap being stopped, and when put out for using bad language, he threw a stone through a window, valued at £2.

Prisoner was fined 15s for refusing to quit, and 1s and costs and the damages £2.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 1/9/1932

“A motor-cyclist, who was accompanied by a pillion rider, had his jugular vein cut as the result of his head being forced through the window of a saloon car with which he was involved in a collision at the corner of Halesowen Street and High Street, Blackheath, last night.

The motor-cycle was smashed badly.

The car, which was being driven by Percy Rose, son of the licensee of the COCK INN, Dudley Road, Rowley, was considerably damaged on one side, the force of the impact smashing the door and breaking all the glass in that side. The driver escaped injury.”

1939 Register

Dudley Road – COCK INN

[1] Harry Hipkiss, date of birth 3/9/1903, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Gladys Hipkiss, dob 14/1/1904, unpaid domestic duties, married;

A team from here took part in the Rowley Regis Darts League. [1965/66]

Edwin Eric Heal was married to Margaret.

It was damaged by fire in December 1985.

Sandwell Evening Mail 31/7/1986

“Pub landlord Eric Heal pulls the first pint in three months at the CLOCK [sic] pub, in Dudley Road, Rowley Regis, tonight following a severe fire which has cost £40,000 to put right.”

Terry Bucknall was a trumpeter with the Ray Ellington Orchestra.

He married June (Mandy Lee) with whom they were entertainers on cruise liners.

She played barmaid Mandy Jordan in “Crossroads”.

Sandwell Evening Mail 10/2/1988

“Crossroads actress Mandy Bucknall has swapped the feuds of the Kings Oak motel for the warmth of a genuine Black Country pub. The actress, who plays Mandy Jordan in the soap opera which finishes in the spring, has teamed up with her real-life husband Terry behind the bar of the COCK INN in Dudley Road, Rowley Regis.

The pub is the 23rd in the Holt, Plant and Deakin empire and reopened yesterday after a £30,000 refit.

Mandy is in no doubt which bar she prefers to serve behind. ‘It’s a relief to leave the dramas of the motel for the warmth and friendliness of a real Black Country pub.’ Mandy served behind the bar at Crossroads for eight years and reckons her experience will stand her in good stead as she serves real drinkers instead of actors. She will be running the pub with husband Terry, a former trumpeter with Ray Ellington’s Big Band.

The COCK INN was badly damaged by fire three years ago and closed for nearly a year.

A pub has stood on the same site since 1693 and Holts have exposed the brickwork and installed a welcoming fire to give the pub a traditional flavour.”

It reopened after a £100,000 refurbishment on 27th July 2000.

Jennifer Hutchinson was married to Clive.

[2019]

Halesowen News 12/4/2021

“Plans to turn a Rowley Regis pub into flats have been submitted to Sandwell Council after ‘anti-social behaviour and violence’ against the owner. The proposal is to transform the COCK INN pub on Dudley Road into nine self-contained flats. A design and access statement states, ‘The applicant runs the public house along with his small family and resides at first floor, the property has been under the same ownership for a number of years now. Over the years the applicant has seen a gradual decline to the business and has faced various incidents of antisocial behaviour and violence against him and his family, whilst running the business. In light of this he has decided to close the premises and redevelop the site to create essential affordable accommodation by way of small one and two bed flats.’ It goes on to state that the vacant land next to the pub ‘attracts antisocial behaviour, noise and disturbance especially during the evenings. The site has been a constant area of concern for the applicant who has over the years had to pay for various clean ups and the anti-social behaviour has caused the applicant to think of closing the public house and relocate.’ The proposed flats consist of an entrance hallway, lounge/kitchen, separate bathroom and bedrooms. There are 12 parking spaces on plans as well as a garden. The pub would be converted and an extension built to the side of it, to create the one and two-bed flats. The application will be considered by Sandwell Council planners.”

Express & Star 25/5/2021

“A troubled Rowley Regis pub where the owners were driven out by violent attacks will be turned into apartments. Planning officers at Sandwell Council gave the green light to convert the COCK INN, on Dudley Road, into nine one-and-two-bedroom flats. The venue was shut after suffering from a string of problems including violence, anti-social behaviour and fly-tipping. It is hoped the proposal, put forward by the owners listed as Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, will spell the end for the trouble previously suffered there.....”

Halesowen News 30/3/2022

“A troubled Rowley Regis pub where the owners were driven out by violent attacks looks set to be turned into homes. An application to convert the COCK INN, on Dudley Road, into three houses has been submitted to Sandwell Council. The bid, which also includes plans for a two-storey extension, is from Trinity Asset Holdings of Solihull. The council gave the green light to plans to convert the building into nine one and two bedroomed flats last year, but this has not gone ahead. The venue was shut after suffering from a string of problems including violence, anti-social behaviour and fly-tipping. The previous application for flats had said, ‘Over the years the applicant has seen a gradual decline to the business and has faced various incidents of anti-social behaviour and violence against him and his family, whilst running the business. In light of this he has decided to close the premises.’ It said, ‘The vacant land adjacent can attract anti-social behaviour and young males can be found congregating there late at night, smoking, drinking, causing a nuisance. The site also attracts fly tipping and our client has on many occasions had to take rubbish to the local recycling centre, this then causes vermin infestation.’ In the new application for three three-bedroom houses the owners of the site are listed as Mr. and Mrs. Johnson. The proposal includes spaces for ten cars.”

Express & Star 11/10/2022

“A former Black Country pub at the centre of violence and anti-social behaviour problems is set to go under the hammer later this month. The COCK INN, on Dudley Road in Rowley Regis, is being offered with a guide price of more than £295,000 at Bond Wolfe’s next auction. It comes after plans to turn the site into apartments were rubber-stamped earlier this year – after the owners were forced out through violence. But now it is set to go under the hammer at the Bond Wolfe auction which starts at 9.30am on October 27, with the pub featured among 158 slots. Ian Tudor, joint managing director auctions at Bond Wolfe, said, ‘The range of commercial opportunities available in our October auction means there is something to attract all levels of investment and we are expecting strong interest and competitive bidding.’

Planning agents BSP Design – who put forward proposals to turn the pub into flats – said earlier this year there had been a ‘gradual decline’ to the business, with various incidents of anti-social behaviour and violence directed against the owner and his family. And in light of this it was decided the pub would close and the site would be redeveloped with anti-social behaviour issues – and other fly-tipping issues – being tackled through the flat plans. It has planning permission for conversion and extension to create three dwellings or alternatively to convert and extend the building to provide nine self-contained flats. The auction will be live-streamed via Bond Wolfe’s website with remote bidding by proxy, telephone or internet.”

COCK AND BULL

Graingers Lane, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

COOKSEY’S HOTEL

62, (25), (13), (8), Halesowen Road, OLD HILL

OWNERS

Thomas and Isaac Badger

Thomas Cooksey (acquired on 6th May 1850)

Ruth Cooksey (acquired on 27th September 1855)

James Holcroft [1897]
Frank Webb, Quarry Bank (acquired on 28th September 1897 for £1,910) [1919]
Smith and Williams
J. Hanson & Son (acquired on 1st August 1934)
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd.

LICENSEES

Thomas Cooksey (1850 – 1855);
Mrs. Ruth Cooksey (1855 – 1874);
James Holcroft (1874 – []
Cooksey [1874]
Mrs. Cooksey [1876] – [1878]
John Edward Corser [] – 1881)
Thomas Clarke [1891] – [1893]
Mrs. Emma Clarke [1896] – [1897]
John Thompson (1898 – []
John Mansell [1900]
William Meldrum McWhirter (1900 – 1903);
Nebo Littlewood (1903 – [1912]
Edward ‘Teddy’ Burchell (1913 – [1916]
Thomas Kench [1919] – 1922);
James Henry Beaven (1922 – 1927);
Arthur John Benton Jew (1927 – 1930);
Richard Arnold Owens (1930 – 1932);
Benjamin Timmington (1932 – 1940);
Beatrice Ann Timmington (1940 – 1944);
Benjamin Bennett (1944 – 1945);
William Henry Marshall (1945 – 1948);
Jack Harris (1948 – 1954);
Raymond Arthur Weston (1954 – 1960);
Harry Horan (1960 – [1965]
Bill Bennett []
Len Peplow []
Kenneth Johnson [] – 1972);
Mrs. Shirley Johnson* (1972 – 1993)
Mrs. S D Southall* [1993]
Nicola Tinker and Wendy Hipkiss [2001]
Nicola Tinker [2002]

NOTES

8, Halesowen Road [1891]
13, Halesowen Road [1896], [1900], [1908]
25, Halesowen Road [1911], [1912], [1916], [1924], [1932], [1939], [1940]
62, Halesowen Road [1993]

The building was originally Old Hill courtrooms and police station.

Job Green sold his wife Lydia outside here.

Thomas Cooksey bought the hotel from Thomas and Isaac Badger on 6th May 1850.
He was also a farmer of 70 acres at Primrose Hill, Netherton.
He died on 27th September, 1855.
His widow was Ruth, who died in 1904 aged 81.
They were the parents of Thomas ‘Lawyer’ Cooksey.

Birmingham Journal 9/10/1852 - Advert

“Important Sale of Farming Stock, Implements of Husbandry, and Other Effects, at Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.
To be Sold by Auction, by Thomas Pitt Stokes, on Monday next the 11th – all the Live and Dead Farming Stock; consisting of fifteen strong and powerful Waggon Horses, a capital Pony, Gearing, Carts, Waggons, and other Implements, a capital Wheat and Oak Rick, about 20 tons of well-ended Hay, 100 bags of potatoes, 35,000 good sound Bricks, Rick of Barley Straw, about 20 tons of Bolten Straw, with other very useful Articles, the property of Mr. Thomas Cooksey, of the HOTEL, at Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis, who is declining the Farming Business.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 20/9/1854

“Unjust Weights and Measures. No less than 52 delinquents of this description were today fined as follows.....
Rowley Regis..... Thomas Cooksey, one quart and one pint, 2s 6d.”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 2/1/1856

“On Thursday, a labouring man, named James Harding, was charged with stealing a piece of roast pork, part of a loaf, part of a roast fowl, and a bottle of vinegar, the property of Mrs. Ruth Cooksey, an innkeeper, at Old Hill, on the night of Christmas day. It was shown that the prisoner was formerly employed by the prosecutrix, and that on Tuesday night he, in common with the rest of her servants, partook of a free supper at his old mistress’s. The articles named in the charge were placed in a larder near the kitchen, and the prisoner was seen in suspicious proximity to the same. On the property being missed he was accused of taking it, and he then tried to make his escape, and dropped a piece of the missing loaf. He now denied the charge.

Mr. Leigh: Why did you run away? – The prisoner: I thought it was my best way to get off. (Laughter.)

The prosecutrix: He told me this morning it was done and could not be undone.

Mr. Leigh (to the prisoner): Is that true? – Prisoner: Yes sir, it is.

Mr. Leigh remarked on the prisoner’s ingratitude and sentenced him to hard labour for seven days.”

County Advertiser 4/10/1856

“We beg to remind such of our readers whose names have been objected to as not being eligible to be on the list of voters, for the southern division of this county, that Thomas Anthony Lister, Esq, Barrister at Law, will hold his Court at the STAR INN, in this town, on Friday next, at ten o’clock in the morning, to revise the list of voters for the parish of Kingswinford and the hamlet of Amblecote.

The same gentleman will also hold a Court at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, on the previous day, at two o’clock in the afternoon, for the parish of Rowley Regis.”

County Advertiser 20/6/1857

“During the night of Monday last, a cock and two hen fowls of the black Spanish breed were stolen from the back premises of COOKSEY’S HOTEL. The hens have been since found by the police secreted in the bottom of a hedge a little way from the place, but no clue to the thieves has yet been obtained.”

County Advertiser 25/7/1857

“Thomas and James Hackett, nailers, of Rowley, were charged with assaulting a parish constable, named Emanuel Perry, on the 4th inst. The defendants were creating a disturbance at Mrs. Cooksey’s HOTEL, at Old Hill, and the complainant having been requested to remove them, Thomas Hackett gave him two black eyes. James Hackett afterwards attempted a rescue. In the scuffle the constable’s hand was much injured. Thomas was fined £2 and costs, and James £1 and costs.”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 6/1/1858

“For the last three weeks the horse nail makers of Old Hill, Quarry Bank, and Oldswinford, have been on strike, owing to a proposed reduction in their wages. The reduction is 2d per thousand, which amounts to about 8 or 10 per cent on the men’s wages. A small portion of the men have resumed work at the reduction, but the remainder seem determined not to do so. On Monday last, a meeting of some five or six hundred horse nail makers took place at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill. They expressed themselves determined not to submit to a reduction.”

Birmingham Journal 1/5/1858 - Advert

“Valuable Freehold Property consisting of Eight Dwelling Houses and Land, with the Thick Coal, and other Mines and Minerals Thereunder, situated at Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis and County of Stafford.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Friday Next, 7th day of May, at Six o’clock in the evening, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, at Old Hill aforesaid, and subject to conditions then to be produced.....”

This was, for many years, a popular venue for public auctions.

County Advertiser 1/1/1859

“On the 24th ult an inquest was held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, before G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, (coroner) on the body of Richard Wellings, a miner, 35 years of age, who met with his death by being run over by a coal wagon on the 23rd ult. Deceased was in the employ of the New British Iron Company at Bear Moor Colliery, Rowley Regis. No person was present when the accident occurred, but a man named William Clark found deceased lying on the tramway, cut all to pieces, and it is supposed that the unfortunate man must have been overtaken by a wagon, and before he could get out of the way, knocked down, and run over, thus causing the injuries which resulted in instantaneous death. The verdict returned was Accidental Death.”

Birmingham Journal 30/4/1859

“On Tuesday last, about 100 persons sat down to an excellent dinner at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, being the annual meeting of the delegates of the several lodges belonging to the Samaritan Order of Odd Women.”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 2/1/1861 - Notice

“County of Stafford. Weights and Measures. District C. or South Staffordshire.

Notice is Hereby Given that William Tullett, the Inspector of Weights and Measures.....

Will attend at the undermentioned Times and Places for the purpose of Comparing and Examining all such Weights and Measures as shall be brought to him for that purpose, and Stamping such of them as shall be found correct.....

At the COOKSEY HOTEL, at Rowley Regis on Thursdays, January 17th, February 14th, and March 14th, 1861, at ten o'clock am.....

All persons residing in the said District, desirous of having their Weights and Measures Stamped, may bring or send them to any of the above places for adjustment, as shall be most convenient; or to No.29, King Street, Wolverhampton, on any other than the days above appointed.....”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 13/2/1861

“The Horse-nail Strike. This suicidal affair still continues. The condition of the men is very distressing, but they hold out in the faint hope that the masters will succumb. A meeting en masse of the men was held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, when the old resolutions to hold out were re-iterated.”

1861 Census

Reddall Hill – Bourn Brook

[1] Ruth Cooksey (37), widow, licensed victualler, born Rowley;

[2] Sophia Cooksey (17), daughter, born Dudley;

[3] Joseph Cooksey (12), son, born Dudley;

[4] Ruth W. Cooksey (8), daughter, born Rowley;

[5] Thomas Cooksey (6), son, born Rowley;

[6] Sarah Beaumont (20), domestic servant, born Rowley:

Wolverhampton Chronicle 11/9/1861

“New cells adjoining COOKSEY’S HOTEL, where the Petty Sessions are held, are in the course of construction, and will be soon completed. Hitherto the police have only had a single cell for the safe custody of all the offenders of Rowley – an accommodation which was sadly too limited. For the future, therefore, prisoners who are unlucky enough to be incarcerated there will not only have additional comforts, but stronger means of detention will be employed to baffle their escape. A commodious house is also being fitted up for the residence of an officer.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 27/1/1863

“A meeting of horse-nail makers, at present on strike, was held yesterday afternoon, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill. The meeting was well attended, and the chair was occupied by Mr. Payton, of Quarry Bank. The Chairman, in his opening the proceedings, referred to the duration and cause of the present strike. The origin, he stated, was the fact that the tradesman at Belper, in Derbyshire, was dealing with one of the employers of labour in this district, and the manager of Messrs. Guest wished the leaders of the Union to induce the men not to work for the Belper firm, or their wages would be lowered. The horse-nail makers were reduced without notice 3d per thousand as the Union leaders would not act as wished, consequently the greater number of them came on to the funds of the Union, and the strike took place. The ‘brazil’ makers also came out for similar reasons. After some further remarks the Chairman called upon Mr. Hackett to address the meeting. In the course of his remarks Mr. Hackett said that the men were willing to return to their work at the same rate of pay as the other masters were paying, but they were determined to stand out until they were paid the amount they claimed. There was no disposition on the part of the men to raise any fabulous grievance; they were willing to work, and do their duty to their employers so long as they were properly paid (cheers). Mr. Josiah Ball condemned the course adopted by Mr. Ball (the manager of Messrs. Guest and Charlton), who he said, had attempted to tyrannise over the workmen, and dictate to them in an unconstitutional manner. Referring to the amount earned by the various workmen in the trade, he said that it was a very difficult matter for even the best workmen at the ‘brazil’ trade to earn above 4s a day, which was much below the average pay of ordinary labouring men.....”

County Advertiser 14/2/1863

“On Monday evening last, a concert took place at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill. The large room was completely filled with a most respectable audience. The performers were Madam Poyzer, Miss E. P. Selman, Mr. J. O. Davis, Mr. Fellowes, Mr. G. Mainwaring, and Mr. Troman, who presided at the pianoforte. All the performances were given in a superior manner, and there were frequent encores.”

Birmingham Daily Post 20/12/1864 - Advert

“Foreman Carpenters Wanted, immediately, for Railway Construction.

Apply, with references from last employer, to W. H., COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, near Dudley.”

The Royal Marlborough Lodge of A.O.F. met here. [1865]

Stourbridge Observer 25/2/1865

“On Thursday evening a grand ball was held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL. Upwards of 60 lovers of the dance assembled, and moved on the 'light fantastic toe' to the melodious strains of Collier's String Band, of Brierley Hill, till the clock struck the wee hours, and then they parted, well pleased with the evening's pleasure."

County Advertiser 4/3/1865

"On the evening of Thursday week a ball, in connection with the Cradley Heath Cricket Club, took place at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill. There were about sixty ladies and gentlemen present; and the music was provided by a string band, under the direction of Mr. Collier, Brierley Hill. All the arrangements were excellent, and the party kept up the dance till an early hour next morning."

Stourbridge Observer 22/7/1865

"On Friday evening the 14th inst, the members of the Working Committee, on whom a great amount of labour has happened to fall, and who had all the trouble in getting up and successfully carrying out the late great demonstration in connection with the Ancient Order of Foresters, met together at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, to partake of a supper as a kind of reward for their late services, and also to hear the auditors read the report they had prepared. About 40 sat down to supper. Ample justice was done to the good things provided, which were of first-class quality.

After the withdrawal of the cloth, Brother Timothy Parkes was appointed unanimously to take the chair, and also Brother Lowe the vice chair. After Brother Talbot, the District Chief Ranger, had opened the meeting in the usual manner, the Chairman called upon the auditors to read their report. From this it appeared that the money taken at the gates at Hagley Park amounted to £145 0s 8d, whilst the expenses amounted to £88 13s 11½d, leaving £55 7s 10½d, which was the amount they had realized by the demonstration....."

County Advertiser 26/8/1865

"The annual licensing meeting was held yesterday, at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill. The magistrates present were Messrs. Barrs, Moore, and Cochrane. There were eight applications for new licenses, not one of which was granted. The renewals amounted to eighty-three."

County Advertiser 7/10/1865

"The cricket season of the Cradley Heath Cricket Club was closed on Tuesday night by a convivial meeting. About thirty of the members and their friends sat down to an excellent supper, at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill. The chair was occupied by Mr. Phillips, surgeon, Rowley, and Mr. Wright occupied the vice-chair. The toasts usual on such occasions were given and responded to. A number of excellent songs were sung, and altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent."

Birmingham Daily Post 23/11/1865

"On Tuesday evening, Mr. Tinkham, agent and manager to Sir Moreton Peto, the contractor for the Stourbridge Extension Railway Company, was entertained at dinner, at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill, by a number of friends and gentlemen who had had business relations with him. The occasion was the presentation to Mr. Tinkham of a handsome silver tea and coffee service, cups, salver, &c, valued at upwards of £100 The dinner was creditably put upon the table by Mrs. Cooksey, the hostess....."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 22/10/1866

"Mr. Granville Somerset, the Revising Barrister, held a court for the revision of the county list for the parish of Rowley Regis, at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill, on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Green, of Wolverhampton, represented the Conservative interest, and two objections were sustained in consequence of the representations of this gentleman. The Liberal party were not represented at the court."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 26/10/1866

"Mr. Hooper, yesterday, held an inquest at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, on the body of Charles Richards, aged 45, wagoner for Messrs. Pickford. The deceased had for some time complained of pains in his side and head, and had taken medicine to alleviate them. On Monday last whilst with his wagon, he fell to the ground insensible near the Old Hill toll-bar, and upon Mr. Moore, surgeon, being called in he found that life was extinct. The jury upon the evidence adduced returned a verdict to the effect that deceased had died from Disease of the Heart."

County Advertiser 20/4/1867 - Advert

"COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill.

An Amateur Concert will take place at the above Hotel, on Tuesday, April 30th, 1867, in aid of the Cradley Heath Cricket Club. Conductor: Mr. Troman.

Tickets may be had at Mrs. Cooksey's, Old Hill; Messrs. Townsend, Drapers, Cradley Heath; Mr. Rainbow, Cradley Heath; and the Members of the Club.

Doors open at Half-past Seven; to commence at Eight o'clock."

County Express 27/4/1867 - Advert

"Wanted, a good General Servant.

Apply to Mrs. Cooksey, COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill."

County Advertiser 4/5/1867

“On Tuesday last, an amateur concert was given at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, in aid of the funds of the Cradley Heath Cricket Club. Mr. Troman officiated as conductor. There was a good attendance, the reserved seats being filled; and the various pieces were very creditably performed.”

Stourbridge Observer 11/1/1868

“The annual tea party and ball took place at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, on Monday evening last.

Upwards of ninety sat down to an excellent tea provided by Mrs. Cooksey, after which they adjourned to the ball room, where dancing was kept up with great spirit to the strains of W. Field’s (of Dudley) Quadrille Band, until four o’clock, and everything passed off well.”

County Express 19/9/1868 - Advert

“Under Distinguished Patronage. Dancing and Exercises for Deportment.

Mr. Gifforde Reynolds, Violinist, and Teacher of Dancing, from Bath and Clifton, respectfully announces to the Gentry and Inhabitants of Brierly Hill, and its vicinity, that his classes are opened at Mr. Skidmore’s, BELL HOTEL Assembly Rooms, which have undergone improvements, and decorated for the season.

Juvenile Class every Wednesday afternoon at Two o’clock. Class for Ladies and Gentlemen same evening at Eight o’clock.

Mr. R. attends at Old Hill, at Mrs. Cooksey’s Hotel.

Juvenile Class every Thursday at Two o’clock. Ladies and Gentlemen’s Class at Eight o’clock same evening.

Pupils will be received at the following Schools: Mrs. Rowley’s Boarding School, Byfield House, Oldswinford, near Stourbridge; Miss Jarvis’s Ladies’ School, Lozells, Birmingham; and Mrs. Richardson Cooke, Clifton Road School, Aston.

Schools and Families attended.

Letters addressed to Mr. Skidmore’s, BELL HOTEL, Brierly Hill, where terms may be known, will be immediately attended to.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 15/10/1868

“West Staffordshire Election. The Conservative Candidates at Old Hill.

Messrs. Smith Child and Meynall-Ingram, the two conservative candidates for the western division of the county of Staffordshire, addressed an influential meeting yesterday of their supporters at COOKSEY’S HOTEL. The meeting was held at one o’clock in the magistrates’ room, which was crowded.....”

County Advertiser 24/12/1868 - Advert

“COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.

The Annual Tea Party and Ball will be held on Monday, January 4th, 1869.

Tickets, 1s each. Tea on the Tables at Five o’clock. An efficient Band is engaged.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 15/1/1869

“The Police held their annual dinner on Wednesday, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 4/11/1869

“Water in The Mines in the Old Hill District.

Our issue of the 28th ult contained some reference to this subject from a correspondent. From inquiries in the locality we find that what our correspondent recommended had been already anticipated, for on the 3rd of September we learn that a meeting was held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, by the leading firms affected, and action was agreed upon. Only a day or two since another meeting of the principal parties has been held, and a mining engineer (Mr. Henry Johnson) has been appointed to prepare a report of the state of the water in several collieries, to be presented at the future meeting. Meanwhile we hear that a large pumping engine in the pond, and which has been lying idle for many years, is to be set to work with all possible speed, and no doubt another will soon follow, and so prevent the loss of a very valuable tract of mines in the district referred to. We hail with satisfaction such combinations for getting rid of that common enemy in the mines – water. This object is to be accomplished at Old Hill at the joint expense of the coal-owners in the neighbourhood.”

County Express 9/7/1870

“On Monday, the 3rd inst, the members of the Court Loyal Marlborough, Ancient Order of Foresters, held their anniversary at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, where they partook of an admirable feast served with the usual good catering of the hostess. The meeting afterwards was made the occasion of a presentation of a handsome silver medal to their secretary.....”

County Advertiser 27/8/1870 - Advert

“Lost, from a field at Darby Hand, on the night of Wednesday, the 24th inst, a Milch Cow, colour red, with long horns, aged.

Any person restoring the same to Mr. Cooksey, COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, will be Rewarded.”

Stourbridge Observer 24/9/1870

“The annual Wake was held on Monday last. There were a large number of shows, swing-boats, velocipede, circular railways &c, &c, in a field at the back of COOKSEY’S HOTEL. The Wake extended to Blackheath, Rowley Regis, and Cradley Heath.

A large number of persons were at the various places during the day.

There were some pony races at Rowley on Monday and Tuesday, which were witnessed by a large concourse of people.”

County Advertiser 4/3/1871 - Advert

“Wanted, a strong Servant Girl, about 18 or 20. Character indispensable. Apply, Mrs. Cooksey, THE HOTEL, Old Hill.”

1871 Census

Halesowen Road – COOKSEY HOTEL

- [1] Ruth Cooksey (48), widow, maltster and publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Joseph Cooksey (22), son, railway clerk, born Dudley;
- [3] Thomas Cooksey (16), son, solicitor’s clerk, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Ruth Wright Cooksey (18), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Ann Maria Perkins (21), general servant, born Dudley;

Birmingham Daily Post 12/8/1871 - Advert

“Staffordshire. Freehold Steam Flour Mill and Dwelling Houses, Rowley Regis, Rowley.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. John Bent, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, on Tuesday, August 29, 1871, at Six o’clock in the evening.....”

Stourbridge Observer 19/8/1871

“Early on Monday morning Cradley Heath was all astir and hundreds of persons could be seen wending their way towards the Five Ways to witness the procession of Foresters, which was announced to take place that day. The weather being fine thousands of persons were present to witness the procession through the various streets. Ten o’clock was the appointed time for starting, but it was nearly half-past eleven before they got away, owing to their having to wait for some of the Courts from a distance.

The various Courts assembled at the Five Ways, and then formed themselves into order of procession. The following Courts were represented: No.3068, Hope and Anchor, QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Street, Cradley Heath; No.3595, Cable and Anchor, BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath; 4127, Good Samaritan, BEEHIVE, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath; 4196, Foresters’ Home, VINE AND RAILWAY HOTEL, Cradley Heath; 4233, Loyal Shenstone; 4340, Loyal Marlborough, COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill; 4398, Moss Rose, ROYAL OAK INN, New Town; 4546, Robin Hood’s Merry Rangers, CROWN INN, Five Ways; 4970, Lye Reformed, WINDMILL INN, Lye. Although the district of Cradley Heath and Halesowen comprises 36 Courts, only nine took part in getting up the Fete.

The procession started from the Five Ways, headed by the Cradley Heath Brass Band. The Pensnett Victoria Brass and Reed Band and the Halesowen Drum and Fife Band also took part in the procession. Each band played lively quick steps passing through Lomey Town, Five Ways, Four Ways, Reddal Hill, Old Hill, and Haden Hill, en route for Halesowen, passing through the principal streets and then to the Leasowes. The procession was three-quarters of a mile in length, and was accompanied with three magnificent banners bearing suitable mottoes of the Order, and a large number of flags, the members wearing the various badges of the Order, and accompanied by Robin Hood, Little John, Will Scarlet, Friar Tuck, Shepherds, &c, &c.

On arriving at the beautiful and classic grounds, famed as having been the seat of the poet Shenstone, the procession passed round the house of B. Gibbons, Esq, who had kindly placed the whole of the grounds at the disposal of the Committee.....

There was a number of shooting galleries, Aunt Sallys, and other things to amuse all classes. During the day a number of balloon ascents took place.....

It is estimated that between six and seven thousand persons were present, upwards of £100 being taken at the gates, and it is expected there will be a good surplus in aid of the funds of the Order and General Hospital.

We must not close without a word of praise to the Committee, who were indefatigable in carrying out the arrangements according to the programme. The refreshments were provided by Mrs. S. Cartwright of Cradley Heath, and the tea and confectionery by Mr. J. Corns of Wolverhampton.”

County Advertiser 26/8/1871

“The annual licensing session for Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held yesterday at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill. The Magistrates present were Messrs. E. Moore, F. W. G. Barrs, and N. Hingley. During the year three licensed victuallers and three beerhouse keepers have been convicted. They were each reprimanded by the Bench, and their licenses were renewed. The applications for the renewal of old licenses numbered 86, and those for beerhouse licenses 55. The applications were all granted. All the applications for new licenses were refused.”

Stourbridge Observer 27/1/1872

“Meeting of Engine Winders at Old Hill. A meeting of the colliery engineers of the above district was held on Saturday last, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, to consider the advisability of asking for a reduction in the hours of employment and an increase of wages, when the following different classes of workmen were present, viz, colliery winders, mill and forge enginemen, blast enginemen, brick-kiln enginemen and others.

The Chairman, in opening the meeting, showed the men the necessity of combining together, and urged them to form a branch society, the same as that of the Amalgamated Engineers, when all who were present enrolled their names. The pits of the above district were very large, and a great quantity of coal was sent to the surface, in comparison with the quality drawn where the mines ran shallow, and required much more vigilance to be exercised by the engineer. It was proposed to send a memorial to the masters for the reduction in the hours of labour, and an increase in wages. The meeting was then adjourned until Saturday evening next.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 23/3/1872 - Notice

“County of Stafford. Weights and Measures, District C, or South Staffordshire.

Notice is hereby given, that I shall attend at the undermentioned times and places for the purpose of Comparing and Examining all such Weights and Measures as shall be brought to me for that purpose, and Stamping such of them as shall be found correct....

At COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, on Thursday, May 2nd, 1872, at ten o’clock am....

All persons residing in the said District desirous of having their Weights and Measures stamped should bring or send them to any of the above places for adjustment, as shall be most convenient, upon the days and at the hours mentioned.

Persons within any local jurisdiction for which a separate Inspector is appointed cannot have their Weights and Measures Examined or Stamped by the County Inspector.

J. George Horder. Inspector of Weights and Measures for District C, or South Staffordshire.

Goldthorn Hill, Wolverhampton, March 16th, 1872.”

Birmingham Daily Post 18/6/1873 - Advert

“Found, on June 11, near Langley, silver Geneva Watch. Owner can have same on paying expenses.

Apply, J. Cooksey, HOTEL, Old Hill, Dudley.”

County Advertiser 18/10/1873

“It is very gratifying to find that the friendly societies in the Black County cheerfully respond to the appeal lately made to them on behalf of the Guest Hospital, Dudley. At Dudley, Tipton, Gornal, and other places, the Foresters, Free Gardeners, and Oddfellows, have recently had an hospital Sunday, and on Sunday the Foresters of Rowley Regis parish, 800 in number, had theirs. Fortunately, the weather was fine. At two o’clock a batch of members, headed by the Dudley Rifle Corps Band, started from COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, and marched to a field at Blackheath, where it had been arranged the procession should be formed. The other courts, headed by the Spinners End Sax Horn Band, were in attendance at the appointed time, and as soon as they were all arranged in their proper order, the members started for the Parish Church, followed by thousands of orderly persons. Although the church has accommodation for 2,000 only, at least 3,000 men, women, and young people managed to get inside the edifice. Over a thousand more wanted to be present at the service, and the vicar, on being informed that such a large number remained outside his church, arranged for an open-air service, which was conducted simultaneously with that held in the church. The sermon was preached by the Rev. T. Ward (vicar), who made a powerful appeal to his hearers to support the Guest Hospital. The two collections amounted to £27 14s 7d.”

Dudley Guardian 12/9/1874

“On Wednesday, the Magistrates sitting in petty sessions at Mrs. Cooksey’s HOTEL, decided to grant an extension of one hour to the publicans on Monday and Tuesday evening next, the occasion being the annual wake.”

Stourbridge Observer 7/11/1874

“An inquest was held on Tuesday at Mr. Cooksey’s HOTEL, before Mr. E. Hooper, Coroner, touching the death of Ellen Homer, aged 4 years. From the evidence adduced, it appears that deceased was playing in the Halesowen road with other children, when a cart which was passing, belonging to Mr. Cooper, grocer, Dudley, caught the child, knocked it down and the wheel passed over it, causing immediate death. Other evidence was given which went to show that it was purely accidental, and the jury found a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Express 11/11/1876

“A discovery of an extraordinary nature occurred at Old Hill early on Saturday morning last. A man named John Priest found the dead body of a male child wrapped in a portion of an old black skirt with an outer covering of paper, in a garden adjoining Dog Lane. A wall separates the garden from the road, and the body had evidently been thrown over. Information was given to the police, and Dr. Standish subsequently made a post mortem examination. At an inquest held on the body at COOKSEY’S HOTEL on Tuesday night, Dr. Standish described the result of his examination, stating that the child had lived after birth, but that death had been caused by haemorrhage. The jury returned an open verdict of Found Dead.”

County Express 11/11/1876 - Advert

“Wanted, a steady Girl, about 16 of 17 years old, as General Servant.

Apply, Mrs. Cooksey, at the HOTEL, Old Hill.”

County Express 6/1/1877 - Advert

“Rowley Regis School Board Election.

Grand Complimentary Banquet to Messrs. Bassano, Ker, Hingley, Hunt, and Bradley.

COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, January 12th, 1877.

Dinner at Five O’Clock.

Tickets 10s 6d each, to be obtained from Messrs. Richard Green, Cradley Heath; Edwin Burgess, Old Hill; and Joseph Connop, Blackheath.

Immediate application necessary, as the number is necessarily limited.

G. A. H. Best, Hon. Sec.”

County Express 13/1/1877

“Last night a grand complimentary banquet was given at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, to Messrs. W. Bassano, JP, Ker, Hingley, Hunt, and Bradley, the victorious candidates in the recent school board election. There was a numerous and influential company, and the proceedings were most enthusiastic.”

County Express 13/1/1877

“Trinity Church. The men and boys who lead the singing at Old Hill Church and Schools, sat down to a sumptuous dinner last week, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, presided over by Walter Bassano, Esq, JP About fifty sat down to the feast, to which thorough justice was done The boys sang several pieces with much credit to their trainer (Mr. B. Cartwright) and the evening was diversified by an exhibition of numerous interesting devices, including an electrifying machine, the latter being an object of special attraction. It should be added that it is doubtful whether any Cathedral choir in England ever sat down to such a banquet as the boys of Old Hill New Church and Schools enjoyed on Wednesday evening. We may also observe that there are now 900 children in attendance every Sunday at Trinity School, Reddal Hill, and that the new building erected at the sole cost of the late Miss Haden, of Haden Hill, will shortly receive these children, the building being almost complete.”

County Advertiser 24/3/1877

“William Turton and Thomas Yeomans, labourers in the employ of Mrs. Cooksey, COOKSEY’S HOTEL, were charged with committing a breach of the peace, by fighting in the highway, at the Cross, Old Hill. Police-constable Sylvester proved the offence. Defendants were ordered to pay the costs.”

County Express 7/4/1877

“At the Staffordshire Quarter Sessions on Tuesday, the question as to the removal of the Petty Sessions, at present held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, came before the magistrates. A memorial, a draft of which has appeared in our columns, was presented from the inhabitants, praying that the Sessions might not be removed, as their removal would be a source of great inconvenience to persons having recourse to magisterial proceedings. Col. Fletcher, JP, and Mr. W. Bassano, JP, were present. The Police Committee consider that Cradley Heath might be transferred to Brierley Hill without inconvenience, and Tividale similarly to Tipton, whilst Old Hill, Rowley and Blackheath would, undoubtedly, be inconvenienced by the removal of the Sessions to Brierley Hill. It was eventually suggested that the matter remain in abeyance until it is ascertained what course will be adopted with regard to the extension or re-arrangement of the Stipendiary district, and with that view the question remains open for the present. At the same time it was recognised that Petty Sessions would not be entirely removed from the Rowley parish. It may perhaps be worthy of notice that the memorial was opposed by one inhabitant.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 7/11/1877

“Anti-Popery Demonstration.

On Monday night there was a grand display of fireworks given in a field called the ‘Mace,’ at Old Hill, in the presence of some thousands of people. The display was got up by subscription, and was announced by the bills in which ‘the two Popish plots’ – the Gunpowder Plot and ‘the Popish Plot of 1877’ – were referred to as parallel. After the demonstration there was a supper given at COOKSEY’S HOTEL. Mr. Underwood occupied the chair. Mr. Best (Haden Hill) proposed the toast ‘The Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese, excluding the Ritualists.’ In replying the Rev. J. Ormiston (vicar of Old Hill) expressed his conviction that the English Protestants had too long been content to hold defensive tactics, and it was now high time to assume the offensive in order to circumvent the Papists. The proceedings were characterised by much enthusiasm.”

Birmingham Daily Post 4/1/1878 - Advert

“COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, near Dudley; an old-established house. Rent £40. Lease eleven years unexpired. Goodwill £450. Valuation £150.

For particulars, apply to Joseph Greenway, Valuer, 12, Cannon Street, Birmingham.”

County Express 9/11/1878

“On Tuesday evening last a dinner commemorative of the Gunpowder Plot was held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, to which about seventy of the leading Protestants of the neighbourhood sat down. The dinner was served in Mrs. Cooksey’s well-known style, and after full justice had been done to the good things provided, the cloth was withdrawn, and Dr. Ker was called to the chair.....”

County Express 9/8/1879 - Advert

“Wanted respectable Young Men to form a New Cricket Club at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.”

Dudley Herald 6/3/1880

“The annual dinner of the Old Hill and Cradley Heath Conservative Association was held on Monday evening at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill. About 120 gentlemen sat down to an excellently-served repast.....”

Dudley and District News 10/7/1880

“On Wednesday the new Police Buildings, which were completed some time past, were taken possession of for the transaction of the business of the Petty Sessions for this district. Hitherto the police courts have been held at a public house in the neighbourhood, known as COOKSEY’S HOTEL, and, although the accommodation there was as good as could be provided at similar places, the completion and opening of the new buildings must be hailed with satisfaction by the magistrates of the division, the solicitors accustomed to practice at the Court, and all others who have to attend it in a professional capacity. The new buildings are situate near to the church, fronting the main street, and comprise a spacious and airy Court-room, magistrates’ retiring room, witnesses' waiting room, charge office and cells, together with house room, provided for the accommodation of Inspector Walters. The buildings were built by Messrs. Higham, contractors, of Wolverhampton, from designs furnished by Mr. Griffiths, the county surveyor, the total cost of their erection being between £3,000 and £4,000.

Mr. J. Stokes, on behalf of the legal gentlemen who attended the Court, congratulated the magistrates present that at last a building had been secured which accorded with the dignity which should attend the administration of justice. It had occurred to his mind when practising at the old premises that it was rather an anomaly for a person to be brought directly under the influence and temptation of drink and then afterwards be punished for yielding to the temptation. That state of things was now ended, and whilst he congratulated the Bench on the greater facilities afforded for the administration of justice, he only hoped that year by year, consequent upon the spread of education, there would be less need to deal with offending persons."

Dudley and District News 12/2/1881

"John Edward Corser, landlord of a public house known as COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill, was summoned for permitting gaming on his licensed premises.

It appeared that on the evening of the 31st ult, two police-constables, named Hawkins and Garrat, from Brierley Hill, visited the defendant's house in plain clothes. Whilst they were there the defendant's son supplied several youths with a dart board. After some time had elapsed the defendant himself entered the room and challenged anyone to play him at this for a 'smoke.' One of the company played him, and the defendant lost. Subsequently, at the invitation of defendant, a side of four, which included himself, was formed to play for a jug of ale, and this was won by the landlord and his partner, and paid for by the two losers. Two other men afterwards played for 'smokes.'

Defendant pleaded guilty, but urged that he was not aware that he was doing wrong, and informed the Bench that he had since burnt the dart board. He was fined £2 and costs, without any endorsement of his license."

County Express 2/4/1881

"On Thursday morning Inspector Walters, of Old Hill, arrested John Edward Corser, landlord of the public house at Old Hill, known as COOKSEY'S HOTEL, on board the 'Garth Castle,' lying at Dartmouth, where it had touched on its outward voyage. The prisoner left home on Sunday with his wife and children, and taking his goods with him, and on Wednesday Inspector Walters received a telegram apprising him that Corser was on his way out on board the vessel named. The allegation is that he has embezzled the sum of £20 belonging to a Forester's Club which met at his house, and on this charge he will be brought before the magistrates."

1881 Census

8, Halesowen Road – uninhabited

West Bromwich Weekly News 16/4/1881

"John Edward Corser was brought up on remand charged with embezzling £20, the money of the Loyal Marlborough Lodge of the Ancient Order of Foresters, lately held at the defendant's house, COOKSEY'S HOTEL.

Mr. Cooksey, who appeared for the prosecution, applied for the case to be withdrawn, on the ground that defendant had undertaken to pay the money and pay all costs in the matter.

Mr. Stokes, for the defendant, said he ought not to let this application pass without making some remarks on behalf of his client. He could not help thinking the whole proceedings and the great inconvenience his client had been subjected to, had arisen entirely through a misapprehension and there was not the slightest necessity for the proceedings. His client was the landlord of the hotel at which the Petty Sessions were held, and as landlord of the house he became treasurer of the friendly society lodges held there. Although he knew nothing of the society the money was placed in his hands, and that was the utmost that such treasurers knew about. Sometimes the landlord owed a considerable sum to the society and sometimes the society owed a considerable sum to the landlord. The defendant, in accordance with the usual rule, provided substantial bail. Unfortunately for the defendant the hotel did not prosper, and having the opportunity of a good appointment in South Africa, he went away with his family, sending a letter (read) to his brother, stating that he had left the hotel, and asking him to pay the money owing to the society, which he thought was about £5 or £6, and promising to pay it back again. He said he forgot it in the hurry of leaving. He mentioned this to show that he had not left the district dishonestly or dishonourably.

The Bench allowed the case to be withdrawn."

County Advertiser 3/9/1881

"The annual licensing session for the petty sessional division of Rowley Regis, were held on Wednesday last, at the Police Court.

The following is the black list: Licensed Victuallers.

John Edward Corser, COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill, permitting gambling, 40s and costs.

The persons in the black list were called before the Bench with the exception of E. Corser, he having left that house, and had their licenses suspended till the adjourned licensing day."

Birmingham Daily Post 23/9/1881 - Advert

"Old Hill. Old-established and full-licensed Inn, with Malthouse attached, and known as COOKSEY'S HOTEL. Nothing asked for in-coming, a respectable tenant only desired.

Herbert Humphries, Hotel Valuer, Brierley Hill, Staffordshire."

County Advertiser 24/9/1881 - Advert

“To Brewers, Maltsters, Innkeepers, and Others.

To Let, with immediate possession, that Old-established, Full-licensed, and capially situated Inn, known as COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill. With proper management a good trade may be done. There is a well arranged Malthouse connected with the Inn, completely fitted. Nothing will be asked for incoming, a respectable tenant only desired.

Apply to Herbert Humphries, Auctioneer and Hotel Valuer, Brierley Hill; private residence, No.2, Lapley Villas, Bell Street.”

1891 Census

8, Halesowen Road – COOKSEY’S HOTEL

[1] Thomas Clarke (36), licensed victualler and house painter, born Dudley;

[2] Emma Clarke (32), wife, born Dudley;

[3] Ernest G. Clarke (8), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Arthur R. Clarke (5), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Edith M. Clarke (3), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Mary Brownhill (25), domestic servant, born Dudley:

Birmingham Daily Post 19/5/1891

“Yesterday, at a special petty sessions held at Old Hill, before Mr. A. H. Bassano, Thomas Stanley (37), glassblower, and George Alfred Yates (20), painter, both of no fixed abode, were charged with breaking into COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, on the 14th inst, and stealing therefrom a pair of boots and 1s in money.

Prisoners were arrested by Police-constable Insley at a lodging-house at Dudley, on suspicion of being concerned with the robbery. Evidence was adduced to show that prisoners were in the hotel twice on the night the burglary was committed, and were ejected for disorderly conduct, but as the police were unable to connect them with the robbery they were both discharged.”

Thomas Clarke was also a plumber. [1892]

He issued tokens from here.

Birmingham Daily Post 21/4/1892

“Last night a meeting of licensed victuallers was held at COOKSEY HOTEL, Old Hill, to take into consideration the replies of Mr. Brooke Robinson and the Hon. H. Spensley to questions which had been addressed to them with respect to their views on licensing questions. It being considered that the reply of Mr. Brooke Robinson was favourable to the trade it was decided to support his candidature at the next general election.”

County Advertiser 8/4/1893 - Advert

“To Plumbers, Painters, &c.

COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.

Mr. R. Underwood will Sell by Auction, on Monday, April 10th Next, at Eleven o’clock am, the Stock-in-Trade, Tools, Plant, &c, belonging to Mr. Thos. Clarke, who is giving up the Business.

Auctioneer’s Office, Old Hill.”

County Express 27/2/1897

“Albert Wilkinson, a young man, of Flood Street, Dudley, was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the 20th inst, also with refusing to quit the licensed premises of Emma Clarke, COOKSEY’S HOTEL, and further with damaging a window, the property of Mrs. Clarke. On the evening named defendant entered COOKSEY’S HOTEL, drunk. He was refused and requested to leave. Defendant was ejected three times and threatened to smash the windows. When outside Wilkinson smashed eight panes of plain and ornamental glass, of the value 7s 6d. When in the street defendant was arrested by Police-constable Beach. Defendant was fined 10s for the drunkenness, 5s and costs for refusing to quit, and 5s and costs and 7s 6d damage on the charge of breaking the panes.”

County Express 25/9/1897 - Advert

“The Attention of Brewers, Syndicates, Spirit Merchants, Maltsters, Licensed Victuallers, and Others, is particularly directed to the undermentioned Valuable Freehold Licensed Properties.

Mr. Herbert Humphries, FAI, has pleasure in announcing instructions from the Trustees of the late James Holcroft, Esq, to Submit to Public Competition, at the DUDLEY ARMS HOTEL, Dudley, on Tuesday, September 28th, 1897, at Six for Seven o’clock in the Evening.....

Lot 3. Is, without exception, one of the most Substantial and Commodious Fully-Licensed Inns in the Rowley and Old Hill districts. It comprises the well-known COOKSEY’S HOTEL, occupying a grand position at Old Hill. The elevation is imposing, and the structural arrangements are everything that can be desired to provide adequate accommodation for the large trade and domestic requirements.

The Premises are Double-fronted, with Bay Windows and separate Entrances for the Out-door department.

The accommodation comprises Large and Lofty Vaults, Smoke Room, Private Sitting Room, Kitchen, Pantry, etc; Six Bed Chambers, Assembly Room, etc; Excellent Cellaring, with rolling way; Large Yard, approached by covered gateway; Piggeries, Stable with Loft over, Brewhouse, etc.

This House will, to a considerable extent, benefit by the extensive development which will shortly be made, and its present value enormously increased. Possession will be given on completion.”

County Express 2/10/1897

“On Tuesday evening Mr. Herbert Humphries, auctioneer, of Brierley Hill and Stourbridge, held a most successful sale of licensed property at the DUDLEY ARMS HOTEL, Dudley.

The first three lots submitted were by order of the trustees of the late Mr. James Holcroft.....

Lot 3, COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, was purchased by Mr. F. Webb at £1,910.....”

1901 Census

Halesowen Road

- [1] William M. McWhirter (44), publican, born Old Hill;
- [2] Jemima A. McWhirter (39), wife, born Stourbridge;
- [3] Gilbert E. McWhirter (17), son, born Old Hill;
- [4] Ethel McWhirter (15), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [5] William M. McWhirter (13), son, born Old Hill;
- [6] Alice Mabel McWhirter (11), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [7] Mary Jane McWhirter (9), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [8] David McWhirter (7), son, born Old Hill;
- [9] James Henry McWhirter (5), son, born Old Hill;
- [10] Jessie E. McWhirter (2), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [11] Minnie Belcher (21), domestic servant, born Dudley:

William Meldrum McWhirter – see also CROSS, CROWN, WIZARD AND GLASS and CORNGREAVES HOTEL.

A team from here took part in the Rowley Regis and District Air-Gun League. [1903]

County Advertiser 9/1/1904

“Nebo Littlewood, landlord of COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was summoned for permitting drunkenness upon his premises on the 19th ult.

Mr. J. W. Clulow, who prosecuted, explained that on the night in question Police-constable Horne visited the public house. Upon the officer going into the bar he noticed that the kitchen door was closed, and he asked the landlady if there was anyone in that room. Mrs. Littlewood replied that there was not, but Horne went into the room and saw a man named William Weston in a helpless state of drunkenness. The officer was unable to get the name of the man, and he was compelled to lock him up. Evidence in support of this statement was given by Police-constable Horne.

For the defence it was urged that the landlady refused to serve Weston with beer, and also requested him to leave the premises, and when the constable entered the house she was under the impression that he had gone.

The Bench fined defendant £5 and costs, amounting in all to £7 12s 6d.”

County Advertiser 13/2/1904

“The annual licensing sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday, at the Police Court.....

The Black List. Superintendent Johnson stated that he had given notice to oppose the renewal of the following licenses, on grounds of a conviction against the house.....

COOKSEY HOTEL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, kept by Nebo Littlewood.....

In the case of COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, Superintendent Johnson said he had served notices of opposition to the renewal of this license upon the ground that it was not required, and that it was difficult of supervision, and that the landlord had been convicted of an offence against the Licensing Laws. He wished to withdraw the opposition respecting proper police supervision, as alterations had been carried out at the premises which met the requirements of the police.

In reply to Mr. Waldron, who represented the landlord, Superintendent Johnson said that since the conviction the house had been properly kept.

The Bench granted the renewal of the license.”

County Advertiser 18/8/1906

“The tenth annual parade of the Old Hill Friendly Societies, on behalf of the local medical charities, will be held tomorrow afternoon in a field lent by Mr. A. E. Sidaway The order of procession will be.....

The Cradley Heath Town Prize Band will start from COOKSEY’S HOTEL.....”

Birmingham Mail 19/9/1906

“At Old Hill Police Court, today, the magistrates were engaged for nearly two hours in hearing a case in which Stephen Bannister, a miner, residing at Dallow Street, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk and disorderly.

Police-constable Davies said that on the 1st inst he saw the defendant in Hales Owen Road, Old Hill, in a drunken condition.

Mr. F. W. Green, who defended, contended that the policeman had exceeded his duty and had instituted the proceedings as the result of a grudge he held against defendant.

In reply to Inspector Gibbs, defendant said a subscription list had been raised at COOKSEY’S HOTEL for the purpose of engaging a solicitor to defend him, as people sympathised with him owing to a wrongful charge having been made against him. He left his club on the night in question perfectly sober. He denied meeting Police-constable Davies on the following night and asking him not to report the matter. He declared that the officer had manufactured the evidence.

A number of witnesses called for the defence stated that defendant was perfectly sober.

The Bench considered the case proved, and fined defendant 15s, including costs.”

County Express 8/8/1908

“On Sunday afternoon there was held the twelfth annual service promoted by the united friendly societies in the Old Hill district. The occasion was favoured with brilliant weather, and there was a large attendance at the services. The proceedings opened with a large procession, which aroused considerable interest in the district. The Old Hill Ironworks Band started from the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, at one o’clock, and proceeded to the OLD HOUSE AT HOME INN for sick and draw club, through Cherry Orchard, calling for Court Robin Hood’s Cave and BRITISH OAK sick and draw club; by way of Wagon Street, calling for Success-to-the-FOX-HUNT Lodge; Elbow Street for Court Benjamin and KINGS HEAD sick and draw club; Halesowen Road, calling for Provident Institution, and on to the field. The Cradley Heath Salvation Army Band started from COOKSEY’S HOTEL at one o’clock with Snowdrop Lodge, by way of Halesowen Road, calling for Court Loyal Marlborough; Bank Street, Queens Street, High Street, and on to the field. The Cradley Heath Town Prize Band started from the ROSE AND CROWN INN, Reddal Hill, with Court Robin Hood the Brave; by way of Reddal Hill Road, calling for the WHY NOT sick and draw club, and on to the BRIDGE INN for Welcome to the Bridge Inn Lodge, across Plant Street, Lawrence Lane, Clyde Street, Petford Street calling for Druids Society; Pear Tree Street, Riddings Street, New Street, Halesowen Road, calling for Court Royal Sherwood and Rechabites Society and ROYAL EXCHANGE sick and draw club; High Street to the field. A grand procession was then formed.....”

1911 Census

25, Halesowen Road – COOKSEY’S HOTEL

[1] Nebo Littlewood (44), licensed victualler, born Quarry Bank;

[2] Polly Littlewood (36), wife, married 17 years, born Quarry Bank:

Edward Burchell = Edward Burchall

James H. Beaven = James H. Beavon

Richard Arnold Owens = Richard Arnold Owen

1939 Register

25, Halesowen Road

[1] Benjamin Timmington, date of birth 13/2/1880, licensee, married;

[2] Beatrice A. (Timmington) Conlin, dob 21/ /1898, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[3] David Timmington, dob 18/3/1916, warehouse man, chain depot, single:

Benjamin Timmington’s first wife was Emma.

He remarried.

He was also a chainmaker.

He was the father of David Timmington, who played football for Old Hill Wanderers, Sheffield United, Halesowen Town, West Bromwich Albion, and Chelmsford City.

Conveyance 2/7/1934

“All that piece of land situate at Old Hill in the Parish of Rowley Regis in the County of Stafford fronting to main road leading from Halesowen to Dudley and bounded at back by an occupation road on one side by property now belonging to David Morby and on the other side by property now belonging to Mrs. Willetts And Also all that messuage or tenement now being on the said land or on some part thereof used as an Hotel and known as COOKSEY’S HOTEL together with the brewhouse, piggeries, stable and other outbuildings and appurtenances thereto belonging.....”

Bill Bennett was married to Joan.

William Henry Marshall – see also VINE, Blackheath.

A team from here took part in the Cradley Heath Darts League. [1970]

Len Peplow was married to Daisy.

Kenneth Johnson was married to Shirley.

He died in 1972.

See also WHY NOT.

* possibly the same person (remarried?)

Sandwell Evening Mail 7/3/1986

“Darts There were a couple of surprises in the Netherton Thursday League. Leaders COOKSEY were pushed all the way before beating lowly HOPE TAVEN B by the odd game, while third-placed WHITE LION (Cox’s Lane) suffered only their fourth defeat in 23 matches. They went down 4-3 to WHITE SWAN (Cradley Road).”

A team from here took part in the Netherton Sunday Darts League. [1986]

Sandwell Evening Mail 19/8/1989

“Kind-hearted customers at three Black Country pubs have given a huge boost to a £4,700 appeal for a heart monitor at Halesowen and Stourbridge ambulance stations. Regulars at the BALDS LANE TAVERN, in Lye, donned fancy dress for a tour of 12 pubs in the area at the weekend and raised £225. Now the pub is planning to raise another £100 though a cabaret night on September 2.

Customers at the COOKSEY pub in Halesowen Road, Old Hill, raised £170 through a sponsored 10-mile run to the Clent Hills and back and another sponsored event where a regular travelled on as many buses as he could in 12 hours. This figure was on top of £330 already raised at the COOKSEY thanks to a jumble sale and a pub crawl.

Regulars at the WHITE LION, Cox’s Lane, Old Hill, have also got in on the fund-raising act. A dozen customers completed a sponsored pub crawl on Friday and collected £417. Mrs. Elaine Gordon, who runs the pub with her husband Robert, said that a car boot sale and a raffle were also planned and it was hoped to raise £1,000 altogether towards the appeal.

Halesowen ambulance station officer Mr. Bev Barrett said he was delighted with the efforts of the three pubs and was very grateful for what was being done for the appeal. He added that it was hoped to raise over £1,000 from an open day being held at the Halesowen station, in Old Hawne Lane, on September 9.”

Old Hill Homing Society was based here until 2006.

[2006]

Halesowen News 19/1/2007

“A Cradley Heath pub, which recently shut its doors, could soon be demolished and redeveloped into a residential home if Sandwell Council planners give the green light. The council has received a planning application for the GOLDMINE public house, formerly the BLUE BALL, and its current fenced off car park in Peartree Lane. The application, submitted by Brightwell Properties Ltd, outlines plans to demolish the Victorian pub and construct a 38 bedroomed care home for the elderly. Planning Officer Mike Nicholls has recommended council planners pass the plans, stating a nursing home for the elderly would be an acceptable use in a residential area. Sandwell Council have also received an application to demolish the COOKSEY public house, with plans to build six two bed apartments. The traditional Victorian pub in Halesowen Road, has been closed and de-licenced for the past three years. Both applications will appear in front of councillors at a future planning committee meeting.”

Halesowen News 16/2/2007

“Ambulance crews attended the old COOKSEY public house in Halesowen Road, Cradley Heath at 11.30pm last night, after reports of persons trapped in a fire. After firefighters searched the building, no-one was found and the ambulance crew were stood down.”

Closed [2007]

Demolished [2009]

Housing was built on the site.

COOMBS TAVERN

Gorsty Hill, OLD HILL

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Joseph Parkes [1863]

Joseph Barnsley [1866]

NOTES

“On Saturday afternoon, Mr. Edwin Hooper, the Coroner, opened an inquest at the house of Mr. Joseph Parkes, the COOMBS TAVERN, at Gosty Hill, on the body of Maria Robinson, aged 52 years, who died on Wednesday morning, from injuries she is believed to have sustained at the hands of Joel Holloway (not Oliver, as has been previously reported), a man with whom she cohabited. Mr. William Darby was the foreman of the jury. Holloway was brought up in custody, and was present during the inquest, and at different parts of the evidence he sobbed and repeatedly gave utterance to exclamations acknowledging that he was the cause of deceased’s death. During the inquiry a large number of the inhabitants assembled and remained around the door of the house until the proceedings terminated and the prisoner removed. The jury viewed the body, which was lying at the deceased’s house in the village, and on their return to the room the inquiry was conducted.

James Robinson was called and examined. He said: I am a tailor and live at Quinton. Maria Robinson, the deceased, was my sister. The body the jury have just viewed is that of my sister. She was not married, I believe, but she lived with Joel Holloway. She had done so for many years. They resided at Gosty Hill. Last Wednesday morning some person came to me and told me that Joel Holloway had killed my sister, and that I was to go to the house. I did not believe the statement, and therefore did not go to the house. I have heard many a time of their having quarrelled, and that he had struck her. She often complained to me of his ill-treatment, and I advised her to go to the workhouse. She has left him on some occasions, and has been in the workhouse. She had nine children by him.

By a jurymen: I don’t know that she was last confined at the workhouse.

The prisoner in answer to the usual question from the Coroner as to whether he wished to ask the witness any question, said, ‘No; she was his sister, and he’ll say what he likes. I believe, Sir, that I was the cause of her death, but I did not do it wilful.’

Eliza Robinson, called, said: I am a single woman, and I live at Gosty Hill. I am daughter of the deceased. I lived with her and Joel Holloway. They frequently used to quarrel. This affair occurred on Monday night. Holloway was at home all that day. They were on good terms until about eight o’clock at night, when they had a few words about my having gone out on Sunday night. He scolded me for it, and afterwards some of the neighbours said he had run me upstairs with a knife. Holloway said it was my mother, and at the same time threw a hammer at her. (The hammer, which was here produced, was an ordinary nailer’s hammer, and was used by the prisoner in his trade as a nailer.) The hammer struck her on the pit of the stomach and she bent down, and shouted, ‘Oh, Lord, oh.’ I helped her to Holloway’s anvil, and then he came and struck her with his hand twice on the side of the head. When Holloway threw the hammer he said, ‘There, you b——, I’ll kill you.’ He was in a great passion at the time. My mother went to bed soon after she was struck; on the following morning she came down stairs. She looked white, but dare not tell me anything. She could not eat her dinner. When my father came to dinner she was lying on the bench, but they never spoke to each other.

By a jurymen: Three of the neighbours came to the house door, but they could not get in unless father or I, who were in the shop, drew the bolt.

By the Coroner: My mother was assisted to bed on Tuesday night by my eldest sister. My father slept on the bench during the night. He had done so on Monday night. She got up on Wednesday morning at half-past seven. She was dressed, excepting as to her shoes. She came down stairs, and sat upon a chair by the fire. She called me and said, ‘I think one part of me is a dying.’ I then went into Mary Jones’s and asked her to go for a doctor. She went and a doctor came. I don’t know his name. When he came she was dead. She had died in the arms of Mary Cashmere, who was in the house at the time

The prisoner said the witness’s evidence as to his striking her was incorrect. He asserted that he merely took the hammer from her.

Sophia Baker was the next witness. She deposed: I am the wife of John Baker, a greengrocer. We live in Gosty Hill. I knew Maria Robinson. I had known her for eight or nine years. About half-past eight o’clock on Monday night, her youngest daughter came to me at my house, and said deceased was very ill. She said I had to go to the house in a minute. I asked her what was the matter, and she replied, ‘Why, father’s thrown a hammer at her.’ I went to deceased. She was in the outhouse. The door was open. She appeared to be very ill. I asked her what was the matter, and she said, ‘Joel has thrown a hammer at me, and hit me across the bottom of the abdomen.’ She said she felt very ill. Two of her daughters led her into the house, and I followed them. When we got inside I asked her to lie down, and she said she could not. Her son-in-law came in and sent for sixpenny worth of brandy for her. I gave it to her in three times. I last saw her on that night at a quarter to ten o’clock, when she was up stairs in bed. Holloway was sitting in the corner of the down stairs room at that time with his son-in-law. He made no remark, and never endeavoured to relieve deceased. He was quite sober. He had been working until about the time I saw him in the room. I next saw deceased at half-past ten on Tuesday morning. She was very ill. She was lying on the bench down stairs. She could neither eat nor drink. I went again about eleven o’clock the same day, when the house door was fastened. I went to Joel in the shop. Eliza Robinson was there, and I asked how her mother was, and she shook her head, but never spoke. Joel said he would not have the old b—— (meaning the deceased) nor the children there, or he should be hung for them if he had. I saw deceased again on Wednesday morning about nine o’clock. She was sitting on a chair before the fire. The house was crowded. She said she was dying. Joel knew of her illness. I held her in my arms until she died. She had not lived more than five minutes after I entered the house. Just before she died Joel left the shop and went towards Black Heath. The deceased had been in bad health for about four months previous to her death. Joel and she frequently quarrelled. He was a very frenzy man, but when his pet was over he was as good as a man could be.

Sarah Smith was the next witness. She said: I am the wife of James Smith, a fitter, and live with him at Gosty Hill. On Wednesday morning, about seven o’clock, a neighbour came to my house and said the door (meaning Holloway’s house door) was open, and if I had a mind to go into the house he would watch outside and see that Joel did not harm me. I was afraid to go to the house, because people said he was such a frenzy man, and would not care to run one through with a red hot iron. I did, however, go, and found the deceased sitting by the fire. I asked her if she knew me, and she looked up, but did not say a word. I saw she was dying, and I alarmed the neighbours, and they came into the house. I saw Joel that morning just after the deceased died. He was standing near the shop, and as we passed a man told him the neighbours would have a policeman sent for and give him into custody. He said, 'All right, I'll be the same man; I'll sing 'too looral looral' when the rope's on,' at the same time pointing to his neck. I laid deceased out. She had a bruise on the left temple, and on the right shoulder, and a third on the right wrist. The inquest was then adjourned until tomorrow (Tuesday) morning, when other witnesses will be produced, and the result of a post-mortem examination stated."

[At the adjourned inquest the jury, after about five minutes' consultation, returned a verdict of Manslaughter, and the prisoner was committed for trial at the next Stafford assizes.]

Staffordshire Advertiser 25/7/1863

"Staffordshire Summer Assizes.....

Joel Holloway, 61, nailer, pleaded guilty of the manslaughter of Maria Robinson, at Rowley Regis, on the 4th of May. The old man sobbed bitterly and implored the mercy of his Lordship.

The learned Judge, in passing sentence, said the prisoner had committed the crime of manslaughter, the deceased being a woman who had lived with him as his wife. He threw at that woman a hammer, which struck the lower part of her person, and caused her death. There was no suggestion that he had maliciously and wilfully caused her death, and he had said he had no intention to take away her life. Still, he had taken her life away in an unjustifiable manner, and it could not be overlooked without a substantial punishment. That punishment would be six months' imprisonment."

County Advertiser 15/4/1865 - Advert

"Gorsty Hill, Rowley Regis.

Mr. Chandler will Sell by Auction, on Monday Next, April 17th, 1865, at Three o'clock in the Afternoon, the useful Household Furniture, Two Thirty-hour Clocks, Case of Preserved Birds, Nailers' Anvils, Bellows, Tools, and Effects, removed for convenience of sale to the COOMBES TAVERN, Gorsty Hill, aforesaid, for Rent."

County Advertiser 13/1/1866

"On Tuesday last an inquest was held at the COOMBS TAVERN, Gorsty Hill, before Mr. E. Hooper, Coroner, on the body of George Lowe, two years of age, the son of a carter, who died from injuries he received by being scalded on the 7th of December. It appeared from the evidence that on the day in question the mother of the deceased placed a pot containing some hot pig's meat on the floor. The deceased stumbled against the pot, overturned it, and was severely scalded. He was attended by Mr. T. Moore, surgeon, Cradley Heath, but he died on the 4th inst. Verdict, Accidental Death."

Stourbridge Observer 15/9/1866

"On Tuesday, the annual licensing meeting was held in the Magistrates' Room. The magistrates present were E. Moore, S. Hanbury, and F. Adkins Esqrs. There were three applications for old licenses.....

Mr. Joseph Barnsley, COOMBS HOTEL, Coombs Wood, Gorsty Hill. There was no opposition. Granted."

CORNGREAVES HOTEL

75, (93), Graingers Lane, (Corngreaves Road), (Halesowen Street), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

William Oliver and Sons Ltd.

Thomas Darby, Old Hill [1919]

George Henry Oliver (acquired on 2nd February 1927)

J. A. and A. Thompson, maltsters, Orchard Street, Oldbury

William Butler and Co. Ltd. (acquired on 27th April 1945)

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd.

Brenda and Howard Westwood (acquired in July 1987)

LICENSEES

Joseph Cole Snr. [1865] – 1876);

Mrs. Ann Cole (1876 – 1885);

Joseph Cole Jnr. (1885 – 1904);

William Meldrum McWhirter (1904 – [1905]

Joseph Cole [1908]

George Frederick Cole [1909] – 1925);

George Henry Oliver (1925 – 1926);

Isaac William Lunn (1926 – 1928);

Robert Llewelyn Robinson (1928 – 1932);
William Poulton Cole (1932 – 1933);
Maria Robins (1933);
William Ernest Read Wilkins (1933 – 1948);
Mary Adelaide (Wilkins) Kirkham (1948 – 1958);
George Warwick Kirkham (1958 – 1964);
Ronald Thomas Hill (1964 – 1976);
Arthur James Clutterbuck (1976 – 1985);
Christine Jennifer Ward (1985);
Sheila Mary Trafford (1985 – 1987);
Anthony McMahan (1987);
Howard Westwood (1987 – [1994])

NOTES

Halesowen Street [1873]
93, Graingers Lane [1881], [1891]
75, Graingers Lane [1939], [1940]

Joseph Cole was also a grocer. [1868], [1870]

County Advertiser 29/2/1868

“On Tuesday week Mr. Joseph Cole, of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, distributed to the poor of Cradley Heath 120 loaves of bread and 100 gallons of soup.”

County Advertiser 27/2/1869 - Advert

“A Sixty-Night Money Club will commence at the House of Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath. Any Person becoming a Member will much oblige their humble servant, Joseph Cole.”

County Advertiser 19/6/1869 - Advert

“To Let, a Butcher’s Shop and Premises, with an Acre and a half of Land, situate at Darby End, near Dudley. Apply, Mr. Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

Joseph Cole was described as being also a butcher. [1873]

J. Cole and Son were saddle and harness makers. Their shop next door was incorporated into the pub and became the smoke room.

1871 Census

Corngreaves Road – CORNGREAVES HOTEL
[1] Joseph Cole (48), publican, born Dudley, blind;
[2] Ann Cole (49), wife, born Halesowen;
[3] Mary Ann Cole (21), daughter, born Dudley;
[4] Elizabeth J. G. Cole (19), daughter, born Dudley;
[5] Joseph Cole (15), son, scholar, born Dudley;
[6] Sarah May (18), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 7/9/1872 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant Girl. One used to a public house preferred. Apply to Mr. Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 11/1/1873 - Advert

“A Sixty-Night Money Society will Commence on Tuesday, January 14th, 1873, at the CORNGREAVES HOTEL. Any person becoming a Member will oblige the Landlord Joseph Cole.”

County Advertiser 29/5/1875 - Advert

“Wanted, Two good General Servants. Apply, Mr. Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 26/6/1875 - Marriages

“On the 22nd inst, at Halesowen (by the Rev. J. Stone), Thomas, fourth son of Mr. Samuel Darby, of Old Hill, to Elizabeth Jane Granger, youngest daughter of Mr. Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 3/7/1875 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, from 20 to 30. One accustomed to a public house preferred. Apply, Mrs. Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 4/9/1875 - Advert

“Wanted, a strong Man, used to cows and horses; a good milker preferred. Apply, Mr. J. Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 1/1/1876 - Deaths

“On the 23rd inst [sic], at CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, aged 52 years, Mr. Joseph Cole; deeply regretted.”

County Advertiser 29/4/1876

“At Wednesday’s Police Court, the following transfers took place..... CORNGREAVES INN, from Joseph Cole to his widow.”

County Advertiser 28/10/1876 - Advert

“Wanted, a respectable middle-aged Working Housekeeper for an Inn. Good references; also a Lad to assist. Apply, Mr. Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 5/5/1877

“On Monday last, Mr. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on the body of Joseph Somers, aged 50 years, a chainmaker. It appeared that deceased met his death by drowning, his body having been discovered in a pool at Pig Lane, on Saturday. It came out in evidence that Somers had been lately addicted to drinking, and had been for some time in very low circumstances. He had been repeatedly heard to say he would ‘make a hole in the water.’ Verdict, Suicide whilst of Unsound Mind.”

Dudley and District News 18/9/1880 - Advert

“Cradley Heath. To Capitalists, Brewers, and Others.

A Most Valuable Old-Established and Well-Situated Hotel at Cradley Heath, in the County of Stafford.

Messrs. Harrison and Humphries have been favoured with instructions to Sell By Auction, on the premises, on Monday, the 4th October, at Six for Seven o’clock in the evening, under conditions to be then produced, incorporating the conditions of the Birmingham Law Society.

All that excellent Freehold old-established and full-licensed House and Grocer’s Shop, situate opposite the entrance to the extensive works of the New British Iron Company, at Corngreaves, and known as the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, and surrounded by other works and collieries. The House is most conveniently and substantially built, and includes seven Bedrooms, Spirit Vaults, large Tap Room, Smoke Room, and Domestic Apartments, and a spacious Assembly Room, where the Ironworkers’ Union and other meetings are held. The Cellaring is large and well drained. The outbuildings are well arranged, and consist of Two-Stall Stable, with Loft, Piggeries, Coach House, Malt and Hop Rooms, and large retire Yard, with gateway entrance. The premises are well laid out, and adapted for the introduction of the Corn or Barrel trade. Gas and water is laid on throughout. The above Hotel has always commanded a large, lucrative, and respectable trade, has not changed hands since its erection 16 years since, and is being sold entirely in consequence of the owner retiring from business.

For further particulars, apply to Mr. Thomas Homer, Solicitor, Brierley Hill, or to the Auctioneers, Broad Street, Birmingham.”

1881 Census

93, Graingers Lane

[1] Ann Cole (59), widow, licensed victualler, born Halesowen;

[2] Henry Cole (20), son, grocer, born Halesowen;

[3] Mary A. Stevens (13), adopted child, born Cradley;

[4] Mary A. Smith (25), domestic servant, born Birmingham:

Dudley and District News 23/6/1883

“E. Hooper, Esq. (district coroner), held an inquest at the Police Station, Old Hill, yesterday (Friday) morning, touching the circumstances connected with the death of John William Mountford (27), a single man, and a police constable in the Staffordshire Constabulary, and stationed at Cradley Heath. On Wednesday, the 20th inst, his dead body was found in a pool of water in Pig Lane, Old Hill. Mr. Superintendent Woollaston (Brierley Hill) and Inspector Walters attended the enquiry.

PS George Shaw said the deceased had been stationed with him at Cradley Heath for a little over two years and a half. Witness last saw him alive at a quarter-past two o’clock on Monday afternoon, the 18th inst. At that time deceased, who was off duty, left the station, and did not say where he was going or what time he should return. His time to resume duty would be seven o’clock the same evening, but he did not return at that hour, or during the whole of the night. Soon after seven o’clock witness made enquiries as to his whereabouts, but could not ascertain anything. On Tuesday witness reported the fact of his absence to Inspector Walters, at Old Hill, and still continued making enquiries in the neighbourhood. On Wednesday afternoon a Mrs. Lee brought the hat produced to the police station at Cradley Heath, stating that her boy had found it in Pig Lane pool. Witness identified the hat (a hard billycock) as belonging to the deceased, and he felt satisfied that he was in the water. He sent word to Inspector Walters, and the pool was dragged, with the result that deceased’s body was found here. During the six years witness had known deceased he had enjoyed good health. When he left the station on Monday he appeared in good spirits, and witness did not know that anything had occurred to disturb his mind. The pool was about 20 yards from the main road, and a person would have to go off the main road to get to it. There was a fencing round the pool, but it was not in good condition. Witness knew of nothing which would cause him to suppose that deceased had committed suicide, nor of anything which would cause anyone to ill-use him. He appeared to be on good terms with everyone.

PC Hyman stated that he had met the deceased at Quarry Bank on Monday night, and he informed him that he had to go on duty at one o'clock in the morning, and should return by the ROBIN HOOD. He subsequently showed witness a letter, and said he thought he should go to the Cape, as he expected his wages would be in the window by Saturday night as he had got into bother over a conference. On hearing that a hat had been found near the Pig Lane pool he went to the pool and found Mountford's foot-prints. There was nothing to lead him to suppose that there had been a struggle.

Ann Cole, of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, stated deceased called at her house on Monday night at a quarter to eleven o'clock and had a glass of ale, and he appeared to be quite sober.

John Lees, of Cradley Heath, stated that he found a hat in the pool whilst fishing. The pool was very deep.

PC Wickstead (Old Hill), who searched the body, proved finding in deceased's pockets, among other things, three photographs, two of them being photographs of policemen, and one the photograph of a young woman. He also had in his pocket the letter referred to by PC Hyman. Witness knew deceased well, and never saw anything in his manner to warrant the supposition that he would commit suicide.

Insp. Walters, in reply to the Coroner, said on Sunday morning another officer's journal showed that the deceased had not met him at a conference, as he should have done, at eight o'clock that morning. Witness spoke to the deceased about it, and deceased replied that he was there. It was afterwards ascertained that he and the constable had missed each other by a few minutes, and witness told deceased it was all right.

By Supt. Woollaston: Witness had heard that deceased had recently received a letter from a solicitor threatening proceedings over some debt of his.

Superintendent Woollaston, in answer to the coroner, said deceased's parents lived about six miles from Leek, and he (Superintendent Woollaston) telegraphed the first thing on Thursday morning to the superintendent of police at Leek asking for information of the affair to be forwarded at once to them. No reply had been received, and none of the friends had arrived.

PS Shaw: His father and mother are very aged, and there is only a daughter at home with them.

The Coroner, in summing up, said he did not think there was sufficient evidence to enable the jury to return a verdict the deceased had committed suicide.

The jury returned an Open Verdict, to the effect that deceased was found drowned, but how he got into the water there was no evidence to show."

County Advertiser 16/6/1888

"Alfred Shaw (12), Rose Hill, Quarry Bank, was charged with stealing 1s from a till belonging to Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on the 12th inst.

Prosecutor's wife stated that on the date named she was in the kitchen, when she heard a noise in the bar. She went to the bar and saw the prisoner, in a stooping position, going round the counter. She failed to catch him, and he got clear away. On going to the till she found that 1s had been taken.

The Bench ordered the prisoner to receive twelve strokes with the birch rod."

Dudley Mercury 18/8/1888

"On Thursday night Mr. Edwin Hooper (South Staffordshire coroner) held an inquest at the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, respecting the death of John Norris (59), anchor smith, Laurences Lane, Old Hill, who had been found drowned in a pool in Pig Lane. The deceased had for some time been out of employment. There was no evidence to show how deceased got into the water, and the Jury returned a verdict of Found Drowned."

Birmingham Daily Post 12/11/1888 - Advert

"Bay Mare, 14½ hands, free and fast, believed to be sound; with Trap and Harness, or without. Can be tried at anything. Apply, J. Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath."

Birmingham Daily Post 11/11/1890

"Yesterday Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, respecting the death of Margaret White (52), Grangers Lane, Cradley Heath, who died last Thursday from the effects of injuries received on the 3rd inst, by being thrown out of her husband's trap.

Thomas White said that he was returning from Hagley, and when near Oldswinford he saw a railway dray on one side and a hand-cart on the other side, and as he was going in between them a collision occurred, and he and his wife were thrown out of the cart, and both were rendered unconscious. Witness was driving at the rate of about seven miles an hour when the collision occurred.

John Barlow said Mr. White passed him at Pedmore on the way back from the stock sale to Cradley. When they passed witness they were going at the rate of ten miles an hour, and he saw the deceased whipping the horse.

Stephen Farmer said they were not racing.

John Lee said he was in charge of the dray about a mile from Stourbridge last Monday, when he saw two traps coming at a sharp rate, and Farmer's was first. Witness, when he saw the danger, hoisted his hand, but they took no heed; and White was thrashing his horse. When the traps got close to witness's wagon White's horse put on a spurt and got abreast of Farmer's, when White's trap caught his (witness's) wheel and ran for about hundred yards on one wheel, throwing Mr. and Mrs. White out into the road.

In his opinion the men were racing.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, and expressed an opinion that Mr. White had not exercised proper care.

The Coroner then censured White, and said the jury had taken a lenient view of the case, owing to his eyesight being defective, but in his opinion it was a case of gross negligence, and he had narrowly escaped committal for manslaughter.”

1891 Census

93, Graingers Lane – CORNGREAVES HOTEL

[1] Joseph Cole (35), licensed victualler, born Dudley;

[2] Mary Ann Cole (36), wife, born Stourbridge;

[3] Joseph Cole (13), son, brewer, born Dudley;

[4] Thomas H. Cole (11), son, scholar, born Stourbridge;

[5] William Cole (9), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[6] George F. Cole (4), son, born Rowley Regis;

[7] John Cole (3), son, born Rowley Regis;

[8] May J. Owen (27), servant, born Rowley Regis;

[9] Norah Gallier (22), servant, born Rowley Regis;

[10] Laura Riggs (15), servant, born Lye;

[11] Henry G. Cole (20), servant, born Derby:

County Advertiser 4/7/1891

“Joseph Cole, landlord of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises, on the 20th ult. Mr. Waldron appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Chas. Herbert Collis for the defence.

In opening, Mr. Waldron stated that at 4.30 on the date in question Police-constables Gibbs and Smedley went to defendant’s house in plain clothes, and saw a woman named Eliza Partridge there. During the time the two officers were there the woman was supplied with six pints of ale and a glass of whiskey, and she was very drunk. A man named Lane came into the house very drunk and he was supplied with two pints of ale. The officers left at 7.15, and both the man and the woman were very drunk. At 7.40 Police-constables Wynn and Davies visited the house in uniform. The attention of the defendant was called to the condition of the two persons, and defendant said they had only been there a short time, and that they had not been supplied with more than one pint. This was clearly an untruth, because the two disguised officers would tell the Bench that the landlord had been in the house the whole of the time. Both the man and the woman went staggering out of the house. He might mention that in the house there were a man and woman who were tattooed, and were sort of an attraction. There had been no complaints against the house before. Police-constables Gibbs, Smedley, Wynn and Davies were called in support of the case for the prosecution.

In defence, Mr. Collis said defendant had lived at the house, and had the management of it, for 26 [sic] years, and there had never been a complaint against it.

The defendant was called, and stated that he had been suffering from influenza, and had been out of the house two hours when Wynn came to the house. He did not see the woman until Wynn came in, and he did not see the man Lane many minutes in the house. He thought Lane was all right when he went out.

Cross-examined: He could not say the woman was drunk or sober. He thought the man had had a little. He was very sorry, and it would not have occurred if he had been there himself. It was untrue to say he (witness) was in the room from 4.30 till 7.15. The woman might have been drinking the whole of the afternoon, but he did not see her. It would be about five o’clock when he went out of the room.

Fredrick Butterworth also was called for the defence. He said the woman was sitting very comfortably, drinking her whiskey, smoking her pipe, and using an oath or two. Both she and the man appeared to be quite sober.

Mr. Bassano said the case was a very bad one, and but for the previous good conduct of the house they should endorse the license. As it was they should only fine the defendant £10 and the costs.

Costs and fine amounted to £11 15s 6d.

Referring to the fact that there had been a tattooed man and woman kept at the house as an attraction, Mr. Bassano said it was nothing to do with the case, but it was something to do with the conduct of the house, and when justices had to renew licenses they should consider whether a house was wanted for public accommodation or just to draw trade by such questionable means.

Mr. Collis, with regard to the attraction provided at the public house, said similar attractions were provided at the Aquarium, London.

Mr. Bassano: I should be sorry to think that the morals of the Aquarium ruled the morals of the licensed houses in this parish. I hope our licensed victuallers do try to keep a better house than they do there.

It was stated that the tattooed people were most respectable, and had now left the defendant’s employ.

Partridge was fined 5s and costs, and Lane 10s and costs, for being drunk on the premises.”

County Express 29/8/1891

“The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis division of Staffordshire were held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

Mr. Waldron represented Mr. C. H. Collis in the application of Joseph Cole, of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.

Inspector Bishop said Mr. Cole was fined £10 and costs for permitting drunkenness, on the 1st of July last. It was the first and only conviction against the house. Mr. Cole had had the management of it for about 20 years.

Mr. Hingley: This is the case where there was an exhibition of a somewhat indecent nature?

Inspector Bishop: Yes; as soon as I said to the publicans in the neighbourhood that it was not approved of, they immediately complied with my request, and ceased the entertainments. We have now no complaint against any of them for this thing. Adjourned.”

AND

County Advertiser 29/8/1891

“The annual licensing sessions for Rowley Petty Sessional Division were held last Wednesday.....

The magistrates said they were pleased to learn that there had been a decrease in the drunken cases. They then proceeded to consider the ‘black list’.....

Joseph Cole, of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, who was fined £10 and costs for permitting drunkenness on the 1st of July, 1891, and who had kept the house for 20 years applied for a renewal of their licenses through Mr. Waldron, who commented on the respectability of the applicants, and urged that the Bench should not exercise their discretion and take away the licenses because of one conviction Adjourned.”

County Express 3/10/1891

“Old Hill Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

Mr. W. Bassano said the only case in which they proposed not to renew the license was in the case of the CROSS INN, Old Hill.....

Mr. Ward asked if all the other licenses were granted without any special application being necessary. Mr. Bassano said this was so. Of course they had, in the exercise of their discretion, thought there were several cases in which they might reasonably withhold the license, and the Bench had had a long discussion that morning before coming into Court as to whether they should do so in the case of a man fined £10 and costs. However, they had decided to grant the whole of the licenses this year, and they gave an intimation that in future the Bench would deal very stringently in cases of conviction under the licensing laws, both as regards the amount of fines and endorsements, and in the cases of endorsements they would deal more stringently. In plain English, this meant that a person with an endorsement against the house would in future have a very small chance indeed of getting his license renewed. They hoped the licensed victuallers and other licensed persons in the district would take a warning from that.”

County Advertiser 31/3/1894

“On Tuesday evening Mr. J. Cole, of CORNGREAVES HOTEL, gave a dinner to the members of the Iron and Steel Workers’ Association, at the above hotel. After dinner Mr. Samuel Harris (of Brierley Hill) occupied the chair, and Mr. James Butler (of Cradley Heath) the vice-chair. Addresses were delivered by the chairman, the vice-chairman, and Messrs. Robert Harris (Brierley Hill) and James Hall (Netherton). Mr. Samuel Southall, of the Lye, acted as accompanist, and during the evening songs and recitations were given. In the course of the evening the health of the host and hostess was given, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.”

County Advertiser 12/1/1895

“Stoppage of Corngreaves Works. On Monday, the 7th inst, a dinner to the unemployed workers belonging to Corngreaves Lodge was given at the house of Mr. Joseph Cole, CORNGREAVES LION HOTEL. After dinner Mr. James Butler was voted to the chair.

The Chairman said he could not help feeling grieved to think the workmen were in such a deplorable condition, but hoped the time was not far distant when things would be brighter and better. He further remarked that very great praise was due to the friends throughout the district for the kind manner they had assisted during this calamity, and he hoped they would all be as good in the future. (Applause.)

Mr. J. Hill, Netherton, then spoke in favour of organisation, and hoped that the members of the different associations would all strive to do their best to help the unemployed Corngreaves men. (Applause.) He then proposed that the best thanks of this meeting be given to the ladies and gentlemen who had contributed so liberally towards the dinner. This was carried with applause and musical honours.

The remaining part of the evening was pleasantly passed away. Toasts, songs, recitation, &c, were given by Messrs. F. Tate, Yoxall, Head, Green, H. Head, and others. Altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent.

The following ladies and gentlemen contributed to the dinner: Sir Benjamin Hingley, Messrs. Brooke Robinson, MP, George Allan, Palethorpe, Rose, J. Cole, G. R. Chatham, John Attwood, J. Mason, Weston, and Gardener, Mrs. W. Homer and Mrs. R. Gill, Messrs. F. Oliver, Beasley, Spiers, Cole, Round, Tromans, T. Birch, B. Newton, Blunt, T. Darby, Parsons, and others.

Some of the good things were left over, and it was arranged to have a knife and fork tea on the following day for the unemployed workmen’s wives. This took place as arranged, when upwards of forty sat down. The evening closed with a hearty vote of thanks to all who had assisted in providing the tea.”

County Express 9/10/1897

“The second annual parade of Foresters in the Cradley, Cradley Heath, Quarry Bank, and Dudley Wood districts, for the benefit of the home at Clent, took place on Sunday afternoon, with every element of success attending it – the day was fine, the crowd was large, and the collections were very satisfactory. A pleasing feature about the parade was the number of members who turned out, and the number of courts. The following courts were represented.....

Robin Hood’s Merry Rangers, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 1/12/1900

“The coming of age of Thomas Henry Cole, second son of Mr. Joseph Cole, of CORNGREAVES HOTEL, was celebrated on Monday by the roasting of a whole ox on the above premises, the first one so roasted in the district on individual initiative. Handbills were distributed inviting all and sundry to attend and partake of the feast; and children were specially invited to come and dip their bread in the gravy. At five o'clock am the fire was lighted by Mr. J. Cole, and at eight am the ox was placed before the fire by Mr. Charles Cox, of Halesowen, the most experienced man in the district in these matters. During the time the roasting was in progress, Mr. James Rowlands, of the ANCHOR HOTEL, took several photographs of the gigantic joint. Crowds of people flocked to the hotel to witness and partake of the choice beast. The hour of twelve o'clock arriving, the first cut was made by Mr. Cox, and all who partook pronounced it to be ripe, prime, and beautifully tender. As the meat was cooked the whole of it was given away. Never had so many people visited the hotel since the soi disant, 'Sir Roger Tichborne,' paid a seven days' visit to it a few years ago. Despite the reports of poisoned beer, the visitors partook of Joe Cole's. A private entertainment was arranged, and consisted of songs, toasts, recitations, &c, in honour of the occasion, and this brought the proceedings to a very pleasant and satisfactory ending. All agreed that never had the cooking of a whole ox been seen done so thoroughly and so cleanly."

1901 Census

Graingers Lane – CORNGREAVES HOTEL

- [1] Joseph Cole (46), publican, born Netherton;
- [2] Mary A. Cole (46), wife, born Stourbridge;
- [3] Joseph Cole (23), son, sadler, born Netherton;
- [4] Thomas H. Cole (21), son, grocer's assistant, born Stourbridge;
- [5] William Cole (19), son, sadler, born Cradley Heath;
- [6] George F. Cole (14), son, born Cradley Heath;
- [7] John Cole (13), son, born Cradley Heath;
- [8] Fanny Byng (24), domestic servant, born Halesowen:

Tipton Herald 30/5/1903

"Joseph Cole, landlord of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness to take place on his licensed premises on the 11th of April. Mr. J. Walter Clulow prosecuted on behalf of the police, and Mr. William Waldron defended.

Mr. Clulow stated that on the date in question, at 9.20pm, Police Constables Dale and Turner visited the defendant's premises, and in the tap room, sitting on a bench near a table, with a jug of beer in front of him, they found John Hackett, who was drunk. Dale, who was the senior officer, called the attention of the landlady, who was in charge of the house, and was behind the bar, to the condition of Hackett, and she ejaculated, 'Now, Jack, why don't you go; I have told you to go before.' Hackett refused to go, and Mrs. Cole's son then told Hackett he must go. Hackett eventually got up, and, picking up the cup in front of him, he attempted to drink, but the landlord's son caught hold of the cup, and remarked, 'It's not yours, it's another man's.' Young Cole then put the cup in front of another man. Hackett got up from his seat, and in a staggering attitude left the house, followed by the constables. When outside Mrs. Cole told the police that Hackett had only been in the house three minutes, and had not been supplied. She had, she said, requested him to go on several occasions, but he refused.

PCs Dale and Turner then gave evidence in support of Mr. Clulow's statement.

Mr. Waldron, for the defence, contended that Hackett, although being on the premises and also drunk, had not been supplied with beer. He had only been there three minutes, and during that time the landlady had requested him to leave on several occasions. How could they expect a woman to eject a burly man like Hackett. He should prove conclusively that no ale was supplied to Hackett, and that the latter did not consume any.

Mrs. Cole, her son, and several other witnesses were called, and all stated that Hackett had been told to leave the premises, and that he was not supplied. The landlady asked him to go, and then the police came in.

The Bench considered the case proved, and fined the defendant 50s and costs.

John Hackett, of Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath, for having been drunk on the premises was fined 10s and costs."

County Advertiser 13/2/1904

"The annual licensing sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday, at the Police Court.

The Black List. Superintendent Johnson stated that he had given notice to oppose the renewal of the following licenses, on grounds of a conviction against the house.

CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath, kept by Joseph Cole.

The license of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, was renewed to Joseph Cole on the application of Mr. Green. Superintendent Johnson stated that the house had been well conducted since the conviction."

County Advertiser 19/3/1904

"Joseph Cole, landlord of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Graingers Lane, Cradley Heath, was summoned for permitting drunkenness on his premises on the 22nd ult.

Mr. J. W. Clulow, who appeared to prosecute, explained that a few minutes after eleven o'clock on the night in question, Police-sergeant Wood, Police-constables Foulkes and Gratage were standing outside defendant's house when they saw a man named John Henry Raycord leave the house in a very drunken condition. He staggered about the road, and the officers had to secure his name and address from one of his friends. Sergeant Wood went into defendant's house and asked him what time he turned out. Defendant replied that, 'We had no one to turn out.' Upon this Police-constable Gratage said, 'Why have you just turned out a man who is drunk?' Police-constable Foulkes then brought the man back to the defendant's door, and Sergeant Wood said to Cole, 'This is the man, you see how drunk he is.' Cole thereupon replied that the man had not been in the house that evening, but he subsequently said, 'He has not been in the house many minutes, I see you are the new sergeant. Don't be hard on me, and I will see that it shall not occur again.' Raycord must, however, have been in the house some time, for Sergeant Wood had been in the locality sixteen minutes, and had seen no one enter or leave the house during that time. Evidence in support of this statement was given by Police-sergeant Wood, and Police-constables Foulkes and Gratage.

Defendant urged that the man was not served in his house.

Mr. Bassano said defendant had a bad record with them, and fined him £5 and costs £2 12s 6d. Raycord, who resides in King Street, Cradley Heath, was fined 20s including costs for being drunk on the premises.”

County Advertiser 27/8/1904

“On Sunday afternoon the eighth annual parade and service arranged by the various friendly societies in the Old Hill district took place under favourable circumstances. The proceedings commenced with a large procession.....

The Cradley Heath Town Prize Band started from COOKSEY’S HOTEL and proceeded along Halesowen Road, calling at the VICTORIA HOTEL for societies. Afterwards they marched to High Street, where they called at the DUKE WILLIAM INN for societies and afterwards went on to the field.....

Upon arrival at the field a grand procession was formed This paraded the principal streets of the locality for some time, after which they proceeded to a field in High Street, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. A. E. Sidaway. Here a service was held, the chair being occupied by Dr. T. E. Mitchell. Notwithstanding the threatening state of the weather there was a large attendance.... A collection was made upon the route, and at the service, on behalf of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, Birmingham Eye Hospital, Birmingham General Hospital, Birmingham Ear and Throat Hospital, and the Old Hill Nurses Fund.”

County Advertiser 11/2/1905

“The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday.....

Superintendent Johnson presented his annual report.....

During the twelve months ended January last, three licensed victuallers and two beerhouse keepers had been proceeded against and convicted for offences against the Licensing Acts. One beerhouse keeper had also been convicted for using obscene language in his own house. The whole of the licenses (except the one for using bad language) have since been transferred. Since the transfer each house has been conducted satisfactorily.....

The following is a list of the licenses objected to by Superintendent Johnson.....

William McWhirter, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, fined £5 and costs on the 16th March, 1904, for permitting drunkenness.....

The justices then proceeded to hear the objections to the renewal of the licenses on the ‘black list’. These were all granted, the chairman administering a caution to each applicant.”

[The offence relates to the previous licensee.]

William Meldrum McWhirter – see also CROSS, CROWN, COOKSEY’S HOTEL and WIZARD AND GLASS.

Tipton Herald 26/6/1909

“During the storm which passed over the district on Tuesday at noon, a streak of lightning struck the chimneys on the roof of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, at the foot of Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath. The landlord – Mr. Frederick Cole – and his family were just preparing to sit down for dinner, when the crash came. A portion of the chimney pots and bricks and mortar were hurled into the street below, and a man and a young girl who were passing at the time narrowly escaped being struck. Another portion of the debris fell with a crash on to the roof, smashing in a big hole and knocking a considerable quantity of plastering off the ceiling in the club room. Fortunately no one was hurt.”

County Express 12/2/1910

“On Wednesday the annual general licensing sessions for the Old Hill petty sessional division were held at the Police Court.....

The Bench sanctioned structural alterations being made at the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, and the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 17/9/1910 - Advert

“General (good), about 18 to 20, Wanted.

Mrs. G. F. Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

1911 Census

Cradley Heath – CORNGREAVES HOTEL

[1] George Frederick Cole (24), publican, born Cradley Heath;

[2] Elsie May Cole (22), wife, married 3 years, born Lye;

[3] George Frederick Cole (2), son, born Cradley Heath;

[4] Clara Boxley (17), domestic servant, born Colley Gate:

Dudley Chronicle 26/8/1911

“Mr. J. Dearns presided over a meeting of the Parade Committee on Tuesday, at the CORNGREAVES HOTEL. A resolution of sympathy was accorded Mr. Chas. Stoneley and the relatives of the man who earlier in the day was killed on the Cradley Heath station. The members of the Ambulance Brigade, who tended the injuries sustained by Mr. Joyner, were cordially thanked. It was decided to visit the Dudley Guest Hospital on September 2nd and to invite as many of the public as cared to attend. It was reported that another collecting-box had been tapered with. It was decided to make a presentation to Mr. Taylor in recognition of his services as a collector, Mr. Tom Wilkes and Mr. Tom Horton being deputed to collect subscriptions. The meeting decided to sell the goods left over at the variety stalls at the next meeting.”

County Express 6/1/1912

“Dividend Clubs..... CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.

On Wednesday week some 40 members assembled to the annual supper, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Cole (host and hostess) catering excellently. A smoking concert followed.....”

Birmingham Mail 20/2/1914

“The position at Cradley Heath last night became worse, and the subsidence which has taken place in the last few days is regarded as the worst calamity which has befallen the Rowley Regis parish for many years. There have been a number of occurrences of this kind in the parish, but nothing of such a serious character. There was a gradual movement throughout yesterday afternoon, with the result that additional houses were affected. The main street seems to be the centre of subsidence, and the property is being drawn into a hole in the middle of the street. The roadway had sunk last evening to a depth of about five feet, the cracks in the footpath and road had become wider and more extensive, whilst there was evidence that the tram lines, which had up till then maintained a level position, were being pushed out of place. Up to a late hour last night workmen were employed in propping up those buildings which were in danger of falling, whilst residents were busily engaged in the removal of their furniture and goods to a place of safety.....

The question of liability is a matter which is likely to form an interesting discussion at the meeting of the property owners tonight. The mine owners in the district have admitted their liability for damage to property in the past, and have paid the cost of repairs, and also met a claim in respect of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL.....”

Dudley Chronicle 9/10/1915

“Saturday proved a wretched day for the cycle and fancy dress parade promoted by the Cradley Heath Patriotic Committee. For the first day for many weeks the sun decided to remain indoors, and from start to finish there was a steady downpour of rain which made it very uncomfortable for exhibitors and spectators alike.....

Others in the procession were Master Fred Cole (son of Mr. Cole, CORNGREAVES HOTEL) as a mounted Indian.....

Mr. Edwards said he was sorry the weather had been so unfavourable. Still a good show had been made, and they would be able to hand over a good sum for the benefit of local soldiers and sailors.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 28/7/1921

“George Frederick Cole, licensee of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, applied to the Old Hill magistrates yesterday for an occasional licence in respect of the fete and gala which has been arranged by the Old Hill Cricket Club for 2 and 3 August. The chairman (Mr. A. H. Bassano) said it was only fair to say that the Bench had received certain communications in which objections were made to the granting of these licences. One of them included a statement that there was a good deal of gambling during the racing events.

The Bench, however, did not consider they should make any different treatment, as such licences were granted throughout the neighbourhood, and acceded to applicant’s request.”

It was put up for sale in October 1925.

Isaac William Lunn – see also FISH, Pensnett, and ROYAL EXCHANGE, Old Hill.

Tewkesbury Register 27/2/1932

“At the Pershore County Court on Monday, His Honour, Judge Roope Reeve, heard an arbitration case between Mary Maria Woodhouse, of Council Houses, King Street, Cradley Heath, who described herself as a hop picker, hotel assistant and dressmaker, and Messrs. Lock and Meikle, of Wick Grange, Pershore, for compensation for personal injuries sustained by the former in an accident which occurred when she was hop picking for the respondents on September 26, 1931. Mr. A. P. Marshall (instructed by Messrs. Bowman, Ekins, and Evans, of Birmingham) represented the applicant, while Mr. H. A. Tucker (instructed by Messrs. Ansell and Sherwin, of Birmingham) appeared for the respondents.

Mr. Marshall, in outlining the applicant’s case, stated that Mary Maria Woodhouse, a married woman, was employed by Messrs. Lock and Meikle, when she tripped over a bind in the hop yards at Wick and sustained a broken shoulder blade. At first a serious view was not taken of the injury, but on returning to her home at Cradley she was examined by a doctor and it was discovered that the right shoulder blade was fractured. He maintained that she was totally incapacitated for three months, and partially so for a further two months. He thought the partial disability would be represented by 50 per cent. The incapacity was now further reduced and amounted to about 25 per cent, but he thought there would always be some partial permanent incapacity.

Continuing, Mr. Marshall said that in addition to the time she spent in the hop fields, Mrs. Woodhouse was a hotel assistant, and a dressmaker, but he asked that the claim under the dressmaking earnings should not be included. He asked that an allowance of 11s 9d should be made per week, based on the sum of 25s which she earned per week when engaged in hop picking, and 13s 6d from her work as an hotel assistant. He thought compensation could be reduced in accordance with Mrs. Woodhouse’s recovery. The applicant, who repeated the oath after the Registrar, before giving evidence, admitted that she was not a very good scholar. She corroborated her Counsel’s statements with regard to the fall and explained that at the time both her hands were engaged, and this prevented her from saving herself when she tripped. She felt great pain in her right arm and she was unable to work with it. After the accident she went to the Grange and Mrs. Meikle supplied her with oils with which to rub her arm.

On returning home several days later, she was examined by Dr. Tibbetts, of Cradley Heath, who had treated her ever since, and in addition she had been going to hospital there for massage twice a week. Her arm was improving, but she found that she was unable to perform her daily duties in the house.

The hop season, Mrs. Woodhouse stated, often lasted six weeks, while on rare occasions she had known it to be of seven weeks duration.

As an assistant in the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, where she worked three days per week, she received 2s 6d daily in addition to tips averaging about 2s per day. This brought her average earnings at the hotel up to 13 6d a week.

Replying to Mr. Tucker, applicant said that her work consisted of cooking and charing. She cooked the dinners for customers who sometimes numbered as many as 24, while her mistress did the waiting. No one else helped and the applicant received tips which the gentlemen left under their plates. In addition, twice a year, on the occasion of a half-yearly rent audit dinner at the hotel, she and another person shared the tips, which amounted to 15s or 16s each on each occasion.....

His Honour gave a compensation award of 9s 7d per week from September 26 until December 26, of 4s 10d from that time until February 26, and of 2s 5d continuing.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 12/1/1933

“Nine licensed houses, the property of Messrs. William Oliver and Sons, of Cradley – a firm which has been established for nearly a century – were sold by auction at the TALBOT HOTEL, Stourbridge, yesterday.

The houses which are situated within a three mile radius, including Dudley, Stourbridge, Amblecote, Brierley Hill, Cradley Heath, Lye, and Cradley, fetched £14,925.

The houses and amounts were.....

CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, £2,000.”

1939 Register

75, Graingers Lane

[1] William E. R. Wilkins, date of birth 31/8/1896, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Mary A. (Wilkins) Kirkham, dob 12/9/1894, domestic duties, unpaid, married;

[4] Thomas Ralph, dob 31/1/1858, retired, widowed;

[5] Sarah L. Goss, dob 1/4/1871, domestic duties, widowed:

Mary Adelaide Wilkins married George W. Kirkham on 30th March 1955.

A team from here took part in the Cradley Heath Domino League. [1960]

Sports Argus 31/12/1966

“Who Will Be The 1967 Champions?

The biggest night in Midland Darts! That’s the Sports Argus Midland Open Darts Team Championship finals night which takes place next Saturday night at the Morris Commercial Club, Alum Road (6.45).

Nearly 200 teams entered the most popular competition of its kind in the area some nine months ago and the following four sides will contest the right to hold the coveted Sports Argus Trophy for the next 12 months.

Aston Social, of Witton Lane, Birmingham 6.

CORNGREAVES HOTEL, of Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath.

White Lion, of Gosford Green, Coventry.

Brook Flights, of Brookfields Tavern, Birmingham 18.....”

[Brook Flights beat Aston Social 5-4 in the final.]

Anthony McMahon – see also COCK, Rowley Regis.

Howard Westwood was married to Brenda.

Its name was changed to BLACK COUNTRY INN in November 1987.

Sandwell Evening Mail 8/8/1990

“A driver escaped unhurt after his van ploughed into a pub at Cradley Heath, causing hundreds of pounds worth of damage. Staff had just finished clearing up at the BLACK COUNTRY INN in Graingers Lane when yesterday’s accident happened.

Police said Mr. George Lawson, aged 53, of Ross-on-Wye, lost control of the van on the sharp bend outside and crashed into the window – sending brickwork and glass flying and damaging tables and stools.

Workmen later boarded up the damaged frontage to allow business as usual for evening customers.

Licensee’s wife Mrs. Brenda Westwood today called on Sandwell Council to provide added safety measures on the bend. She said, ‘We had just gone upstairs and were about to settle down when we heard this terrific bang. The van had completely demolished one of the bay windows leaving just a big gap. There is a really sharp bend out here. There have been a lot of near misses and I am surprised nothing has happened before. I think the council ought to put some sort of railings round here and warning signs before somebody gets hurt.’

A spokesman for the West Midlands police said, ‘The van driver steered sharply on the bend but clipped the kerb and mounted the pavement before colliding with the front of the public house. He got out unhurt.’”

[1996]

Closed [1997]

It was demolished c.2002.

CROSS

176, (55), Halesowen Road / Hill Passage, OLD HILL

OWNERS

Thomas Darby, Corngreaves Brewery, Cradley Heath [1891]

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd. (acquired on 2nd February 1927) [1970]

LICENSEES

Thomas Tromans [1833] – [1845]

William Tromans [1849] – [1854]

Thomas Tromans [1855]

Mrs. Margaret E Tromans [1856] – [1861]

Mary Tromans [1861]

Margaret Eliza Tromans [1862] – 1865;

Joseph E Whitmore (1865 – [1875])

Jeremiah Westwood [1876] – [1877] manager

John Frost [] – 1877;

Henry Tope (1877 – [1883])

Thomas Darby [1885]

Henry Cole [1890] – 1891;

William Meldrum McWhirter (1891 – 1897);

Henry Cole (1897 – [1898])

Mrs. Emily Amelia Farndon [] – 1899;

Frederick Farndon (1899 – [1901])

Mrs. Phoebe Hartland [1904] – [1912]

Frederick Weston [1916] – 1930;

Lilian Weston (1930 – 1932);

Frederick Cooper (1932 – 1941);

Fred Tomney (1941 – 1945);

Edward 'Ted' Finch (1945 – [1970]) for 27 years

Jack Wilkinson []

NOTES

55, Halesowen Road [1896], [1901], [1904], [1908], [1911], [1912], [1924], [1932], [1940]

176, Halesowen Road [1990]

GOLDEN CROSS [1845], [1862], [1868], [1870], [1872], [1873]

CROSS and post office [1849], [1850], [1854]

OLD HILL CROSS [1865]

OLD CROSS [1896], [1900], [1904], [1912], [1916], [1921], [1924]

YE OLDE CROSS [1932], [1940]

It was a coaching inn.

[1820]

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

September 1813 - ____ (?), ____ (?) of ____ (?) and Elizabeth Troman, victualler, Old Hill.

April 1815 - Ed ____ (?), son of Thomas and Elizabeth Troman, victualler, Old Hill.

9th February 1817 - Hannah, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Troman, victualler, Old Hill.

14th March 1819 - Elizabeth Siviter, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Troman, victualler, Old Hill.

10th August 1823 - Henry, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Trueman, victualler, Old Hill.

13th March 1825 - Edny, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Truman, victualler, Old Hill.

11th March 1827 - George, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Truman, victualler, Old Hill.

10th May 1829 - Daniel, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Truman, victualler, Old Hill.

21st April 1833 - Edmond, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Truman, victualler, Old Hill.

[It is not certain that the above Thomas and Elizabeth Troman (Truman) are the same as the licensees of the CROSS, but it is a possibility.]

Black Country Bugle (1983) - Pub of the Month - SAMUELS INN

“Deeds of the property show that it was licensed as long ago as 1820, when it was opened by that famous family of Rowley brewers – the Darbys One of its most famous (or infamous) patrons was Jed Black – The Workus Master who, legend has it, came to a fitting end It boasted a fine bowling team and the green at the rear of the building was the scene of many fine matches That famous bowling green is now the car park.”

Thomas Tromans = Thomas Troman

Arise's Birmingham Gazette 30/9/1833 - Advert

“Freehold Property, near Haysech Mill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Jesse Wright, on Wednesday, October 16, 1833, at five o'clock in the afternoon, at the house of Mr. Thomas Tromans, the CROSS INN, Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.....”

Thomas Troman, retailer of beer, Old Hill. [1835]

Arise's Birmingham Gazette 12/3/1838 - Advert

“Extensive Sale Of Valuable Timber, in the neighbourhood of Old Hill.

To be Sold by Auction by Abiathar Bunch, on Monday next, the 19th day of March, at the house of Mr. Thomas Troman, the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, at four o'clock in the afternoon, in the following or such other lots as may be agreed upon at the time of sale, and subject to such conditions as will then be produced – the following valuable timber.....”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 21/9/1842 - Advert

“Southern Division of the County of Stafford.

We, Charles Shapland Whitmore, of the Inner Temple, and Thomas Bros, of Lincoln's Inn, Esquires, Barristers at Law, having been duly nominated and appointed to Revise the List of Voters in the Election of Knights of the Shire for the Southern Division of the County of Stafford, hereby give notice, that we shall make a Circuit of the said Division and hold Courts for that purpose, at the several times and places underwritten, that is to say.....

At Rowley Regis, at the CROSS INN, on Friday, the 7th day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, for the parish of Rowley Regis.....

London, September 12, 1842.

Memorandum. The overseers of the said several parishes, townships, and places, are desired to bring with them notices of claims of voters, and all notices of objections to voters transmitted or delivered to the said overseers.

And the voters who have sent in their claims, whether objected to or not, are desired to see that they have been duly registered, as regards the description of themselves and their qualification; and if there is any defect therein to attend before the Revising Barristers at the proper court, to offer such evidence as may enable them to correct the said lists.”

Thomas Troman was also a gun barrel maker. [1845]

William Tromans = William Trowman = William Trotmans

Birmingham Journal 9/1/1847

“On Saturday last, one of those appalling accidents which seem inseparable from mining operations, and are generally so fatal in their effects, from the suddenness of, and impossibility of foreseeing, their occurrence, took place at the New Lion Colliery, at Rowley Regis, belonging to the New British Iron Company, and by which four unfortunate men were hurried into eternity, and the lives of three others placed in great jeopardy. It appears that about eight o'clock in the morning, nine persons were engaged in one of the workings of the pit, which was considered quite safe, when in a moment a great part of the roof suddenly gave way, and in the spot where the men stood a moment before, was observed an immense mass, which had crushed John Betteridge, the manager, Thos. Taylor, Obadiah Jennings, and Elijah Smith, three of the miners, under it. Three of others, named Benjamin Pearson, 'butty,' Thomas Westwood, and Simon Burns, were fearfully hurt, and their cries brought to the spot some of the other workmen, who used every exertion to remove the immense mass, weighing several tons, and about two yards thick, which had suddenly entombed their fellow-workmen. After two hours hard and incessant labour, part of the mass was removed, and underneath were found the bodies of three of the men awfully mutilated, and scarcely recognisable. Smith was not quite dead when discovered, but he was insensible, and expired in a short time after. The bodies were conveyed to their respective residences, where the greatest grief and consternation prevailed, all of the unfortunate men being married, and having large families. The other three, who were dreadfully bruised, were also paid every attention to; but fears are entertained from the severe nature of their injuries, that fatal results may still ensue. On Tuesday, an inquest was held on three of the bodies, before George Hinchliffe, Esq, at the house of Mr. William Trowman, CROSS INN, Old Hill, Rowley Regis. Rumours having been circulated as to the roof being insecure, the Coroner made a strict inquiry into the statement; but it was convincingly shown that the pit was properly worked, and that no precautions could have been taken to prevent the occurrence, neither crack nor flaw having been apparent in the coal. In these circumstances, the Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

Birmingham Journal 28/9/1850 - Advert

“Staffordshire. Freehold Dwelling Houses, situate at Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To Be Sold By Auction, by Mr. Bateman, at the house of Mr. William Trowman, the GOLDEN CROSS INN, at Old Hill aforesaid, on Tuesday, the 8th day of October, at Six o’clock in the evening, subject to conditions then to be produced.....”

1851 Census

Old Hill

- [1] William Tromans (44), victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Margret E. Tromans (33), wife, domestic duties, born Birmingham;
- [3] Alfred Tromans (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Thomas Tromans (8), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Elizabeth Tromans (4), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Edmund Tromans (18), brother, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Thomas Jones (13), general servant, born Bridgend, Worcestershire:

Aris’s Birmingham Gazette 24/5/1852 - Advert

“Desirable Freehold Public House, and Other Property, at Old Hill, Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by W. Trigger, at the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, on Tuesday the 8th day of June next, at six o’clock in the evening – the under-mentioned valuable Freehold Properties, in the following or such other lots as may be agreed upon at the time of sale, and subject to conditions to be then read.

Lot I. The old-established and well-accustomed Public House or Inn, called the GOLDEN CROSS, above-mentioned, with spacious Yard, Stable, Gun-barrel Forge, Garden, and Appurtenances thereto belonging, now in the occupation of Mr. William Tromans; also the large and substantially-built Warehouse adjoining, now in the occupation of Mr. W. Woodhall, the whole containing (including the site of the buildings) 1546 square yards, or thereabouts.

Lot II. A most desirable Plot of Building Land, adjoining lot 1, having a frontage of 19 yards 2 feet to the Turnpike Road leading from Hales Owen to Dudley, and containing 878 square yards, or thereabouts.

Lot III. Another Plot of Building Land, adjoining lot 2, with a frontage of 19 yards 1 foot to the said road, and containing 691 square yards, or thereabouts.

Lot IV. The Messuage or Dwelling House, with Nail Shop, Garden, and Appurtenances thereto belonging, situated at Old Hill aforesaid, adjoining the Warehouse included in lot 1, and having a frontage of 23 yards to the road leading from Old Hill aforesaid to Cradley, and containing in the whole an area of 445 square yards, or thereabouts, and now in the occupation of Mr. Thomas Green.

The Mines under all the foregoing lots will be sold with the Premises respectively.

For further particulars apply to Messrs. Coldicott and Canning, Solicitors, Dudley; or the the Auctioneer, Bewdley, at whose respective offices a plan of the property may be seen.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 11/8/1852 - Letter

“The Nailors and Their Masters.

To the Editor of the Worcestershire Chronicle. Rowley Regis, Aug. 2, 1852.

Mr. Editor. The public are anxiously expecting some explanation as to the cause of the so often repeated strikes among the nail forgers, and as the masters don’t seem inclined to say anything in defence of their frequent attempts to reduce our already too miserable wages, I, as a nailer, feel bound to state the reasons why we resist those attempts. In the first place we still bear in mind the sufferings we underwent some ten years ago, when we reluctantly yielded to become their slaves. At that time, after a week’s almost incessant toil, we repaired to our masters’ warehouse to take the produce of that toil, where we were treated like criminals. Their weighers did just as they liked with us; they acted as if the worst they could say or do was too good for us; in fact, we never knew what we should have for our nails until receiving the money, and then, be what it would, we dared not complain. We were always too glad to leave the place where we were looked upon with such loathing. In the next place, we feel satisfied that there would be as much difficulty in maintaining a lower rate of wages as there has been to maintain the present, and that if we offered no opposition we know not what they would bring us to. Perhaps in the course of time some of them would think they were conferring a boon upon us, by allowing us to take away our bags with some iron to make some more on the same terms. We were on strike last summer for six weeks, and were enabled to maintain our price soon after our return to work. Rumour said they were to give us ‘a winter pinch.’ They did so, and we weathered the storm for five weeks, and were again successful; so they thought they would try us again in the summer. They have done it, and we have been on strike six weeks at the time I write, and are determined to remain on strike till our masters think proper to give us our price. We hold daily meeting at the GOLDEN CROSS, at Old Hill, Rowley Regis, and shall continue to do so till the strike has terminated. I sincerely hope that other tradesmen will not stand by and see us fall without lending a helping hand, for we feel convinced that if they could succeed in breaking the bond of unity which holds us together, they would apply the lash with tenfold severity, if possible; but we are resolved to perish at once rather than allow them to kill us by degrees. Now, sir, as I have stated our side of the question, I hope the masters will state theirs, and allow the public to judge between us. Sir, if you can make it convenient to publish this letter in your valuable paper, you will very much oblige yours, &c, A Nailer.”

Birmingham Journal 14/1/1854 - Advert

“To Publicans, Brokers, and Others.

Sale of Household Furniture, Brewing Utensils, Casks, Publicans’ Requisites, and Various Other Effects, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, Rowley Regis.

Mr. Bateman has received instructions from the Executors of the late Mr. Thomas Tromans, to Sell by Auction, on Thursday Next, the 19th day of January, commencing precisely at Eleven o’clock in the morning, at the CROSS INN, at Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis.

A quantity of useful Household Furniture, Brewing Utensils, well-seasoned Casks and various other Effects; comprising capital mahogany and oak Dining Tables, Circular oak Tables, Corner Cupboards, Clock, Chairs, Drinking Tables and Forms, Hogshead, Half-hogshead, and other Casks, Brewing Utensils, Kitchen Requisites, Chests of Drawers, Feather Beds, Glass, China, Silver Spoons, and various other Effects.

Catalogues of Sale, giving full descriptive particulars, will be distributed, and may be had from the Auctioneer, Dudley; and at the Place of Sale.”

Birmingham Journal 13/5/1854 - Advert

“Freehold Property, at the Yew Tree Gate, Powke Lane, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To Be Sold by Auction, by Thomas P. Stokes, on Tuesday Next, the 16th day of May, at the House of Mr. William Tromans, the CROSS INN, at Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis aforesaid, at Six o’clock in the evening, and subject to such conditions as shall be then and there produced.....”

Thomas Tromans reported hoof marks on the roof in 1855.

Birmingham Journal 16/8/1856 - Advert

“Valuable Freehold Building Land, at Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Tuesday, the 2nd day of September, 1856, at Six o’clock in the evening at the house of Mrs. Trowman, the CROSS INN at Old Hill aforesaid, and subject to conditions then to be produced.....”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 18/4/1857

“As we stated last week, Mr. Joseph Shakespeare, the butty of the pit where the explosion took place, was so seriously hurt that little hope was entertained of his recovery. He has since died, and on Saturday, an inquest was held over his body, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, but was adjourned till the 28th inst, in order that one of the men who was injured, but is now recovering, might be able to attend. Mr. Brough, government inspector, was present during the enquiry.

The older Mason has also since died from the injuries received. An inquest was held over his body on Friday morning at the BIRCH TREE INN, Black Heath, and was adjourned until Tuesday next, the 21st inst.”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 25/7/1857

“On Monday last, the Independent Order of the ‘Knights of the Wood’ held their anniversary at the house of Mrs. Troman, the CROSS INN, Old Hill, when about seventy members sat down to a sumptuous spread, which reflected the greatest credit on the worthy hostess. After due justice had been done to the festive board, and the cloth withdrawn, Mr. T. Priest was appointed to take the chair, and Mr. J. Tibbitts the vice chair, which they ably filled. Toast and song followed each other in rapid succession, and the afternoon was spent in the greatest conviviality. Mr. J. Perks, the indefatigable secretary, delivered an able address on the Widows’ and Orphans’ Fund, after which a handsome collection was made in aid of the same.”

County Advertiser 29/8/1857 - Advert

“The Inhabitants of Old Hill and the surrounding neighbourhood, are respectfully informed that on Monday, August 31st, the Miners’ Independent Order of the Knights of the Wood, intend holding a Public Tea Party at the house of Mrs. Troman, the GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill, for the Benefit of the Widow and Orphans’ Fund.

Tea on the Table at Five o’clock. Tickets One Shilling each, may be had at the Lodge house, or any of the Members.

The Cradley Heath celebrated Brass Band, under the Leadership of Mr. Wallace, will be in attendance.

It is hoped the public will come forward to help in such a noble cause.”

Birmingham Daily Post 9/12/1857

“John Maloney, a nailer, of Rowley, was charged on Monday, at Wordsley, before C. E. Swindell, Esq, and the Rev. F. J. Clarke, with stealing one shilling, the property of Samuel Bennitt, also a nailer, of Rowley. The circumstance were somewhat singular. On the previous Tuesday night the parties were at the house of Mr. James Pearson, publican of Rowley, and the prosecutor placed a shilling upon the table to pay for a pint of ale, but before it was taken up he was called out of the house, and on his returning it had disappeared. Another man was in the room, but both he and the prisoner denied any knowledge of the shilling. Suspecting that the prisoner had it, the prosecutor and a policeman followed him to the CROSS INN, kept by Mrs. Tromans, at Old Hill. Here the prisoner called for a pint of ale, and in payment gave the landlady a shilling, which, on being examined, turned out to be the one lost by the prosecutor, the latter having positively identified it by a mark. The defendant, for whom Mr. Burbury appeared, was committed to hard labour for fourteen days.”

1861 Census

Old Hill – GOLDEN CROSS

- [1] Margaret E. Tromans (42), widow, victualler, born Birmingham;
- [2] Alfred Tromans (20), son, warehouseman, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Thomas Tromans (18), son, warehouseman, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Elizabeth Tromans (14), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Eliza M. Tromans (6), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] John Payne (73), father, draper, born Birmingham;
- [7] Ann Bayliss (19), general servant, born Radnorshire:

County Advertiser 28/1/1865

“On Monday last, the members of the Knights of the Wood Friendly Society, held at the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill, sat down to an excellent dinner, given by the host. After the cloth was withdrawn, the usual business of the society was gone into, and five new members were enrolled. A pleasant evening was spent.”

County Advertiser 11/2/1865

“A meeting of miners was held at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, on Wednesday night, and was numerously attended. Mr. W. H. Miller was called to the chair. Mr. William Brown, of Hunslet, a member of the Miners’ National Union, addressed the meeting, and pointed out that at the present time union among all classes was beginning to spread through the land. Masters in every trade were combining together, and therefore, he contended, the working men should also unite. Still, he reminded those present that there was a medium even in union, and if legitimate bounds were outstepped, then, instead of being a benefit, union proved an injury. After speaking upwards of two hours, the speaker resumed his seat amid cheers.”

County Advertiser 8/4/1865

“Joseph Whitmore, landlord of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, was summoned for allowing drunken and riotous conduct in his house. He was permitted to settle the case by paying costs; but he was, at the same time, cautioned to see that his house was conducted with order and regularity.”

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 27/5/1865

“J. Whitmore’s Match v Time. For this match, in which E. Westwood bets J. Whitmore £10 that his mare does not trot eight miles in 30 minutes, we have received the £5 sent this week, but the previous £15 stated to have been forwarded to us has not come to hand. The match is for Whitmore’s mare to be driven in harness by the owner eight miles in 30 minutes, for £10 a side, on Monday, May 29, ten miles from Old Hill, near Dudley.”

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 16/9/1865

“Our readers must remember that Mr. Whitmore, of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, near Dudley, matched his mare to trot eight miles in 30 minutes, which stood to take place on May 29, but a dispute having arisen as to the ground to be trotted over, the match remained in abeyance until last week, when it was arranged the mare should trot on Monday last, from Birmingham to the Cross, Old Hill. At the time appointed the mare was started on her journey, and with the greatest apparent ease accomplished the distance in 25 minutes. The stakes, £20, will be forwarded to Mr. Whitmore, as requested on Wednesday.”

County Advertiser 16/9/1865

“At the Police Court, on Wednesday, Joseph Whitmore, landlord of the CROSS public house, Old Hill, was summoned to answer two charges – one of cruelly-treating a horse by overdriving it, and another of furious driving. Mr. Sheldon defended. Police-constable Fox said that on Monday last he received information that the defendant had undertaken to drive a mare from Birmingham to Old Hill, a distance, he believed, of between nine and ten miles, in half an hour, for a wager of £10. Witness went to a bridge on the Stourbridge Extension Railway, which crosses the turnpike road along which he expected the defendant would come. About a quarter to four o’clock he saw the defendant coming along in a skeleton trap, driving a mare at a gallop, and flogging her. The mare seemed very much distressed, and staggered from one side to the other like a drunken man. He could see in the direction from which defendant came for about 300 yards, and about 100 yards on the other side. He then went to the CROSS public house. The mare had been taken out of the trap, and a man was pulling her ears. There were weals on the ribs of the mare, on each side, as thick as his finger, and half as long as his arm. The weals were most numerous on the right side. There was blood on one of the mare’s legs, but witness did not know where it had come from. He has never seen an animal so badly whipped in all his life. He believed that the mare belonged to the defendant. Cross-examined: He had very little experience of horses. There was a trap before the defendant clearing the way. The horse in it was not distressed. That trap was stopped just after it passed under the bridge. It had come close to the bridge before the other horse was in sight. The defendant was not merely using the whip in such a way as to urge the mare by the sound of it; but he was hitting her. He did not see the mare paw the ground. He did not hear any one say that she could do the journey again at once; but he heard persons say that if she had had to go another another twenty yards, she would have fallen down. There were 300 or 400 people present. Police-constable Wylie deposed that he went to the yard of the CROSS public house, and found a person attending to the mare. He examined the mare carefully, and found a large number of weals on its ribs. The mare seemed much distressed. In answer to the Bench witness said that the mare did not seem more distressed than a horse that had run in a race. Police-constable Powner stated that the conditions of the wager were that the mare should run eight miles in half an hour, at any pace the defendant pleased. He had spoken to the defendant about it in the course of the three weeks that the match had been pending. He had heard from defendant himself that he started from Broad Street, and came by Long Lane, Blackheath, and Waterfall Lane. The distance was done in twenty-five minutes. The horse was sixteen hands high. Mr. Sheldon, in defence, urged that the horse had been specially trained for the match; that being in good condition, and sixteen hands high, the distance in the time at any pace, was not only not too much for the mare, but could be done by it with perfect ease. The trap and harness were of the light kind usual on such occasions, and the distance – eight miles – was accurately measured, and was not nine and a half or ten miles as stated by the police-officer Fox. He would not deny that the mare had been beaten to some extent, but she was one of that sort that required driving, and he submitted that under the circumstances the defendant was perfectly justified in the use he had made of the whip. In conclusion, he told the Bench that the mare was able to take food in about an hour after her arrival at Old Hill; and had been at work since, therefore he contended there could have been no cruelty practised. Mr. Whitmore had wanted to back out of the wager, but found he could not do so, and he would undertake that nothing of a similar kind would again occur. After a brief consultation, the Bench said they considered the case proved, and fined the defendant 40s and costs; and on condition of his having engaged that nothing of the kind should again occur, so far as he was concerned, they would dismiss the other case on payment of costs.”

County Advertiser 25/11/1865

“At the Police Court, on Monday, George [sic] Whitmore, landlord of the OLD CROSS public house, Old Hill, was summoned to answer a charge of selling a quantity of cider at Brierley Hill wake, without having a license. A young man, who accompanied the person in charge of the cider, proved that he saw some of the cider sold in the Market Place. Police-sergeant Carroll stated that his attention was called to the person selling cider for the defendant; and on going to the place saw several men standing round the cart drinking. He asked the man if he was selling without a license, and he said he was not, producing at the same time a license granted at Old Hill. The defendant did not deny the charge; but he urged that he had a right to sell the cider. He had made inquiries of the officers of Excise, and had been told that he could sell under his license at fairs or races. He had sent his man to Wordsley races, but he could not get admission to the course; and he had consequently come to Brierley Hill. The magistrates’ clerk explained that according to the last Act of Parliament relating to the matter, publicans could only sell at races or established fairs. It said nothing about wakes. The Bench told the defendant that he ought to have applied for an occasional license; and they added that if he would consent to pay the costs they would not impose a fine. Defendant agreed to take that course.”

County Advertiser 7/4/1866

“On Easter Monday the Miners’ Independent Order of the Knights of the Wood held their twenty-first anniversary at the house of Mr. Joseph Whitmore, GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill. The members met at ten o’clock, and, headed by the Old Spinners End Band, marched in procession to the Netherton Primitive Methodist Chapel. An impressive sermon was delivered by the Rev. W. Turner, late of Old Hill. The procession was then re-formed, and, after partaking of an excellent dinner, the members enjoyed themselves till a late hour in the manner usual on such occasions.”

County Express 12/1/1867

“Edward Johnson and John Siviter, chainmakers, were summoned by Mr. Joseph Whitmore for wilfully damaging the bar door of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, his property. Complainant was detaining a man named Humphries until the police should arrive, when Johnson broke the door, one part of which was glass, and caused damage to the amount of 15s. Johnson was fined 1s and costs, and 8s damages, or fourteen days. Siviter was discharged.”

Stourbridge Observer 2/2/1867

“At the Old Hill Petty Sessions, on Wednesday last, before E. Moore and F. W. G. Barrs, Esqrs, Joseph Humphries and Joseph Williams were summoned by Joseph Whitmore for assaulting him. Complainant, on being sworn, said: On Monday evening, the 7th January, about half past nine o’clock, in my house, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, I was sent for into a room in consequence of Williams having broken a jug. I said to Williams, ‘I am told you broke this jug; you had better go out.’ He said he would not. He afterwards said he would, and commenced to do so, when Humphries said, ‘Give the b——r a smack.’ He then struck me. I pushed Williams up the room to get him out. Humphries followed me, and struck at me with a jug. He picked up another and threw it at me, and hit some one else. I got them out, but they came in again and went into the kitchen, and said, ‘We’ll have a b—— row tonight.’ I got Humphries in the bar, and sent for a policeman. When I went into the bar again, Humphries set about me again, and I defended myself as well as I could. Mr. Burbury, on behalf of the defendants, cross examined complainant, who said: Williams and another man were fighting when I went into the bar. I was pushed down, and got a black eye by coming into contact with the fender. This was last Monday week. I had my waistcoat on when the man known by the alias of Camp Trot, came in, and did not take it off. I did not take hold of Williams, before he struck me. Henry William Giles, Barney Bagley, and James Plant were called as witnesses for the complainant, and corroborated his statement. Defendants pleaded not guilty. The Bench, however, took a different view of the case, and fined them 2s 6d each and costs; or in default 14 days’ hard labour. One of the defendants, Joseph Humphries, summoned the above complainant, Joseph Whitmore, for assaulting him, and said as follows: On the 7th of January, I was in Whitmore's house. I went in about half past seven o'clock. I paid for a jug of beer, and went into the Music Hall. There were about 50 people there. I saw no jug broken either by myself or Williams, but Whitmore charged Williams with breaking one, and said to him, 'If you don't pay for it I'll put you out.' He beat Williams all the way up the place. We had only one pint of ale between us. He turned to me after he had put Williams out and said, 'You are one of the b—s, and he caught hold of me, dragged me into the bar, and put some one to mind the door while he punched me. He held me up and punched me for a quarter of an hour, and knocked me down several times. There were four or five in the bar, while he was punching me.

On being cross examined by Whitmore, he said that Whitmore did come and order the people out of the house, and put the gas out. Case dismissed."

County Express 27/4/1867

"On Easter Monday last, the Miners' Independent Order of the Knights of the Wood Lodge held their 23rd annual feast at the house of Joseph Whitmore, the GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill. The members met at one o'clock, and partook of the old English fare. After dinner, Mr. Issacher Allport was called upon to preside. The evening was spent in harmony, both vocal and instrumental, by the members, and broke up by ten o'clock, without a jarring word, by singing the old Doxology."

Birmingham Daily Post 9/3/1868 - Correspondence

"The Wrought-Nail Trade. To the Editor of the Daily Post.

"Sir. The nailmakers, after being on strike for four weeks, are about to resume work tomorrow (Tuesday), the 10th instant, at the full price, twenty shillings in the pound; or, in other words, the '64 List.

On Friday, February 28, a meeting was held by the nailmakers' committee, at the CROSS, Old Hill, when an appeal to the masters was drawn up, and deputation appointed to wait on them for signatures, when the following firms signed to give the price – namely, the 1864 List: Mrs. E. Tinsley, Messrs. K. Willits, S. Wilks, Wallins and Foster, R. H. Smith and Co., Homer and Hecton, Jones and Lloyd; Mountford, Homer, and Mountford; Collins and Wallis, O. Shaw, S. Heeley, H. Shaw, T. Bissell, E. Yorke. Some of the masters have not paid the reduction, and those who have paid it and have not signed the appeal we hope they will do the same, as the firms that have signed give the price, namely, the 1864 List. Those firms who will not comply, their hands will be put on strike, and supported by those who are at work.

Joseph Tibbatts, Chairman."

County Advertiser 18/4/1868

"On Monday Mr. E. Hooper, Coroner, held an inquest, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, on the body of James Danks, aged thirty-nine, collier. Deceased was employed at No.20 Pit, Saltwell Colliery, and on Thursday he had occasion to go from the thick coal into the heathen coal. In order to do so he took hold of the pit chain, and was being pulled up. When he got about nine feet from the bottom he lost his hold, and fell to the ground on his head. Assistance was rendered immediately; but the deceased only spoke a few words, and then expired. The Jury found a verdict of Accidental Death; but they coupled with their verdict a censure upon the butty for allowing the deceased to be drawn up from the thick coal to the heathen coal without having a skip attached to the chain, that being contrary to the Special Rules for the regulation of collieries."

County Advertiser 15/8/1868 - Advert

"CROSS INN, Old Hill.

Mr. Joseph Whitmore begs respectfully to inform the public that his £50 Money Club will Recommence at the above house on Thursday, August 20th, 1868. Shares from £5 to £50. Any person becoming a member will much oblige."

Stourbridge Observer 20/3/1869

"On Thursday evening, 11th inst, Mr. E. Hooper, Coroner, held an inquest at the GOLDEN CROSS, on the body of John Thomas Hickman.

On the jury being sworn, it was found that one of them, named Joseph Bannister, had not arrived, and the Coroner fined him £2. Bannister arrived just after the jury had been to view the body, but the Coroner declined to remit the fine.

From the evidence given it appeared that deceased was employed at Mr. Rose's pit, and was helping a man named John Danks, who was getting some hanging coal from a gateway. While so engaged, a piece of coal fell from the roof, causing such severe injuries that he died shortly afterwards.

Verdict, Accidental Death."

Stourbridge Observer 10/7/1869

"A meeting of nailmakers took place on Monday morning last, near the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill, and in point of numbers far exceeded any which has yet been held, showing that a deep impression had been made on the nailers of the neighbourhood by the visit of some of the members of the committee.

Mr. Joe Tibbetts, of Old Hill, who presided, said it was with feelings of delight that he saw so many present, because they had stuck to the promises they had given, and came there that morning to declare that they were determined to strike and help their Bromsgrove brethren. Let them take courage and make up their minds to win, and they were certain to succeed.....

A proposition was then put that no more nails should be made until the masters paid the men 20s to the pound. This was carried by an overwhelming majority....."

Stourbridge Observer 24/7/1869

“A meeting of nailers was held at eleven o’clock, at the GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill. There was nearly 1,000 persons present. Mr. J. Tibbetts presided.

Among the speakers were Mr. Ashfield and Mr. Giles, who attended as a deputation from Bromsgrove. Both speakers said some of the masters in that district had offered to give the full price asked for by the men. The men, however, were very firm, and were determined not to commence work until the whole of the masters would agree to the same.

Other speakers followed, and the meeting was of a very unanimous character. The usual resolutions having been put, every hand was held up to ‘Play on.’”

County Advertiser 14/8/1869 - Advert

“Found, on the 7th inst, near Cradley Heath, a Black Retriever Dog. If not owned in seven days will be sold. Apply at the CROSS INN, Old Hill.”

Stourbridge Observer 21/8/1869

“On Monday morning last, a large meeting of nailers was held near the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill. The meeting was very orderly, though not nearly so enthusiastic as some of the previous meetings.

Mr. Joseph Tibbetts (who presided) said he was glad to see so many present; and at the last meeting he was anticipating that at this meeting he should be able to inform them that the masters had come to terms, and that the strike was over. But, unfortunately, though efforts of the most sacrificing character had been made on behalf of the men, the masters had not at present come to terms, and hence, he was sorry to say, they must still strike on. They had done all they consistently could to bring about a reconciliation, and it was for them to say whether they would strike on, or whether they intended to begin again at the old list.

(We’ll strike till the masters give us 20s to the pound.)

He was glad that they were still determined to strike on, and that they were not disheartened by the long time they had now been on strike. He assured them that the strike must soon be over, and then they would not regret the misery and privations they had endured....”

County Express 15/1/1870 - Advert

“The Engine Tenders of this neighbourhood are hereby requested to attend a General Meeting on Monday Evening next, at Mr. J. Whitmore’s, the CROSS INN, Old Hill, at Half-past Seven o’clock.”

County Advertiser 15/1/1870

“Anthony Willett Jones, chain manufacturer, &c, and Philemon Baker, a clerk in his employ, were summoned to answer something like seven or eight charges, for offences alleged to have been committed at the house of Joseph Whitmore, CROSS INN, Old Hill. Mr. Addison appeared for Whitmore, and Mr. Stokes was engaged for the defence. Before any evidence was taken the Bench and Mr. Stokes expressed an opinion that it would be far the wisest plan for the matter to be amicably arranged. Mr. Whitmore, however, who had been most brutally beaten, objected to any settlement being come to. Some evidence was then taken; but as there are counter-charges, and the whole of the witnesses were not examined on one side, we think it only fair to refrain from publishing the evidence till next week.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 20/1/1870

“At the Police Court yesterday some hours were occupied in hearing the evidence of the different cases arising out of the disgraceful row which took place at the CROSS INN on the 6th instant. As local readers have already been made aware of the circumstances connected with the disreputable affair, we merely give the decisions of the Bench. For refusing to leave the house when requested, Anthony Willett Jones and Philemon Baker were each fined 5s and costs. For assaulting Jones, the landlord Joseph Whitmore was fined 1s and costs; and for inciting Whitmore to commit a breach of the peace, Jones and Baker were called upon to find sureties to keep the peace for twelve months. Mr. Stokes of Dudley, and Mr. Addison, were the solicitors engaged in conducting the case.”

County Advertiser 22/1/1870

“The wages of Colliery Engine Tenders. A meeting of members of the trade from the surrounding district was held on Monday evening last, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill. The meeting was well attended, and the question of wages was discussed at some length. It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that the request of sixpence per day advance upon the present wages was not an unreasonable one; and it was resolved that a general notice should be given on the first Saturday in February, unless the masters complied with the demand. A memorial, it appears, has been sent during the past week to the Chairman of the Coalmasters’ Association, praying that the masters will comply with the wishes of the men; and that any decision they (the masters) came to might be forwarded to the chairman of a meeting to be held by the men on Monday next, at the DOG AND PARTRIDGE public house, Brierley Hill.

On Thursday evening, another meeting was held at Pensnett. The attendance was large, and the proceedings were of the most unanimous character.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 10/2/1870

“At Old Hill Petty Sessions yesterday.....

The remaining charges arising out of the disgraceful row at the CROSS INN were gone into yesterday at the Police Court. Elizabeth Whitmore, who was charged with cutting and wounding John Smith, was discharged. For breaking the window of Joseph Whitmore, John Smith was ordered to pay the amount of damage and costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 23/4/1870

“On Monday last the Miners’ Independent Order of the Knights of the Wood, held their 25th anniversary at Mr. J. Whitmore’s, the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill. The members met at one o’clock, and about 30 sat down to a sumptuous dinner. After the cloth was removed, Mr. E. Haden was called to the chair, and Mr. Thomas Weston to the vice-chair.....”

County Express 25/6/1870

“Alfred Williams, was charged with being drunk and incapable, on the 18th inst. Joseph Whitmore of the CROSS INN, said defendant was in his employ, but he had now discharged him. He was driving home in a cab of the 8th inst, and drove the cab into a cart, although there was plenty of room to pass. He told him of it, but he swore at him, and quite insulted him. Defendant refused to allow him to take charge of the horse. Witness ultimately sent for the police and gave him into custody. He paid him his wages this morning.

Mr. Hingley: Oh you needn’t have paid him wages, he had forfeited them by his disobedience and bad conduct.

Sergeant Powner proved having taken the prisoner into custody on being sent for, by the last witness, at half-past seven on Saturday evening. He was quite drunk at the time. Defendant was fined 5s and costs, or fourteen days.”

Stourbridge Observer 10/12/1870 - Advert

“Notice. Mr. J. E. Whitmore, Having made arrangements with the Great Western Railway Company for a Cab Stand at Cradley Station, begs to inform the Public generally, and Commercial Gentlemen in particular, that he will meet all Trains at the above Station.

Charges strictly moderate.

NB. Horses Let on Hire.

J. E. Whitmore, Proprietor, GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill, near Dudley.”

1871 Census

Old Hill – GOLDEN CROSS

- [1] Joseph Whitmore (40), licensed victualler, born Dudley;
- [2] Elizabeth Whitmore (37), wife, born Scotland;
- [3] Emily Whitmore (12), daughter, scholar, born Dudley;
- [4] Maria L. Whitmore (11), daughter, scholar, born Dudley;
- [5] Thomas Whitmore (10), son, scholar, born Dudley;
- [6] John Whitmore (8), son, scholar, born Dudley;
- [7] James Baker (38), porter, born Buildwas, Shropshire;
- [8] Thomas Price (20), porter, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Ann Poole (23), general servant, born Dudley:

Stourbridge Observer 15/4/1871

“On Easter Monday the members of the Independent Order of the Knights of the Wood held their 26th anniversary at the house of Mr. J. Whitmore, the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill. The members met at nine o’clock in the morning, and proceeded in procession to the Primitive Methodist Chapel, Quarry Bank, headed by the Spinners End Brass Band, under the leadership of Mr. Bennett. They then returned to the Lodge, where ample justice was done to a substantial dinner, provided in a first class manner by the worthy hostess.

After the cloth was withdrawn, Mr. G. Buttery occupied the chair, and Mr. Timothy Priest the vice chair. The usual loyal toasts were drunk, and the proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of the Doxology.”

Stourbridge Observer 29/4/1871

“Phoebe Priest was charged with stealing a half pound of butter, the property of Joseph Whitmore, of the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill, on the 24th instant. William Priest, grocer’s assistant, proved seeing the prisoner go into prosecutor’s shop, put her hand on a dish and take the butter off, and put it in her pocket. He ran across, and accused her of it, when she pulled it out of her pocket.

Mrs. Elizabeth Whitmore, wife of prosecutor, identified the butter as their property.

Police-constable Cox proved apprehending the prisoner, and charging her with the offence. She said, ‘Don’t take me, I will make it up with Mrs. Whitmore.’

Prisoner was committed to take her trial at the next Stafford Sessions.”

Stourbridge Observer 1/7/1871 - Advert

“Car, Cab & Posting Establishment. The CROSS INN, Old Hill.

J. E. Whitmore Begs to inform the Public that he can supply Carriages with Grey Horses for Wedding Parties.

Pair and Four-Horse Breaks, for Picnic and Pleasure Parties, on the Shortest Notice.

Also, Cars, Cabs, Waggonettes, Broughams, Vehicles &c.

NB. Horses to Let on Hire by the Day, Week, or Month.

Orders per Post will receive prompt attention.”

Birmingham Daily Post 30/8/1871 - Correspondence

“The Nail Trade. To the Editor of the Daily Post.

Sir. At a district meeting held at the house of Mr. Richard Tildesley, the OLD LYTTELTON ARMS, Hales Owen, on Saturday, August 26th, it was unanimously agreed to appoint a deputation of two men to solicit the masters in the wrought nail trade of South Staffordshire and East Worcestershire to pay the net list price agreed upon by the masters September 15, 1869, without deduction or deviation. On Saturday next, September 2nd, when the deputation appointed to wait upon the masters will attend an adjourned meeting, appointed to be held at the house of Mr. Joseph Whitmore, the GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill, at six o'clock in the evening, the result of the deputation will be finally discussed. Gentleman of the nail trade, I hope you will comply with our wishes, and give us the net list price of September 15, 1869, so as to prevent a general strike, that would be painful both to masters and men. Think of the great suffering we poor nail makers must undergo during the approaching winter if we are to work at ten per cent off the very low prices of the net list. I humbly appeal to you on behalf of a starving people to give us the price.

Yours truly, John Price. Rowley Regis, August 28, 1871.”

Birmingham Daily Post 6/9/1871 - Correspondence

“The Nail Trade. To the Editor of the Daily Post.

Sir. I beg to inform you that an adjourned district meeting of nail-forgers was held on Saturday last, at the house of Mr. Joseph Whitmore, GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill, for the purpose of receiving the report of the deputation which waited on the masters, and to carry out the resolutions of the former meeting, held at the OLD LYTTELTON ARMS, Hales Owen. The meeting was well attended by representatives of the various districts, and the report was somewhat favourable. Six of the masters have already promised to pay the price on Saturday next. The others do not object; but, on the contrary, most of them sympathise with us, and believe that the trade will allow the net list price of 1869 to be paid. The matter was fully discussed, and we do sincerely hope and trust that by Saturday next the whole of the masters will pay the full list price; and so we shall not be driven to the painful necessity of a general strike.

Yours truly, John Price, District Chairman, Rowley Regis.”

Stourbridge Observer 21/10/1871

“The Miners Independent Order of the Knights of the Wood Lodge, held at Mr. J. Whitmore's, the CROSS INN, Old Hill, gave to the Dudley Dispensary the sum of £2 2s.”

County Advertiser 1/6/1872

“Josiah Marsh, a cab-driver, was charged with assaulting Joseph Whitmore, publican of Old Hill, on the 20th May. The complainant said that on the date referred to he went home and found the defendant, who was one of his cab-drivers, in a state of intoxication. The man used very bad language in the house, and complainant threatened to turn him out unless he chose to conduct himself in a more becoming manner. The defendant became so unruly that complainant was obliged to turn him out. In doing so he knocked the defendant down, upon which the defendant jumped up and ‘punched’ him in return. The complainant also claimed £1 for neglect of work, the defendant having absented himself from his duties for some time after the disturbance. Defendant was ordered to pay a fine of 2s 6d and the costs, or go to prison for 14 days.”

Birmingham Daily Post 5/6/1872

“The Strike in the Brick Trade. At a mass meeting, held at the GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill, on Monday last, it was unanimously agreed that the men to whom the masters had conceded the rise and reduction of hours were to commence work on Tuesday, and that those men to whom the masters had not given the advance should remain on strike till their demands are complied with.”

Birmingham Daily Post 19/7/1872

“A meeting of nailmakers was held at Mr. Whitmore's CROSS INN, Old Hill, on Wednesday, when the following resolution was passed. That it is the opinion of this meeting that we, the nailers of this district, are bound by our social and moral interest to stand by and support the resolution come to by the Committee of the United Nailers' Association, and not resume our labour until the masters reconsider the decision arrived at at Dudley [see DUDLEY ARMS, Dudley], and agree to issue a printed net list conceding the 20 per cent advance on the list of 1869, with the exception of the concessions made with the plate, rivet and spike nailmakers.”

Stourbridge Observer 10/8/1872

“The nailers of Rowley Regis and the surrounding districts held a meeting at Mr. Whitmore's CROSS INN, Old Hill, on Monday evening, to appoint deputations to visit upon three of the nail masters at Dudley, who have paid a reduction of 10 per cent on the 1872 list, and it was agreed that unless those masters gave the price of the above list on Saturday next, the men would strike, and the surrounding districts would support them.”

Birmingham Daily Post 21/8/1872 - Advert

“Brewer Wanted, who understands his business. Constant employment.

J. E. Whitmore, GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill.”

Stourbridge Observer 26/10/1872

“John Johnson was charged with assaulting Elizabeth Whitmore at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, on the 19th inst, and further charged with wilfully damaging some glass. Mrs. Whitmore said defendant was in her house drunk, on the above date. She requested him to leave, when he refused to go, and struck her three times on the face and body, and broke some windows, doing damage to the amount of 4s. For the assault defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs, or 14 days; and for the damage fined 6d, 4s damage, and costs.”

Joseph Whitmore was also a greengrocer. [1873]

County Advertiser 21/6/1873

“John Smith, secretary of a lodge of the Friendly Knights of the Wood Society, held at the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill, was charged with refusing to pay Henry Johnson, nailer, of Old Hill, the sum of 8s due to him according to the rules, for one week’s allowance during sickness. The complainant stated that he had been a member of the club for twenty-five years, and it was enrolled by Act of Parliament. He was taken ill and went ‘on the box.’ He produced a doctor’s certificate and applied to the defendant for a week’s sick pay. Defendant said that he had applied too late, and refused to pay the money.

Defendant: I wish to say he has sued the wrong man. According to the Act of Parliament, 19 Victoria, a sick member must sue.

The Magistrates’ Clerk: There is a latter Act, 21st and 22nd Victoria, which says it shall be sufficient to make the secretary or other officer of the society, at the time the complaint is made, the defendant in such proceeding.

The Assistant Magistrates’ Clerk: The fact is they want to do him out of his pay.

The Bench made an order upon the defendant to pay the amount due to complainant, and the costs.

Defendant (warmly): I will pay the money, but I shall appeal against the decision.”

Stourbridge Observer 6/12/1873

“Samuel Stevens, chainmaker, was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the CROSS INN, Old Hill, when requested, on the 29th ult. Defendant was further charged with wilfully breaking two squares of glass. Joseph Whitmore, the landlord, proved the case, and said defendant insulted his wife. He refused to go, and broke two panes of glass. Defendant was also charged by Inspector Price with being drunk and disorderly on the same date. Police-constable Collier proved the case. Defendant pleaded guilty. For refusing to quit, defendant was fined 5s and costs; for being drunk in the street, he was fined 1s and costs; in default 21 days.”

Stourbridge Observer 21/2/1874

“Elijah Allport was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the GOLDEN CROSS INN, Old Hill. Mrs. Whitmore, the landlady, proved that defendant was drunk and refused to quit the house when she requested him to do so. Fined 5s and costs.”

County Advertiser 14/3/1874

“Alfred Broom, a brewer in the employ of Joseph Whitmore, GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill, was charged with having on the 5th inst, stolen a quantity of liquors, the property of his employer. Mr. Stokes defended.

The prosecutor stated that the prisoner was engaged by him as a brewer. On Friday a quantity of rum, brandy, and whiskey, was missed out of three different casks in the wine cellar of his house.....

Walter Pulley, a horse driver, also in the employ of the prosecutor, said that on the 5th inst he saw the prisoner in the brewhouse. He had a pint cup in his hand containing rum and water, and he asked witness to drink. Witness drank, and the next day he saw prisoner engaged in the cellar. He had a cup in his hand containing whiskey, and he asked him to drink, but he refused. The master then came into the cellar, and prisoner placed the whiskey behind a barrel.

Mr. Cheese, excise man, gauged the barrels, and found four gallons of brandy deficient, nine gallons of rum, and two gallons of whiskey.

Police-constable Cooper said that he apprehended the prisoner and charged him; he said, in answer to the charge, ‘Can they prove I stole it?’ On Monday, as he was taking him to Haden Hill to have him bailed, a woman, a relative of the prisoner’s, said, ‘Alf, however came you to do it?’ Prisoner said, ‘I should not have done it if it hadn’t been for the drink.’ He further stated that ‘He did not sell it, but gave it away.’

Mr. Stokes contended that there was no evidence against the prisoner.

Mr. Barrs, however, adjourned the case for seven days, bail being accepted.”

[The case was subsequently referred to Stafford Sessions.]

Stourbridge Observer 11/4/1874

“At the Stafford Sessions, on Wednesday, before Mr. R. A. Kettle, Assistant Chairman, Alfred Broom, on bail, was charged with stealing, on the 5th of March, a quantity of rum and other articles, the property of Joseph Whitmore. Mr. Kynnersley was for the prosecution; and Mr. Corser defended the prisoner.

The case was that the prisoner was employed by the prosecutor, a publican, at Old Hill, as brewer and cabman, and that he had gained access to the spirit cellar, which was partitioned from the ale cellar, and stolen 7½ gallons of rum, 4 of brandy, and 2 of whisky. The accused had given a quantity of spirits away, and this fact having aroused suspicion an exciseman was sent for, and the casks having been gauged, it was ascertained that the quantities of spirits named had been drawn off. After his apprehension the prisoner said it was through drink he had done it, and if he had known it would come to that (meaning the prosecution) he would have paid for it.

The jury retired to consider their verdict, and after half an hour’s absence returned a verdict of acquitted.”

County Advertiser 11/4/1874

“On Monday the Miners’ Independent Order of the Knights of the Wood Lodge held their twenty-ninth anniversary at the house of Mr. J. Whitmore, GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill. The members met at nine o’clock, and paraded the different neighbourhoods to the Old Hill Tabernacle, when a sermon was preached by Mr. Smart. The procession was headed by the Cradley Heath Brass Band. After service the members returned to the lodge house, where a substantial dinner was provided by the hostess. Mr. W. Morgan, PG, was called to the chair, and the evening was spent very pleasantly. This society subscribes annually two guineas to the Dudley Dispensary.”

County Advertiser 24/10/1874

“The Guest Hospital The secretary, Mr. E. Poole, reported the following subscriptions and donations.....
Mr. J. Whitmore, GOLDEN CROSS, Old Hill, £1 5s 10d.”

County Express 20/3/1875

“Thomas James and Benjamin Pugh were charged with being quarrelsome and refusing to quit licensed premises on the 13th inst. It was shown that on the day in question the defendants were in the house of Mr. Whitmore, the CROSS INN, Old Hill. They were quarrelsome and on being ordered to leave the house refused to do so, but ultimately went. It happened at eleven o’clock at night; the defendants were sober. Pugh went when the barmaid ordered him out. An officer went into the house and the defendants were fighting. James was fined 2s 6d and the costs; and Pugh 5s and the costs.”

County Advertiser 11/9/1875 - Advert

“Old Hill, Rowley Regis.

The CROSS INN and Premises, Nail Warehouse, Six Dwelling Houses, Nailshops, Yards, Gardens and Premises, and Three Lots of Very Valuable Building Land, situate at Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, upon the Premises on Monday, the 20th day of September, 1875, at Six o’clock in the Evening, and subject to conditions then to be produced, embodying the common form conditions of the Birmingham Law Society, the following Valuable Freehold Property.

Lot 1. That Long-established and well-situated Old Licensed Public House, called the CROSS INN, at Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, with Shop, Nail Warehouse, extensive Outbuildings, Stabling, Yard, Garden, and Premises adjoining, and now in the occupation of Mr. Whitmore and the Chapel Trustees, at the yearly rent of £43, the whole containing in quantity 1,300 square yards. The property is well situated for business purposes, and in a very populous neighbourhood.....”

County Advertiser 12/2/1876

“Noah Allport was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the 5th inst. Police-constable Kettle said he had to eject defendant from the CROSS INN, Old Hill, in consequence of his disorderly behaviour. When they got outside defendant challenged him to fight. Defendant was convicted in January, 1875, of a similar offence, and then promised that he would not offend again for twelve months. He now pleaded that he had kept his promise, and said he would not get drunk again for eighteen months. The Bench discharged him with a fine of 2s 6d and costs on this understanding.”

Dudley Herald 26/2/1876 - Advert

“Preliminary Notice. Clearing Out Sale at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, near Dudley.

Mr. John Bent has received instructions, from the Proprietor, to Offer for Sale, the whole of the Excellent Brewing Plant, Copper Boilers, well-seasoned Ale and Store Casks; together with the stock of Ale Casks from the OLD BUSH INN, Dudley.

Full descriptive catalogues will appear in next week’s impression.”

County Express 17/6/1876

“John Carter was brought up in custody, charged with having stolen a glass on the night of the 3rd inst, the property of Jeremiah Westwood, landlord of the CROSS INN, Old Hill. Mr. Hayes appeared to prosecute.

It appeared from the evidence of the landlord, that a man named Powell took a glass containing liquor into the street opposite his house and offered it the prisoner. Instead of prisoner returning the glass he ran away. This was corroborated by Powell. Inspector Price apprehended prisoner, and in answer to the charge he denied that he had the missing glass. It was however found in his possession. Prisoner was sentenced to two months’ imprisonment with hard labour.”

County Advertiser 10/3/1877

“Stephen Farmer, butcher, of Old Hill, was charged by Jeremiah Westwood with having assaulted him on the 27th ult, and also with having been disorderly on his licensed premises, the CROSS INN, Old Hill. Mr. Hayes prosecuted.

The complainant stated that defendant came into his house on the night of the above date, and after being supplied with some ale, commenced using disgusting language. He remonstrated with him, and at length was obliged to order him to leave. Defendant refused to do so, and after witness had sent for the police, he threw him down violently, injuring his back.

Defendant called a witness, who, however, proved the case against himself.

The Magistrates fined him 10s and costs for the assault, or twenty-eight days, and for refusing to leave 10s and costs, or fourteen days additional.”

County Advertiser 17/3/1877

“On Tuesday, Mr. E. Hooper, district coroner, held an inquest at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, touching the death of Isaacher Allport (52), of Elbow Street, Old Hill. Deceased was a collier, and was employed at No.23 pit, Rowley, belonging to the Earl of Dudley. On the morning of the 5th inst, an explosion of gas occurred in that portion of the mine where he was working, and he was very severely burnt. The injuries he received terminated fatally on Saturday morning last. From the evidence offered it did not appear that there was any human cause for this explosion, and a verdict of Accidental Death was accordingly returned. Deceased was a married man.”

County Express 31/3/1877

“John Frost, landlord of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, was charged with having, on the 13th inst, permitted drunkenness in his house. Mr. Addison prosecuted and Mr. Hayes defended.

Police-constable Wickstead said that he visited the CROSS INN at a quarter-to-twelve o’clock on the morning of the 13th and saw Mr. Westwood, the manager of the house, talking to two men on the back premises. On going into the house he found a man named Brassington, who asked witness to drink from a cup which he had. Brassington was drunk, and witness called Westwood’s attention to the man, and said he thought he had had enough to drink. Westwood merely smiled. At three o’clock pm he paid a second visit to the house, and found Brassington still there. He then asked witness to drink from a cup containing ale. Mrs. Westwood, in answer to witness, said that she would ‘see to him,’ meaning Brassington, but he did not leave. On the afternoon of the same day he had occasion to visit the house again, and found Brassington had not left, but was still remaining in the kitchen; and on paying a subsequent visit in company with Police-constable Silvester found the man asleep. Westwood, the manager, ‘slapped’ him on the face and he awoke. Brassington was then drunk, and staggered out of the house. His brother officer, Police-constable Silvester, told Westwood that he should report the case, and in reply the manager said he hoped he would not, as Brassington had not been there above five minutes.

Police-constable Sivester corroborated.

Mr. Hayes, in defence, said that there was an inquest at the house on the afternoon in question, and Westwood did all he possibly could to manage the house. It was a fact that Brassington did visit the house several times, but he should prove that the evidence of the officers was incorrect. In order to constitute a case of permitting drunkenness it was necessary for the prosecution to show that the manager supplied ale knowing a person to be drunk.

Jeremiah Westwood said he managed the CROSS INN for defendant. Wickstead never spoke to him about Brassington until seven o’clock pm. On leaving the house about four o’clock in the afternoon the man appeared to be perfectly sober. He returned about seven o’clock, but witness did not fill him any ale.

William Brassington said that he was at the CROSS several times during the day, and also made a visit at seven o’clock pm when Westwood refused to supply him with ale and requested him to leave.

In the result, the Bench fined defendant 40s and costs.”

Jeremiah Westwood – see also BEE HIVE, Graingers Lane, and RAILWAY TAVERN, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath.

Henry Tope = Henry Tupe

County Express 25/8/1877

“After the business of the Petty Sessions had been disposed of the Annual Licensing Sessions were held. The Black List was first called on, and it appeared that the following were the publicans who had been convicted of offences against the Licensing Laws during the past year.

John Frost, CROSS INN, Old Hill.

License renewed with a caution from the Magistrates.”

County Express 25/1/1878

“Mr. Hooper (Coroner) held an inquest on Wednesday, at the OLD CROSS, Old Hill, on the body of Henry Powell, aged 21, miner, of Garratts Lane, who died from injuries received whilst at work at the Gawn Colliery, belonging to Messrs. Hingley and Son. It was shown that the injuries were caused by accident, and the jury returned a verdict to that effect.”

Birmingham Daily Post 5/6/1878 - Advert

“General Servant Wanted. One from the country preferred.
Apply, CROSS INN, Old Hill.”

County Express 4/10/1879

“An inquest was held by Mr. E. Hooper, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, touching the death of Edgar Mason, aged 1 year and 9 months, of Garratts Lane, Old Hill. Deceased was last seen alive by his mother, on the 25th ult, about two in the afternoon. He left the house, and in about half-an-hour afterwards was found by a person named Noah Hackett lying on his back dead, in an ash-pit in the yard, and was at once taken home. A verdict of Found Dead was returned.”

Dudley Herald 14/2/1880 - Advert

“The CROSS INN, Old Hill. Valuable Building Land, Garratts Lane, Old Hill.

Mr. B. Bellingham (late John Bent and Bellingham) will Sell by Auction, at the House of Mr. Henry Tope, the CROSS INN, Old Hill, on Monday, February 23rd, 1880, Two valuable Lots of Building Land.

Sale will commence at Six o’clock prompt.

For further particulars, apply to Mr. Ernest F. Whitehouse, Solicitor, Dudley; or of the Auctioneer, 205, Wolverhampton Street, Dudley.”

County Express 7/8/1880

“Alfred Charlton, nailmaker, of Halesowen parish, was charged with assaulting Vincent Towers. The complainant, whilst in the CROSS INN, Old Hill, taunted defendant about some horses, upon which the latter struck complainant on the face. In consequence of the provocation, the bench fined defendant 1s without costs.”

1881 Census

Halesowen Road

- [1] Henry Tope (26), licensed victualler, born Morley, Devon;
- [2] Fanny Tope (25), wife, born Devon;
- [3] Agnes Tope (4), daughter, scholar, born Manchester;
- [4] Jessie Perris Tope (1), daughter, born Rowley;

County Advertiser 4/6/1881 - Advert

“Money! Money! Money!

All Persons in want of Money, and those who are desirous to Invest, should join either of the undermentioned Loan and Investment Societies, held at Mr. Thomas Gaunt’s OLD BUSH INN, Powke Lane, Rowley, every Wednesday Evening; at Henry Tope’s, OLD CROSS INN, Old Hill, every Thursday Evening; and at the HOLLY BUSH INN, Mrs. Jane Homer’s, Cradley Heath, every Saturday Evening. No Fines for Non-payment. No Interest to pay.

Business hours from Half-past Seven to Nine o’clock.

Scale of payments.

For a Share of £10 0s 0d. 1s 3d per week.

For a Share of £20 0s 0d. 2s 3d per week.

For a Share of £30 0s 0d. 3s 3d per week.

For a Share of £40 0s 0d. 4s 3d per week.

For a Share of £50 0s 0d. 5s 3d per week.

Registered pursuant to Act of Parliament.

The rules may be seen and every information obtained by applying at either of the above places, or on application to the Secretary, Mr. Isaac Cashmore, Auctioneer and House Agent, Rose Cottages, Rowley Regis.”

Dudley and District News 15/7/1882

“At the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, before H. S. Hickman W. Bassano, and C. Holcroft, Esqs, Moses Rock (treasurer), and Roland Robert Turner (secretary), of the Friendly Knights of the Wood Friendly Society, held at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, were summoned by Mr. John Billingham, of Birch Coppice, Saltwells, a member of the above society, that a certain dispute had arisen between him and the society respecting the amount of his sick allowance, and the said society refused, and still did refuse, to pay him the sum due and payable to him according to the rules of the said society for allowance during his sickness for 49 weeks, from the 25th day of July, 1881, to the 3rd day of July, 1882, and there is now coming to him in respect of such allowance, the sum of £3 9s.

Mr. Cooksey defended, and said he had many objections to raise. One was that Billingham had not proved the registration of the society.

The Bench said it might be taken for granted that the society was registered.

Mr. Cooksey, continuing, said the question the Bench had to consider was whether Billingham was entitled to recover the sum he claimed. The rules of the society formerly provided that the full sick pay should be 8s per week, and the half pay 3s 6d. But at a special meeting of the society in 1879, this rule was unanimously altered to 7s 6d and 3s respectively. At a general meeting, held 27th December, 1880, the rule was again altered, and the full sick pay reduced to 6s per week. The reason why the sick pay had been reduced was because sickness had increased to a great extent, and it being an old society, many of the members were aged and infirm, so that there was too great a drain on the funds of the society to allow the higher rates of sick pay. Mr. Cooksey asked Billingham if when he received the reduced sick pay he ever asked as to the amount, or object to receive either the 6s or the 3s. Billingham replied he did not.

Mr. Cooksey said Billingham had received 49 payments of the reduced sick pay, and had never made a complaint to anyone, not even to the officers of the society, and they knew nothing of the complaint until the present summons was served upon the two defendants. Mr. Cooksey thought the case should be settled by the society, and that the Bench had no jurisdiction in the matter. He asked Billingham if he was present at the general meeting when pay was reduced and whether he received a notice to attend the meeting? Billingham replied he was not at the meeting, neither did he receive any notice of it. Mr. Cooksey contended that Billingham was present, and this he could prove. There were other members present who were receiving sick pay and submitted to the reduction without a word.

Mr. Cooksey called Roland Robert Turner, one of the defendants and secretary to the society, who said he gave Billingham notice of the general meeting, and he was present when the resolution was passed. Not a voice raised any objection against it, and there were about 30 members present, although there were 70 members in the society. He did not give Billingham a written notice, for the rules did not specify that written notices should be given.

Joseph Rock, one of the trustees of the society, said he was present at a meeting held December 27, 1880, when the resolution was passed to reduce the sick pay to 6s. He would swear that Billingham was present, and that he expressed himself to the effect that the club should be wound up.

The Bench said that two witnesses had said that Billingham was present at the meeting when the sick pay was reduced, and he must abide by the resolution, and the case would be dismissed.

Mr. Bassano said it was rarely found that any of the friendly societies were solvent, and in time it would be seen that they were not so.”

Dudley and District News 18/8/1883 - Advert

“Warehouse To Let, (or Stores), situated in a good position in centre of Old Hill, suitable for China, Nail, or Rivet Warehouse. Apply to H. Tope, CROSS INN, Old Hill.”

County Express 3/10/1885

“On Wednesday morning the premises of Mr. Thomas Darby, the CROSS, Old Hill, were discovered to have been broken into. A boy named Thomas Wright, nine years of age, was apprehended on suspicion, and he admitted having broken into the place five or six times before. Mr. Darby refused to prosecute on account of the boy’s age, and he was discharged from custody.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 5/3/1887

“At a meeting of nailers’ delegates, held at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, on Tuesday evening, Mr. J. Price presiding, the following resolution was passed: That, owing to Mr. T. Williams, nail and rivet manufacturer, Halesowen, reducing the nailmakers’ wages another 10 per cent, on Saturday last, we take out the whole of his hands on strike, and that levies be collected in the whole of the nailmaking district to support the operatives on strike.”

Birmingham Daily Post 20/2/1889

“A well-attended meeting of delegates from the nailmaking districts was held at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, on Monday night, for the purpose of considering the wages question, and what action should be taken to secure an advance. After considerable discussion, the following resolution was passed: ‘That at the meeting of masters, held at Birmingham in January, it was understood by the delegates that the meeting was adjourned until February 14 to appoint a permanent chairman, and, as we have not heard of any results from that meeting, this meeting is adjourned until this day fortnight, and in the meantime public meetings be held in the districts to test the opinion of the operatives with reference to giving notice for an advance of 10 per cent, as it now impossible for the operatives to live at the present low prices.’”

Birmingham Daily Post 27/9/1889

“A meeting of miners was held last night, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, for the purpose of determining what action should be taken with regard to the wages question and the Wages Board. Mr. B. Winwood remarked that at a colliery in the Rowley district the miners had experienced great difficulty in obtaining their fire-coal. The meeting had been called for the express purpose of considering whether they should join the Wages Board or the national movement. Trade was now in a flourishing condition, and it was only right that the operatives should participate in its benefits by receiving a higher rate of wages. It was decided to join the national movement, and also take a ballot in the Old Hill district to ascertain the views of the men on the Wages Board.”

Birmingham Daily Post 10/12/1889

“A well-attended meeting of miners was held last night, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill.....
A resolution was passed to give fourteen days’ notice next Saturday for an advance of 10 per cent.
A miner proposed that they support the eight-hours movement independently of the wages question, which was carried unanimously.”

Birmingham Daily Post 13/3/1890

“At the Police Court, yesterday, Thomas Williams, showman, was charged with assaulting the police; and Charles Williams, also a showman, was charged with being drunk, on Thursday. Police-constable Insley deposed to having seen the defendants come out of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, when Charles Williams was the worse for drink. A disturbance took place, and upon going up to the defendant Charles the other defendant became disorderly, kicked and bit him, and endeavoured to throw him down. For the defence witnesses were called to show that the defendants did not assault the police and were not disorderly. The Bench fined Thomas £1 and Charles 13s, including costs.”

County Express 15/3/1890 - Advert

“Cradley Heath, Staffordshire.
Highly-important and Very-valuable Freehold Public House, RED LION INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.
Mr. E. H. Boilstone has been favoured with instructions to Sell by Auction, at the house of Mr. H. Cole, CROSS INN, Old Hill, on Monday, the 31st day of March, 1890, at Six for Seven o’clock in the Evening.....”

Birmingham Mail 11/4/1890

“This morning a large body of miners in the Rowley, Lye, Hales Owen, and surrounding districts, who are out on strike for an advance of 5 per cent immediately and 5 per cent in August, assembled at the CROSS INN, Old Hill for the purpose of discussing their present situation adjourned.”

1891 Census

Halesowen Road – CROSS INN

[1] Henry Cole (30), licensed victualler, born Dudley;

[2] Amelia Cole (27), wife, born Halesowen;

[3] Joseph Henry Cole (3), son, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Martha Ann Billingham (19), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 4/7/1891

“Henry Cole, landlord of the OLD CROSS INN, Halesowen Road, was charged with selling drink to a drunken person on the 20th of June. Mr. Waldron prosecuted and Mr. Chas. Herbert Collis defended.

Mr. Waldron, in stating the case, said a man named Eli Cooksey went into defendant’s house at 9.30 under the influence of drink, and was supplied with one glass of ale and two glasses of whiskey.

Inspector Bishop went to the house at 10.50, and drew the attention of the landlord to Cooksey’s drunken condition. The excuse was made was that the man had only just come in and had not been supplied. There was no denial of drunkenness.

Inspector Bishop, Police-constables Gibbs and Smedley were called in support of the case for the prosecution.

Inspector Bishop in cross-examination was asked if he thought it was right to permit a drunken man to go into a licensed house.

Witness refused to answer the question unless he was obliged, but on being pressed answered: ‘I do. If the landlord is not capable of judging when a man’s drunk or sober he is not capable of conducting a licensed house.’

Mr. Collis, for the defence, said that all the man had to drink at defendant’s house was a bottle of soda water. Continuing, Mr.

Collis said the inspector was greatly to blame when he saw the man Cooksey go into the house for not telling him to go home. It was not right for the police to allow men to go drunk into a licensed house, and then hang about and summon the landlord. When a licensed victualler was doing a brisk business on a Saturday night he could not keep an eye on everyone. If a landlord was reasonably cautious that ought to be sufficient. The police instead of going in for convicting ought rather to assist the licensed victualler. But in this case, as he had said, all that Cooksey had was a bottle of soda water.

Mr. Bassano said as it happened Inspector Bishop advised Cooksey to go home.

Mr. Collis quoted a case in support of his argument.

Mr. Bassano: I don’t think it is any part of the inspector’s duty to prevent a man going into a public house.

Defendant was called and said the man Cooksey, who had been a waiter at his house, asked for a pint of ale. Witness saw he had had enough, and told him so, and gave him a bottle of soda water. Cooksey stopped in the house three or four minutes, and then left. Witness saw the man again at a quarter to eleven when he had just come in. Cross-examined: It was a lie to say that he supplied Cooksey with a glass of ale or two glasses of whiskey. Cooksey was not in the house ten minutes altogether on the two occasions.

Cooksey was called, and swore he had nothing to drink in the defendant’s house except soda water. Cross-examined: He had had plenty of beer, but he thought he was able to stand some more. (Laughter.) He had been convicted of various offences.

Mr. Collis: But you’ve never been convicted of telling a lie. (Laughter.)

Mr. Waldron: I don’t know where we shall get to directly.

Mr. Bassano: This case has the usual feature of difficulty in it. We have oath opposed to oath, and it is only by careful observation and small bits of evidence that one can be guided as to which oath must be believed and which disbelieved. It is quite impossible there could be any mistakes – absolutely impossible that the policeman could be mistaken. They have either come here deliberately to perjure themselves, or else the witnesses for the defence have perjured themselves. There is no question of mistake on either side. We have no doubt on which side the perjury is. Defendant will be fined £5 and costs.

Cooksey, for being drunk on the premises, was fined 5s and costs.”

County Express 11/7/1891

“Mr. Henry Cole, CROSS INN, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, and Mr. Darby, Old Hill, entered into recognisances to appeal at the next Staffordshire Quarter Session against the decision of the magistrates last week, when Henry Cole, was summoned and fined £5 and costs for permitting drunkenness. It will be remembered Mr. C. H. Collis, who defended, raised the question whether it was not the duty of a police officer to prevent a drunken person entering a public house.”

County Express 29/8/1891

“The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis division of Staffordshire were held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

Mr. Waldron (for Mr. C. Herbert Collis, Stourbridge) appeared in support of the application of Henry Cole of the CROSS INN.

Inspector Bishop deposed that Mr. Cole was fined £5 and costs in July, for selling liquor to a drunken person. Nothing else was known against the house. He understood that notice of appeal had been given in the case.

By Mr. Waldron: It was one of the best houses in Old Hill. No complaint had ever been made before or since the conviction.

Adjourned.”

AND

County Advertiser 29/8/1891

“The annual licensing sessions for Rowley Petty Sessional Division were held last Wednesday.....

The magistrates said they were pleased to learn that there had been a decrease in the drunken cases. They then proceeded to consider the ‘black list’.....

Henry Cole, of the CROSS INN, who was fined £5 and costs for supplying ale to a drunken person on the 1st July, 1891.....

applied for a renewal of their licenses through Mr. Waldron, who commented on the respectability of the applicants, and urged that the Bench should not exercise their discretion and take away the licenses because of one conviction..... Adjourned.”

Birmingham Daily Post 17/9/1891

“At the Old Hill Police Court, yesterday, Eli Cooksey, Old Hill, was charged with committing perjury in the court on 1st July. Mr. Waldron prosecuted, and Mr. Collis (Stourbridge) defended.

Mr. Waldron said the case arose out of a summons which came before the Bench on the 1st July, in which Henry Cole, landlord of the OLD CROSS INN, Old Hill, was fined £5 and costs for selling ale to a drunken person, Eli Cooksey, the defendant. Cole called Cooksey as a witness and he swore he went to the OLD CROSS INN about ten o'clock, and was not supplied with any intoxicating liquor, and that when he left at eleven o'clock he was sober. Two officers in plain clothes visited Cole's house, and saw Cooksey come into the house drunk, and he was supplied with whisky. He was now prepared to prove that the defendant was supplied with other ale in the smokeroom.

Mr. Goodman (magistrates' clerk) produced the summonses, and a copy of the evidence which the defendant gave.

Inspector Bishop gave evidence as to seeing Cooksey go into Cole's premises on the day in question drunk.

Police-constables Gibbs and Smedley deposed to seeing the defendant (Cooksey) supplied with ale and whisky by the landlord.

Felix Broughton said the defendant Cooksey asked him to drink out of his cup, which contained ale. Cooksey was not sober.

Samuel Davis, George Nock, and Wm. Goode also corroborated.

Police-constable Lewis deposed to seeing Cooksey come out of the OLD CROSS INN about eleven o'clock very drunk.

There was no defence and prisoner was committed to the Staffordshire Assizes, bail being allowed.

Henry Cole, landlord of the OLD CROSS INN, Old Hill, was charged with committing perjury on the 1st July. The evidence in the former case was repeated. Mr. Waldron prosecuted, and Mr. Collis defended. Defendant was committed to the assizes, bail being allowed."

County Express 3/10/1891

"Old Hill Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

Mr. W. Bassano said the only case in which they proposed not to renew the license was in the case of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, lately kept by Henry Cole. The Bench considered that Cole was not a fit and proper person to hold a license. They did not wish to withdraw the license from the house. Therefore it was for those who represented the owners to consider what steps should be taken in regard to the license.

Mr. Waldron said he had been consulted by the owner, Mr. Darby, and he had also had a consultation with Mr. Collis, who represented Cole, the occupier at the time of the conviction, and what he anticipated happened that morning, and his advice was that a respectable tenant should be provided and placed in possession of the premises before the justices assembled that morning. Certain agreements had been entered into between the parties. The person Mr. Darby had put in was Mr. William Melville McWhirter, of Old Hill, who bore a respectable character, and against whom the police had no objection. He applied for a temporary permit on behalf of the applicant.

Mr. Collis said he raised no objection to that, but he must express his astonishment at the decision of the Bench, as they had no evidence before them.

Mr. Goodman: Pardon me, the evidence was given on the licensing day. Nearly all the magistrates present today were present at the annual sessions.

Mr. Collis said he didn't think that was sufficient.

Mr. Goodman: It makes no difference.

Mr. Collis: There is only one conviction against the house, and there is an appeal against it standing before the Quarter Sessions. After that expression, I shall say no more, and the man will have to go out.

Mr. Waldron: He is out, and we are in possession.

The Bench granted the temporary permit to Mr. McWhirter."

William Meldrum McWhirter = William Melville McWhirter

Birmingham Daily Post 22/12/1891

"At the Staffordshire Assizes, yesterday – before Mr. Justice Day – Henry Cole, formerly landlord of the OLD CROSS INN, Old Hill, and Eli Cooksey were charged with committing perjury at the Old Hill Police Court on July 1. The case against Cooksey was taken first. Cole was summoned before the magistrates for selling drink to Cooksey, who, it was alleged, was drunk. The latter swore that he had had nothing intoxicating to drink in Cole's house, and this was the perjury complained of. Several police-officers and other witnesses swore that they saw him supplied. For the defence a number of witnesses were called, and they each denied that Cooksey was served with drink. He was an occasional potman at the house, and fetched a jug of beer for a customer, but had none himself. The jury acquitted him, and under these circumstances no evidence was offered against Cole."

County Express 5/12/1891

"The Dispute in the Hobnail Trade. A meeting of operatives in the hobnail trade in the Blackheath, Old Hill, and Rowley districts was held on Wednesday at the CROSS INN, Halesowen Road, Old Hill. Mr. W. Hackett announced that all the employers had consented to pay the 1890 list of prices, and a delegate said the advance on present wages would range from 10 to 20 per cent. (Hear, hear.) It was decided to resume work next morning."

County Advertiser 17/2/1894 - Advert

"OLD CROSS INN, Old Hill.

Mr. E. H. Boilstone will hold a Sale by Auction, of Miscellaneous Stock, on Monday Next, February 19th, 1894, at the above Inn, comprising Horses, Carts, Four-wheel and other Dog Carts, Gigs, Sets of Harness, Pianoforte, Sideboards, Engine Pumps, Chaff Engine, Copper Boiler, Quantity of Barrels, Quantity of Iron, Fan, &c.

Special entries: Capital Brown Horse Pony, 13 hands, 5 years old, quiet to ride and drive, pass trams, free and fast; the property of Mr. William McWhirter, Old Hill. Capital Brown Horse, 15 hands, 5 years old, sound, and very fine mover; the property of Mr.

Joseph Cole, of Cradley Heath.

Sale to commence at Two o'clock. Horses will be sold at 2-30.

Auctioneer's Offices: Old Hill, Staffs."

Birmingham Daily Post 16/7/1894

"On Saturday night a meeting of miners was held at the CROSS INN, Old Hill. Mr. B. Winwood (agent) said the Scotch miners' strike was a question of great importance to all miners, whether they were unionists or not, and he argued that the levy of 1s per week per member which had been put upon them was none too much to meet the heavy claim for the support of the strikers....."

County Express 21/8/1897

"The first of what is intended to be an annual demonstration of the friendly societies in the Old Hill district, was held on Sunday, the object in view being to help the funds of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital the day was bright and promising, and there were large numbers of people all along the route.

At one o'clock the 1st Worcestershire Volunteer Band started from the CROSS INN, proceeded across Halesowen Road, calling at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL; then across Lawrence Lane into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the Cross, where the final procession was formed. Meanwhile the Old Hill Brass and Red Band started from the WHITE LION INN, proceeded by way of Powke Lane and Garratts Lane to Wrights Lane (as far as the PRINCE OF WALES INN), and returned to Garratts Lane, calling for lodges at the BRITISH OAK INN, FOX HUNT INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, VINE INN, to the Cross. On the arrival of this contingent a huge line was formed, and very pretty it looked. Members of the various lodges wore their regalia, and these being interspersed with the more elaborate honorary members' scarves, gave the line a very bright appearance....."

County Advertiser 2/10/1897

"The adjourned licensing sessions for Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held on Wednesday at the Police Court, Old Hill, before Messrs. W. Bassano, J. Walker, and G. Green.....

Henry Cole applied for the transfer of the license of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, from Mr. McWhirter to himself.

Inspector Given said the house was badly conducted. Applicant had formerly kept the house, and was fined £5 and costs for an offence against the licensing laws. Since 1892 applicant had kept the BEEHIVE INN, and had conducted that house very satisfactorily, there being no complaint whatever against him. If the Bench granted the application he hoped Mr. Cole would give an undertaking that the house should be properly conducted. The Bench granted the application, applicant giving the required undertaking that he would not have any inducements connected with the house."

William Meldrum McWhirter – see also CROWN, COOKSEY'S HOTEL, WIZARD AND GLASS and CORNGREAVES HOTEL.

Dudley Herald 19/2/1898

"On Monday evening the members of the Snowdrop Lodge of the United Order of Free Gardeners held at the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, were entertained to dinner by the host (Bro. Cole). A capital repast was provided, to which upwards of 50 members and friends sat down....."

County Advertiser 7/5/1898

"Local Miners and the South Wales Dispute.

A meeting was held on Wednesday night at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, when Mr. Winwood presided over a large attendance, and addressed the gathering....."

County Advertiser 27/8/1898

"On Sunday afternoon the annual hospital parade and open-air service, arranged by the various friendly societies in Old Hill and the surrounding district took place. Processions were formed at different points of members of the Foresters, the Free Gardeners, and provident societies, numbering altogether about 1,000, and these, accompanied by the Blackheath, Halesowen Temperance, and Old Hill Bands, paraded the principal streets of the locality, after which they marched to a field in Garratts Lane, lent for the occasion by Mr. A. Sidaway, where a special service was held. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. E. Brewer, MA (vicar of Old Hill), and W. B. Cheshire (Primitive Methodist). A collection was made along the route and at the service in aid of the Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital, this realising £25 14s 5³/₄d.

The following was the order of procession issued by the committee. The Blackheath Village Band will start from the WHITE LION INN, Powke Lane, at 1-45 prompt, proceed down Garratts Lane, calling for societies at the BRITISH OAK INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, and VINE INN, turning across Queen Street on to the old football ground (by kind permission of Mr. W. H. Jarvis). The Halesowen Temperance Band will start from the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, at 1-45 prompt, proceed round Cherry Orchard Street, into Wrights Lane, turning down Wagon Street, calling at the OLD ENGINE INN, proceeding down Elbow Street and King Street, across Halesowen Road, to the old football ground. The Old Hill Band will start from the CROSS INN at 1-45 prompt, calling for societies at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL, proceed across Lawrence Lane, turning up New Street, Ridding Street, Pear Tree Street, Pear Tree Lane, thence into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the old football ground. A grand procession will be formed as follows....."

County Advertiser 29/4/1899

“John Farndon, husband of Amelia Farndon, who holds the license of the OLD CROSS INN, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises on the 14th inst. Mr. Waldron defended.

Police-constable Beach said that he was on duty in Halesowen Road on the night of the date named and visited the OLD CROSS INN on two occasions. The first time he went in he saw defendant on the premises in a drunken condition. He told defendant about his state and defendant said, ‘If I am drunk you are. Take me to a doctor if I am drunk.’ Defendant afterwards went to Dr. Mitchell’s house, but did not see the doctor. Upon visiting the house a second time, witness found defendant still there drunk. Mr. Waldron said his instructions were that defendant was not drunk, but, unfortunately, his witness would not state that defendant was perfectly sober. It was therefore useless calling them and he must leave the matter in the hands of the Bench. A fine of 10s and costs was imposed.”

County Advertiser 2/9/1899

“At the Rowley Police Court, on Wednesday – before Messrs. W. Bassano, J. F. Pearson, and G. Green – John Farndon, Mace Street, Old Hill, was charged that, on the 25th inst, he did assault with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm Emily Amelia Farndon. Mr. W. Waldron appeared for the prosecutrix, and Mr. A. E. G. Pritchard defended.

Mr. Waldron said this case was one of very serious importance to prisoner. The proceedings were taken under section 18, 24 and 25 Vic, chap.100, and this section read ‘Whoever shall unlawfully and maliciously, by any means whatever, wound or cause any grievous bodily harm to any person with intent to maim, disable, or harm any person, shall be guilty of felony, and may take his trial at the Assizes of the county.’ The facts, as he was instructed, disclosed, he regretted to say, very disgraceful conduct on the part of the husband. It appeared that in February of the present year he married prosecutrix who kept the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, and who, he believed, at the time of their marriage, was a widow with two children. Unfortunately the marriage was not a happy one, and there would be ample evidence showing that from time to time he assaulted his wife. The result appeared to have been that on last Monday week they left the hotel, and went to reside in a small house in Mace Street, Old Hill. Last Friday prisoner went from home about six o’clock in the morning, and returned about a quarter to twelve. He lay down about twenty minutes while his wife was busy getting the dinner. After giving the children their dinner she called to him to come to his dinner. Defendant then made use of a foul expression, and came into the kitchen. Now it was important in this case to observe carefully what happened when he went into the kitchen. When he came into the kitchen he took off his coat, and when he had done so he (the speaker) did not know whether it was the heat or intent; they said it was intent to do some harm to his wife – he went to the table and picked up a table knife. He said to his wife, ‘I will kill you, you — cow.’ He then struck at her, and the violence of the blow was such that the knife was broken, and part of it fell upon the floor. The evidence would show that it was a knife which was used, and, accompanied by the expression made use of by the prisoner, there was clearly an intent to maim his wife and to do her grievous bodily harm within the meaning of the section he had read. Prosecutrix then went from the kitchen into the sitting room, where he picked up a bundle of stair rods and struck her across the shoulders, and at the same time using another foul expression. He was not content even with this, but ultimately picked up a lamp, which was on the table, and said, ‘You — cow. I will kill you.’ The prosecutrix then said to him, ‘Don’t throw the lamp; it will make such a mess.’ He did not throw the lamp, which enabled his wife to get out of the house and into the garden. The result of this violence was that the prosecutrix was very much exhausted, and her health and comfort was very seriously interfered with. Information was sent to the police, and prosecutrix was examined by a doctor. Police-constable Plant, accompanied by three other officers, went to the house, and Plant told him he would have to go quietly or by force. The moment prisoner found he had to go to the Police Station he said he would go quietly. Prisoner accordingly went to the station, and Inspector Given charged him with this offence. He invited the Bench to carefully consider the prisoner’s reply ‘I never touched her with it.’ Given only had the end of the knife then in his possession, and the prisoner said, ‘I broke that upon myself.’ If the Bench believed the evidence of the wife and the servant girl, who was in the house when the affair occurred, and whom he should call, there would be no doubt that he committed the offence, and that he knew the serious nature of what had occurred. He (the speaker) supposed prisoner thought that if he told a lie he would have the benefit of it for the moment, and get out of it. It was a matter which could be decided by a jury, and a jury alone, and if that was so, it seemed to him that the offence which he had read from the section was amply made out, and it was their duty to send the prisoner for trial. In the event of the Bench doing so, he should not object to bail, but he asked the Bench to exercise discretion as to the amount of bail they fixed.

Amelia Farndon, wife of the defendant, said they were married on the 8th of February this year, and before that date she was a widow with two children. They had been keeping the CROSS HOTEL, Halesowen Road, until the last week, when they moved to a private house in Mace Street, Old Hill. On Friday last, her husband left home about 6 o’clock in the morning, and did not return till 11.45am the same morning, when he went into the sitting room and lay down for about twenty minutes. When she had prepared the dinner, she called her husband but he did not reply. She went again the second time, when he said ‘I will have no more dinner in that house.’ The two children were of the ages five and eleven years. Shortly afterwards defendant came into the kitchen, and pulled off his jacket, and threw it across the table. He said he would murder her, then rushed at her with a knife, the result being that the knife was broken and one part fell to the ground. He made another rush at her in the doorway between the two rooms, and struck her across the shoulders with some rods, saying, ‘You — cow, I will kill you.’ The next thing he picked up was a table lamp, and was in the act of throwing it, when she said to him, ‘Don’t throw it, or else you will make a mess.’ Defendant did not throw the lamp. After this witness managed to get into the yard, and went straight to the Police Station. She went to Dr. McQueen’s, and he examined her. The doctor examined her again the previous day. She was very much upset, and it greatly interfered with her health and comfort.

Cross-examined: She had not taken any proceedings against him in that Court before. She did not feel angry against him. Witness said he would have to be a very different man before she went to live with him any more. The business at the CROSS HOTEL had been sold to Mr. Farndon’s brother. Defendant wanted his wife to give her £25 out of the money realised from the hotel. On Wednesday she asked her husband to go down to Tannton to fetch the children back. She gave him 25s, and he brought her the change, which she said he could keep to buy him some shoes with, but he refused to accept it. On Thursday he went out and did not return till after eleven o'clock, when he brought another man with him named Joseph Perkins. She complained to him about coming in late, when he said he had been across to help his brother, who was a stranger to the place. Witness said he could never be at home now, but when they lived at the CROSS he was always stuck at home. He was in an awful temper when he struck her with the knife.

Lily Brettell, domestic servant, for the prosecutrix, gave corroborative evidence of what occurred.

Dr. McQueen said that when prosecutrix went to him she was in an extremely excited condition, and trembled so much that she could hardly speak. There was a small incised wound about three quarters of an inch long on her right thigh, which was skin deep. The dress was not cut through. The knife produced was such as would be likely to cause the wound. It was more breaking of the skin than a cut, and indicated that a considerable amount of force must have been used. He found bruises.

Cross-examined: The injury was never dangerous.

Police-constable Plant said he apprehended the prisoner at the CROSS HOTEL.

Inspector Given said that when he charged the prisoner he replied, 'I never struck her in my life. I broke it upon myself.' Witness had a part of the knife at the time. At the same time prisoner showed witness a small cut on his hand. Witness examined the stair rods, and found a patch of blood on one of them.

Cross-examined: Prisoner did not say that he had broken the knife in catching it against his thumb.

The Bench committed the prisoner for trial at the next Stafford Assizes, and Mr. Pritchard intimated that prisoner would reserve his defence. Bail was accepted, the prisoner in £300, and one surety of £150."

Staffordshire Advertiser 2/12/1899

"Staffordshire Autumn Assizes.

John Farndon the prosecutrix said the wound on her thigh was a very slight one, and since the affair she had been living with her husband The jury, by his Lordship's direction, returned a formal verdict of not guilty, and in discharging the accused the Judge said he hoped there would be no renewal of ill-feeling, and told the prisoner to bear in mind that it was his wife who had got him out of the trouble."

County Express 28/7/1900

"On Wednesday night a meeting in connection with the Miners' Federation of Great Britain was held at the CROSS, Old Hill, when addresses on organisation, and various points interesting to miners were given by Mr. B. Winwood and Mr. Albert Stanley. Speeches by the same speakers at Lye the previous night are reported elsewhere."

A bagatelle license was granted on 26th September 1900.

County Advertiser 1/12/1900

"The Lock-out in the Tube Trade. On Monday afternoon a meeting of the men who have been locked out at the Lion Works, Old Hill, by their employers, Messrs. Lloyd and Lloyd, in consequence of their decision to join the union, was held at the CROSS INN, Old Hill. Mr. T. Sitch presided, and condemned the action of the employers, but said the only thing they could now do was to make the best of a bad job. It was an unfortunate time for their lock-out, owing to the depression in the tube trade. Mr. J. Smith also addressed the meeting and at the close a considerable sum was distributed in relief."

County Express 8/12/1900

"Another meeting of the locked-out men at Old Hill was held at the CROSS INN on Monday. A few of the men have gone to other situations, but a considerable number are still out.

Mr. James Smith, who presided, said Mr. Jones, their secretary, informed him that a few of the men had gone to work at other trades, and others at the old shop. So long as trade was so depressed, he did not see any possibility of the thing being ended. All they could do was to repeat the advice given on previous occasions and hope that in future they would be able to make a better fight of it. The federation would do all they could to support the men, either in getting fresh situations or in getting them back at the old place....."

1901 Census

55, Halesowen Road

[1] Frederick Farndon (26), licensed victualler, born Milverton, Warwickshire;

[2] Logine F. Farndon (27), wife, born Kingsbury, Warwickshire;

[3] Oswald F. Farndon (1 month), son, born Old Hill;

[4] Catherine Trickett (19), servant, born Longton, Staffordshire:

County Express 8/6/1901

"The delegates appointed by the friendly societies of the district held a meeting on Wednesday evening at the CROSS INN, to make arrangements for the annual parade in August. The resignation of the secretary (Mr. L. H. Flemmings) who inaugurated the parades, was accepted with regret. The following officers were elected: Chairman, Mr. D. Blunt; vice-chairman, Mr. Philip Simpson; secretary, Mr. G. Creswell; assistant secretary, Mr. John Darby; treasurer, Mr. A. E. Sidaway."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 31/10/1901

"An ex-publican named John Farndon, at Rowley Regis yesterday was fined 20s for being drunk and disorderly. Defendant disputed the evidence of the police, and stated a surgeon tested him in walking and in reading a newspaper, and declared him to be sober.

He did not produce the surgeon as a witness.”

County Advertiser 19/9/1903

“Joseph Smith, haulier, of Salop Street, Oldbury, was charged with having no light attached to his vehicle on the night of the 9th inst. Police-constable Horne stated that he saw defendant’s horse and trap standing outside the CROSS INN, Old Hill, on the night in question. There was no light on the vehicle. Defendant pleaded that he was under the impression that when a vehicle was not being driven no light was necessary. The horse was standing outside the public-house, and was in charge of a lad. The Bench fined defendant 10s, including costs.”

County Advertiser 15/12/1906

“An application was made by Phoebe Hartland, of the CROSS INN, Old Hill, for permission to make alterations in connection with the out-door department at the public house. This was granted.”

County Advertiser 29/12/1906

“Sick and Draw Clubs.....

The Old Cross Club, held at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, had a supper and a smoking concert on Saturday evening. Mr. J. B. Well- ing presided, and a successful year was reported. The dividend was 9s 6d per member.....

At all these meetings the chairmen, the secretaries, the auditors, and the hosts and hostesses were formally thanked, and besides the speeches there were songs. All seem to have spent convivial evenings.”

County Advertiser 9/2/1907

“On Tuesday night, Mr. E. O. Nightingale conducted a sale by public auction at the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, and offered up a valuable freehold out-door beerhouse in Holly Bush Street, Cradley Heath, and a house adjoining, which produced £11 1s per annum, but when the bidding amounted to £685 the properties were withdrawn.”

County Advertiser 8/3/1907

“On Tuesday night a smoking concert for the benefit of Mr. A. Adams who had been unable to follow his employment since December 18th last on account of injuries he sustained, was held at the OLD CROSS INN, Old Hill. Mr. B. Bennett presided. A capital programme was gone through, the artistes being Professor Dudley, Messrs. Sam Johnson, S. Evans, W. King, J. Collins, B. Booker, C. Rudge, F. Evans, and D. Hill. Mr. Dingley officiated as accompanist.”

County Advertiser 30/3/1907

“The coming of age of Mr. Harry Darby, younger son of Mr. Thomas Darby, of the Beehive Corn Mills, Old Hill, and Corngreaves Brewery, Cradley Heath, was celebrated by a dinner at the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, on the evening of the 21st inst. Dr. Tibbetts kindly consented to take the chair, and on behalf of the staff hands and workmen gathered together to do honour to the occasion, presented to Mr. Harry Darby a handsome combined dressing case and travelling bag, suitably inscribed, together with an illuminated address. This was duly acknowledged, and afterwards a very enjoyable evening was spent, the company breaking up at 12pm.”

County Express 15/5/1909

“On Tuesday at an auction at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, two newly erected freehold houses situated in Clifton Street, Old Hill, producing £28 12s were sold for £407. Messrs. Thomas Cooksey and Co. were the solicitors in the matter; auctioneers, Messrs. Fleming and Son.”

County Express 12/2/1910

“On Wednesday the annual general licensing sessions for the Old Hill petty sessional division were held at the Police Court..... The Bench sanctioned structural alterations being made at the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, and the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

The Era 19/10/1910 - Advert

“Wanted, Experienced Operator and Manager, with modern outfit, for gas and electric; must understand management and advertising, open Dec. 5. Ray, CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, near Birmingham.”

1911 Census

55, Halesowen Road – CROSS HOTEL

- [1] Charles Hartland (66), assisting in business, born Birmingham;
- [2] Phoebe Hartland (44), wife, married 16 years, hotel proprietress, born Birmingham;
- [3] William A. Prees (22), step-son, draughtsman, National Telephone Co. Ltd, born Birmingham;
- [4] Phoebe Mary Prees (19), step-daughter, assisting in business, born Birmingham;
- [5] Dorothy Caroline Hartland (14), daughter, born Aston, Worcestershire;
- [6] Harriett Perkins (20), general domestic servant, born Netherton;
- [7] Annie Hartland (4), grand-daughter, born Birmingham;

West Bromwich Weekly News 29/3/1913

“The Coroner (Mr. G. C. Lewis) held an inquest at Old Hill, on Tuesday, on John Payne (67), nailmaker, of no fixed abode, but a native of Blackheath, who was found hanging in an outhouse at the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, on March 21st. The evidence showed that Payne was for a time an inmate of the Workhouse Infirmary at Stourbridge, and was under the impression he would be taken back to the Union. On March 21st he met a woman named Ellen Jones, to whom he said he would hang himself rather than go back to the workhouse. Two hours later he was found hanging in an outhouse at the CROSS HOTEL. The jury returned a verdict of Suicide during Temporary Insanity.”

Evening Despatch 11/8/1915

“At an inquest held by Mr. G. C. Lewis, county coroner, at the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, the question of payment of juries was raised by Mr. Ambrose James, a member of the jury, who asked if the Coroner could give them any idea when payment would be made in Staffordshire. The Coroner said he supposed it was most like other things, they would have to wait until the war was over.”

A team from here took part in the Langley and District Bowls League. [1916]

Dudley Chronicle 17/11/1917

“Last Friday evening the distribution of prizes won by various clubs of the Langley Bowling League took place at the headquarters, QUEENS HEAD, Londonderry (Host Mr. Wheatcroft). The President (Mr. W. G. Holland) occupied the chair, and a very good company was present. The evening was enlivened by songs by members of the league, including Messrs. F. Weston (Old Hill CROSS), Siviter, and Jasper. Mr. J. Smith was the pianist.

Hill and Cakemore Liberal Club were presented with the cup The BARREL, for the second year, secured the spoon.....”
[Old Hill CROSS were runners-up.]

Dudley Chronicle 9/10/1930

“The following licence transfers were granted.....

CROSS INN, Old Hill, from Frederick Weston, deceased, to Lilian Weston.”

Dudley Herald 17/1/1931

“There was a large gathering at the weekly meeting of the Samuel Lodge of the R.A.O.B. at the CROSS HOTEL, on Thursday evening of last week. Bro D. Shaw, KOM, was in the chair, and following the business meeting, the usual entertainment was given, items being contributed to the programme by Bros. W. Walker, KOM, C. Ellis, F. Jackson, S. Darby, and H. W. Evans, KOM.”

Dudley Herald 30/5/1931

“Brother Potter, CP, presided at the weekly meeting of the Samuel Lodge R.A.O.B. held at the CROSS HOTEL on Thursday of last week. Songs were contributed by Brothers Shaw, Nock, Ellis and J. Y. Jackson.”

1939 Register

Halesowen Road – CROSS HOTEL

[1] Frederick Cooper, date of birth 27/8/1901, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Florence Cooper, dob 27/12/1901, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[4] John Frederick Cooper, dob 27/11/1935, under school age, single:

Frederick Cooper was fined £13 and £4 4s 0d costs for two cases of supplying intoxicants during prohibited hours; he was fined £2 for permitting drunkenness, and £2 for obstructing the police on 1st October 1941.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 2/10/1941

“Three men were fined at the local police court yesterday following a midnight incident at OLD CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, when, it was alleged, police officers were defied and obstructed.

Frederick Cooper, the licensee, was fined a total of £19 for refusing to admit police officers to his premises, for supplying intoxicating drink and aiding and abetting its consumption after hours, for permitting drunkenness on licensed premises, and for obstructing the police.

Sidney Stewart Downing, aged 40, of New Road, Halesowen, was fined £16 for aiding and abetting Cooper in supplying drink and permitting drunkenness, for consuming drink after hours, for being drunk on licensed premises, for obstructing the police, and for being drunk and disorderly.

Herbert Sidney Massey, aged 36, of 32, Perry Park Road, Blackheath, was fined £14 for failing to immobilise his car, for causing obstruction with the car, for aiding and abetting Cooper in supplying, for consuming drink after hours, and obstructing the police. Each defendant was ordered to pay five guineas special costs.

It was stated that seeing a car outside the hotel at 12.3am, two police officers entered in spite of Cooper's efforts to prevent them, and there found the other defendants. Downing, it was stated, drew himself three glasses of beer and drank them in defiance of the police.

The defence was that Downing and Massey did not arrive at the hotel until after 10 o'clock and did not pay for drinks, but were the guests of the licensee.”

Frederick Cooper – see also RING O’BELLS, West Bromwich.

A team from here took part in the Cradley Heath Domino League. [1960]

Closed

It reopened as SAMUELS in 1983.

Sandwell Evening Mail 28/1/1986

“One of the Black Country’s oldest pubs has reopened after being saved from demolition by two businessmen with a £50,000 face-lift. The century-old VICTORIA pub near Cradley Heath’s speedway track at Dudley Wood closed more than a year ago because of its crumbling condition. Now businessmen Michael Billingham and Stan Owen, who have interests on Old Hill’s SAMUELS INN, have reopened the pub after buying it from Banks’s, the brewery firm, and spending £50,000 on remedial work.....”

[1990]

It was destroyed by fire.

Demolished in the late 1990s.

CROSS GUNS

59, Newtown Lane, (59, Bannister Street), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd.

LICENSEES

Thomas Barnsley [1851] – [1862]

Rowland Barnsley [1862] – 1870;

Richmond Barnsley (1870 – [1872])

Richard Barnsley [1873] – [1881]

Robert Barnsley [1887] – [1900]

Joseph Dudley [1901]

Thomas Perks [] – 1904;

John Percival (1904 – 1905);

Reuben Chapman (1905);

John Richard Homer (1905 – [1909])

NOTES

59, Newtown

59, Newtown Lane [1881], [1891]

59, Bannister Street [1901]

Thomas Barnsley = Thomas Barnesley

1851 Census

New Town

[1] Thomas Barnsley (48), gun barrel maker, born Rowley;

[2] Nancy Barnsley (43), wife, born Oldswinford;

[3] Robert Barnsley (14), son, born Rowley;

[4] Eleanor Barnsley (16), daughter, born Rowley;

[5] Ryland Barnsley (9), son, born Rowley;

[6] Ann M. Barnsley (6), daughter, born Rowley;

[7] Richmond Barnsley (1), son, born Rowley;

[8] Joseph Foxall (18), nephew, gun barrel borer, born Kingswinford;

[9] William Edge (23), son in law, gun barrel grinder, born Rowley;

- [10] Mary Ann Edge (22), daughter, born Rowley;
- [11] Ann Maria Edge (2), granddaughter, born Birmingham;
- [12] Tom Edge (1), grandson, born Birmingham:

County Advertiser 2/7/1859

“A serious affray took place on Saturday night last between one of the constabulary force stationed at Cradley Heath and two brothers named Roland Barnsley and Ryland Barnsley, chainmakers. It appears that about nine o’clock on the evening in question Police-constable Burnet was sent to the quell a disturbance at the CROSS GUNS public-house, New Town, Cradley Heath, kept by Mr. Thomas Barnsley, the father of the two men above-mentioned. On arriving there he saw Roland Barnsley stripped to his shirt fighting with a man in the passage of the public-house. There were forty or fifty persons assembled in front of the house, and the policeman, who was not in uniform, remained outside amongst the crowd about ten yards from the door. After being there nearly ten minutes, Roland Barnsley came out, together with the other man with whom he had been fighting, and the policeman then interfered. Roland asked him what he wanted there, and struck him or attempted to strike him, when the policeman at once pulled out his staff, and began to use it most unmercifully upon Roland’s head. He inflicted three frightful scalp wounds, and completely stunned him by the blows, and the people around commenced hooting ‘murder.’ Ryland Barnsley here went to his brother’s assistance, and struck the officer a severe blow on the head with a pair of tongs, which were broken by the force of the blow. The people around also tried to get at him, and finding he was being set upon by the crowd, Burnet took to his heels and made his escape.

Today the two Barnsleys were summoned before the magistrates for assaulting the police in the execution of their duty. Mr. Burbury appeared for the accused, the one who had been so brutally struck upon the head with the staff being accommodated with a seat in Court during the examination. In cross-examination Burnet said that Roland Barnsley struck him several blows with his fist previous to his using his staff, and that he did not know he was empowered to call upon anyone to assist him. He had only been in the force about four months, and did not recollect being instructed to that effect. The policeman called a witness named Raybould to prove the assault upon him; but his evidence was of a very contradictory nature, and did not coincide with the statement of complainant. Three witnesses were called for defendant, and Mr. Burbury, in addressing the Bench, said the officer had greatly exceeded his duty, and there was not the slightest pretence for using his staff in the manner he had done. If the injuries received had proved of a fatal nature, the policeman would have been indicted for murder. He contended that no assault had been proved, and asked the Bench not only to dismiss the case, but also to impress upon the police the necessity of exercising a proper judgement in the discharge of their duties.

The Bench retired to consider their decision, and on their return said they considered the assault proved in both cases. In the case of Roland Barnsley they considered that the police had used too much violence, and the officer was certainly in the wrong in using his staff in such a manner; but nevertheless he was in the execution of his duty, and it was wrong for Barnsley to attack him. Under the circumstances they should inflict upon him the nominal penalty of 6d and costs. In the other case, in which the tongs had been used upon the officer’s head, they should inflict a fine of 10s and costs.

Mr. Burbury said he wished it to be known that they should take proceedings against the policeman in the County Court for damages. The Bench said they likewise wished it to be known that they did not approve of the policeman’s conduct in using his staff in such an unwarrantable manner.

The case excited much interest in the crowded court.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 31/8/1859

“On Friday afternoon, Mr. Thomas Barnsley, CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, provided a feast, free of expense, for chainmakers now on strike, and to which 120 sat down. After all had dined well, sufficient remained to supply a hundred more living in the neighbourhood. After the cloth had been removed the Chairman (Mr. S. Stringer) proposed the health of the host and hostess, the toast being drunk with loud applause. Mr. Barnsley, in responding to the toast, said he had always been a working man himself, and should always give them his cordial sympathy when they tried to better their conditions.”

Thomas Barnsley was also a gun barrel maker. [1861]

1861 Census

New Town

- [1] Thomas Barnsley (58), gun barrel manufacturer, born New Town;
- [2] Nancy Barnsley (53), wife, born Hill Hole, Worcestershire;
- [3] Ryland Barnsley (17), son, gun barrel maker, born New Town;
- [4] Ann Mary Barnsley (14), daughter, scholar, born New Town;
- [5] Richmond Barnsley (11), son, scholar, born New Town;
- [6] Thomas Edge (11), grandson, gas boy, born Birmingham;
- [7] Jane Smith (19), general servant, born Lye Waste;
- [8] William Edge (17), grandson, gun barrel grinder, born New Town;
- [9] Thomas Leib (?), lodger, tailor, born Birmingham:

Rowland Barnsley was also a gun barrel maker. [1864], [1865], [1868], [1870]

Richmond Barnsley was born in 1849.

He married Sarah Jane Hatton (born 1851).

1871 Census

New Town – CROSS GUNS public house

- [1] Richmond Barnsley (21), publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sarah Barnsley (20), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Caroline Barnsley (5 months), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Ann Hatton (24), domestic servant, born Lye:

Stourbridge Observer 22/7/1871

“Arthur Tromans was charged by Alfred Baynham with assaulting him on the 8th instant.

Complainant said he lived at New Town, and on the above date he went into a public house. Defendant wanted to make a wager about singing. Defendant would not put any money down, and complainant’s brother said he ought to be ashamed, when he said he would knock his brother’s head off, when complainant said if he did so he would have to pay for it. Defendant then struck off at him, and hit him several times, and knocked him down. His ears were bleeding.

John Baynham, brother of complainant, corroborated him.

Defendant called Thomas Brettell (17), who said he was singing at the CROSS GUNS, New Town, Cradley Heath, on the above date. Complainant went into the kitchen and threw his money on to the table, and wanted to stake money to fight. He did not see the defendant strike complainant.

Fined 6d and costs; in default 14 days.”

Stourbridge Observer 4/7/1874

“Joseph Homer was charged with stealing two boots on the 17th ult, the property of Richard Barnsley. Mary Ann Barnsley, said she was in the CROSS GUNS Public House, when she saw the prisoner put something under his coat and conceal it. She informed the landlady of it. Ellen Barnsley, wife of the prosecutor, proved that the boots were stolen, and the two odd boots were near the prisoner.

Richard Barnsley said that from information received he took out a warrant to apprehend prisoner, but before it was executed prisoner said he would buy him a pair of boots to make it right about the others. The police were sent for, and prisoner apprehended. Solomon Poole, broker of Dudley, said that the prisoner brought two odd boots to his shop, and offered them for sale. He did not buy them.

Prisoner pleaded guilty, and said he was very sorry.

Sentenced to 3 months hard labour.”

County Advertiser 25/3/1876

“William Homer was charged with being drunk upon licensed premises, in the occupation of Richard Barnsley, on the 18th inst, and also with refusing to quit the same when ordered to do so by the manager. Ellen Barnsley said her husband kept the CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, Cradley. On the day named defendant came to her house and made a disturbance. She ordered him to leave, but he refused, and she had to send for a policeman.

Police-constable Cooper said he ejected defendant from the house.

Defendant was further charged with being drunk and disorderly in the public highway. Fined 2s 6d and costs in each case.”

1881 Census

59, New Town Lane

- [1] Richard Barnsley (28), clerk at gun barrel works, born New Town;
- [2] Ellen Barnsley (29), wife, born Old Hill;
- [3] Caroline Barnsley (7), daughter, scholar, born Old Hill;
- [4] Rowland Barnsley (4), son, scholar, born New Town:

Robert Barnsley = Robert Barnesley

County Express 9/4/1887

“Samuel Heath and Noah Dunn, chainmakers, New Town, Cradley Heath, were charged with assaulting Eli Foley, chainmaker, of the same place, on the 29th ult. Mr. Waldron defended.

Prosecutor said that at nine o’clock on the morning in question he went to the CROSS GUNS INN, New Town, to have his breakfast, and there found defendant, who used blackguardly language to him, and said that if they had a — rope they would hang him. A man named Garratt who was also in the house, went to the landlord and endeavoured to get a rope, but failed. Heath then said, ‘We will buckle our — straps together and hang him,’ but it was found that the straps were not long enough to effect this object. Heath then struck him on the eye, causing blood to spurt out, and Dunn afterwards set about him. In cross-examination prosecutor said a dispute arose as to the wages for which he was working.

Mr. Waldron: Then Garratt could not get a rope and you were not hung? – Prosecutor: No, sir.

For the defence two witnesses were called who said the prosecutor first struck Heath, and a fight followed.

The case was dismissed.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 8/10/1887

“Robert Barnesley of the CROSS GUNS, Cradley Heath, was charged with selling intoxicating liquors during prohibited hours on the 2nd inst.

PC Wickstead gave evidence to seeing Joseph Edwards and Joseph Smith in the house with rum drinking.

Defendant said it was a relative, and he had no intention of breaking the law.

A fine of 20s and costs was imposed.”

County Express 15/10/1887

“Samuel Edwards (44), chainmaker, New Town, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk on licensed premises on the 2nd inst, known as the CROSS GUNS INN, Cradley Heath. Police-sergeant Hayward said he saw the defendant at the CROSS GUNS INN with a glass of rum before him. He was helplessly drunk. The defendant was fined 5s and costs.”

County Express 1/9/1888

“The annual licensing session took place at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

The names of the following appeared on the black list, and were dealt with as follows.....

Robert Barnesley, landlord of the CROSS GUNS, fined £1 and costs for selling rum during prohibited hours. Inspector Walters said that since the applicant had been summoned he had conducted the house fairly well. The Bench said that it was the first time, and they would not say anything about it, and he must be careful in future. The license was granted.”

1891 Census

59, Newtown Lane

[1] Robert Barnesley (56), publican, born Dudley;

[2] Sarah Barnesley (60), wife, born Dudley;

[3] Kate Barnesley (18), daughter, barmaid, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Beatrice Grice (12), granddaughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Pollie E. Cooper (18), niece, born Dudley;

[6] Elizabeth Hingley (42), widow, visitor, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Henrietta Hingley (18), visitor, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 25/5/1895

“A Raid On Publicans.....

Robert Barnesley, landlord of the CROSS GUNS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with unlawfully allowing gambling to take place on his premises on the 29th ult. Mr. Waldron appeared for the police, and Mr. Ward for defendant.

Mr. Waldron detailed the facts given below, and said that the landlord just before eleven o'clock said, ‘Now lads, it is just on the mark, be quick over it.’ There could only be one inference, he submitted, to be drawn from that language, viz, that the landlord knew what was going on, but it was immaterial in this case as the landlord was bound by the acts of his servant, and they would hear that his servants were in and about the room. If he proved these facts, he submitted that it was a clear case, and one which ought to be punished as the Bench thought fit.

Police-constable Rixson, stationed at Kinver, said on the 29th ult he was sent on special duty to Cradley Heath, and about 9-25 visited defendant’s house, accompanied by Police-constable Woodcock and a man named Badger. Witness went into the tap room, in which there were fourteen persons. At a quarter to ten four of the men agreed to play ‘tippet’ for half a gallon of ale, and the two losers paid for the ale. Four other games were then played, and money was handed over. Defendant’s grandson supplied the ale, and he could hear and see what was going on. Shortly before eleven o'clock the men decided to play for a shilling, nine up, as time was short, and during the progress of the game defendant came to the door and said, ‘Now lads, it is just on the mark, be quick over it.’ The score was being marked with a piece of paper and a pencil by a man at the end of the table. There was another waiter who helped in the serving.

Police-constable Woodcock said he went into the house at 9-30, and corroborated the last witness. The landlord went in and out of the room several times.

George Badger corroborated.

Mr. Ward was not going to say that tippet-playing was not going on, but he urged that it was done without the knowledge or connivance of the defendant. Further, one witness said the landlord only came to the door, and another said he walked round the room, and that was a severe discrepancy. The house on this evening was very busy, and the defendant would not be able to hear any noise from the tap room, especially as he was informed that tippet was a quiet game, such as would not draw his attention to the men. It was near closing time, and defendant doubtless merely meant that it was nearly time for them to go, and they must finish whatever they might be doing. He thought, under the circumstances, that justice would be well met by the payment of costs. Mr. Bassano remarked that Mr. Ward appeared to forget that there were two waiters, one of whom was experienced.

Mr. Ward, after some further conversation, called the landlord, who said that he had no knowledge of tippet being played. If he had known he should have stopped it at once.

The Bench considered Barnesley’s case a very bad one, and fined him £5 and costs, and endorsed the license.”

Birmingham Daily Post 26/9/1895

“The Old Hill adjourned annual Licensing Sessions were held yesterday. Mr. Waldron applied for a renewal of the licenses to Robert Barnesley which were adjourned from the annual licensing day. Mr. Bassano asked how the houses had been conducted in the meantime, and Inspector Given replied that everything had been satisfactory. The licenses were renewed.”

Robert Barnesley was also a brewer.

1901 Census

59, Bannister Street – CROSS GUNS INN

[1] Joseph Dudley (54), publican, born Old Hill;

[2] Jemima J. Dudley (29), wife, born Old Hill;

[3] Mary Dudley (1), daughter, born Old Hill;

[4] Sarah Turley (30), unmarried, sister in law, born Old Hill;

[5] Constance E. T. Turley (20), unmarried, sister in law, born Old Hill:

County Express 6/4/1901

“Joseph Dudley, landlord of the CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness and selling intoxicating liquor to a drunken person, on March 14th. Mr. Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. Ward defended. Briefly the facts were that soon after nine o’clock in the evening Police-constable John Dale found in the tap-room a company of men, among whom was the landlord, Joseph Dudley. There was singing going on, and a great noise being made. His attention was particularly drawn to a man named Priest, and another man whose name he had not been able to ascertain, and it was apparent they were both in an advanced state of drunkenness. Dale went away to communicate the facts to his superior, Police-sergeant Pitcher, but some time elapsed before he found him. They returned together to the house at 10.30 and found Priest still sitting among the other customers, but the other man had gone. Police-sergeant Pitcher called the landlord’s attention to him, and the defendant replied that he had only been there for about two hours. Priest then got up to go out, but he had to support himself by the table. Before going he drank the ale in his cup.

Police-constable Dale, Police-sergeant Pitcher, and Police-constable Wright gave evidence in support of the charge.

Mr. Ward, for the defence, submitted that there was nothing in Priest’s condition to indicate it to the landlord. The landlord had only been in the house three months, and he was hardly accustomed to the class of business there, as it was in a rough neighbourhood. Priest sat quietly in the house, and there was nothing to show the landlord that he was in the condition stated by the police. The defendant then gave evidence. He admitted the man had been in the house three hours on the night in question. Since witness had been in the house he had tried to keep it in good order, and he denied that he had been warned by the police as to his method of conducting it.

Mr. Ward had intimated that he would withdraw his plea of not guilty, and plead guilty.

The Bench said they thought he had adopted a wise course, as from what the defendant had said in the witness box they thought it almost their duty to endorse the license. They wished that advocates would realise more in these cases that the witness they brought often only served to prove the incompetency and unsuitability of a landlord to keep a public-house. They fined the defendant £5 and costs on the first charge, solicitor’s fee being allowed, and the second charge was withdrawn. They would not endorse the license.

Joseph Priest, of Bannister Street, Cradley Heath, was fined 10s and costs for being drunk on the premises. Defendant called a number of witnesses to prove his innocence.”

County Express 10/8/1901

“David Perry, chain manufacturer, of Baxter Street, Cradley Heath, appeared to answer a charge brought against him of unlawful assault by a former employee of his, William Henry Willetts, a chainmaker, aged 19. Mr. Waldron defended.

Willetts said on July 30th he went into the CROSS GUNS INN, Cradley Heath, and found defendant there. Defendant asked him to go down to the shop to see some chain which he (witness) had made formerly, and said he would give him a quart of beer if he would. He accordingly went to the shop with Perry, who, on getting into the chainshop, locked the door after them, saying ‘Now you can see the chain.’ Witness did not know whether it was chain he made, but while he was bending down looking at it, Mr. Perry put it round his neck and snatched it up, lifting him off the ground. The chain ran over a pulley. Mr. Perry then went and unlocked the door again, and called one of his workmen (Mr. Bushell) in to look at the chain, and then when he had done examining it and was washing his hands in the ‘bosh,’ Mr. Perry again put the chain round witness’s neck, and pulled him off the floor a second time. Bushell interfered, and, putting his weight on the chain let him down. The chain had made marks round his (witness’s) neck, and hurt him very badly; he could not work all the week afterwards. In cross-examination Mr. Waldron asked if complainant had not been working for defendant for a time when the latter was ill, and some of the chain he made was sent to Messrs. Holt and Willetts, and thence to Russia, from whence it was sent back again, being badly worked, the defendant in consequence losing £8 16s 9d? – Defendant: I can’t tell sir; he did not tell me so.

Mr. Waldron: When Elan Barnsley, your fellow workman said at the CROSS GUNS that you had told him that you had purposely made the chain bad, and Mr. Perry charged you with it, did you not call him a — liar? – Complainant: No, Sir.

Mr. Waldron: Did your master say when he told you to look at the chain, that you ought to be hung? – Complainant: Yes, and he would have hung me if Bushell had not been there.

William Wiggin, a youth in Perry’s employ, deposed to seeing through the chainshop window the whole that passed at first between Perry and Willetts. When Perry put the chain round Willetts’ neck, the latter resisted and struck him twice. In cross-examination witness said Perry simply put the chain round Willetts’ neck.

Jabez Bushell, next called, said he was in the CROSS GUNS on the 30th, and heard the argument between Perry and Willetts, and he followed them to the chainshop some two minutes after they left. When he got there the door was fastened, but defendant, who had seen him pass the window, unfastened it, and asked him to come and look at the chain. Witness immediately pulled the chain off him – it was tight round his neck – and said to defendant. ‘If I’m agen’ thee, I would pull thee over.’ Perry had again locked the door and the key was taken out, but he unlocked it again and Willetts went away. Perry was not drunk. Cross-examined: He did not think the lad was hurt particularly; he saw the mark of the rust on his neck.

Mr. Waldron, for the defence, admitted Perry put the chain round Willetts's neck. The affair, he said, arose in this way. Perry, who had for 30 years done work for Messrs. Holt and Willetts, some little time ago-employed complainant, in making 5-16 and 5-8 chain, and on one piece of 5-16, as stated, Perry had lost £8 16s 9d, and on another piece of 3-8 had to pay £5 9s because of Willetts's bad work. Elan Barnsley on the 30th, while in the CROSS GUNS INN with defendant and complainant, charged the latter with having purposely made the chain bad. The two went out together to see the chain, and the defendant, aggravated by complainant's manner at the inn, and to frighten him, put the chain round his neck. He had no wish to injure him.

Mr. Bassano said it appeared evident to him Perry had employed the boy Willetts to do a man's skilled work for him. The lad was utterly incompetent to do it, and then Perry was angry because his shoddy work was rejected, and he had to suffer for it. What surprised him was that Messrs. Holt and Willetts did not test the chain before sending it over to Russia. Doubtless the lad deserved a shaking for his bad work, but Perry should not have given way to his impulse, and done as he did. He did not think the case called for a very heavy penalty, so Perry would be fined 10s and costs, 14s 6d in all."

Thomas Perks = Thomas Parks

County Advertiser 9/1/1904

"Thomas Parks, landlord of the CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, Cradley Heath, was summoned for permitting drunkenness upon his premises on the 19th ult. Mr. J. W. Clulow prosecuted, and Mr. W. Waldron defended.

Mr. Clulow explained that at 10.45 on the night in question Police-constable Foulkes and Smith visited defendant's house, and in the kitchen found a man named Andrew Edge in a drunken condition sitting at a table. Police-constable Foulkes called the attention of the landlady to the man's condition, and she replied, 'It's nearly closing time.' The man could scarcely stand, and he was locked up by the police.

Evidence was given by Police-constables Foulkes and Smith in support of this statement.

Inspector Hodgkinson and Police-sergeant Pitcher stated that when the man was in the cells he was drunk.

For the defence, Mr. Waldron denied that Edge was drunk, and asserted that the police had acted in a very unreasonable manner in taking the man into custody. He also contended that they were not justified in apprehending Edge. A club was held at the house, and Edge was a member of it. He should be able to prove, by a large number of witnesses, that Edge was perfectly sober, and he hoped that such a doubt would be raised as to justify the magistrates in dismissing the case.

A number of witnesses were called, but the Bench, after a short consultation, decided to convict, and fined defendant £5 and costs, amounting in all to £8 3s 6d."

County Advertiser 13/2/1904

"The annual licensing sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday, at the Police Court.....

The Black List. Superintendent Johnson stated that he had given notice to oppose the renewal of the following licenses, on grounds of a conviction against the house.....

CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, Cradley Heath, kept by John Percival.....

The case of the CROSS GUNS was taken first, and Superintendent Johnson stated that he opposed the renewal of the license upon the grounds that it was not required, that the house was so constructed as to make it difficult to supervise, that the house was of a disorderly character, and that the following convictions had been recorded against it: 6th January 1904, £5 and costs for permitting drunkenness, 3rd April 1901, £5 and costs for permitting drunkenness, and in 1893, £5 and costs for permitting gaming, and the license endorsed.

Inspector Hodgkinson said the house was situated upon the Worcestershire boundary, and that it was one of the worst houses in the division for the police to supervise. There was only one entrance, whilst other parts of the premises opened into the private workshops. The house was also in a dilapidated condition, and in its present state unfit for a licensed house.

Mr. Waldron, who represented the landlord of the house, said it was a very old house, and he urged the Bench not to think of confiscating the license, and pointed out that the Government were about to make new proposals regarding the licensing question.

Eventually the Bench consented to renew the license upon condition that structural alterations were made to the premises to the complete satisfaction of the police, and within a period of three months."

County Advertiser 17/12/1904

"Sanction was given to John Percival, landlord of the CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, Cradley Heath, to make alterations at the premises in order to increase the living accommodation."

County Advertiser 7/10/1905

"An application was made for the transfer of the license of the CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, Cradley Heath, from Reuben Chapman to John Richard Homer. The outgoing tenant was not present, and it was explained that he was in Wales, but that a letter had been received from him consenting to the transfer. The magistrates, however, decided to have the application in better order, and adjourned it for a week. They also directed that the outgoing tenant should be present."

County Advertiser 16/12/1905

"Licensing Business.....

In the case of the CROSS GUNS, Newtown, Mr. Bassano pointed out that the house had a bad record and that the ingoing tenant must carefully conduct it. If it came before the Bench again they would probably take another course from that previously taken."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 8/2/1906

“The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held yesterday.....

The Chairman said in addition to the licenses mentioned by Superintendent Johnson, the magistrates had decided that notices of objection be served upon the holders of the licenses of.....

CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, on the ground of redundancy, and the objections would be dealt with at the adjourned licensing sessions.”

County Advertiser 10/3/1906

“The adjourned annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday.....

Mr. Bassano said the bench had under consideration the nine houses, five of which were objected to on the ground of convictions and four others on the ground of redundancy. It had raised a very large question, and the magistrates had had before them the consideration of the parish as a whole. He threw out a suggestion to the trade and owners that the matter should be considered from their point of view during the next twelve months. The magistrates would be prepared to consider any counter proposition that might come from the brewers which could be laid before them next year. In order to simplify the proceedings that day the following licenses would be renewed.....

CROSS GUNS INN, Newtown, Cradley Heath.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 21/2/1907

“James Sidaway, a chainmaker, was yesterday fined by the Cradley Heath magistrates 20s for refusing to quit and disorderly behaviour in the CROSS GUNS INN, New Town.”

County Advertiser 30/3/1907

“The coming of age of Mr. Harry Darby, younger son of Mr. Thomas Darby, of the Beehive Corn Mills, Old Hill, and Corngreaves Brewery, Cradley Heath, was celebrated by a dinner at the CROSS HOTEL, Old Hill, on the evening of the 21st ult. Dr. Tibbetts kindly consented to take the chair, and on behalf of the staff hands and workmen gathered together to do honour to the occasion presented to Mr. Harry Darby a handsome combined dressing case and travelling bag, suitably inscribed, together with an illuminated address. This was duly acknowledged, and afterwards a very enjoyable evening was spent, the company breaking up at 12pm.”

It was referred to the Compensation Authority in March 1908.

Tipton Herald 13/2/1909

“.....On the ground of it being structurally unfit, the Superintendent objected to the renewal of the license of the CROSS GUNS, Newtown, kept by Mr. John Richard Homer. Mr. W. F. Taylor appeared for applicant.

Inspector Needham said the house was in a dilapidated condition, it was in a tumble-down condition, and the business was being conducted in an adjoining wooden structure.

In answering Mr. Taylor, the Inspector said he had nothing to say against the business carried on there, and he had no objection to the pavilion. Some time ago the house was mentioned as redundant.

Mr. Taylor said he was not in a position to give an undertaking that the house would be re-built within the next 12 months, even if the license were renewed. They had hoped that by this time the land had settled, but it had not, and as yet it had not been considered prudent to re-erect. All he could ask the Bench to do was to renew the license for another 12 months, and if in the meantime they did not consider it prudent to re-build, he would give the Bench an undertaking not to ask for a renewal next year.

The Chairman said in accordance with their policy of necessary reduction, that was one of the houses the Bench decided on last year. They refused to deal with it, however, at Stafford, on the ground of redundancy, and intimated that the magistrates could deal with it structurally. If the Bench were to allow houses which were structurally deficient to be rebuilt they would get no further with the question of reduction of licenses, for as soon as a house was said to be structurally unfit, application would be made to effect improvements. They regretted that they could not see their way to renew the license. Their refusal was on the ground of structural deficiency.”

It was mentioned in Bennett's Business Directory for 1911-12.

CROWN

127, (104), Graingers Lane / Cradley Road, (Five Ways), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1896)

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1909)

LICENSEES

Joseph Archer [1850]
Israel Worton [1866] – [1870]
Erskine Worton [1871]
Israel Worton [1872] – [1896]
John Jones [1891] – [1892] manager
James Shalor [1891]
Frank Gower [] – 1900)
John Percival [] – 1903);
James Johnson (1903 – []
John Gregory [] – 1905);
James Hiram Robbins (1905 – []
James Johnson [1908] – 1923);
Edward Gough (1923 – 1924):

NOTES

104, Graingers Lane [1881]
127, Graingers Lane [1904], [1911], [1912], [1924]

OLD CROWN [1925]

Joseph Archer, beer retailer, Cradley Heath. [1850]

Israel Worton = Israel Wharton = Israel Whorton

County Advertiser 25/8/1866

“Rowley annual licensing meeting was held yesterday.....
The following are the new applications and their results.....
Israel Worton, CROWN beerhouse, Cradley Heath, refused.”

Stourbridge Observer 17/8/1867

“On Monday evening a numerously attended meeting of the horse nail makers of this neighbourhood was held at the house of Mr. Israel Worton, CROWN INN, Five Ways. Their object in meeting together was to establish an Union among them, their old Union having for some time ceased to exist. There was no particular business transacted, owing to the absence from home of one of the chief employers of this locality, whose opinions on a certain point, it is necessary they should understand.”

County Advertiser 31/8/1867

“The Annual Licensing Meeting.....
There were thirteen applications for spirit licenses.....
The applications of Israel Worton, Cradley Heath were granted.”

County Advertiser 1/2/1868

“On Wednesday evening, about 160 gallons of excellent soup was given away to poor people, at the CROWN INN, Cradley Heath. The meat (120lbs) was given by Mr. Lloyd, butcher, and the vegetables by Mr. I. Worton. We understand that next week a second distribution will take place at the CROWN INN, the expense of which will be defrayed by persons in the immediate neighbourhood.”

Birmingham Daily Post 15/9/1868 - Advert

“Capital Corner Spirit Vaults and Tavern. The CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, near Railway Station, doing one of the largest and most profitable trades in the district. In-coming £450.
Apply, Roderick and Son, Birmingham.”

County Advertiser 27/7/1869

“Charge Of Refusing To Support A Mother.
On Wednesday, at the Old Hill Police Court, before Messrs. Moore and Barrs, Israel Worton, licensed victualler, Cradley Heath, was summoned on the charge of the above nature.
The relieving officer put in a certificate from Dr. Malins, showing that the woman had been suffering from pleurisy; and the officer further stated that a surgeon had called his attention to the case, alleging that the woman was not having the common necessities of life. The amount given in relief was 4s.
The defendant asked the officer to name the latter medical gentleman spoken of.
The officer replied that it was Mr. Hodgson.
Defendant said, in the first place, Mr. Hodgson had made the statement purely through paltry spleen. Such statement was without a shadow of truth. His (defendant's) mother was a housekeeper, and a married brother lived with her, and paid one-half of the housekeeping expenses. Besides this, she had three or four lodgers, who each paid her 2s 6d a week, and she frequently earned as much as 10s a week in assisting at confinements. He had frequently told her she could live with him, and that there was a comfortable home for her at his house for the rest of her days. His mother had never been refused anything by him; in fact, she has whatever she liked from his house and grocery shop, and he had often been imposed upon by articles being fetched away and given to other members of the family. He indignantly denied that his mother had ever been in want; and he must say that, under such circumstances he thought it extremely hard he should be summoned to a public court on such a disgraceful and unfounded charge. Defendant called upon his brother's wife to say whether his mother had ever been without food. This woman replied that she had not.

The Bench said that relief had been given, and defendant must refund the amount with costs. They should also make an order for him to pay 1s 6d a week for the next month."

County Advertiser 28/8/1869 – Advert.

"Wanted, a respectable industrious Girl-Of-All-Work, with good character. Apply to Mrs. Worton, CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath."

Israel Worton was also a grocer. [1868], [1870], [1872]

1871 Census

Cradley Road – CROWN INN, Five Ways

- [1] Erskine Worton (34), married, publican and grocer, born Dudley;
- [2] Ishmiel Worton (12), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Clara A. Worton (10), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] David Tite (45), visitor, labourer, born Halesowen;
- [5] Bella Swindell (34), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Reuben Worton (3), visitor, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Hannah Darby (21), visitor, born Quarry Bank;

Stourbridge Observer 19/8/1871

"Early on Monday morning Cradley Heath was all astir and hundreds of persons could be seen wending their way towards the Five Ways to witness the procession of Foresters, which was announced to take place that day. The weather being fine thousands of persons were present to witness the procession through the various streets. Ten o'clock was the appointed time for starting, but it was nearly half-past eleven before they got away, owing to their having to wait for some of the Courts from a distance.

The various Courts assembled at the Five Ways, and then formed themselves into order of procession. The following Courts were represented: No.3068, Hope and Anchor, QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Street, Cradley Heath; No.3595, Cable and Anchor, BIRD IN HAND, Cradley Heath; 4127, Good Samaritan, BEEHIVE, Corngreaves Road, Cradley Heath; 4196, Foresters' Home, VINE AND RAILWAY HOTEL, Cradley Heath; 4233, Loyal Shenstone; 4340, Loyal Marlborough, COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill; 4398, Moss Rose, ROYAL OAK INN, New Town; 4546, Robin Hood's Merry Rangers, CROWN INN, Five Ways; 4970, Lye Reformed, WINDMILL INN, Lye. Although the district of Cradley Heath and Halesowen comprises 36 Courts, only nine took part in getting up the Fete.

The procession started from the Five Ways, headed by the Cradley Heath Brass Band. The Pensnett Victoria Brass and Reed Band and the Halesowen Drum and Fife Band also took part in the procession. Each band played lively quick steps passing through Lomey Town, Five Ways, Four Ways, Reddal Hill, Old Hill, and Haden Hill, en route for Halesowen, passing through the principal streets and then to the Leasowes. The procession was three-quarters of a mile in length, and was accompanied with three magnificent banners bearing suitable mottoes of the Order, and a large number of flags, the members wearing the various badges of the Order, and accompanied by Robin Hood, Little John, Will Scarlet, Friar Tuck, Shepherds, &c, &c.

On arriving at the beautiful and classic grounds, famed as having been the seat of the poet Shenstone, the procession passed round the house of B. Gibbons, Esq, who had kindly placed the whole of the grounds at the disposal of the Committee.....

There was a number of shooting galleries, Aunt Sallys, and other things to amuse all classes. During the day a number of balloon ascents took place.....

It is estimated that between six and seven thousand persons were present, upwards of £100 being taken at the gates, and it is expected there will be a good surplus in aid of the funds of the Order and General Hospital.

We must not close without a word of praise to the Committee, who were indefatigable in carrying out the arrangements according to the programme. The refreshments were provided by Mrs. S. Cartwright of Cradley Heath, and the tea and confectionery by Mr. J. Corns of Wolverhampton."

County Advertiser 19/10/1872 - Advert

"Wanted, a respectable Servant Girl. One capable of assisting in a bar. Apply to Mrs. Worton, CROWN INN, Five Ways Cradley Heath."

Stourbridge Observer 4/1/1873

"Charles Evans, porter, was charged with stealing a quantity of rum, the property of Israel Wharton, landlord of the CROWN INN, Cradley Heath, on the 25th ult. Prosecutor said defendant had been in his employ five weeks. On the above date he went down the cellar to stoup a Barrel of ale, when he found a bottle of rum which was placed behind the barrel. He watched the cellar, and about half past eight he caught the prisoner with the bottle in his possession in the gangway. He took hold of him and brought him up the cellar, and sent for a policeman. The rum was worth 1s 6d.

Police-constable Collier said from information received he apprehended the prisoner and charged him with stealing a quantity of rum, the property of Israel Wharton. He said, 'I did steal it.'

Prisoner pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one month hard labour."

County Advertiser 4/9/1875

"Israel Worton was charged with having, on the 24th ult, assaulted Richard Province. The complainant stated that the defendant had promised him a present of a gold scarf-pin, and on the day in question he reminded him of his promise. Defendant then became angry and struck him several times. A cross-summons charged Province with assaulting Worton. Complainant came into his house and used abusive language. He tried to eject defendant, when he struck him several times and bit him on the leg. He then gave defendant two or three 'good hot ones.' There was a charge against Province for refusing to quit Worton's house, the CROWN INN, Five Ways, and he was fined 2s 6d and costs. The other summonses were dismissed."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 6/8/1877

"On Saturday afternoon an inquest was held before Mr. Hooper at the CROWN INN, Five Ways, on the body of Thomas Charles Gibbs (39), grocer.

John Grainger said that he last saw Mr. Gibbs alive at a quarter-past eleven on Wednesday night. He then appeared cheerful and healthy, and made arrangements to go with witness on the following day to Birmingham. During the night he was called up, and he ascertained that Mr. Gibbs had died very suddenly. The wife was very ill and much distressed, and was taken to her mother's. The Coroner said Mrs. Gibbs was in such a sad condition that, if possible, he should avoid calling her as a witness.

Ann Garratt said that immediately an alarm was made the servant went for her, and she was the first to enter the chamber. She found Mr. Gibbs quite dead. He was a good husband and father.

Mr. H. R. Kerr, surgeon, said he had been the medical attendant of deceased for about five and a half years. At 2.45 on Thursday morning he found deceased in bed and examined him carefully. He found no external marks of violence. His impression was that Mr. Gibbs had died from some heart affection. He had no moral doubt that it was spasm of the heart which caused instant death. The neck having become dark was an indication of it. Deceased was a strictly steady and sober man and very regular in his habits. A verdict of Died from Natural Causes was returned."

County Advertiser 6/10/1877

"Conservative Association. A preliminary meeting for the purposes of forming a Conservative Association was held under the auspices of the Stourbridge Constitutional Association at the house of Mr. Israel Worton, CROWN INN, Five Ways, on Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance. Deputations were present from Stourbridge, Brierly Hill, and Cradley. Mr. Dunn presided....."

County Advertiser 17/11/1877 - Advert

"Valuable Life Interest in Shops and Premises, Cradley Heath.

To be Sold by Auction by Messrs. Rollinson and Beckley, on Thursday, the 4th day of December, 1877, at the house of Mr. Israel Worton, Cradley Heath, at Six o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions....."

County Express 23/3/1878 - Advert

"Sale of Ironmongery at Cradley Heath.

Mr. S. Leonard will Sell by Auction, at the CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, This Day (Saturday), March 23rd, a Lot of General Ironmongery, comprising Saucepans, Pots, Kettles, Tin Cans, various sizes; Oil Cans, Boxwood and Steel Rules, Candlesticks, quantity of Cutlery, Iron Bedsteads, Perambulator, and a variety of useful and miscellaneous Articles, belonging to a party giving up the business, and which has been removed to the above Inn for convenience of Sale.

Sale at Six o'clock in the Evening."

County Advertiser 6/7/1878 - Advert

"Wanted, a good General Servant, from 20 to 28 years of age. A good character indispensable.

Apply, Mrs. Worton, CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath."

County Express 5/10/1878

"A meeting of the members of the Conservative Association was held on Tuesday evening last, at Mr. David Bridge's, New Town. There was a capital attendance, and several members were enrolled.....

After the transaction of some formal business, it was decided to hold the first annual meeting and dinner at Mr. I. Worton's, CROWN INN, Five Ways, on Monday, December 30th."

County Express 20/3/1880 - Advert

"General Election. Meetings of the Conservative Electors of Quarry Bank and Cradley Heath will be held on Monday Evening, March 22nd, at the ROYAL OAK INN, Quarry Bank, Chair will be taken at 6.30; and at Mr. Israel Worton's, the CROWN INN, Cradley Heath, Chair to be taken at 8.

Alfred Waterman, Esq, will Address the Electors."

County Advertiser 31/7/1880 - Advert

“Wanted, a General Servant; age 20 to 25 years. One from the country preferred. Apply, in the first place, CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 5/3/1881 - Advert

“Worton's Music Hall of Varieties, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.

Proprietor Israel Worton.

On Monday, March 7th, 1881, and for Each Evening during the Week.

Important Engagement and First Appearance at this Hall of Mr. Tom Beaumont, England's Greatest Acrobatic Negro Comedian, Big Boot, Song, and Dance Artists, Stump-speech, Patter Vocalist, &c.

N.B. The only Artiste that Turns Back Somersaults in Big Boots.

Special Engagement and First Appearance at this Hall of Miss Beatrice Irving, the new refined Serio-comic, Ballad Vocalist, Dancer, &c.

Great success and last Six Nights of Mr. Percy Della, Comic Character Vocalist, &c.

Re-engagement for Six Nights longer, in consequence of a great success, of Miss Lizzie Wright, Serio-comic and Ballad Vocalist.

Immense Success and last Six Nights of Miss Ettie Parole, Serio-character and Dancer.

Pianist, Jabez Bloomer; Cornet, Joseph Westwood; General Manager, Ishmael Worton. No Charge for Admission.”

Ford's Household Almanack 1881 - Advert

“Israel Worton, horse dealer, CROWN HOTEL Music Hall, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.

A Talented Company! Appears at this Hall every Evening.

Ales, Wines, & Spirits, of the Best Qualities. Cigars of the Best Brands.”

1881 Census

104, Graingers Lane

[1] Israel Worton (44), licensed victualler and horse dealer, born Cradley;

[2] Erskine Worton (46), wife, born Dudley;

[3] Ishmael Worton (22), son, horse breaker, born Rowley;

[4] Benjamin Tipton (22), hostler, born Chester;

[5] Margaret Cafferty (18), domestic servant, born Stourbridge:

Dudley and District News 10/6/1882

“The following persons, all of Cradley Heath, were charged by Mr. John George Horder, one of her Majesty's Inspectors of Weight and Measures, with infringing the Act.

Israel Whorton, licensed victualler, Five Ways, was charged with selling beer which he measured in an unstamped measure. Fined 1s and costs.”

County Express 10/3/1883

“At the Dudley County Court, yesterday afternoon, George Willetts, Matthew Bennet, and Benjamin Cole, all of Deepfields, Sedgley, were sued by Israel Worton, licensed victualler, Cradley Heath, for £43, the value of a horse which was killed in the Eagle Road, Netherton, on the 30th of September last.

It was shown that the defendants, when driving up on the left hand side of the road, drove into the plaintiff's horse and killed it.

The defence was that they were on the right side of the road. The judge, however, held that the defendants were on the wrong side of the road, and gave a verdict for the plaintiff for the amount claimed with costs.”

Birmingham Mail 16/6/1883 - Advert

“Butcher Wanted for pork and beef trade; must understand the pork trade in all its branches.

Apply to Mr. J. Worton, CROWN HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 17/11/1883

“Alice Beasley, Cliff Street, Stourbridge, was charged with stealing 6s 6d the money of Israel Worton, landlord of the CROWN INN, Cradley Heath, on the 13th inst.

Mr. J. Wright prosecuted, and said that for some time past prosecutor had been missing money, and on Saturday last Mrs. Worton marked some coins and placed them in a till. On Tuesday she charged prisoner with stealing some of the coins, and on making her turn out her pockets found in a purse three of the marked coins – one half crown and two florins. The charge was pressed, as prisoner had been in a confidential position, and money had been so frequently missed.

Evidence to this effect was given by Mrs. Worton, who said when she charged prisoner she admitted taking the money, and asked to be forgiven.

Prisoner pleaded guilty, and was fined 40s or one month's imprisonment.”

County Advertiser 24/5/1884

“A Local Breach Of Promise Case.

The plaintiff in this case was Jane Jukes, a young woman (23), who brought an action against Ishmael Worton, to recover damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage. A writ was issued against defendant in February last, in answer to which he neglected to appear, and in judgement was obtained by plaintiff by default. The plaintiff then took out a writ of inquiry to assess the damages payable by the defendant to her. This writ was executed before the under-sheriff and a jury of twelve at the Shire Hall, Stafford, on Tuesday last. Mr. R. E. C. Kettle (instructed by Mr. W. Waldron, Brierley Hill) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Thomas Homer (Brierley Hill) for the defendant.

Mr. Kettle, in opening the case, said the plaintiff was a single woman, living with her parents at Oldbury, near Birmingham; and the defendant was a horse dealer, living with his parents at the CROWN HOTEL, Cradley Heath. The plaintiff claimed damages for the breach by the defendant of a promise to marry her. In the month of August, 1881, plaintiff was engaged as barmaid at the house of defendant's parents. After the plaintiff had been in their service for about a month, defendant began to pay her some attention, which very soon ripened into courtship. Defendant bought plaintiff an engagement ring which he presented to her, and he afterwards asked her to become his wife. Preparations were made for the wedding, and the banns were published at Rowley Church. It appeared, however, that the match was very distasteful to the defendant's parents, and plaintiff was suddenly dismissed by the defendant's mother. Plaintiff went to live with her parents, and defendant still continued to court her, but the marriage did not come off in accordance with the publication of the banns. In a letter, dated 5th March, 1882, which defendant wrote to the plaintiff on the eve of his going to Welshpool Fair, he told her he should like to have seen her that night, as he felt lost without her. He further told plaintiff in the letter that he did not care how soon the time came, as he thought the time was a long while going. He supposed it was not seeing her. The letter concluded by thrice wishing 'my love' good night, and by defendant telling plaintiff that he should think of her when he was in Wales. A number of crosses followed, and an intimation that defendant would be back the next night. The defendant, continued Mr. Kettle, last saw the plaintiff on the Friday night before last Christmas, and the next the plaintiff heard of the matter was that on the 25th January this year defendant had married some one else. Plaintiff was called and bore out the opening statement, and was cross-examined by Mr. Homer. The cross-examination was directed to show that plaintiff was not a barmaid but simply a domestic servant in the employ of defendant's parents, and that she knew defendant had no means of his own, and was wholly dependant upon his father. This, however, the plaintiff denied. Mr. Homer then addressed the jury in mitigation of damages. The smallest coin of the realm he argued, would be sufficient to give to plaintiff, inasmuch as it had not, as he contended, been proved that the defendant had means of his own. The Under Sheriff having summed up, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for £36."

County Advertiser 26/7/1884 - Advert

"Cradley Heath Grand Fete and Gala.

Will take place at Old Fields, near the New British Iron Company's Works, kindly lent by Mr. David Bridge (the best that has been seen for many years), on Bank Holiday, August 4th, 1884.

The Cradley Heath Brass and Reed Band, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Westwood, will be in attendance, and play some of the most popular Music of the day.

The Cradley Hand-Bell Ringers will be in attendance under the direction of Mr. C. Southall.

The Committee have engaged, regardless of expense, the following well known Artistes, under the management of Mr. Ishmael Worton: Great and costly engagement of Middle. Zazar and Bros. Vollino, in their astounding performances on the Flying Trapeze; also their Champion Triple Trapeze Act, Acrobats, French Clowns, and introducing marvellous flights of 70ft by Miss Zazar, the smartest Flying Trapeze Artiste extant.

New and Original Sensations. Misses Creswick and Rezin, the greatest of all Lady Duettists and Dancers. See them! A treat!

Special engagement of the great Pat Riley, one of the best Irish Comedians on the British Stage.

Expensive engagement of the great Miss May Tillan, the charming Burlesque Actress, from the London Music Halls; costly Wardrobe. This lady has never appeared in Staffordshire before.

Old English Sports, Games, Coconut Bowling, Old Aunt Sally, &c. An Efficient Band will be in attendance for Dancing on the Platform. In fact, one constant round of Amusement. Eight hours Genuine Fun.

100 Yards Foot Race – First Prize, Silver Watch; Second, Silver Cup.

Quarter Mile Foot Race – First Prize, a valuable Watch; Second, Silver Cup.

Pig Chase, open to children under 12 years of age. Winner to take the Pig. Entrance 3d each.

Refreshments will be provided by Mr. G. Chatham, of the usual good quality, at town prices.

Ground open at Two o'clock. Admission, Sixpence each; Children under 12, Half-price. Tickets may be had of the following:

Mr. Ishmael Worton, CROWN HOTEL; Mr. G. Chatham, ANCHOR INN; Mr. A. Griffith, Mr. J. Williams, Mr. T. Horton, Mr. Arthur Lane, and of the Secretary, Mr. E. M. Knott, Cradley Heath, to whom all entries and communications should be addressed."

County Advertiser 16/8/1884 - Advert

"£5 Reward – Whereas, some evil disposed Person or Persons did, on the Night of Thursday, August 14th or early on Friday, August 15th, 1884, Enter a Field at Coleman Hill, Cradley, called the Bath Meadow, and Killed a Sheep, the property of Mr. Israel Worton, of the CROWN HOTEL, Cradley Heath.

The above Reward will be paid to any Person who will give such information as will lead to the Apprehension and Conviction of the Offender or Offenders.

Information to be given to Sergeant Oakey, Police Station, Cradley; or to Mr. Israel Worton, CROWN HOTEL, Cradley Heath."

County Advertiser 15/11/1884

"John Parker, Quarry Bank, for being disorderly and refusing to quit the licensed premises of Israel Worton, was fined 5s and costs."

County Advertiser 29/8/1885 - Advert

“Wanted, a respectable Girl as General Servant, and to assist in the bar; good character required; none need apply under 21. Apply, Mrs. Worton, CROWN HOTEL, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 8/5/1886

“George Newton, 35, puddler, late of Providence Street, Old Hill, was charged with stealing a quantity of lead and a brass tap, the property of Israel Worton, publican, Cradley Heath, on the 11th April. Mr. J. Clark, of Brierley Hill, appeared for the prosecutor. It appears that the prisoner and another man, not in custody, were in the employ of the prosecutor, and whilst in the cellar they found 17lbs of lead and a brass tap. They then sent a lad named Smith to try and sell the lead, saying that Mrs. Worton had given it to them. The lad did not sell it, but went to Mrs. Worton and asked her if it was true he was to sell the lead. Prisoner was sent to prison for a month with hard labour.”

County Express 9/4/1887

“John Parker and Benjamin Parker, labourers, Beggar’s Row, Cradley Heath, were charged with stealing a copper kettle, the property of James Banks, hawker, 37, Hampton Street, Birmingham, on the 5th inst. Prosecutor said that on Tuesday night he went to the ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, where he found the prisoners, and offered a copper kettle for sale. Prisoners then took him to the CROWN INN, stating that the landlord wished to buy a kettle. While they were in the house the prisoners made him pay for a pint of beer, and as he was going out the prisoner Benjamin Parker knocked him down. When he got up he found that his kettle had been taken, and he gave information to Police-sergeant Hayward. On the way to the station the prisoner John ran away, but was caught again by the officer. The kettle was afterwards found concealed behind the door at the CROWN INN. The Bench thought there was not sufficient evidence to convict and believed the prisoners had been playing a practical joke on the prosecutor.”

Birmingham Daily Post 28/12/1888

“Last night a well-attended meeting of chainmakers was held at the CROWN HOTEL, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, under the presidency of Mr. Thomas Homer.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 7/2/1889

“At a meeting of small-chain makers, held at the CROWN INN, Cradley Heath, it was stated that the workmen employed at a local factory had come out on strike in consequence of the manager enforcing a reduction in wages. A resolution was passed approving the action taken by the workmen, and also that each of them receive strike pay.”

County Express 8/2/1890

“Warwick Plant, fishmonger, Cradley, and George Mallen, blacksmith, Cradley Road, were charged with assaulting Mrs. Mack, described as a professional, on the 28th ult. It appeared from the evidence for the prosecution that the complainant, by invitation, went to the CROWN INN, Cradley Road, and sat behind the counter. The defendant Mallen made an improper remark about witness, which she resented, calling him a low blackguard, whereupon he took a pint of beer and threw it into her face. She took a glass off the counter and threw it at him, but Mallen dodged, and the glass struck Plant on the forehead, inflicting a wound. She immediately offered an apology, explaining that the glass was not intended for him, and told him to go to a doctor’s, and she would pay the expenses. Plant, however, struck her, and knocked her down. A witness for the defence said she saw Plant push the complainant, but she did not see him do any more. Mr. Goodman remarked that the witness saw what was convenient. Complainant asked for the Bench to order Plant to take off the plaister from the wound after he said that he had seven stitches in it. When the plaister was removed Plant said he had three or four stitches in. The Bench fined Mallen 20s and costs, Plant 40s and costs. They said that if Plant had not received any provocation he would have been sent to prison without the option of a fine.”

County Express 22/2/1890 - Advert

“Preliminary. Superior Household Furniture and Effects. CROWN HOTEL, Five Ways, Cradley Heath. Mr. H. Sidaway has been favoured with instructions to Sell by Auction, on Wednesday, March 12th, the whole of the Household Furniture, Linen and Effects, the property of a lady, lately residing at No.56, Hagley Road, Stourbridge, removed for convenience of Sale, as no Auction is allowed on the premises. Full particulars next week. Auctioneer’s Office, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 17/3/1890 - Advert

“Assembly Rooms, CROWN HOTEL, Five Ways, Cradley Heath. Peremptory, Unserved Sale, at Short Notice, of a Fresh and Well-selected Stock of Boots and Shoes, &c, under a Deed of Assignment, and removed for convenience of Sale.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 26/3/1891 - Advert

“General Servant (good) Wanted; one from the country preferred. Good character and references required. Apply, Mrs. J. Jones, CROWN HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

1891 Census

Graingers Lane – CROWN HOTEL

- [1] John Jones (30), manager public house, born Wednesbury;
- [2] Martha Jones (27), wife, born Wednesfield Heath;
- [3] Esther Jones (6), daughter, born Wednesbury;
- [4] Mary A. Lawton (12), servant, born Walsall;
- [5] James Giddins (70), boarder, widower, born Kidderminster:

County Advertiser 11/7/1891

“Edward Clarke, of High Street, Cradley Heath, was fined 2s 6d and costs for being drunk on the licensed premises of John Jones, landlord of the CROWN HOTEL, Cradley Heath, and refusing to quit the same on the 4th inst.”

County Advertiser 7/11/1891

“James Clarke and John Baker, both of Cradley Heath, were charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of James Shalor, landlord of the CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, when request, on the 27th ult. Clarke was also charged with being drunk on the same date.

It appeared that Clarke came into the complainant’s house in a drunken condition and was asked by him to leave. The other defendant was making a row and also refused to leave. Both had to be put out. Clarke was afterwards seen in Tibbetts Gardens. Mr. Bassano said Clarke was a most troublesome man, and had a bad record. He would have to go to prison for a month, with hard labour, for refusing to quit, and he was fined 2s 6d and costs for being drunk and disorderly. Baker would be fined 20s and costs, or 21 days.

Joseph Homer, of New Street, Old Hill, was fined 2s 6d and costs for being drunk and disorderly in the CROWN INN on the 27th ult.”

Birmingham Daily Post 4/12/1894 - Advert

“General (good) Wanted, also to assist in the bar. Good character indispensable. CROWN HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 5/1/1895 - Advert

“Wanted, a respectable Girl; one used to the public business preferred. Apply, Mrs. Worton, the CROWN, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 9/5/1896 - Advert

“Cradley Heath and Quarry Bank. Highly Important Sale of Valuable Freehold Premises & Building Land.

Mr. T. Pateshall is instructed by the Trustees of the late Mr. Benjamin Billingham, to Sell by Auction, at the House of Mr. Israel Worton, the CROWN HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday, the 19th day of May, 1896, at Six for Seven o’clock in the Evening, subject to conditions.....”

County Advertiser 1/10/1898

“The adjourned licensing sessions for the Rowley petty sessional division were held on Wednesday.....

Mr. Clulow applied for the sanction of the Bench to alterations in respect to a music hall at the CROWN HOTEL, Five Ways. Mr. Bassano said the Bench could not see their way to permit such a flagrant transgression of the principle they had laid down, and the application would be refused.”

Tipton Herald 28/3/1903

“On Saturday evening the members of the Pride of the Garden Lodge held at the CROWN HOTEL, met together and partook of an excellent repast, the occasion being the presentation to Bro. Samuel H. Woodhouse for services rendered to the district in the capacity of District Master. Bro. J. Golding, DM, was voted to the chair, and Bro. W. Davenport to the vice chair.....”

County Advertiser 30/6/1906

“The Friendly Societies Committee.

This committee met on Wednesday evening at the REINDEER INN. Mr Parish presided over a full attendance of delegates. The Rev. F. R. Brunskill and J. W. Walker replied accepting the invitation of the committee to take part in the proceedings. The Rev. E. A. Cooke, who was away in America, was expected back next week, and would then write the committee. Several of the sick and draw clubs were present. A committee was appointed to visit on a number of the local gentry to solicit their patronage. The next meeting will be held at the CROWN INN, Five Ways.”

County Express 12/9/1908

“Friendly Societies’ Parade. On Wednesday evening the committee of the above met at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Mr. W. Coley presiding over a large attendance. The following was a complete list of those boxes which contained amounts of 1s and upwards.....

Mr. J. Johnson, CROWN INN, 5s 8½d.”

Indenture 28/10/1909

“All that piece or parcel of land situate at or near The Five Ways in the Parish of Rowley Regis in the County of Stafford containing by admeasurement 668 square yards or thereabouts.

And Also All That public-house known as The CROWN HOTEL and also the four shops and outbuildings thereon erected.....”

County Express 23/7/1910

“Dividend Clubs. Half-yearly Meetings CROWN (Cradley Heath).

On Monday evening the members held their half-yearly supper, about 30 enjoying the excellent catering of the host and hostess (Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson). After the cloth was drawn Mr. Isaac Homer was voted to the chair. The report proved very satisfactory, only four lots of sick pay having been paid out. An appeal was made to all the members to assemble at tomorrow’s parade. An enjoyable programme was provided by the following artists: Messrs. F. Evans, H. Deeley, Barnbrook (comedians), F. Harris, J. Reenes (tenors), and J. Johnson (reciter). Mr. V. Dingley was an efficient accompanist.”

1911 Census

127, Graingers Lane

- [1] James Johnson (40), inn manager, born Cradley Heath;
- [2] Hannah Pemila Johnson (35), wife, married 12 years, born Dudley;
- [3] Richard Henry Johnson (11), son, school, born Cradley Heath;
- [4] James William Johnson (10), son, school, born Cradley Heath;
- [5] Eliza Cutler (16), general servant, born West Bromwich:

The license renewal was referred to the Compensation Authority on the grounds of redundancy.

Dudley Chronicle 13/2/1924

“The Adjourned Licensing Sessions for the Old Hill Petty Session Division was held at the Police Court on March 5.....

On the grounds of redundancy, the police objected to the renewal of the license of the CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, kept by Edward Gough and owned by the Dudley and Wolverhampton Breweries Company.

Inspector Willetts said the structural condition of the house was bad. Within a distance of 500 yards there were 19 fully licensed houses and six beerhouse on licenses, and one wine and spirit license. The weekly sale of beer was five to six barrels, three or four cases of bottled beer and fair spirit trade. There were four houses in an open yard close to the public house.

Mr. Thompson, appearing for the owners and the licensee, said he offered no objection to the house being sent to the compensation authority, but he did not accept the statement made by the police in respect to the trade of the house.....

The Bench retired and after deliberating in private for some time, the Chairman said that the four houses of which the Bench had taken details would be scheduled for compensation at Stafford.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 29/7/1924

“At a meeting under the Licensing Consolidation Act the Staffordshire Compensation Authority refused yesterday to renew the licenses of fifteen house on the ground of redundancy.....

The houses in respect of which the authority declined to renew the licenses were as follows.....

CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, full license.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 2/8/1924

“The principal meeting of the Compensation Authority (Licensing Consolidation Act) for the county of Staffordshire was held at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Monday.....

The following licenses, all of which had been referred by the licensing justices on the ground of redundancy, were refused, no objection being offered by the owners.....

CROWN INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, a fully-licensed house.”

The house closed on 31st December 1924.

Lichfield Mercury 9/1/1925

“The County Licensing Committee, in their report for 1924, stated that they had fixed the compensations in respect of a number of houses as follows.....

CROWN INN, Cradley Heath, £2,000.”

Dudley Herald 24/1/1925 - Advert

“For Sale – corner business property, formerly known as the CROWN INN.....”

Dudley Herald 7/2/1925

“.....closed on grounds of redundancy – bought by T. A. Harris, music dealer, March 1925.”

[Harris’ music and bicycle shop was still in existence in 1973.]

It later became a newsagent and off license. [2008]

CROWN

Station Road (Halesowen Road) / 96, Waterfall Lane, (Slack Hillock), OLD HILL

OWNERS

Jeremiah Laister, maltster and farmer [1834]
Walter Edward Broadbent
Thomas Cooksey
North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1896)
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1909)
Messrs. Sturman Ltd., Marlow Street, Blackheath (acquired on 7th June 1939)
Darby's Brewery Ltd. (acquired on 20th February 1942)
Mitchells and Butlers Ltd.
The Black and White Pub Co. [2006] (until September 2007)

LICENSEES

Mrs. Lucy Tibbetts [1841] – [1859]
Jeremiah Laister [1860] – 1866);
William Andrews (1866 – 1897)
William Meldrum McWhirter [1898] – 1900)
George Perks [1900]
Walter Willetts [1901] – 1907);
Mrs. Sarah Chatwin (1907 – [1908])
Alice Williams (1908 – 1909);
Albert Humphries (1909 – [])
Albert Jeffs [] – 1910);
Walter Edward Broadbent (1910 – [1912])
Walter Edward Broadbent (1913 – 1924);
Elizabeth Smith (1924 – 1926);
Walter Edward Broadbent (1926 – 1928);
John Thomas Webb (1928 – 1929);
Edward Reynolds (1929);
William Thompson (1929 – 1932);
William Wellings (1932 – 1935);
George Booth (1935 – 1936);
Alfred Potter (1936 – 1937);
Bert Cooper (1937 – 1941);
John Henry Billingham (1941 – 1948);
Richard Albert Williams (1948 – 1952);
Sydney George Patrick (1952 – 1954);
Jeffrey Cooper Billingham (1954);
Caleb Hardwick (1954 – [1965])
Eric Wakeman [1976]
Donald W J Parkes [1983] – [1990]
Ron Singh [2013]

NOTES

Slack Hillock [1851]
Waterfall Lane [1861], [1869], [1871], [1896]
96, Waterfall Lane [1881], [1891], [1901]
Station Road [1911], [1912], [1940]

Black Country Bugle (1972)

'Bugle Call At The Crown'

“Like most of its Black Country counterparts, the CROWN, in Station Road, Old Hill, was not a purpose built public house, but originally one of the many farms which belonged to the ancient Haden dynasty.
In its early days it was the home of the Wright family, from which a nearby road takes its name, and must have been a picturesque building amidst the orchards and green pastureland which surrounded it during that era. A large pool at the rear of the house was known as Wright's Lake and was a famous fishing and boating centre of the local gentry The farm was hemmed in on all sides (by canal, Barr's Pit, and the railway), its acres diminished to a tiny proportion of its original holding and farming tradition which had carried on, undisturbed, for many centuries was wiped out in less than fifty years. . . .

A tremendous population explosion took place between 1840 and 1860. The workers who poured in from Wales and the country areas were desperate for accommodation Any local house, commodious enough for the purpose, was converted into a public house. The old farmhouse suited this purpose. . . .

The turn of the century saw the CROWN a popular and profitable tavern. It was then kept by William Andrews, a local sporting man, famous for his fighting fowl and by all accounts, the old stables block had its cock-pit where regular matches took place. In 1913 the Broadbent family took over the license. Previously they had kept the WHITE LION in Powke Lane and the OAK in Waterfall Lane. Mr. Walter Broadbent was also in the haulage business and kept close on a score of horses in the spacious stables At this time [1914] Mr. Broadbent went into the scrap metal business, which still survives today Their premises still occupy that part of the old farm not used by the CROWN."

Lucy Tibbetts = Lucey Tibbetts

1841 Census

Old Hill

- [1] Lucey Tibbetts (55), maltster, born Staffordshire;
- [2] Edwin Tibbetts (30), maltster, born Staffordshire;
- [3] Henry Williams (60), ind(ependant?), born Staffordshire;
- [4] Sarah Robbinson (25), fs:

Lucy Tibbetts was also a maltster. [1849], [1850], [1854]

1851 Census

Slack Hilllock

- [1] Lucy Tibbetts (65), widow, innkeeper, maltster and grocer, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Edwin Tibbetts (42), son, farmer, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Jane Raybold (14), niece, scholar, born Cradley;
- [4] Ann Witeeson (22), general servant, born Wednesbury;
- [5] John Mason (18), servant, agricultural labourer, born Bagins Hill, Worcestershire;
- [6] William Siviter (13), servant, agricultural labourer, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 19/9/1857

"Brierley Hill Petty Sessions.

Josiah Osbaldeston, 67 years of age, an itinerant dealer in certain articles from Birmingham, and who generally stayed at Mrs. Tibbetts, CROWN INN, Rowley Regis, when visiting the place, was indicted for stealing from that inn on Wednesday night, 5s. A relation of Mrs. Tibbett's, who appeared at the court in her place said that, on the night in question, prisoner came into the house and asked for something to drink. He afterwards fell asleep. Subsequently to that he watched his opportunity, and took from a bowl, in which the money was kept, the sum above mentioned. The loss was soon discovered, and from certain causes, suspicion fell on the prisoner. He (prisoner) was asked if the money missing had been got by him, but he denied all knowledge of the matter, and said he had never seen anything of the money at all. A search was made on him, but the sum was not discovered – he only had one shilling and two sixpences in his possession.

A witness named Ann Wilkinson was then called, who gave evidence to the effect that the 5s was put into the bowl by her a little after 11 o'clock, and that at 12 it was gone. She saw prisoner searched, and, contrary to the last witness, stated that 5s was found in his possession. Upon being questioned, witness was unable to state whether prisoner had really taken the sum found on him from the bowl – she did not see him steal the money.

Prisoner, in his defence, observed that he did not commit the theft; that he had been out travelling three days previous to the evening he was suspected, whereby he had realised above 20s; and that as a mark of his honesty, he had never been apprehended before on any charge. He was asked to give an account of the 5s which one witness said was taken out of his pockets whilst being searched. Prisoner could not; but still maintained that he was clear of the charge urged against him.

The Bench in deciding the matter said that there was no doubt that he had committed the robbery, though, through his having a very fair character, and the unsatisfactoriness of some of the evidence, he would, on this occasion, be discharged."

County Advertiser 29/10/1859

"At the Petty Sessions, held on Wednesday last, the undermentioned persons, residing in the parish of Rowley Regis, were summoned at the instance of Mr. William Tullett, of Wolverhampton, the inspector of weights and measures, for having illegal and unfair weights and measures in their possession, and were dealt with as follows. . . .

Lucy Tibbetts, maltster, three unjust weights and unjust scales, 6d and costs in each case."

Birmingham Journal 7/4/1860 - Died

"On the 13th ult, at Old Hill, Rowley Regis, aged 74 years, Mrs. Lucy Tibbetts. Also, on the 25th ult, at Waterfall Lane, Rowley Regis, aged 41 years, Mr. John William Tibbetts."

[John Williams Tibbetts – WATERFALL, Old Hill]

Birmingham Journal 17/4/1860 - Advert

“CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, Rowley.

Sale of Farming Stock, Implements, Rick of Wheat, Malt, Casks, Brewing Utensils, Household and Chamber Furniture, and Sundry Other Effects.

Mr. Bateman begs to state that he has received instructions from the Executors to Arrange For Sale, on Monday, the 23rd day of April, 1860, upon the Premises at the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, in the parish of Rowley Regis – the Farming Stock, Household Furniture, Casks, Brewing Utensils, Stock of Malt and sundry other Effects of the late Mrs. Lucy Tibbetts, consisting of Four Cows, Three Horses, Two capital Fat Pigs, Fowls, Waggons, Carts, Ploughs, Harrows, and other Implements; upwards of Five Hundred Bushels of excellent Malt, Sacks, Malt Mills and Crushers, &c; upwards of twenty well-seasoned Casks; mahogany Dining and other Tables, Chairs, Easy Chairs, Clocks, Four-post and other Bedsteads, Feather Beds, &c; several Sides of Home-cured Bacon, and various other Effects; descriptive particulars of which are given in catalogues to be distributed, and which may now be had at the Place of Sale; and from the Auctioneer, Dudley.

In consequence of the large number of lots, the Sale will commence punctually at Eleven o'clock.”

Birmingham Journal 21/4/1860 - Notice

“Lucy Tibbetts, Deceased.....

All Creditors and other Persons having any Claims or Demands upon or against the Estate of Lucy Tibbetts, late of Waterfall Lane, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, Widow, deceased, who died on the 13th day of March, 1860, and whose Will was proved in the Lichfield District Registry of her Majesty’s Court of Probate on the 13th day of April, by Edwin Tibbetts, of Waterfall Lane aforesaid, Maltster, the surviving Executor named in the said Will, are hereby required, on or before the 18th day of June next, to Send in the Particulars of their Claims against the Estate of the said Testatrix to the said Edwin Tibbetts, at Waterfall Lane aforesaid, or to his Solicitors, Messrs. Bolton and Sanders, of Dudley, in the county of Worcester; and that after the said 18th day of June next the said Edwin Tibbetts will proceed to distribute the Assets of the said Lucy Tibbetts amongst the parties entitled thereto, having regard to the Claims of which he the said Edwin Tibbetts shall then have had notice, and will not be liable for the Assets so distributed to any Person of whose Claim he shall not have had notice at the time of such distribution.

Dated the 18th day of April, 1860.

Bolton and Sanders, Solicitors to the Executor.”

Jeremiah Laister = Jeremiah Lester

Birmingham Journal 16/6/1860 - Advert

“Valuable Freehold Dwelling House, Malthouse, Garden Land and Premises, situate at Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford.

To Be Sold By Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Wednesday, the 27th day of June, 1860, at Six o'clock in the evening, at the house of Mr. Laister, the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, Old Hill aforesaid, subject to conditions then to be produced, and either in one or such lots as may be agreed upon at the time of sale.....”

Jeremiah Laister was also a farmer. [1861]

1861 Census

Waterfall Lane – CROW [sic] INN

- [1] Jeremiah Laister (27), victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Eliza Laister (21), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Elizabeth Laister (1 week), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Edwin Tibbetts (52), uncle, maltster, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] William Berington (50), servant, born Belbroughton;
- [6] Edward Cooper (20), servant, birthplace not known;
- [7] Ann Wilkinson (34), general servant, born Wednesbury;
- [8] Lucy Budd (46), widow, nurse, born Chaddesley Corbet:

Birmingham Daily Post 3/10/1862

“At the weekly Petty Sessions, held on Wednesday, before Mr. Barrs, Jeremiah Lester charged George Darby with having shot his dog. Both the men are farmers’ sons, and appeared to be a little jealous of each other in some matters. A disagreement of a trivial nature having taken place, and complainant having discovered that his dog had been shot, he attributed the offence to the defendant. The evidence was to the effect that on Saturday last defendant was at Waterfall Lane, and that he was seen to go towards a coppice in which complainant’s dog was afterwards found dead. On the other side, evidence was brought forward to prove that defendant was at a distance from the place where the offence was committed. The case was dismissed.”

County Advertiser 14/4/1866 - Notice

“All persons who are Creditors of Jeremiah Lester, of the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, Licensed Victualler and Farmer, are requested to send in their Claims to Messrs. Shakespeare and Hartill, Solicitors, Oldbury, near Birmingham, without delay.”

William Andrews = William Andrew

County Advertiser 23/6/1866

“Thomas Tromans was charged with damaging grazing grass belonging to William Andrews, publican, Waterfall Lane. Fined 1s and costs.”

County Advertiser 22/12/1866

“Joseph Parkes was charged with assaulting William Andrews, landlord of the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane. Complainant stated that he ordered the defendant to leave his house, late at night on the 11th inst; but, instead of complying with his request, defendant turned round and caught him by the legs, and he fell heavily on the grate. Fined 5s and costs, or fourteen days. There was a second charge against defendant, of refusing to leave the public house when requested to do so by the landlord. Ordered to pay costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 9/3/1867

“An inquest was held on Tuesday last, at the house of William Andrews, the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, before Mr. Hooper, Coroner, on the body of James Westwood, aged 42. From the evidence it appeared that deceased formerly worked at the Tump Pits, Blackheath, and on the 21st ult was at work down the pit with three others. Deceased, and two of the other men were burnt very badly. Deceased lingered until Friday last, when he died. As it was necessary to have further evidence, and the doggy being burnt at the same time, and unable to attend, the inquest was adjourned for a month for the attendance of the doggy.”
[At the adjourned inquest a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.]

County Express 27/4/1867 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, with good character. Apply at the OLD CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, Black Heath.”

County Express 6/7/1867 - Advert

“Wanted, a Strong Servant Girl, with good character. One used to the Public business preferred. Apply to Mrs. Andrews, CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, near Old Hill Railway Station.”

County Express 31/7/1869

“Rowley Regis Association for the Prosecution of Felons. The annual dinner of the above society was held at the house of Mr. Andrews, CROWN INN, Old Hill, on Tuesday afternoon, when all the members, with a few exceptions, were present. Dinner was served up in an excellent style by the host, and was done ample justice to.....”

Stourbridge Observer 28/8/1869

“James Evans was charged with being drunk and riotous, and refusing to quit the CROWN INN, when requested, on the 21st inst. William Andrews said he was landlord of the house and resided at Old Hill. On the above date defendant came into his house at twenty minutes past eleven o'clock, drunk. He asked for some ale, but witness refused to fill him any, as he was quite drunk. Defendant refused to go away, and after some time witness put him out of the house. Defendant then went to the front window, and stood looking in for some time cursing and swearing and using filthy language to his wife and himself, but ultimately went away saying that he would burn the house down, and keep round the house until after one o'clock in the morning. Defendant had previously threatened to set fire to his house, and had found him lately on several occasions loitering about his premises. About a month since he had to send for Police-sergeant Powner to turn him out of the house. Defendant showed nothing in defence was fined 20s and costs; in default one month's imprisonment.”

County Advertiser 27/11/1869

“James Evans, Benjamin Armstrong, and Henry Armstrong were charged with damaging windows, a door, and a lamp, the property of Mr. William Andrews, of the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane. The defendants went to complainant's house in a beastly state of intoxication. Complainant refused to supply them with ale, whereupon they created a most disgraceful disturbance, and damaged the articles in question. The damage was laid at 14s 6d. They were each fined 5s for the damage, and 1s and costs; in default twenty-one days' hard labour.”

County Express 2/7/1870

“Joseph Pugh, aged twelve, and Joseph Clift, eleven, were charged with damaging and injuring a quantity of cut grass, belonging to Mr. William Andrews, of Waterfall Lane, on the 20th June. They stated that there were about thirty other boys in the field, and they went and drove them out and sat under the hedge. Mr. Andrews said these two were ringleaders of a number of boys in the field. The mother of one of them said she had appeared to pay costs on Monday, but as they were then refused she would not pay anything now. They were fined 1s each and costs, or in default seven days' imprisonment with hard labour.”

County Advertiser 7/1/1871

“James Taylor, police-constable, was charged with having assaulted Joseph Hughes, on the 12th of December; and there was another charge of assault, alleged to have been committed at the same time and place, preferred against Police-constable George Robinson, by James Batty. Mr. Hayes appeared for complainants, and Mr. Addison defended.

The cases, which appeared to have created much excitement in the district, occupied the Court over four hours.

A number of witnesses were heard on each side, and, as is too often the case at this Court, flatly contradicted each others' statements. The evidence against the officers was, that about eleven o'clock on the night in question they went to the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, and stayed there a hour and a half. Taylor, who was the worse for liquor, assaulted Hughes without any provocation, both inside and outside of the house. Taylor was so overcome by drink that he fell asleep on the couch. Complainant and five or six companions left the CROWN about one o'clock, and they were followed out of the house by the defendants, when Robinson was said to have beaten Batty with his staff. For the defence, it was alleged that the men were disorderly, and that the officers did no more than their duty. Joseph Parkes, rate collector, swore that Taylor was the worse for drink, while Robinson swore that he (Taylor) was perfectly sober, and only had ginger beer in the house, and that they (the officers) were not in the house more than a quarter of an hour. On Taylor being examined, he said they remained in the house about an hour, and he had brandy and soda-water to drink. Parkes had previously sworn that Taylor was drinking ale. It was also sworn that complainant and their companions threatened to attack the officers, and that the latter were compelled to resort to force. In answer to Mr. Addison, too, both complainants admitted having been summoned six or seven times for assaults and drunkenness.

The Bench fined Taylor 1s and costs, and dismissed the case against Robinson. Charges of drunkenness against Hughes and Batty and their companions, and a counter charge of assault against Batty, were, at the suggestion of the Bench, withdrawn.”

County Advertiser 14/1/1871

“William Andrews, landlord of the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, was summoned for harbouring Police-constables Taylor and Robinson, on the 13th ult. The facts of the case were reported last week, when it will be recollected, the officers were charged with assaults. Rosannah Batty, a domestic in the employ of the defendant, and who was summoned at the instance of the prosecution, deposed that the two officers came to the CROWN INN, and were served with drink. They remained in the house over one hour and a half. In defence, Andrews said he was not at home at the time. The Magistrates Clerk explained that it was illegal to supply any policeman on duty with liquor, to be drunk on the premises. The Bench inflicted a fine of 1s and costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 1/4/1871

“A serious accident, by which two men were instantly killed and another badly injured, took place on Saturday last at Messrs. Swindell and Collis's colliery, Gorsty Hill. In a part of the workings of one of the pits, Thomas Pully, 42, and James Rollinson, 44, were employed in setting timber, when a ‘bump’ suddenly occurred, and they were immediately buried beneath a huge heap of fallen coal. Prompt steps to rescue them were taken, but when the coal which covered them was removed, they were found to be lifeless and sadly mangled. Their bodies, we are told, were crushed to pieces, and their bowels protruded. Close to the spot where the melancholy accident took place David Pully was engaged at work. He escaped with injuries which are not expected to terminate fatally.

An inquest was held on the bodies at the ROSE AND CROWN, Waterfall Lane, before Mr. Hooper, on Wednesday.

Mr. Baker, Government Inspector was in attendance, and also Mr. Collis junior.

Thomas Pully said that his father and Rollinson were setting ‘trees’ when a fall of coal took place, and they were instantly killed. He was loading in the ‘straight’ road, and he saw one of the doggies at six o'clock that morning coming back with a lamp, as if they had been examining the pit. He heard his father tell his mother that he never worked at a pit where more timber was used. He never heard anyone in the pit say there was not sufficient timber in the pit. (Mr. Collis here said that £1,200 was paid last year by the firm for timber.)

David Rilley, a bondsman, stated that at the time of the accident he was at work with the deceased. They were preparing to set a tree, when a large quantity of coal fell from the roof on to Pully and Rollinson, and caught him and knocked him against a ‘tub’, severely injuring him. Rollinson was ordered to set the tree in order to make the opening safe.

Pully said, however, there was not much fear of the coal coming, for it knocked very hard. There did not appear to be any indication that the coal was going to fall.

Rebecca Rollinson said that her deceased husband never complained of the want of timber at the colliery, and she had no reason to blame anyone for his death.

Benjamin Golding, one of the deputies of the pit, said that the accident happened in consequence of a ‘slip running off a rib.’

By Mr. Baker: He had examined the place at about half past eight o'clock that morning, and just before the accident he told Pully to ‘knock’ again, and it was said to be sound.

Mr. Baker: In future you will act more wisely if you do differently, and satisfy yourself as to the state of the pit, instead of taking another's word for it. It was your duty to examine and ascertain for yourself whether the place was safe or not.

By request of Mr. Collis, the Coroner put questions to witness which elicited the following answers. The deceased were paid a superior class of wages for doing nothing else but look after the safety of the men. They received 6s a day. He did not consider it safe to set timbers on the loose slack.

Mr. Collis then requested the Coroner to put the question, ‘Is a foundation required for a tree of loose slack?’

Mr. Hooper declined to put it, on the ground that it was too ridiculous to ask a collier.

Mr. Collis: Then kindly exonerate me from all blame. I will give up all management.

Mr. Hooper: I cannot allow my conduct to be commented upon. I certainly could not put that question, but will put any other, if I approve of it, which you may suggest.

The questions which were then named, witness replied that it was not possible for the company to do more to ensure the safety of the men. Everything possible was done in the way of providing timber and arranging for the overlooking of the miners whilst employed.

This concluded the evidence, and the Coroner, in summing up, said that it appeared every precaution had been taken to prevent accidents.

The jury at once returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

AND

“Pully’s remains were interred on Thursday, at St. Luke’s Church, and a number of children from Old Hill Wesleyan Sunday School, at which he was superintendent, followed in the cortege. Deceased was exceedingly well liked and his loss will be deeply deplored.”

1871 Census

Waterfall Lane

[1] William Andrews (33), licensed victualler, born Ditton Priors, Shropshire;

[2] Georgina Andrews (34), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] William T. Andrews (10), son, scholar, born Kingswinford;

[4] Mary E. Andrews (8), daughter, scholar, born Kingswinford;

[5] Rosa H. Batty (16), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 7/10/1871

“James Powell, a boy fifteen years of age, was charged with stealing a quantity of potatoes, the property of William Andrews, of Waterfall Lane. William Perry stated that about seven o’clock on the morning of the 1st inst, he saw the prisoner go into a field belonging to the prosecutor, and pull up and put into his pocket a quantity of potatoes. Witness took him to the house of the prosecutor, where the potatoes were taken from the prisoner’s pockets. During the past year, the prisoner has been twice convicted for pigeon stealing. Mr. Hingley remarked that it would be advisable to send him to a Reformatory School. It was, however, decided to fine him 5s and costs, or, in default, one month’s imprisonment.”

Stourbridge Observer 13/1/1872

“William Andrews, landlord of the CROWN, Old Hill, was charged with keeping his house open for the sale of drink during prohibited hours; and further charged with permitting drunkenness in his house on the 24th ultimo. Mr. W. Hayes defended.

Police-sergeant Davis said he was stationed at Blackheath. On the above date he visited defendant’s house at 18 minutes past twelve on the night of the 23rd, or the morning of the 24th ult, and found about 30 men in the place – some in the tap room, some in the bar parlour, and others in the club room. He saw the defendant and the landlady inside sewing at the time. He went in with Police-constable Jackson. There was drink on the table, and some of the people were drunk. There was some singing going on. Witness spoke to the landlord, who said it was not twelve, and pointed to the clock, and it was five minutes past twelve by it. Witness pulled out his watch, and it was 23 minutes past twelve by it, and he told defendant he was a few minutes fast. Witness then went outside, and the men followed him out. Some of them took beer away with them. Four of them were drunk.

Cross-examined: There were over 30 men and women in the house. I went into all three of the rooms. I went into the bar, where the landlord was drawing spirits. A man named Hughes was one of the men that were drunk. I did not ask the defendant who the men were that were drunk. I was not told there was a colliers’ feast held at the house that night. I told the defendant it was after twelve o’clock, and he said it was not, and pointed at the clock. Do not know that the wind blows the fingers about on Rowley church clock, and my watch was a few minutes fast by that clock.

Sergeant Powner said that he had known the defendant for a long time, and he had always conducted his house well.

Police-constable Jackson corroborated Davis.

Mr. Hayes, in defence, said it was a question of time. There had been a colliers’ feast at the house, and as soon as the time was up defendant endeavoured to get the men out, but as there were about 70 men inside it was a matter of some difficulty to get them out. When the officers went into the house the defendant’s clock was only five minutes past twelve. There were several watches pulled out at the time to prove that the clock agreed with the railway times. As far as the charge of permitting drunkenness was concerned, he could call a number of witnesses to prove there was no drunkenness in the house.

The Bench said there was a doubt as to the time, and they should give defendant the benefit of it, and ordered him to pay the costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 27/7/1872

“William Andrews, landlord of the CROWN INN, Old Hill, was charged with assaulting Joseph Hughes, on the 15th inst. Mr. Homfrey appeared for complainant, and Mr. Warrington for the defendant.

Complainant said on the above date he went into defendant’s house for something to drink. He went into the bar, and defendant ordered him out. He did not go and defendant caught hold of him, knocked him down, and kicked him on the head very severely. Defendant then got a gun and said he would shoot complainant. He pulled the trigger, but it was a bad cap, and the gun did not explode.

Several witnesses were examined on both sides and after hearing the whole of the evidence, the Bench said the defendant had been guilty of a serious assault, and they fined him 40s and costs.

A summons against Hughes for refusing to leave the CROWN INN was dismissed.”

Birmingham Daily Post 20/2/1874

“The Election Riots at Dudley. At the Rowley Police Court, on Wednesday.....

Hezekiah Round (13) was charged with having committed a breach of the peace by throwing stones, on the 4th inst. Thomas Gould, butcher, Cradley Heath, and Police-constable Cooper, stated that they saw defendant throwing stones at the windows of a person named Harris, who keeps a public house opposite the polling station, at Reddall Hill. Defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined 40s and costs; in default six weeks' imprisonment.

John Priest was charged with assaulting William Andrews, landlord of the CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, on the 4th inst. Complainant stated that he had been to record his vote at the polling station in Halesowen Road, Old Hill, and as he was returning home he had to pass under a bridge. As he was going under he saw the defendant with a lot of men on the bridge, throwing stones at the people. A stone, thrown by defendant, struck witness on the legs. Defendant denied the assault. Fined £5 and costs; in default two months' imprisonment.

Warwick Plant, fishmonger, was charged with creating a breach of the peace by stone-throwing at Old Hill, on the 4th inst. John Powell said he saw the defendant throwing stones in the direction of a cab that was going down the road towards the polling booth. Mr. William Cheese said he was in the cab with two voters, and when passing by defendant's house a lot of stones (produced) were thrown into the vehicle; the windows were both smashed. The defendant said he was throwing at some Dudley roughs. Fined 40s and costs; in default six weeks' imprisonment.”

Stourbridge Observer 13/6/1874

“At the Petty Sessions held on Wednesday last, before Messrs. F. W. G. Barrs and N. Hingley, Joseph James was charged with violently assaulting William Andrews, landlord of the CROWN INN, on the 1st inst. Mr. Stokes appeared for the complainant, and Mr. Homer for the defendant.

Mr. Stokes said before the case was proceeded with he had considered the interests of his client, who was very seriously injured, and he now proposed to withdraw the case, and take it to another court to ask for damages, which he had no doubt he should get. As regarding the case of refusing to quit, he proposed to go on with that case, and he should prove by witnesses that the defendant was drunk, and refused to quit the complainant's house.

Mr. Homer said the case ought to be dismissed, and he should ask the Bench to do so.

Mr. Stokes said he should offer no evidence; therefore, the Bench could not dismiss it, as it was withdrawn.

The Bench said they had no evidence before them; therefore, they could not dismiss it, and the case was withdrawn.

Joseph Jones was then charged with refusing to quit the CROWN INN, when requested. Mr. Stokes appeared for complainant, and Mr. Homer defended.

Complainant said he kept the CROWN INN. On the evening of the 1st inst he had been from home, and returned about ten o'clock. When he got home he found the defendant there, and heard him challenging any one in the house to fight, and making a great noise. Witness asked if defendant had had anything to drink, and found he had not. Witness went into the kitchen and asked him to leave. Defendant said he would not for such a — man as him. Witness told him if he did not he should have no alternative but to put him out. On witness attempting to put him out, defendant struck him several times, knocked him down, blackened his eyes, and inflicted serious injuries on his arm. Defendant was very tipsy.

Cross-examined: Defendant did not have any beer in my house. He asked for some. I was quite sober. John Boilston was in the room. Have not got him as a witness today. He came and asked me to....

After hearing the evidence, the Bench said there were discrepancies in it, and dismissed the case.”

County Express 30/9/1876

“Felons Prosecution Society. The annual dinner in connection with the above association took place on Tuesday evening, at Mr. Andrews's, the CROWN INN, Old Hill, when upwards of sixty gentlemen sat down. Mr. E. Lowe who occupied the chair stated that in 1875 the balance in hand was £17 5s 4½d; this year it is £14 18s 4d.....”

County Advertiser 10/3/1877

“Charles Smith, a brickmaker, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of William Andrews, CROWN INN, Old Hill, and with refusing to quit. W. Hayes appeared for the prosecution. Two witnesses – Sarah Jones (assistant of the prosecutor) and Mary Ellen Andrews, his daughter, gave evidence to the effect that defendant came into the CROWN INN, while drunk, on the above date, and asked for some ale, which was refused. He then used disgusting language, and became very abusive, challenging the persons present to fight. The magistrates imposed a fine of 10s and costs, with the alternative of fourteen days' imprisonment.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 4/6/1877 - Advert

“Found, last week, at Dudley, a Scotch Sheep Dog. May be had by applying at the OLD CROWN, Old Hill, and paying expenses. If not claimed in Seven days will be Sold.”

Staffordshire Sentinel 4/7/1877

“Staffordshire Quarter Sessions.....

Frederick Billingham, Mark Bannister, Jesse Billingham, Joseph Billingham, and Francis Northall (on bail) were indicted for unlawfully wounding the landlord of the CROWN INN, Old Hill, Rowley Regis – Mr. William Andrews – on the 21st May.

On the day of the disturbance the two first-named prisoners went to Andrews's house, and asked for drink. Andrews declined to draw them any, however, as he said he thought they had already had sufficient. The men having left the house a short time returned with the other prisoner, when a disturbance of a somewhat ugly nature took place, in the course of which the landlord used some little violence in getting one or more of the prisoners out of the house. He appeared to have followed the prisoners off the premises, when stones were thrown at him. Bannister was seen to throw four stones, and Frederick Billingham threw one, which broke prosecutor's jaw, and knocked three teeth out. The other prisoners were said to have incited the two men named to violence. The jury returned a verdict of guilty against all the prisoners. Frederick Billingham and Mark Bannister were sentenced to six months' imprisonment each; Jesse, Joseph Billingham, and Francis Northall were sentenced to three months' imprisonment each."

County Express 24/8/1878

"On Wednesday a large mass meeting of nailers on strike was held at the CROWN INN, Old Hill, and in the course of the day meetings were also held at Netherton, Darby Hand, Woodside, and Halesowen. The speakers were Mr. John Price (Chairman of the Nailers' Association) and Mr. Joseph Hackett, who inveighed bitterly against the men in Bromsgrove in 'running in' as they had done. They were, however, sanguine that the nailers would succeed in accomplishing their purpose if they kept together steadfastly without Bromsgrove's assistance, and they therefore counselled playing on. A statement which appeared on Wednesday in a contemporary to the effect that some of the nailers at Old Hill were taking out work was referred to and condemned as without foundation. The speakers contradicted the statement, and said they were assured the people of Old Hill were as firm as any in their resolve to remain out till the masters yielded. Eventually a resolution was passed to 'play' till the masters gave the '75 list less 10 per cent was passed."

County Express 9/11/1878

"Old Hill Petty Sessions. Before Messrs. R. L. Freer and H. Howard.....

Jesse Billingham, Joseph Billingham, and Mark Bannister were summoned on a charge of having committed an assault upon William Westwood.

Mr. W. S. Hayes, who had been instructed by Westwood to prosecute, stated that his client now refused to swear as to the assault against the Billinghams.

Complainant now asked to be allowed to withdraw the charge against the two defendants named, and proceeded to give evidence against the other defendant, Bannister. He was walking down Wagon Street when the defendant struck him and knocked him down. He was also kicked by others, but the defendants Billingham were not amongst the number.

Mr. Freer: We cannot believe this evidence of the complainant; he is evidently keeping something back.

Mr. Hayes (to Westwood): Have you not given evidence against the Billinghams at the Staffordshire Sessions in a charge of assault preferred by William Andrews?

Complainant: Yes.

Mr. Hayes informed the Bench that complainant had told him that he had been kicked by the Billinghams, but that his club had threatened to stop his sick pay if he did not make up the case in which the Billinghams were concerned.

The Magistrates ordered Bannister (who now pleaded guilty to the charge of assault) to pay the costs, and ordered complainant Westwood to pay the costs in the other cases."

County Express 15/2/1879

"William Andrews, landlord of the OLD CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, was charged with keeping his house open during prohibited hours.

Two police officers found two men in the house after closing hours on the 8th inst.

Mr. Major, who defended, submitted that the men being travellers the defendant was not open to conviction.

He called the two men, Alred Baker and Benjamin Hancox and they bore out his statement.

The Bench considered the case had been very properly brought before them, but allowed it to be withdrawn on payment of costs by defendant.

The charge against the two men of being on licensed premises during prohibited hours was also withdrawn on payment of costs."

Dudley Herald 30/8/1879

"The annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis division was held on the 26th ult.....

The convictions against licensed victuallers during the past year were.....

William Andrew, CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, Old Hill, house open during prohibited hours. Paid costs, February 12th, 1879."

County Advertiser 28/2/1880

"On Tuesday last Mr. E. Hooper held an inquest at the CROWN INN, Old Hill, touching the death of Joseph Hughes, blacksmith, Waterfall Lane, who died suddenly on the 21st inst. A verdict of Died from Natural Causes was returned."

1881 Census

96, Waterfall Lane – CROWN INN

[1] William Andrews (43), widower, licensed victualler, born Ditton Priors, Shropshire;

[2] William T. Andrews (20), son, railway porter, born Kingswinford;

[3] Mary E. Andrews (18), daughter, scholar, born Kingswinford;

[4] Sarah Jones (26), general servant, born Kingswinford;

[5] John Dalloway (40), general servant, born Bewdley;

[6] Agnes Grigg (39), visitor, dressmaker, born Kingswinford:

West Bromwich Weekly News 3/12/1881

"An inquest was held on Wednesday at the CROWN INN, touching the death of Samuel Moreton (4), whose parents reside in Waterfall Lane, who was drowned in the canal on Saturday last. The evidence was to the effect that on the day named deceased and some companions were playing on the canal side, near Gosty Hill Tunnel, when by some means he fell in. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned by the jury.”

Dudley and District News 21/10/1882

“William Andrews, landlord of the CROWN INN, Old Hill, was summoned for assaulting Jeremiah Laister, a maltster of Blackheath, and his daughter, Elizabeth, on the 12th inst. Mr. Homer appeared for the complainants, and Mr. Wright defended. Mr. Homer said the assault was of a serious character. Defendant did not appear, and, upon the application of Mr. Wright, the case was adjourned for a week.”

Dudley and District News 28/10/1882

“William Andrews, publican, Old Hill, was charged on an adjourned summons with committing an assault upon Jeremiah Laister, retired maltster of Blackheath. Mr. Homer prosecuted, and Mr. Stokes (of Dudley) defended. The parties are brothers-in-law and for some time past some amount of ill-feeling has existed between them in relation to some money. On the 10th October complainant went into the CROWN INN, defendant’s house, and his daughter came in afterwards. At one particular time he stood at a window which looks into the room where his daughter and Miss Andrews were present with the defendant. Miss Andrews was sent out for whiskey, and complainant saw defendant kiss his daughter, which he considered very improper. In consequence of that, he went into the room and ordered her to go home with him. They then went out and about forty or fifty yards from the house and at the corner of Wrights Lane, the defendant overtook them, and going in front of complainant, struck him a violent blow between the eyes, knocking him down. Complainant no sooner got up again than he was knocked down by a blow from defendant in the same place. Complainant again got up only to be knocked down again. Upon regaining his feet once more, he ran home and succeeded in getting indoors before defendant came up. His face was terribly bruised, and his clothes covered with blood. Medical attention had to be called in, and his injuries were attended to. Elizabeth Laister, complainant’s daughter, gave evidence in support of the charge. She said she went into her uncle’s (the defendant’s) house at about seven o’clock, and found her father already there. She went into the parlour and found her cousin there. Soon afterwards defendant came in and entered into the conversation. After a time he sent his daughter out to get some whiskey, and during her absence he caught hold of witness by the waist and kissed her, pulling her towards him. Notwithstanding her relationship with defendant she treated this conduct as very offensive. She got up to go out, but he asked her not to go. Her father then came into the room, and he told her to go home. They both left the house together. Witness then corroborated the evidence of assault. On being cross-examined by Mr. Stokes, witness stated that her uncle had kissed her several times before, but not in the way he had on this occasion. When her father came into the room, he did not say to her, ‘Go out, you b— cat;’ and she did not remember him saying, ‘Come out of this w— shop.’ He seemed very excited, and his conduct put her about. She asked her cousin to go home with her, because she was afraid there would have been a fight. Mr. Stokes addressed the Bench for the defence, and whilst admitting that an assault had been committed by his client, contended that a considerable amount of provocation had been given. He called Thomas Griffiths, who stated that he was in the smoke room of the CROWN on the night of the assault. He heard the complainant say to some person, ‘Come out you b— cat; you shan’t stop in this w— shop.’ Mr. Stokes declined to call Miss Andrews to give evidence. She was at the present time on very friendly terms with her cousin and he did not care to cause a further breach. The Bench carefully considered the case, and said they did not think there was any great provocation to commit such an assault. Defendant was fined 20s and costs, or 14 days. A charge of assault preferred by Miss Laister against Andrews for kissing her was withdrawn.”

Dudley and District News 13/1/1883

“George Rivers, alias Smith (40), returned convict, and Thomas Warr, pensioner, who gave their addresses as Windsor Street, Birmingham, were charged on remand with uttering counterfeit coin at Old Hill and Blackheath. On the 5th inst, William Andrews, keeper of the CROWN INN, Old Hill, noticed the two prisoners stop in front of his house and then part, Warr going down the road and Rivers going into the house. Rivers called for half a pint of ale, which the servant girl brought him, and in payment of which he gave her a florin. Andrews looked at the coin and discovered it was a bad one. He asked the prisoner how many more he had like it, and he made no answer. A policeman was then sent for, and the prisoner was given into his custody. Evidence was then given by Martha Smith, whose father keeps the NAVIGATION INN, Old Hill, showing that Rivers called at the house on the same date and asked for half a pint of ale, tendering a two-shilling piece in payment. Upon sounding it she found it was a bad one, and she refused to take it in payment or to supply the ale. Eliza Wright, wife of John Wright, landlord of the SPORTSMAN INN, Old Hill, stated that Rivers called in the house on the 5th and asked for half a pint of ale, in payment of which he tendered a florin. She did not notice that it was a bad one, and she gave him change. The same prisoner also passed a coin at a public house at Gorsty Hill. The whole of the coins were examined by Mr. Henn, jeweller, of Cradley Heath, and were found to be composed chiefly of lead. Upon being apprehended 10½d of good money was found upon Warr, and eight bad two shilling pieces. About 9s good money was found upon Rivers. PC Varrily, of the Birmingham force, gave evidence showing that the prisoner Rivers was committed at the Northampton Assizes in 1877, and sentenced to five years penal servitude. The Bench remanded the prisoner for seven days.”

Birmingham Mail 29/1/1883

“Stafford Assizes.

George Rivers (35), labourer, and Thomas Warr (40), labourer, were charged with uttering several bad half-crowns at Old Hill. Mr. Todd prosecuted. It appeared that Rivers on the 5th of December went to the CROWN INN, Old Hill, and asked for a pint of ale, tendering half a crown. The servant, doubting its genuineness, went in search of the landlord, William Andrews, outside the door. Andrews seeing it was bad, gave prisoner in charge of a policeman. He then remembered seeing the prisoner Warr talking to Rivers before going into the house. With a policeman he followed Warr, and arrested him at Hales Owen Bridge. In his possession were found eight counterfeit half-crowns, which he said he had been given him to carry by Rivers. Prisoners were found guilty. Rivers was an old offender, and having on three previous occasions been convicted for uttering base coin, he was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude. Warr was ordered to be imprisoned for a month.”

Dudley and District News 10/5/1884

“William Andrews, landlord of the CROWN INN, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was summoned for committing an assault upon William Gould, draper, Old Hill, by striking him with a red-hot poker, and was also charged with wilfully and maliciously damaging two coats, the property of the prosecutor, by burning them with the said poker, for which he claimed £2 16s, on the 17th ult. There was a cross summons taken out by the defendant, and the magistrates decided to hear them together. Mr. Homer appeared to prosecute, and Mr. Cooksey was for the defence.

Mr. Homer, in opening the case, said the defendant was the owner of a public house. The complainant called in for a glass of ale on his way home from Birmingham. He went into the smoke-room, and the defendant followed him. Defendant commenced to poke the fire, and after getting the poker hot he struck the complainant with it. He afterwards struck the complainant on the side of the face, knocking him down. As he endeavoured to get up the defendant went at him again, but was prevented from striking him by his daughter and the servant. Complainant then went out, and the defendant followed him, and was about to assault him again, when he was prevented by a man named Barnsley. The damages claimed by his client amounted to £2 16s, for injury done to his two coats by burning them.

William Gould said he was a draper and works at Old Hill. On the 17th ult he called at the defendant's public-house on his way from Birmingham. He ordered a glass of ale. It was brought to him in the smoke-room. As he went into the room, the defendant followed him. Defendant commenced to poke the fire. He poked it for five or six minutes. He then struck him across the back with the poker, which was red-hot, and afterwards drew it down his back. He asked him what he did it for, and he then struck him in the jaw, knocking him down. As he was getting up, the defendant came at him again, but was prevented from touching him by his daughter and servant coming between them. He then left the house and went towards Old Hill railway station. Defendant followed him out, and came after him. He was standing talking to a man named Barnsley when the defendant came up to him and was going to strike him again, when Barnsley would not let him do it. He did not say anything to the defendant that would cause him to commit the assault. Nothing was said that would justify him for the assault. He claimed £2 16s damages done to his clothes.

In cross-examination by Mr. Cooksey, he said he was standing by the table with his back to the fire. Did not see the defendant strike him but only felt the blow. He saw him with the poker in his hand afterwards. Did not know that the defendant was looking after a piece of iron in the fire. Never saw the hinge (produced) before.

This was the case for the prosecution, and Mr. Cooksey, for the defence, said his instructions were quite different to the evidence that had been given. He was informed that the assault was committed by the complainant upon receiving the damages complained of to his clothes. His client was charged with maliciously and wilfully damaging the complainant's coat, and unless he could convince them that the damage was not done wilfully, his case would be lost. The only cause the complainant could give them for the offence, was that he (the complainant) was a witness in a case against his client. He asked, then, was it likely, that a man would wilfully and deliberately go and strike the complainant with a hot poker, for a thing like that assigned, which occurred a few months back. Complainant had told them that he did not see the defendant strike him with the poker, but only saw defendant had the poker in his hand, and that he was poking in the fire, but he was after the piece of iron that had been in the fire for some time. It seems that while trying to get it out of the fire, it was accidentally thrown out, and struck the complainant. The complainant remonstrated with him for the damage he had received, and then struck him. He respectfully submitted that no assault took place. He would call the man Barnsley, who would tell them that the defendant made no attempt to assault the complainant. The summons for refusing to quit was taken out because the complainant refused to leave when requested to do so, but remained in the house, and was continually insulting the defendant.

William Andrews, the defendant, stated that on the 17th ult complainant came to his house. He was in the bar, standing with his back to the fire. He asked him to move, and he refused. He never struck the complainant at all, but he was struck accidentally by a piece of hot iron. He then became abusive, and he ordered him out, but he refused to go.

Cross-examined: I did not strike the complainant with the poker. I did not follow him into the yard. I followed him to the door. I did not strike him at all. My daughter and servant were not in the room. They never prevented me from striking the complainant. I did not send a solicitor to settle the case, but believe my daughter did.

Richard Barnsley said he was in defendant's house on the day named. He was in the tap-room. Complainant was in the bar. He heard defendant say to complainant, ‘Sit down, or go out.’ By request of the defendant's daughter he went out of the house soon after the complainant, and saw him standing in the yard. He heard the defendant ask him to go home. He did not see the defendant strike the complainant. Complainant did not make any complaint to him that the defendant had burned his jackets.

The Bench thought the case proved, and fined him 40s and costs for the assault, and he was also ordered to pay £2 16s, the amount claimed for damages. The case against the complainant, for not quitting the defendant's premises was dismissed.”

County Express 9/1/1886

“Inland Revenue Prosecution.

William Andrews, publican, Waterfall Lane, Old Hill, was summoned for keeping three carriages when he held licenses for only two.

Mr. B. Davis, supervisor, appeared to prosecute, and said he did not wish for a heavy penalty. Defendant let carriages for hire, and took out licenses for two in 1885. In October an officer found he had three vehicles, and on the 13th of the same month he saw the vehicle for which no license was taken out being used.

Thomas Cruikshank, an officer of inland revenue, deposed to visiting the defendant's premises and finding a four-wheel cab, a hansom cab and a waggonette. The latter, for which no license had been taken out, he saw being used near Old Hill station on the 13th October.

Defendant pleaded guilty, but said he had never used the waggonette before.

A fine of 60s including costs was imposed.”

County Advertiser 29/9/1888

“The adjourned licensing sessions for the Petty Sessional Division of Rowley Regis were held at the Police Court.....

An application on behalf of Mr. Benjamin Darby, HORSE SHOE INN, Waterfall Lane, Old Hill, for a wine license, was made by Mr. T. Tanfield, who pointed out that applicant had kept the present inn for five years, and that he paid a rental of £30 yearly. The application, which was opposed by Mr. Waldron on behalf of Mr. Andrews, of the CROWN INN, was granted.”

Birmingham Post 25/4/1889

“Last night a meeting of the Midland Counties Trade Council was held at the CROWN INN, Old Hill, under the presidency of Mr. John Taylor.....”

1891 Census

96, Waterfall Lane – CROWN INN

[1] William Andrews (54), widower, licensed victualler, born Ditton Priors, Shropshire;

[2] Mary E. Andrews (28), daughter, born Brierley Hill;

[3] Hannah Nock (30), general servant, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Charles Mason (23), general servant, born West Bromwich:

Birmingham Daily Post 28/5/1892

“Yesterday afternoon Mr. F. W. Topham (deputy coroner) opened an inquest at the CROWN INN, Old Hill, concerning the death of Ann Maria Gill (28), widow, formerly residing at Harborne, who was found drowned in a pool at Old Hill on Thursday, under circumstances already reported. Mr. A. G. Tanfield appeared on behalf of the prisoner Harry Pugh, but the latter was not present, he having been detained at the Winson Green Gaol yesterday morning.

John Taylor, the father of the deceased, a boiler maker, residing at Rowley, said the deceased was the widow of a miner named Thomas Gill, who was formerly employed at Hamstead Colliery, and lived at Handsworth. He last saw deceased alive about nine months ago, and she visited his house at Rowley. He understood that since her husband's death she had been keeping company with the prisoner, but he (witness) did not know Pugh. He also understood they were to be married six months ago. Deceased was cheerful, and not at all a young woman likely to destroy herself. He did not know that she had any trouble on her mind, and he had no reason to suppose there was anything to cause her to commit suicide.

The Coroner said that was all the evidence he proposed to take on that occasion, and it would be necessary to adjourn the enquiry for a post-mortem examination of the body to be made. The enquiry was adjourned until next Friday.”

[At the adjourned inquest a verdict of manslaughter was returned against Harry Pugh, who was committed for trial. At the Staffordshire Assizes it was stated that Pugh and Gill had mutually agreed to commit suicide together, and as party to this agreement Pugh was charged with wilful murder. He was found not guilty. Charges of attempting suicide, and also the indictment found by the coroner's jury of manslaughter, were not proceeded with.]

County Advertiser 15/10/1892

“William Small, Eve Hill, Dudley, was charged with stealing a dog, the property of William Green, on the 3rd inst. It appeared that prosecutor left his dog under the charge of Mr. Andrews, landlord of the CROWN INN, Cradley Heath, in the afternoon of the day named. When he went for it the next day he was told that two boatmen had taken it away. Defendant said that Andrews said he might have it, and he offered to buy it from complainant. Ultimately the Bench ordered defendant to pay the costs.”

County Advertiser 18/8/1894

“On Wednesday night, a tobacconist named Robert James Ford, late of High Street, Cradley, committed suicide in Pig Lane Pool, Old Hill, belonging to the New British Iron Company. It appears that the deceased left home at 11.30 Wednesday morning, ostensibly to go to Birmingham, to pay some accounts. He, however, appears to have changed his mind, and went to Cradley Heath and Old Hill to solicit orders and receive accounts, and seemed to be in the best of spirits. Shortly before seven o'clock he was seen to go in the direction of Pig Lane Pool, and was observed by a girl named Lillie Emery to get over the fence, place his hat on the embankment, and immediately afterwards throw himself into the water, and she saw him rise to the surface three times. She raised an alarm, and information was given to the police. In the meantime a man named Mathew Morris, hearing of the occurrence, went to the pool and jumped into the water, and succeeded in recovering the body. Restoratives were applied, and everything possible done to restore consciousness, but all to no effect. The body was removed to the CROWN INN, Old Hill. Deceased was in a very good financial position, and, in addition to being a tobacconist, he held a good appointment as a chainmaker. Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest yesterday (Friday) morning, at the CROWN INN, Old Hill, on the body of deceased. Mary Ford, wife of deceased, said that about three years ago deceased had an attack of brain fever, and since that time he had not been in good health.

Lillie Emery said that on Wednesday she was walking near the reservoir belonging to the New British Iron Company in Pig Lane, when she saw deceased standing on the wall near the pool. When witness got nearly opposite deceased he took off his hat, walked a little way into the water, and afterwards took a dive. Witness shouted to three men, who were about thirty yards away, to rescue the deceased, and one went to fetch a rake from some houses a short distance away. The other two men stood by and watched deceased drown without making any attempt at rescue.

A man named Morris deposed to getting the body of deceased out of the water, which was only about four feet deep. Restoratives were applied by Inspector Given, but life was found to be extinct.

Police-constable Paling deposed to searching the deceased and finding £29 6s in his possession.

The Coroner said it seemed to him a most extraordinary thing that the man should be allowed to drown when assistance was so near at hand. The three men had certainly been guilty of gross negligence in not trying to save the man when they saw him jump into the water. Deceased had committed suicide in a most determined manner.

A verdict to the effect that deceased committed Suicide whilst Temporarily Insane was returned by the jury."

Birmingham Daily Post 18/8/1894

"Yesterday Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the CROWN INN, Old Hill, respecting the death of Caroline Dinah Jane Whitehouse (33), wife of James Whitehouse, of Cromwell Street, Saltley, who was killed on the Great Western Railway, in Old Hill Tunnel, on Wednesday.

Caroline Fox, mother of the deceased, said that about a fortnight ago deceased and her children visited her house at Cradley with the intention of staying during the holidays. For some time past deceased had been depressed in her mind. Early on Wednesday morning witness heard deceased's children crying, and upon going into the room found that their mother was missing. On several occasions lately Mrs. Whitehouse had said she wished she were dead.

Samuel Stacey, a foreman in the employ of the railway company, said that on Wednesday he found the body of deceased lying in the four foot on the down road.

James Whitehouse, husband of the deceased, said about six months ago his wife's mind became affected. On one occasion she attempted to strangle one of her children, and since then deceased had improved, and he did not see any necessity for her to be watched.

The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst Temporarily Insane."

County Express 5/6/1897

"On Wednesday an inquest was held at the CROWN INN by Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) on William Andrews, aged 60, for 31 years landlord of the CROWN INN, who died from injuries through falling from a horse.

William Thomas Andrews, station-master at Daisy Bank, son of deceased, said his father was fairly well in health up to a few weeks ago, when he complained of gout in the head, which greatly affected his eyes. On the previous Wednesday, the deceased went round by Cradley Heath to Halesowen on horseback, and it was reported that on the way home he fell on his head into the street. The horse came galloping home by itself, and two men found his father stretched on his back. Deceased was accustomed to horses, and had frequently ridden with the hounds.

Rowland Barnsley, clerk for the Belle Vue Tube Company, said on the previous Wednesday night, when near the Haden Hill colliery, he heard the footsteps of a horse, and soon afterwards noticed deceased on horseback. He was riding on the footpath. On getting opposite him, he fell headlong into the street, but he could not account for the accident in any way. He ran for assistance, and Joseph Rudge returned with him to the place, but they then found that the deceased was standing on his feet along with two other men. There was nothing to lead him to believe that the deceased was intoxicated. He did not say how the accident happened.

Joseph W. Sadler, nail and chain manufacturer, said he was in the CROWN on the Wednesday night in question, when the deceased's horse came galloping home without a rider. He immediately proceeded along the lane, and met Mr. Andrews walking side by side with the ostler, they being then about three hundred yards from home. He said, 'Hallo, Andrews, are you hurt?' to which question he replied, 'Not much.' He asked him to take his arm, but he did not do so, saying he could manage. On getting home, he appeared as right as if no accident had happened. He was perfectly sober and conscious. He afterwards called to see the deceased, and he rambled in his speech.

Inspector Given deposed that he made enquiries into the matter, and several witnesses who saw deceased said he was perfectly sober. Over a year ago deceased had a bad attack of influenza, which affected his health considerably. Deceased was attended by three doctors. He had seen two of them and they agreed that death was due to concussion, caused by falling from the horse.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.

Deceased was one of the oldest publicans at Old Hill, and was widely known and respected."

County Express 26/6/1897 - Advert

"CROWN INN, Old Hill, Staffs. (One Minute's Walk from Old Hill Railway Station, Great Western Railway).

E. H. Boilstone has received instructions from the Representatives of the late Mr. William Andrews, to Sell by Auction, on the Premises, on Wednesday, June 30th, 1897, the whole of the Household Furniture & Effects, Live & Dead Farming Stock, comprising, Two New Milch Cows, Berkshire Brawn, Capital Sow (in Pig), Sow and 8 Pigs, Sow and 10 Pigs, Two Brown Mares, 7 years old 15½ hands high; Two Capital Cart Colts, 4 years old; Capital Brougham (shafts and pole complete), Dog Cart, with lamps and cushions complete, equal to new; Dennet Gig, with lamps and cushions complete; Capital Single and Double Harness, silver-plated, equal to new; Cart Tackle, Strong Cart, with Thripples; Chaff Machines, Weighing Machines (by Avery), Large Quantity of Tools, Carpenter's Bench, Old Iron and Timber, as detailed in Catalogue, which may be had from the Auctioneer. Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock sharp. Auctioneer's Office: Od Hill, Staffs."

London Gazette 13/7/1897 - Notice

"Notice to Creditors. Re William Andrews Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that all persons having any claims against the estate of William Andrews late of the CROWN INN Waterfall-lane Old Hill in the county of Stafford Licensed Victualler who died on the 1st day of June 1897 and to whose estate letters of administration were granted out of the Lichfield District Registry of the Probate Division of Her Majesty's High Court of Justice on the 1st day of July 1897 are hereby required to send particulars in writing of such claims to me the undersigned Solicitor for the administrator on or before the 24th day of July 1897 after which date the said administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have had notice.

Dated this 9th day of July 1897.

Thomas Cooksey Old Hill Staffordshire."

County Advertiser 1/10/1898

"The adjourned licensing sessions for the Rowley petty sessional division were held on Wednesday.....

Mr. Cartland, of Birmingham, applied for a full license on behalf of Mr. Gadd, in respect of the HORSE SHOE INN The tenant of the house, Frank Gadd, was then called, and said The CROWN INN was separated from him by Waterfall Lane The CROWN INN, kept by Mr. McWhirter, was more than fifty yards away. There were six fully-licensed houses within 400 yards. He thought they had more callers from the station than the other six had....."

County Advertiser 28/4/1900 - Advert

"CROWN INN, Old Hill.

E. H. Boilstone is instructed by Mr. W. M. McWhirter (who is removing to COOKSEYS HOTEL, Old Hill) to Sell by Auction, on the above Premises, on Monday, April 30th, 1900, a quantity of Live and Dead Farming Stock, including Fat Pigs, White Yorkshire Sow and Pigs (pedigree bred), Tamworth Boar (pedigree bred), Cow and Calf, Turkeys, Geese, Fowls, Ducks, Roan Cob, 14.3, rising 7 years, quiet to ride and drive, fast; Black Cob, 15 hands, 5 years old, quiet to ride and drive; Two Pony Carts, in perfect order; Cart and Thripples, Brass-mounted and other Harness, Cart Tackle, Swede Pulper, Weighing Machine, Churn, Butter Tub, Trays, &c; quantity of Casks, Grindstone, Garden Tools, Wash Boilers; also a Lady's Rudge Whitworth Bicycle, Pneumatic Tyres, &c.

Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock.

Other Entries may be made on application to the Auctioneer, not later than Saturday, April 28th.

Auctioneer's Office: Old Hill."

William Meldrum McWhirter – see also CROSS, COOKSEY'S HOTEL, WIZARD AND GLASS and CORNGREAVES HOTEL.

West Bromwich Weekly News 23/6/1900

"On Wednesday, at Rowley Regis, George Perks, landlord of the CROWN HOTEL, Waterfall Lane, Old Hill, and underground manager of the Fly Colliery, Old Hill, was charged with obtaining £1 16s 4d by false pretences from Mr. Robert Fellowes, the proprietor of the colliery, and also with attempting to obtain by similar pretences £1 4s 0d. It was alleged that prisoner made a false entry in the wage book.

Mr. S. Ward, who defended, said prisoner, who was not guilty, would reserve his defence, and he was committed for trial."

[At the Staffordshire Quarter Sessions George Perks was found guilty and sent to prison.]

1901 Census

96, Waterfall Lane

[1] Walter Willetts (29), licensed victualler's manager, born Blackheath;

[2] Clara J. Willetts (28), wife, born Blackheath;

[3] Reginald Willetts (5), son, born Blackheath;

[4] Herbert W. Willetts (3), son, born Blackheath;

[5] Mary Willetts (1), daughter, born Blackheath:

Smethwick Weekly News 25/5/1901

"On Sunday evening, between five and six o'clock, a boy named Joseph Priest (4), whose parents reside in Waterfall Lane, Old Hill, was drowned in the Birmingham Canal, near the Great Western Railway Station. It appears the boy was playing on the towing path, when he accidentally fell into the water. Help was at hand, and he was got out immediately, and artificial respiration resorted to by Police Constable Orme, but without effect.

Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest on the body, at the CROWN INN, on Tuesday, and the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

County Advertiser 1/8/1903

“An occasional license was granted to Walter Willetts, of the CROWN INN, Old Hill, on the occasion of the Old Hill Cricket Club’s annual fetes at Haden Park on the 4th of August.”

County Advertiser 30/1/1904

“Mr. Thompson, of Dudley, supported an application on behalf of the North Worcestershire Brewery Company, for permission to alter licensed premises of the CROWN HOTEL, Old Hill. Superintendent Johnson said the alterations were very desirable, but asked for an undertaking to be given that the premises would be put into a thorough state of repair. They were at present in a wretched state and almost uninhabitable. Mr. Thompson said that the alterations would be carried out as soon as the justices sanctioned them. The application was then approved.”

County Advertiser 24/8/1907

“Applications for the temporary transfer of licenses were made for the CHAINMAKERS ARMS, Cradley Heath, from Sarah Chatwin to Frederick Marris Mason; and the CROWN INN, Old Hill, from Walter Willetts to Sarah Chatwin.

Inspector Gibbs: Are you the licensee of the CHAINMAKERS ARMS? – Mrs. Chatwin: Yes.

How long is it since you left? – Twelve weeks.

Not more? – Not more.

It is more than twelve weeks, is it not? – No.

You have not had charge of the house although it has been in your name? You left the business entirely in the hands of Mason? – I have attended there when I could. My health failed.

Are you going to be the tenant of the CROWN INN? – Yes.

Are you going to reside there? – Yes.

And look after the business yourself? – Yes, with my father.

The applications were granted.”

Tipton Herald 10/7/1909

“At a well-attended meeting of colliers from the New Hawne and Timberwell collieries, held on Monday in the OLD CROWN INN, Waterfall Lane, Old Hill, a resolution was unanimously passed condemning the actions of those miners who has circulated the base and contemptible rumours that Mr. Winwood, the agent, was in league with the mine owners to the disadvantage of the colliers. They also passed a note of confidence in Mr. Winwood and thanked him for his untiring efforts he had put forward at all time on behalf of the colliers.”

Indenture 28/10/1909

“All that message or dwelling-house with the land in front thereof together with the brewhouse stabling coach-house piggeries gardens outbuildings and appurtenances thereto belonging which house and premises are used as a public-house and known as the CROWN INN and are situate at Waterfall Lane.....”

1911 Census

Station Road – CROWN INN

[1] Walter Edward Broadbent (33), publican, born Rowley;

[2] Hannah Elizabeth Broadbent (33), wife, married 11 years, born Ansley;

[3] Edward L. F. Broadbent (6), son, born Old Hill;

[4] Edna May Broadbent (2), daughter, born Old Hill;

[5] Mary Weaver (20), general servant, born Old Hill:

Dudley Chronicle 26/8/1911

“On Saturday the members of the Sick and Draw Club at the CROWN INN, Station Road Old Hill, partook of dinner in the club room. A jovial evening was afterwards spent, and at the close the host and hostess (Mr. and Mrs. Broadbent) were heartily thanked for the manner in which they had served the meal.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 20/5/1915

“Award Awaited! Fresh Trouble With Engine Winders (by our Special Correspondent).

Complications have arisen in connection with the miners’ strike in the Black Country. The men at a meeting last night decided to return to work today pending the award of Lord Coleridge on the war bonus. On the other hand, the colliery engine winders (or driver) at a meeting at Dudley yesterday refused the employers’ war bonus and decided to cease work.

The strike of miners came to a stop last night as suddenly and unexpected as it began on Monday morning.

At a mass meeting held behind the CROWN HOTEL, Old Hill, in the morning, Mr. William Johnson MP, Mr. Latham, from Salop (members of the Miners’ Federation), Mr. Sam Edwards (the local representative), and the Rev. J. H. Hirst (a local Nonconformist minister) appealed to some 2,000 strikers to return to work. But the men by an overwhelming vote decided to go on ‘playing.’

The union leaders, did not give up hope. They announced an evening meeting, and then went off to reconfer at the Priory Office, Dudley, with Mr Tyron, Lord Dudley’s agent, and representatives of several other prominent colliery owners.

Meanwhile the men spent an idle afternoon, and the temper of the general body of strikers at six o’clock, when Mr. Edwards and Mr. Latham and the Rev. Hirst again met them at Old Hill, did not appear favourable to a settlement.....

The meeting was by no means harmonious, but on this occasion the stirring appeals of the would-be strike settlers were not made in vain. The decision to resume work was by no means unanimous, and some doubt was afterwards expressed as to whether the whole of the strikers would descend the pit shafts today.....

According to Mr. Edwards, last night's decision came only just in time to avoid an unpleasant sequel in the police courts. The colliery owners had decided to take proceedings against the majority, if not all, of the men leaving work without notice. Indeed a few summonses had been issued, but, Mr. Edwards said, it was quite likely that these would now be withdrawn."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 1/10/1915

"Rod and Line.

CROWN INN (Old Hill) closed their season with a contest at Holt Fleet....."

Walter Edward Broadbent – see also WATERFALL.

William Thompson = Walter William Thomson

Evening Despatch 25/3/1936

"When William Sidney Hyde, licensee of the STAR VAULTS, Bilston, applied at Old Hill today for a temporary transfer to him of the CROWN INN, Old Hill, Supt. Elliott secured from him the promise that he would give up the employment hitherto followed by him and devote his whole time to the supervision of the public house. The application was granted."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 11/6/1936

"A police objection to the full transfer of a public house license on the ground that the applicant was following other employment was upheld at Old Hill yesterday when Mr. O. L. Bergendorff asked for the full transfer of the license of the CROWN INN, Old Hill, from George Booth to Sydney Hyde.

When the temporary transfer was granted, he said, Mr. Hyde gave an undertaking that he would give up the employment he was then following in order to devote the whole of his time to the house. He gave that undertaking in perfectly good faith, but had only gone into the house that morning and had no knowledge of the conditions. He had, however, since found that it was quite impossible to give up his employment. If the full transfer were granted Hyde would undertake to get out of the house at the earliest possible moment.

Supt. Elliott objected. 'The undertaking was given to the magistrates when the temporary transfer was granted that Mr. Hyde would give up his employment and that undertaking has not been fulfilled,' he said.

When the application was refused Mr. Bergendorff asked for a Protection Order, and when the Clerk (Mr. T. T. Dineen) pointed out that the owner should be present for such an application, Mr. Bergendorff suggested that the licensee could do so in the absence of the owner.

The Chairman (Mr. A. H. Bassano): There is no reason why the magistrates should study the owner's convenience if he disregards the court by failing to appear.

The owner was thereupon called by telephone and when he arrived at court the application was renewed and the Protection Order granted."

1939 Register

Station Road – CROWN INN

[1] Bert Cooper, date of birth 23/10/1895, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Ethel Cooper, dob 27/11/1891, licensed victualler, married:

John Henry Billingham – see also ROYAL EXCHANGE.

Jeffrey Cooper Billingham – see also BEEHIVE, Tipton.

Birmingham Daily Post 24/12/1962

"A Cheque for £101, raised by the licensee and the customers, was presented at the CROWN INN, Old Hill, on Saturday, to Mr. G. Burton, an official of the Midlands Spastic Association."

Halesowen News 1/8/2020

"A new Eat Out to Help Out postcode checker has been launched by the government that allows you to find out which business in Halesowen and the surrounding areas are taking part in the scheme.

Eat Out to Help Out officially begins on Monday, August 3. Customers will be able to get a 50 per cent discount on food or non-alcoholic drinks (up to a £10 discount per diner) at participating establishments. The scheme will run every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday until Monday, August 31. Establishments will claim a reimbursement from the government for the discount they've given. Participating establishments may include restaurants, cafés, bars or pubs, work and school canteens and food halls. Here are the establishments so far registered to take part in the scheme within five miles of Halesowen town centre.....

CROWN INN, Station Road."

[2020]

CROWN AND ANCHOR

7, Providence Street, (Foxoak Street), (Union Street), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1896)
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1909) [1928]

LICENSEES

William Morgan [1864] – [1868]
Felix R Hingley [1871] – 1873);
Benjamin Woodhall (1873 – []
John Tibbetts [] – 1877);
Joseph Price (1877 – 1878);
David Bridge (1878 – 1882);
Thomas Harris (1882 – 1885);
Edwin Harris (1885 – []
John Parker [1889]
John Henry Stafford [1891] – [1896]
John Perry [1900] – [1901]
John Gregory [1904] – 1905);
James Hiram Robins* (1905)
James William Robins* (1905);
Daniel Homer (1905 – 1911);
Joseph Roberts (1911 – [1912]
John Denning (1913 – 1914);
Edwin Crump (1914 – []
Rose Elizabeth Crump [] – 1919);
Edwin Crump (1919 – 1922);
Henry Insley (1922 – 1928);

NOTES

It had an ante '69 beerhouse license.

County Advertiser 27/8/1864

“Yesterday, the annual licensing of the Rowley division was held at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill.....
There were nine applications by beerhouse keepers for licenses, only one of which was granted.....
William Morgan, CROWN AND ANCHOR, Newtown (refused).”

Stourbridge Observer 7/1/1865

“Cradley Heath. On Wednesday evening last, at about half past nine o’clock, Mr. William Morgan, of the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, at the above place, attempted to destroy himself by the popular method of hanging. The unfortunate man was in a very depressed and troubled state. He fastened a chain to the brewhouse door, and hung himself upon it. After he had hung about two minutes, he was discovered, and immediately taken down. Consciousness was restored in about ten minutes. We hope the next time Mr. Morgan attempts to escape the troubles of life, he will adopt other means than self destruction.”

Birmingham Daily Post 12/1/1865 - Advert

“CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath.
Clearing Out Of The Brewing Plant.

1-strike Mash Tub, 160-gallon wrought-iron and other Furnaces, pair of deal Ale Vats, 120-gallon and smaller seasoned Ale Casks, Stock of about 350 gallons of prime Fresh Ale, Tubs, excellent four-pull Ale Machine, Drinking Tables, rail-back Chairs, Sign, portion of the neat Household Furniture, eight-day Spring Clock, and other valuable Effects, at the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath aforesaid.

To Be Sold By Auction, by Mr. Chandler, on Monday Next, January 16, at Eleven o’clock, by direction of Mr. W. Morgan, who is declining business and leaving.

The House and Premises to be Let, with immediate possession.

The Plant and Stock may be taken to by the in-coming Tenant at a fair valuation, any time prior to the Sale, on application to the Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 14/1/1865 - Advert

“CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath.

To be Let, with early possession, the above House and Premises, which are situate near to large chain and other works. Coming-in can be reduced to about £80.

Apply to Mr. Chandler, Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 13/10/1866 - Advert

“CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath.

To Let, with immediate possession, the above well-frequented House of Business, commandingly situated in a populous neighbourhood, and near to large iron and chain works and a land-sale colliery, which is being re-opened. The premises are roomy and convenient, having been built expressly for this trade. Coming-in about £40.

Apply to Mr. Chandler, Publicans' Valuer, &c, Cradley Heath.”

Birmingham Daily Post 12/9/1867 - Advert

“CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, to be Disposed Of, near large Ironworks. In-coming about £40.

Apply to Mr. Chandler, Publicans' Valuer, &c, Cradley Heath.”

Stourbridge Observer 26/9/1868

“At the Public Office, on Wednesday last, before F. W. G. Barrs, Esq, William Morgan, landlord of the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, was charged by Superintendent Mills with keeping his house open for the sale of beer on the night of the 21st ult, after lawful hours. Mr. Ponton defended.

Police-constable Johnson proved that he visited the defendant's house at 11.35. He found two men in the house, drinking.

Defendant, in answer to the charge, said that a man drove up with a horse and trap, and that he had nothing to drink.

Ordered to pay costs.”

1871 Census

Union Street – CROWN AND ANCHOR

[1] Felix Hingley (26), widower, publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Blanche Hingley (5), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Bertram Hingley (4), son, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Mary Waples (18), domestic servant, born Netherton:

County Advertiser 26/5/1877 - Advert

“For Sale, the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, Cradley Heath, with four large Kitchens, Three Bed Rooms, large Club Room, Two good Cellars, Brewhouse, Stable, Pigstye, &c, comprising 595 yards.

Apply, Joseph Holt, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 9/3/1878

“Joseph Foxhall, miner, was charged with having assaulted Lucretia Bissell, a young woman of respectable appearance. It appeared from the evidence of the complainant that on the above-mentioned date while she was conversing with her uncle at the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, Cradley Heath, the defendant entered the room and began to use improper language. She put up her hand and requested defendant to go away, and he then struck her a violent blow on the eye, and with a second blow knocked her down.

Joseph Price, who gave corroborative evidence, said that defendant was not provoked in any way.

For the defence the defendant called a witness who swore that complainant struck the first blow.

A fine of 5s and costs was imposed, with an alternative of twenty-eight days' imprisonment.”

County Express 5/10/1878

“A meeting of the members of the Conservative Association was held on Tuesday evening last, at Mr. David Bridge's, New Town. There was a capital attendance, and several members were enrolled.....”

1881 Census

7, Providence Street – CROWN AND ANCHOR

[1] David Bridge (35), publican, born Dudley;

[2] Mary Bridge (33), wife, born Dudley;

[3] James Bridge (8), son, scholar, born Dudley;

[4] Sarah E. Bridge (7), daughter, scholar, born Dudley;

[5] Mary H. Bridge (4), daughter, born Dudley;

[6] David Bridge (1), son, born Rowley Regis;

[7] Leonora E. Bridge (1 month), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[8] Sarah A. Witchly (19), domestic servant, born Dudley:

Dudley and District News 13/5/1882

“At the Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday, before Messrs. W. Bassano and C. Holcroft, William Ball, alias George Keel, Poplar Place, Bridge Street, West Hockley, Birmingham, pearl and stud turner, and John Johnson, 12, Eaton Street, Hockley, pearl turner, were charged with uttering and putting off counterfeit coins representing half-crowns, and one florin, at Old Hill and Cradley Heath, on the 8th inst. On the prisoner Ball was found 8s 9d and five coins, and on Johnson 29s 7½d and two coins.

Joseph Manning, QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Road, said on Monday evening last the prisoners came to his house while he was sitting at tea. Ball called for two drinks, and was served by his wife, who called him to look at the half-crown they had tendered for the drink. He looked at the coin and broke it in two. It was bad, and he sent for a police officer, and detained Ball, but Johnson would not stay, and went out because he said he had nothing to do with Ball.

Aquilla Parkes, landlord of the BIRD IN HAND, Spinners End, said Ball came to his house on Monday afternoon about 4.30 and called for a glass of ale, tendering the base half-crown produced, he filled the glass of ale and gave him 2s 4½d back. It rang well on the counter. Ball drank the ale and went out. The next morning a police officer came and asked if he had taken any bad money, and his wife examined the money they took on Monday and picked the half-crown out, it being the only one they took that day. He identified Ball next day.

Susan Harris, wife of Thomas Harris, licensed victualler, CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, New Town, said on Monday Ball came to her house and asked for a bottle of soda water, she had none and gave him a bottle of ginger beer, he tendered her half-a-crown, she gave him 2s 4½d in change and he went out. Next day she found that the coin was bad.

Louisa Nicklin said she was servant to Priscilla Foley, who kept the BRITISH OAK, High Street. On Monday afternoon both the prisoners came to the house and Ball called for a pint of ale. She filled it and Ball gave her half-a-crown which she took to her mistress who gave her change. She was quite sure that Johnson was with Ball. Priscilla Foley said when her servant brought the half-crown and she had given her the change she went into the shop and saw the prisoners standing by the counter. Two more men were with them. When she went into the bar Ball asked for the cup to be filled, and gave her a two shilling piece, she gave him 1s 9½d in change, they did not wait to empty their cup but said they must go so as not to be caught in the rain. Ball and Johnson then left the other men and went out. The two coins she received were bad, and she gave them to the police.

Emma Johnson (14), daughter of Samuel Johnson, the HEARTY GOOD FELLOW, King Street, Old Hill, said she saw the prisoners come into the house on Monday afternoon. Ball called for a quart of ale, she supplied it and Ball gave her half-a-crown in payment. She gave the change, Ball threw the drink down and both went out. Her father wanted some change and she took it to Chances for sixpences.

Hanna Webb, barmaid at Mr. John Foley's, the SWAN INN, Old Hill, said the prisoner came into the house and Ball asked for some ale and tendered her half-a-crown, she took the coin to Mrs. Foley and gave Ball the change. Hannah Foley said Hannah Webb brought her a half-crown which she put in her pocket with the other money. The same night she gave it to a police officer. PC Litherley said he was sent for to the QUEENS HEAD, Corngreaves Road, on Monday and received the half-crown produced, from Mr. Manning, who said in the presence of Ball, that he had received it from him. He took Ball into custody, and he at first gave the name of George Keel, Hart Yard, Hatton Garden, London, and said it was not half-a-crown but a two shilling piece which he gave. PCs Litherley and Lawrence proved receiving the base coins produced from the witnesses.

Inspector Walters said on Monday the prisoner Ball was brought to the station and gave the name of George Keel, Hart Yard, Hatton Garden, London. He declined to give any reference, and said witness might enquire about it. He took him to Birmingham to the detective department, where he saw detective Baker, who called Keel by his right name, and said, ‘How do William Ball.’ He then went to Ball's address in Bridge Street, West Hockley, and on going into the house he found the prisoner Johnson lying on a screen, he then gave the name of George William Hobson, No.13, Eaton Street, Abbey Fields, Hockley. He told him he would be charged with being in company with Ball the previous day at Old Hill, and passing counterfeit coins. He replied, ‘I know nothing at all about it.’ He searched him and found £1 9s 7½d all in small coins. He told him he would have to go with him to Old Hill, when he became very violent, and rushed to the table to get a knife, but he put the handcuffs on him and brought him to Old Hill. He was present in the office when Ball was identified, and he might add that he went to Eaton Street, Hockley, but no such person as the prisoner Johnson was known there.

Honor Chance, wife of John Chance, 2, King Street, underground manager for Messrs. Hingley, said she changed half-a-crown for Emma Johnson on Monday afternoon. Emma came and told her that it was a bad half-crown, and took it back.

Eliza Johnson, wife of George Johnson, publican, KINGS HEAD, Elbow Street, said four men came to her house on Monday, and Ball asked for half-an-ounce of tobacco and a pipe, and gave her half-a-crown which she changed. PC Rowlands came at night, and she found the coin was a bad one.

Mr. Henn, Cradley Heath, said PC Litherley showed him three half-crowns which he examined and found to be bad. They were made principally of lead. PC Rowlands also showed him four half-crowns, and one two shilling piece which were counterfeit. The half-crowns were all from the same mould, dated 1875, and plated.

Prisoners were remanded to Stafford to appear on Wednesday.”

[At the Staffordshire Quarter Sessions, William Ball (32) and John Johnson (27), both button makers, were each sentenced to twelve months, Ball pleading guilty.]

Dudley and District News 5/1/1884

“Thomas Harris, landlord of the CROWN AND ANCHOR, Providence Street, Cradley Heath, was summoned for permitting drunkenness. Mr. Waldron appeared to prosecute, and Mr. Wright to defend. Mr. Waldron intimated that the police seemed satisfied with the explanation given by Mr. Wright, and had agreed to withdraw the summons on payment of costs. The Bench allowed that course to be taken.”

Dudley Mercury 16/2/1889

“John Parker, landlord of the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises, on the 6th inst. Police-constable Wallace said he visited the defendant's house at ten minutes to three on the afternoon of the date named, when he found two men named William Woodhouse and Joseph Wright in the house. On again going to defendant's house, about two hours later, he saw these two men in the kitchen, and both of them were in a drunken state. There were a quart jug and two glasses on the table before them. He afterwards saw Woodhouse, who asked him not to say anything about the affair. Police-constable Rowbottom spoke to seeing the two men on the defendant's premises, and also to seeing defendant lead Wright off the premises. Inspector Walters deposed that when he served the defendant with the summons he remarked, 'Well, there was only one boozed up, and that was Wright, but he had no drink that I filled. He was drunk when he came to my house.'

William Woodhouse and Joseph Wright, both of Cradley Heath, were charged with being drunk on licensed premises on the 6th inst, and the former, who had previously been convicted for drunkenness on licensed premises, was fined 5s and costs, and Wright 2s 6d and costs. The landlord was fined 20s and costs."

County Advertiser 5/4/1890 - Advert

"CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, New Town, Cradley Heath.

To Publicans, Brokers, and Others.

Mr. W. Hackett has received instructions to Sell by Auction, on Wednesday Next, April 9th, 1890, the whole of the excellent Brewing Plant and other Effects, as above, comprising 170 gallon nearly-new Copper Boiler, Cast Iron Boiler, Mash Tub, Wort Vats, Collecting Square, Oval, and Round Tubs, Hogshead and Half-hogshead Casks, Wort, Sieves, Mash Rules, and numerous other Effects.

A Four-Wheel Carriage, in good condition.

Sale to commence at Two o'clock.

Auctioneer's Offices, 78, High Street, Blackheath, and 303, Oldbury Road, West Smethwick."

1891 Census

7, Providence Street

- [1] John H. Stafford (50), cooper and publican, born Dudley;
- [2] Ambrose Stafford (47), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] John J. Stafford (24), son, journeyman cooper, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Prudence Stafford (18), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Alfred Stafford (11), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Martha Stafford (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] George H. Stafford (7), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Mary A. Stafford (30), daughter in law, born Stourbridge;
- [9] Alfred Stafford (8 months), grandson, born Stourbridge:

County Express 29/8/1891

"John Brooks, Foxoak Street, Cradley Heath, chainmaker, was charged with unlawfully wounding Ephraim Wood, of the Halesowen Road, Old Hill. Inspector Bishop said that on the 23rd the prosecutor and the defendant and others were in the STAR [sic] AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, Cradley Heath, when an altercation took place about their wives. During the row the defendant took up a pint cup and struck complainant a violent blow on the face with it.

Dr. Keay, Cradley Heath, said when he examined the complainant shortly after the occurrence he found him to be suffering from an incised wound on the face, and a cut on the lip. He was under the influence of drink at the time.

The Bench considered it a most disgraceful assault, and sentenced defendant to one month's imprisonment with hard labour, and ordered him to pay the costs, £1 12s, or another fourteen days."

Birmingham Daily Post 15/12/1892

"At the Police Court, yesterday – before Messrs. W. Bassano, J. Walker and A. H. Bassano (magistrates) – John Henry Stafford, landlord of the CROWN AND ANCHOR, Providence Street, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises on the 28th ult. Mr. Thompson defended.

Police-sergeant Newman and Police-constable Bennett gave evidence that they visited defendant's house, and saw a man named Naaman Cole drunk, and with a pint cup of ale before him. They spoke to the landlord, who seemed surprised, and he said he had not been there long, and added that he had ordered the man out several times, but he had refused to go.

For the defence, evidence was given that Cole was drunk when he entered the house, and being in that condition he was not served with any beer.

Mr. W. Bassano said the Bench had decided to dismiss the case, but at the same time they felt bound to say that the manner in which that class of cases were defended was nothing short of a public scandal. There had been undoubtedly perjury committed in the case. Cases of that kind, which he considered were of a moderate character, were bolstered up by wholesale perjury, and if it continued the Bench would feel it their duty to take severe steps in the matter.

Cole was fined 5s and costs for being drunk on the premises."

County Advertiser 3/10/1896

"Rowley Annual Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

The following adjourned applications were granted John Henry Stafford Structural alterations were required by the police in these cases, and these had been complied with."

On 3rd July 1899 delegates of the Midland Counties Trades Federation Conference were entertained at dinner here.

County Advertiser 10/11/1900

“James Sidaway, Pear Tree Street, was charged with refusing to quit the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, when requested by the landlord on the 30th ult.

John Perry, landlord, stated that defendant would persist in singing in his house against his wishes, because it was annoying to his customers. He refused to supply him with drink, and requested him to leave, and he refused to do so. When the police were sent for, defendant left the house.

Defendant said he did not know that singing in a public house was being guilty of disorderly conduct.

The Bench fined defendant 10s and costs.”

1901 Census

Providence Street

- [1] John Perry (36), publican, born Dudley;
- [2] Sarah A. Perry (33), wife, born Cradley Heath;
- [3] Reginald Perry (5), son, born Cradley Heath;
- [4] Claud Perry (3), son, born Cradley Heath;
- [5] Charles Perry (1), son, born Cradley Heath:

County Advertiser 20/4/1901 - Advert

“Sale of Household Furniture, Harness, and Other Effects, at the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, Cradley Heath.....”

John Gregory, beer retailer, 7, Providence Street. [1904]

*possibly the same person

County Advertiser 27/7/1907

“The annual Friendly Societies’ service at Cradley Heath took place on Sunday last in St. Luke’s Church, Four Ways. Prior to the service, a grand procession was formed in a field in King Street (kindly lent by Mrs. Burley) and paraded the principal streets. The order of the procession was as follows: Patrons, Committee, Salvation Army Band, HEATH TAVERN Good Samaritan, CROWN AND ANCHOR Pride of Cradley Heath, HOPE AND ANCHOR Pride of the Garden, Quarry Bank Silver Band, Pride of the Heath, Foresters’ Home, Robin Hood’s Merry Rangers, Church Benefit Society, Rechabites, Cable and Anchor, Cradley Heath town prize band, Police, Fire Brigade.....

The proceeds will be distributed between the Dispensary, Guest, and Eye Hospitals, Dudley; Eye, Ear and Throat, and General Hospitals, Birmingham; and the Local Sick Room and Nursing Fund.”

County Express 21/1/1911

“At the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday.....

In the course of an application for the transfer of the license of the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Providence Street, from Daniel Homer to Joseph Roberts, it was stated that the outgoing tenant was reluctant to attend the Court and consent to the transfer. Mr. T. Cooksey (justices’ clerk) explained that under the Act it was the applicant’s duty to see that Homer was present. Applicant said he could not say why Homer was not there. He had been requested to be present.

Mr. Cooksey: It is your duty to bring him. I believe that this man Homer is very stupid about coming here.

Applicant: Yes, sir.

The Bench granted a temporary transfer, and Mr. Cooksey told applicant that he would have to take out a summons and compel Homer to appear at the Court.”

Birmingham Mail 8/2/1911

“The annual general Licensing Sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held today.....

The whole of the licenses were renewed excepting the OLD LION INN, Old Hill, BEEHIVE INN, Hawes Lane, Rowley, and the CROWN AND ANCHOR INN, Cradley Heath, which were deferred until the adjourned licensing sessions in order that notices of objection can be served upon the owners on the ground of redundancy.”

1911 Census

Providence Street – CROWN AND ANCHOR

- [1] Joseph Roberts (28), licensed victualler, born Halesowen;
- [2] Ann Louisa Roberts (26), wife, married 3 years, born Cradley Heath;
- [3] Carl Eric Joseph Roberts (1), son, born Cradley Heath;
- [4] Edwin Wherley (46), visitor, theatrical manager, born Stockton on Tees; British by parentage;
- [5] Una Wherley (36), visitor, actress, born South Shields; British by parentage;
- [6] Lucia Wherley (4), visitor, born Kingston on Thames:

Joseph Roberts, beer retailer, 7, Providence Street. [1912]

Joseph Roberts – check PLOUGH AND HARROW.

John Denning – see also ANCHOR.

Henry Insley, beer retailer, 7, Providence Street. [1924]

Dudley Chronicle 13/2/1924

“The Adjourned Licensing Sessions for the Old Hill Petty Session Division was held at the Police Court on March 5..... The licenses of the CROWN AND ANCHOR, Cradley Heath which had been adjourned from the annual sessions, would be renewed.”

Dudley Chronicle 16/2/1928

“Annual Licensing Sessions for Rowley Regis..... They had all the applications for renewals before them, and they had given consideration to them with a view to reducing their number. They had decided to defer until the adjourned licensing day the licenses of..... CROWN AND ANCHOR, Cradley Heath, on the ground of redundancy.”

The license renewal was referred to the Compensation Authority on 7th March 1928.

Staffordshire Advertiser 21/7/1928

“The principal meeting of the Licensing Compensation Authority for the county was held at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Monday, when 14 licences which had been scheduled by the licensing justices, mostly from the South Staffordshire area, came under consideration. Of these three were renewed and the remainder were referred for compensation..... The licence of the CROWN AND ANCHOR, Cradley Heath, an ante '69 beerhouse, was referred for compensation.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 4/8/1928 - Notice

“The Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910. County Of Stafford.
Notice Is Hereby Given, that the Compensation Authority for the above area, having decided at their Principal Meeting, held on the 16th day of July, 1928, to Refuse the Renewal of the Licenses of the Premises specified below, all persons claiming to be interested in the said premises for the purpose of the payment of Compensation under the said Act (other than the Licensee, and the Registered Owner of the said Premises) are required to send to the Compensation Authority notice of their Claims before the 14th day of September, 1928, for the purpose of enabling the Compensation Authority to ascertain in manner provided by the Licensing Rules, 1910, the persons entitled to Compensation under the said Act in respect of the said Premises.....
CROWN AND ANCHOR, Providence Street, Cradley Heath. Beerhouse ante 1869. Licensee, Henry Insley. Registered Owners, The Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd.”

Compensation was paid on 22nd December 1928.

The house closed on 29th December 1928.

Staffordshire Advertiser 5/1/1929

“County Quarter Sessions. Licensing Compensation Awards.
At the Supplemental meeting the committee awarded a total sum of £15,230 in compensation, and considered that the amounts agreed upon were satisfactory both from the point of view of the parties interested and the Compensation Fund. The amounts approved were as follows.....
CROWN AND ANCHOR, Cradley Heath, beerhouse, ante 1869, £1,825.
The amounts awarded had been apportioned between the interested parties and paid.”

CYDER AND COBB

167, Halesowen Street, BLACKHEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

NOTES

A micropub which opened in May 2021.
The building was a former shoe shop.

Dudley & South Staffordshire CAMRA Cider Pub of the Year 2023.

[2023]

DUKE WILLIAM

27, Highgate Street, (27, (100), High Street), (100, Garratts Lane), OLD HILL

OWNERS

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd.
Albert Eland Sidaway [1921]
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired on 14th August 1947)

LICENSEES

James Green [1841] – [1843]
Joseph Foley [1844] – [1854]
Samuel Williams [1860]
Miles Bladen [1861]
Joseph Foley [1861]
John Foley [1862] – [1887]
Albert Chapman [1890] – [1892]
Edward Foley [1893] – [1908]
Mrs. Annie Foley (1908 – [1916]
Albert Eland Sidaway [] – 1919);
Albert John Sidaway (1919 – 1947);
Lawrence Reginald Hackett (1947 – 1949);
Joseph Thomas Hardwick (1949 – 1964);
John Henry Taylor (1964 – [1965]
F Les Meese [1976]

NOTES

Garratts Lane [1849], [1854], [1860], [1861], [1877]
100, Garratts Lane [1896]
100, High Street [1904], [1908]
27, High Street [1912], [1916], [1924], [1932], [1940]
27, Highgate Street

It was a home brew house.
It had a brewery at the rear.

It had a bowling club.

Flower and vegetable shows were held here.

1841 Census

Garratts Lane
[1] James Green (44), publican, born Staffordshire;
[2] Sophia Green (44), born Staffordshire;
[3] John Green (24), nailer, born Staffordshire;
[4] Sophia Green (14), born Staffordshire;
[5] Thomas Green (12), born Staffordshire;
[6] Rebecka Green (10), born Staffordshire:

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 24/4/1843 - Advert

“Freehold Premises at Reddall Hill.

To be Sold by Auction by Jesse Wright, Tomorrow (Tuesday), April 25, at six o'clock in the evening, at the house of Mr. James Green, the DUKE WILLIAM, Garratts Lane, in the parish of Rowley Regis, under such conditions as will then be produced, and either together or in the following lots, as may be then determined, two newly-erected Freehold Dwelling Houses, Shopping, and about seven hundred yards of Garden Land.....”

Wolverhampton Chronicle 12/6/1844

“Joseph Foley, a licensed victualler, at Old Hill, was convicted in the penalty of 40s and costs, for allowing card-playing in his house.”

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 28/10/1844 - Notice

“Insolvent Debtor, to be heard at the Court House, at Shrewsbury, in the county of Salop, on the 29th day of November, 1844, at ten o'clock in the morning.

James Green, late of Oldbury, near Hales Owen, Shropshire, out of business, living with my Son-in-law, James Appleby; previously of the DUKE WILLIAM, Old Hill, Rowley Regis, Staffordshire, near Dudley, Worcestershire, Licensed Victualler and Innholder, Nail-maker and Dealer, and Hay-dealer, Grocer and Shopkeeper, at the same time trading under the firm of James Green and Son, as Nail-makers and Dealers only; and formerly of the DUKE WILLIAM, Old Hill, Rowley Regis aforesaid, Licensed Victualler, Innholder, Nail-maker and Dealer, and Hay-dealer, Grocer and Shopkeeper.
C. B. Wilson, 13, Furnival's Inn, for Henry Jones, Shrewsbury.”

Eddowes's Journal 4/12/1844

“A Court for the Relief of Insolvent Debtors was held on Friday last at the Shirehall.....

James Green, of Oldbury, publican, was unopposed, declared entitled to the benefit of the act, and ordered to be discharged forthwith.”

Joseph Foley was also a saddler. [1849], [1850], [1854]

1851 Census

Garratts Lane

- [1] Joseph Foley (44), victualler, born Dudley;
- [2] Mary Foley (45), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] Edward Foley (18), wife's son, sadler, born Dudley;
- [4] Joseph Foley (16), son, wheelwright, born Rowley;
- [5] John Foley (11), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [6] William Foley (2), son, born Rowley:

1861 Census

Garratts Lane

- [1] Joseph Foley (26), publican, born Rowley;
- [2] Elizabeth Foley (30), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] Mary Foley (1), daughter, born Rowley;
- [4] Ann Unett (17), house servant, born Rowley:

Wolverhampton Chronicle 1/5/1861

“On Friday last an inquest was held at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, before Edwin Hooper Esq, on the bodies of Mary Selina Danks, aged nine years, and her infant brother William Danks, three months old. It appeared the elder child was blind, and strolling into the yard went to sit down on the covering of a draw well. Unfortunately, the wood lid had been removed, and the poor girl, who had her little brother in her arms, fell headlong with the child into the water, which was nine feet deep. Assistance was quickly rendered, and the children were alive when rescued, but died soon after. The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

John Foley, retailer of beer, Old Hill. [1862]

1871 Census

Garratts Lane – DUKE WILLIAM

- [1] John Foley (34), publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Sarah Foley (34), wife, born Clee Hill, Shropshire;
- [3] Joseph Foley (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Mary Ann Foley (7), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] William Foley (5), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] John Foley (3), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Sarah Foley (9 months), daughter, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 15/7/1871

“On Monday last, at the house of Mr. John Foley, the DUKE WILLIAM INN, the members of Court Robin Hood’s Tent, No.4255, held their anniversary. The chair was ably filled by Mr. Gilbert Attwood, PCR, and the vice-chair by Mr. W. Taylor, SCR. The auditors read over the report of the year, showing that the court was in a very prosperous condition. The proceedings throughout were most satisfactory.”

Stourbridge Observer 19/10/1872

“At the Police Court, on Wednesday, before Messrs. Barrs, Clarke, and Hingley, Henry Pugh jnr. was summoned by John Foley with refusing to quit his house, when requested, on the 12th inst, at Garratts Lane. Complainant said he was landlord of the DUKE WILLIAM, Garratts Lane. On the above date defendant was drunk in his house, and set about a man that was in the house. Witness ordered him out and he refused to go, and he ultimately put him out. Defendant was ordered to pay the costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 5/7/1873

“Joseph Williams was charged by John Foley with being drunk and refusing to quit when requested, on the 31st ult. Mr. Addison appeared for complainant. Complainant said he kept the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill. Defendant came into the house on the above date. He was drunk, and witness ordered him out and he refused to go. He ultimately got defendant out and he came back with several others, and broke the door in.

Defendant said he went to see complainant respecting a house. He called a witness who said defendant was in the house. He was rather muddled, and when complainant ordered him out he refused to go. Defendant was fined 5s and costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 4/12/1873 - Advert

“Wanted, for Liquor Vaults, a first-class Self-acting Organ, playing sacred and secular music. Apply, with full particulars and lowest price, to John Foley, DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, near Dudley.”

County Advertiser 20/12/1873 - Advert

“Important to Brick Manufacturers and Others.

For Sale, by Private Contract, all that very excellent Brickyard and Premises, situate at Old Hill, near Dudley, belonging to and now worked by Mr. Joseph Foley. There is a capital Steam Engine, Mill and Stoves, Kilns, &c, together with a first-class Mine of Clay. Being disposed of solely on account of illness of proprietor.

To treat, apply, Mr. John Foley, DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, Dudley.”

Joseph Foley died on 29th December 1873.

County Advertiser 28/2/1874 - Notice

“In Re Joseph Foley The Elder (Deceased).

Pursuant to Act of Parliament, 22 and 23 Vict, cap.35, intituled, Law of Property and Trustees Amendment Act, Notice is Hereby Given, that all Creditors and other Persons having any Debt or Claim upon the Estate of Joseph Foley the elder, late of Garratts Lane, Old Hill, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, Wheelwright, (who died on the 29th day of December, 1873, and whose will was proved on the 13th day of February, 1874, by John Foley, Joseph Foley, William Foley, and Edward Harley, the executors therein named), are hereby required to send the particulars, in writing, of such Debts or Claims, to Joseph Foley, of Old Hill aforesaid, Saddler, one of the said Executors, on or before the 21st day of March Next, at the expiration of such time the said Executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the said Testator among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which the said Joseph Foley shall have had notice; and the said Executors will not be answerable or liable for the assets or any part thereof so distributed to any person of whose claim the said Joseph Foley shall not then have had notice. And I hereby further give notice, that all Debts due to the Estate of the said Testator must be paid forthwith to the said Joseph Foley.

Dated this 20th day of February, 1874.

William Waldron, Brierley Hill, Solicitor to the said Executors.”

County Advertiser 7/3/1874

“William Westwood, chainmaker, was charged with stealing a quantity of ale and cigars, the property of John Foley, the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane. It appeared from the evidence that the defendant, with some others, was in the prosecutor’s house on the 2nd inst, and that the prisoner took three pints of ale out of the machine and drank it. He also took some cigars in the absence of the landlord. Prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing the ale. He was sentenced to two months’ hard labour.”

Stourbridge Observer 13/6/1874

“A large meeting of miners was held on Wednesday evening, at Mr. Foley’s, the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill. Mr. Tomlinson in the chair. It was publicly announced that the meeting was to have been held in the open air, but in consequence of a telegram received from Mr. Gething of Darlaston, and from Mr. Juggins, it was decided to hold the meeting at the above inn. Representatives of the press were excluded from the meeting, but it was resolved by the men ‘That we stand out until the masters give us the old rate of wages, or submit the matter to arbitration’. The meeting was addressed by Messrs. J. Watts and E. Haden.”

County Advertiser 25/9/1875

“A conference of miners was held on Monday morning last, at the house of Mr. John Foley, the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill. A number of lodges in the district were represented by delegates. The conference was called for the purpose of discussing the wages question and other matters of importance.....”

County Advertiser 15/7/1876

“On Monday last the members of court Robin Hood’s Tent, No.4255, Ancient Order of Foresters, assembled at their club house, DUKE WILLIAM INN, to celebrate their anniversary. After the transaction of the business they attended divine service in the Primitive Methodist Chapel, where a very appropriate sermon was preached. At the conclusion of the service, the members, headed by the Cradley Heath Band, formed a procession, and returned to the DUKE WILLIAM to dinner. One hundred and fifty were present.....”

County Advertiser 24/2/1877

“On Monday night, a dinner was provided at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, in connection with the Miners’ Association held there. A statement of accounts was read afterwards, showing the number of members to be twenty-four, and the balance in hand £20.”

County Advertiser 13/10/1877

“On Thursday night, a large meeting of miners was held at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, to consider the advisability of having a sliding scale in the future, as has formerly been the case.....

A resolution was passed unanimously, ‘That it is the opinion of this meeting that our agent do not sign any agreement until we know what the scale is.’ The meeting concluded in the usual way.”

Aris’s Birmingham Gazette 3/11/1877

“A meeting was held on Thursday evening at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, at which was explained to the men the action taken at the Birmingham Conference of the agents and delegates, when the agents from West Bromwich and Darlaston agreed to the masters’ terms.

A resolution was proposed and carried unanimously endorsing and supporting the action of the agents for Brierley Hill, Dudley, and Old Hill in declining to accept any scale on the terms proposed. A second resolution was also come to, pledging all present to give notice on Saturday next for an advance of 1s per day.”

County Advertiser 20/7/1878

“On Monday last the members of the Knights of the Wood Lodge, Friendly Society, assembled at the lodge house, the DUKE WILLIAM INN, to hold their anniversary. An excellent dinner was provided by the host, Mr. John Foley, and over 100 members sat down. Mr. Edward Marsh was called to the chair, and Mr. Thomas Tromans to the vice-chair. The secretary’s report showed the society to be in a flourishing condition. Votes of thanks were passed to the surgeon, Mr. Standish, and the secretary, Mr. Joseph Smith; also the host and hostess, for the efficient manner in which they had discharged their duties during the past year. After the business was concluded, the members enjoyed themselves in singing and other ways, and a pleasant evening was spent.”

County Advertiser 26/10/1878

“On Wednesday evening the local miners held a meeting at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill.....

At the close of the meeting the following resolution was unanimously adopted: That, in the opinion of this meeting, it is not desirable to accept the masters’ conditions, proposing to increase the number of working hours, and we pledge ourselves to unite in resisting any attempt to increase the working time of miners, at any cost.”

Dudley Herald 25/1/1879

“On Tuesday a crowded meeting of the miners of the district was held at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, to discuss what action should be taken relative to the New British Iron Company. This company employ about 500 colliers at their different pits, and all these, with the exception of those at the Wagon Colliery, were dismissed on a fortnight’s notice about three weeks before Christmas. The coal raised at the Wagon Colliery was chiefly used for fire coal instead of smelting purposes, and this is said to be the reason the men there were employed a fortnight longer than the others. They also were discharged the Friday before Christmas. The general impression was that bad trade was the cause of this action on the part of the company, but the men now allege that it arose from a desire to increase the working hours.....”

Dudley Herald 8/2/1879

“The difficulty between the New British Iron Company and their miners with regard to the proposed increase of working hours is still unsettled The strike – for it is now regarded as such – is telling with disastrous effect upon a large proportion of the population of the district. As a consequence of the dispute the whole of the Corngreaves Ironworks are at a standstill, and hundreds of the workmen engaged at these extensive works are thrown out of employment. A great strain has thus been put upon the local relief committees, as the distress and poverty of the poorer classes has been increased to an alarming extent.”

County Advertiser 12/4/1879

“George Hickman, miner, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and also with assaulting Police-constable Farnell, while executing his duty. According to the evidence of Police-constables Farnell and Wickstead, they were called to the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, on Saturday night, and found there a fight going on inside the house. Defendant was drunk, and behaving himself in a disgraceful manner, and he became most violent when the officers interfered. He struck and otherwise assaulted Farnell. There was a most disgraceful ‘row’ amongst the crowd, Farnell being assaulted also by Samuel Smart, miner, who was summoned for that offence.

Hickman was fined 10s and costs for the assault, and 5s and costs for being drunk; in default twenty-eight days' imprisonment. Smart was fined 20s and costs for the assault, with a similar alternative, as he had been convicted before."

County Advertiser 19/4/1879

"On Easter Monday, the Miners' Independent Order, Knights of the Wood Lodge, held their 35th anniversary at the house of Mr. John Foley, DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill. After dinner Mr. W. Smith, PG, occupied the chair and Mr. R. Buttery, VG, the vice-chair. The evening was enlivened with songs and instrumental music."

County Advertiser 9/8/1879

"Moses Martin, no occupation, and James Yardley, chainmaker, both of Cradley Heath, were brought up charged with unlawfully assaulting Matthew Evans, and stealing from him a gold watch, silver chain, and 6s in money. Mr. W. S. Hayes appeared to prosecute.

Prosecutor, who is an engineer, of Old Hill, gave evidence that on the night of the 14th June he was at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, and left scarcely sober. In Powke Lane he met three men and a woman. The woman and one of the men walked on, and one of the others then knocked him down, and while one held his mouth the other searched his pockets and took his watch and chain along with some silver. After taking the articles the men went away. He overheard one say, 'Let's go back and kill the b—'; but the other saying, 'No, don't let's kill him,' they ran away. Subsequently he went to Walsall to try and recover his watch from Yardley, having received certain information which led him to think that he was one of the men. Yardley admitted that he was one of the two who robbed him. He was in custody, and witness afterwards saw him along with Martin, who also was in the hands of the police. In Yardley's presence Martin said he (Yardley) broke the chain and stole the watch. Yardley then asserted that Martin wanted to stab prosecutor, and he prevented it. Yardley offered to let him (prosecutor) have the watch back for 50s; but contradicting himself afterwards he said he had sold it to 'Yeddy.' The watch was worth £16.

Harry Dodds, a forgerman, Cradley Heath, said that on the day in question he was at the SHOULDER OF MUTTON, Blackheath, in company with Elizabeth Prosser, who lived close to the prisoner Martin. Martin and Yardley were also with them. They left about eleven o'clock, and went down Powke Lane, where witness saw Evans lying in the road. The two prisoners lifted prosecutor up as he and Prosser walked on, and shortly afterwards they (prisoners) ran by him without speaking.

Elizabeth Prosser gave evidence similar to that of the foregoing witness, and said that the prisoner Martin admitted to her that he took prosecutor's money. She had never been in his company before the night in question. It was a dark night, and when the two prisoners stopped behind with prosecutor she could not see what was going on.

Police-constable Salt spoke to arresting Martin on the 1st ult, and to receiving Yardley from the custody of the Walsall police. When charged with the robbery Martin made a statement to the effect that as he and Yardley were walking home they found prosecutor lying drunk by the roadside, and picked him up. Yardley broke the watch chain while he (Martin) stole the watch and money. With 3s 6d of the money he fetched a pair of boots out of pawn, part he gave to Yardley, and 6d to Harry Dodds that he (Dodds) should not 'round' on them. Yardley told witness he saved prosecutor's life, for Martin asked him for a knife that he might stab him, when he asked him to take back the watch to prosecutor. He (Yardley) had none of the money. At this point Martin turned to Yardley and said, 'Why don't you tell the truth? You know you broke the chain, and I took his watch and money while you held his arm.'

At the conclusion of the case against them, the prisoners were asked in the usual way if they had any statement to make. Yardley said that he and Martin saw Evans in the road, and he said to Martin, 'Let's help him up.' Martin then went to Evans and they wrestled together for some time, at last falling against a wall. Martin said, 'I've got hold of his chain,' and added, 'He don't wear a chain without a watch.' Afterwards Martin joined him (Yardley) down the lane, and showed him the watch. He said to Martin, 'Why don't you take it back? I'll have nothing to do with it.' Martin said, 'I'll sooner stab him than I'll take it back.'

Martin had no statement to make, and this completing the case, both prisoners were committed to the Assizes for trial. Bail was refused."

[At Stafford, Martin pleaded guilty; and the jury convicted Yardley. Martin, who had been previously convicted, was sentenced to twelve months' hard labour, with three years' police supervision; and Yardley to three months' hard labour.]

County Advertiser 19/6/1880

"John Levett, butcher, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of John Foley, DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill. Police-inspector Walters and Police-constable Rowlands gave evidence in the case. Defendant said he had been agitated, but was not drunk. As there was no previous conviction the case was withdrawn on defendant's paying costs."

AND

Dudley Herald 19/6/1880

"John Levett, butcher, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of John Foley, Old Hill. PC Rowlands said on the 11th inst he visited the DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill. The defendant was there drunk, and was cursing and swearing.

Defendant denied the charge.

Inspector Walters said on the night in question he was met by the witness Rowlands, and both went to the DUKE WILLIAM INN, where he saw the defendant come out drunk. He watched him, and saw he was that drunk that he could not put up the shutters of his own shop.

Defendant was ordered to pay costs."

1881 Census

100, Garratts Lane

- [1] John Foley (41), publican, born Old Hill;
- [2] Sarah Foley (44), wife, born Old Hill;
- [3] Joseph Foley (20), son, born Old Hill;
- [4] Mary A. Foley (17), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [5] William Foley (15), son, painter's apprentice, born Old Hill;
- [6] John Foley (12), son, scholar, born Old Hill;
- [7] Sarah Foley (10), daughter, scholar, born Old Hill;
- [8] Edward Foley (8), son, scholar, born Old Hill;
- [9] Richard Priest (44), boarder, colliery labourer, born Old Hill;
- [10] Sarah J. Priest (15), daughter, domestic servant, born Old Hill:

Dudley and District News 30/7/1881

"Benjamin Parkes was charged with being drunk and threatening the police, on Friday week.

PC Rowe said he saw him drunk and using bad language in Garretts Lane. He afterwards went into the DUKE WILLIAM INN, but was ejected. The constable followed, and prisoner, who had then met some companions, tried to set them on him, and used very violent language.

Prisoner said he had a drop too much; but as it was his first offence, he hoped he would be leniently dealt with.

Fined 2s 6d and costs, or seven days' imprisonment."

County Advertiser 20/8/1881

"Thomas Bryan, miner, Old Hill, was summoned for being drunk and refusing to quit the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on the 8th inst. On the date in question the defendant went to the house, and upon being asked to go behaved, according to the description of the landlord, 'like a madman,' and had to be ejected.

A fine of 10s and costs was inflicted; in default of payment 21 days."

County Advertiser 25/2/1882

"Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on Thursday afternoon, touching the death of James Clarke (46), lately residing at 4, Garratts Lane, who met with his death on Monday last whilst engaged at the Fly Pits, Old Hill, belonging to the New British Iron Company. Mr. B. Scott, assistant Government Mines Inspector, was present. The evidence showed that deceased was employed as a cager and horse fettle at the pits in question, and about ten o'clock on Monday morning last was crossing the bottom of the pit, when he was struck by the descending cage. John Walker, a loader, who was near at hand, heard Clarke shout, and on going to the place found the man under the cage. Walker gave a signal, and the cage was pulled up, and the injured man was taken to a stable. He was then alive, but did not speak. Shortly afterwards the man was sent up the shaft, but died before he reached the top.

In answer to Mr. Scott, the witness Walker said there was a road at the side by which deceased could have crossed the bottom.

Mr. Scott, in reply to the Coroner, said he was satisfied there was no negligence except upon the part of the man himself.

The Coroner: If he wanted to cross the bottom for any purpose there was a safe road?

Mr. Scott: A perfectly safe road.

It was stated that the relatives of the deceased would receive £25, of which £20 would come from the Prudential Society, and £5 from a club.

The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

County Express 19/1/1884

"Noah Allport, miner, Old Hill, an old offender, was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of John Foley, DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on the 2nd inst. The landlord of the house proved the charge, after which Mr. Bassano said the defendant's record filled one page, but they would treat him as if he were only a beginner, and fine him 2s 6d and costs to start the next page with."

County Advertiser 28/3/1885

"Thomas Bryant, Cockshed Lane, was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and also with being drunk and disorderly and refusing to quit the licensed premises of John Foley, DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill, on the 21st inst.

Police-constable Bradbury proved the case of drunkenness.

Mr. Foley said the defendant came into his house drunk and created a disturbance. When asked to leave he refused, and he had to be put out.

For being drunk and disorderly defendant was fined 5s and costs, and for refusing to quit he was fined 2s 6d and costs."

Birmingham Daily Post 25/10/1886 - Advert

"To Manufacturers, Wire-nail Makers, Investors, and Others. Important Freehold Works at Old Hill.

Mr. Herbert Humphries begs to announce instructions from the Mortgagees to Sell by Auction, at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill, Tomorrow (Tuesday), October 26, at 6 o'clock in the evening prompt (subject to conditions).

Lot 1. All those Extensive and Substantially-built Works known as Crews, Wrights Lane, Old Hill; with Manager's Dwelling House, and the whole of the Valuable Wire-nail and Shoe-tip Plant, comprising horizontal Engine, Boiler, Shoe-tip Brightening Machine, ditto Bending, ditto Stamping, ditto Punching Presses, Shaking Barrels, Drilling Machine, Screw-cutting Lathe, Wire-winding Machines, twenty-four newly-patented Wire-nail and Shoe-tip Making Machines, Turned Shafting, with twenty-six pulleys, couplers, and carriages; 16ft ditto, the whole of the Driving Belts, and Fixed Plant. The Factory is two storeys high, measures 75ft by 30ft, and the Wrought-nail Shop 48 yards by 16ft, containing ten Hearths; forming the most complete and desirable investment in the district. There is ample room for the introduction of the galvanising or kindred trades. Total area, 830 square yards or thereabouts.

Further particulars may be obtained from J. Walter Clulow, Esq, Solicitor; or of the Auctioneer, Brierley Hill.”
[Biddings commenced at £500 and ultimately the lot was withdrawn, the highest offer being £675.]

County Advertiser 12/11/1887 - Advert

“Inland Revenue Office, Dudley, 29th October, 1887.

Sir, With reference to your letter of the 27th instant informing me that a rumour is in circulation to the effect that I recently seized on your premises a bucket containing a filthy substance which you intended to add to your beer, and asking me to contradict the rumour, I now beg to say that the report is untrue.

You may, if you think fit, publish the contents of this letter.

Yours obediently, John B. Davies, Supervisor, Dudley.

Mr. John Foley, Publican, Old Hill.”

Dudley Mercury 24/12/1887

“John Foley, landlord of the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, was charged with adding sugar to beer to increase the gravity thereof after an account had been taken by the Inland Revenue officers. Mr. Davies prosecuted, and Mr. Jackson (West Bromwich) defended.

Mr. Davies remarked that an absurd rumour had been circulated in the district to the effect that the Inland Revenue officers had found a filthy substance on defendant’s premises. This was wholly untrue. Everything found on the premises might legally have been used if entered in the brewing book.

It appeared that in September an Inland Revenue officer visited defendant’s brewery and took samples of two hogsheads of beer. The analysis of the samples showed that 5lbs of sugar had been used in each hogshead in addition to the quantity entered.

Mr. Jackson admitted the offence, but pleaded in extenuation that it was committed without the defendant’s knowledge. The sugar was added by a working brewer, who had since been discharged and had gone to Australia. Defendant had kept the house twenty-six years and had never before had any charge against him.

Defendant was fined £10.”

County Advertiser 7/9/1889 - Deaths

“On the 3rd inst, very suddenly, Sarah, the beloved wife of John Foley, of the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill; aged 53 years. Deeply lamented.”

AND

County Express 7/9/1889

“On Tuesday morning Sarah Foley (52), the wife of Mr. John Foley, the landlord of the DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill, was found dead in bed. The deceased had supper and went to bed on Monday night in apparent good health. At seven o’clock on Tuesday morning Mr. Foley found his wife dead, and in the opinion of Dr. Standish death was due to heart disease.”

County Express 22/3/1890

“Henry Price, Oliver Street, Cradley Heath, was charged with assaulting Edward Foley, the DUKE WILLIAM INN, on the 8th inst. Complainant said the defendant’s brother came into the house and made a disturbance. As he was turning him out the defendant struck him several times. Defendant was further charged with fighting on the same night. In the first case defendant was fined 5s and costs, and in the last case he was bound over to keep the peace for three months, and was ordered to pay the costs.”

John Foley – see also THREE FURNACES.

Albert Chapman = Albert Chatwin

County Express 9/8/1890

“Benjamin Nock, currier, Peartree Lane, was charged with refusing to quit the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, and also with assaulting the landlord, Albert Chatwin. On Monday night the defendant went into the house in a drunken state and caused two dogs to fight. He refused to leave, and became very violent and assaulted Chatwin and also a man named Halford, who went to his assistance.

Prisoner was fined 10s and costs for the assault, and 2s 6d and costs for refusing to quit.”

County Advertiser 4/10/1890

“An interesting presentation to Bro. F. Tromans took place at the quarterly meeting of Court Robin Hood’s Tent, No.4255, A.O.F., held at the house of Bro. A. Chapman, the DUKE WILLIAM, Old Hill. The presentation consisted of a valuable rosewood writing desk, with a silver plate bearing the inscription ‘Ancient Order of Foresters. Presented to Bro. F. Tromans, PCR, by the members of Court Robin Hood’s Tent, No.4255, as a slight token of their esteem for his valuable services as trustee for twenty-six years. September 27th, 1890’.....”

County Express 21/3/1891

“John Manley, Church Street, Cradley Heath, was charged with stealing a pipe, value 1s 6d, the property of Enoch Simcox, grocer. Inspector Bishop, in applying for a remand, said on the previous Thursday Mr. Simcox went into the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, and put his pipe on the table. The prisoner came in and put some theatrical bills on the table near to prosecutor’s pipe. The pipe was subsequently missed, and Police-constable Insley found it in his possession. Prisoner was remanded for a week, bail being allowed, himself in £20, and one surety of £10.”

County Advertiser 28/3/1891

“John Ducane, alias Manley, of Church Road, Cradley Heath, was charged on remand with stealing a pipe, value 1s, the property of Enoch Simcox, grocer, of Rowley Regis.

Prosecutor went into the DUKE WILLIAM INN between two and three o’clock on the 16th inst, and while he was reading the paper defendant came into the room. He brought a parcel of bills with him and unfolded them on the table where witness’s pipe was lying. After the defendant had gone away the pipe was not to be found.

Albert Chapman, landlord, corroborated.

Police-constable Insley gave evidence as to defendant’s arrest at the theatre, defendant after a good deal of parleying producing the pipe, saying that someone had put it in his pocket.

Defendant said he took the pipe in mistake, because he was smoking a similar pipe at the time he went into the inn. He didn’t know that the pipe was in his pocket when arrested.

The Bench decided to give defendant the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the case.”

1891 Census

100, Garratts Lane

- [1] Albert Chapman (24), licensed victualler, publican, born Dudley;
- [2] Sarah Chapman (21), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Blanche M. Chapman (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Amelia Poole (19), general servant, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Edward Foley (17), boarder, brewer’s assistant, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 13/6/1891

“George Hadley, Wagon Street, Old Hill, was charged with being disorderly on the licensed premises of Albert Chapman, and also with being drunk and disorderly. Mrs. Chapman and Police-constable Wickstead proved the cases. Defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs on the first charge, the second charge being struck out.”

County Express 5/9/1891

“A branch of the Operative Stonemasons’ Society of England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales has been re-opened at Mr. Albert Chapman’s, DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill, after an interval of several years. A numerous company assembled, including some of the olders masons (and previous members) of the district After business, a very convivial evening was spent, including the usual toasts, and several appropriate speeches, the National Anthem bringing the proceedings to a close.”

County Advertiser 12/8/1893

“James Bannister, Wagon Street, Old Hill, was fined 20s, including costs, for being drunk and disorderly on the licensed premises of Edward Foley, landlord of the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, and refusing to leave the same when requested, on the 7th inst.”

County Advertiser 2/2/1895

“On Saturday last, Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of George Johnson (13), of 62, Wagon Street, Old Hill, who met with his death on Wednesday, the 24th ult, by being buried alive in a mound at the Pig and Whistle Colliery, Old Hill. Mr. Jarvis represented the owners of the colliery.

Caroline Johnson, mother of deceased, identified the body, and said that he lived with her. On Wednesday morning, soon after eight o’clock, deceased went to the mound at the colliery to pick coal. Witness afterwards heard that he had been killed at the mound. Witness did not attach any blame to anybody for deceased’s death. In answer to the coroner, witness said she had cautioned him not to go there that morning. She admitted, however, having sent deceased several times before to the colliery to pick coal, when they had had very hard times through the depression of trade in the district. She had made a mistake in sending him there, knowing he was on trespass.

Samuel Willetts, ironworker, said he was on the bank of the Pig and Whistle Colliery, at about ten o’clock on the day in question, when the deceased came. Deceased dug a hole out, and witness told him to knock the top in as he went on, and deceased replied that he was doing so. Deceased came up to witness, who was digging a similar mound, and told him that he was getting plenty of coal. He went back again, and soon afterwards deceased’s brother came up to witness and asked where deceased was. Witness replied that he was digging in the hole. Deceased’s brother went and looked, and upon returning told witness that he was not there. Witness then replied that he must be buried, and they went to extricate him. He was found after about six minutes work, covered by about a foot of the earth. Deceased was lying on his stomach, and the shovel which he had been working with was across his neck. When got out he was quite dead, his neck having been broken. The police were called, and the body removed to his home in Wagon Street.

In answer to the Coroner, witness said there was a notice board up on the mound which was a disused one. There was also a road across the mound. He admitted having been cautioned, but he did not know that they were on trespass because he could not read. The Coroner said he believed the colliery belonged to Mr. C. Holcroft. There were a good many people who visited the colliery for the purpose of picking coal. He did not think all the precautions needed had been made. The owners should have summoned some of the older persons, so that it might serve as a caution to the younger ones. It would be a serious thing for the owners of the colliery if another death occurred there.

Mr. Jarvis said when the coal-pickers saw him coming they ran away.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.

Mr. Jarvis promised to communicate with the owners on the matters, with a view to summoning some of the older persons who visit the mound for the purpose of picking coal in the hope of stopping the practice.

The Coroner: I feel sure that if that is done it will be a caution to the younger ones.”

County Advertiser 18/4/1896 - Advert

“High Street, Old Hill, Staffs.

Highly Important Sale of Freehold Dwelling Houses and Building Land.

E. H. Boilstone has been favoured with instructions from the Representatives of the late Mr. John Foley, to Sell by Auction, at the House of Mr. Edward Foley, the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, on Tuesday, the 21st day of April, 1896, at Six for Seven o'clock in the Evening.....”

County Advertiser 2/5/1896

“A dinner in connection with the Old Hill Wanderers Football Club, to celebrate the winning of the Old Hill Challenge Cup, was held at the headquarters, Mr. E. Foley's, DUKE WILLIAM INN.....”

County Advertiser 20/3/1897

“On Monday morning an inquest was held at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, concerning the death of Alfred George Foxall (42), blacksmith, of Bank Street, Old Hill, who died suddenly on Sunday morning. On Saturday night deceased returned home from the KINGS HEAD INN, where he had been playing the piano. He ate a good supper, and at 2-40 the next morning he was taken suddenly ill. Dr. Mitchell was called in, but deceased expired before his arrival. He was described by Inspector Given as a steady and sober man, and a verdict of Death from Natural Causes was returned by the jury.”

County Express 19/6/1897

“A meeting in connection with the Old Hill and District Cricket League was held on Saturday night at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill.....”

County Express 21/8/1897

“The first of what is intended to be an annual demonstration of the friendly societies in the Old Hill district, was held on Sunday, the object in view being to help the funds of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital the day was bright and promising, and there were large numbers of people all along the route.

At one o'clock the 1st Worcestershire Volunteer Band started from the CROSS INN, proceeded across Halesowen Road, calling at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL; then across Lawrence Lane into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the Cross, where the final procession was formed. Meanwhile the Old Hill Brass and Red Band started from the WHITE LION INN, proceeded by way of Powke Lane and Garratts Lane to Wrights Lane (as far as the PRINCE OF WALES INN), and returned to Garratts Lane, calling for lodges at the BRITISH OAK INN, FOX HUNT INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, VINE INN, to the Cross. On the arrival of this contingent a huge line was formed, and very pretty it looked. Members of the various lodges wore their regalia, and these being interspersed with the more elaborate honorary members' scarves, gave the line a very bright appearance.....”

County Advertiser 9/4/1898 - Advert

“Garratts Lane, Old Hill, Staffs.

E. H. Boilstone will Sell by Auction, on the premises adjoining the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, on Monday, April 18th, 1898, a large quantity of Timber, Doors and Door Cases, Window Frames, Grates, Tiles, Quarries, taken out of property belonging to Mr. A. E. Sidaway.

Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock.

Auction Offices: Old Hill, Staffordshire.”

County Advertiser 27/8/1898

“On Sunday afternoon the annual hospital parade and open-air service, arranged by the various friendly societies in Old Hill and the surrounding district took place. Processions were formed at different points of members of the Foresters, the Free Gardeners, and provident societies, numbering altogether about 1,000, and these, accompanied by the Blackheath, Halesowen Temperance, and Old Hill Bands, paraded the principal streets of the locality, after which they marched to a field in Garratts Lane, lent for the occasion by Mr. A. Sidaway, where a special service was held. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. E. Brewer, MA (vicar of Old Hill), and W. B. Cheshire (Primitive Methodist). A collection was made along the route and at the service in aid of the Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital, this realising £25 14s 5³/₄d.

The following was the order of procession issued by the committee. The Blackheath Village Band will start from the WHITE

LION INN, Powke Lane, at 1-45 prompt, proceed down Garratts Lane, calling for societies at the BRITISH OAK INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, and VINE INN, turning across Queen Street on to the old football ground (by kind permission of Mr. W. H. Jarvis). The Halesowen Temperance Band will start from the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, at 1-45 prompt, proceed round Cherry Orchard Street, into Wrights Lane, turning down Wagon Street, calling at the OLD ENGINE INN, proceeding down Elbow Street and King Street, across Halesowen Road, to the old football ground. The Old Hill Band will start from the CROSS INN at 1-45 prompt, calling for societies at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL, proceed across Lawrence Lane, turning up New Street, Ridding Street, Pear Tree Street, Pear Tree Lane, thence into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the old football ground. A grand procession will be formed as follows.....”

County Advertiser 20/5/1899

“Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on Wednesday morning, concerning the death of Moses Danks (68), formerly residing in lodgings at Wagon Street, Old Hill, who died suddenly on Wednesday morning.

James Johnson, miner, stated that deceased resided with him, and at 7-30 on Wednesday morning he heard him coughing violently. Witness went into deceased’s room, and saw that he was sitting on the bed. He assisted him to get into bed, and called to his wife to fetch him some water, but before she could do so deceased expired.

Dr. de Denne stated that in his opinion death was due to apoplexy.

The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes.”

AND

“On Wednesday morning, Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on the body of Elizabeth Stringer (40), single woman, residing with her mother in Wagon Street, Old Hill, who died on Sunday last. Maria Stringer, mother, stated that deceased had suffered from birth from paralysis of the lower part of the body. On the 2nd inst she left deceased in the house whilst she went to a shop opposite, but before she was served she heard a scream, and upon going home saw deceased’s clothing all in flames. She extinguished the flames, and Dr. Tibbetts was called in the same evening. Dr. de Denne was called in the following morning, and attended deceased until her death on Sunday night. Deceased told witness that a spark fled out of the fire and ignited her clothing.

Dr. de Denne stated that deceased had been an idiot from birth, and had also suffered from paralysis. She died from exhaustion caused by burns.

Inspector Given said he had made inquiries, and found that there was nothing to show that it was not a pure accident.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 7/10/1899

“Harry Skitt, of Blackheath, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the licensed premises of the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, kept by Mr. Foley, on the 30th ult, and also with assaulting Ambrose Hill, on the same date.

Complainant said that defendant came to his house on Saturday, and created a disturbance, and upon being requested to leave he refused to do so.

Ambrose Hill deposed to being in the public house on the date named. The landlord, at closing time, said ‘Time’s up,’ and witness was walking towards the door to go out when defendant struck him in the face, drawing blood.

Defendant alleged that complainant struck him first.

Defendant was fined 20s and costs for the assault, and 10s and costs for being disorderly on the licensed premises.”

County Advertiser 17/3/1900

“On Friday last week Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Garratts Lane, on the body of Annie Whitfield, aged fifteen months, the daughter of Samuel and Esther Whitfield, of Best Street, who died on the Wednesday from the effects of shocking burns received on the previous day.

Mary Ann Hill, residing in Best Street, stated that on the Tuesday morning she was in the brewhouse, when she heard the children crying in Mrs. Whitfield’s house. She went into the house, and found deceased lying on the rug, her clothing all in flames. She called the mother, who came from a brewhouse and extinguished the flames. Witness found some cinders on the floor, which she supposed had fallen from the fire and ignited deceased’s clothing.

Dr. de Denne stated that he was called to see deceased, who was suffering from serious burns to the face, neck, arms, and legs.

Death took place on the following day from shock following the burns.

Inspector Given also gave evidence, and a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

1901 Census

100, Garratts Lane

[1] Edward Foley (28), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Caroline Foley (27), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Thomas Foley (5), son, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Phoebe A. Rollinson (17), general servant, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Eliza Adams (16), general servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 12/4/1902 - Advert

“Good General Servant, age 18 to 20, with character.

Apply, Mrs. E. Foley, DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill.”

County Advertiser 1/8/1903

“An occasional license was granted to Edward Foley, of the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, for the Cradley Heath St. Luke’s Football Ground on the occasion of a brass band contest promoted by the Cradley Heath Town Band today.”

County Advertiser 20/8/1904

“On Saturday last a meeting of court Robin Hood’s Tent, A.O.F. was held at the DUKE WILLIAM, High Street, Old Hill, when a presentation was made to Bro. R. Cooksey, who had served the court for twenty years as secretary. The presentation consisted of a handsome writing cabinet suitably inscribed.....”

County Advertiser 27/8/1904

“On Sunday afternoon the eighth annual parade and service arranged by the various friendly societies in the Old Hill district took place under favourable circumstances. The proceedings commenced with a large procession.....

The Cradley Heath Town Prize Band started from COOKSEY’S HOTEL and proceeded along Halesowen Road, calling at the VICTORIA HOTEL for societies. Afterwards they marched to High Street, where they called at the DUKE WILLIAM INN for societies and afterwards went on to the field.....

Upon arrival at the field a grand procession was formed This paraded the principal streets of the locality for some time, after which they proceeded to a field in High Street, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. A. E. Sidaway. Here a service was held, the chair being occupied by Dr. T. E. Mitchell. Notwithstanding the threatening state of the weather there was a large attendance..... A collection was made upon the route, and at the service, on behalf of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, Birmingham Eye Hospital, Birmingham General Hospital, Birmingham Ear and Throat Hospital, and the Old Hill Nurses Fund.”

County Advertiser 30/12/1905

“On Wednesday morning Mr. A. A. Betham (acting coroner) held an inquest at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill, concerning the death of Sarah Priest (12), formerly residing at High Street, Old Hill, who died under singular circumstances on the 24th inst.

Hagar Priest, a widow, residing at High Street, Old Hill, stated that deceased was a strong and healthy child. On the 12th inst she was playing with other girls in the street after school time. She returned home at 6-30, and complained that another girl named Eliza Jane Knight had thrown her over her head when they were playing ‘butter and sugar.’ She complained of having fallen upon her stomach, and of being hurt. Deceased complained of pains in the abdomen. Deceased went to bed and remained there until she died. Witness rubbed the child with camphorated oil, but she was never able to work again. Deceased was in great pain and grew worse. On the 18th inst witness sent for Dr. Mitchell, but the girl died on the 24th inst. Asked by the coroner why she did not call in a doctor earlier, witness said she did not think the deceased was so badly injured.

Eliza Jane Knight, a girl, living at High Street, Old Hill, deposed that on the 12th inst she was playing with the deceased at a game known as ‘butter and sugar.’ This consisted of the girls standing back to back with their arms interlocked and rocking each other. Whilst deceased was raising witness she fell on the footpath, on her stomach, and witness fell upon the top of her. Deceased made no complaint of being injured, but got up and commenced to play the same game.

Dr. T. E. Mitchell stated that he was called in to see the deceased on the 18th inst, when he found her to be in a dangerous condition. The child was suffering from two swellings upon the body, in which abscesses were forming. Blood poisoning developed and the child died. The swellings would probably be due to internal injuries which the deceased sustained.

The Coroner remarked that it was a pity the mother failed to call in a medical man before. It was also a matter of regret that children should play such a foolish game in the streets.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.

At the close of the inquiry the mother of deceased created a scene by declaring that the girl Knight had wilfully killed her child, but the coroner informed her that it was the result of a pure accident. She, however, became more excited, and the police had to persuade her to keep quiet.”

County Advertiser 30/3/1907

“On Tuesday night a well-attended gathering, under the auspices of the Old Hill and district branch of the Miners Federation of Great Britain, was held at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, for the purpose of considering the Eight Hours’ Bill..... A resolution deciding to petition Parliament in favour of the bill was carried unanimously.”

County Advertiser 6/7/1907

“The annual dinner in connection with the Old Hill Unity Football Club was held on Thursday night at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill The Chairman congratulated the club upon their success in winning the championship of the West Midland League.....”

Old Hill Cricket Club held their first annual dinner here in January 1908.

Tipton Herald 20/3/1909

“A meeting of miners was held at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, on Tuesday night, at which an address was delivered by Mr. B. Winwood (agent).

Referring to the proposed reduction of 5 per cent in wages, the agent advised the men to loyally abide by the decision of Lord James. They belonged to the Miners’ Federation, which took an active part in securing the agreement between the masters and men. He was greatly surprised with the decision, because they had already suffered one reduction of 5 per cent in the winter months. The miners could rest assured that when a boom in trade arose the leaders would use every effort to recover that which had been lost (applause).

It was decided to accept the decision of Lord James, and Mr. Winwood was also instructed to oppose any proposal to alter the present constitution of the South Staffordshire and East Worcestershire Mining Accident Fund.”

County Express 10/4/1909

“On Monday a public auction was held at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, when the freehold shop and premises, used as a pawnbroker’s business, situated in High Street, Old Hill, were sold for £587. A freehold house in Wrights Lane, Old Hill, let at £14 6s per annum, was knocked down for £159. Messrs. Thomas Cooksey and Co. were the solicitors for the vendors; auctioneers Messrs. Flemings and Son.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 19/6/1909

“The principal meeting of the Staffordshire County Compensation Authority, adjourned from the 11th inst.

The decision of the local licensing magistrates to refuse the renewal of the FOX HUNT alehouse, Old Hill, tenant, Arthur E. Jew, was opposed.

In opening the case, Mr. Lawrence said that the house was fully licensed, and he thought the main fact to be borne in mind in coming to a decision was the situation of the adjoining licensed houses the DUKE WILLIAM (another fully-licensed house only 206 yards away).....”

County Express 29/10/1910

“Football Notices.

Old Hill Junior Cup and Medals. Open to non-Association clubs; entrance fee 2s 6d. Entries close and draw takes place at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill, on Tuesday, November 1st, at 7.30pm.

Apply John W. Powis, 20, Best Street, Old Hill.”

1911 Census

High Street

[1] John Foley (42), born Old Hill;

[2] Annie Foley (46), wife, married 23 years, licensed victualler, born Dudley;

[3] Lorrie Foley (21), daughter, born Dudley;

[4] Alice Foley (19), daughter, milliner’s apprentice, born Dudley;

[5] Sidney Foley (16), son, brewer’s clerk, born Dudley;

[6] Frederick Foley (15), son, born Dudley;

[7] Jack Foley (7), son, school, born Dudley;

[8] William Thomas (21), nephew, shipping clerk, edge tool manufacturer, born Dudley:

County Express 17/8/1912

“The Bowling Green.

The BLUE BALL, Old Hill, received a visit from the DUKE WILLIAM. Rain spoilt a close contest when the visiting team were leading by 4 points. It was hard lines for the BLUE BALL, as their best bowlers had not bowled.”

Evening Despatch 20/7/1914

“The members of the Old Hill Branch of the National Federation of Miners had their annual dinner on Saturday, the club rooms at the DUKE WILLIAM, High Street; the SPRING MEADOW, Halesowen Road; and the KINGS HEAD, Elbow Street, being used for the occasion.”

Albert Eland Sidaway – see also BRITISH OAK.

Albert Eland Sidaway died in the 1st quarter of 1922 and was buried at St. Luke’s Church, Cradley Heath.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 9/5/1922

“Mr. Albert Eland Sidaway, of Old Hill, brewer, left £31,743.”

Albert John Sidaway was the son of Albert Eland Sidaway.

It was the headquarters of Old Hill Pigeon Club. [1930]

It had pigeon lofts at the rear. [1930]

Dudley Herald 25/4/1931

“At a meeting of the Court Robin Hood’s Tent of the Dudley and Cradley Heath District of the Ancient Order of Foresters, held at the DUKE WILLIAM INN, Old Hill, on Saturday night last, a presentation was made to Bro. James Watkins (senior trustee of the Court). Bro. Joseph Haynes (chief ranger) was in the chair.”

Dudley Herald 23/5/1931 - Advert

“Auctions, &c, by J. Albert Abel, AAI, High Street, Stourbridge.

By Order of the Executors of A. E. Sidaway. Friday Next, May 29th, 1931.

DUKE WILLIAM INN, High Street, Old Hill.

J. Albert Abel, AAI, has received instructions to dismantle the Brewery and Sell by Auction the whole of the capital Brewery Effects and Utensils, including Three Quarter Mash with copper false bottom, copper and iron Boilers, Fermenting Vessels and Coolers, unfixed new copper Boiler (50 barrel capacity), Two Avery sack Weighing Machines, Pulley Blocks and Chains, Copper Refrigerator, about 140 Ale Casks of various sizes all in excellent condition, quantity of Hops, two 1hp Dynamos with shafting and belting, ¾hp Electric Motor by N.E. Co., Wince, two brewery drays, stone Spirit Jars, quantity iron hoops, iron Wheelbarrow, scrap iron, galvanised iron tank, iron stove, numerous tubs, ladders, tools, etc.

Sale will commence at 12 o'clock prompt.

Auctioneers Office: 88, High Street, Stourbridge. Tel.57218.”

It was the headquarters of the Hot Pot Fund (secretary Samuel Edwards JP), founded in 1933, to provide for pensioners.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 22/10/1934

“Prizes won in connection with the Sidaway Bowling League were presented at a smoking concert held at the DUKE WILLIAM, Old Hill, on Saturday, and at which Mr. F. J. Sidaway presided.....”

1939 Register

27, High Street

[1] Albert J. Sidaway, date of birth 13/3/1893, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Mary M. Sidaway, dob 15/8/1897, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[3] Mary R. (Sidaway) Glennon, dob 21/3/1920, unpaid assistant, single;

[4] Albert J. Sidaway, dob 17/04/1922, assistant tool maker, heavy, drop forge trade, single:

Lawrence Reginald Hackett – see also OLD HOUSE AT HOME.

[1990]

Closed

Demolished

FIVE WAYS

90+91, (90), High Street / St. Annes Road, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

Joseph Edmonds [1878]

North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd. [1897], [1907]

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1909)

Union Pub Co. [2003]

LICENSEES

Jesse Edmonds [1833] – [1845]

Mrs. Leah Edmonds [1847] – [1850]

William Cox [1851] – [1855]

John Cox [1852]

William Cox [1856] – [1862]

Mrs. Ann Cox [1864] – [1870]

Henry Humphries [1871]

Joseph Edmunds [] – 1871);

Joseph Heeley Whitmore (1871 – 1880);

William Henry Hickton (1880 – 1885);

Albert Lovatt (1885 – [1887]

Roberts [1887] manager

Samuel Mobberley [1891] – 1896)

John Richard Downes [1896] – [1897]

William Nathaniel Cotterell [] – 1897) manager

Henry ‘Harry’ Letts (1897);

Stephen Deeley (1897 – 1905);

Benjamin Alfred Hill (1905 – 1907);

John Pillow (1907 – [1908])

Edward Slinn [1908] – [1912]

William Woolley Rice [1916] – 1922);

Clarence Bertram ‘Bert’ Dingley (1922 – 1927);

Charles ‘Charlie’ Wright (1927 – 1939);

Thomas Preece (1939 – [1965])

Beattie Wright [late 1950s] ?

George Willetts [1976]

Patrick Joseph Carroll (1983);

Alan Raymond Davis (1983 – 1984);

Robert Edward Riley (1984 – 1987);

John Melvyn ‘Mel’ Butt (1987 – 1990)

Michael Cole (1990);

Winston Thomas Churchill (1990 – [])

Mel Butt [1992]

Reginald Lewis Hollows [2002]

Louis Lloyd and Peter Matthews (2003 – [])

NOTES

90, High Street [1881], [1901], [1904], [1908], [1912], [1916], [1921], [1924], [1932]

90+91, High Street [1940]

OLD FIVE WAYS [1860]

COMMERCIAL HOTEL [1873]

FIVE WAYS HOTEL [1874], [1896], [1904], [1908], [1912], [1932], [1940], [1996]

It was known locally as “Charlie Wright’s”.

1841 Census

Five Ways

[1] Jesse Edmonds (50), publican, born Staffordshire;

[2] Leah Edmonds (55), born Staffordshire;

[3] David Edmonds (15):

Wolverhampton Chronicle 20/3/1844 - Advert

“Freehold Property.

To be Sold by Auction, by Matthews and Son, at the house of Jesse Edmonds, the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, in the parish of Rowley Regis, three miles from Dudley, on Thursday, the 28th of March, 1844, at three o’clock in the afternoon, subject to conditions then to be produced.

All those two newly erected Dwelling-Houses, with brewhouse and shopping at the back of the same; together with a Plot of Building Land, adjoining the aforesaid, fronting the turnpike road leading from thence to Rowley Regis, having a frontage of 72 feet, and containing, in the whole, 590 yards or thereabouts, and now in the occupation of Willetts and another.”

Jesse Edmonds died in the 4th quarter of 1845.

Leah Edmonds = Leah Edmons

Worcestershire Chronicle 24/3/1847

“On Thursday last an inquest was held at the FIVE WAYS INN, Rowley, before George Hinchliffe, Esq, coroner, on the body of a girl named Sarah Raybold, daughter of Jeremiah Raybold, who met her death in the following melancholy manner. On the previous day she was sitting asleep in a chair, when, by some means or other, her clothes accidentally caught fire, and before they could be extinguished she was so severely burned in different parts of the body that she died the following morning. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 22/5/1847

“Inquests before George Hinchliffe, Esq, Coroner.....

On Saturday last, at the FIVEWAY INN, Cradley Heath, on the body of Richard Kendall, aged 19 years, who was killed on Friday last, whilst working in an ironstone pit belonging to Mr. John Fursers, in consequence of a quantity of mine and rock suddenly giving way and falling on him. Verdict, Accidental Death.”

Birmingham Journal 5/6/1847

“On Tuesday last, an occurrence took place at Mr. Purser’s coalpit, Cradley Heath, which terminated in the death of a youth of nineteen years of age, named Benjamin Weaver, and caused some excitement, as the manner in which the event was represented to have taken place was considered rather unsatisfactory.

At an inquest held on the body, at the house of Mrs. Edmonds, the FIVE WAYS INN, before George Hinchliffe, Esq, on Wednesday, the circumstances of the case were fully gone into. It appeared from the evidence of several of the miners, that fire-damp having been apprehended, they thought it prudent to leave off work and ascend. Accordingly six or seven of them, amongst whom was the unfortunate young man, got into the skip for that purpose. When about 240 feet up the shaft, from some unexplained cause, the deceased suddenly fell back out of the skip. A man named Joseph Perry endeavoured to prevent his falling, and caught hold of part of his dress, but his hold gave way, and the youth was precipitated to the bottom of the shaft. Immediately on the skip reaching the top, it was sent down again, when, as might have been anticipated, the unfortunate lad was found to be dead. He was lying on his face, in a pool of blood. After several witnesses had been examined the Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

1851 Census

Cradley Heath

[1] William Cox (32), licensed victualler, born Rugby, Warwickshire;

[2] Ann Cox (30), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] James Cox (8), son, scholar, born Tipton;

[4] Betsey Morris (26), house servant, born Bilston:

Worcestershire Chronicle 31/12/1851

“William Cox, of the FIVE WAYS INN, was fined 5s and costs for permitting drunkenness and disorderly conduct in his house on the night of Saturday, the 20th instant.”

Birmingham Journal 25/6/1853 - Advert

“Valuable Freehold Property, Cradley Heath, in the Parish of Rowley, in the County of Stafford.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Hawkins, on Tuesday, the 12th of July next, at the house of Mr. Noah Fellows, the TALBOT INN, Five Ways, Cradley Heath aforesaid, at Five o’clock in the evening, and subject to conditions.

Lot 1. All that valuable Old Licensed House and Premises, known by the sign of the OLD FIVE WAYS INN, situate at the Five Ways, Cradley Heath aforesaid, and now in the occupation of Mr. William Cox. It is a corner Property, and has extensive frontages on two sides to the highways leading from Hales Owen and Cradley to Dudley, and from Quarry Bank and Brierley Hill to Redall Hill and Rowley Regis. This lot contains 862 square yards, and there is ample frontage Land for the creation of twelve Houses. This lot is sold subject to a lease, of which nineteen years are unexpired.....”

Birmingham Journal 15/9/1855 - Advert

“Unreserved Sale at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Hawkins, on Monday Next, the 17th day of September.

The whole of the neat and clean Household Furniture, French, tent, and other Bedsteads, feather and flock Beds, Mattresses, mahogany and deal Tables, Windsor and other Chairs, Mashing Tubs and Casks, four neat spring Traps, set of light Harness, four-year-old Horse, seven Store Pigs, and other useful Effects, belonging to Mr. William Cox, who is giving up the business.

Sale to commence at Eleven o’clock.”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 12/1/1856

“Reuben Buxton was charged with an indecent assault on Ann Horton, servant at the FIVE WAYS Public House, Cradley Heath, on the 27th of December.

Committed to six weeks to hard labour.”

County Advertiser 14/6/1856

“Mary Billingham and Rosannah Davies, were charged by Mrs. Cox, landlady of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, with an assault on the 3rd inst. After a great deal of crimination and re-crimination the case was dismissed.”

County Advertiser 28/6/1856

“William Cox, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, charged James Billingham with an assault, on the 17th instant.

This quarrel appeared to arise out of some old quarrels. Fined 1s and costs.

The same person then charged Benjamin Billingham with an assault, on the 14th, but as he said Billingham was tipsy at the time, he did not wish to press the charge. Dismissed.

James Henry Cox, a boy, and son of the above William Cox, then charged Thomas Garret with assaulting him, on the 17th. Fined 1s and expenses.”

Birmingham Daily Post 19/2/1858 - Advert

“Stolen, last Saturday evening, about Seven o’clock, from a Horse’s back, in Flood Street, Dudley, a light plaid Horse Cloth, with red stripe, belonging to Mr. Cox, FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley. Whoever will give information to James Whitehouse, Town Crier, Dudley, shall receive £5 Reward.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 17/4/1858

“An inquest was, on Monday, held at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, on the body of an underhand puddler, named John Bunn, who died on the previous Friday, from injuries received on the 2nd instant by the bursting of a boiler at the works of the New British Iron Company. The boiler, a low-pressure one, had been in use for several years, and was worked, in connection with several others, at a moderate pressure. It had frequently undergone repairs, and been examined on the Monday prior to the sad occurrence, when it appeared to be quite safe. The explosion was attributed to one of the stays having become detached. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 21/4/1858

“On Monday night week, several articles of wearing apparel and a concertina, were stolen from the dwelling of Samuel Coley, at Hasbury, entrance having been effected by forcing a window. About twelve o’clock on the same night, at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley, two of the Staffordshire police met a man carrying a bundle, which, on being interrogated, he threw down, and made off. The bundle contained the whole of the stolen property, but the thief was not captured.”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 14/8/1858

“Isaiah Edmonds and Edward Garvey were charged with committing a breach of the peace. PC Turner stated that on the 31st of July he was on duty at Cradley Heath when he was sent for to quell a disturbance at Mr. Cox’s public house. He went, and then found the two defendants fighting, Garvey being rather the worse for drink. As Edwards did not appear to have been the aggressor he was dismissed; and Garvey was bound over in £5 to keep the peace for six months.”

1861 Census

High Street – FIVE WAYS INN

- [1] William Cox (45), victualler, born Coventry;
- [2] Ann Cox (40), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] James Henry Cox (16), son, born Tipton;
- [4] Ann Cox (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [5] William Cox (5), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [6] Ann Maria Billingham (21), general servant, born Rowley:

Birmingham Daily Post 20/11/1862

“At the Petty Sessions, held at Old Hill, William Cox, FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with having allowed disorderly conduct in his house on Saturday, the 8th instant. The case was proved by Police-sergeant Smith, and defendant having been previously convicted, he was fined £3 and costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 18/2/1865

“At the Police Office on Wednesday last, Ann Cox, of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with keeping unlawful hours.

Police-constable Fox stated he visited the house at half past eight on Sunday morning last, and found seven or eight men in the kitchen.

She was ordered to pay the costs, and ordered not to offend again.”

County Advertiser 18/3/1865 - Advert

“Five Ways, Cradley Heath.

Mr. Chandler will Sell by Auction, on Tuesday Next, March 21st, 1865, at Three o’clock in the afternoon, useful Household Furniture, including Beds, Bedsteads, Chairs, Tables, Sofa, capital Eight-day Clock, in Mahogany Case; Thirty-hour Clock, Railway Trip, Pair of Smiths’ Bellows, quantity of Blacksmiths’ Tools, Child’s Carriage, and Effects, removed for convenience of Sale to Mrs. Cox’s, FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath aforesaid, for Rent &c.”

Birmingham Daily Post 12/7/1870 - Advert

“To Be Sold By Auction.

By Mr. Homer, Tomorrow (Wednesday), the 13th of July, at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.

A Travelling Theatre, 20 feet by 40 feet; two Carriages, forming Stage, 14 feet by 30 feet; and Stage Front, with canvas, all complete; a Travelling Carriage, fitted with Drawers, Cupboards, folding Bedstead, Fire Grate, &c; also a first-rate Carriage, forming Stage, with Frontispiece, Poles, Footboards, &c.

Sale to commence at Eleven o’clock.

Auctioneer’s Residence, Five Ways, Cradley Heath.”

Stourbridge Observer 30/7/1870

“At the Old Hill Petty Sessions, on Wednesday last, before E. Moore and F. W. G. Barrs, Esqrs, Ann Cox, landlady of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged by Superintendent Mills with selling ale on the 17th instant, during prohibited hours. Police-sergeant Powner proved that he visited the defendant’s house at half past five in the morning, and found six men in the house, and two cups full of ale. Another man had a glass of liquors. Spoke to Mrs. Cox about it. She said they had been in the house but a short time.

Fined 20s and costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 6/8/1870

“Noah Allport, Thomas Riddaway, John Johnson, James Buckley, Thomas Stanley, George Drew, William Gregory, and James Hayward, were charged with drinking in the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, on the 17th of July, during prohibited hours. Police-sergeant Powner said: On the above date at 5.30am, I visited Mrs. Cox’s public house, in company with Police-constable Craddock. Saw all defendants in the house drinking. They were all drunk. Defendants were fined 1s and costs each; in default 14 days.”

Stourbridge Observer 13/8/1870

“At the Petty Sessions held on Wednesday, before E. Moore and F. W. G. Barrs, Esqrs, Ann Cox, landlady of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged by Superintendent Mills with having her house open for the sale of ale, on the 31st ult, during prohibited hours, and was fined 20s and costs on the 27th of July. Mr. Hayes defended. Police-constable Craddock said he visited the defendant’s house at a quarter to six in the morning, and saw defendant run out of the house with two glasses of rum. Saw a man, named Gregory, run outside with a glass. Went into another room, and saw a man lying under the piano, trying to conceal himself. Police-constable Dix also corroborated. Mr. Hayes addressed the Bench for the defence, and called Ann Cox, who said that on Saturday night two men came into the house for two glasses of rum. A quarrel ensued as to which should pay for it, and she took it back; and swore that the men in the house did not have anything to drink; that Craddock picked up the rum and tasted it, and drank nearly all of it; that a young man named Gregory, who was there, came to ask her to take a walk in the evening, and that he had nothing to drink. William Smith was called, and swore that he saw the rum drawn last thing at night, that he carried them up at a quarter to five to clean the house; that the rum was still on the shelf; and that Ann Cox did not have it in her hands, and run with it. Adjourned for a week.”

Stourbridge Observer 20/8/1870

“At the Old Hill Petty Sessions, on Wednesday last, before F. W. G. Barrs and N. Hingley, Ann Cox, landlady of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was brought up on remand and charged with havng her house open during prohibited hours, on the 31st ultimo. Mr. Hayes defended. Most of the evidence had already appeared. Mr. Hayes called William Gregory, who said he went to Mrs. Cox’s on the above date, at six o’clock in the morning. Went to ask the daughter to go a walk in the evening. Cross-examined by Mr. Mills: Did not see any rum drunk. Did not see any one under the pianoforte. The Magistrates could not agree in the case.”

County Express 27/8/1870

“The annual licensing meeting for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division was held yesterday..... The licenses of Ann Cox, FIVE WAYS, Cradley Heath, licensed victualler; Joseph Westwood, SWAN WITH TWO NECKS, Cradley Heath, beerhouse keeper, were suspended..... It was decided for the charge against Mrs. Cox, of the FIVE WAYS, Cradley Heath, to be heard on the 7th of next month before another bench of Magistrates.”

Stourbridge Observer 10/9/1870

“Ann Cox was again summoned for allowing her house to be open for the sale of ale during prohibited hours, on the 31st July, at Cradley Heath. Mr. Hayes defended. The evidence has already appeared in our columns, and our readers will recollect the magistrates (Messrs. F. W. G. Barrs and N. Hingley) could not come to a decision. On the present occasion the Bench considered the case proved, and fined defendant £3 and costs. Mr. Hayes said he should appeal against the verdict at the next Quarter Sessions.”

1871 Census

High Street – FIVE WAYS

- [1] Henry Humphries (46), house painter, born Kidderminster;
- [2] Margaret Humphries (40), wife, born Stourbridge;
- [3] George Humphries (9), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Sarah Humphries (6), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Elenor Humphries (1), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Sarah J. Cook (16), domestic servant, born Netherton:

Joseph Heeley Whitmore = Joseph Healey Whitmore

Joseph Healey Whitmore was also a cab proprietor. [1873]

Stourbridge Observer 25/4/1874

“John Woodhouse and Richard Johnson were charged by Joseph Whitmore, landlord of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, with being drunk and refusing to quit when requested. The case was not proved, and defendants were discharged on payment of costs.”

County Advertiser 7/11/1874

“Thomas Massey and John Willetts were each charged with having, on the 12th ult, played at chance with certain instruments of game in a public house, kept by Joseph Whitmore, at Five Ways. It was proved that on the evening of the above date the defendants were in prosecutor’s house, and they commenced gambling. They were requested to leave by the manager. Massey had previously been summoned. The defendant’s were each fined 1s and costs.”

AND

“Joseph Whitehouse and Daniel Round were charged with refusing to quit a public-house kept by Joseph Whitmore, at Five Ways. The case against Whitehouse was adjourned for a week, he having refused to quit the house, and became violent, but the charge against Round was withdrawn.”

Stourbridge Observer 14/11/1874

“At the Police Court, on Wednesday, before Messrs. F. W. G. Barrs and L. Freer, Joseph Woodhouse was charged with committing a breach of the peace, by fighting at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, and refusing to quit when requested, on the 15th ult. A young woman named Porter stated that defendant was fighting with another man in the house. She requested him to leave and he refused to go. He was ejected three times and he came back again.

Police-constable Cooper gave corroborative evidence. Defendant was fined 5s and costs.”

County Advertiser 17/3/1877 - Advert

“Wagonettes, Breaks, Cabs, Cars, and every description of Vehicle for Pleasure Parties, at Joseph Whitmore’s, Cradley Heath, and FIVE WAYS INN, Stafford Street, Dudley.

J. W. begs to thank the Gentry and Public generally for past favours received while at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, and at the same time, wishes to inform them that all Orders left at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, will as usual receive his prompt attention.”

County Express 25/8/1877

“After the business of the Petty Sessions had been disposed of the Annual Licensing Sessions were held.

Mr. Superintendent Woollaston, addressing the Bench, said he had been instructed to oppose a renewal of Joseph Whitmore’s certificate in respect of a licensed house at Five Ways, Cradley Heath, on the ground that Mr. Whitmore was keeping another licensed house at Dudley, and did not reside upon the premises at Cradley Heath.

Mr. Hayes (who appeared for Mr. Whitmore) said it was merely a legal question as to what constituted residence. It had been held quite sufficient if a man visited his place of business and took an active part in it, and it was unnecessary that he should sleep there. Many respectable publicans in Birmingham resided away from their places of business, and two similar cases instituted last week at Tipton failed, one being dismissed and the other withdrawn. His client’s family resided at Cradley Heath, and he had a daughter there who managed the business for him. The license was renewed.”

County Express 2/2/1878

“Joseph Homer was charged with refusing to quit the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, kept by Joseph Whitmore. Complainant stated that on the night of the 26th ult defendant came into the house and asked for a glass of ale, but as he was already drunk he was not served with it. He then commenced swearing and would not go out until a policeman arrived. Police-constable Sylvester said that on Saturday night about half-past ten o’clock, he was sent for to complainant’s house, and there found defendant seated on a bench, cursing and swearing. He requested a man who knew defendant to take him from the house, and he did as requested, but defendant returned soon afterwards and had to be forcibly ejected. Defendant was fined 5s and costs or fourteen days.”

County Advertiser 24/8/1878

“Edmonds v The Whitehall Colliery Company.

This was an action bought by Mr. Joseph Edmonds, the owner of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, to recover damages caused to the FIVE WAYS INN by the mining operations of the Whitehall Colliery Company. The defendants disputed, under the Rowley Enclosure Act, their liability to pay for damages, but the question of law was decided in the plaintiff’s favour. The amount of damage was referred to Mr. Robert Griffiths, county surveyor of Staffordshire, who has now given his award in favour of plaintiff for £266. Mr. Nathan (instructed by Mr. Collis, of Stourbridge) was for the plaintiff, and Mr. Underhill (instructed by Mr. Homer, Brierley Hill) for defendants.”

County Advertiser 18/1/1879

“Joseph Whitmore, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with supplying ale at an illegal hour. Mr. Hayes defended.

Police-constable Sylvester stated that at 11.50 on the night of the 4th inst, he saw a car stop opposite the defendant’s house at the Five Ways, Cradley Heath, and three men descend. They went to the back of the premises, and on his proceeding there he found the men inside the house along with the driver of the car, ale being before them. The car was from Dudley, but he knew that the three men lived at Cradley Heath.

Mr. Hayes did not dispute the facts, but explained that the man who demanded ale asserted to Mr. Whitmore’s daughter that he was a traveller; and she had no knowledge to the contrary. She saw the other men afterwards; and knowing them refused to supply any ale. The first man then said he was a traveller, and would fetch a policeman if she would not supply him with refreshment. Upon that, as he admitted, she did draw some liquor.

Miss Whitmore was called, and supported this statement on oath.

The case was adjourned for seven days that the men spoken of might be summoned.”

Dudley Herald 1/2/1879

“Joseph Whitmore, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with selling ale after hours to Giles Bloomer, David Morgan, and Lewis Morgan. Mr. Hayes defended; Mr. Waldron appeared for the three men who were charged with being on the premises. The Bench thought defendant did not intend to break the law, but as he did not take sufficient trouble to ascertain whether the men were bona fide travellers, they fined him 5s and costs. The three men were fined 1s and costs each.”

County Advertiser 10/5/1879

“Samuel Stevens, chainmaker, was charged with refusing to quit the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, kept by Joseph Whitmore. On the 3rd inst defendant began fighting while in the house, and when ordered to leave by the person in charge, refused to comply. Police-constable Sylvester was sent for, and defendant then left. Fined 2s 6d and costs.”

County Advertiser 6/8/1879 - Advert

“J. E. Whitmore, FIVE WAYS INN, Stafford Street, Dudley.

J. E. Whitmore, Omnibus, Brakes, Wagonettes, Drags, Cabs, Cars, Dog Carts, and Private Carriages, and Vehicles of every description on short notice.

Pleasure Parties or Workmen’s Outings, with superior Four-horse Brakes, Omnibuses, &c, Contracted for, cheaper than any House in the trade.

Weddings conducted in first-class style with Modern Carriages and splendid Grey Horses. Postillions with Livery if required.

And FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.”

AND

“J. E. Whitmore.

The Largest and Cheapest Combined Establishments in the District.

Splendid Black Entire Horses Equipped in the best style at the shortest notice.

Orders by Post punctually attended to.

Hearses and Mourning Coaches in the most Modern Style.

Cheaper than any other Establishment within 50 miles.

Undertakers and Coffin Makers treated with on the most limited terms.

119, Stafford Street, Dudley, and Five Ways Cradley Heath.”

Dudley Herald 30/8/1879

“The annual licensing session for the Rowley Regis division was held on the 26th ult.....

The convictions against licensed victuallers during the past year were.....

Joseph Whitmore, FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, house open during prohibited hours. Fined 10s and costs, January 29th, 1879.”

County Advertiser 9/10/1880

“Philip Willetts, chainmaker, Cradley Heath, was charged with refusing to quit licensed premises. William Henry Hickton, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, said the defendant had been to him and apologised, and he now asked to have the case withdrawn. The Bench did not think fit to allow this and defendant was fined 5s and costs.”

1881 Census

90, High Street

[1] William Henry Hickton (21), licensed victualler, born Cradley Heath;

[2] Emily Hickton (22), wife, born Dudley;

[3] Fanny Louisa Annie Hickton (3 months), daughter, born Cradley Heath;

[4] Florence Hickton (2), sister, born Halesowen;

[5] Elizabeth Lea (23), domestic servant, born Stoke on Trent:

Evening Star 20/2/1882

“A large representative meeting of chainmakers was held this morning at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, to look into considering the wages question. Delegates were present from the Old Hill, Rowley, Cradley Heath, Reddal Hill, Gornal, Tipton, and Netherton districts.

Mr. B. Billingham said at the meeting nearly 3,000 chainmakers were represented, and he trusted that all would be united to demanding their rights. A little more than twelve months ago the chainmakers were working at what was known as the 2s 6d list, which was nothing more or less than the starvation list, for men, although they worked hard from morning until night, were unable to provide themselves and families with food.....

After a lengthy discussion it was resolved that the operatives who are unsuccessful in securing the advance be called out on strike.....”

Dudley and District News 25/2/1882 - Deaths

“On the 21st, Emily, the beloved wife of William Henry Hickton of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, and eldest daughter of J. E. Whitmore, Cab and Car Proprietor, Dudley. Aged 23 years.”

County Express 17/10/1882 - Advert

“J. E. Whitmore, FIVE WAYS INN, Stafford Street, Dudley.

J. E. Whitmore, Omnibus, Brakes, Wagonettes, Drags, Cabs, Cars, Dog Carts, and Private Carriages, and Vehicles of every description on short notice.

Pleasure Parties or Workmen’s Outings, with superior Four-horse Brakes, Omnibuses, &c, Contracted for, Cheaper than any House in the trade.

Weddings conducted in first-class style with Modern Carriages and splendid Grey Horses. Postillions with Livery if required. And FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.

J. E. Whitmore has added to his Establishment a Glass Sided Patent Hearse, which is a decided improvement upon the Hearses we have been accustomed to see. Its appearance is elegant, and with a pair of first-class Horses, would do no discredit to the funeral rites of the upper classes.

The Largest and Cheapest Combined Establishments in the District.

Splendid Black Entire Horses Equipped in the best style at the shortest notice.

Orders by Post punctually attended to. Hearse and Mourning Coaches in the most Modern Style.

Cheaper than any other Establishment within 50 miles.

Undertakers and Coffin Makers treated with on the most liberal terms.

119, Stafford Street, Dudley, and Five Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 16/12/1882

“Philip Willetts, chainmaker, Cradley Heath, was charged with creating a disturbance at the FIVE WAYS INN, and he was further charged with assaulting Police-constable Mountford. The officer was sent for to eject defendant, and outside the house Willetts struck the officer on the face and chest. In the scuffle they both came to the ground, and defendant kicked complainant. The Bench fined the defendant 5s and costs.”

Dudley and District News 8/12/1883

“Matthew Billingham and Charles Billingham, chainmakers, of Cradley Heath, were charged with assaulting William Henry Hickton, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath; and Emmanuel Billingham, also of Cradley Heath, was summoned for refusing to quit the licensed premises of Mr. Hickton.

On the night of the 26th ult the whole of the defendants were in the complainant’s house, and the last named defendant began to quarrel. The landlord requested him to leave, but he refused; whereupon the landlord took hold of him for the purpose of putting him out. Whilst the landlord was attempting to carry out his purpose, the other two defendants assaulted him.

Superintendent Woollaston said it was a very disgraceful disturbance and carried on for some considerable time.

Defendants were each fined 5s and costs, or 14 days.”

County Advertiser 14/6/1884 - Advert

“Wanted, an honest and industrious Girl. None but of good character need apply.

Mrs. Hickton, FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.”

Dudley and District News 5/7/1884

“William Clinton (50), Bridgnorth, Abel Homer (17), and Joseph Homer, chainmakers, Lomey Town, Joseph Billingham (18), were charged with sleeping out at Cradley Heath, on Sunday the 29th ult.

Abel Homer was further charged with assaulting PC Tytherleigh. PCs Peake and Tytherleigh found the defendants sleeping in an outhouse on the licensed premises of Mr. Hickton, the FIVE WAYS INN. They were found covered with straw. When they were ordered away Abel Homer kicked Tytherleigh.

The charges of vagrancy were dismissed, and for the assault Homer was committed for seven days.”

County Express 29/11/1884 - Advert

“FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.

For Sale by Private Treaty, this well-known Full-Licensed Public House and Premises, with Licenses, Goodwill, and Possession. Capital corner position, doing a good in and out-door trade; also a lucrative Posting Business is carried on.

The Premises comprise Spacious Liquor Vaults, Smoke Room, Kitchen, good Cellaring, Four Bed Rooms, Store Room, Brew-house, Stables, and large Enclosed Yard.

A portion of purchase money may remain.

Apply, Mr. Geo. Edmonds, 76, High Street, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 5/9/1885 - Advert

“Cab, Car, and Wagonette Establishment, FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.

W. H. Hickton, having to quit the above Inn, begs to inform his Patrons and the Public at large that he will continue to carry on the Posting Business at the Yard of the FIVE WAYS INN, as usual; and he hopes by keeping good Horses and steady Drivers to meet with a continuance of that fair share of public support hitherto accorded to him.

Wagonettes, Brakes, Omnibuses, Cabs & Cars, on the Shortest Notice.

Pleasure Parties requiring either Two or Four-Horse Brakes will find the above one of the Best Establishments in the Country. Mourning Department. Hearses and Mourning Coaches of every description. Orders promptly attended to at reasonable prices. Orders may be left at the FIVE WAYS INN, or at private residence, opposite yard.”

County Advertiser 17/10/1885

“George Homes, Graingers Lane, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of Albert Lovatt, FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, on the 10th inst. Police-sergeant White found the defendant drunk in the yard at the back of Mr. Lovatt’s house. Defendant was fined 1s and costs, or seven days’ imprisonment.”

County Advertiser 22/5/1886 - Advert

“.....J. E. Whitmore has added to his Establishment a Glass-Sided Patent Hearse, which is a decided improvement upon the Hearses we have been accustomed to see. Its appearance is elegant, and with a pair of first-class Horses, would do no discredit to the funeral rites of the upper classes.....

119, Stafford Street, Dudley, and Five Ways Cradley Heath.”

[This advert appeared for several years.]

Birmingham Daily Post 23/7/1886

“At the Police Court, on Wednesday, Benjamin Allwood (55), greengrocer, Cradley Heath, was charged with stealing a purse, containing £1 0s 4d and nine pawn-tickets, the property of Mary Shaw, Lye Waste.

Prosecutrix dropped the purse at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, and a man saw the prisoner pick it up and hurry away. When arrested he admitted to Police-constable White that he had the purse, and showed the officer where he had concealed it amongst the rafters of an outhouse.

Prisoner was fined £5 and costs, or in default two months’ imprisonment.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 4/6/1887

“Albert Lovatt, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with keeping open during prohibited hours on the 26th and 27th ult.

PS Hayward stated that he visited the FIVE WAYS, Cradley Heath, which was managed by Roberts about 11.15. There were about 30 men in the tap room being supplied with drink. He turned them out, and about 11.30 he saw a number of the same people in again. He visited the house at 12.15, and saw about 10 persons in the smoke room. Among the number were several well-known pugilists from Birmingham.

Defendant pleaded that there were 11 persons and only one wagonette, and they were simply waiting while they could get another conveyance.

PC Peake and PC Wallace corroborated.

The Bench said they considered it a very bad case, and defendant was fined £10 and costs in the first case, and 1s and costs in the second case.”

Birmingham Daily Post 9/6/1887

“At the Old Hill Police Court, yesterday, Alfred Greenfield, of Birmingham, William Hickton, of Cradley Heath, and William Stevens, of Quarry Bank, were charged with being on the licensed premises of the FIVE WAYS INN during prohibited hours on the night of the 26th ult.

Police-sergeant Hayward deposed to seeing the defendants upon the premises above named after 11.30 on the date in question. Mr. Hebbert, for the defence, said that a boxing competition took place at the inn on the date named, and as they were aware that the competition could not have any refreshments during the competition, it was necessary that they should have some before starting on their journey to Birmingham.

Alfred Greenfield said he came to assist in Westerfields’s benefit at Cradley heath. After the competition had closed at eleven o’clock they partook of refreshments. He did not think they were doing any harm. He should take great care he did not come into that part of the country again.

The Bench dismissed the case against Greenfield, and fined the other defendants 10s and costs each.”

County Advertiser 18/6/1887

“Albert Lovatt, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with keeping his house open during prohibited hours, on the 8th inst, and further with permitting drunkenness on the same date. Mr. Whitehouse, of Dudley, appeared to defend. Police-sergeant Hayward was on duty with Police-constables Peake and Wallace, on FIVE WAYS INN, and saw a light in the house at twenty minutes past one am on the morning of the 8th inst. Hayward looked through the letter box and saw a man named Hickton come out of the smoke room, and heard him saying, ‘Wake the — up.’ He then looked through the smoke room window and saw Roberts, the manager of the house, trying to awake a man who was lying on a bench. Upon going into the house the officer asked who the man was lying on the bench, and Roberts replied, ‘It’s Tom Whitmore, of Dudley. He’s been out with Will Hickton, and got a little too much.’ Two women were present, and the defendant said one was Mrs. Whitmore and the other Mrs. Hickton. On the table was a glass containing whiskey. Hayward saw two vehicles waiting outside the house, both in charge of grooms in the employ of Mr. Hickton. Outside the house the manager went to Hayward and said, ‘That fellow is awfully bad, I think I shall fetch the doctor.’ The officer told him that the man was helplessly drunk, and he should report the case. Roberts then asked the officer to overlook the case that time as he was only manager there.

Mr. Whitehouse, in defence, urged that no case had been made out, because the man had not got drunk upon the premises. Lovatt had now no interest in the house as it had been sold, and notice of transfer had been given. Lovatt had, however, no knowledge of the case, as he had a manager at the house.

Roberts, the manager, was then called, and swore that at about a quarter to eleven o'clock Whitmore came to his house to meet his wife and Mrs. Hickton. He was taken ill, and witness took Whitmore into the house and laid him upon a bench, where he went to sleep. Witness did not supply Whitmore or any of the other people with anything to drink.

William Hickton and Louise Hickton, of Cradley, and Thomas Whitmore and Louise Whitmore, of Dudley, were charged with being upon the licensed premises as above. Mr. Jackson defended. The Bench decided not to take any evidence against the women. Police-sergeant Hayward was called, and repeated his evidence.

Mr. Jackson, in defence, contended that there was no evidence to convict the defendant. The men were friends of Roberts, and they only stayed at the house to wait for their wives.

After hearing the evidence of the defendants, the Bench said they did not think there was any doubt which they could give the defendants the benefit of.

Lovatt was fined £10 and costs in the first case, and £1 and costs in the second case. Hickton and Whitmore were also fined 20s and costs each."

Dudley Mercury 6/4/1889

"Thomas Baker, no fixed abode, was charged with being drunk and disorderly, on the 1st of May, 1888, and also with assaulting Police-constable Wynne, on the 2nd inst. The officer stated that on the 1st of May, last year, he saw the prisoner drunk, at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath. He had been turned out of a public house, had broken several jugs, and had thrown a jug at the landlord and a customer. Prisoner had since absconded. On Tuesday afternoon he arrested the prisoner in the HOLLY BUSH INN, Cradley Heath. He had to drag and carry the prisoner, who kicked him several times. Prisoner was fined 2s 6d and costs, or seven days' imprisonment for the drunkenness, and 5s and costs, or fourteen days' imprisonment for the assault.

John Stinton, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was charged with attempting to rescue the last prisoner from the police, on the 2nd inst, and was fined 2s 6d and costs, or fourteen days' imprisonment."

1891 Census

90, High Street – FIVE WAYS INN

[1] Samuel Mobberley (38), publican, born Brierley Hill;

[2] Elizabeth Mobberley (35), wife, born Brierley Hill;

[3] Thomas Mobberley (15), son, auctioneer's apprentice, born Brierley Hill;

[4] Florence Mobberley (14), daughter, born Brierley Hill;

[5] Gerty Boddington (14), visitor, born Birmingham:

County Advertiser 28/1/1893 - Advert

"FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath.

Within Three Minutes' Walk of Cradley Station, on Great Western Railway.

First-Class Family and Commercial Hotel.

Large Commercial Room, Capable of Dining One Hundred and Fifty Persons.

Coffee and Private Sitting Rooms.

Large Airy Bed Rooms.

Moderate Charges.

The Finest Billiard Room in the District.

An Ordinary Daily at 1-15.

Simpkiss's Famous Home-Brewed Ales, from Round Oak Brewery, Brierley Hill.

Mild, Running, and Bitter Beers, Brewed from the Choicest Malt and Hops.

The Finest Irish and Scotch Whiskeys; and Wines direct from bond, and the choicest Brands of Cigars always in stock.

First-Class Posting Establishment.

Weddings and Funeral Parties promptly attended to.

Cabs and Cars attend all trains.

Christmas Parties and Clubs, on giving timely notice to the landlord, can be properly catered for.

Samuel Mobberley, Proprietor."

[This advert takes up a whole column in the newspaper and appeared for several months.]

County Advertiser 22/4/1893

"Wages in the Chain Trade.

At a meeting held on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the National Amalgamation of the Chainmakers and Chain Strikers' Association, at the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, Mr. James Smith, the secretary, reported that fourteen days' notice for the 5s list of prices expires on Saturday (today), and that the whole of the outworkers and factory workers would turn out on strike in the event of the employers refusing to concede it. Out of 451 outworkers visited 434 have already expressed their willingness to turn out on strike, the men being of opinion 'it was better play and starve than work and starve.' Delegates complained that Mr. T. Homer had been going to the chainmakers and urging them not to recognise the notice for an advance.

A resolution was passed protesting against Mr. Homer's conduct, and also one in favour of legitimate efforts being made to secure the 5s list of prices.”

Midland Sun 8/7/1893 - Advert

“Commercial Men Should Note That The FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath is the best house for First Class Accommodation. Finest Ales, Wines, Spirits, and Cigars at Moderate Charges. Billiards. Proprietor – Mr. S. Mobberley. Three Minutes from Station. Cabs, Cars etc, for Hire.”

County Advertiser 5/8/1893

“Forestry. The members of the court Good Samaritan held their thirty-fourth annual meeting at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Monday last, when 53 members sat down to an excellent dinner. Bro. J. Salt, CR, was voted to the chair. The usual business having been transacted, a very enjoyable evening was spent, and a vote of thanks was given to the host and hostess.”

County Advertiser 25/11/1893

“Football. Cradley Heath Assistants v Stourbridge Early Closers. The above match was played at Stourbridge on Thursday, November 16th, and ended in a win for the Heathens by three goals to one, after a stubbornly contested game, in which there was not much to choose between the teams. The visitors’ defence showed up well. Clubs wishing to arrange matches with Cradley Heath please write to T. Mobberley, FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 23/12/1893

“Samuel Mobberley, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with keeping open his licensed premises during prohibited hours, and also with selling intoxicating liquors to Arthur Griffiths during prohibited hours, on the 8th inst. Mr. Waldron defended.

The case for the prosecution was that soon after midnight on the 8th inst, Police-sergeant Newman, in company with Police-constable Winn, visited the hotel, and upon going into the kitchen saw Mr. Griffiths, chain manufacturer, High Street, Cradley Heath, seated by a table with a glass of liquor before him, and the defendant’s daughter sitting on his knee. There were two other girls in the room whom the officers took to be servants. He asked the daughter to fetch the landlord, and when he came into the bar, Newman asked him how he accounted for Griffiths being in the house. Defendant said he did not know he was there, and that he must have come in without his knowledge. Griffiths just then came up to them and said, ‘I know I have no business here, I ought to be at home,’ and the officers noticed that he was under the influence of drink. Previous to going into the hotel the officers had looked through the window, and had seen Mrs. Mobberley put, what they thought, was whiskey and lemon into two glasses. A cab came out of the yard and drove towards Brierley Hill while they were near the window.

In cross-examination by Mr. Waldron, Police-sergeant Newman said that defendant carried on a cab business, and the hotel was the best commercial hotel in the district. It was a house frequently used by theatrical companies, and he believed that the two ladies belonged to a company and were staying at the house.

Mr. Waldron said it was very unfortunate for his client that the affair should have occurred, because if the Bench were satisfied that selling to Mr. Griffiths took place, they would have to convict him. But he would satisfy them beyond all doubt that it did not take place. Mr. Griffiths had been in Cradley Heath for forty years, and was well-known. He had previously been gossiping with the two theatrical ladies, and came back to have a talk with them. He must have come in by the side door, through which the cabman went, and had been in the private part of the house without the landlord’s knowledge.

Arthur Griffiths gave evidence in support of this statement, and said he had nothing to drink in the house after eleven o’clock. He was under the influence of liquor.

Cross-examined: He did not have any whiskey for himself or the theatrical ladies.

Mr. Mobberley said that no whiskey was served after eleven o’clock, and he not the slightest knowledge that Griffiths was there.

Mrs. Mobberley and Florence Mobberley also gave evidence in support of defendant’s case.

The Bench said that as there was a doubt in the case they should follow their usual practice, and give the defendant Mobberley the benefit of it. The charge against him would be dismissed.

Arthur Griffiths was fined 20s and costs for being found on the premises during prohibited hours.”

County Advertiser 30/12/1893 - Correction

“In a licensing prosecution reported at Old Hill Police Court last week, in which Samuel Mobberley, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, was defendant, it was stated that ‘Mr. Griffiths, chain manufacturer, High Street, Cradley Heath, was seated at a table with a glass of beer before him, and the defendant’s daughter seated on his knee’. This is an error in so far as the statement should have been ‘the barmaid seated on his knee’.”

County Advertiser 25/8/1894 - Advert

“Wanted, Domestic, age 18 to 20, honest and clean; able to assist in cooking; from the country preferred. Apply, Mrs. Mobberley, FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 12/1/1895

“On Friday last week the Great Western Railway goods staff at Cradley held their annual dinner at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, and with the traders present fifty sat down to an excellent repast. Mr. J. A. Fellows, the Great Western Railway agent, presided, and the vice-chair was occupied by Mr. F. Connop (Connop Bros.). Toasts, songs, glees, and recitations made up an excellent programme, and in every way the gathering was a success.”

County Advertiser 27/4/1895 - Advert

“To be Let, FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, with Billiard Room and Furniture complete, large Assembly Room, Splendidly Fitted-up Bar, Smoke Room, Dining and Sitting Rooms, large Yard with Stabling, and Capital Cab and Car Business attached. For Rent and Ingoing, apply to A. H. Sidaway, Valuer, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 14/9/1895 - Advert

“To Publicans, Job Masters and Others.

FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, Nine Miles from Birmingham, and Three Miles from Stourbridge.

Alford and Aston are instructed by the Proprietor (Mr. S. Mobberley) to Sell by Auction, at the Grand Hotel, Colmore Row, Birmingham, on Friday Evening, September 20th, 1895, at Six for Seven o'clock, subject to conditions to be then produced.

The Goodwill, Valuable Fourteen Years' Lease, and Possession of the above well-known Noble Corner Hotel and Spirit Vaults The Lease is at the low rental of £80 per year, is tied to Mr. W. H. Simpkins, of the Royal Oak Brewery, Round Oak, for draught ales only, discount 25 per cent.

Large Yard and Stabling, to which is attached a very Remunerative Posting Business, capable of great extension.

The Purchaser to take to the Fixtures, Fittings, Stock, Utensils, Horses, Vehicles at a valuation, which will probably amount to about £400.

NB. The whole to be treated for privately, and if sold due notice will be given.

Further particulars and cards to view from the Auctioneers, 19, Temple Street, Birmingham.”

Birmingham Daily Post 4/10/1895 - Advert

“FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath; noble corner spirit vaults; lease 14 years; rent £80; good posting business attached. Total in-going about £750.

Photo can be seen, and all particulars from Alford and Aston, Auctioneers, Birmingham.”

Samuel Mobberley was also a cab proprietor. [1896]

County Advertiser 23/4/1898 - Advert

“Swan Hotel, Vicar Street, Kidderminster.

Proprietor, S. Mobberley, late of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, and the QUEENS HEAD INN, Level Street, Brierley Hill.

S. M. begs of inform the Public generally, and his old Friends of Cradley Heath and Brierley Hill in particular, that he has taken to the above Hotel.....”

County Advertiser 21/11/1896

“Joseph Homer and Hezekiah Bills, both residing at Cradley, were charged with refusing to quit the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, and also with threatening to do grievous bodily injury to the landlord, John Richard Downes.

It appeared that Downes had mistaken a man named Moses Weston, who was summoned in the first instance, for Bills. Downes picked out Bills in court.

Bills applied for an adjournment to get witnesses, and the cases were accordingly adjourned for a week.”

County Express 16/1/1897

“Hezekiah Bills and Joseph Homer, chainmakers, Cradley Heath, were charged with being drunk on the 14th November, with refusing to leave the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, and with threatening John Richard Downes, the landlord.

Mr. Downes stated that defendants and another man entered the FIVE WAYS HOTEL drunk, on November 14th. He ordered them out, after refusing to serve them. Bills and the third man left five minutes afterwards, using bad language, but Homer remained a quarter of an hour. Later the three men returned to the house, and witness fetched a policeman. Subsequently the men used beastly language outside the house, and threatened witness. He was afraid of Bills, but not of Homer, and witness would withdraw the charge of threats against Homer.

The defendants called witnesses to show they were sober whilst they were in the house, and that when requested to leave they did not refuse.

In the first case defendants were fined 5s and costs. In the case of threats Bills was bound over to keep the peace, and Homer was discharged.”

County Express 30/1/1897

“The Harmonic Club, held at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, manager, Mr. W. N. Cotterell, continues to render excellent programmes.....”

County Express 20/3/1897 - Advert

“Wanted at once, a Smart Youth.

Apply, FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 20/3/1897

“The Harmonic Club, held at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, has had a most successful season, and Mr. Cottrell is to be complimented on the manner in which all the concerts have been carried out, and the high standard he has aimed at in the programmes. The last of the concerts was given on Thursday, and it was a success from every point of view, the programme being greatly enjoyed. Following are the various items: Pianoforte sole, ‘Caliph of Bagdad,’ Mr. S. Foley; humorous song, ‘The Jap,’ Mr. H. A. Green; song, ‘The Lighthouse Keeper,’ Mr. Alfred Toy; violin solo, ‘Rhapsodie Hongroise,’ Mr. T. Edge; humorous song, ‘She was the Fairy,’ Mr. H. A. Green; song, ‘Out on the Deep,’ Mr. A. Toy; violin solo, ‘Adagio and Finale, 7th concerto,’ Mr. T. Edge; humorous song, ‘Send ’em up to me,’ Mr. H. A. Green; song, ‘I Fear no Foe,’ Mr. A. Toy.”

County Express 9/10/1897

“Mr. W. N. Cottrell, late of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, is holding a series of harmonic meetings at the STAR HOTEL, Tipton, similar to those he gave in Cradley Heath.....”

William Nathaniel Cottrell – see also STAR, Tipton, GLOBE, Mount Pleasant, Bilston, and LEOPARD, Church Street, Bilston.

County Express 17/4/1897

“An interim authority was granted to Harry Letts for the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath.

Sir Benjamin Hingley remarked on the number of transfers that took place, and said it did not seem to be a question of providing for the convenience of the public, but how much profit the managers made. The chairman was not there that day, but the whole question would have to be thrashed out.”

County Advertiser 28/8/1897

“Harry Letts, landlord of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, was charged with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises, and also with selling liquor to a drunken person on the 12th inst. Mr. J. W. Clulow appeared to prosecute on behalf of the police authorities, and Mr. Ward defended.....

Police-sergeant Newman said that about five minutes past seven on the night of the 12th inst he was on duty at the Five Ways in company with Police-constable Wynn, when he saw a navvy named Grant come out of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL by the side door leading into Scolding Green and go into a urinal. Witness noticed that he was drunk, that he staggered, and had to support himself by the wall. Grant after a time went back into the house, and entered one of the rooms. The officers went into the house, and witness there saw Grant and another navvy named Walker, who was also drunk, sitting at a table, upon which there was a pint of ale. Both men drank from the cup in the presence of the officers. Both men were very drunk, and the appearance of Walker was very sodden. Witness spoke to them, asking for their names, and Grant said, ‘What the — hell do you want our names for?’ Both of the men were very abusive and insolent, particularly Grant. Witness ultimately got their names from them, and then told the landlord that he ought not to supply men when in that condition. Defendant replied, ‘I did not know they were so bad. I have only just come out of the billiard room. They have only had a pint of fourpenny.’ Defendant turned to Homer, his barman, and said to him, ‘How long have they been in?’ Homer said, ‘Three-quarters of an hour, and only had two pints of fourpenny.’ Witness served the summons on defendant, and he then said, ‘I think this is uncalled for. I didn’t consider the men drunk.’

Cross-examined: The men were strangers to that district. Neither of the men denied that they were drunk.

Police-constable Wynn corroborated.

Benjamin Foulkes deposed to seeing the two men drunk and staggering about in the street the same evening.

This closed the case for the prosecution.....

The defendant was called, and said the men were quiet, and did not use any bad language at all. There was nothing in the appearance of the men when he saw them to lead him to believe they were drunk.

Cross-examined: They were quite sober.

Thomas Homer, barman at defendant’s house, said he considered they were sober when they came in, and there was nothing in their appearance which prevented him from filling them ale.

Cross-examined: If the police officers had said they staggered it was untrue.

George Homer deposed to the men being perfectly sober, and to their using no bad language at all. He could not tell they had had anything to drink, they looked so sober.

Defendant was fined £5 and costs, including solicitor’s fee, and Mr. Bassano said he wished to say that the Bench had rarely seen a case so much upheld on the part of the defence by perjury as that had been. The evidence was absolutely disgraceful. The question of the license being continued would be adjourned to the Adjourned Licensing Day.”

Henry ‘Harry’ Letts – see also BEECH TREE, Gorsty Hill Road, Blackheath and BEEHIVE, Old Hill.

County Express 2/10/1897

“Old Hill Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

Stephen Deeley applied for a temporary permit for the FIVE WAYS HOTEL. Inspector Given said Harry Letts was fined £5 and costs for permitting drunkenness. Since then a change had taken place in the tenancy, Stephen Deeley, from the GEORGE HOTEL having gone in and was conducting it to the satisfaction of the police. He had no personal objection to Mr. Deeley. The house belonged to the North Worcestershire Breweries Company. The license was withheld last time, and remarks were made as to the house continually changing hands. The application was now granted.”

County Advertiser 11/6/1898

“On Thursday night a meeting was held at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, when Police-sergeant Newman, who retired from the Staffordshire police force in May, was made the recipient of a handsome presentation.....”

[He was given a purse of £30 in gold.]

County Advertiser 13/5/1899

“Lovers of billiards in Cradley Heath and neighbourhood have a treat in store for them. F. Bateman, the Champion of the Midlands Counties, whose match with Dawson will be fresh in the minds of our readers, will visit the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, next Thursday evening, and play an exhibition match with two local amateurs.”

County Advertiser 22/7/1899 - Advert

“FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath.

H. O. Homer is instructed to Offer for Sale at the above Hotel, on Tuesday Next, July 25th, 1899, Three Valuable Cobs, surplus Household Furniture and Effects.....”

County Advertiser 14/10/1899

“Joseph Reed, town crier for Blackheath, was charged with being drunk and disorderly on the public highway at Blackheath on the 30th ult. Police-constable Smith proved the case, and defendant, who had been convicted several times, was fined 20s. William Willetts, of Oldbury Road, Blackheath, was charged with a like offence, and fined 10s, including costs. Thomas Birks, of Scolding Green Road, Cradley Heath, was charged with a similar offence on the 2nd inst. Police-constable Tiernan gave evidence in support of the case, and said he cautioned the landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, which defendant had entered, not to serve him. Afterwards defendant went to an auction sale, and was very disorderly there. Defendant was fined 10s, including costs.”

County Advertiser 2/12/1899

“The staff and tenants of the North Worcestershire Breweries Company have organised special collections, by means of boxes, in aid of the funds for soldiers’ families. At a meeting on the 23rd November, at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, a sum of £4 5s was collected.....”

County Advertiser 22/9/1900

“Mr. E. O. Nightingale, auctioneer, of Cradley Heath, held a very successful sale of properties at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL on Tuesday evening. The property comprised six small dwelling houses in Scolding Green Road. The bidding started at £400, and the property was eventually knocked down to Mr. D. Woodhall for £560. There was a large and influential company present, and the price realised was considered highly satisfactory.”

County Advertiser 3/11/1900 - Advert

“To Let, Stable, at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath.
Apply, S. Deeley.”

County Advertiser 23/3/1901 - Advert

“Sale of Fruit Trees, Bulbs, and Shrubs, at the House of Mr. S. Deeley, the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath. Arthur H. Sidaway is instructed to Sell by Auction, on Wednesday Next, March 27th, 1901, a choice selection of Shrubs, Bulbs, Fruit and Rose Trees, (all to name), consisting of Plum, Cherry, Peach, and Currants, Rhododendrons, Azaleas and Laurels, Climbing and Dwarf Roses, Azaleas, Hydrangea, Dogberries, and a splendid assortment of Gladiolus and Lily Bulbs. Sale will commence at Two o’clock. Catalogues may be had from the Auctioneer, High Street, Cradley Heath.”

1901 Census

90, High Street

- [1] Stephen Deeley (33), licensed victualler, born Cradley Heath;
- [2] Emma J. Deeley (33), wife, born Cradley Heath;
- [3] William H. Deeley (13), son, born Cradley Heath;
- [4] Emma J. Deeley (11), daughter, born Cradley Heath;
- [5] Ethel M. Deeley (3), daughter, born Cradley Heath;
- [6] Nellie Tranter (22), barmaid, born Essington;
- [7] Vinney Parish (15), domestic servant, born Cradley Heath;
- [8] Florrie Perks (12), niece, born Cradley Heath;

County Express 8/6/1901

“On Thursday evening, at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, Inspector Given (who has recently been moved to Tipton), after nearly eleven years’ service at Old Hill, was presented with a purse of gold containing £72, and an illuminated address; a timepiece was also presented to him for Mrs. Given.....”

County Express 5/10/1901

“Cradley Heath Town Prize Band. A complimentary supper in connection with this band was given at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL on Monday evening. There was a good attendance, over which Mr. H. Shaw presided. After a capital dinner had been enjoyed the evening was pleasantly passed with songs, solos, etc. During the evening a presentation of a gold scarf pin was made to the conductor of the band, Mr. E. Billingham, who had worked so assiduously to bring it to its present state of efficiency. Mr. Billingham suitably acknowledged the gift.”

County Advertiser 22/3/1902

“On Tuesday evening a smoking concert arranged by the members of the Cradley Heath Liberal Club was held in the club room of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. S. Deeley. There was a large gathering, which included representatives from several neighbouring clubs.....”

County Express 11/10/1902

“At the Old Hill Police Court, yesterday (Friday), Andrew Deakin, a respectably-dressed individual, of Long Lane, Blackheath, was charged in custody with stealing three billiard balls from the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, the property of the landlord. It is alleged that the accused took the balls after a game of billiards on Thursday afternoon. He was remanded, on bail, until Wednesday, himself in £20 and sureties of £10 each.”

Smethwick Weekly News 18/10/1902

“At Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, Andrew Deakin, tobacconist and hairdresser, of Long Lane, Blackheath, was charged with stealing three billiard balls, of the value of £2, belonging to Stephen Deeley, landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, High Street, Cradley Heath, on the 9th inst.

Prosecutor stated that defendant visited his premises, and went to the billiard room. Witness had recently lost billiard balls, and becoming suspicious, he made enquiries and discovered that three balls were missing. Defendant was sitting in the smoke room, and upon witness speaking to him, he handed the balls to him, remarking that he was very sorry, but he stole the balls to raise money in order to pay a fine at Kidderminster.

Inspector Hodgkinson stated that defendant was fined £3 and costs for street betting at Kidderminster on the 20th August.

Defendant expressed regret and asked the Bench to deal with him leniently.

The Bench fined defendant £5 and costs, in all £5 13s.”

Tipton Herald 7/3/1903

“William Ball, who resides at Birch Coppice, Quarry Bank, was summoned for refusing to quit the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath. Mr. Stephen Deeley, the landlord, stated that on the 28th ult the defendant came into his house in a state of insobriety. He behaved in a very disorderly manner, and he requested him to leave. Defendant refused to do so and had to be forcibly ejected. Defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined 10s and costs or in default of payment go to gaol for 14 days.”

Tipton Herald 21/3/1903

“Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) conducted an inquiry at the BRITISH OAK INN, Old Hill, on Wednesday morning relative to the death of Emma Jane Deeley, 36, of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, who died under peculiar circumstances on Monday evening last.

The first witness called was Stephen Deeley, husband of the deceased, who stated that he was manager of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL. He had been married nearly sixteen years, and his wife had had seven children. She had enjoyed good health up to the last two weeks, and carried out her duties up till Thursday night last. They partook of supper, and then retired to rest. At 5.10 the next morning he awoke, and she complained of feeling ill, and he called the barmaid for assistance. She seemed to get all right, and he got into bed again, and she went to wake her son to go to work. She returned to bed, and at 6.30 he was awoke by hearing a gurgling sound in his wife’s throat. He saw blood streaming out of her mouth down her cheek. He never saw such a sight before. He subsequently discovered that she had bit her tongue through. He again called for the barmaid, and sent her for the doctor whilst he looked after his wife. Dr. Fryer and the deceased’s mother came. His wife was unconscious, and remained so until her death. She died at 5.55pm on Monday in great agony. His wife never told him about taking any pills.

Elizabeth Harrison, of Newton Lane, Cradley Heath, deposed that she was a private nurse. On the 13th instant she was called to Mrs. Deeley, whom she nursed until death occurred. Doctors Fryer and Tibbetts, together with Dr. Stacey Wilson, of Birmingham, were in attendance. On the 28th of November last year, she nursed the deceased during an illness. The doctor was very suspicious about her taking something. She questioned the deceased, who admitted she had taken some pills which she got from the barmaid’s mother. Deceased told her that she used to take two in the morning and two in the evening. She expressed a hope that witness would not tell the doctors or her husband about taking the pills. Witness gave deceased a good reprimand and promised not to say anything about the pills if deceased would promise not to take any more.

Caroline Peters, of the ODDFELLOWS ARMS, Oldbury, deceased’s sister in law, and Nancy Foley, the mother of Mrs. Deeley, deposed to being present at the death of the deceased. She suffered great pain, and agony. They did not know anything about deceased taking any pills before her death.

Phyllis Baker, barmaid, engaged at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, said deceased was her mistress. She had been engaged there for 9 months. In November of last year deceased spoke to her, and witness went to West Bromwich and spoke to her mother about it. After much hesitation her mother gave her (witness) 30 pills to take to Mrs. Deeley. She gave instructions that she was to take two at night and two in the morning. Witness gave the pills to Mrs. Deeley, who told her some time afterwards that she had taken them. Mrs. Deeley became ill some time after taking the pills. She eventually recovered and continued taking the pills again. Deceased told witness not to say anything to Mr. Deeley about her taking the pills. Mrs. Deeley sent a pair of slippers to witness’s mother for sending the pills. Shortly after Christmas deceased again asked witness to write to her mother for some pills. A fortnight after that Mrs. Deeley paid witness’s fare to West Bromwich to fetch more pills from her mother.

Witness's mother sent Mrs. Deeley 50 pills, and told witness to tell deceased that if she fell ill she was to stop taking the pills. Deceased took all these pills, and made a request for more. Witness went to West Bromwich on purpose to get some more, but forgot to bring them. Her mother made up the pills.

Inspector Hodgkinson stated that he visited Mrs. Baker's house on Tuesday evening, at Mount Pleasant, West Bromwich. He told Mrs. Baker that he had come to make enquiries in respect of the sudden death of Mrs. Deeley, and she replied, 'I know nothing about it. I was over there five weeks ago, and I went to the VINE AND RAILWAY HOTEL, and I and Mrs. Deeley got into conversation about some pills, and I told her they were no good. She had some with her, and showed them to me. She then asked me if I would make her some, and I promised her I would.

The Coroner then adjourned the inquiry until April 24th, in order to have the pills, contents of the stomach, and the liver analysed. The jury were bound over and discharged until the next inquiry."

Tipton Herald 25/4/1903

"Mr. H. A. Pearson (South Staffordshire Coroner) resumed the inquiry yesterday into the circumstances of the death of Emily Deeley (34), formerly residing at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, who died on March 16th last under singular circumstances.

The Coroner said they would remember that the enquiry had been adjourned for the purposes of analyzing the contents of the stomach.

Mrs. Baker said she did not wish to ask any questions, but stated that it was a few days before Mrs. Deeley was taken ill that she gave her some pills.

Mr. Harry Silvestre of Dudley and West Bromwich, analyst, deposed to analysing the pills and contents of the stomach. He analysed 27 pills, weighing 15 grains. He traced lead oxide, olive oil, and bitter aloes. He also analysed 33 pills weighing 146 grains. They were coated with French chalk, coloured. They contained oil of pennyroyal, reduced oil, and aloes. He found no lead in these pills. He analysed the contents of the stomach and traced arsenic, antimony, mercury, and copper. He analysed the liver and spleen, but with negative results.

In answer to the Coroner witness said that had deceased died from lead poisoning he should have expected to discover traces of lead. No doubt there was lead poisoning, but the evidence was eliminated at the time he had the samples.

Dr. Fryer, who made a post mortem examination on the body, was still of opinion that deceased died from convulsion and lead poisoning. He could not say, on the face of the analyst's evidence, that the convulsions were caused by the lead poisoning. Convulsions could be brought on by other causes. He expected, if the deceased died from lead poisoning, that the analyst would find traces of lead.

Dr. T. M. Tibbetts, of Old Hill, said he attended the deceased up to the time of her death – from March 13th. When she was in convulsions he examined her, and found lead in her system. He could not possibly say whether the lead poisoning caused convulsions. He agreed with Dr. Fryer that convulsions was the cause of death. If she died from lead poisoning he should have expected to find some lead in the system.

The Coroner said it was a case that had caused a considerable amount of trouble and anxiety, and it was also a case that was of considerable importance to the public. A statement had been made by the deceased woman to a nurse, but that could not be used as evidence, as it was made in the presence of Mrs. Baker. The woman Baker had also made several admissions to Inspector Hodgkinson.

Mrs. Baker: Mrs. Deeley never took any of the pills.

The Coroner: How do you know that?

Mrs. Baker: I can swear it. I never sent her any.

A verdict to the effect that Death was due to Convulsions during pregnancy was returned."

County Advertiser 5/12/1903

"The presentation by the money club at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL to Mr. Stephen Deeley, the host, on the occasion of his wedding, duly came off on Wednesday evening. The present took the form of a valuable eider down quilt, supplied by Mr. Enoch Gould, of High Street. In the unavoidable absence of the chairman (Mr. T. Poole), Mr. H. F. Shaw made the presentation, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Deeley long life and happiness, and remarking that it was a great pleasure to present the gift to so genial and true a friend.

Mr. Arthur Griffiths followed with a complimentary address, in which he praised the host's rare qualities as a caterer.

Mr. Deeley, in response, thanked the chairman, committee, and the members of the club on behalf of himself and wife. He should value the present, not only for its intrinsic value, but as coming from a circle of respected and valued friends. He should be happy to be associated with a similar compliment to any of them should the occasion arise. (Laughter and applause.)

The remainder of the evening was spent socially."

County Advertiser 2/1/1904

"Sick and Draw Clubs.....

The members of the club held at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, sat down to a capital dinner on Monday last. A dividend of 15s 6d out of a total of 17s paid in, was declared, and the members voted it very satisfactory. The following day the host entertained the company to a cold collation, at the close of which a vote of thanks was passed to the host and hostess for the way in which they had conducted the whole affair."

County Advertiser 1/10/1904

"A London Outing. A short time ago it was suggested at Mr. Deeley's money club at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL that a trip to the metropolis be arranged. Mr. Deeley promised a sovereign towards the amount which would be necessary to secure a saloon; and the arrangements were left in the hands of Mr. T. Poole and Mr. H. F. Shaw. The outcome on Monday last was a great success.

Mr. T. Poole had arranged with the G.W.R. for a saloon from Cradley Heath with a special engine to run to meet the excursion from Wolverhampton, and also a special engine to meet them on their return. Mr. H. F. Shaw had made the London arrangements, and when the party arrived at 11.30am three landaus and pairs were in waiting at Paddington. After a stay at the Three Nuns for luncheon, the party visited St. Paul's, the Houses of Parliament, Hyde Park, the Albert Memorial. They passed over London Bridge and the Tower Bridge; they went into the Tower, into the City, into the Bank of England, into the General Post Office, and into Smithfield; and having seen so much of interesting and historic London the party returned to dine at the Café Monaco. At 25 minutes to one on Tuesday morning they left for home, and arrived at 5.30am, thoroughly satisfied with the outing."

County Advertiser 12/11/1904

"Emily Kenny, a young woman, who described herself as an actress, of no fixed abode, but was said to have come from Rugby, was charged in custody with stealing a hat of the value of 5s belonging to Annie Powell, of Stambermill, on the 6th inst. It appeared from the evidence that prosecutrix paid a visit to the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, which is kept by her father, but when she was preparing to leave at night she discovered that her hat had been stolen from the kitchen. Prisoner was arrested by Police-sergeant Wood when she was behaving in an eccentric manner and when charged with the offence said, 'I have done a silly trick, but hope to be forgiven.' Inspector Gibbs said prisoner belonged to a respectable family but had recently given way to drink, and had been walking the streets in male dress. She had several convictions against her. She was sent to gaol for a month with hard labour."

County Advertiser 19/11/1904

"Wednesday evening was 'Money Club Night' at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, and Mr. Stephen Deeley, the host, catered an excellent dinner. When the business of the money club was completed, Mr. Deeley took the chair. After a brief congratulatory address to the members, he said he had been asked on behalf of the club to make two presentations, to Mr. T. Poole and Mr. H. F. Shaw, the former of whom made the railway arrangements, and the latter the driving arrangements, in connection with the recent outing of the club to London. He then handed to each of those gentlemen a briar pipe, gold mounted, with the club's best wishes. Mr. Poole and Mr. Shaw suitably responded, each of them expressing their complete surprise at the welcome recognition of their services."

County Advertiser 9/3/1907

"The adjourned annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis Petty Sessional Division were held on Wednesday at the Police Court, Old Hill.....

Mr. F. R. Garrard applied for permission to carry out alterations to the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, belonging to the North Worcestershire Breweries Company, in order that better supervision of the rooms could be obtained by the licensee. The application was granted."

County Advertiser 8/6/1907

"The quarterly licensing sessions for the Old Hill Petty Sessional Division were held at the Police Court, on Wednesday, before Messrs. J. F. Pearson, C. W. Bassano, and A. C. Lowe.

An interesting point was raised in connection with an application for the transfer of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, from Benjamin Alfred Hill to John Pillow.

Mr. G. T. S. Plant (Dudley) opposed the application on behalf of Hill on the ground that the owners of the house, the North Worcestershire Brewery Company, had behaved in a very oppressive manner towards his client. At one time, he said, they waived their objection to Hill accepting the tenancy of the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, Cradley Heath, belonging to Mr. Thomas Priest, but subsequently withdrew the waiver and contended that it would be a breach of the agreement entered into between him and the Company. He (Mr. Plant) admitted that Hill had signed an agreement, but he did not read a clause prohibiting him from taking the tenancy of a licensed house within one mile of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL. The clause was not read out to his client, and he signed the agreement in ignorance of that fact. The North Worcestershire Brewery Co. had threatened his client with an injunction if he went to keep the CORNGREAVES HOTEL, and unless they waived their objection his contract with Mr. Darby would fall through. He contended that the agreement entered into by Hill was a most unjust one, and should not be approved by licensing benches. Under it the licensee would become a mere serf, likely to be thrown out at any minute, and it would also debar his client from earning his living in the district where he had resided for a long period. He asked the bench to bring pressure to bear upon 'this bloated brewery company.'

Mr. T. Cooksey (magistrates' clerk) said Hill had been induced to give up the possession of the house, and also to consent to the transfer of the license, at the previous session. The only question for the bench to deal with was whether the present applicant was a fit and proper person to be entrusted with the license. His character was very good, and as the agreement was also satisfactory, he should advise the justices to grant the transfer. The matter raised by Mr. Plant should be considered in another court.

Mr. Plant replied that under the Act of Parliament his client was there for the purpose of laying certain objections to the transfer of the license which he urged the bench to take notice of. Mr. Cooksey said it was not a question for that court to settle.

The Bench granted the application, Mr. Pearson remarking that the dispute between the parties should be settled in another court."

County Express 12/9/1908

"Friendly Societies' Parade. On Wednesday evening the committee of the above met at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Mr. W. Coley presiding over a large attendance. The following was a complete list of those boxes which contained amounts of 1s and upwards.....

Mr. E. Slinn, FIVE WAYS HOTEL, 4s 2d."

County Express 10/10/1908

“On Wednesday, at Old Hill, Wm. Southall (30), Tibbetts Gardens, was summoned for refusing to quit the licensed premises of the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, and for damaging a glass door to the extent of £1 4s 9d, belonging to the landlord, Edward Slinn, on the 19th ult.

It was alleged that defendant went into the public-house in a drunken condition. When requested to leave he declined, and smashed a large glass door.

Defendant said the damage was caused during a disturbance.

He was fined 10s, including costs, and the damage for the other offence.”

Tipton Herald 20/3/1909

“The billiard room at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, kept by Mr. E. Slinn, was reopened on Monday evening, after having been decorated and brought up to date. There was a large attendance. A billiard match had been arranged between a number of the members of the local Conservative Club and a team chosen from amongst the customers of the house.....”

[The Customers beat the Conservatives 5-2.]

Tipton Herald 17/7/1909

“A capital supper was partaken of on Friday evening at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, the house of Mr. E. Slinn. It was the outcome of a couple of billiard matches between teams chosen by Mr. Fred Machin, of the VINE AND RAILWAY HOTEL, and Mr. Slinn.....”

1911 Census

90, High Street – FIVE WAYS HOTEL

- [1] Edward Slinn (50), licensed victualler, born Dudley;
- [2] Phoebe Slinn (47), wife, married 26 years, born West Bromwich;
- [3] May Slinn (21), daughter, born West Bromwich;
- [4] Edward Slinn (10), son, born West Bromwich;
- [5] Elsie Walker (15), general servant, born Cradley:

County Express 18/11/1911 - Advert

“Sale of Highly Valuable Freehold Property.

E. O. Nightingale has received instructions to Sell by Auction, at the House of Mr. Slinn, the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, on Monday, the 27th day of November, 1911, ay 7 o'clock in the Evening, subject to Conditions of Sale then to be produced.....”

County Express 28/9/1912

“At Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, Alfred Heath, Banners Lane, Cradley, and William Henry Heath, a private in the 3rd Battalion Worcestershire Regiment, were summoned for obstructing PC Cafferky whilst in the execution of his duty.

The officer said he had cause to arrest defendants' brother, when they came up to him, struck a civilian who was assisting him, and also threatened to strike witness.

The landlord of the FIVE WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, stated that whilst he was assisting the officer Alfred struck him in the mouth.

Defendants were each fined 20s and costs, 9s 6d.”

William Rice died in 1924.

He was married to Elizabeth.

Clarence Bertram Dingley – see also TALBOT.

Charlie Wright was also a coal dealer.

He was a coach proprietor and haulage contractor of Prince Street.

He was renowned for his dogs.

Bilston and Willenhall Times 21/1/1928

“New Telephone Lines – Cradley Heath 409 – Wright, C., FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath.”

Dudley Herald 25/4/1931

“Mr. T. Leslie Tibbetts held an auction sale at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL (licensee Mr. C. Wright) on Wednesday evening, when there was a large attendance. Bidding was brisk, and the sum of £2,565 was realised for the following: ‘Beecher View,’ Furlong Lane, Cradley, four dwelling houses, Nos.1, 3, 5 and 7, Mill Street, Cradley, and three houses, Nos.40, 42 and 44, Lyde Green, Cradley.”

1939 Register

High Street – FIVE WAYS INN

- [1] Charles Wright, date of birth 25/7/1884, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Amy Wright, dob 10/2/1885, unpaid domestic duties, housewife, married;

Birmingham Daily Gazette 9/1/1953

“The president of the Cradley Heath club, County Councillor Cyril Parkes, told members of the Supporters’ Club at a concert they had organised at the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, last night, that a few weeks ago the football club had been in a desperate position.

Thanks to the formation of the Supporters’ Club, which had now raised £100 towards its target of £1,000, he was able to announce that football would continue at Cradley Heath, at least until the end of the season.”

Tipton Herald 16/7/1960

“Cradley Heath Speedway Supporters Club have now set up their headquarters in the FIVE WAYS HOTEL, Cradley Heath, so for any who want to join, the fee is 2s, which entitles one to a badge and membership card.

The supporters club’s first function takes place next Friday with a ‘Meet the Riders Dance’ at the WARD ARMS HOTEL, Dudley. This will give all a chance to meet the successful Heathens team.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 17/7/1990

“A Cradley Heath man was arrested after causing a disturbance at his best friend’s wedding reception.

Oldbury magistrates heard yesterday how police called to the FIVE WAYS pub in Cradley Heath on June 16 found several female wedding guests standing outside on the pavement in tears.

Guests pointed out Dean Rutter, aged 26, of Meadow Walk, as the cause of the disturbance.

Rutter pleaded guilty to using threatening words and behaviour likely to cause distress to people nearby and was fined £100 plus £20 costs.”

It was restored at a cost of £250,000.

It reopened in December 2003.

[2009]

Closed [2012], [2014]

It became a shop in 2014.

FOUNTAIN

Buck Street, OLD HILL

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Joseph Parkes [1864] – [1869]

NOTES

Stourbridge Observer 19/11/1864

“Joseph Parkes, of the FOUNTAIN INN, Old Hill, was charged with selling ale in prohibited hours.

Police-constable Dorman said he was on duty on the night of the 7th November. At about a quarter to twelve he was passing by the defendant’s house, when he heard some persons talking. He went into the kitchen and some of them blew out the candle. There was a cup of ale on the table. Parkes had a pack of cards in his hand. He told them it was time they were closed. Defendant said it was not past eleven. Defendant acknowledged his guilt, but said he was not aware that it was so late.

Fined 2s 6d and costs, or 14 days in prison.”

County Advertiser 29/4/1865

“Joseph Parkes, a beerhouse keeper, residing in Buck Street, Old Hill, was charged with permitting cock-fighting in his house.

A decent-looking woman, named Elizabeth Willetts, living at Cradley Heath, stated that between ten and eleven o’clock on the morning of Easter Monday she went to the defendant’s house, in search of her husband. She saw the defendant, and asked him if her husband was there. Defendant replied that her husband was in an upstairs room, and she accordingly went to what looked like the club-room. A number of men were assembled in the room, and whilst looking for her husband the defendant came in and told her to go downstairs, saying it was not a fit place for a woman. Witness, however, stayed in the room, and presently she heard the defendant say, ‘Now then, get them on.’ There was a chalk circle in the room, and two cocks were taken to it and set to fight.

The cocks had artificial spurs on their legs. After two or three rounds had been fought witness went downstairs, and soon after she heard some one say, 'The black bird has won.' Witness saw several men pay 2d for admission to the room.

Police-constable Bevington deposed that he went to the defendant's house about one o'clock on the afternoon of the day in question, in plain clothes. He told the landlady that he was a policeman, but she refused to let him go upstairs, and, acting under the advice given to her by a relative who was present, she threatened to split his head with a poker she held in her hand if he made any attempt to go up. Witness heard a number of cocks crowing in an upstairs room.

Mr. Lowe, who appeared for the defence, after cross-examining the witnesses at some length, admitted that cocks were in the room, but urged that the woman had concocted the story of the fight in order to have revenge on the defendant for some imaginary wrong. He also submitted that, if an unlawful sport was about to be indulged in, it was not very likely that the defendant would have allowed a strange woman to be a witness of what took place.

Two witnesses for the defence, named William and Edward Bourne, swore that they were at the defendant's house on the morning in question, and neither saw nor heard anything about cock-fighting. In answer to questions by the Bench, the witnesses said there were no cocks in the house that day.

The Bench, after severely censuring the conduct of the defendant's witnesses, imposed a fine of £2 10s and costs.

There was a second charge against the defendant of refusing to admit the police on the occasion of Bevington's visit, alluded to above. In this matter costs only were ordered to be paid.

Mary Parkes (defendant's wife) and David Bourne were charged with obstructing the police at the same time and place. These defendants were also ordered to pay the expenses.

Richard Parkes, brother to the first defendant, was charged with using threatening language to Mrs. Willetts, on the evening of Easter Monday, whereby she went in danger, &c. When before the Bench, however, she said she was not afraid of the defendant, and the case was therefore at once dismissed."

County Express 27/4/1867

"Joseph Parkes, beerhouse keeper, Buck Street, old Hill, was charged with assaulting James Batty on the 15th inst. From the evidence, it appeared that Batty and others were playing at cards in Parkes's house for ale and money, when a dispute arose, which ended in a general fight. In addition to the assault, he was also summoned by the police for allowing gambling, and was ordered by the Magistrate to pay costs."

On 29th July 1868 Joseph Parkes was fined 20s and costs for refusing to admit the police to his house.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 30/8/1869

"The annual licensing meeting for Rowley Regis division was held on Friday, at COOKSEY'S HOTEL, Old Hill.....

The following beerhouse keepers had been fined during the last five years.....

Joseph Parkes, FOUNTAIN INN, Buck Street, Old Hill.....

The licenses of Joseph Parkes were refused."

AND

County Express 28/8/1869

"Yesterday, the annual licensing session was held at the Police Office.....

There were 60 applications by beerhouse keepers under the new act, when all were granted except four, three of which were taken away altogether J. Parkes, Buck Street, Rowley, against whom there were five convictions."

FOUR WAYS

198, (190), High Street / New Town Lane, (Reddal Hill), CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

William Harrison Nock

Frank Myatt, West End Brewery, Wolverhampton [1919]

Holt Brewery Co. Ltd. (acquired on 22nd February 1928)

Frank Myatt Ltd., Holt Street, Birmingham (acquired on 9th June 1934)

J. Cole, Waterloo Road, Wolverhampton [1939]

William Cole, 1, St. John Street, Netherton (acquired in 1940)

F. Foster (wines and spirits) Ltd., London [1954]

LICENSEES

William Harrison Nock [1857] – [1875]

William James Wenn (1875 – 1877);

John Walters (1877 – [1883])

Mrs. Fanny Tope [1886] – [1892]
William Powell [1896] – 1921);
Alfred Bowkley (1921 – 1923);
Enoch Wharton (1923);
Joseph Bannister (1923 – 1925);
George Thomas Wakefield (1925 – 1928);
Egerton Harry Clifford Foxall (1928 – 1933);
David Parkes (1933 – 1942);
Thomas Foxall (1942 – 1945);
Joseph Thomas Little (1945 – 1948);
John Clifford Smith (1948 – 1949);
Arthur Granger (1949 – 1952);
William Henry Hadley (1952 – 1957);
Harold Foster (1957 – 1958);
Joseph Edward Mills (1958 – 1959);
Arthur William Stanley (1959 – 1961);
William Joseph Knott (1961 – 1963);
David Whitehouse (1963);
Cyril William Mason (1963 – 1965);
Geoffrey Edge (1965 – []
Steve Foley [] – 1987):

NOTES

Reddal Hill [1858]
190, High Street
198, High Street [1881], [1891], [1901], [1904], [1908], [1911], [1912], [1916], [1924], [1932], [1940]

FOUR WAYS LIQUOR VAULTS [1858]
WINE VAULTS [1858]
SPIRIT VAULTS [1863]
WINE AND SPIRIT VAULTS [1875]

It was known locally as the ‘Manchester House’.

Bells Life in London and Sporting Chronicle 4/9/1853

“A match has been made, and £10 a side staked, between Benjamin Malpas and Josiah Edmunds to fight, for £15 a side, within 30 miles of Dudley and Cradley, on the 10th of October. The next deposit of £1 10s a side is to be made at W. Nock’s, FOUR WAYS, Cradley Heath, tomorrow (Monday).”

County Advertiser 9/8/1856 - Advert

“Truman, Hanbury, Buxton, & Co.’s London Porter & Brown Stout, in Casks and Bottles.

May be obtained by the Trade and Public generally, upon application to W. H. Nock, Wine and Spirit Merchant, Four Ways Stores, Cradley Heath.

Bottles to be exchanged, or paid for on delivery.

Applications may be made to Mr. R. Drake, Delph.”

Birmingham Journal 20/12/1856 - Advert

“Wanted, immediately, a Pianist, one who Sings preferred. Also a Characteristic Singer and Dancer; Lady preferred.

Address, Mr. W. H. Nock, Four Ways Music Hall, Cradley Heath, Stourbridge, Staffordshire.”

Birmingham Journal 14/2/1857 - Advert

“Freehold Dwelling Houses and Premises, Five Ways, Cradley Heath, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman (by order of the Executors of the late Miss Purton), on Tuesday next, the 17th day of February, at Six o’clock in the evening, at the house of Mr. Nock, the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath aforesaid, subject to conditions then to be produced, the undermentioned Eight Freehold Dwelling Houses, Chain and Nail Shops, Gardens, and Premises.....”

County Advertiser 22/5/1858 - Advert

“Staffordshire. Pear Tree Lane, near Old Hill, Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Detheridge, at the House of Mr. W. H. Nock, WINE VAULTS, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, on Monday, the 24th day of May, 1858, at Six o’clock in the Evening, subject to conditions to be then and there be produced, all that Well-built Freehold Messuage or Dwelling House.....”

The Era 15/1/1860 - Advert

“Triumphant Career of Messrs. Charles and Harry Burton, Comedians, Character Singers and Dancers, who appear every evening in a variety of New and Original Duets and Entertainments, written expressly for them by H. Battle and B. Williams, Esqs, of London. Mr. C. Burton appears nightly in his Great and Original Transformation Dance, personating ten different Characters, allowed by the Press to be the masterpiece of Character Dancing. At liberty to accept engagements on the 19th of March, after fulfilling a most successful one of six weeks at Mr. Nock's, Four Ways Music Hall, Cradley, Staffordshire, and Mr. Baylis's, Glasgow. All letters addressed to Messrs. C and H Burton at the Music Hall, will meet with attention,”

County Advertiser 11/3/1905

“Some Reminiscences of Rowley Regis. Local Government.

I might add considerably to the evidence of anarchy which prevailed in the parish in the early sixties of the last century, and might enlarge upon its evil influence on the population at large. Of course I use the word ‘anarchy’ in the sense of negation of government, and not as suggesting turmoil. A one-time agricultural parish, sparsely peopled, had developed into a manufacturing and industrial district, and had thereby become much too large for its old governing clothes.....

There was a new system of government, but the old men had it in hand. The headquarters of the southern opposition was at Mr. Wm. Nock's, FOUR WAYS INN.....”

1861 Census

Four Ways

- [1] William Harrison Nock (46), spirit merchant, born Stourbridge;
- [2] Eleanor Nock (45), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] William Henry Nock (17), son, scholar, born Cradley Heath;
- [4] James Nock (15), son, scholar, born Cradley Heath;
- [5] George Nock (14), son, scholar, born Cradley Heath;
- [6] Jeremiah Nock (12), son, scholar, born Cradley Heath;
- [7] Samuel Nock (8), son, scholar, born Cradley Heath;
- [8] Elizabeth Eleanor Nock (7), daughter, scholar, born Cradley Heath;
- [9] Elizabeth Davis (22), domestic servant, born Stoke on Trent:

Birmingham Daily Post 18/8/1862 - Advert

“Open To All England.

To be Shot For, a Fat Pig, nearly 60 Score, alive, at the Four Ways, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday, September 16th at 11am precisely. 50 tickets, 10s 6d each.

The Proprietor to spend £7, and the Winner £3 10s. Dinner to be on the table at 7 o'clock precisely. Each Ticket will admit two to Dinner.

All Guns not to exceed ¾-inch bore

Single Barrel, two ounces shot, 21 yards rise. Double ditto, one ounce and a half shot, 19 yards rise.

Three Birds to each Member, and to be paid for before trapping. One person to trap all Birds.

The Gun to be held below the elbow till the Birds are on the wing. The Field to be the Boundary.

All Tickets to be paid for on or before the 9th September, and in the event of the Tickets not being disposed of, all money will be returned in full.

Any deficiency or overweight in above or below 40 Score will be paid or received at the rate of 9s per Score.

Persons wishing to see the Pig can do so by applying to the proprietor.

W. H. Nock, Spirit Merchant.”

[Another shoot for a pig was held in January 1863.]

Birmingham Journal 4/4/1863 - Advert

“To Nailmasters and Others.

Valuable Freehold Property, at Reddall Hill, Cradley Heath, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, Consisting of an Extensive Nail Warehouse, Dwelling Houses, Gardens, Land, and Premises.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Monday, the 27th day of April, 1863, at Six o'clock in the evening, at the house of Mr. H. Nock, the SPIRIT VAULTS, Four Ways, Cradley Heath aforesaid, and subject to conditions then to be produced.....”

Stourbridge Observer 15/10/1864 - Advert

“To Pig Breeders. May be Seen at the Brewery and Spirit Vaults, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, a Pair of the Finest Bred Young Pigs in the kingdom (a Brawn, and Gilt in Pig); bred by the celebrated Mr. Bradshaw, of Manchester, who has received £150 for Prizes in one year, from the various Cattle Shows. Sows served at 7s 6d each. W. H. Nock, Proprietor.”

County Advertiser 26/5/1866

“On Wednesday, at the Police Court, William Harrison Nock, of the Four Ways, Cradley Heath, was charged with suffering filth to flow on the highway. Defendant did not appear. The offence having been proved, the Bench imposed a fine of 1s and costs.”

County Advertiser 27/6/1868

“William Harrison Nock, licensed victualler, Four Ways, was charged by Joseph Parkes, Inspector of Nuisances, with allowing a quantity of noxious matter to flow from his premises on to the highway. Mr. Ponton was for the defence.

Parkes having deposed to the nature of the nuisance, Mr. Ponton produced receipts to show that the late surveyor had been paid by the defendant to put the place in proper repair, according to his (the surveyor’s) own plans. This, however, took place sixteen years since.

The Bench made an order for the nuisance to be removed within fourteen days.”

County Advertiser 17/7/1869 - Advert

“West Staffordshire Registration. Rowley Regis District.

All Liberals possessing a qualification for the Western Division of the County, and not at present on the Register, can have their Claims attended to upon application to Mr. W. H. Nock, Four Ways, Cradley Heath. Also, all Liberals already on the Register, but who have changed their residences, are requested to give notice, in order that their Re-claim may be made out.

July 20th is the Last Day for serving Claims and Re-claims.”

Stourbridge Observer 8/10/1870

“A meeting of chainmakers of this district was held at Mr. Nock’s, the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath. About 100 delegates were present. The object of the meeting was to provide the necessities of life, and protect the trade, and benefit both masters and men. Several masters have expressed themselves favourable to the movement.....”

County Advertiser 12/11/1870

“We have been requested to remind gas consumers that an adjourned public meeting will be held at the house of Mr. Nock, Four Ways, on Tuesday evening next, at eight o’clock, to receive and consider the decision arrived at the by the directors of the Cradley Heath Gas Company. As points of some considerable interest will be brought forward, it is hoped that the consumers generally will attend the meeting. We find in yesterday’s Daily News that notice has been given by the present Gas Company that application is intended to be made to Parliament in the ensuing session for leave to bring in a bill to dissolve the company as it now exists, and to extend the present works, &c. No doubt the matter will be fully discussed by the consumers next Tuesday.”

1871 Census

High Street – FOUR WAYS

- [1] William H. Nock (56), brewer &c, born Stourbridge;
- [2] Eleanor E. Nock (54), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Jeremiah L. Nock (19), son, brewer, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Elizabeth E. Nock (17), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mirah Hipkiss (22), general servant, born Dudley;

County Advertiser 17/8/1872 - Advert

“FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.

Messrs. Oates, Perrens, Wooldridge are favoured with instructions to Sell by Auction, upon the Premises, on Tuesday, the 27th day of August, 1872, at Five o’clock in the Afternoon.

That very Excellent Freehold Property, FOUR WAYS INN, now occupied by Mr. W. H. Nock, situate at Cradley Heath, in the county of Stafford.

The House has been known for many years past to do a very extensive business.

It is very commodious, with large Cellarage, Garden, Yard, Stabling, and every accommodation for carrying on a first-class Wholesale and Retail Business.

For further information, apply to Mr. John Stallard, Solicitor, Worcester; or to Messrs. Oates, Perrens, and Wooldridge, Land Agents, Stourbridge.”

William Harrison Nock was also a brewer, and wine and spirit merchant. [1873]

County Advertiser 22/2/1873 - Advert

“To Let, with immediate possession, Rose Cottage, Lower Swinford, near Stourbridge (with or without a Seven Quarter Malt-house), comprising Two Front Rooms, Four Bed Rooms, Kitchen, and Larder, good Cellar, Stable and Garden; also a Cottage adjoining, with good Garden, &c.

Apply on the premises, or to W. H. Nock, Four Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 17/4/1875 - Advert

“To Innkeepers, Brewers and Others.

Preliminary Announcement of Sale of Important and Very Desirable Freehold Property, known as Nock’s WINE AND SPIRIT VAULTS and Brewery, situated at the Four Ways, Cradley Heath, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford.

Mr. Bateman begs to announce that he has received instructions, in consequence of the state of health of Mr. Nock and that of his Family, to Offer for Sale by Auction, upon the Premises, on Wednesday, the 21st day of April inst, the above very valuable Freehold Property, a full description of which will be given in future advertisements and plans and particulars of sale; in the meantime any further information may be obtained from Messrs. Sanders and Smith, Solicitors; Mr. Brettell, Mine Agent; or the Auctioneer, all of Dudley.”

County Advertiser 12/6/1875 - Advert

“Nock’s WINE AND SPIRIT VAULTS, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, Rowley.

Sale of Household Furniture, Stock-in-Trade, large number of Casks, useful Brown Harness Mare, Four-wheeled Carriage, Dog Cart, Float, Gig and Cart Harness, and a variety of other Effects.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, upon the above Premises, at the Four Ways, Cradley Heath, on Monday, the 21st June Next, and the following day if required, the Household and Public House Furniture, Stock-In-Trade, and Effects, Casks, capital Half-bred Brown Mare, 7 years old; Four-wheel Closed Carriage, Two-wheeled Dog Cart, Brewery Float, excellent Gig and Cart Harness, and sundry other articles, full particulars of which will be given in Catalogues of Sale to be distributed, and which may be had ten days prior to the Sale, at the principal Inns in the neighbourhood, at the Place of Sale, and from the Auctioneer, Dudley.”

County Advertiser 27/1/1877

“Thomas Tromans was charged by John Walters, landlord of the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, with having been drunk on his premises, and the 15th inst, and with having refused to quit the same when ordered by him to do so. The offence was proved to the satisfaction of the magistrates, and a fine of 5s and costs was imposed.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 23/3/1877

“Mr. Superintendent Woollaston charged William James Wenn, manager (under a Manchester firm) of the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, with neglecting to have his name painted on a conspicuous part of his house. Mr. Hayes, who defended, said the house would be transferred from the defendant in a short time, and promised that the law should then be complied with. The magistrates fined defendant only 5s and costs under the circumstances.”

AND

County Advertiser 24/3/1877

“Mr. Superintendent Woollaston charged William James Wenn, manager of a licensed house at Cradley Heath under Colonel Deakin (of a Manchester firm), with neglecting to have his name painted up on a conspicuous part of his house. Police-constable Cooper said that on the 14th of March, 1875, the license of the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was transferred to the defendant, who did not have his name affixed to the sign, but had it painted on a side door, where no one would notice it. Mr. Hayes, who appeared on defendant’s behalf, said that a proper transfer should be made, and promised that the name should be affixed to the sign. The Magistrates said that under these circumstance they should only inflict a fine of 5s and costs.”

County Advertiser 4/8/1877 - Advert

“Valuable Freehold Ironworks and Dwelling Houses, at Old Hill, near Dudley.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Thomas Homer, on Tuesday, the 14th day of August, 1877, at the house of Mr. Walters, the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.....”

County Advertiser 15/12/1877

“On Tuesday evening a meeting of local gas consumers was held at the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, with the object of discussing means of obtaining a reduction in the price of gas.....”

County Advertiser 11/5/1878

“A meeting of small chainmakers now on strike for an increase in wages in the Cradley and Cradley Heath district was held on Monday morning, at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath. Mr. N. Forrest presided, and there was a very numerous attendance.....”

County Express 25/5/1878

“The leaders of the men do not appear very sanguine that the strike will have a successful result, and it is believed that the chainmakers are fast going in at the reduction. The advance, as has been reported, has been conceded in some cases. A meeting of the men was held on Tuesday at the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, Mr. N. Forrest in the chair.....”

County Express 31/8/1878

“At a meeting of the men held on Tuesday, at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath (Mr. B. Bridgwater presiding), Mr. N. Forrest, Chairman of the Chainmakers’ Association, reported that the strike for the revised list was all but at and end, the leading masters having complied with the demand made upon them.....”

County Express 21/2/1880

“Inkerman Rose, chainmaker, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk on licensed premises, and with having refused to quit the same when requested to do so. Mr. Hayes prosecuted.

Thomas [sic] Walters, manager at the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, said the defendant came into his house drunk, and asked to be served with ale. Witness refused to serve him and asked him to leave the house. Defendant refused to leave, became disorderly, took up a water bottle, and threatened to knock witness’s head off.

Police-constable Cooper said he was called into the complainant’s house to eject the defendant.

The bench fined defendant 20s and costs.”

AND

Dudley Herald 21/2/1880

“Inkerman Rose was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of John Walters, MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, on Saturday last.

Thomas Weston, barman, said on Saturday night last defendant came into Mr. Walters' house and asked for something to drink. On being refused, he picked up a water bottle, and threatened to throw it at him. Defendant was drunk and very violent, and remained in the house 50 minutes. He would not let witness fill for the customers. He was obliged to send for the police.

PC Cooper said he was sent for by the previous witness to eject the defendant from the MANCHESTER INN. On arriving there he found the defendant there. He was very drunk and violent, and behaved like a madman. Defendant kicked and struck him several times. He was obliged to get assistance before he could remove defendant from the house.

A friend of the defendant informed the Bench that defendant's head was affected, and that when he got drunk it made him mad.

Mr. Hayes prosecuted, and said that that was so, and the defendant was not fit to be at large.

The Bench said it was a very bad case, and would fine defendant 20s and costs, or, in default, 28 days' hard labour.”

Dudley and District News 23/10/1880

“John McHarg (30), tailor, Victoria Terrace, Dudley, was charged with stealing 12s belonging to John Walters, of the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, and further with resisting the police in the execution of their duty.

On Saturday night last defendant and Walters had a dispute with reference to paying for a bottle of champagne, and it was alleged that defendant got possession of 12s, belonging to the prosecutor, and refused to return it. He was then given into custody, and whilst being conveyed to the lock-up, kicked violently at Police-superintendent Wollaston and PC Sylvester; two or three men having, eventually, to be employed to assist in removing him to the cells.

Prosecutor now asked the Bench to allow him to withdraw the charge of larceny, as defendant had expressed his regret for what he had done, and was willing to pay the costs.

The request was granted, but for resisting the police defendant was fined 20s and costs, or, in default, one month's imprisonment.”

Evening Express 25/2/1881

“For several weeks past the chainmakers in the Cradley Heath and surrounding districts have been agitating for an advance of wages. Meetings have been held in various parts of the district, and the feeling of the men generally was said to be in favour of notice being given to the employers for a substantial increase.

On Wednesday evening a large and representative meeting of the men was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath, when it was unanimously resolved to give fourteen days' notice to the masters on Saturday next for an advance. The men consider that the present condition of the trade justifies them in moving for a reconsideration of the wages question, and they express their determination to turn out on strike at the expiration of the notice if their demands are not conceded.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 2/4/1881

“On Monday and Wednesday large meetings of the chainmakers were held at the MANCHESTER INN. Five masters have now promised the 4s list. The men in the employ of these firms have resumed work. The men are resolved to continue the strike until all the masters concede the 4s list.”

1881 Census

198, High Street – FOUR WAYS INN

[1] John Walters (29), licensed victualler, born Werrington, Devonshire;

[2] Margaret Walters (29), wife, born Werrington, Devonshire;

[3] John Walters (4), son, born Cradley Heath;

[4] Samuel Walters (1), son, born Cradley Heath;

[5] Richard Walters (7 months), son, born Cradley Heath;

[6] Robert Flowers (19), barman, born Tividale;

[7] Hannah Forrest (14), domestic servant, born Cradley Heath:

Evening Express 5/4/1881

“A largely attended meeting of the chainmakers now on strike for an advance of wages was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, yesterday; Mr. B. Billingham presided.

A note was read from another large firm in the neighbourhood promising to pay the 4s list for all shale and American work. It was agreed that the men in the employ of the firm alluded to should resume work at once. It was then unanimously resolved to continue the strike until all the employers concede the 4s list.”

Evening Express 12/4/1881

“The Chainmakers' Strike. The number of men engaging in this strike is now comparatively small. Since the first fortnight of the strike individual employers have been almost daily conceding the men's demands for an advance on the 4s list, and many of the men have, therefore, resumed work. At a meeting of chainmakers on Monday, at the Four Ways, Cradley Heath, the president of the Chainmakers' Association announced the receipt of communications from two employers expressive of their willingness to give the men in their employ the advance for which they had been contending, and it was resolved that the men concerned should resume their labour forthwith. Eight firms are now paying at the advanced rate, so that the termination of the strike cannot be far distant.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 7/5/1881

“A largely attended meeting of the chain and trace makers now on strike for an advance of wages was held on Wednesday, at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath.

Mr. B. Billingham, chairman, stated that he had waited upon two local firms, requesting them to pay their men the list price demanded, and was informed that these firms were willing to concede to the men in their employ the 4s list. The men employed by these firms were allowed to return to work.

It was unanimously resolved to continue the strike until all the employers concede the 4s list.

This makes the eighth week of the strike.”

AND

“Yesterday, at a meeting of chainmakers held at the MANCHESTER INN, it was reported that two other masters had conceded to the 4s list, and their men were allowed to resume work. It was resolved to continue the strike. About 200 of the men still remain out on strike.”

Dudley and District News 21/5/1881

“On Wednesday a meeting of the chainmakers on strike for an increase of wages was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath.

The chairman (Mr. B. Billingham) said he had waited upon those men who had returned to work at the advanced list, and found them generally satisfied. The workmen, however, complained that the work in hand was not being equally divided by the employers amongst their workmen, and this was causing ill-feeling and jealousy.

A note was read from a large firm in the Cradley Heath district, promising to pay the 4s list. The operatives in the employ of this firm were allowed to resume work.

The usual resolution to continue the strike until all the employers concede the 4s list was carried unanimously. The men have now entered upon the tenth week of the strike, and there are still about 180 men without employment.”

Dudley and District News 4/6/1881

“The chainmakers who have been on strike for the past three months for an advance of wages, held a meeting at the MANCHESTER INN, on Wednesday morning, Mr. B. Billingham presiding. The Chairman announced that much dissatisfaction still existed amongst the men, in consequence of the unequal distribution of work. The usual resolution to continue the strike until the masters acceded to their demands, was unanimously carried.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 13/8/1881

“On Wednesday night a meeting of the hammered and country chain makers was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath, to receive the report of the manager with reference to the proposed strike.

Mr. Benjamin Billingham, presided, and there were delegates present from Dudley Wood, Old Hill, Cradley Heath, Cradley, Fox Oak, and New Town.

The chairman said he had been round to the masters and they had agreed to give an advance on all country and hammered work, varying from 15 to 20 per cent, with an understanding that in a short time, as trade revived, they would concede a higher price. The masters thought it would be better for them to accept this offer than to come out on strike and so make matters worse. He thought there was no trade in such a low condition as the chain trade. Their children were not half clothed and their homes were in a dejected and miserable condition. He was sure that if they would hold together there was no trade in the country that would do better. He recommended them to accept the offer of the masters, and as trade revived they could ask for a further advance with a hope of getting it.

A Workman asked how many of the masters had agreed to concede an advance.

Mr. Billingham said the majority of them were willing. The masters were particularly anxious to know the result of that meeting. The Old Hill representative said he thought the course taken by the masters a very good one, and proposed that their offer be accepted.

The representative from Cradley Heath seconded the resolution. He was in favour of working harmoniously with the masters, which course he considered would be better for the whole trade.

The resolution was carried unanimously.”

[The dispute was settled the following week.]

West Bromwich Weekly News 22/10/1881

“On Monday a general meeting of chainmakers who are on strike for an advance of wages, was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath.

Mr. Benjamin Billingham, who presided, reported that he had waited upon the two largest firms in the neighbourhood, viz, Messrs. N. Hingley and Sons, Netherton, and Messrs. J. Wood, Aston and Co., Cradley Heath, and who had agreed to pay the advanced price for all classes of work. The following resolutions were then carried. That the men in the employ of those masters who have agreed to pay the advance, shall resume work without delay, and that the operatives of those who have not shall remain out on strike until their demands are conceded, and that the ‘dollied’ chainmakers be called upon to contribute 1s per week, and the ‘hammered’ makers 6d weekly for the support of those operatives whose employers have not consented to pay the advance.”

County Express 10/12/1881

“Thomas Rock and Benjamin Willetts, both of Cradley Heath, were charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the FOUR WAYS INN, on November 28th. In consequence of a witness being away from home, Inspector Walters withdrew the case on defendants paying costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 6/1/1882 - Advert

“Youth Wanted, about 17, to Wait behind Counter, and make himself generally useful. One from country preferred. None need apply who have been in the business. Good references required. Apply, FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 18/3/1882

“On Monday Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, respecting the death of Edward Sherlock (52), cabinet maker, of Aston Yard. The evidence showed that deceased had been addicted to habits of intemperance for a long time, and on Thursday he was taken ill and died before a doctor arrived. The jury returned a verdict of Natural Causes, but also expressed an opinion that death had been accelerated by excessive drinking.”

County Advertiser 6/1/1883

“On Wednesday night a numerously-attended meeting of male and female chainmakers, from Rowley, Old Hill, Cradley Heath, Cradley, Dudley Wood, and Lye Waste, was held at the house of Mr. J. Walters, MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath, to consider the question of female labour in the chain trade.....”

County Advertiser 19/5/1883 - Advert

“Wanted, immediately, General Servant. Must be strong, clean, and active. References required. Apply, FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.”

County Express 19/7/1884

“The members of court Robin Hood’s Merry Rangers, No.4540 of the Ancient Order of Foresters, had their annual dinner at the court house, FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, on Monday last. The host served up the dinner in his customary efficient style, and on its conclusion several members added to the enjoyment of the evening by singing. The usual business was transacted, and this showed the Society to be in a very satisfactory condition. A pleasant evening was brought to a close by the usual votes of thanks.”

County Advertiser 4/4/1885

“A mass meeting of chainmakers on strike was held on Monday morning at the FOUR WAYS INN. Mr. Bellingham presided, and stated that additional men had now come out on strike, and he was convinced that if the men would only remain firm and united, victory was certain. A delegate stated that as compared with the prices paid now and those of last year, there was a difference of 2s per cent, which meant a reduction in wages of £1,000 a week in the Cradley Heath district. Another speaker contended the underselling did not increase the demand. It was resolved to ‘play on.’”

County Advertiser 16/10/1886

“Benjamin Sidaway, Cradley Heath, was charged with refusing to quit the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, on the 9th inst. Defendant, who was drunk, was requested to leave the house by the landlady, but he refused, and had to be ejected. Defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 30/12/1886

“Yesterday morning a meeting of chainmakers was held in the Salvation Army Barracks, Cradley Heath. The Chairman (Mr. Homer), before proceeding to address the meeting, announced the following donations towards the fund, which were received with deafening applause: Mr. H. Best, £20; Birmingham Gazette subscription list, £22 15s 3d; Mr. Walter Showell, £10; Messrs. Mitchells, Cape Hill Brewery, £10 10s; National Society of Amalgamated Brassworkers, £3 3s; Mr. W. Walker (Mayor of Dudley), £2, who expressed a hope that the truck system would be speedily abolished; Mr. Monckton, of Penkridge, £5; Mr. George Dawes, The Hall, Smethwick, £5; Mr. T. Merideth, architect, Kidderminster, £3 3s; Mr. W. Bassano’s weekly subscription of £1; Mrs. Tope, MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath, 5s.....”

County Advertiser 8/1/1887

“The following sums have this week been contributed to the Chainmakers’ Relief Fund: Mr. H. G. Walker, Dudley, £1 1s; Mr. Brooke Robinson, MP, £10; Mrs. Tope, Four Ways, Cradley Heath 5s.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 24/2/1887 - Advert

“General Servant, able to wash. Good wages given; character indispensable. Mrs. Tope, Four Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 21/1/1888

“William Preston, shacklemaker, Spinners End, for being drunk at FOUR WAYS INN, on the 14th inst, was fined 2s 6d and costs, or seven days.”

Birmingham Daily Post 6/3/1890

“Harry Cartwright (25), millwright, of Spinners End, Cradley Heath, was charged with unlawfully wounding Joseph Clee, warehouseman, of Bank Street, Cradley Heath; and also with wounding Sidney Clee, aged four years, on the 3rd inst. It appeared that the men were at the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, when a dispute arose as to the accuracy of the statement by one of the company that he began to work when eight years old in a pit. Prisoner picked up a glass and struck Clee with it on the face, wounding him severely. His child, Sidney, was asleep on his lap, and the fragments of glass fled about, and cut the child all over the face. Prisoner said he was very sorry, but he did it in a drunken passion. The Bench sentenced him to six weeks’ hard labour, but afterwards altered their decision and fined him £5 and costs. The fine was paid.”

County Express 8/11/1890

“Fanny Tope, landlady of the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, was charged with selling ale to a drunken person on the 28th ult. Mr. Shakespeare defended. The Bench considered there was no doubt in the case, and it was dismissed.”

1891 Census

198, High Street

- [1] Fanny Tope (35), widow, licensed victualler, born Devonport, Devonshire;
- [2] Agnes Tope (14), daughter, scholar, born Manchester;
- [3] Elsie Tope (13), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Jessie Tope (11), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Harry M. Tope (8), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Annie M. Whitefield (26), general servant, born Blaenavon, Monmouthshire;
- [7] Maria Baker (19), general servant, born Sunderland:

Midland Sun 1/7/1893

“On Wednesday morning, a largely attended meeting of Chainmakers who are out on strike, was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath. Mr. James Smith (secretary) presiding. The Chairman stated that they had now entered upon the tenth week of the strike, and things were pretty nearly the same as the week previous with the exception that a few more operatives were at work.....”

County Advertiser 1/5/1897

“James Tromans, Plant Street, Cradley Heath, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of William Powell, landlord of the FOUR WAYS INN, on the 19th inst. Police-constable Wynn proved the case, and defendant was fined 10s.”

County Express 9/10/1897

“The second annual parade of Foresters in the Cradley, Cradley Heath, Quarry Bank, and Dudley Wood districts, for the benefit of the home at Clent, took place on Sunday afternoon, with every element of success attending it – the day was fine, the crowd was large, and the collections were very satisfactory. A pleasing feature about the parade was the number of members who turned out, and the number of courts. The following courts were represented.....
Good Samaritan, MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath.”

Dudley Herald 15/1/1898

“The quarterly meeting of the Dudley and Cradley Heath District of the Ancient Order of Foresters was held at the MANCHESTER HOTEL, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, on Monday last, Bro. J. Darby, CR, presiding. The balance sheet, as presented, showed an expenditure in funeral benefits of £200, on behalf of 16 members and eight wives’ deaths. In reduced sick allowance £416 was paid, and £40 in management expenses, the total worth of the district funds being returned as £2,694. The number of members as last quarterly report was 6,143. A vote of thanks was accorded the auditors, Bros. Parsons and F. Woodall, for the report. The levies for the ensuing year were adopted, amounting altogether to 1s 11½d per member. The report of delegates to Midland Counties Foresters Federation was presented by Bro. G. Raybould, the principal recommendation being the compulsory investment of court funds at a higher rate than 2½ per cent.”

County Advertiser 11/3/1899

“The hammered chain makers at Cradley Heath, about 700 in number, have demanded an increase in wages, and their notices expired on Saturday last. The operatives then turned out on strike. On Monday morning a crowded meeting of the men was held at the MANCHESTER INN.....

At a large meeting of the outworkers, held on Wednesday morning, at the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, Mr. J. Smith stated that since Monday five of the employers had intimated their intention of conceding the required advance it was decided that their workpeople, numbering upwards of 150, should resume work this morning. It was also resolved that the workpeople unable to obtain the advance should remain out on strike. The majority of those now out are women and girls.”

County Express 21/7/1900

“A meeting of the Executive Council of the Chainmakers’ and Strikers’ Association was held last night week at the MANCHES-TER INN, Fourways, Cradley Heath, at which a report and balance sheet for the half-year were presented by the Secretary (Mr. T. Sitch). Mr. W. Millichip, the president, and Mr. J. Taylor, the secretary of the Midland Counties Trades' Federation, were present, and congratulated the association on its progress, and they received from the Council their warm thanks for the Federation's sympathy and support....."

County Express 4/8/1900

"The Block Chainmakers' Association. The annual dinner of the above association was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, on Saturday evening. A good number assembled to dinner served up by Mr. and Mrs. W. Powell, and there was a full attendance at the general meeting when the outgoing president, Mr. G. Courts, took the chair, supported by Messrs. W. Bloomer (vice-president), T. Homer (secretary), and J. Taylor (secretary to the Midland Counties Trades' Federation)....."

County Express 23/3/1901

"A largely-attended meeting of the out-workers and hammered sections of the chain trade was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday evening, to receive the report of the delegates who attended a conference of the employers that day, and to consider what further steps should be taken to restore prices at places where the list was not being adhered to.

Mr. T. Sitch was elected to the chair, and there were also present: Messrs. W. Millerchip (president of the Midland Counties' Trades' Federation), J. Taylor (secretary to the federation), and James Smith (secretary of the Hammered Chainmakers' Association and Country Workmakers' Association).

The chairman congratulated those present upon the splendid turn out they had made on such a stormy night, and said it showed their enthusiasm was great. He considered the meeting was of a very important character, and he always considered a meeting to be very important when the workers' prices were affected. They were not going to attempt to disguise anything that night in the way of some prices being less in some branches of the trade in the country and hammered branches. But, although they had to make that admission, they were still hopeful that it had not gone too far as yet, but in those cases where the prices had been lost they thought there was every probability of them being restored. It was not the first difficulty they had to contend with in the chain trade....."

1901 Census

198, High Street

[1] William Powell (43), public house keeper, born Puppy Green, Staffordshire;

[2] Amelia Powell (42), wife, born Wordsley;

[3] William Powell (20), son, tube fitter, born Lye;

[4] Albert E. Powell (14), son, wood turner, born Dudley;

[5] Nellie M. Powell (12), daughter, born Dudley;

[6] Rosy L. Powell (9), daughter, born Netherton;

[7] Cissy Powell (3), daughter, born Cradley Heath;

[8] Annie Lowe (19), barmaid, born Wordsley;

[9] John T. Hurdiss (7), visitor, born Lye:

County Express 8/6/1901

"A well attended meeting of the people still on strike (in the hammered and country workers' section of the chain trade) was held on Tuesday morning at the MANCHESTER INN, Mr. W. Millichip (President of the Midland Counties' Federation) was voted to the chair, and Mr. John Taylor and Mr. J. Smith (secretary of the section) were also present....."

County Express 15/6/1901

"A meeting of the country workers and hammered chain sections of the chain trade was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath, on Tuesday morning, when a good number were present.

Mr. James Smith (secretary) presided, and announced that Messrs. Bannister and Co. had consented to concede the list prices. At the last meeting he complained that some employers gave out smaller iron than was required, thus robbing the workers. He had obtained legal advice upon the matter, and was advised to issue a circular to the whole of the employers in the trade, informing them that after a certain date those who gave out smaller iron than was required would be proceeded against for the balance of the money due to the operatives. The workers would also receive a circular upon the matter, and he asked for their co-operation in the matter. He was told there would be no difficulty in securing the balance. Trouble had already commenced in this respect, and nine summons under the particular Clause of the Factory and Workshops Act had been taken out against an employer at Quarry Bank, and which would be decided before the stipendiary at Brierley Hill. He was pleased to say that so far as the outlook at present was concerned, it seemed they would have a very strong society when the strike was over. Prior to the strike, the society numbered 320, but he thought about next September their numbers would reach 700 – (applause). Numbers were giving in their names week by week to join, and he urged all present to remain firm to the union, and they would endeavor to get them a little bit extra strike pay.

Mr. Garvey (Birmingham) addressed the meeting, and a resolution in favour of continuing the strike until all employers had conceded the price list, was carried unanimously."

County Express 22/6/1901

"A meeting of strikers in the country workers and hammered chain sections was held at the MANCHESTER INN, on Wednesday morning, when Mr. W. Millerchip, president of the Midland Counties' Trades' Federation presided.

Mr. James Smith (secretary) reported that Messrs. E. Walker and Son, of Cradley, had agreed to pay the list prices. He regretted to state that an employer in Quarry Bank, whilst agreeing to concede the advance, had already commenced to reduce the wages of his workers. The society would take some action in the matter, with a few maintaining the list prices at the factory. The Chairman also addressed the meeting, and it was decided to continue the strike.”

County Express 29/6/1901

“On Wednesday morning a meeting of strikers in the country workers and hammered chain sections of the chain trade was held at the MANCHESTER INN, when, Mr. J. Smith reported another employer had, since the last meeting, agreed to pay the list prices. The number of strikers had now been considerably reduced, and he hoped the strike would soon be over. It was decided to continue it.”

County Advertiser 8/3/1902 - Advert

“Blue Roan Mare, 13½, for Sale; five years old, splendid action. Also Dog Cart and Harness to suit same.
W. Powell, Four Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 16/7/1904

“The sixteenth annual dinner and meeting of the Block Chainmakers’ Association was held on Saturday afternoon last at the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath. About 150 of the members sat down to a dinner, which was well served by the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Powell.

After dinner the president, Mr. William Cooper, presided over the largest gathering the society has ever had on an annual day. In his address, the President referred to the improved membership and friends of the association, and asked the members to take a deeper interest in the society, which gave more benefits than any other association for them in the shape of sick pay, out of work pay, and strike pay.....”

County Advertiser 24/6/1905

“On Thursday evening last week the members of the Cradley Heath Friendly Societies’ Parade Committee held a meeting at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways. Some 25 delegates attended, representing every friendly society in the township.....”

County Advertiser 13/1/1906

“Mary Etheridge, residing at East Street, Quarry Bank, was charged with attempting to obtain drink whilst upon the black list on the 30th ult. Police-constable Bridgewood stated he saw defendant go into the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley, and ask to be supplied with half a pint of ale. Witness drew the attention of the landlord to the fact that defendant was on the black list, and he refused to serve her. Witness spoke to her, and defendant asked him to let her go. William Powell, landlord of the public house, corroborated this statement, but defendant denied that she attempted to obtain drink. Defendant had been previously fined twice for attempting to obtain drink whilst on the black list, and she was fined 20s and costs, or a month’s imprisonment.”

County Advertiser 6/10/1906

“Last night week an important meeting of the Council of Chainmakers and Strikers Association, together with representatives of the whole of the factories in the districts of Stourbridge, Round Oak, Cradley Heath, Tipton, Pontypridd, Chester, Gateshead-on-Tyne and North Staffordshire, was held at the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath During the giving of Mr. Sitch’s report he received a telegram which he said was from the London Daily Mail asking certain questions with regard to the chain trade. It seemed, he remarked, they had become an exceedingly important trade, not only in Cradley Heath, but so far away as London and other parts of the world.”

County Advertiser 22/6/1907 - Advert

“One Small Dog Cart, India-rubber Tyre, in good condition; suit pony 12 to 13.
W. Powell, Four Ways, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 27/7/1907

“Important questions were discussed at the annual meeting of the Chainmakers’ and Chainstrikers’ Association, which was held on historic ground at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath on Monday.....”

County Express 12/9/1908

“Friendly Societies’ Parade. On Wednesday evening the committee of the above met at the PLOUGH AND HARROW INN, Mr. W. Coley presiding over a large attendance. The following was a complete list of those boxes which contained amounts of 1s and upwards.....

Mr. W. Powell, MANCHESTER, 1s 3d.”

Tipton Herald 9/1/1909

“A meeting of workers in the dollied chain trade – factory men and out-workers – has been called for Tuesday, January 12th, at the MANCHESTER. The business as stated on the agenda is ‘To receive the secretary’s report; election of trustees, treasurer, executive council, and rule committee.’

We understand that another meeting will shortly be held to consider what action should be taken in regard to the prices paid for dollied chain. The notice calling the meeting, which is headed ‘Cradley Heath and District Chainmakers’ Association’ is signed by Mr. James H. Smith. The meeting is the first since reorganization, and a large attendance is hoped for.”

County Express 23/1/1909

“On Thursday evening a meeting of members of the Chainmakers’ and Strikers’ Association was held at the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath. Mr. Bate presided.....”

Tipton Herald 17/7/1909

“Mr. J. Powell, son of Mr. William Powell, landlord of the MANCHESTER INN, Four Ways, Cradley Heath, has decided to cross the herrin’ pond to seek a fortune in Canada. On Monday evening a number of his friends assembled in MANCHESTER to bid him au revoir and good luck. A capital meal was served by Mr. and Mrs. Powell, after which the evening was spent convivially.....”

County Express 7/5/1910

“On Monday, at St. Luke’s Church, Cradley Heath, the wedding was solemnised between Miss Rhoda Powell, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Powell, of the FOUR WAYS INN, and Mr. John Hill. The bride, who was attired in a grey costume, and a white hat trimmed with pink lilies, was attended by Miss Annie Powell, of Stambermill, as bridesmaid. Mr. Evan Hill, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ceremony was performed by the vicar, the Rev. R. E. Walker, after which a reception was held at the bride’s home, about 30 guests assembling.”

County Express 4/3/1911

“The general meeting of the Anchorsmiths’ Association was held at the MANCHESTER HOUSE INN, Cradley Heath, on Monday afternoon, there being a large attendance. After business had been disposed of, a cold collation was served, following which a presentation of a handsome silver tea urn was made to Mr. Thomas Sitch, who has recently retired from the secretaryship, after having held that office six years.....”

1911 Census

198, High Street – FOUR WAYS INN

- [1] William Powell (55), publican, licensed victualler, born Tipton;
- [2] Amelia Powell (51), wife, married 35 years, born Wordsley;
- [3] James Powell (17), son, riveter, boot manufacture, deaf and dumb from birth, born Netherton;
- [4] Cissie Powell (13), daughter, school, born Cradley Heath;
- [5] Florence Powell (22), general servant, born Bewdley:

County Express 15/7/1911

“The annual meeting of the Chainmakers’ and Strikers’ Association was held on Monday at the MANCHESTER, Cradley Heath, a large number assembling.....”

County Express 13/4/1912 - Advert

“Important Sale of Highly Valuable Freehold Properties at Cradley Heath, Old Hill, and Darby End.

A. H. Sidaway has instructions from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gill (who are going abroad), to Sell By Auction, on Monday, April 22nd, 1912, at the House of Mr. W. Powell, the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, at 7 o’clock in the Evening, subject to Conditions of Sale.....”

County Express 25/5/1912 - Advert

“Dog-Trap (bent-side), in good condition, to be Sold, cheap; suit cob 14 hands.
Wm. Powell, FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath.”

Egerton Harry Clifford Foxall = Harry Foxall

Dudley Herald 10/1/1931

“Shortly after four o’clock on Tuesday morning, a passer-by saw smoke rising from a window of the MANCHESTER INN, Fourways, and gave the alarm to the Fire Brigade. The landlord, Mr. Harry Foxall, who is ex-captain of Portsmouth FC was aroused and it was found that a beam in a position underneath the fireplace had ignited and had set fire to a considerable portion of the floor. Much damage was done to the room, and the cloth of the billiards table was ruined by water. The early discovery was fortunate, as the bedrooms in which the occupiers were sleeping were divided from the burning room only by a staircase, and the roof of the billiards room being of wood and felt, the outbreak might have led to a serious blaze.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 5/10/1933

“Harry Foxall, the well-known ex-Cradley Heath and former Portsmouth footballer, was involved in a serious accident in Lawrence Lane, Old Hill, yesterday. He was riding his motor-cycle combination from the direction of Cradley Heath, and when in the vicinity of the Council House he suddenly mounted the footpath. Two pedestrians, Mrs. F. Butler, aged 24, Tibbetts Gardens, Cradley Heath, and David Hill, aged 44, of 26, Riddins Street, Old Hill, were knocked down by the machine and received extensive bruises in addition to injured arms and legs.

Foxall collided with a wall, and had his skull fractured, while his right ankle was crushed by the footrest on his machine. He is detained in the Guest Hospital, Dudley, in a grave condition, but the other two persons were able to proceed home after being medically treated.

Foxall had been licensee of the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, but on Monday gave up possession in order to take over the CASTLE HOTEL, Bull Stake, Darlaston.

Foxall, who was one of the best centre-half backs the Black Country has produced, was with Cradley Heath when he was signed on by Portsmouth. He captained them for two seasons, and it was during that period that they gained promotion to the First Division of the Football League. Subsequently he returned to Cradley Heath and was captain until the beginning of last season when he retired from the game.”

1939 Register

High Street – FOUR WAYS INN

[1] David Parkes, date of birth 18/6/1892, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Mabel Parkes, dob 28/6/1894, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[3] Charles W. Parkes, dob 5/8/1919, Landis machine, admiralty rigging fittings, single;

[4] William (H.) Boxley, dob 14/2/1915, Landis machine, admiralty rigging fittings, married;

[5] Eve (Boxley) Bowen, dob 18/12/1896, unpaid domestic duties, married;

[7] Lottie Cox, dob 26/1/1889, housemaid, single:

Evening Despatch 31/3/1942

“A live pig offered as a prize in a competition at the MANCHESTER INN, Cradley Heath, attracted 2,500 subscribers and realised £125 for Mr. Churchill’s Aid to Russia Fund. The winner was Mr. J. E. Marson, of Bank Street, Old Hill.”

John Clifford Smith – see also BARLEY MOW, Tividale.

Birmingham Daily Post 3/12/1957

“The bar at the FOUR WAYS INN, Cradley Heath, had to close last night because of damage caused by a fire shortly before opening time.”

Birmingham Daily Post 21/7/1960

“‘There is a lot too much of this violence going on everywhere,’ Mr. Norman Bayley told Rowley magistrates yesterday. He was describing what he called a completely unprovoked attack by three Wollescote youths on two men.

Michael Eugene Idoine (25), of Central Avenue, Wollescote, Stourbridge; Gerald Gilroy Clewes (21), of Careless Green, Wollescote, and Anthony Griffin (20), of Hill Top, Wollescote, who admitted assaulting Mr. Ralph Scoffham, of Nuneaton, and Mr. Albert Lowe, of Old Hill, causing them actual bodily harm. Each was fined £50 and ordered to pay £5 costs each. They were ordered to pay the fines in monthly instalments of £10 with the alternative of six months’ imprisonment in default.

Mr. Bayley said that after leaving the FOUR WAYS public house, Cradley Heath, on the night of June 11, Mr. Lowe was tripped up, kicked and punched by several youths.

Mr. Scoffham, who went to his assistance, was also punched about the face and received eye injuries.”

Tipton Herald 27/8/1960

“Tipton team wins Butler Cup.

The final of the competition took place at the OLD SWAN on Thursday week, the finalists being FOUR WAYS, Cradley Heath, and NOAHS ARK, Tipton. NOAHS ARK arrived with only two players, and had the sympathy of the large crowd present, in the first leg. FOUR WAYS should have won this, but could not get the finishing double, and a great first game went to NOAHS ARK. In the second leg, one absent player arrived for NOAHS ARK. Everyone thought if they could win the first leg with two men, surely, they must win the second with three, but this never came about, FOUR WAYS winning very easily.

The final leg went much the same way, FOUR WAYS wanting double five for game and NOAHS ARK 283. Again FOUR WAYS messed it up, leaving NOAHS ARK winners by two legs to one.

Councillor Bill Harris presented the cup and four prizes to the winners, and the T. Lawton Cup and four prizes to the runners-up; H. Price Cup and four prizes to the JOLLY GOODFELLOW, Woodside, the best losing semi-finalists. Four prizes went to the GOLDEN CROSS, semi-finalists. The highest score prize went to G. Willetts (ANCHOR, Cradley Heath), highest finish prize to R. Langford (NOAHS ARK), and the Henn Cup and prize to GOLDEN CROSS for the highest collection. After meeting expenses £23 was handed to the Old Folks Fund.”

A team from here took part in the Cradley Heath Domino League. [1960]

David Whitehouse – see also CROWN AND CUSHION and COACH AND HORSES, Tipton.

It had a darts team. [1972]

Chris Jenkins’ Boxing Academy was based here. [mid 1970s]

Its name was changed to ROGUES.

It was seriously damaged on 13th April 1987, when a lorry was deliberately driven into it.
Demolished

FOUR WAYS

24, Portway Road, (24, Portway), (Portway Hill), ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

William Russell
Martha Witherington (acquired on 1st February 1868 for £1,360)
William Rose
Charles Darby, Dunkirk Brewery, Greets Green, West Bromwich [1903], [1938]
Darby's Brewery Ltd.
Mitchells and Butlers Ltd.
Punch Taverns [2002]

LICENSEES

William Russell [1851] – [1862]
Ann Russell [] – 1868);
Thomas Russell (1868 – [1871]
William Rose [1881] – [1892]
Mrs. Elizabeth Rose [1896] – [1900]
William Green [1901]
John 'Jack' Smith [1901] – [1912]
William 'Billy' Smith [1911] – 1946);
Albert Edward Kirkham (1946 – 1950);
Norman Edward Toy (1950 – 1952);
Thomas Davies (1952 – 1957);
Samuel Edwin Blockley (1957 – 1958);
Cain Mayer (1958 – [1965]
Terence Higgins [1984]
Michael Dunn (1985 – [1986]
Lorraine Messer [1990] manager

NOTES

1851 Census

Portway

- [1] William Russell (35), beer shop and milkman, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Nancy Russell (38), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] Emma Russell (14), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Russell (12), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mary Russell (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Anne Russell (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Elizabeth Russell (7), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Maria Russell (5), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Thomas Russell (4), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Alice Russell (1), daughter, born Rowley Regis:

Wolverhampton Chronicle 29/8/1855

“Stewponey Annual General Licensing Meeting, for the granting and renewing of licenses, took place on Tuesday last.....
There were 30 applicants for spirit licenses, out of which number the 11 under-mentioned were successful.....
William Russell, Portway, Rowley.”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 19/4/1856

“John Winwood, a collier at Messrs. Taylor's colliery at Rounds Green, was killed by the falling of the pit frame on the 12th instant. An inquest was held on the body before G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, at the house of Mr. Russell, FOUR WAYS INN, Portway Road, on the 15th, when a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 16/1/1858

“William Bull was charged, on the information on Ann Russell, with uttering a counterfeit half a crown at her house on the 5th inst. Mr. Burbury appeared for the prisoner. Prosecutrix stated that she was the wife of William Russell who kept a beer shop at Rowley Regis. On the above day, the prisoner, in company with another man not in custody came to her house, and called for some ale, for which prisoner tendered a half crown in payment. Shortly after the other man called for some ale and tendered another half crown, and having received the change they both abruptly left the house, without having disposed of their ale. About ten minutes after their departure she discovered that the coins were both counterfeit ones. She afterwards gave them to her husband. William Russell, husband of the last witness, corroborated the evidence of his wife, and identified the coins produced in court as those his wife gave to him.

It was also proved that the prisoner had passed another half crown at the shop of Mr. Edwards, Perrys Lake, on Saturday the 9th inst.

PC Burton deposed to apprehending the prisoner on the evening of the 9th, inst, at Mr. Edwards’s house. The case was then adjourned till Monday next in order that the Mint authorities might be consulted.

Mr. Burbury stating that he should on that day be able to prove an alibi.”

1861 Census

Portway

- [1] William Russell (46), publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Ann Russell (49), wife, born Dudley;
- [3] William Russell (23), son, agricultural labourer, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Mary Russell (20), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Maria Russell (14), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Thomas Russell (15), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Alice Russell (11), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis
- [8] Hannah Russell (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Journal 11/1/1868 - Advert

“Sale on Monday, January 20, at the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, together with the Live and Dead Stock, from the Farm adjoining.

To Farmers, Parties Furnishing, Brokers, and Others.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. John Bent, on Monday, January 20, instant, by order of the Executors of the late Mr. William Russell – the whole of the excellent Brewing Plant, well-seasoned Ale Casks, Stock of Ale, superior 4-pull Beer Machine, pewter Ale and Spirit Measures, Cups, Jugs, and Glasses, Tap Table, Drinking Tables, rail-back Benches, Forms, Cooling Vats, Sieves, Mash Rules, and Ladders, Malt Crusher.

Also, the Neat and Genteel Household Furniture, consisting of mahogany four-post Bedsteads, French ditto, straw Mattresses, feather Beds, Bed Linen, mahogany and painted Chests of Drawers, Washing Stands, Dressing Tables, Toilet and Chimney Glasses, mahogany Sofa, Eight-day Clock, in mahogany case, corner Cupboard, Prints and Frames, Cases of Stuffed Birds, Windsor and cane-seated Chairs, with the usual Kitchen Requisites.

Also the Live and Dead Stock, at the Farm, consisting of Cows, Cob, Trap, Carts, Chaff Engine, Rick of Hay, and other Effects. Sale to commence at half-past Ten o’clock.

NB. Catalogues will be ready in a few days, and may be had at the Place of Sale; or of the Auctioneer, Wolverhampton Street, Dudley.”

Birmingham Journal 25/1/1868 - Advert

“Staffordshire. Valuable Freehold Houses and Farm, Portway, Rowley Regis.

To Be Sold By Auction, by Mr. John Bent, by order of the Trustees of the late William Russell, on Monday Next, January 27, at the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway, at Six o’clock in the Evening, subject to conditions then to be read.

Lot 1. All that valuable Freehold Old-established Corner Public House known by the sign of the FOUR WAYS INN, at Portway, Rowley Regis, now in the occupation of the representatives of the late Mr. William Russell. The Premises comprise Front Tap Room, Bar Parlour, large Club Room, good Chambers, Brewhouse, and Malt Room, three Cellars, Dairy, and other Out-buildings; together with all those four compact Freehold Dwelling-Houses adjoining, now in the respective occupations of Edward Smith, Davies, Edwards, and Smith, the whole estimated to produce the annual rental of £53.

Lot 2. All that excellent Freehold Farm, called Portway Farm, situate at Portway, Rowley Regis, having an extensive frontage to the turnpike road, comprising three closes of rich Pasture Land, together with two comfortable Cottages, Blacksmith’s Shop, Brewhouses, Piggeries, Cowhouse, Stabling, and other Out-buildings; the whole containing with the site of Buildings, 4a 2r 24p, or thereabouts.

The Land is in the occupation of the representatives of the late Mr. Russell, and the Cottages, are in the respective occupations of William Harris and Thomas Unett, producing an annual rental of £13. The Land affords an excellent site for a genteel Residence or for Building purposes generally.

The above Property is pleasantly situated, well tenanted, and forms and excellent investment for the capitalist. There is an abundant supply of hard and soft Water.

For further particulars, apply at the respective Offices of Messrs. Coldicott and Canning, Solicitors; or the Auctioneer, all of Dudley.”

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 11/4/1868 - Notice

“William Russell, Deceased. Notice to Creditors.

All Persons having any Claims or Demands against the late William Russell, of Portway, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, Innholder, Farmer, and Dairyman, are requested to deliver full particulars thereof to us, on or before the 20th day of April instant, for Investigation, on behalf of the Executors; after which date they will proceed to close their Accounts.

Dated this 6th day of April, 1868.

Coldicott and Canning, Solicitors, Dudley.”

Stourbridge Observer 6/3/1869

“On Monday evening, an inquest was held at the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway, before Mr. E. Hooper, Esq, Coroner, upon the body of a child, one year and nine months of age, named Benjamin Hill, the son of a labourer, also residing at Portway.

It appeared that on Saturday morning the 20th ult, the child's mother poured out a cup of tea, which she placed upon the table for the deceased to drink. Whilst she turned round, he pulled it over him, thereby scalding his chest and side. She did not apply any oils – simply ‘soap plasters.’ On the Wednesday he was much worse, and on the following day, he died. She (the mother) had intended to take him to a doctor. Mr. Cooper came on the Thursday, but the child had expired. The deceased was insured in a club. The Coroner remarked there appeared to have been great neglect on the part of the child's parents, in not procuring medical assistance, as it was very probable, if they had done, the child's life might have been prolonged, and perhaps its health restored.

The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, accelerated by want of proper medical assistance. Mr. Hooper called the mother into the room, and gave her a severe reprimand.”

1871 Census

Portway

[1] Thomas Russell (25), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Mary Ann Russell (24), wife, born Dudley:

1881 Census

24, Portway

[1] William Rose (58), publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth Rose (56), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] James Rose (20), son, labourer, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Martha Rose (16), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[5] George Rose (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

1891 Census

24, Portway Road

[1] William Rose (68), licensed victualler, blind, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth Rose (66), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] George Rose (20), son, labourer at stone quarry, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Martha Witherington (72), visitor, widow, born Rowley Regis:

Smethwick Weekly News 23/3/1901

“Estate of Martha Witherington. Valuable Freehold Public House Property, the FOUR WAYS INN, also Cottages and about Five Acres of Land, at Portway, near Oldbury.

Mr. J. W. Florance (Successor to Messrs. Roderick and Son) will Sell by Auction, by direction of the Trustees of the late Martha Witherington, at the TALBOT HOTEL, Oldbury, on Wednesday, April 3rd, 1901.....

Lot 1. A Valuable Freehold Property, comprising the Important Fully Licensed Public House well known as the FOUR WAYS INN, occupying a prominent corner position at the junction of the roads leading from Oldbury to Dudley, and from Rowley to Rounds Green and the Brades, with Brewhouse, Malt Room, Yard (having gateway entrance) and Premises, for about thirty years past (and until her death recently) in the occupation of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Rose.

Also the house adjoining.....

The FOUR WAYS INN is situated in a busy and thriving district, close to important Quarries and Works. It is at the junction of main roads, and stands free from opposition, there being no other Fully Licensed House for some distance.

It is a well-known House and should command an important trade.....”

[This lot sold for £2030.]

1901 Census

24, Portway Road – Tavern

[1] William Green (51), married, manager of public house, born Warwick;

[2] Frederick Green (11), son, born Oldbury:

William Green – check also HARMONIC, Oldbury.

County Express 29/3/1902

“An inquest was held at the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway, on Tuesday evening by Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) relative to the death of Esther Child, widow of the late Mr. Child, formerly assistant town clerk of Dudley. On Saturday deceased fell downstairs, and was found at the bottom with a fractured skull. Dr. Beasley attributed death to apoplexy, accelerated by a fractured skull. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

County Advertiser 19/12/1903

“Mr. Waller, West Bromwich, made an application on behalf of Charles Darby, landlord of the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway, Rowley Regis, for permission to make certain alterations to his premises. He explained that the chief reason for making the alteration was to provide better accommodation for the landlord and his family. Prior to Mr. Darby taking the house it was occupied by a widow for thirty years, who did not want so much accommodation as the applicant did. It was proposed to connect a small cottage adjoining the house to the licensed premises, but it would be used privately by the landlord. He did not think there would be any increase of the licensing area.

Superintendent Johnson opposed the application on the ground that the licensing area would be increased by 16ft 8in, whilst it would also prevent the police having proper supervision over the house.

Sir Benjamin Hingley said the Bench had made a rule not to extend the licensing area of any public house, and they must refuse the application. He, however, intimated that the applicant should submit an amended plan showing no increase in the drinking area to the justices at the next sessions.”

County Advertiser 30/1/1904

“Mr. Waller, of West Bromwich, made an application on behalf of Mr. C. Darby, owner of the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway, Rowley, for permission to make alterations to the premises. He explained that a month ago he made a similar application when the justices considered the plans as presented showed an increase in the licensed area, and refused to grant it. Since then plans had been made, which provided no increase in the licensed area, gave better domestic accommodation to the landlord, and enabled the police to exercise proper supervision over the premises. The accommodation at present existing between the club room and the bed rooms would be cut off.

Inspector Johnson said he had visited the house, and considered it would be a great improvement.

The Bench granted the application.”

County Advertiser 3/11/1906

“At Rowley Regis Police Court, last Friday, Lorenzo George Bell, agent, of New Street, Hill Top, was charged with obtaining 10s, by means of false pretences, from Sarah Horton, of Portway, Rowley, on the 17th of August.

Prosecutrix alleged that prisoner called at her house on the date named, and obtained 10s from her by representing that he was an agent for the British Key and Property Register Ltd. He gave her a receipt for the money, and said he would provide premiums for three years for 2s 6d each.

William Pegg, manager of the company, stated that prisoner was discharged on the 31st of May last.

Police-constable Bowers attested prisoner, who, in reply to the charge, said he did receive the money, but with no intention to defraud, and he had a perfect answer to the charge.

Prisoner was also charged with obtaining 10s by false pretences, from Elizabeth Smith of the FOUR WAYS INN, Rowley, and 2s 6d from Olive Smith, of the same address, on the 17th of August.

The prisoner was sentenced to six months' hard labour.”

1911 Census

Portway – FOUR WAYS INN

- [1] William Smith (39), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Olive Smith (38), wife, married 17 years, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Edward Smith (16), son, plasterer, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] William Smith (14), son, plasterer, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] George Smith (12), son, school, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] John Smith (11), son, school, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Mary Smith (9), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Samuel Smith (7), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Elizabeth Smith (5), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Jacob Smith (5), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [11] Albert Smith (2), son, born Rowley Regis;

Black Country Bugle

'The Smiths Of Rowley'

“Jack Smith kept the old FOUR WAYS at Portway up until the first few years of this [20th] century when he passed it on to his son William Smith, who kept it until 1947 (?). He was also the smith for the Samson Colliery which operated off Throne Road where he did surface smithing and occasionally underground shoeing the ponies.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 4/3/1937

“Rowley Regis licensing justices' adjourned meeting at Old Hill yesterday.....

The justices granted a provisional order for the removal of the license of the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway, to new premises to be erected on the same site.

Staffordshire Advertiser 1/5/1937

“County justices attending a meeting of the Staffordshire Licensing Confirmation Committee at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Tuesday, had to deal with the heaviest agenda for many years, and it was found impossible to get through the whole of the business in the day. There were no fewer than 36 applications for the confirmation of either provisional licences or removal orders.....

The justices confirmed the removal of the full license of the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway Road, to new premises proposed to be erected on a site adjoining the existing house.”

The license was removed to premises to be erected on adjoining land [behind] on 3rd February 1937, and confirmed on 27th April 1937.

Confirmation of Provisional Order by Justices on the 5th October 1938, to Mr. Darby. Transfer of license for Mr. Darby to present licensee William Smith on that date.

The original building was demolished.

It was rebuilt in 1938.

1939 Register

Portway – FOUR WAYS INN

[1] William Smith, date of birth 22/10/1872, licensed victualler, widowed;

[2] Samuel Smith, dob 31/10/1903, motor driver, single;

[3] Mary (Simmons) Smith, dob 11/3/1910, bar general, single:

Albert Edward Kirkham – see also DURHAM OX, Tipton.

Cain Mayer – see also TALBOT, West Bromwich.

Four Ways Rangers FC was based here. [1950s]

Birmingham Daily Post 8/1/1959

“An expectant mother trying to get past a group of ‘hooligans’ in a passage-way was tripped up by one of them. When her husband remonstrated, blows were rained on him and his skull was fractured as he fell against a wall, it was alleged at Rowley Regis yesterday. William George Foster (aged 17), of 16, Tame Road, Brandhall Estate, Quinton, denied assaulting Mr. Terence Marsh, of 89, Throne Crescent, Blackheath, causing grievous bodily harm.

Mr. N. Bayley, prosecuting, said that Mr. Marsh’s wife, who was expecting a child, had trouble in getting past a group of ‘hooligans’ in a passage-way at the FOUR WAYS INN, Portway Hill, Blackheath. She was tripped up and narrowly avoided falling down some steps. The consequences might have been serious. When Mr. Marsh spoke to one of the youths Foster was alleged to have told him, ‘If you want to say anything to him you will have to say it to me first.’ Mr. Marsh told Foster to mind his own business. ‘At that the other youths gathered round and blows were rained on Mr. Marsh,’ Mr. Bayley said. Mr. Marsh remembered going backwards through the door of a toilet, then everything went black.

The youths, including Foster, then ran away. When searched for by police a few days later Foster had a newspaper cutting relating to the alleged attack.

Foster, who said he did not wish to say anything, was fined £10 and ordered to pay £10 13s costs.

The chairman (Mr. J. Ball) told him, ‘You might have been on a murder or manslaughter charge.’”

[A team from here took part in the Sports Argus Inn Quiz competition. \[1973/74\], \[1974/5\]](#)

Daily Mirror 19/9/1979

“Bridegroom Mick Cannon was caught with his trousers down on his stag night. He was on top of a half-naked girl, a court heard yesterday. But his position was grim. For the person who spotted him was his future brother-in-law. Seething with rage, he laid into Mick, thumping him five times in the face.

The next day Mick married 17-year-old Wendy Harries. She wore white and Mick sported a shining black eye. Wendy’s family boycotted the ceremony because they disapproved of 18-year-old Mick.

The story of the eve-of-wedding mayhem was told to magistrates yesterday when Wendy’s brother Les pleaded guilty to assault. He had not been invited to the stag night at the FOUR WAYS pub in Rowley Regis, West Midlands. But he turned up there, and at about 11pm went outside. He told police, ‘I saw Cannon lying across a girl. As he stood up he pulled up his trousers. It was pretty obvious what he had been doing. I was in a rage and I hit him.’

Les, a 20-year-old bachelor, called 17-year-old Debbie Edmunds to give evidence yesterday.

Debbie, of Crusader Close, Oldbury, said that she was behind a caravan outside the pub with a guest at the stag night. He pulled her to the ground, lifted her skirt and took down her tights. Then she claimed Mick came up saying, ‘Here, let me have a go. It’s my last night of freedom tonight.’ Debbie went on, ‘At that he got on top of me.’

Magistrates at Old Hill, West Midlands, conditionally discharged toolmaker Les, of Stuart Road, Rowley Regis.

Last night factory worker Mick denied Les’s story. Mick, of Pine Road, Tividale, said, ‘I had just been to the toilet and I hadn’t quite fastened my trousers. I was never trying to have sex with another girl.’

Wendy backed her husband. She said, 'Mick is not the sort of bloke to do that to me.' She added, 'I'm really upset about what has been said and if I see my brother I'll hit him.'

Sandwell Evening Mail 6/8/1986

"The NACRO Care Project, based in Whiteheath has organised a disco at the FOUR WAYS public house, Portway, Rowley Regis, Oldbury for Saturday, at 8pm. All proceeds will go to the Cystic Fibrosis Research Fund. The Terry Samson Roadshow offered to put the disco on free of charge."

Sandwell Evening Mail 1/12/1986

"Staff and customers at a Rowley Regis pub who raised over £1,500 in a competition to aid the blind have won a trophy to mark their efforts. Regulars at the FOUR IN HAND [sic], Portway Hill, raised a total of £1,557.30 in just 10 weeks to finish top fund raisers in the annual 'Pile of Pennies' competition run by the Sandwell branch of the Wolverhampton, Dudley and District Institute for the Blind.

The fund raisers, who finished third last year with £630 collected, raised this year's total through donations and events including a 24-hour pool marathon, discos, raffles and sponsored diets. Tenant, Mr. Mike Dunn, said, 'This time we had £600 in £1 coins alone. I think it is a fantastic achievement by a lot of generous customers.'

Sandwell Evening Mail 26/5/1990

"The FOUR WAYS stands at the bottom of Portway Hill, Rowley Regis, beside a local quarry and, as its name suggests, is on a prominent position at a busy crossroads. It's thought to have been built in 1939 and belonged to a family who lived opposite. It's now an M&B pub and had just been given a golden stag symbol on the outside of the building. It's very much a locals' local and well used by the community. The beers include Springfield Bitter and Tennents Pilsner, and there's also Guinness and cider on draught, and from next week a Banks's Mild guest beer.

The pub originally had a bar, snug and bar-parlour but these were all knocked into one big bar, and there's a separate function room at the back licensed to hold 185 people. It's used at weekends for weddings and parties, and is fully booked up until October. The room is also the venue for several local groups, including a cowboy club and keep fit group, and some Wednesdays there are antique and general auctions. The room has a big dance floor and the place is packed out every Sunday night for a disco.

Landlady Lorraine Messer is hoping to partition off part of the room during the week to use as a lounge.

Manager Lorraine and her fireman husband Shaun run the pub with seven staff and have been in charge since January last year. They have two children Shaun, aged eight, and four-year-old Stacey. They have doubled the takings since they arrived, having taken over from the last licensee, a vicar, and now have the best trading pub of those belonging to businessman Glen Whitehouse, who has five pubs in the Black Country area.

Activities on a regular basis include darts – the team have just won the Warley league – pool and football. There's also cards every evening and crib, a one-armed bandit and a juke box. Lorraine is currently threatening to throw out some of the records which a couple of Teddy Boys like! 'They love the rock 'n' roll, but I prefer the disco music, and keep telling them I'll have them taken out!'

Regulars are generous when it comes to supporting charity and are currently raising cash for the blind in a penny tube on the bar. Money also goes to local children's homes.

Famous drinkers include former world boxing champion Pat Coddell, the Warley Wonder, who usually comes in twice a week. Lorraine said, 'Everyone is used to seeing him and he's a lovely fella and doesn't try to make out he's something special.' Husband Shaun has a lot in common with Pat – he's an ex-amateur boxer himself.

Local characters include friends Jean and Marlene who have been coming in at dinner time for years and sit in their own special corner sipping half pints of mild. There's charmer Collin Stevens who also drinks at lunchtimes and speaks to everyone who arrives, especially the women!

Pensioner Harry 'H' is a night time regular and cheeky with it, says Lorraine, who has to put him in his place. 'He never smiles so you never can tell if he's joking or being serious!'

The pub is also a regular venue for the Nash family. There's always one of the four brothers and sister around. The youngest, Mary, is a barmaid, Barry plays in the football team, Paul runs the BRITANNIA pub in Blackheath and John and Pete are the doormen on disco nights.

Lorraine said, 'The bar is big so there's plenty of room and we have a nice mixture of old and young. The pub used to be well-known for trouble when I was young, but there's never any bother nowadays.'

Dudley Chronicle 25/5/2017

"A life-saving defibrillator has been installed in a Rowley Regis pub in memory of a man who died from an undiagnosed heart condition. Alex Brown, from East Park, Wolverhampton, died suddenly at the age of 25 in April 2015, after suffering from a fatal cardiac arrest.

His family and friends, including girlfriend Rebecca Marshall, have been raising funds to pay for heart screening for young people aged between 14 and 35, through the national charity Cardiac Risk in the Young. They also want to install public access defibrillators in places that were memorable to Alex with the help of the charity AED Donate, based in Stone, Staffordshire.

A defibrillator has been installed at the FOUR WAYS Pub, Portway Hill, Rowley Regis.

His sister Rachel Dingle said her fit and healthy brother was loved by all. 'His laugh and sense of humour were infectious,' she added.

Friend Lizzy Hughes has organised fashion shows at Rowley Hall Primary School.

'We can never bring Alex back but we can hope that we can leave the lasting legacy he deserves,' said Rachel."

Halesowen News 18/12/2018

“Big-Hearted boxer Jason Welborn will be bringing a bit of Christmas cheer to deprived children in Rowley Regis this week. The former British middleweight champion will be donning his Santa outfit and dishing out presents around his local Lion Farm Estate. It’s Welborn’s way of saying thank-you for all the support he’s received over the past year, which has seen the 32-year-old both win and defend his British title while also boxing in America. Welborn will be joined by his wife Rachel and daughter Demi-Rose on his goodwill tour which takes place this Wednesday, starting at 4.30pm in Martley Road and finishing up at St James’ Church.

Welborn said, ‘We must have accumulated well over 100 presents, some big, some small, most of which are designed for children under the age of 10.’

The presents will be distributed from one of Welborn’s own skips as he has only recently set up a skip hire business in Dudley. Welborn has paid for the presents himself and said, ‘It’s my way of saying thank-you for all the support I’ve received from people on the Lion Farm Estate and from pubs like the PHOENIX and the FOUR WAYS. It’s just nice to give something back. I’m grateful, because boxing has kept me on the right path. It’s just two hours out of my day to give something back and everyone’s happy. It was just an idea at first, but I’m glad we’ve gone ahead and done it. I’m taking the rest of December off, but it’s back to training in the New Year and I’m hoping to have something lined up for March or April. I think I opened a few eyes boxing in Los Angeles, so we will have to wait and see what develops.’”

Dudley News 1/8/2020

“A new Eat Out to Help Out postcode checker has been launched by the government that allows you to find out which business in Dudley and the surrounding areas are taking part in the scheme.

Eat Out to Help Out officially begins on Monday, August 3. Customers will be able to get a 50 per cent discount on food or non-alcoholic drinks (up to a £10 discount per diner) at participating establishments. The scheme will run every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday until Monday, August 31. Establishments will claim a reimbursement from the government for the discount they’ve given. Participating establishments may include restaurants, cafés, bars or pubs, work and school canteens and food halls. Here are the establishments so far registered to take part in the scheme within five miles of Dudley town centre.....

FOUR WAY BAR AND GRILL, Portway Hill.”

Express & Star 23/10/2020

“Pubs bosses in the West Midlands say they feel like they’re always ‘jumping through hoops’ with the constant Government rule changes within the hospitality industry. Rules in Wolverhampton, Sandwell and Walsall prevent households from mixing in pubs and restaurants due to a surge in cases leading them to be placed into the Government’s Tier 2. It has meant less trade, even on busy weekend nights, leaving many places struggling to stay open. And bosses said even with those visiting for a bite to eat, it was almost impossible to check if they were living together.....

Amrik Singh Saini, who runs the FOURWAYS BAR AND GRILL in Rowley Regis, said it was difficult to manage and stressed people didn’t like being asked if they belonged to the same household. He said, ‘It’s very hard to manage with the rules – it’s very difficult and it’s really had an impact. It’s hard to manage social distancing and now people can’t mix with households either. They can lie easily about it and we can’t check their IDs and say they’re not – because they say they’re living together and you don’t know what you can say or do. If six or a bunch of people show up we ask them ‘you don’t look like you’re from the same household’ and they say ‘we live together, why are you asking?’ and they don’t like it. It’s difficult but we’re following the guidelines and doing what we can do.’”

Halesowen News 5/4/2022

“A Rowley Regis pub wants to build a covered seating area for customers to relax in. The FOURWAYS BAR AND GRILL on Portway Hill has applied to the council to build a structure with timber and glazed walls and a retractable canopy in its garden. The structure will mean the pub will be able to provide a ‘comfortable seating environment for customers wanting to relax after enjoying a meal in the restaurant.’ The pub says if given the go-ahead it will help it survive in the current difficult trading conditions and ‘protect jobs.’

The application states, ‘Due to the ongoing public health situation and the general desire to maintain social distancing, the restaurant needs more floor space to accommodate the same number of customers. If customer numbers cannot be maintained the business becomes unviable. The objective therefore, is to encourage those who have finished their meal to vacate the immediate restaurant area.’

The application states there will be insulation to act as a sound barrier to protect neighbouring properties and that customers use the outdoor patio at present with no insulation against noise affecting surrounding homes. It states the structure will not be used when the weather is bad and there will be no amplified music or speech inside it. It goes on, ‘The proposed measures can only be an improvement on the current situation.’ It adds that the ‘development of the outside area will help to sustain the existing business in the current difficult trading environment, and will protect the jobs of the existing staff.’

The existing outdoor play area will remain. The application to Sandwell Council states the family pub/restaurant has an ‘excellent reputation for being trouble free.’”

Express & Star 28/11/2022

“A Rowley Regis pub is not giving up its bid to create a covered seating area for customers. The FOURWAYS BAR AND GRILL’S application to build a structure with timber and glazed walls and a retractable canopy in its garden was thrown out by planners. They were concerned it could lead to more cars which may not be able to get onto the car park and cause traffic issues on the nearby four-way junction with traffic lights on Newbury Lane.

Now the pub on Portway Hill has resubmitted the planning application to Sandwell Council, stating that its refusal was ‘unjust.’ It states, ‘The sole reason for refusal was that the applicant has provided insufficient information to demonstrate that the introduction of the formal covered seating area would not result in an increase in vehicular trips which would exceed the capacity of the existing car park. The existing external seating area is already in situ and this proposal is merely for the erection of the retractable roof enabling the area to be covered to protect customers from the elements.’ It goes on, ‘This seating area allows for families to sit together to socialise whilst being able to observe their children as they use the play area. The proposal does not seek to introduce any further seating thus impacting on the number of customers using the public house or generating additional vehicular trips.’ It goes on to say, ‘The peak hours of trading for the public house is in the evenings when the nearby roads are much quieter therefore the decision to refuse this application is unjust. Not one objection has been received to this proposal or any complaints received about the operation and management of the public house.’”

Halesowen News 6/11/2023

“A Rowley Regis pub wants to create an outdoor area with seating for customers and a helicopter on display. The FOUR WAYS INN on Portway Hill has applied for a two-storey platform in its rear garden. On the lower deck there would be seating for 60 customers and on the top deck there would be a helicopter. The application states that if approved there would be ‘construction of an outdoor raised platform to display a Westland Lynx AH Helicopter and creation of restaurant seating for 60 customers beneath the platform.’

The pub previously submitted two applications to build an outdoor seating area – both were turned down by planners who said it could lead to more cars travelling to the pub, which may not be able to get onto the car park, and cause traffic issues on the nearby four-way junction with traffic lights on Newbury Lane. The pub had said that it needed more space to ‘accommodate the same number of customers’ due to the ‘general desire to maintain social distancing’ and that ‘if customer numbers cannot be maintained the business becomes unviable.’ The new application was validated by Sandwell Council on November 3 and will be considered by planners.”

Express & Star 23/12/2023

“A plan to display a helicopter in a pub garden has been blocked by the council. The move by FOURWAYS BAR AND GRILL in Rowley Regis would have seen the Westland Lynx helicopter lowered into the pub’s garden alongside a new seating area but the plan has been rejected by Sandwell Council. The council’s planners said the pub had not shown it could accommodate 70 more visitors or their cars.....”

[2023]

FOX

Titford Lane, (Whiteheath Gate), (Cakemore), WHITEHEATH

OWNERS

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Matthews, Old Crispin, Stourbridge
Edwin and Alf Marler (Marler Brothers Ltd.), Bulls Head, Wollaston [1949]
John Davenport and Sons Ltd. (acquired in 1949) [1986]

LICENSEES

John Hadley [1850] – [1854]
David Britt [1860]
John Harrington [1862] – [1865]
John Curtis [1867]
John Evans [1868] – [1869]
James Curtis [1870] – [1873]
John Evans [1870] – [1875]
Henry Whitehouse [1881] – [1895]
William Whitehouse (1895 – [1908]
Thomas Willetts [1910] – [1912]
Thomas Goode [1916] – [1921]
Adam Tatham Whitehouse [1924]
Stephen George Bayley [] – 1925;
John Conrad (1925 – []
Francis John Matthews [] – 1934);

Joseph Hadley (1934 – 1936);
Walter William Clark (1936 – 1941);
Albert Edward Marler (1941 – 1946);
Ernest John ‘Jack’ Johnson (1946 – 1960);
Joseph Murphy (1960 – 1962);
Archibald Joseph Eames (1962 – [1965]
Tom Swingler [1960s]
Keith Taylor [1982]
Muriel Brown [1986]
Raymond Franklin [1988]
Tony Phillips []

NOTES

[This pub is strictly in the parish of Halesowen, but is included here due to it being at Whiteheath.]

It was originally the VINE.

Birmingham Journal 19/3/1853 - Advert

“To be Let, that excellent Old-Licensed Public House, the VINE INN, situate at Whiteheath Gate. The House comprises Tap Room, two Parlours, Bar, Club Room, two Chambers, Brewhouse, Cellar, with Stabling, Piggeries, Skittle Alley, and three large Gardens. The Fixtures to be taken to at a fair valuation. Rent, £20 per annum. The House is well situated, being surrounded by Collieries and Brick Works, and is doing a good in and out-door Business. The present Proprietor is leaving on account of taking to a farm.

For particulars, and to treat, apply to Mr. Hawkins, Auctioneer, at his Offices, Freeth Street, Oldbury, or High Street, Brierley Hill.”

Birmingham Journal 27/8/1859 - Advert

“Whiteheath Gate, near Oldbury.

To be Let, with immediate possession, that well-known, good-accustomed, Old-licensed Public House, the VINE INN, Whiteheath Gate, now doing a good ready-money trade. The House is roomy, with all necessary Out-buildings, large Garden, and well supplied with hard and soft Water. Rent low.

For further particulars, apply on the Premises; or to Mr. Hawkins, Auctioneer, Round Oak, Brierley Hill.”

Birmingham Journal 9/11/1861 - Advert

“A Good Opportunity for Any Party Wishing to Enter the Public Business.

To be Let, that good accustomed Old-licensed Public House, the VINE INN, Whiteheath Gate, near Oldbury, having every convenience for carrying on an extensive trade with large productive Garden. Coming-in low. Rent and Payments exceeding moderate. The present tenant is leaving on account of ill-health.”

Birmingham Daily Post 6/1/1862 - Advert

“To be Let, with immediate possession, the VINE INN, Whiteheath Gate, near Oldbury, with large and productive Garden belonging thereto. Rent £18 per year. No Fixtures or Stock to be taken to.

Apply on the Premises; or to J. G. Higgs, Esq, Blackheath; or to Mr. Hawkins, Auctioneer, Brierley Hill.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 14/6/1865 - Advert

“Wanted a General Servant.

Apply, VINE INN, White Heath near Oldbury.”

Birmingham Daily Post 6/12/1865 - Advert

“VINE INN, Whiteheath Gate, near Rowley, a compact Old-Licensed House situate among collieries, and close to the roadside, now doing a snug business both in and out. In-coming can be reduced to about £40. To be disposed of solely on account of the Proprietor going to reside at Soho.

Apply to A. Atree, Publicans’ Valuer and Auctioneer, Church Square, Oldbury.”

Birmingham Journal 22/6/1867 - Advert

“Whiteheath Gate, between Oldbury and Rowley.

Valuable Freehold Property, comprising the VINE INN, and Six Dwelling Houses, with Nail Shops, Gardens, and Premises, and Seven Lots of Valuable Building Land, situate at Whiteheath Gate, in the parishes of Hales Owen and Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Monday Next, the 24th day of June, at Six o’clock in the evening, at the WHITE-HEATH GATE INN, and subject to conditions then to be produced, the following Freehold Property and Building Land.

Lot 1. All that desirable Public House, known as the VINE INN, with the Stable, Garden and Premises, in the occupation of Mr. John Curtis at the yearly rent of £21; also, Six Dwelling Houses, Nail Shops, Gardens, and Premises adjoining, in the respective occupations of Thomas Hadley, Richard Fereday, Timothy Hadley, William Bennett, John Clarke, and Job Jeavons, and producing together the aggregate yearly rental of £39; the whole covering an area of 2,840 square yards.

Lots 2 to 8. Seven Pieces of desirable Freehold Building Land, having excellent frontages to the road leading to Blackheath and Causeway Green, and containing in quantity from 400 to 700 square yards in each.

Lithographed plans and printed particulars, showing and fully describing the several lots, may be obtained from Mr. N. H. Chavasse, Rowley; J. Smallwood, Esq, Solicitor, Bennetts Hill, Birmingham; the Auctioneer, Dudley; and at the place of sale."

Birmingham Daily Post 19/10/1867 - Advert

"To be Let, with immediate possession, that well-known Old-licensed Public-House, the VINE INN, White Heath Gate, near Oldbury. The premises comprise Tap Room, large Kitchen, Bar, Parlour, Club Room, Chambers, good Cellars, Brewhouse, Malt Room, Piggeries, and good Garden. Rent low. No valuation required.

Apply to Mr. Robertson, WHITE HEATH GATE INN; or to Mr. Hawkins, Auctioneer, &c, Brierley Hill."

County Advertiser 18/7/1868

"On Tuesday, the Magistrates present were Messrs. Moore, Smith and Gem. John Evans, landlord of the VINE public house, Whiteheath, Cakemore, was summoned at the instance of the police for knowingly permitting a game of cards, called 'pitch all fours,' to be played in his house, on the 25th June last. Defendant pleaded guilty, and as it appeared he had only kept the house only six months, and that otherwise it had been well conducted, there was no conviction recorded upon his promising to suppress the card playing and paying the cost of the summons."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 16/12/1869 - Notice

"The Bankruptcy Act 1861.

John Evans, now and for two years last past residing at the VINE INN, Whiteheath Gate, in the county of Worcester, Retail Brewer, Grocer, and Wheelwright; and previously thereto of Church Bridge, near Oldbury, in the said county of Worcester, and then carrying on the business of a Grocer and Wheelwright, having been adjudged Bankrupt on the 15th day of December, 1869, is hereby required to Surrender himself to George Steward Watson, Esq, a Registrar of the County Court of Staffordshire, holden at Oldbury, at the First Meeting of Creditors, to be held on the 5th day of January, 1870, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon precisely, at the Court House, Oldbury. William Shakespeare, of Oldbury, is the Solicitor acting in the Bankruptcy. At the meeting the Registrar will receive the Proofs of the debts of the Creditors, and the Creditors may choose an Assignee or Assignees of the Bankrupt's Estate and Effects. All persons having in their possession any of the Effects of the said Bankrupt must deliver them to the Registrar, and all debts due to the Bankrupt must be paid to the Registrar.

Walter H. Steward, High Bailiff."

County Express 21/5/1870

"Unjust Weights and Measures.

John Evans, of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, paid costs, for having in his possession an earthenware quart measure, which was unjust and not according to legal standard."

1871 Census

White Heath Gate

[1] John Evans (30), wheel wright, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Eliza Evans (30), dress maker, born Oldbury;

[3] Joseph Evans (5), son, scholar, born Oldbury;

[4] Harriet Bullous (12), nurse, born Oldbury:

John Evans was also a wheelwright. [1872]

County Advertiser 28/6/1873

"Benjamin Barker was charged with refusing to quit the VINE INN, Whiteheath; and further with assaulting the landlord, John Evans, on the 14th inst. Mr. Holberton prosecuted, and Mr. Stokes defended.

Complainant stated that the defendant came to his house about half-past ten o'clock on the night of Saturday, the 14th inst. Witness had a conversation with the defendant respecting a gig which he had purchased of him (witness). Some sharp words arose, and defendant, after having used some vulgar expressions, struck complainant on the face.

Eliza Evans, wife of complainant, confirmed this; and William Bullas also deposed that he saw the defendant strike complainant. Witnesses having been called for the defence, the Bench said they considered the cases proved, and fined the defendant 5s and costs for the assault on the landlord, and 10s and costs for the other offence."

County Advertiser 30/10/1875

"James Cutler and Emanuel Fisher pleaded guilty to refusing to quit the FILE [sic] INN, Whiteheath, on the 2nd inst, and were discharged on payment of costs.

There was a further charge against Fisher of wilfully damaging, at the same time, a trap, the property of the landlord. John Evans, complainant, said, that after the men had gone out of the house, Fisher pushed over a trap that was standing by, doing damage to it to the amount of 14s. He did not wish that the defendant should be very severely dealt with. Fined 1s, damages 14s, and costs, or 21 days."

County Advertiser 27/9/1879

“An inquest was held on Thursday afternoon, at the VINE INN, Whiteheath, before Mr. R. Docker, on the body of Eliza Barker, 26, who disappeared yesterday week under singular circumstances.

John Barker, miner, husband of the deceased, said his wife had been ill, and before he went to work on the morning when deceased was missed, he sent for a woman named Ann Poole, who had previously attended her. He was not present when the body was recovered.

Ann Poole, in her evidence, said she had attended deceased when she was confined ten weeks ago. In consequence of the husband of deceased sending for her, she went to attend the woman on the previous Friday morning. Deceased came downstairs, and complained how weak she was, and also said she had a pain in her head. In the afternoon she went out of the house and walked rather fast across a field towards the ‘Black Bat Pit.’ Witness followed her, but when she reached the top of the embankment, deceased was nowhere to be seen.

James Griffin Beasley, surgeon, Rowley, said he saw deceased on the Thursday, when she seemed quite rational. As deceased was in a very weak state it was possible that delirium might be brought on by cold. It was about a week since deceased was last confined, and if delirium happened deceased of course could not be accountable for her actions.

Peter Knowles, constable of Halesowen, said he went to the Black Bat Pit, at Cakemore, the property of James E. Dunn, of Nethererton. The pit was disused, and only fenced round with posts and chains. A portion of grass had been dislodged at the mouth as if by a person’s heel slipping on it. He reported the matter to Mr. Kemp, superintendent, and the pit which could not be descended on account of choke damp was dragged. Operations were continued daily, and on Wednesday morning last the body of the deceased was brought up.

The Coroner in summing up said, it was clear the deceased had got down the pit, but whether she threw herself down or what was the condition of her mind at the time it was for them to decide on the evidence they had heard.

The jury found a verdict of Suicide during a fit of Temporary Insanity. The Coroner said he should communicate with the Mines’ Inspector of the district in respect to the very defective state of the fencing round the pit’s mouth.”

1881 Census

White Heath

- [1] Henry Whitehouse (43), brick layer, born Rowley;
- [2] Eliza Whitehouse (42), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] Deborah Whitehouse (22), daughter, domestic servant, born Rowley;
- [4] William Whitehouse (17), son, labourer, born Rowley;
- [5] Eliza Whitehouse (14), daughter, domestic servant, born Rowley;
- [6] Edwin Whitehouse (12), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [7] Enoch Whitehouse (10), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [8] Ruth Whitehouse (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley;
- [9] Thomas Whitehouse (4), son, scholar, born Rowley;
- [10] Frederick Whitehouse (1), son, born Rowley;

Henry Whitehouse married Eliza Evans (b.1838) in 1858. She was the sister of John Evans of the NAVIGATION, Titford Lane, Oldbury, and the NEW INN, Birchfield Lane, Oldbury.

County Advertiser 11/3/1882

“Samuel Willetts, miner, was charged with assaulting Henry Whitehouse, publican, of Whiteheath, Rowley, on the 4th inst. Complainant said defendant struck him on the nose, but he could not say whether defendant aimed the blow at him. The Bench fined defendant 5s and costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 29/10/1884

“Henry Whitehouse, of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, was summoned for selling during prohibited hours on the 30th of September. Mr. Shakespeare defended. Ultimately the case was dismissed.”

County Express 1/11/1884

“Henry Whitehouse, landlord of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, was charged with selling ale during prohibited hours on the 30th September. It was alleged that the defendant filled ale after hours for a girl.

Police-constable Clarke gave evidence in support of the charge, which was dismissed.”

County Express 16/2/1889

“Thomas Biggs, labourer, Kate’s Hill, was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of Henry Whitehouse, VINE INN, Causeway Green, and refusing to quit. Fined 1s and costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 17/5/1893

“Yesterday at the Police Court – before Messrs. L. D. Lea Smith and J. G. Reay – Edward Harris and Henry Harris, bothers, of Langley Green, were charged with damaging windows and a quantity of jugs and glasses, of the value of £4 10s, the property of Henry Whitehouse, landlord of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, and also with being drunk and refusing to quit; and Henry Harris was further charged with assaulting the landlord on the 6th inst. Mr. J. S. Sharpe defended.

It appeared that on the day named, about 6.30pm, the prisoners visited prosecutor's house, and after staying some time Henry went out into the yard and commenced throwing the brewing apparatus about. The landlord went to eject Henry Harris from the premises, when the latter struck him a violent blow in the breast, knocking him down. A man named Perks, employed on the premises, came up, and there was a general melée. The landlord, thinking that prisoners had gone, went into the house, and immediately afterwards eight windows were smashed with bottles, bricks, and a bucket, damaging them to the extent of £4 10s. The prisoners were further charged with damaging windows the property of Mr. Henry Robertson, on the same date. It was alleged that the prisoners threw bricks and bottles through the windows of prosecutor's house near to the VINE INN. For the defence, Mr. Sharpe urged that the landlord gave the prisoners great provocation, and did not treat them properly, and he estimated that the damage was only £3.

Henry Harris was fined £2 and costs for the malicious injury, or one month's imprisonment, the amount of the damages to be divided between the two, and was also fined 10s and costs, or fourteen days, for the assault and refusing to quit. Edward Harris was fined £2 and costs for the malicious injury, and the case of refusing to quit was dismissed.

In Mr. Robertson's case both prisoners were fined £1 and costs. The total fines and costs amounted to £17 14s."

Birmingham Daily Post 23/1/1895

"Yesterday, at Oldbury Police Court, Henry Whitehouse, landlord of the VINE INN, White Heath, was charged with being drunk on the 15th inst.

Police-constable Green deposed that he saw the defendant drunk in Oldbury Market Place on the day named, and he was staggering against a tramcar.

Defendant, who denied the offence, was fined 17s, including costs."

Birmingham Daily Post 16/2/1895

"Bankruptcy Proceedings.....

Re Henry Whitehouse, licensed victualler.

Yesterday, at the Dudley County Court – before Mr. Registrar Kettle – Henry Whitehouse, residing and carrying in business at the VINE INN, Whiteheath, near Dudley, was publicly examined in bankruptcy. Mr. A. C. Jaques represented the debtor, and Mr. S. R. Garrard (Messrs. Garrard Brothers, brewers) and Mr. Mellor (solicitor) appeared on behalf of the principal creditors.

The Official Receiver (Mr. E. P. Jobson), in his printed observations, stated that the bankrupt had been in business at the VINE INN for the last fourteen years. He commenced with a capital of £80, and that was the amount of the ingoing valuation. Until seven years ago he also followed his trade of a bricklayer. Three years ago he purchased the VINE INN for £700, of which £500 was allowed to remain on mortgage, and a further £100 was advanced to him in August last. The debtor had knowledge of insolvency three years ago. His takings only averaged £6 a week. He attributed his failure to bad trade and heavy family expenses during the last five years. The liabilities amounted to £261 13s 6d, and there was a deficiency of £200.

Replying to the Official Receiver, debtor stated that the business was managed by his wife, and at her death, which took place about five years ago, it was conducted by his daughter, who had full control over the takings. He could not say what quantity of wines and spirits were sold. He had had some of them himself.

Mr. Jobson: You were the best customer so far as wines and spirits were concerned? – Debtor: Probably.

Debtor was allowed to pass."

County Advertiser 9/3/1895

"The following persons were granted interim authorities in respect of the houses set against their names.....

William Whitehouse, VINE INN, Whiteheath."

Birmingham Daily Post 15/4/1895

"On Saturday afternoon Mr. A. H. Hebbert (deputy coroner) held an inquest at the VINE INN, Whiteheath, respecting the death of Joseph Clift (62), labourer, formerly residing in Robinson's Buildings, Whiteheath, who committed suicide by cutting his throat on Friday morning.

Mary Clift, a sister, with whom he had resided, stated that he had been out of work for the last eleven weeks, and that seemed to prey on his mind. On Friday morning he got up as usual, and about 8am witness went into the nailshop adjoining the house to do a little work, leaving her brother in the house. When she returned, about 9am, she heard her brother groaning upstairs. She went up and found him in a kneeling position on the floor, with blood flowing from his throat.

Eliza Sheldon deposed that she went to the assistance of the last witness. She placed a pillow under deceased's head, and rendered him what help she could, but he died in about five minutes afterwards.

The jury returned a verdict of Suicide whilst Temporarily Insane."

County Advertiser 5/9/1896

"The annual licensing meeting for the Halesowen Petty Sessional division was held on Tuesday, at the Police Court.....

The annual report of John Chare, Superintendent I beg to inform you that I have given notice to the following licensed persons that it my intention to oppose the renewal of their licenses William Whitehouse, VINE INN, Whiteheath on one or more of the following grounds, that is to say, (1) that the house and premises in respect of which your license is granted are so constructed as to facilitate the commission of offences against the licensing laws, the inmates of several private dwelling-houses having the right of entry upon your said licensed premises at will; (2) that your premises are so constructed as to prevent the police from exercising proper supervision over the same; (3) that there is no necessity for a license for the sale of intoxicating liquors to be granted to the said house and premises, requirements of the district being amply provided for.....

Inspector Raybould said owing to the structural alterations having been carried out he wished to withdraw the objections to the renewal of the licenses of William Whitehouse.

All those licenses were accordingly renewed, and the Chairman of the Bench, Mr. Lea Smith, said he hoped all license holders in the division would keep their houses closed during prohibited hours on Sundays.”

County Advertiser 26/9/1896

“Last night week a meeting of miners in connection with the Old Hill Branch of the Miners’ Federation of Great Britain was held at the VINE INN, Whiteheath, a miner presiding. Mr. B. Winwood (miners’ agent) said a good many of the miners were under the impression that the crisis was now over, but this was a mistake, and the employers were only waiting for an opportunity to enforce the reduction. Trade was said to be bad, but he was of opinion that trade had not been so brisk for some years as it was at the present time. (Hear, hear.) He urged the men to unite, for though the reduction had been warded off he was firmly of opinion that it would be attempted early next year. Piecemeal reduction had not succeeded; but they did well to watch and join the Federation, which was the best union for miners. (Applause.) The following resolution was unanimously passed: ‘That this meeting, believing that our rights can only be protected through the strong force of combination, calls upon all miners not in the union to enrol themselves as members immediately.’”

County Advertiser 10/12/1898

“Edward Spiers, of Whiteheath, was charged with being disorderly on the licensed premises of the VINE INN, belonging to William Whitehouse, and also with refusing to quit the same on the 26th ult. Prosecutor stated that on the date in question defendant came into his house and commenced to create a disturbance. He ordered him to leave, but he refused to do so, and threatened to strangle witness. Defendant was fined 10s and costs, or 14 days’ imprisonment.”

County Advertiser 2/9/1899

“The annual licensing meeting of the Halesowen Petty Sessional Division was held on Tuesday last. . . .

William Whitehouse, of the VINE HOTEL, Whiteheath, applied for admission to erect a club room in the yard of his licensed premises, to be used for the Free Gardeners, Oddfellows, and other lodges meeting at his house. On the application of Superintendent Chare, the matter was deferred to the Adjourned Licensing Sessions.”

County Advertiser 30/9/1899

“Halesowen Adjourned Licensing Sessions. . . .

Mr. Sharpe applied on behalf of Mr. William Whitehouse for the Bench’s approval for the construction of a club room in addition to the present premises. It was adjourned from the Licensing Sessions for the justices to view the premises, and also for plans to be prepared showing more details, and he had plans giving this information in his possession. There might be some difficulty felt by the Bench that there was an increase of the licensing area in this instance, but he should satisfy the Bench that this was not so. They proposed to build the club upon licensed area which had been used many years ago for the purposes of sales when required. There was some land at the back of the premises, and there was no separate room on the yard, and the garden was always used in summer time for trading purposes when required.

Applicant was called and said he and his uncle had kept the house for thirty years. Applicant had held the license himself for twelve years. A good many societies and clubs met at his house, and he wanted to have this club room to throw open when there was any extra business. Mr. R. Robertson, assistant overseer and rate collector for Cakemore parish, said he had known the house for 25 years. There used to be a marble alley attached to the premises, but this had been closed some time now. The application was granted.”

West Bromwich Weekly News 13/1/1900

“National United Order of Free Gardeners, Langley District. The annual meeting of the above district was held at Mr. Whitehouse’s VINE INN, Whiteheath, near Dudley, on Saturday January 5th 1900. . . .”

West Bromwich Weekly News 24/2/1900

“A recent addition to the premises of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, is a commodious club room, capable of accommodating a large company, and it was opened on Tuesday night in a very auspicious manner. At the invitation of the popular host (Mr. W. Whitehouse), a good number sat down to a dinner given by him to celebrate the occasion, and he catered for the ‘inner man’ in an excellent fashion. . . .”

West Bromwich Weekly News 19/5/1900

“On Tuesday evening the second annual dinner of the Fruitful Vine lodge (No.1838), Langley District of the National United Order of Free Gardeners, took place at the VINE INN, Whiteheath (host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. W. Whitehouse), when a good company sat down to a splendid repast in the large and convenient lodge room. . . .”

West Bromwich Weekly News 26/1/1901 - Advert

“The VINE INN, Whiteheath, proprietor W. Whitehouse.

All Beer Brewed on the above Premises is Guaranteed Absolutely Pure, and to contain only Water, Hops and Malt, and small quantity of the Finest Demerara Sugar.”

[This was as a result of the recent Arsenic Poisoning scare, involving contaminated Brewing sugar.]

1901 Census

Whiteheath – VINE INN

- [1] William Whitehouse (37), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Priscilla Whitehouse (37), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] William H. Whitehouse (12), son, born Oldbury;
- [4] Adam L. Whitehouse (8), son, born Warley, Oldbury:

County Advertiser 11/5/1901

“George Farrell, Pool Lane, Causeway Green, was charged with being drunk and refusing to quit the VINE INN, Whiteheath, when requested to do so by the landlord on the 27th ult. William Whitehouse, landlord, gave evidence. Defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined 5s and costs.”

Smethwick Weekly News 15/2/1902

“On Thursday evening a complimentary dinner was held at the house of Councillor W. Whitehouse, VINE INN, the object of which was to wish Mr. Albert Moore (who was leaving the district) success in his new sphere of life. The Chairman explained that all knew what a good neighbour Mr. Moore had been. As a builder’s merchant he had been highly successful, and his going into Langley would be a loss to their district.....”

County Express 27/9/1902

“The Halesowen police have received information of the death of a miner named Edward Davis (36), a single man, formerly residing in Titford Lane, Whiteheath, which had occurred under mysterious circumstances. It appears that on Saturday last the deceased was seized with illness, and a doctor was called in, to whom he stated that he was injured whilst following his employment in the Rowley Hall Colliery through being caught between some tubs. He died on Sunday night. PC James has since made inquiries and ascertained that the deceased had received a black eye, and this it was supposed, was sustained during a boxing contest at Blackheath Wake on the 13th inst. The medical testimony is to the effect that death was due to peritonitis, the result of injuries. The circumstances attending the death of Davis were the subject of an enquiry conducted by Mr. A. H. Hebbert, deputy coroner, at the VINE INN, Whiteheath, on Thursday morning. Mr. S. Dimmock represented the proprietors of the Rowley Hall Colliery, where deceased was formerly employed, and Mr. Makepeace (Government Inspector of Mines) was also present. Henry Jarvis, with whom deceased had lodged since November, said deceased was employed as a loader at the Rowley Hall Colliery. On Monday, the 15th inst, he complained of feeling unwell. He went to work the following day, and returned about four o’clock complaining that he had been injured by coming into contact with a tub at the mine. On the 20th deceased was seen by a doctor.

The Coroner: Do you know how he got a black eye? – I don’t know. My wife asked him, and he replied, ‘I don’t know; I have a tooth ache.’

Has he complained of being injured at the colliery? – No, sir.

When did he die? – On Sunday night.

Replying to a juryman, witness said deceased went to Blackheath wake on the 13th inst. Before he went he had no marks of violence on his face, but when he returned he had a black eye, and witness spoke to him concerning it on the Sunday.

Mrs. Jarvis deposed that the deceased had never complained of an injury. He had suffered from boils.

William Wharton, a miner residing at Cocksheds, said he saw deceased at Blackheath wake on the 13th inst. He saw deceased go into the boxing show, and subsequently witness saw him in the HANDEL HOTEL, when he noticed deceased had a black eye. Deceased said to witness, ‘I have been to the boxing show, and got a fat eye.’

The Coroner: Did he tell you whom he had been boxing with? – No, sir.

Have you seen him since? – Yes, sir. I saw him on the 15th, but he did not complain of having met with an accident in the mine.

Mr. T. Dimmock, manager, at the Rowley Hall Colliery, stated that the deceased had been employed there about two years. He had never complained of having been injured in the colliery. Witness had made enquiries, and the whole of the night men had informed him that they had never heard the deceased complain of having been hurt in the pit.

Dr. Beasley said he was called to see deceased on Saturday, and found him suffering from violent pains in the abdomen. Deceased told him he had been pinched between two tubs in the pit about three weeks ago. Witness found a wound at the bottom of the small of the back. He made a post-mortem examination. The right eye was discoloured; there was a bruise on the right side near the hip bone; and there were other bruises. Death was due to peritonitis, which was the result of violence.

The Coroner: Would a blow with a boxing glove cause it? – Yes, a severe blow might, but the man’s condition would render him more prone to feel the effects of the blow. The injury appeared to have been sustained seven or eight days prior to death.

A Juryman: Would a sharp blow under the left ribs have produced the injuries you discovered? – Yes, it would.

Mr. Makepeace: Would a crush between two tubs in a pit three weeks ago have produced the injuries? – No, the injuries were more of a recent date. Death was undoubtedly due to a blow received eight or nine days ago, and probably it was the one he received when in the boxing booth.

The Coroner, in summing up, said it was quite evident that the deceased had not died from injuries received at the colliery, and the probability was that the injuries were sustained on the Saturday night in the boxing booth at the wake.

A juryman asked if it was known who struck the blow in the boxing booth.

Insp. Hill said the police had made inquiries, but had not been able to ascertain who it was.

The Coroner suggested the jury should find a verdict of Accidental Death.

After deliberation in private the jury returned a verdict that the deceased received the injuries in a boxing booth at Blackheath, and death was by Misadventure.”

County Advertiser 24/1/1903 - Advert

“Two Freehold Business Premises for Sale, situated in the best market position; well built; every accommodation. Apply, William Whitehouse, VINE HOTEL, Whiteheath.”

County Advertiser 11/4/1903

“An extension of hours was granted to William Whitehouse, VINE INN, Whiteheath, for the Easter Holidays, the applicant’s being what is known as a ten o’clock house.”

County Advertiser 30/5/1903

“William Whitehouse, landlord of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, and James Thomas Cole, landlord of the BARREL INN, Causeway Green, applied for an hour’s extension on the nights of the 30th inst, 1st of June, and 2nd of June, on the occasion of the Whitsuntide holidays. There was no objection on the part of the police to the extensions, it being pointed out that they were ten o’clock houses. The applications were granted.”

County Advertiser 10/6/1905

“William Whitehouse, landlord of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, and Albert Anson, landlord of the STAG AND HORSESHOE HOTEL, Long Lane, applied for extensions of one hour on the 10th, 12th, and 13th insts. The applications were granted.”

County Advertiser 18/5/1907

“Mr. W. Whitehouse, of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, applied on behalf of the holders of ten o’clock licenses in the division for an extension of one hour on four dates during the Whitsuntide holidays. Superintendent Hill said he offered no objection to the application as some of the houses adjoined those which kept open until eleven o’clock. The Bench granted the application.”

County Express 1/8/1908

“At Halesowen, on Tuesday, Mr. W. Whitehouse, of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, appeared for an extension of one hour on the nights of the 1st, 3rd, and 4th August in respect of the ten o’clock houses in the division. Insp. Brazier raised no objection, and the application was granted.”

William Whitehouse was a councillor and member of the Board of Guardians.

William Whitehouse – see also HARE AND HOUNDS, Halesowen.

County Express 14/5/1910

“At Halesowen Police Court, on Tuesday, Mr. T. Willetts, licensee of the VINE INN, Whiteheath, applied on behalf of the holders of ten o’clock licenses in the division for an extension of one hour on the 14th, 16th, 17th, and 18th inst. Inspector Brazier offered no objection. After a short consultation in private, the chairman (Mr. Reay) announced that these extensions which were asked for at every holiday would have to be considered by the whole Bench at some future time. They had now decided to grant the extension for two days, the 16th and 17th inst.”

1911 Census

White Heath – VINE INN

- [1] Thomas Willetts (36), license publican, born White Heath Gate;
- [2] Sarah Jane Willetts (36), wife, married 14 years, assisting in the business, born Parish of Rowly;
- [3] Doris May Willetts (12), daughter, school, born Rowly;
- [4] Hanah Willetts (9), daughter, school, born Rowly;
- [5] George Thomas Willetts (7), son, school, born Rowly;
- [6] Mabel Clay (19), general servant, domestic, born Rowly;

Evesham Standard 29/6/1912

“The Deputy Coroner (Mr. A. H. Hebbert) held an inquest at the VINE HOTEL, Whiteheath, on Monday night, into the circumstances of the death of Percy Hadley, aged two years, son of Thomas Hadley, of Whiteheath. It was stated that on Sunday the boy took a small live fish, known as a stickleback, from a can in the house and put it to his mouth. The fish slipped from his fingers and became lodged in his throat. The father and mother were unable to extricate the fish, and the child died before the arrival of a doctor. Dr. Beasley said it would be impossible for the father to get the fish out because the fins were embedded in the child’s throat. Accidental Death was the verdict of the jury.”

Stephen George Bayley = Stephen George Byley

Birmingham Daily Gazette 12/1/1933

“.....sold by action at the TALBOT HOTEL, Stourbridge, yesterday.....
Included also in the sale was the VINE INN, Whiteheath, which sold for £1,500.”

It was transferred from Halesowen Licensing Justices to Oldbury Licensing Justices on 7th February 1934.

1939 Register

Titford Lane – VINE INN

[1] Walter W. Clark, date of birth 25/3/1889, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Ruby A. Clark, dob 9/1/1887, unpaid domestic duties, married:

Birmingham Mail 20/12/1941 - Advert

“Barmaid or Bar-General part-time or full time experience not essential good wages live in or out also Pianist. Apply, VINE INN, Whiteheath nr. Blackheath.”

Birmingham Mail 3/6/1943 - Advert

“For Sale very smart turnout Black Pony Brown Harness and Governess Car very quiet suit lady. VINE INN, Whiteheath nr. Blackheath.”

An application to alter the premises was granted on 14th July 1943.

Plans showing alterations to the licensed premises were approved on 10th April 1957.

Plans showing further alterations to the assembly room were approved on 10th December 1958.

Tom Swingler was married to Dorothy.

Sports Argus 5/11/1966

“For the second week in succession the Argus darts team tasted defeat when they went down 5-4 on the last game of the night to the Oldbury League at the VINE INN, Whiteheath, last night.”

Sports Argus 25/11/1967

“In a thrilling cliff-hanger the Oldbury League scored their second consecutive 5-4 win over the Sports Argus team last night, winning the third nail-biting game of the ninth match to clinch victory. Before a packed hall at the VINE, Whiteheath, you could have heard a flight drop After the match the Oldbury League handed over £21 for the Birmingham Mail Christmas Tree Fund – a fine effort.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 16/1/1986

“Our House Your Home. Public House Tenancies.

Davenport is a highly successful independent Midlands Brewery with an enviable reputation for top quality beers and lagers. We have 3 excellent business opportunities for experienced, hard-working and enthusiastic couples to take on the urban tenancies at the following houses.....

VINE, Titford Lane, Rowley Regis, Warley.

Traditional and old established, this house has a busy bar plus lounge/function room.

You will need personality, determination and organisational ability as well as capital.

Approximate ingoing £12,000-£15,000.

If you would enjoy the responsibility and freedom of your own concern with all the backing of a major brewery, then please write to.....”

Tony Phillips was married to Maureen.

Sandwell Evening Mail 18/11/1988

“Customers at a Rowley Regis pub have rallied round to raise money for a couple whose four-year-old son died in a house fire. Regulars at the VINE pub in Whiteheath held a series of sponsored events to raise hundreds of pounds for Mrs. Donna Geddis and her husband Peter.

Mrs. Geddis’ son Raymond Hattersley died after becoming trapped in the bedroom of the blazing family home in Oldbury Road, Whiteheath, last week.

Donna and Peter are both regulars at the VINE pub and play in the darts and dominoes teams.

Mrs. Jane Franklin, wife of licensee Mr. Raymond Franklin at the VINE said, ‘Regulars decided to help raise money for the family following the house fire. Customers rallied round and must have raised hundreds of pounds,’ she said.

Among the sponsored events arranged at the pub were a marathon run, sponsored raw egg eating and roller skating. One customer Mr. Bill Long raised money by challenging rival players to a game of draughts during a 12-hour sponsored session.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 20/2/1989

“Cult comedian Attila the Stockbroker is bringing his ‘alternative’ cabaret to the Black Country to help council tenants fighting a Government takeover. Attila will be the star guest at a special event aimed at raising money to help tenants on the Lion Farm Estate, Oldbury, and Smethwick’s Windmill Lane Estate fight the proposed introduction of Housing Action Trusts. The organisers of the alternative cabaret concert at the VINE pub, Titford Lane, Whiteheath, on February 28 want to raise public awareness of the Government plans, which would result in the estates being taken out of the control of Sandwell Council.....”

It was renamed the FOX. [1996]

[2019]

FOX HUNT

77, Highgate Street, (77, (31), High Street), (31, Garratts Lane), OLD HILL

OWNERS

Samuel Thomas Bate
Elwell and Williams Co.
Arthur Ernest Jew
Julia Hanson and Sons Ltd. [c.1949]
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd.
Punch Taverns

LICENSEES

John Bate [1841] – [1865]
Samuel Bate [1865] – 1874;
William Eley (1874 – 1879);
Thomas Tibbetts (1879 – 1881);
Henry Heath (1881);
Anna Henrietta Dixon (1881);
Thomas Gould (1881 – [1892]
Samuel Bate [1895] – [1896]
Henry Shakespeare (1897 – [1899]
William Waldron* (1900 – []
William Walton* [1901]
Charles Summerton [] – 1903);
Frederick Langley (1903 – 1904);
Arthur Ernest Jew (1904 – 1924);
Thomas ‘Tommy’ Williams (1924 – 1930);
Arthur Ernest Jew (1930 – 1949);
Arthur John Benton Jew (1949 – 1952);
Elijah Willetts (1952 – [1965]
Derek Lee [c.1980]
Simon Charman and Lynne Whitehouse (1998 – [1999]
Maggie Smith [2006]

NOTES

Garratts Lane [1845], [1851], [1860], [1861], [1862], [1871], [1881], [1896], [1901]
31, High Street [1908]
77, High Street [1911], [1912], [1916], [1924], [1932], [1939], [1940]
77, Highgate Street [1997], [1998], [2001], [2003]

FOX AND HOUNDS [1849], [1850]

1841 Census

Garratts Lane
[1] John Bate (25), publican, born Staffordshire;
[2] Sarah Bate (24), born Staffordshire;
[3] Samuel Bate (4), born Staffordshire:

John Bate was also a butcher. [1845], [1860]
He was also a shopkeeper. [1849], [1850]

1851 Census

Garratts Lane

- [1] John Bate (35), victualler, born Rowley;
- [2] Sarah Bate (34), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] William Corngrave (25), general servant, born Birmingham;
- [4] Mary A. Malthouse (15), tailoress, born Dudley:

Worcestershire Chronicle 10/11/1852

“John Bate, of the FOX HUNT, Rowley, was fined 5s and costs for allowing drunkenness in his house on the 26th October.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 6/6/1855

“On Wednesday last an inquest was held by G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, at the FOX HUNT, Garratts Lane, Rowley Regis, on the body of Anna Pritchard, aged four years, the daughter of a sinker. On the previous Saturday deceased was standing in the road, when a cart, driven by a servant of Messrs. W. Cooper and Co. of Dudley, came along the road at a very rapid pace, and the wheel struck the deceased, knocked her down, and passed over her chest, inflicting such injuries as caused her death on the following Monday. It was stated that at the time the driver was pulling at the horse to stop him, but appeared unable to do so, and he alleged that some boys had thrown a stone, which struck the horse and startled him. The jury considering that no negligence was attributable to the driver, returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

An inquest was held here on John Madeley who was killed in the Gawn Pit explosion, on 10th September 1857.

Birmingham Journal 16/9/1857

“In last Saturday’s Journal we gave account of an explosion which occurred on Thursday morning, at the colliery of Messrs. W. Mills and Son, at Windmill End, two miles from Dudley, and by which seven lives were sacrificed. Since then another man, John Dainty, who, it may be remembered, was partially buried in the pit for upwards of sixteen hours, has succumbed to the injuries he then sustained. The poor fellow underwent much suffering while under ground, in consequence of being well nigh suffocated. When recovered he complained of cold, and gradually sinking expired on Friday afternoon. The man Daniel Chink, whose body had not been recovered at the time our last report was written, was found about seven o’clock on Friday evening, not far from the bottom of the shaft, where he had been buried from the Thursday morning under an immense heap of earth brought from the roof by the force of the explosion. Life was, of course, quite extinct, and the body, which was dreadfully crushed, was fast decomposing. Of the other five or six persons injured the case of the young man Samuel Siveter, who lived with his mother in a hut not far from the scene of the occurrence, seems to be the most serious. He was not burnt by the explosion itself, but being one of the four or five men who were about to ascend the shaft, was buried beneath the earth and coals at the bottom, which forced him against a number of hot bricks that had previously formed the ventilating furnace. Here he endured the most intense suffering, and a deep hole was burnt into his side. He has been attended by Messrs. Fereday and Timmins, of Dudley, and his recovery is hardly probable. He was somewhat better on Saturday, and he then told a gentleman who visited the house, that just prior to the explosion he saw Abraham Sherwood and William Timmins go into the ‘crop’ side of the mine, where, as we have before stated, the explosion took place, with a lighted candle; the doggy of the pit, George French, being at that time nearer still to the crop. If this be true, and so far as we can ascertain there is no reason to doubt it, the cause of the dire event is explained. Still, it must be remembered that the butty, Francis Griffiths, had only a few minutes previously cautioned the men against going unguardedly into that part of the work, and that it is to be presumed, from a safety lamp having been found near French, that the latter had taken it with him to avoid the possibility of an explosion. Under such circumstances, it can scarcely be credited that Sherwood and Timmins would have the hardihood to take a lighted candle into the most dangerous part of the mine, as alleged. These three – French, Sherwood, and Timmins – were the only persons burnt by the explosion; the other five deceased being at the time at a distance of about two hundred yards from them at the bottom of the upcast shaft. They were buried beneath a mass of coals.

On Friday and Saturday last the Government Inspector of Mines, Lionel Brough, Esq, was at the spot, and descended the pit in company with one or two officials. The force of the explosion was of such a nature as to render the workings a complete wreck. Mr. Brough made an examination, and although he attended one of the inquests on Saturday afternoon, he will not present his official report until Monday next, the 21st instant, to which day one of the inquests, viz, that on the doggy, George French, which is to be made the principal enquiry, has been adjourned.

As we said on Saturday, the bodies of the deceased lie in three different parishes, and come under the jurisdiction of three Coroners – G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, R. Docker, Esq, and W. Robinson, Esq.....

Mr. Hinchliffe held an inquest at the house of Mr. J. Bate, FOX HUNT, Garratts Lane, on John Madely, which was also adjourned.....

By this unhappy event six wives have been made widows and twenty-three children orphans.”

[Other inquests were held at the CROSS GUNS, West Bromwich, the SHOULDER OF MUTTON, Blackheath, the COCK, Rowley, the GATE HANGS WELL, Darby Hand and the CROSS GUNS, Oldbury.]

[At the adjourned inquest on John Madeley (and also Daniel Chink) the jury returned verdicts of Accidental Death and they censured the proprietors of the pit for not carrying out Mr. Brough’s suggestion for improved ventilation.]

Staffordshire Advertiser 16/1/1858

“An inquest was held before G. Hinchliffe, Esq, on Tuesday last, at the FOX HUNT INN, on the body of Nimrod Stephenson, 22 years of age, who was employed at the British Iron Company’s furnaces. The waggons containing the materials are drawn up two lifts or shafts, 15 yards deep, the empty waggons descending whilst the full ones are ascending. On Sunday, whilst he was descending in the empty waggon, the chain attached to it suddenly broke, and he fell to the bottom with great violence, and was killed on the spot. The witnesses were of opinion that some of the material fell out of the loaded waggon, and getting between the slides, caused the engine to jerk suddenly, which snapped the chain. There did not appear any blame attached to any one, and the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

1861 Census

Garratts Lane

[1] John Bate (46), publican and cattle dealer, born Rowley;

[2] Sarah Bate (44), wife, born Rowley;

[3] Samuel Bate (22), son, butcher, born Rowley;

[4] John Levett (16), boarder, general servant, born Rowley;

[5] Elizabeth Fletcher (17), boarder, born Rowley;

[6] Mary Williams (10), boarder, born Rowley:

John Bate was described as being also a pork butcher. [1864], [1865]

Check COCK, Rowley Regis.

Samuel Bate = Samuel Bates

County Advertiser 28/1/1865

“On Wednesday, at the Police Court, Henry Weaver, chainmaker, was charged with having, on the 16th inst, unlawfully and maliciously wounded Joseph Pritchard, also a chainmaker, by setting him on fire, thereby intending to disfigure him and to do him grievous bodily injury. Mr. Lowe appeared to prosecute, and Mr. Addison defended.

The evidence of the prosecutor was to the effect that on the night of the 16th he went to the FOX HUNT public house, Garratts Lane. He there sat down on a bench, and fell asleep. After sleeping some time he was awakened by an acute pain on his hand. At the moment of awakening he observed something burning near his hand, and he felt as if something hot had been drawn over or poured upon his hand. Henry Weaver, the defendant, was standing in the room when he awoke, and said to him, ‘You’re all on fire Old Madman. I have put you from work this week and the next.’ There was a strike among some of Mr. Pargeter Jones’s men. Weaver was one of those on strike, and he (prosecutor) was at work.

Samuel Bate, landlord of the FOX HUNT public house, who was summoned to give evidence, stated that he recollected the prosecutor coming to his house on the evening of Monday week. He did not observe the prosecutor asleep, but he saw him lying before the fire between seven and eight o’clock. He had been in the house an hour previous; and had had one pint of ale. Witness did not see the prosecutor lying on the bench; the first he saw of him lying anywhere was lying on the floor before the fire, and with fire upon him. The prisoner was awake, and Michael Bastible was assisting him to get up. The prosecutor was lying with his back to the fire, about two feet away; and there were lighted embers behind and before him, outside the fender. These embers could not have come there by accident. If the prosecutor had stated he was lying on the bench he had told a lie. Witness did not see anyone put the embers about the prosecutor. He (witness) was there all the time.

Mr. Oldershaw: Do not fence the questions. Who put the embers there? You can surely tell if you were there all the time.

Witness: I was told that Weaver put them there.

Mr. Addison said that the grate went far back, and the landlord was sitting with his back to the fire.

The Bench said that they only wanted the truth, and they were much surprised at the manner in which Mr. Bate gave his evidence. (The witness answered the questions put to him hesitatingly, and often manifested a disposition to fencing them.) The embers must have been placed there by some one, and they could not understand how the witness could be there all the time and not see what had occurred.

Examination continued: He did not hear Weaver say ‘Old Madman, you’re all on fire. I have put you from working this week and the next.’ Weaver said he (prosecutor) had been put from working. Witness had not told a woman named Mary Williams that the prosecutor was burnt by a red-hot poker having been thrust into his hand. He saw a hot ‘glede’ taken out of the prosecutor’s pocket. Michael Bastible had told him that Weaver had put the lighted embers around the prosecutor. In his (witness’s) opinion prosecutor was burnt in getting up by putting his hand on the embers. He was sure the prosecutor was awake. The prosecutor was, he believed, rather fresh when he came to the house. Cross-examined: The embers must have been knocked out; but he did not see Weaver knock them out. He saw Weaver close to the prosecutor both before and after the latter was burnt; they were quarrelling about their work.

Michael Bastible, brickyard labourer, deposed that he was present in the public house in question on the night of the 6th, and saw the prosecutor lay himself before the fire outside the fender. Henry Weaver hollowed the fire, and some lighted embers fell on the prosecutor before and behind him. The prosecutor then got up, and in doing so was burnt by placing his hand on some ‘gledes.’ There was smoke coming from prosecutor’s clothes; but he did not see an ember taken from his pocket. He did not hear Weaver say anything to the prosecutor about putting him from working. In the course of a long cross-examination by the Bench, witness said that when the prisoner poked the fire he stood at the side, behind the prosecutor.

Mr. Hugh Morrow, surgeon, Cradley Heath, stated that the prosecutor came to his surgery on the previous Thursday morning. The palm of one of his hands was burnt in two places. In one place it had been burnt by a very hot body. The place was charred, and there was a slough. In answer to the Bench, witness said that he thought the most severe wound might have been caused by prosecutor placing his hand on an ember at a white heat. Prosecutor would not be able to work for some weeks.

Mr. Addison, in addressing the Bench for the defence, contended that both on account of the discrepancies in the evidence of the prosecutor and his witnesses, and on account of the fact that there was nothing to show that there was any malicious intention in the hollowing of the fire by the prisoner, the Bench should discharge the prisoner.

The Bench said they were of opinion that the throwing of the embers on the man could not have been accidental; but they thought that the justice of the case would be met if the prisoner would make the prosecutor some compensation for his injuries.

The prisoner at first declined to do so, but ultimately he consented to pay the prosecutor £1, and all the costs, including the attorney's fee."

Stourbridge Observer 4/2/1865

"On Wednesday last, before F. W. G. Barrs, and R. Moore, Esqrs, Samuel Bate, landlord of the FOX HUNT public house, Old Hill, was charged with allowing drunkenness in his house. Mr. Lowe appeared for the defendant.

George Jephtha said on the 16th instant, he was in defendant's house at about half past five. He had had 5 pints of drink during the day. He was perfectly sober, and all the rest in the house were sober. The case was dismissed."

Birmingham Daily Post 13/2/1865

"In the Daily Post of Friday last it was reported that on the previous day six men had been killed by a fall of coal in No.10 pit of the Salt Wells Colliery, the property of the Earl of Dudley. One of these poor fellows, Richard Richards, alias Pikey, resided in Garretts Lane, in the parish of Rowley, and on Saturday morning Mr. E. Hooper, Coroner, opened an inquest upon the body, at the house of Mr. Bate, the FOX HUNT INN, near Old Hill. Mr. Fletcher, the agent for the Colliery, and Mr. Samuel Davis, who was working in the pit in which the accident occurred, were present to give all the information of which they were possessed. Mr. Jeffries, one of the Earl of Dudley's managers, was also in attendance with the plans of the colliery, and stated that it was his wish to render the Coroner every assistance.

The Jury having been sworn, proceeded to view the body, which lay at the house of John Webb, Garretts Lane, where the deceased lodged. When the Jury returned, the evidence of John Webb was taken. He stated that the deceased was about thirty-eight years of age, and was, he believed, a single man. He went to work as usual on Thursday morning last, starting from home at about twenty minutes past five o'clock. He was brought home about four o'clock on the same afternoon quite dead. His body was very badly crushed, and one thigh and one ankle were broken. Witness worked in the same colliery, and never heard the slightest complaint about any of the arrangements.

The Coroner here remarked that he had on the previous day telegraphed to Mr. Baker, her Majesty's Inspector of Mines for the district, and he fully expected that that gentleman would have been in attendance. He felt sure, however, that Mr. Baker would only be prevented from being present by some important and pressing engagement. He believed Mr. Baker had inspected the pit since the melancholy accident, and it would be necessary for his evidence to be taken. Moreover, he might wish to put some questions to the witnesses. Under these circumstances, he submitted to the Jury whether it would not be a saving of their time to adjourn the enquiry. He would, if they thought well, take all the evidence which was then ready to be tendered, but it would be impossible to complete the enquiry that day, and probably they might at the adjourned inquest have to go through much of it over again. He wished the Jury, however, to decide the matter for themselves. The Jury at once fell in with the Coroner's suggestion, and the enquiry was adjourned until tomorrow (Tuesday), at eleven o'clock. The Coroner issued his certificate for the burial of the deceased."

[At the adjourned inquest the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.]

County Advertiser 22/12/1866

"On Wednesday, at the Police Court, John Phipps, chainmaker, was charged with unlawfully wounding James Williams, alias Sawyer, on the morning of the 23rd of October last. The details of the occurrence have already been given in our columns. It may, however, be necessary to state that the prosecutor and prisoner were members of a 'Life Society' held at the FOX HUNT public house, Garretts Lane. On the night of the 22nd October both were 'in office' and assisted in carrying ale from the bar to the club-room. They fell out over some trifling matter, and prosecutor alleged that prisoner suddenly set upon him, knocked him down, and kicked him as he lay. His jaw was broken, and he was otherwise injured. He was seven days in the Birmingham General Hospital, and was still an out-patient there, in consequence of the injuries he received at the hands of the prisoner.

On Wednesday last a young man named Joseph Hampton said he saw prisoner knock prosecutor down and then kick him, on the night in question.

Dr. Morrow deposed that prosecutor came to him with a broken jaw, on the 23rd of October. There were no other injuries, and in his (Dr. Morrow's) opinion the fracture had been caused by a severe blow with the fist.

Mrs. Bate, the landlady of the FOX HUNT, deposed to hearing prosecutor use abusive language to prisoner, and several times challenge him to fight, and to seeing prisoner knock him down with his fist.

Mr. Stokes said that from the surgeon's evidence the cause of the malicious damage must fall to the ground; and as prosecutor's own witness had sworn that he several times challenged the prisoner to fight, the latter could not be held responsible for any injuries that had arisen.

The Bench said they should treat the matter as a common assault, and fined the prisoner 10s and costs, or twenty-one days."

Samuel Bate was also a butcher. [1868], [1870], [1872], [1873]

Stourbridge Observer 2/5/1868

"On the 8th ultimo, Joseph Grove, aged five years and six months, residing in Black Waggon Street, was severely burnt by falling into the fire, and died on the 29th ult from the injuries received.

An inquest was held on the body on Thursday last, at Mr. Samuel Bates's, the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, before Mr. Hooper, when a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

County Express 10/10/1868

“Samuel Bate, licensed victualler, FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill, was charged with assaulting Joseph Darby, foreman of Messrs. Swindell’s chain works, Darby End, on the 30th of September. Mr. Ponton prosecuted, and Mr. Addison defended. Plaintiff said he resided at Rowley Regis. He was at the WINDMILL INN at ten o’clock in the evening of the 30th ult, and in coming home met defendant who asked him the way to Tipton. Plaintiff said he knew as well as he did, on which defendant called him bad names and knocked him down. He got up and defendant knocked him down twice again. He was severely bruised on the right shoulder and left arm. He was not aware that he had ever spoken to defendant before.

Cross-examined: His right arm was also injured. He had been at the WINDMILL INN, and there had half a pint of ale. This was all he had that evening. He did not know Elizabeth Hill, nor did he see her there. He did not ask defendant what he was knocking at the door for.

George Taylor, potter, Rowley Regis, said he saw defendant strike plaintiff in the mouth and knock him down three times.

Jeremiah Moseley said he was a potter, residing at Rowley. On the 30th ult he saw defendant knock plaintiff down three times.

Plaintiff tried to get away, but without success. He did not strike defendant once.

Cross-examined: He had had some conversation with plaintiff about the affair. Mrs. Hill was not present at the time of the assault but came shortly afterwards.

John O’Dowd, assistant to Mr. Meredith, surgeon, said he had examined plaintiff, and found his lip cut, a tooth broken, his shoulder cut, and bruises about his body.

Cross-examined: The right shoulder was bruised. He complained of his head being injured and said he fell against a wall, and showed his hat which was indented corresponding with the injury on the head.

The Bench considered the case proved and fined 10s and costs.

Mr. Ponton asked for costs for medical attendance, but was referred to the County Court.”

Stourbridge Observer 30/4/1870

“On Monday last a meeting of miners was held at the house of Mr. Bates, FOX HUNT INN, for the purpose of forming a new Mining Association, for Oldbury, Old Hill, West Bromwich, Blackheath, Halesowen, and Cradley districts. There was a large attendance, and a good many persons gave in their names as members, and the following resolution was passed: That in the opinion of this meeting Mr. Breakwell be appointed as their agent, and that he was entitled to this confidence for the manly and straightforward way he had conducted the business on behalf of the men.....”

Stourbridge Observer 26/11/1870

“John Johns and James Bassett were charged with breaking and entering a certain building and stealing six live pigeons, the property of Samuel Bate, at Old Hill, on the 15th inst. Mr. Addison appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. W. Hayes for the defendants. Thomas Wright said he was a servant of the prosecutor, who lives at Garratts Lane, Old Hill. Recollect seeing 51 pigeons safe, at four o’clock. They were tumblers. He counted them. On the 16th he went to the place where the pigeons were kept, and missed six. They were kept in a pen. He then made a communication to the prosecutor.

Cross-examined: Did not see the prisoner there.

By the Bench: Anyone could open the door. It was wide open the following morning.

Harriet Bate said she was the wife of the prosecutor. On the morning of the 16th she saw prisoners at their house. It was about half past twelve. Johns called for two glasses of whiskey. She served them with it. After they had drunk the whiskey they went out of the back door. Bassett pulled his watch out. Johns asked her if her master was in, and she said he was out. He had gone to Birmingham, and she wondered why he was so late. They then went out. After they had been absent a few minutes, she heard footsteps in the yard. She opened the door and saw prisoners, who were coming in, and they called for two glasses of whiskey. Bassett said he would pay for it. After they had left the second time she went into the yard, and saw both prisoners. Johns was ascending the steps leading to the malt room where the pigeons were kept. Bassett was at the foot of the steps. It was a light night. Bassett afterwards went up.

Police-sergeant Powner said he was stationed at Old Hill. He apprehended prisoners on the 16th, about midday, at a beerhouse adjoining prosecutor’s house. Charged them with stealing six pigeons. They did not make any reply then. He heard Bassett say in the presence of Johns, to a man named Richards, that they had the pigeons.

Mr. Hayes said the prisoners were both drunk, and took the pigeons for a lark; and called Mr. J. Green, who said the men had worked for him for some time, and he had always found them honest men.

Prisoners were committed to 14 days’ hard labour.”

Birmingham Daily Post 3/2/1871 - Advert

“Wanted, an Assistant to the Butchering.

Apply to Mr. S. Bate, FOX HUNT INN, Garrat Lane, Old Hill.”

1871 Census

Garratts Lane – FOX HUNT

[1] Samuel Bate (34), butcher and publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Harriett Bate (33), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Sarah Bate (7), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Harriett Bate (3), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[5] John Bate (1), son, born Rowley Regis;
[6] Sarah Sherwin (20), general servant, born Rowley Regis;
[7] Ellen Piper (15), general servant, born Dudley:
[Sarah Bate – see also COCK, Rowley Regis]

County Advertiser 17/2/1872

“Daniel Williams, an ironworker, was charged with being riotous in Samuel Bates’s public house, in Garratts Lane, on the 7th inst, and damaging the windows. Ellen [sic] Bates said that she was the wife of Samuel Bates, of the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, and on the 7th inst the defendant entered their house and began kicking up a row. He was ordered out, when he used very bad language, and after they had threatened to put him out, he went away, taking with him a cup which contained another person’s ale. Witness sent after him for the cup, and he returned to the house. She, being afraid, bolted the door. The man then threw several bricks through the window. Sergeant Powner deposed to having seen the man throw a brick through the window of the public house. The defendant smashed the cup which he carried away. He was fined 10s and the costs for his riotous conduct, 2s 6d for an assault which he committed upon a servant girl who asked him for the cup, and 9s 6d for the damage done; or, in default of payment, five weeks’ imprisonment.”

County Advertiser 2/11/1872

“The annual meeting of the Unite Association of Miners was held on Monday, at the house of Mr. Samuel Bates, FOX HUNT INN. A very excellent dinner was provided by the worthy host. After dinner a chairman was appointed, and a report read to show that the association was in a very prosperous and flourishing condition; altogether a very pleasant evening was spent. Recitations and songs were given at intervals by members of the association. The meeting terminated by the proposing of a vote of thanks to the chairman.”

County Advertiser 16/11/1872

“James Powell was charged with assaulting Police-constable John Grady on the 2nd inst. The officer said he went to the FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill, to put out defendant, who had been fighting. Defendant kicked him about the shins, and he was obliged to use his staff. Defendant was not drunk. Defendant was also charged with assaulting the landlord, Samuel Bate, and also with refusing to quit. He was fined 2s 6d and costs for assaulting the policemen; 2s 6d and costs for assaulting the landlord, and costs for refusing to quit.

James Powell, younger, and Ruth Powell were also charged with assaulting Police-constable Grady, and were ordered to pay costs.”

County Express 13/6/1874

“Samuel Bate, landlord of the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, was charged with having his house open after eleven o’clock at night on the 1st inst.

Police-sergeant Walters found two men in the house at nineteen minutes past eleven o’clock on the night of the day in question. The men had pint cups with a little ale in them. He spoke to the landlady about it, and she said she was not aware that it was so late. It was sixteen minutes past eleven by the clock in the house.

Police-constable Cooper gave corroborative evidence.

The wife of the defendant said the policemen came into the house at six minutes past eleven, and left at sixteen minutes past. She drew the last half-pint of ale at half-past ten o’clock. The one man was teaching the other simple addition. She acknowledged they were wrong in staying after eleven o’clock.

Defendant was ordered to pay the costs.”

AND

“Joseph Hancox and Edward Perkins were charged with being found on the premises of the FOX HUNT INN, after eleven o’clock on the night of the 1st inst, and ordered to pay costs

William Eley = William Healy

Dudley Herald 15/2/1879

“At the Old Hill Police Court, on Wednesday, before Messrs. W. Bassano and B. Hingley, John Hill, secretary of the Old Hill Miners’ Sick Benefit Society, Lodge No.1, was summoned by Sarah Chivers for the non-payment of £8 alleged to be due to her. Plaintiff claimed £5 on the death of her husband, and ten weeks widow’s pay at 6s per week. Mr. Major, of Dudley, represented the plaintiff, and Mr. Clulow, Brierley Hill, defended.

The plaintiff said the defendant was secretary of the Miners’ Sick Benefit Society, held at the FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill, of which her husband was up to the time of his death a member. She also produced a copy of the rules. Plaintiff also produced the member’s book, showing the amounts paid into the society by her husband. The last contribution was paid on the 16th of November. The same day her husband left home, and was not seen again by witness until the 28th December, when his body was discovered in the canal, not far from his home. An open verdict was returned by the jury at the inquest. Subsequently she was informed by a man named Hezekiah Shakespeare that the society had decided to give her £2.

In cross-examination plaintiff said she did not continue paying the subscriptions after the 16th of November, because she was told there was no necessity. The lodge of which her husband was a member was held at the FOX HUNT INN, but was connected with a lodge held at the DUKE WILLIAM previously.

For the defence, Mr. Clulow contended that the present society was not registered. In 1875 a division occurred amongst the Old

Hill Miners' Friendly Societies, and since that there had been no connection whatever between this lodge and any other which might have been held previously at the DUKE WILLIAM. He further contended that the society was without rules, and also urged that the widow was not entitled to recover in that court, as the deceased was out of benefit.

John Hill, the defendant, was then called as a witness, and stated that no money was paid into the society for the deceased after the 15th November. The society voted £2 as a present to the widow, and not in recognition of any liability on their part. It was custom to pay £5 at the death of a member, and 6s per week to the widow for twelve months afterwards. In reply to the Bench, witness said there was no lodge held at the DUKE WILLIAM now, as it had been broken up.

Mr. W. Breakwell, miners' agent, said there were three lodges in the district, none of them being registered. They never had written any written rules of the lodge in question to his knowledge. The lodge at the FOX HUNT was formed in 1874 or 1875, at the time when the district lodges were broken up. The present lodges were not registered, and the rules were now in the hands of the solicitor. At the time the copy of the rules produced was printed they were connected with the National Miners' Union, to which all the lodges contributed. They had since ceased to contribute to the union. In 1872 the Miners' National Union resolved that the sick money, instead of being paid at the pits, should be paid into lodges, which had been carried out at Old Hill ever since. He believed it was the universal custom to pay £5 at the death of a member, and 6s per week to the widow.

In reply to Mr. Major, witness said they had no rules whatever.

Mr. Major: How do you pay these sums to the widows? – Witness: That is done by resolutions at the meetings.

He had repeatedly tried to persuade the members to register the rules.

Mr. Clulow pointed out to the Bench that the man disappeared on the 15th of November, and was not found until the 28th of December. Nearly six weeks elapsed between those dates, and during that period the plaintiff paid no contributions to the society. The Bench dismissed the case.”

Dudley Herald 24/5/1879

“A meeting of the creditors of William Eley, FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill, was held on Thursday last, at the offices of Mr. Thomas Homer, solicitor, Brierley Hill, when it was resolved to wind up the estate in liquidation. Mr. Herbert Humphries, of Brierley Hill, and Mr. James Whitehouse, auctioneer, Dudley, were appointed trustees.”

County Advertiser 28/6/1879 - Advert

“Under a Bill of Sale. FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill.

To Publicans, Furniture Dealers, and Others.

Mr. Benjamin Bellingham (late John Bent and Bellingham) has received instructions to Sell by Auction (under a Bill of Sale) on Monday, June 30th, 1879, the whole of the Household Furniture and Brewing Utensils.

Sale to commence at Three o'clock precisely.

The Auctioneer particularly requests prompt attendance.

For further particulars apply to the Auctioneer.

Offices and Residence, 205, Wolverhampton Street, Dudley.”

Dudley Herald 28/6/1879 - Advert

“By Mr. Benj. Bellingham. Sale of Brewing Utensils and Household Furniture (under Bill of Sale), at the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, on Monday, June 30th, 1879. Sale at Three in the Afternoon to the minute.”

Dudley Herald 4/10/1879 - Advert

“Freehold Dwelling-Houses, Cherry Street, Cherry Orchard, Old Hill, Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, on Tuesday, October 21st, 1879, at the house of Mr. Thomas Tibbetts, the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, Rowley Regis, at Six o'clock in the evening, subject to conditions to be then read.....”

Dudley Herald 22/11/1879

“Joseph Hadley was charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of Thomas Tibbetts, landlord of the FOX HUNT, Old Hill; also with assaulting him and Mrs. Tibbetts. Mr. Hayes prosecuted, and said that the defendant had apologised, and offered to pay the costs, and he would ask the Bench to let the charges be withdrawn. The Bench said they would hear the charge of refusing to quit. This being heard, and the case proved, defendant was fined 2s 6s and costs, or, in default, seven days.”

Dudley Herald 13/12/1879

“Thos. Tibbetts, landlord of the FOX HUNT, Old Hill, was charged with keeping his house open during prohibited hours, on the 5th inst. Mr. Hayes defended.

PC Wickstead said on the evening in question he went to defendant's house, and saw his wife's father there. It was then sixteen minutes past eleven by witness's watch. He went to Old Hill Church, and found his watch was four minutes fast.

For the defence, it was urged that defendant's clock had been stopped by the frost, and he was depending upon his watch for the time, and when the police-officer came in, his watch wanted ten minutes to eleven o'clock.

The Bench dismissed the case on payment of costs.”

Dudley Herald 6/3/1880

“Thomas Tibbetts, landlord of the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was charged with unlawfully permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises. Mr. Addison prosecuted, and Mr. J. Stokes defended.

Inspector W. Walters said he visited defendant's house on the 24th February in company with PC Rowlands. He heard some very bad language outside, and on going into the house he found about eight persons there. James Underhill, James Ball, and John Shakespear were quite drunk. The landlord requested Underhill and Ball to leave, but not Shakespear. He called the attention of the landlord to Shakespear. Some time after he returned and found Shakespear still there and drunk.

Mr. Stokes applied for an adjournment on the ground that he was taken by surprise, he understood that only Underhill and Ball were charged, but not Shakespear. He intended to prove that Ball and Underhill were sober.

Case adjourned for 7 days.”

Dudley and District News 13/3/1880

“Thomas Tibbetts, landlord of the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was summoned for permitting drunkenness. Mr. W. O. Addison prosecuted, and Mr. Stokes defended.

On the night of the 24th ult Police-inspector Walters, in company with Police-constable Rowlands, visited defendant’s house and there found three men in a state of drunkenness. The landlord’s attention was drawn to the men’s condition and two of them then left, whilst one remained, and was seen again by the officers again on a subsequent visit.

A number of witnesses were called for the defence, and swore the men referred to were sober.

The Bench, however, considered the case proved, and fined defendant £5 and costs, without endorsing his license.”

Dudley Herald 20/3/1880

“At the Police Court, on Wednesday, before F. D. L. Smith, W. Bassano, and B. Hingley, Esqrs, James Underhill, James Ball, and John Shakespear, were charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of Thomas Tibbetts, landlord of the FOX HUNT, Old Hill, on the 24th ult.

The whole of the defendants denied the charge of drunkenness, but admitted that they were on the premises.

Inspector Walters said he visited the house on the day in question and saw the defendants there, and they were drunk.

The Bench fined each defendant 1s and costs, or in default seven days.”

Dudley Herald 28/8/1880

“The annual Licensing Session was held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

Police-superintendent Woollaston presented his annual statement of offending publicans during the past year.....

Thomas Tibbetts, FOX HUNT, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, open after hours December 10th, 1879, sentenced to pay costs; and permitting drunkenness March 10th, 1880, fined £5 and costs.....

The Bench refused to renew the license of Thomas Tibbetts, landlord of the FOX HUNT, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, as he had been convicted in December, 1879, and in March, 1880, when he was fined £5 and costs for permitting drunkenness.”

Dudley and District News 2/10/1880

“Adjourned Licensing Sessions. These sessions were held on Wednesday at Old Hill.....

Mr. Homer made an application for a six days’ license on behalf of Thomas Tibbetts, who at the annual licensing sessions was refused by the justices, he having been twice convicted in one year. He asked the Bench to review their decision, his client being a young man who, having taken his house on a sixteen years’ lease, and fitted it up at a great expense, would probably be ruined for life if his license was taken from him. He had promised faithfully to conduct the house well in future if the license was granted.

The Bench granted the application, remarking that he must understand that if he deviated in the slightest degree from the law he would be dealt with in the severest way the law allowed.”

County Express 19/2/1881

“James Powell, miner of Old Hill, Joseph Poole, labourer, Powke Lane, and William Ashfield, miner, Red Lion Road, Old Hill, were charged with stealing a set of harness, value £1 15s, the property of Thomas Tibbetts, publican, of Old Hill.

The harness was lent by prosecutor to a person named Blunt, some two months ago. About a month ago Powell offered it for sale to a carter named Burgess for the sum of 6s, and afterwards for 4s, but Burgess thinking it too cheap for the money refused to buy it, and it was subsequently sold to Henry Mason, carrier and beerhouse keeper, for 5s and two quarts of ale by the defendant Poole, and Ashfield received the money.

The prisoners were each sent to prison for a month, the imprisonment in the case of Powell to commence when the three months inflicted in the former case [fowl stealing] had expired.

The Bench told Mason that they considered he deserved to be in the dock as much as the other prisoners, and they should remember his conduct at the next licensing day.”

1881 Census

31, Garratts Lane – uninhabited.

County Express 14/5/1881

“On Tuesday last a meeting of the creditors of Thomas Adams Tibbetts, late of the FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill, was held at the offices of Mr. W. O. C. Addison, solicitor, Brierley Hill. Mr. Addison’s statement of affairs showed that the liabilities were about £650. It was resolved to liquidate the estate by arrangement, and give the debtor his discharge.”

Dudley and District News 28/5/1881

“The District Coroner (E. Hooper, Esq) held an inquiry on Saturday morning at the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, touching the death of Ruth Brookes, aged one year and nine months, the daughter of John Brookes, furnace labourer, residing in Waggon Street.

Deceased was killed on the previous Thursday by the fall of a chain and nail shop. Evidence was now adduced by deceased's mother to the effect that on the morning of the date named, she had been working in the nailshop, which was in Garratts Lane, and had just left to go and prepare her husband's dinner, when she was startled by a crash, and returning, found that the shop had fallen in. A crowd had collected at the spot, and the deceased, who with an elder sister and others had been playing about the shop, was being extricated from the door frame and a beam and a heap of bricks which had fallen upon her. When extricated, Mr. Goulter, surgeon, who was present, pronounced her to be dead. It appeared, further, that deceased's elder sister, named Susannah, was actually in the shop when it fell, but only sustained slight injuries, owing to the rafters, from the position in which they fell, having formed a protecting screen around her.

The Coroner elicited from the mother that the Local Board's inspector had served her or her husband with a notice to quit the house and nailshop in consequence of the dilapidated state it was in. They had vacated the house and gone to live in Waggon Street, but she had continued to go to the shop to finish some work which she had on hand, and on this day the children had accompanied her. The landlord of the premises had also given her and her husband notice to quit as they had not paid any rent for twelve months.

The Coroner pointed out to the mother that she ought not to have continued working in the shop, knowing it had been condemned by the local authorities, and said she was really the only person responsible for the death of her child.

A verdict of Accidental Death was then returned.

One of the jurymen summoned, named Laban Hall, was some minutes late in making his appearance. Another jurymen was sworn in his stead, and on his arrival the coroner fined the late-comer 40s. After the inquiry had concluded, Hall apologised for being late, and said he had forgotten about the inquest. The Coroner then remitted his fine, but ordered him to be summoned on the next jury, and reminded the offender that if he was again late in attending the penalty would be enforced."

Annie Henrietta Dixon = Ann Henrietta Dixon = Hannah Dixon

County Express 21/8/1881 - Notice

"To the Overseers of the Poor, and the Superintendent of Police of the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, and to all whom it may concern.

I, Annie Henrietta Dixon, Licensed Victualler, now residing at the FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, do hereby give Notice, that it is my intention to apply, at the General Annual Licensing Meeting, for the Division of Rowley Regis, to be holden at the Public Office, at Old Hill, in the said County, on the 31st day of August next ensuing, at the hour of Eleven o'clock in the forenoon of the same day, for a Seven Days' License to hold any Excise License or Licenses, to Sell by Retail under The Intoxicating Liquors Licensing Act 1828, and the Acts amending the same, all Intoxicating Liquors to be consumed either on or off the premises, situate at Old Hill, in the said Parish, and known by the Sign of the FOX HUNT, which said premises are of the annual value by law required, of which house and premises one John Bate is the owner and the same are now in my occupation.

Given under my hand this 30th day of July, 1881.

Annie Henrietta Dixon."

County Advertiser 3/9/1881

"The annual licensing session for the petty sessional division of Rowley Regis, were held on Wednesday last, at the Police Court.

Mr. Cooksey (Old Hill) applied on behalf of Ann Henrietta Dixon for the six days' license of the FOX HUNT, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, to be extended to a seven days'. The house had formerly a seven days' license, but the last tenant was convicted and the license reduced. Mr. Cooksey said the Sunday trade of the house was thus being sent to adjoining houses. The Bench granted the application."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 19/9/1885

"A large meeting of miners was held last night, at the FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill, for the purpose of considering the wages question. Mr. H. Southall presided. Mr. B. Winwood, miners' agent, delivered a long address, in the course of which he urged the men to support only Liberal candidates at the coming election. It was decided to form a powerful union, and to agitate for the advance of 15 per cent."

County Express 15/5/1886

"On Tuesday night a meeting of miners was held at the FOX HUNT, Garratts Lane, Old Hill. Mr. B. Winwood, the local agent, addressed the meeting at length upon trades federation. The following resolutions were unanimously passed: 1. That this meeting believes the time has arrived for all men to become united, and we agree to form a union lodge at this house on Saturday next. 2. That this meeting is of opinion that the Clipperstone miners out on strike are deserving of our best support, and that we call upon all miners at the various collieries to make collections on their behalf every Saturday until the dispute is settled."

County Express 22/2/1890

"On Wednesday a social gathering was held at Mr. T. Gould's, the FOX HUNT, Old Hill. A splendid supper, provided by several gentlemen in the district, was put on the table by the hostess, to which ample justice was done by friends from Brierley Hill, Quarry Bank, Tipton, and Old Hill. After the cloth had been drawn, some capital songs and pianoforte solos were rendered."

1891 Census

Garratts Lane

- [1] Thomas Gould (52), butcher and victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Eliza M. Gould (49), wife, born Brierley Hill;
- [3] Harry J. Gould (25), son, butcher, born Brierley Hill;
- [4] Sarah M. Gould (21), daughter, dress maker, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Ann S. Gould (19), daughter, barmaid, domestic, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Florence L. Gould (17), daughter, butcher's clerk, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Ellen L. Gould (15), daughter, milliner (apprentice), born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Eliza M. Gould (14), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Clara J. Gould (10), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

Thomas Gould was also a butcher. [1892]

Birmingham Daily Post 10/1/1895

“Samuel Bate, landlord of the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk on his own licensed premises, on the 26th ult.

Police-constable Barrett deposed to visiting defendant's house about 10.30pm on the day named, and to finding defendant drunk in the clubroom.

Defendant pleaded guilty, and Mr. John Wright, on his behalf, expressed regret for the offence.

The magistrates imposed a fine of 10s and costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 26/9/1895

“The Old Hill adjourned annual Licensing Sessions were held yesterday. Mr. Waldron applied for a renewal of the licenses to Samuel Bate which were adjourned from the annual licensing day. Mr. Bassano asked how the houses had been conducted in the meantime, and Inspector Given replied that everything had been satisfactory. The licenses were renewed.”

Samuel Bate was also a butcher. [1896]

Samuel Bate's daughter, Sarah Sophia, married a Mr. Pearson and became licensee of the COCK.

County Express 21/8/1897

“The first of what is intended to be an annual demonstration of the friendly societies in the Old Hill district, was held on Sunday, the object in view being to help the funds of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital the day was bright and promising, and there were large numbers of people all along the route.

At one o'clock the 1st Worcestershire Volunteer Band started from the CROSS INN, proceeded across Halesowen Road, calling at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL; then across Lawrence Lane into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the Cross, where the final procession was formed. Meanwhile the Old Hill Brass and Red Band started from the WHITE LION INN, proceeded by way of Powke Lane and Garratts Lane to Wrights Lane (as far as the PRINCE OF WALES INN), and returned to Garratts Lane, calling for lodges at the BRITISH OAK INN, FOX HUNT INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, VINE INN, to the Cross. On the arrival of this contingent a huge line was formed, and very pretty it looked. Members of the various lodges wore their regalia, and these being interspersed with the more elaborate honorary members' scarves, gave the line a very bright appearance.....”

County Advertiser 16/10/1897

“A temporary authority at the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill, was granted to Henry Shakespeare.”

Dudley Herald 29/1/1898

“Edwin Williams, of Queen Street, Quarry Bank, was charged with hawking without a license, and also doing malicious injury to a window belonging to Henry Shakespeare, of the FOX HUNT INN, Garratts Lane, Old Hill.

Complainant said that the defendant came to his house hawking laces and told the company they were the best in England. He invited anyone to break one, and handed a pair to one of the men in the house. He broke it, and then a disturbance ensued. Williams struck the man with a stick, and then was put out. He commenced to break the windows, but was stopped when he had smashed three. When asked the reason of his conduct defendant said he was subject to fits.

PC Mycock said the defendant had no license to sell.

Defendant said he had had a stroke, and sold laces to keep him off the rates.

Defendant was fined 5s and costs in each case and 1s 6d damage.”

County Advertiser 4/2/1899

“Thomas Baker, of Dudley, was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and refusing to quit licensed premises, on the 28th inst. Police-constable Greenbough stated that about half-past six on the night of the date named, he saw defendant very drunk in Halesowen Road, Old Hill. Defendant persisted in his disorderly conduct, and when he was taken into custody became very violent, kicking and biting him.

Henry Shakespeare, landlord of the FOXHUNT INN, Garratts Lane, said that defendant came to his house drunk, and commenced begging with a cigar box he had. Witness asked him to go about half a dozen times, but defendant said he should not go for him. Witness turned him out thrice, and on the last occasion carried him some distance from the house. Defendant was very violent. Mr. Bassano (to prisoner): You are very often here on some charge. – Prisoner: I hope you will open your heart this time and let me off. If you do I will leave the country.

Mr. Bassano: You have told us that a good many times before. – Prisoner: I have been in South Wales, and I wish I had not come into this country again.

Inspector Given: And so do I.

The Bench fined prisoner 20s and costs for being disorderly, and 10s and costs for refusing to quit, or in default six weeks' imprisonment."

* possibly the same person

1901 Census

31, Garratts Lane

[1] William Walton (74), licensed victualler, born Dodworth, Yorkshire;

[2] Jemima Walton (50), wife, born Bentley, Staffordshire;

[3] James Walton (29), son, inspect S. Staffs mines drainage, commission for all minerals raised to surface, born Walsall;

[4] Ada Walton (18), daughter, barmaid, born Codsall;

[5] Beatrice Murray (12), grand-daughter, born Ireland;

[6] Horace Murray (8), grand-son, born Malta;

[7] Edith Barnbrook (22), domestic servant, born Amblecote:

County Express 24/8/1901

"Mr. H. A. Pearson (county coroner) held an inquest on Monday at the FOX HUNT INN, Garretts Lane, on William Baker (66), gun-barrel maker, Beat Street, who had died suddenly.

It was stated that for upwards of 13 years deceased had been unable to follow his occupation owing to failing eyesight. On Saturday morning he informed Mrs. Round, with whom he lodged, that he was not well, and afterwards left, intending to get his sick note signed by a surgeon. On arriving at the Cross, near the tramway, he cried out and fell down. Assistance was immediately rendered him, but he died before medical aid could be obtained.

The Coroner said there were no suspicious circumstances, but he thought it best to hold an inquiry, especially as the man was living apart from his wife.

The jury returned a verdict of Death from Natural Causes."

Arthur Ernest Jew = Arthur Earnest Jew

County Advertiser 27/8/1904

"An Interim Authority was granted to Arthur Ernest Pugh [sic], from Frederick Langley, in respect of the FOX HUNT INN, Old Hill."

County Express 8/8/1908

"On Sunday afternoon there was held the twelfth annual service promoted by the united friendly societies in the Old Hill district. The occasion was favoured with brilliant weather, and there was a large attendance at the services. The proceedings opened with a large procession, which aroused considerable interest in the district. The Old Hill Ironworks Band started from the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, at one o'clock, and proceeded to the OLD HOUSE AT HOME INN for sick and draw club, through Cherry Orchard, calling for Court Robin Hood's Cave and BRITISH OAK sick and draw club; by way of Wagon Street, calling for Success-to-the-FOX-HUNT Lodge; Elbow Street for Court Benjamin and KINGS HEAD sick and draw club; Halesowen Road, calling for Provident Institution, and on to the field. The Cradley Heath Salvation Army Band started from COOKSEY'S HOTEL at one o'clock with Snowdrop Lodge, by way of Halesowen Road, calling for Court Loyal Marlborough; Bank Street, Queens Street, High Street, and on to the field. The Cradley Heath Town Prize Band started from the ROSE AND CROWN INN, Reddal Hill, with Court Robin Hood the Brave; by way of Reddal Hill Road, calling for the WHY NOT sick and draw club, and on to the BRIDGE INN for Welcome to the Bridge Inn Lodge, across Plant Street, Lawrence Lane, Clyde Street, Petford Street calling for Druids Society; Pear Tree Street, Riddings Street, New Street, Halesowen Road, calling for Court Royal Sherwood and Rechabites Society and ROYAL EXCHANGE sick and draw club; High Street to the field. A grand procession was then formed....."

Tipton Herald 13/3/1909

"Adjourned Hearing at Old Hill.....

Superintendent Johnson objected to the renewal of the license of the FOX HUNT, High Street, Old Hill, on the ground of redundancy.

Mr. W. Waldron appeared for Mr. Jew and the lessees, and Mr. Bate for the owners, the executors of Samuel Thomas Bate.

Inspector Needham said he visited the house on Monday night, when there were about 25 customers in.

Superintendent Johnson said the conduct of the licensee had been good. During the last ten years there had been six transfers, and no conviction. There were seven licensed houses within 500 yards, three beerhouses 'on' and two beerhouses 'off'. The population of the parish in 1901 was 34,670. There had been a decrease of four licenses up to 1908. The FOX HUNT was smaller and less commodious as the others. The house next door was larger and structurally better. He thought the FOX HUNT could be utilized as a shop. The other houses in the neighbourhood were capable of supplying the wants of the district.

Answering Mr. Waldron, the Superintendent said the FOX HUNT did a fair trade.

Mr. Waldron said the FOX HUNT was in every way adapted for the business for which it was licensed. There was a real necessity for the house in the district.

Mr. A. E. Jew said the takings for the year were between £15 and £17 per week.

Answering Mr. Bate: A new street had been cut in the district during the past few years, and a goodly number of houses had been erected.

The Chairman: In the policy of a reasonable reduction we shall schedule the house.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 15/5/1909

“Notice is Hereby Given, that the Principal Meeting to be held pursuant to the Licensing Rules, 1904, by the Compensation Authority for the County of Stafford, will be held at the Shire Hall, Stafford, at 10.30 o’clock am, on Friday, the 11th day of June, 1909.

And Notice is Hereby also Given, that the Compensation Authority will at the Meeting be prepared to hear, with reference to the Renewal of the Licences of the several Premises specified in the subjoined list.....

FOX HUNT INN, High Street, Old Hill. Alehouse. Licensee, Arthur Ernest Jew.”

Staffordshire Advertiser 19/6/1909

“The principal meeting of the Staffordshire County Compensation Authority, adjourned from the 11th inst.....

The decision of the local licensing magistrates to refuse the renewal of the FOX HUNT alehouse, Old Hill, tenant, Arthur E. Jew, was opposed. Mr. R. J. Lawrence, barrister (instructed by Mr. Cooksey, Old Hill) represented the licensing justices; Mr. Graham Milward, barrister (instructed by Mr. R. Bate, Blackheath) appeared for the owners of the premises (Messrs. J. R. and B. H. Bate); and Mr. Waldron was for the holder of the licence.

In opening the case, Mr. Lawrence said that the house was fully licensed, and he thought the main fact to be borne in mind in coming to a decision was the situation of the adjoining licensed houses. There was one – the QUEENS HEAD (a beerhouse) – actually next door. There was another full licence – the BRITISH OAK – only 51 yards away, and there were others within a short distance. He therefore contended that there was a strong case of redundancy, and said that it appeared to him that the question was which of the three houses – the FOX HUNT, the QUEENS HEAD, or the DUKE WILLIAM (another fully-licensed house only 206 yards away) – should go.

Police Inspector John R. Needham, who is stationed in the district, was called, and gave evidence as to accommodation provided at the FOX HUNT as compared with the other two houses that had been mentioned. He said there was no accommodation for the landlord of the FOX HUNT and his family except a kitchen and three bedrooms. In cross-examination by Mr. Milward, witness admitted that there was another beerhouse, called the VINE, only 250 yards away from the FOX HUNT, which was also a butcher’s shop. The beerpulls were all among the meat. (Laughter.)

Mr. Milward: Then it is a question of whether you have a mutton-chop or a glass of beer? – Witness: Yes.

Witness also admitted that the FOX HUNT did a good trade. Mr. Waldron made a formal application for the renewal of the licence, and Mr. Milward called Mr. A. W. Dando, auctioneer and valuer, who said that there were other beerhouses – the VINE and the BEEHIVE – in the locality, which were much inferior to the FOX HUNT. He had inspected the books, and he found that the turnover at the FOX HUNT was 287 barrels of beer a year. In 1906 it was 215 barrels, in 1907 324½ barrels, and in 1908 322 barrels. The sales of spirits were 157¾ gallons in 1906, 153½ gallons in 1907, and 113¾ gallons in 1908. In bottled goods – ale and stout – the turnover was 351, 349 and 423 dozens respectively in the last three years. On this turnover, he said the compensation to be paid would reach a large amount. Mr. Milward was about to call other witnesses, when the Bench stopped the case and intimated that they had decided to renew the licence.”

1911 Census

77, High Street – FOX HUNT INN

[1] Arthur Ernest Jew (34), publican, born Old Hill;

[2] Mary Ann Jew (32), wife, married 9 years, born Brierley Hill;

[3] Arthur John Benton Jew (8), son, born Old Hill:

Tommy Williams played football for Leicester City.

1939 Register

77, High Street

[1] A. Earnest Jew, date of birth 17/1/1877, licensee, widowed;

[2] A. J. (Arthur Jack Benton) Jew, dob 20/12/1902, brewer and manager, married;

[3] R. (Rose) Elizabeth Jew, dob 23/12/1901, unpaid domestic duties, married;

Arthur Ernest Jew was also a brewer.

He died in 1947.

Sandwell Evening Mail 6/7/1992

“They’re the pubs that YOU think are the best in the Midlands – and now they’re all in the running for our prestigious Midland

Town and Country Pub of the Year.....

The Evening Mail has teamed up for the contest with the Midland Counties Brewers' and Licensed Retailers' Association, to raise a toast to the very best of our region's pubs. Now it is up to the judges, who face a huge task choosing the two winners from the enormous entry. They'll be looking for service and standards of comfort demanded by today's discerning pub-goer. And they will be awarding marks for another important ingredient of a successful pub – the part it plays as a hub of social life in the community.....

FOXHUNT, Cradley Heath, Warley.”

Simon Charman's partner was Lynne Whitehouse.
He was originally a chef.

It was refurbished in 1999.

Halesowen News 12/8/1999

“The FOXHUNT officially opens with a real Tally Ho on Saturday, August 14.

This popular family pub in Highgate Street, Old Hill has had a complete facelift and a splendid refurbishment.

Live Saturday entertainment is now a firm favourite.

Simon and Lynne took over The FOXHUNT almost a year ago, after it had been closed for some time, and are quietly delighted with the transformation that had taken place.....”

Old Hill and District Homing Society, founded in 1894, was based here from 2006.

[2008]

Closed [2009]

It was converted into housing. [2010]

GATE HANGS WELL

222, (191), (128), Halesowen Road, OLD HILL

OWNERS

Ambrose James [1884]

Alfred Cockin, Old Hill

Arthur Handel Cockin, Woodlands, Hayley Green, Halesowen (acquired on 19th April 1939)

Darby's Brewery Ltd. (acquired on 20th February 1941)

Mitchells and Butlers Ltd.

LICENSEES

Horatio James [1829] – [1838]

Ambrose James [1850] – [1851]

Horace James [1855]

Ann James [] – 1855;

Thomas Billingham (1855 – [])

Samuel White [1857] – [1865]

Samuel Wyld [] – 1866;

John Woodhouse (1866 – [])

Ambrose Hunt* [1868] – [1870]

Ambrose James* [1871] – [1872]

James Ambrose Hunt* [1873]

James Batty [1881] – [1885]

Thomas James [1890] – [1916]

Blanche Mary Cockin [] – 1919;

Arthur Handel Cockin (1919 – 1927);

Edward Biddle (1927 – 1928);

Florence Biddle (1928 – 1929);

Edward Willetts (1929 – 1931);

Jesse Oldacre (1931 – 1932);

Frank Crampton (1932 – 1933);
Harold Harbach (1933 – 1939);
Cecil John Sweetman (1939 – 1948);
Harold Hickson (1948 – 1956);
George William Cresswell (1956 – 1962);
Joseph William Daniel Cook (1962);
Trevor Bryn Totney (1962 – [1965]
Ken Banks [] – 1983)
Philip Christopher Walters [1986]

NOTES

128, Halesowen Road [1881], [1891]
191, Halesowen Road [1896], [1900], [1901], [1908]
222, Halesowen Road [1911], [1912], [1924], [1932], [1939], [1940]

GATE [1834], [1851], [1864], [1865], [1868], [1870], [1872], [1873]
FOX AND GATE [1862]

Horatio James was born on 27th February 1778.
He was married to Ann.

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

24th September 1824 - Ambrose, son of Horatio and Ann James, victualler, Wilkes Fold.
24th December 1826 - Eneas, son of Horatio and Ann James, victualler, near Old Hill.
19th February 1829 - Thomas, son of Horatio and Ann James, victualler, GATE public house.
18th March 1832 - William, son of Horatio and Ann James, victualler, near Old Hill.
27th July 1838 - Joseph, son of Horatio and Ann James, near Old Hill.

[It is likely that the parents, above, were the same people, especially with Ambrose being christened in 1824. I have not included the first two as being licensees of this pub, because the locations in the register are vague.]

Horatio James, retailer of beer, Old Hill. [1835]

1851 Census

Old Hill

[1] Ambrose James (26), gun filer, born Dudley;
[2] Hannah James (24), wife, household work, born Rowley Regis;
[3] Thomas James (1), son, born Rowley Regis:

Black Country Bugle - Pub of the Month

“One of Old Hill’s most venerable taverns, the GATE HANGS WELL, was mentioned in a directory, printed in 1851, as being an ale-house much frequented by brickmakers and colliers In 1851 it was kept by Ambrose James, a collier from South Wales who preferred to brew beer than toil at the coal face A few days later [in 1855] similar devil marks were discovered at the GATE HANGS WELL.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 1/8/1855

“Thomas Billingham, of the GATE INN, Rowley Regis, was fined 20s and costs, for allowing card playing in his house on July 24th.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 12/9/1855

“The adjourned licensing meeting was held at the Public-office, Wordsley, on Monday last. Four publicans, whose licenses had been suspended at the annual meeting at Stewponey on account of complaints made against them, again appeared. They were Thomas Billingham, the GATE, Rowley After a strong caution from the bench, their licenses were renewed.”

County Advertiser 19/12/1857

“On Friday last, an inquest was held before G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, at Mr. S. White’s, the GATE INN, on the body of a fine youth, named Richard Taylor. It was shown from the evidence, that on the preceding Wednesday, deceased, who was a rail cleaner, was at work in one of the pits belonging to the British Iron Company. He was in the gate road, which is six feet wide, when suddenly a very large quantity of coals detached fell upon him, crushed his head, broke his arm and thigh, and thus when taken out, he was quite dead. It was proved to the satisfaction of the coroner and jury that the place where the fall occurred had been duly examined that morning, and the witnesses said that it had been caused by a ‘bump’ or giving way of the earth. The coals had also the usual tree prop. After hearing the diction of the coroner, the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

1861 Census

Halesowen Road – GATE INN

- [1] Samuel White (51), victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Elizabeth White (52), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Samuel White (16), son, coal miner, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Eliza White (14), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mary White (3), granddaughter, born Rowley Regis:

Stourbridge Observer 2/9/1865

“On Saturday morning last an inquest was held at the GATE HANGS WELL, Rowley Regis, before Mr. Edwin Hooper, on the body of Ira Dingle, aged 18, who met with his death on the previous Wednesday morning, in a pit of Messrs. Dawes, at the Withymoor Colliery. The accident was of an ordinary nature, but some excitement was caused from rumours having been circulated to the effect that the death of the deceased resulted from the pit not being properly timbered.

Henry Landers, a miner, deposed to being a workman at Messrs. Dawes and Sons, Withymoor Colliery. He knew the deceased (Ira Dingle), who worked in the same pit as himself. On the previous Wednesday, at about half past eight o'clock, the deceased and himself were both at work loading in a gateway. It was a six foot road, and nine feet high. There were some trees there, but they were wide apart. A piece of coal came from the roof and the side and caught deceased on the back and threw him with his chest on the skip. The fall weighed about 2cwt to 3cwt. The workmen present at once began to take the coal from off the deceased, who only lived about three or four minutes after the fall. He was dead before they had time to dress him and bring him to bank. The butty and William Gill both examined the pit in the morning before the men began to work. This was about six o'clock in the morning. The mass of coal which fell was about two yards from the nearest tree. Deceased did not speak at all after the fall of coal. He considered the place safe when he commenced work. He had been at work at the pit nine months, and in that time one man had been killed, as well as the deceased. The ground bailiff usually visited the pit about once a fortnight.

William Gill, miner, working at the colliery, said at the time of the accident a mass of coal fell from the roof and side, and struck deceased upon the neck, causing him to fall upon a skip ring. He died a few minutes after the accident. In answer to the Coroner, the witness said that there was not room for placing more timber, and he believed that had the working been raised the result would have been the same.

Benjamin Callear, ground bailiff, gave evidence to the same effect, and stated that the pit as it was at present was quite safe without further timber. Every precaution was taken in the colliery to render the workings safe.

This was the whole of the evidence.

The Coroner in summing up said that if the Government Inspector, upon examining the workings, found any alteration necessary, the proprietors of the colliery would at once see that the necessary precautions were taken forthwith.

The Foreman, after consulting with the rest of the jury, said that they were of opinion that death resulted from accident.

The proceedings then terminated.”

County Advertiser 22/9/1866 - Advert

“The GATE HANGS WELL INN, Old Hill, Rowley Regis.

To Parties Furnishing, Butty Colliers, and Others.

Mr. Chandler will Sell by Auction, on Monday, October 1st, 1866, at Eleven o'clock, a portion of neat Household Furniture, Eight-day and Thirty-hour Clocks, capital Malt Crusher, quantity of Pit Skips and Rings, and other Effects, being surplus Stock not required by incoming Tenant.”

* possibly the same person

1871 Census

Halesowen Road

- [1] Ambrose James (45), gun barrel filer, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Hannah James (44), wife, formerly nail maker, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Thomas James (21), son, gun barrel filer, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Emeline James (17), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Anne James (13), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Sophia James (11), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Hannah James (5), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] Alice James (3), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Arthur H. James (1), son, born Rowley Regis:

Ambrose James was born in 1824.

He died in 1886.

West Bromwich Weekly News 22/1/1881

“An inquest was held at the GATE HANGS WELL INN, Old Hill, on Wednesday, before E. Hooper, Esq, district coroner, on the body of John Tearney, aged 35, engine tender, of Halesowen Road, Old Hill. Evidence was brought forward which showed that the deceased was at work on Sunday afternoon at the Rowley Hall Colliery, and about half past three o'clock he went to the mouth of the pit and when the cage was about one foot below the surface he attempted to get in, and the middle ring of the cage caught his head and killed him instantaneously. The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

1881 Census

128, Halesowen Road

- [1] James Batty (48), coal miner, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Hannah Batty (52), wife, born Wednesbury;
- [3] Mary Ann Batty (21), daughter, general servant, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Thomas Batty (18), son, gas pipe screwer, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Samuel Batty (16), son, striker for blacksmith, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] James Batty (14), son, warehouse boy, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] George H. Batty (10), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

West Bromwich Weekly News 24/9/1881

“James Batty, landlord of the GATE HANGS WELL, Old Hill, was charged with permitting drunkenness.

Mr. Thomas Homer, of Brierley Hill, defended.

PC Rowlands said at 10.15pm on the 3rd inst he visited defendant’s house, and found two men in the tap room. Both were drunk. One was lying down on the screen; the other was drinking from a cup. He then called the attention of the landlord to it, when he at once ordered them out.

(Cross examined): Did not see the men go in. The landlord said he did not know that they were drunk.

PC Rowe corroborated.

For the defence, Hannah Batty said one of the men called for a pint of beer, and she supplied him. While she was attending to him, a man who was drunk entered the room, and asked for refreshments, but she, seeing his condition, refused to supply him. The officers then came upon the scene, and called the landlord’s attention to it, who immediately ordered them to quit.

Mr. Homer pleaded ignorance on the part of the defendant.

Mr. Bassano said they did not consider the defendant in that case could be held free from blame. It was undoubtedly the duty of every publican to ascertain for himself whether a person is drunk or not.

They thought that defendant had not taken that due precaution which was necessary.

Fined 10s and costs, or 14 days.”

Dudley and District News 1/10/1881

“Henry Freeman was charged with being drunk on the licensed premises of Wm. [sic] Batty, GATE HANGS WELL, Old Hill, on the 3rd inst.

Prisoner: I don’t know the place.

PC Rowlands saw him there with another man, both being more or less intoxicated.

Fined 1s and costs, or 7 days.”

County Express 31/12/1881

“Reuben Charles, miner, Old Hill, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the GATE HANGS WELL INN, Halesowen Road, on the 25th inst. He was fined 1s and costs.”

Dudley and District News 2/9/1882

“Old Hill annual Brewster Sessions were held at the Police Court on Wednesday.....

The following is the black list, and in each of the cases the licenses were suspended till the adjourned licensing meeting.....

James Batty, GATE HANGS WELL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, permitting drunkenness, fined 10s and costs.”

Dudley and District News 30/9/1882

“This being the Old Hill adjourned licensing sessions the Bench granted a renewal of the licenses which were suspended at the last annual general sessions. The Chairman stated that the magistrates had very carefully considered each case, and they had decided to renew the licenses on the understanding that some assurance was given on the part of each defaulter, that their respective houses should be better conducted in the future. The Bench were determined that the law should be enforced, and if the defendants were guilty of any further offence against the Licensing Laws they would be severely punished and their licenses forfeited. The Chairman added that Henry Heath, who was convicted for selling ale during prohibited hours on Sunday, was now taking out a six days’ license instead of a seven days’, and his license was renewed on that condition; and if any of the others wished to have six days’ licenses the Bench would be pleased to grant them.”

Dudley and District News 27/9/1884

“James Batty, landlord of the GATE HANGS WELL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was charged with selling ale without a license.

Mr. Waldron prosecuted, and pointed out that if a publican sold drink on premises other than those licensed in his name he was liable to a heavy penalty. Mr. Shakespeare defended.

At the back of the defendant’s premises is a marble alley, the property of a separate landlord. The police authorities being suspicious of the defendant using this alley for gambling purposes, set a watch on the 15th inst, being Rowley wake. At four o’clock on the morning of that date, PCs Wickstead and Rowlands secreted themselves in the alley and watched till three in the afternoon. At a quarter past twelve o’clock several men came in and began playing marbles. Betting followed, and beer was called for.

The defendant fetched a jug full, and a man named Willetts put some coppers in his hand. A second quart was brought in by the defendant's son. The defendant himself was playing. The officers heard that it was for £2 a side. Inspector Walters was informed of what had taken place. That functionary repaired to the house, and told defendant that he would be prosecuted for allowing gambling to take place on his licensed premises. The defendant instantly replied that the premises were not his, but belonged to another man. The inspector then told him that he would be summoned for selling beer off his licensed premises. Evidence was given by Ambrose James, the owner of the GATE HANGS WELL, to the effect that the marble alley was not his property.

Mr. Shakespeare, for the defence, cited authorities to show that as long as the original identity was not destroyed the addition of other premises to the licensed house was not an offence.

The Bench considered the case proved, and fined the defendant £5 and costs. The solicitor's fee was also allowed."

County Advertiser 29/8/1885

"Charles Shepherd, Tery Street, Blackheath, was charged with being quarrelsome in the house of James Batty, GATE HANGS WELL, Halesowen Road, and refusing to quit when requested. Prosecutor said the defendant came to his house on the 2nd inst, and after having some beer caused a disturbance. When asked to leave he refused.

Defendant was fined 1s and costs, or seven days."

County Advertiser 29/8/1885

"On Wednesday the annual brewster sessions for the Petty Sessional Division of Rowley Regis, were held at the Court House, Old Hill.....

The following was the black list Licensed victuallers.....

James Batty, GATE HANGS WELL, Old Hill, permitting drunkenness, 21st September, 1881, fined 10s and costs; also selling ale without a license, 24th September, 1884, fined £5 and costs.....

The Bench said they would not now renew the licenses of those who had been convicted, but would reserve them for consideration till the adjourned licensing day."

County Advertiser 19/9/1885

"James Batty, GATE HANGS WELL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was charged with permitting drunkenness on the 22nd ult. Police-constable Rowlands said that at twenty minutes to eleven on the evening in question he received a complaint of a man having been assaulted at defendant's house. He went there and heard cries of 'Murder' and in the kitchen found half-a-dozen men fighting together on the floor. One of the men, named Charles Shepherd, of Waterfall Lane, was very drunk and used bad language. When the disturbance was put down witness asked what the row was about, to which defendant said the men had not been there long. Witness pointed out two men named Lewis and Priest, who had a cup of beer on the table before them. The defendant took up the cup and drank and then handed it to Priest and Lewis, who also drank. The two men followed him out and staggered down the road, arm in arm.

Inspector Walters and Police-constable Bradbury said they saw the men Priest and Lewis when they left the defendant's house, and they were then drunk.

For the defence, it was stated the man Shepherd came to the defendant's house on the night in question, and after being there some time began quarrelling, and a row ensued. At that time the officer came in, and Shepherd was put out. He was not drunk, but quarrelsome. Lewis and Priest were not drunk.

The defendant and seven other witnesses said the men were not drunk.

The Bench said there was some doubt in the matter, and dismissed the case."

County Advertiser 3/10/1885

"James Batty, GATE HANGS WELL, Old Hill whose names appeared on the black list, had their licenses renewed."

Thomas James was born in 1850.

He was also a brewer.

County Express 16/8/1890

"Thomas James, landlord of the GATE HANGS WELL INN, Halesowen Road was summoned for permitting drunkenness in his house. Mr. Waldron prosecuted, and Mr. Benbow Hebbert defended.

Inspector Bishop and Police-constable Wickstead stated that they found, on the night of Bank Holiday, a man named Lowe drunk in the defendant's tap room. There was a jug containing ale before him on a table. The defence was that Lowe was not supplied with ale in the house, neither was he drunk. The magistrates said there was some doubt in the case, and they would give the defendant the benefit of it. The case was dismissed."

1891 Census

128, Halesowen Road

[1] Thomas James (41), publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth James (34), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Fanny James (18), daughter, domestic, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Poll James (16), daughter, domestic, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Ambrose James (14), son, errand boy at tube works, born Rowley Regis;

- [6] Joseph James (12), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
[7] Edith James (9), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
[8] Emily James (6), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

County Advertiser 29/9/1894

“Warwick Plant, fishmonger, Cradley, was charged with unlawfully failing to produce certain weights to Mr. Harold Van Tromp, inspector of weights and measures, and obstructing him in the performance of his duty, on the 19th inst.

Mr. Van Tromp said he saw defendant’s dray, containing a quantity of fish, outside the GATE HANGS WELL public house, and there were also some weights on the dray. Some of the lead was out of two of them, and one of them had been condemned. He went into the public house and asked those present to whom the dray belonged. Defendant stepped forward and said they were his. Witness then said the weights were not correct, and told defendant he should have to take them with him. Defendant said he would not, and snatched them away from witness. He thrice refused to give them up.

Harry Toy, assistant to Mr. Van Tromp, corroborated the latter’s evidence.

Defendant said the reason he refused to give up the weights was because he had perishable goods in his possession, which he was bound to sell.

The Magistrates’ Clerk (Mr. Goodman) handed up to the Bench a record of previous convictions, and while doing so was interrupted by defendant who said, ‘They know all about that gov’nor.’

Defendant was fined 50s and costs, or one month.”

1901 Census

191, Halesowen Road – GATE HANGS WELL

- [1] Thomas James (51), publican, born Old Hill;
[2] Annie James (46), wife, born Old Hill;
[3] Joseph James (22), son, brewer, born Old Hill;
[4] Thomas Tromans (18), step-son, bricklayer, born Old Hill;
[5] Emily James (16), daughter, born Birmingham;
[6] Hannah James (75), mother, widow, born Old Hill:

Tipton Herald 26/9/1903

“Thomas James, landlord of the GATE HANGS WELL INN, Old Hill, was charged with selling whiskey prejudicial to the purchaser.

Mr. Van Tromp prosecuted, and Mr. Collis (Stourbridge) defended, and pleaded guilty.

Leonard Parkes (assistant inspector under the Food and Drugs Act) stated that on the day in question he went into the defendant’s premises and called for two pennyworth of whiskey, which was served him by Mrs. James, the defendant’s wife. He was followed into the place by Samuel Edwin Toy, the inspector.

The latter stated that he went into the shop, and asked Parkes where he had been served from. He pointed to a small barrel, which Mrs. James admitted was the one. Witness bought three quarterns from the same barrel, and divided it into three parts, leaving one with the defendant, and delivered the other two to Mr. Van Tromp.

Mr. Van Tromp stated that he received the two samples from the last witness, marked ‘134 CL’, and sent one to the analyst, whose certificate stated that the sample was 7 per cent below the statute limit of 25 per cent.

Mr. Collis, for the defence, said it was merely by an error on the part of the defendant, but not to his knowledge. The purchaser had the right to reduce the strength of the whiskey by 25 per cent. When reducing the strength the defendant ought to have used a thermometer in conjunction with the instrument he did use. The defendant was in the habit of using an instrument which told him how much he was reducing it. The instrument worked, however, according to the temperature of the whiskey, with the result that it sometimes gave a wrong decision. He hoped the Bench would not inflict a fine as the defendant had kept the house for 16 years without a complaint being made, and further, that the law was very strict upon the publican. He hoped that by paying the costs the Bench would dismiss the case.

The Bench inflicted a fine of £1 and costs.”

County Advertiser 18/2/1905

“James Morgan, coal dealer, of Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was charged with cruelty to a horse by working it whilst in an unfit state on the 9th inst.

Inspector Gibbs stated that he saw defendant’s horse at the GATE HANGS WELL INN, where the cart had been damaged. The horse was very lame and simply skin and bone. It was totally unfit for work.

A fine of 15s, including costs, was imposed.”

County Advertiser 9/6/1906

“Thomas James, licensee of the GATE HANGS WELL INN, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, was charged with keeping a dog without a license on the 29th ult.

Police-constable Horne stated that on the date in question he visited defendant’s house and found two dogs for which he had only one license.

Defendant was fined £1, including costs.”

1911 Census

222, Halesowen Road

- [1] Thomas James (61), widower, licensed victualler, born Old Hill;
- [2] Ambrose James (34), son, assistant in bar and brewery, born Old Hill;
- [3] Joseph James (32), son, brewer of beer, born Old Hill:

County Express 6/1/1912

“Dividend Clubs..... GATE HANGS WELL, Old Hill.
At the recent assembly a dividend of 11s 2d per member was disbursed.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 30/11/1915

“The death is announced at Old Hill of Mr. Thomas James, licensee of the GATE HANGS WELL, at the age of 65. The license had been in the family for over 100 years.”

County Express 12/2/1916 - Advert

“Re Thomas James (Deceased). Preliminary. Old Hill, Staffs.
To Brewers, Maltsters, Wine and Spirit Merchants, The Trade, and Others.
Alfred Hill has been instructed to Sell by Public Auction at an early date.
All that Well-known, Free, Home-Brewing Fully-Licensed House and Premises, situate and known as the GATE HANGS WELL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill.
Full particulars in due course.
Vendor’s Solicitors, Messrs. Thomas Cooksey and Co., Old Hill, Staffs.”

Arthur Handel Cockin was also a brewer.

Dudley Chronicle 26/2/1928

“The following licenses were transferred.....
GATE HANGS WELL, from Ed. Biddle (deceased) to Florence Biddle.”

Harold Harbach – see also OLD ENGINE.

1939 Register

- 222, Halesowen Road
- [1] Cecil J. Sweetman, date of birth 14/9/1900, licensed victualler, married;
 - [2] Maud Sweetman, dob 7/3/1895, unpaid domestic duties, married:

George William Cresswell – see also BLUE BALL.

Sandwell Evening Mail 4/3/1988

“A former pub was severely damaged in a blaze believed to have been started deliberately. Cradley Heath and Dudley firemen were called to the old GATE HANGS WELL pub in Halesowen Road, Old Hill, yesterday afternoon. Cradley Heath fire station officer Steve Wainwright said the pub had closed at the end of January and had been boarded up.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 10/3/1988

“Firemen searched a bricked-up Cradley Heath pub for a lost cat after the owner heard her missing moggy had been sighted there. But fireman Graham Hickman said his officers found no trace of the chocolate coloured Burmese cat called Pickles, despite a thorough search of the GATE pub in Halesowen Road. ‘The building has been bricked up after a recent fire but we managed to get through an upstairs window using ladders,’ he said.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 28/3/1988

“A £1 million pub which will create 19 jobs had been planned for the Old Hill area.
Bass, Mitchells & Butlers plan to demolish the closed GATE HANGS WELL pub in Halesowen Road and build nearby.
A letter from the brewery to Sandwell Council said that the pub would be built on traditional lines aimed at customers in the 25 and over age group, provide 18 part-time jobs and one full-time, include full catering provision and provide parking space for 117 vehicles.
Council officials said in their report that the ‘ambitious project’ would cost about £1 million and provide a focal point at a key site at the ‘entrance’ to Old Hill.”

[1990]

Sandwell Evening Mail 18/12/1991

“The GATE HANGS WELL pub in Halesowen Road, Cradley Heath, has applied to Sandwell Council for permission to extend the premises and car park.”

Closed

Demolished

GEORGE HOTEL

249, (256), (226), (166), Halesowen Road / Priest Street, OLD HILL

OWNERS

E. Gould, Draper, Cradley Heath [1882]
Mrs. Gould [1890]
North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1896)
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. [1919]
Sue Whittall and Mark Franks

LICENSEES

Thomas Burgess [1879] – [1882]
John Hickton [1883] – [1890]
Herbert Jones Chatham [1890] – [1895]
Laban Hall Fleming [1896]
Stephen Deeley []
Edwin Johnson (1897 – 1901)
Mrs. Alice Johnson [1901]
Mrs. Emma Jane Boddis [1904] – 1907);
William John Thomas Priest (1907 – []
William Adams [1912] – [1916]
David Pearson [1916]
Adam Hannah [] – 1919);
Frank Murdoch Tibbetts (1919 – 1922);
David Pearson (1922 – 1924);
William Bernard Keeling (1924 – 1926);
Thomas Henry Maybury (1926 – 1932);
Alfred Nock (1932 – 1936);
George William Groves (1936 – 1938);
Thomas Preece (1938 – 1939);
John Edward Walker (1939 – 1949);
Charles Beard (1949 – 1956);
John Edward Cutler (1956 – [1965]
Carmel Davies (1998 – []

NOTES

166, Halesowen Road [1881], [1891]
226, Halesowen Road [1896], [1900], [1901], [1904]
256, Halesowen Road [1912], [1916], [1924], [1932], [1939], [1940]
249, Halesowen Road [1990], [1996], [1997], [1998], [2003]

County Advertiser 21/6/1879 - Advert

“Sale of Valuable Freehold and Leasehold Old-Licensed Public House, Dwelling House, and Premises, Reddal Hill, Old Hill.
Notice Is Hereby Given that the Sale by Auction of the above (advertised to take place on Monday, the 7th day of July next, at the house of Mr. Burgess, GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, by Messrs. Rollinson and Beckley, Auctioneers, Brierley Hill, Will Not Now Take Place.

Dated this 20th day of June, 1879.

Gould and Elcock, Solicitors, Stourbridge.”

County Advertiser 16/9/1879 - Advert

“She Donkey Found, August 24th, if not owned in three days will be sold to defray expenses.
Apply, GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, or Police Station.”

County Advertiser 27/12/1879 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, not under 20. Good references.
Apply at once, GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill.”

Dudley Herald 5/6/1880 - Advert

“Old Hill, Rowley Regis, Staffordshire.

Valuable Freehold Building Sites, near to Old Hill Railway Station on the Great Western Railway.

Mr. H. King has received instructions of offer for Sale by Auction, on Monday, the 14th day of June, 1880, at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, aforesaid, at Five o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions of Sale then to be read. Thirty-Nine Valuable Freehold Building Sites.....”

1881 Census

166, Halesowen Road

[1] Thomas Burgess (45), licensed victualler, born Dudley;

[2] Selina Burgess (42), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Ann Shaw (42), general servant, born West Bromwich;

[4] John Mills (17), boarder, brewer, born Dudley:

Dudley and District News 5/11/1881

“Thomas Burgess, landlord of the GEORGE HOTEL, Halesowen Road, was charged with being drunk on his licensed premises, on the 26th ult.

Attracted thither by hearing a disturbance, PC Rowlands found defendant drunk and wrestling with two men. His wife interfered, and he struck her on the mouth to the effusion of blood.

The Magistrates remarked that it was a very serious thing when a man entrusted with a license was found behaving in such a lawless manner.

He would be fined 10s and costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 18/11/1881 - Advert

“Found, near Hales Owen, black Retriever Dog. If not owned in three days will be sold.

Apply, GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill.”

County Express 22/4/1882

“Isaac Palmer (17), who resided at New Street, Old Hill, was on Tuesday following his employment as a horse driver at the Old Homer Hill Colliery, belonging to Mr. James Broughall, when he was crushed between a tub and a tree, and so severely injured that he died the same night.

Mr. Edwin Hooper (District Coroner) held an inquest yesterday afternoon, at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill.

The evidence showed that when the deceased was driving a horse in a gate-road the animal suddenly stopped, which caused the deceased to be crushed between a tub and a tree, from the effects of which he died. No blame was attached to any person, and the jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Express 3/6/1882 - Advert

“GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill. To Publicans, Brewers, and Others.

Mr. T. Pateshall is instructed to Sell by Auction, as above, on Monday, June 12th, 1882, the whole of the Public House Fittings, Household Furniture, &c, comprising Fixtures in Liquor Vaults and Smoke Room, contents of Sitting Room, Kitchen and Club Room, the Appointments of Five Bed Rooms, the whole of the Stock-In-Trade, Excellent Brewing Plant, and other Effects.

Sale at Eleven o'clock in the Morning.”

County Express 10/6/1882 - Advert

“Public Announcement.

The Sale by Auction of Household Furniture, Brewing Plant, &c, at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, advertised for Monday next, will not take place.

T. Pateshall, Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

Birmingham Daily Post 22/7/1882 - Advert

“GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill. To Let, at once, that excellent full-licensed free Hotel; leading thoroughfare, close to station and police courts; surrounded by works. Certain fortune to steady, persevering couple. In-coming very low.

E. Gould, Draper, Cradley Heath, near Brierley Hill.”

County Advertiser 29/7/1882

“Thomas Burgess, landlord of the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, was charged with being drunk and disorderly on his own licensed premises on the 19th inst.

When the case was called on defendant addressed the Bench as follows: Gentlemen, allow me to tell you, I shall not speak another word if I stand here for ten hours. You can do what you like with me; I shall not speak another word for anybody.

The evidence of Police-constable Rowlands was that he visited defendant's house on the evening named in the charge, and found defendant upstairs cursing and swearing and throwing his wife's clothes through a window into the yard. Defendant also threw two pictures and witness noticed that two broken chairs lay in the passage. Some time afterwards the defendant came into the smoke room, and high words taking place between him and his son, they pushed against each other. Defendant used bad language towards his wife and son, pushed the piano out of the room into the passage, and 'carried on' for a long time. Eventually witness fetched Inspector Walters to see the defendant, who was drunk and like one mad.

The magistrates' clerk asked defendant if he wished to ask the officer any questions, but he maintained a dogged silence, and it was not till the Bench had fined him 20s and costs, with the alternative of 14 days, that he found his tongue. He then said, 'I'll do the days.'"

Dudley and District News 2/9/1882

"Old Hill annual Brewster Sessions were held at the Police Court on Wednesday.....

The following is the black list, and in each of the cases the licenses were suspended till the adjourned licensing meeting.....

Thomas Burgess, GEORGE HOTEL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, drunk on licensed premises, fined 10s and costs; drunk and disorderly, fined 20s and costs."

Dudley and District News 30/9/1882

"This being the Old Hill adjourned licensing sessions the Bench granted a renewal of the licenses which were suspended at the last annual general sessions. The Chairman stated that the magistrates had very carefully considered each case, and they had decided to renew the licenses on the understanding that some assurance was given on the part of each defaulter, that their respective houses should be better conducted in the future. The Bench were determined that the law should be enforced, and if the defendants were guilty of any further offence against the Licensing Laws they would be severely punished and their licenses forfeited. The Chairman added that Henry Heath, who was convicted for selling ale during prohibited hours on Sunday, was now taking out a six days' license instead of a seven days', and his license was renewed on that condition; and if any of the others wished to have six days' licenses the Bench would be pleased to grant them."

Thomas Burgess – see also BULLS HEAD, Cradley Heath.

County Express 4/11/1882 - Advert

"A £100 Money Society will commence at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, on Tuesday, November 14th."

County Advertiser 11/11/1882 - Advert

"GEORGE HOTEL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill. To Parties Furnishing, Brokers, and Others.

Mr. Thos. Homer will Sell by Auction, on Tuesday, November 14th, 1882, a quantity of neat and clean Household Furniture, belonging to Mrs. Lovesey, who is leaving the neighbourhood (which will be removed for convenience of sale to the above hotel)....."

County Advertiser 23/12/1882

"Mr. E. Hooper, coroner, held an inquest at the GEORGE HOTEL, on Monday last, touching the death of William Nock (23), miner, of Pear Tree Lane. Deceased was employed at the Butterfly Colliery, worked by Messrs. Gill Bros, on the previous Thursday morning, clearing some stuff away, when a quantity of stuff came from the roof, and falling upon him completely buried him. When his body was recovered twenty minutes later, he was quite dead. Mr. Scott, Assistant Government Inspector of Mines, was present, and recommended that timber should be secured laterally. Had that been done before, the accident, perhaps, might not have happened. The law did not describe how timber should be set – that was left to the judgement of officials. In this case the timber was set by one of the proprietors and appeared safe. The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.

The Coroner advised that the suggestion of the inspector be carried out. He further impressed upon colliery proprietors and workmen the desirability of mutual insurance. By joining in mutual insurance both masters and the families of those unfortunate men who lost their lives were benefitted. It had recently come under his notice where men who had joined with the masters in a scheme of mutual insurance, had only paid a shilling or two, and the men meeting with a fatal accident, their families had received as much as 100%. He therefore impressed strongly upon masters and men the desirability of joining together in mutual insurance."

County Express 20/1/1883

"Worcester Diocesan and District Change Ringing Association.

On Saturday last a quarterly meeting of this Association took place when ringers from Worcester, Malvern, Bromsgrove, Halesowen, Dudley, Netherton, Stourbridge, Belbroughton, Old Hill, and Cradley attended. Ringing commenced at Cradley and Old Hill in the afternoon, when some touches of gransire trebles being rung at Cradley, and some gransire minor at Old Hill. The meeting, which was due to have taken place at Cradley, did not, owing to some reason or other on the part of the vicar of Cradley, the Rev. J. H. Thompson, who would not grant the use of his schoolroom for the occasion. We are pleased to say that the vicar of Old Hill, the Rev. A. K. Atkinson, almost at the last moment kindly offered the use of one of the rooms in the Trinity Hall, Old Hill, but owing to the meeting being announced to take place at Cradley, and not receiving an answer from the Rev. J. H. Thompson till after the announcement, some of the ringers went to Cradley and some to Old Hill. Consequently, at 7 o'clock in the evening, the meeting had to take place at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill. Mr. Perkes (Master, Malvern) occupied the chair....."

County Express 21/7/1883 - Advert

“Old Hill. Valuable Freehold Properties and Building Land.

Mr. T. Pateshall is instructed to Sell by Auction, at the house of Mr. John Hickton, the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, on Tuesday, the 7th day of August, 1883, at Six for Seven o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions.....”

County Advertiser 12/12/1885 - Advert

“Sale at the GEORGE HOTEL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill.

Mr. Detheridge will Sell by Auction, on Monday Next, December 14th, 1885, a quantity of Household Furniture, removed to the above Inn for convenience of Sale.

Sale punctually at Two o'clock in the Afternoon.”

Dudley Mercury 3/11/1888

“Haden Hill Victoria Cricket Club. The members of this club held their annual dinner at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, on Friday last. After the withdrawal of the cloth, Mr. Parsons was elected to the chair.

The Chairman proposed the ‘Queen and Royal Family,’ which was heartily drunk.

The Secretary (Mr. S. Mason) then read the annual report, which showed that the club had, considering the efficient teams it had met, achieved a good amount of success, having played 16 matches, the result being 6 won, 5 lost, 1 tie, and 4 drawn.

A vote of thanks to Mr. G. A. H. Haden Best, for the use of the field, was unanimously passed.

During the evening songs were rendered by the members and friends, and the singing of the National Anthem brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.”

Birmingham Daily Post 18/12/1888

“Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, yesterday, respecting the death of Joseph Pearson (40), a pikeman, who died on the 13th inst from the effects of injuries sustained whilst employed at the Lye Cross Pit, the property of the Earl of Dudley, on the 11th inst. Mr. W. B. Scott (Government inspector of mines) was present.

James Lock, a doggy employed at Lye Cross Pit, stated that on the 11th inst about ten o'clock, he was ten yards away from deceased. Witness examined the pit before he set deceased on, and found it all safe. Witness was a few yards away when he saw the deceased with a large piece of rock on his back. Deceased was said to have known his work better than any man in the pit.

Mr. Scott stated that he had examined the pit, and found that a large piece of rock had fallen upon the deceased.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 5/4/1890 - Advert

“Preliminary Announcement.

Mr. T. Pateshall is favoured with instruction to Arrange for Sale by Auction, early Next Month.

All that highly valuable and important Freehold Old-Licensed House, the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, now in the occupation of Mr. John Hickton; together with Eighteen Dwelling-Houses adjoining.

Full particulars will shortly appear, and in the meantime further information may be obtained from Mr. Enoch Gould or the Auctioneer, both of High Street, Cradley Heath.”

Birmingham Daily Post 28/4/1890 - Advert

“Old Hill, Hales Owen, and Hunnington.

Mr. Thomas Pateshall will Sell by Auction, at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, Tomorrow (Tuesday) April 29, at Six o'clock pm – all that very Superior and Important Freehold Old-Licensed Premises, the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, now in the occupation of Mr. John Hickton.

The Property has a bold and commanding appearance, and occupies a singularly advantageous corner position in an exceedingly busy and respectable neighbourhood, and is in close proximity to extensive Manufactories. The Premises are well arranged, and contain Bar, Sitting Room, Smoke Room, Club Room, six Bed Rooms, and extensive Cellaring, together with very convenient Out-buildings.

Eighteen Dwelling Houses adjoining, and let to weekly to tenants.

Two Houses, in Queen Street, Hales Owen, occupied by Jones and Farley.

Two Dwelling Houses at Hunnington, with about half an acre of Land, available for building purposes.

For further particulars, apply to Messrs. John Wright and Tanfield, Solicitors, or the Auctioneer, all of Cradley Heath.”

County Express 3/5/1890

“On Tuesday evening Mr. T. Pateshall offered for sale by auction the GEORGE HOTEL, Halesowen Road. There was a large attendance, but the bidding was not spirited. The highest bid was £1,000, and the vendors (the executors of the late Mrs. Gould) refused to allow the hotel to be sold at that sum.”

John Hickton issued tokens from here.

Herbert Jones Chatham = Herbert Jones Chattham

Herbert Jones Chatham married Charlotte Westwood in 1886.

County Express 25/10/1890

“James Homer, Roland Homer, Halesowen Road, and Edward Hawkins, Gorsty Hill, were charged with stealing a quart of whiskey, of the value of 5s 6d, the property of Herbert Jones Chatham, the GEORGE HOTEL, on the 7th inst.

Mrs. Chatham said on the date named the defendants came into the vaults of the GEORGE HOTEL and were supplied with some ale. She had occasion to leave for some period, and when she returned she saw Roland Homer and Hawkins were helplessly drunk. In one of the pint cups on the table she could distinctly smell whiskey, a quart of which she subsequently missed. Police-constable Wickstead said he arrested the prisoners, and they all admitted having put the pint cup under the tap three times. Roland Homer was fined £1 and the costs or twenty-eight days, and the other defendants were fined 10s and the costs or fourteen days.”

1891 Census

166, Halesowen Road – GEORGE INN

[1] Herbert Jones Chatham (23), publican, born Shropshire;

[2] Lottie Chatham (25), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Adelaide Lottie Chatham (3), daughter, born Dudley;

[4] George Chatham (1), son, born Dudley;

[5] Annie Pearson (15), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;

[6] Lily Greenfield (9), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Daily Post 10/10/1891

“Yesterday Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, respecting the death of John Hall, aged 4 years, whose parents reside in Spring Meadow, who died on the 6th inst, from the effects of burns received on the 4th inst.

The mother of the deceased stated that on the first-named date she left the deceased in the house in charge of a neighbour, whilst she went to fetch some iron, and when she returned home she found the child was badly burned. Deceased told his father that he was playing with a bit of burning rag, when his clothes became ignited.

Hannah Pulley stated that the deceased ran into her house in flames, and she extinguished them. The mother of the deceased did not ask her to mind the child.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

In June 1892 Herbert Jones Chatham, licensed victualler of the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, appeared as a witness at the inquest into the death of Mary Ann Gill, when the jury returned a verdict of Manslaughter against Henry Pugh. Harry Pugh appeared at the Summer Sessions on 15th June 1892; the charge was ‘feloniously did kill and murder Ann Maria Gill.’ He was found not guilty, and was dismissed.

County Advertiser 23/7/1892 - Advert

“Wanted, a good General Servant, not under 20.

Apply, Mrs. Chatham, GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill.”

Birmingham Daily Post 17/5/1893

“A meeting of rivetmakers was held last night at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill. Mr. T. Brookes presided, and explained that on Saturday last fourteen days’ notice was given to the employers to return to the 4s 6d list. It was impossible for a man to keep body and soul together on the wages they were getting at the present time. He complained that one employer was going round the district buying rivets off weak operatives at a reduction of 3d per cwt. The greatest evil in their trade was women’s labour. He mentioned one of the leading employers was endeavouring to arrange a conference between masters and men. Mr. T. Homer addressed the meeting, and a resolution was passed agreeing to turn out on strike on Saturday week next if the masters refused to concede the advance. It was also decided to form a union in the trade.”

County Advertiser 15/7/1893 - Advert

“The GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, Staffs.

To be Let, the above excellent Well-established Old-Licensed House. Early possession may be had.

Apply to T. Pateshall, Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

Worcestershire Chronicle 2/9/1893 - Advert

“Wanted, a respectable Housekeeper, used to public business and assist in booking; age about 40.

Apply, H. Jones Chatham, GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill.”

County Advertiser 3/2/1894

“James Tromans junr was charged with assaulting James Guest, and James Tromans senr and Joseph Tromans junr, all of Spring Meadow, Old Hill, were charged with using threatening language to Guest, on the 28th inst.

Complainant alleged that he was in the GEORGE HOTEL, during the Sunday dinner time, and saw defendants come in. They asked for a quart of ale, and directly they had been supplied, James Tromans junr came up to him and challenged him to fight.

Witness refused, and the other defendants threatened him. Mr. Chatham, the landlord, turned them out, and they waited for him. When he came out of the house at 2.30pm, James Tromans junr struck him three or four times in the face, while the other defendants threatened him.

James Tromans junr said complainant struck him on the Saturday night, and that he did not assault him on the day named. The other defendants denied using any threats.

James Tromans junr was fined 10s and costs, and the other defendants bound over to keep the peace for six months.”

County Advertiser 3/11/1894 - Advert

“GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill.

Mr. T. Pateshall is instructed to Sell by Auction, as above, on Monday, November 12th, 1894, a Portion of the Genteel Household Furniture, consisting of Windsor, Horsehair, Cane-seated, and Easy Chairs; capital Mahogany Sideboard, Full-compass Cottage Pianoforte, in Walnut Case; Dinner Service, China Tea Ware, Painted Desk, Carpets, Polished Toilet Tables, Toilet Services, Hand-some Toilet Glass, Brass-mounted, Half-tester, and French Bedsteads; Prime Feather Beds, Spring and Wool Mattresses, Mahogany Night Commode, excellent Mahogany Chest of Drawers, Child’s Cot, Antique Carved Oak Chest, Clocks, Fire-proof Safe, Kitchen Requisites, Cooking Utensils, Wringing Machine, and other Effects, belonging to Mr. Herbert J. Chatham, who is leaving the premises.

Sale at Eleven o’clock in the Morning.”

Herbert Jones Chatham was also a brewer. [1895]

Birmingham Daily Post 7/2/1895

“Yesterday, Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, touching the deaths of Samson Hill (32), Cherry Orchard, and James Smith (29), Spring Meadow, who were killed following their employment in Bourne Hill Colliery, on Saturday. Messrs. J. Williams (certified manager) and S. Smith represented the colliery company; Mr. W. H. Pickering (assistant Government inspector of mines) was also present.

Thomas Hill, brother of Samson Hill, said that the latter complained of his work being dangerous, and said the earth was liable to fall at any time.

Elizabeth Hill, the widow, however, said she had never heard her husband complain of his occupation.

Ann Maria Smith, widow of James Smith, said she had not heard her husband complain of his employment being dangerous.

Benjamin Palmer, underground manager at the colliery, deposed that about 1.15pm on Saturday, he, Smith, and Hill were at work close together. He gave instructions to Smith to take a tree out, as he considered it perfectly safe. Whilst Smith was knocking the tree out with a rail a large quantity of coal and slack fell and buried him and Hill. Witness was also knocked down by the fall, and he called for assistance. A man standing close by came and rescued him. Whilst he was trying to extricate Hill, another fall of coal took place, completely burying Hill. Witness obtained a pick and again reached Hill, but before he could get him out a third fall occurred, and he was buried again. Smith at that time lay a distance away, and it was impossible for witness or the others to assist him. It was about seven hours after the accident when the bodies of the men were recovered, and then life was extinct. In Reply to Mr. Pickering, witness stated that he did not examine the roof before Smith commenced to draw the tree, but had examined the place in the morning, and it was then perfectly safe. The fall of coals was so great that it broke nine or ten trees. He was protected from the fall by a tub.

In answer to the Coroner, witness said there was a plentiful supply of timber, and everything was done for the safety of the men.

Mr. Pickering observed that Smith in using a rail instead of the proper tools committed an act of indiscretion, but it did not amount to a breach of the law. It transpired that the relatives of the deceased men will receive £50 for each under the Employers’ Liability Act, and the colliery company will defray all costs connected with the funerals.

Mr. Smith, on behalf of the directors, expressed sympathy with the bereaved families, and promised to do everything possible to ameliorate their distress.

The jury found a verdict of Accidental Death in each case.”

County Advertiser 8/6/1895 - Advert

“Friendly Societies’ Acts. Advertisement of Dissolution by Instrument.

Notice Is Hereby Given, that the GEORGE HOTEL No.2 Mutual Loan and Investment Society, Register No.2301, held at the GEORGE HOTEL, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, Dudley, in the County of Stafford, is Dissolved by Instrument, registered at this Office, the 1st day of June, 1895, unless within three months from the date of the Gazette in which this advertisement appears, proceedings be commenced by a member or other person interested in or having any Claim on the Funds of the Society to set aside such Dissolution, and the same be set aside accordingly.

E. W. Brabrook, Chief Registrar. 28, Abingdon Street, Westminster. The 1st day of June, 1895.”

Laban Hall Flemings was also a printer and stationer of 82, Garratts Lane. [1896]

Birmingham Mail 29/6/1896

“At the Old Hill Police Court today, Arthur Tromans, James Totney, and Harry Clifton, chainmakers, all of Cradley Heath, were charged with assaulting Samuel Chetwin, also of Cradley Heath, on the 22nd inst.

Mr. Waldron explained that on Wednesday last the prosecutor appeared at the Court to give evidence against a chainmaker named David Bradley, who was fined £2 for an assault on him. It would be remembered that the assault in that instance arose out of the recent dispute in the block chain trade. After the case was finished on Wednesday last prosecutor visited the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, where in the bar he met a number of men who worked for Mr. Sykes, one of the employers, the defendants being among them. Without any provocation Tromans rushed at the prosecutor and dealt him a violent blow on the nose, and the other two defendants joining in the assault.

For the defence, Mr. Tinsley pleaded great provocation. He said the prosecutor was very excited and jubilant over the victory he had gained at the expense of the man Bradley.

Mr. Bassano said the Bench were determined to stop the tyranny which existed among the workmen in the chain trade, and Tro-mans and Totney would each be fined £2 and costs, in all £3 14, or in default one month's imprisonment.

The charge against Clifton was dismissed."

County Advertiser 18/7/1896

"On Monday afternoon, Mr. E. Hooper (coroner) held an inquest at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, concerning the death of Reuben Charles (50), formerly residing at 26, Peartree Street, who was killed whilst following his employment at the Hawes Hill Colliery, Old Hill, on Friday, the 10th inst. Mr. R. Norris represented the colliery company, and Mr. W. B. Scott, Government Inspector of Mines, was also present.

Jane Charles, wife, identified the body, and said deceased was a miner employed at the Hawes Hill Colliery. She last saw her husband alive about ten minutes past three on Friday afternoon, and he was then in good health. About half past five o'clock the same evening she heard deceased was injured, but she was afterwards informed that he was dead. Deceased was the night doggy at the pit. He always seemed satisfied with his work, and never complained of it. She believed the Employers' Liability Insurance was in operation at the colliery.

George Fellows, a pikeman at the Hawes Hill Colliery, said about 4.30 on the 10th inst deceased stood by witness with a shovel in his hand moving some dirt for the purpose of setting a tree, when suddenly a bump came and knocked witness away. As soon as witness recovered he shouted and ascertained that deceased was under a large quantity of coal dirt that had fallen with the bump. Witness with some other men quickly got to work, and after labouring for about an hour they succeeded in getting deceased out, but he was then quite dead. Witness had a very narrow escape of being killed. The place where the accident occurred was the safest in the pit, and it was only about six feet in height. The force of the bump knocked two trees out.

In reply to the Coroner, witness said he was digging a hole in which to put a tree, and deceased was removing the dirt as he threw it out.

In answer to Mr. Scott, witness stated that deceased examined the working on the afternoon of the accident.

George Jennings, loader at the colliery, said on Friday afternoon deceased was loading a tub on the main road when a bump came and knocked some settings out. A quantity of dirt fell upon witness and knocked him down, and it severely injured his hand. Witness felt quite safe in working at the place.

David Willetts, a pikeman, said he was working with deceased on Friday afternoon. Deceased sent witness to fetch a tree, which was a distance of about six yards, and before he could get back the bump had occurred. Whilst witness was fetching the tree deceased went on loading the tub, and he was doing that when he was killed. Deceased was always very careful.

Inspector Given said deceased's left foot was severed and his neck was broken, whilst in addition he sustained other terrible injuries. Witness believed the gate road where the accident happened was a new one.

Mr. Scott said he could not throw any more light upon the case, as the gate road where the accident occurred was one of the ordinary class. There had not been any breach of the Mines Regulation Act.

Mr. Norris said Mr. Scott had called the attention of the manager to some necessary improvements which would be carried out.

The Coroner said there was no breach of the Act in the case, and the colliery seemed to have been fairly well managed.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

County Advertiser 10/10/1896

"Henry Garrett, Old Hill, was fined 10s and costs for refusing to quit the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, kept by Laban Hall Fleming, on the 26th ult."

County Express 21/8/1897

"The first of what is intended to be an annual demonstration of the friendly societies in the Old Hill district, was held on Sunday, the object in view being to help the funds of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital the day was bright and promising, and there were large numbers of people all along the route.

At one o'clock the 1st Worcestershire Volunteer Band started from the CROSS INN, proceeded across Halesowen Road, calling at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL; then across Lawrence Lane into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the Cross, where the final procession was formed. Meanwhile the Old Hill Brass and Red Band started from the WHITE LION INN, proceeded by way of Powke Lane and Garratts Lane to Wrights Lane (as far as the PRINCE OF WALES INN), and returned to Garratts Lane, calling for lodges at the BRITISH OAK INN, FOX HUNT INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, VINE INN, to the Cross. On the arrival of this contingent a huge line was formed, and very pretty it looked. Members of the various lodges wore their regalia, and these being interspersed with the more elaborate honorary members' scarves, gave the line a very bright appearance....."

County Express 2/10/1897

"Old Hill Adjourned Licensing Sessions.....

Stephen Deeley applied for a temporary permit for the FIVE WAYS HOTEL. Inspector Given said Harry Letts was fined £5 and costs for permitting drunkenness. Since then a change had taken place in the tenancy, Stephen Deeley, from the GEORGE HOTEL having gone in and was conducting it to the satisfaction of the police. He had no personal objection to Mr. Deeley. The house belonged to the North Worcestershire Breweries Company. The license was withheld last time, and remarks were made as to the house continually changing hands. The application was now granted.....

An interim authority was granted to Edwin Johnson, for the GEORGE HOTEL."

County Advertiser 27/8/1898

“On Sunday afternoon the annual hospital parade and open-air service, arranged by the various friendly societies in Old Hill and the surrounding district took place. Processions were formed at different points of members of the Foresters, the Free Gardeners, and provident societies, numbering altogether about 1,000, and these, accompanied by the Blackheath, Halesowen Temperance, and Old Hill Bands, paraded the principal streets of the locality, after which they marched to a field in Garratts Lane, lent for the occasion by Mr. A. Sidaway, where a special service was held. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. E. Brewer, MA (vicar of Old Hill), and W. B. Cheshire (Primitive Methodist). A collection was made along the route and at the service in aid of the Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, and Birmingham Eye Hospital, this realising £25 14s 5¾d.

The following was the order of procession issued by the committee. The Blackheath Village Band will start from the WHITE LION INN, Powke Lane, at 1-45 prompt, proceed down Garratts Lane, calling for societies at the BRITISH OAK INN, Tabernacle, DUKE WILLIAM INN, and VINE INN, turning across Queen Street on to the old football ground (by kind permission of Mr. W. H. Jarvis). The Halesowen Temperance Band will start from the PRINCE OF WALES INN, Wrights Lane, at 1-45 prompt, proceed round Cherry Orchard Street, into Wrights Lane, turning down Wagon Street, calling at the OLD ENGINE INN, proceeding down Elbow Street and King Street, across Halesowen Road, to the old football ground. The Old Hill Band will start from the CROSS INN at 1-45 prompt, calling for societies at Trinity Schools and GEORGE HOTEL, proceed across Lawrence Lane, turning up New Street, Ridding Street, Pear Tree Street, Pear Tree Lane, thence into Reddal Hill Road, calling at the ROSE AND CROWN INN, and proceeding to the old football ground. A grand procession will be formed as follows.....”

County Advertiser 19/8/1899

“Joseph Sidaway, of Pearson Street, Old Hill, was charged with being disorderly and refusing to quit the licensed premises of the GEORGE HOTEL, kept by Mr. Edwin Johnson, on the 8th inst. Complainant stated that on the date named about eight in the evening two men were creating a disturbance in the house. His attention was called to them by his wife, and he ordered them out. They went out, and afterwards defendant, who was in the house, began to be disorderly. Witness told him he must leave the same as the others, but he refused for a time. Defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs.”

AND

“John Williams, of Peartree Lane, Old Hill, was charged with assaulting Edwin Johnson, landlord of the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, on the 8th inst. Complainant said that on the date in question a bother occurred in his house, and he had to put out a man named Sidaway. Defendant caught hold of witness by the collar, and said ‘When you touch him you touch me.’ The Bench fined defendant 2s 6d and costs.”

Edwin Johnson married Alice Florence Foley, the daughter of William and Nancy of the ROUND OF BEEF. He died in early 1901.

1901 Census

226, Halesowen Road – GEORGE HOTEL

- [1] Mrs. Johnson (26), widow, innkeeper, born Great Bridge;
- [2] George Johnson (2), son, born Old Hill;
- [3] Alice Pretoria Johnson (5 months) daughter, born Old Hill:

County Express 4/5/1901

“A meeting under the auspices of the Brickmakers, General Labourers’, and Gas Workers’ Society was held at the GEORGE HOTEL, on Monday, for organising purposes. Mr. H. Simpson and Mr. J. Smith addressed the meeting, which was only a small one.”

County Express 17/5/1902

“A painful matrimonial case occupied the attention of Messrs. W. Bassano, J. F. Pearson, G. H. Holcroft, and F. Green, at the Old Hill Police Court on Wednesday, when Herbert Jones Chatham, described as a coal merchant, of Whitehall, Cradley Heath, was charged with deserting his wife, Charlotte Chatham, and with wilfully neglecting to maintain his children. Mr. Waldron appeared for Mrs. Chatham, and Mr. Ward defended.

Mr. Waldron stated that Mr. and Mrs. Chatham were married in 1886, and there were three children of the marriage. In 1894 – 7½ years ago – they were keeping the GEORGE INN, Old Hill. Prior to September that year Mr. Chatham was guilty of great cruelty to his wife. He bit her, dragged her up and down stairs, shook her, and pinched her wrists. The result of the cruelty was that she suffered very much in health, and was compelled in 1894 to leave her husband. She went to live with her father, Mr. Westwood, who at that time kept the JOLLY COLLIER INN [WIZARD AND GLASS], Cradley Heath, and resided with him until his death. When she left her husband she took with her a daughter, and subsequently another child was born, but the eldest son continued to live with his father until a few days ago. During his lifetime, Mr. Westwood was content to keep his daughter and grandchildren, and after his death Mrs. Chatham took the public house as a tenant, and had been earning a living there for herself and her children ever since. Of course that duty was rather an expensive one, and Mrs. Chatham felt the time had arrived when her husband should be called upon to contribute towards the support and maintenance of his own children. He was not instructed to ask for one farthing towards Mrs. Chatham’s maintenance, for she felt that she could support herself. From the moment Mrs. Chatham left her husband at the GEORGE HOTEL the last named had never contributed anything towards the support and maintenance of his children. As to means, Mr. Chatham was ostensibly carrying on business as a coal merchant, and from the way he lived must be in a fair condition.

Mrs. Charlotte Chatham, in her evidence, bore out Mr. Waldron’s opening statement. She was cross-examined at great length by Mr. Ward. As to her means, she said she was not well off, but her position had improved very much financially within the last few years. She admitted she had received thousands under her father's will, but she would not state how many. She denied that she had left her husband in a passion; it was after consulting Inspector Given. That was the third time she had left him. When asked to give particular instances of cruelty and the dates, complainant said if her husband would produce her diary it would answer all that was required. In the January of 1894, after he had been drinking, he bit her in the thick of the arm, and she bore the marks for three weeks. He expressed his sorrow for it afterwards, and said he did it 'in a fit.' On the August Bank Holiday he took hold of her two wrists, shook her, and threw her into the passage. She did not know why he did this, and added she did not think her husband knew either. She admitted she retaliated when she had the chance, and her husband occasionally got the worst of it, and added to Mr. Ward, 'I am little and plucky like yourself' – (laughter). Mr. Ward remarked it was not very often he was complimented by a witness. Continuing under cross-examination complainant admitted throwing a shooting boot at her husband on one occasion, but denied throwing a pudding at his head, neither did she ever threaten him with a poker, nor do her best to aggravate him. Although she said her husband drank to excess at the GEORGE HOTEL, which was in a few yards of Old Hill Police Court, she admitted he was never summoned for being the worse for drinking his own house. She thought her conduct had been wise and prudent, and she had not written to say that she and her husband were a couple of fools.

Mr. Ward here produced a letter written by Mrs. Chatham in 1893, in which she said, 'Dear old boy. You are a fool, and so am I, to make each other think we love each other. We have both made a mess of it, but never mind, I will meet you as you wish.' Complainant said that letter did not truly represent the state of affairs down to September, 1894, between her and her husband. She did not admit there was a good deal of bad temper on both sides; there was bad temper on the one side, and very great provocation on the other. Her husband was very jealous of her, and there might have been mutual recriminations. She admitted writing five letters, which were put in. One, dated June 27th, 1895, stated, 'I have received your letter, and regret you should trouble to write me again. I cannot consent to see you at all. My experience of you and your treatment in the past have turned my love into hatred, and your present position makes me feel more hopeless for any differences in the future. I think if you had any love for your children you would endeavour to keep them. You need not trouble about me any further. I have no wish to see you, and it is a pity we ever met.'

Witness explained that the reference as to her husband's 'present position' meant his drunkenness, not his position in life. Asked if she would return to her husband, complainant said she would not return if he would give her £5,000.

Mrs. Sarah Grove (now living at New Street, Cradley) who was formerly a servant at the GEORGE HOTEL, said Mr. Chatham treated his wife miserably, and was constantly 'cursing and raging over her.' Mrs. Chatham's life was most unhappy. Cross-examined there was a great deal of quarrelling between the husband and wife. She remembered Mrs. Chatham throwing a dish at her husband. She considered Mrs. Chatham was very patient – far more patient than witness would have been.

Mr. Ward, for the defence, submitted that the summons for wilful negligence must be dismissed, for the evidence showed there was no neglect within the period which the Statute permitted.

Mr. Walter Bassano said the clerk had advised them of that, and that summons would drop.

Mr. Ward contended that as regard the desertion the evidence showed there had been frequent quarrels, and it was said three separations had taken place. Before they could grant an order on a summons for desertion in a case of this kind, there must be proved to have been conduct by the husband which would justify the woman leaving her husband. He suggested there had been faults on both sides, and the wife had taken her remedy into her own hands. Mr. Ward then dealt with the evidence in detail, and said the defendant was now getting a living by selling coal. He was working for his mother, and was practically a servant. He asked the court to say there was not sufficient evidence to justify the allegation that Mrs. Chatham left her home because it was unsafe for her to live with her husband. Her means were amply sufficient to maintain the children in a way consistent with their station, and he pointed out on the other hand they had no evidence as to the means of the defendant.

The Defendant stated he did not know why his wife left him in September, 1894. She took advantage of his absence to remove her goods, and when he returned, he found she had gone. There was no quarrel at that time that he could remember. His wife had an ungovernable temper, and was very aggravating. There was a quarrel between them on one occasion over some poetry he found in her pocket. He never assaulted his wife violently, and denied throwing her into the passage. He may have caught hold of her wrists to prevent her using violence to him. She threw anything at him she could get hold of in her temper. The utmost he could earn now was £1 per week.

Mr. George Chatham was called, and said he once saw Mrs. Chatham threatening the defendant with a poker.

The Bench held there had been desertion. They gave Mrs. Chatham custody of the children, and ordered defendant to contribute 10s per week towards the children's maintenance, and to pay costs and solicitor's fee of £1 1s."

County Advertiser 27/8/1904

"On Sunday afternoon the eighth annual parade and service arranged by the various friendly societies in the Old Hill district took place under favourable circumstances. The proceedings commenced with a large procession.....

The Old Hill Brass Band started from the BLUE BALL INN, Peartree Street, and proceeded by way of Peartree Street, Ridding Street, and New Street to Halesowen Road, calling for societies at the GEORGE HOTEL. Afterwards they proceeded across Spring Meadow and Cherry Orchard to the field.....

Upon arrival at the field a grand procession was formed This paraded the principal streets of the locality for some time, after which they proceeded to a field in High Street, kindly lent for the occasion by Mr. A. E. Sidaway. Here a service was held, the chair being occupied by Dr. T. E. Mitchell. Notwithstanding the threatening state of the weather there was a large attendance..... A collection was made upon the route, and at the service, on behalf of the Dudley Guest Hospital, Dudley Dispensary, Birmingham Eye Hospital, Birmingham General Hospital, Birmingham Ear and Throat Hospital, and the Old Hill Nurses Fund."

County Advertiser 22/12/1906

"Re Foresters' Court Miners' Guide.

This was an action commenced by the trustees of the Ancient Order of Foresters' Friendly Society against the trustees, officers, and members of Court Miners' Guide, No.5781 branch of the Order, formerly held at the GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill, Staffordshire, for illegal division of the court funds. The fund divided amounted to £145 5s. Previous to the action efforts had been made by the officials of the Order and District to induce the court members to refund, but without success. The present action was brought to compel repayment. Two of the members did not appear. The remaining members appeared through Messrs. Thomas Cooksey and Co., solicitors of Old Hill, but did not file any defence. The action named came on, on motion for judgement in default of defence. Mr. John St. Lawrence (instructed by Mr. Samuel Ward, of Dudley) appeared for the trustees of the Order.

Mr. Leslie: If your lordship pleases, this is a motion for judgement in default of defence.

Mr. Justice Warrington: It is rather a curious case. What I want you to satisfy me about is, that the defendants are all jointly and severally liable.

Mr. Leslie: That is the sole point your lordship wants me to deal with? – Mr. Justice Warrington: Yes.

Presuming that his lordship knew the facts, Mr. Leslie said these defendants, who were the only members, as I understand, of this small court, met one evening and divided up the whole funds of the lodge. I should submit that their having done that with regard to a fund which did not belong to them individually or collectively, they were jointly and severally responsible for misappropriation of the fund. They employed the three trustees, who were also members of the lodge, as their agents, to effect this wrongful appropriation.

Mr. Justice Warrington: You are moving, I suppose, on the ground of following trust funds which have been wrongfully disposed of with notice of a trust? That is really your view? – Mr. Leslie: Yes, my lord.

Mr. Justice Warrington: It is not only that, but each of them is responsible for what he himself received, and each would be responsible for what he paid over to other people.

Mr. Leslie: Each no doubt would be responsible for what he got, but I also submit that each is responsible for dealing with the whole fund. It was done with the consent and instigation of every one.

Mr. Justice Warrington: Do any of the defendants appear?

Mr. Leslie: No, my lord, and we have had a notice some months back that they do not intend to appear – that is to say, two of them did not appear to the writ, and the others have not put in a defence, and we have a communication from their solicitors to say they are instructed to take no further part in the proceedings. That was on the 12th of July last.

Mr. Justice Warrington: Your statement is – that they wrongfully and unlawfully agreed amongst themselves to misappropriate the sum of £145, the rule being that no Court shall divide any of its funds and anyone violating this rule shall forfeit the money so divided to the relief fund of the High Court of the society to be recovered by legal process.

Mr. Leslie: I have the rule here, my lord.

Mr. Justice Warrington: I am looking at the allegations in your claim. You are the trustees.

Mr. Leslie: We are the trustees of the whole Order, this Court being a branch in the Black Country.

Mr. Justice Warrington: I think that is enough.

Mr. Leslie: If your lordship pleases.

Mr. Justice Warrington: What you ask for is that plaintiffs recover against all the defendants £145?

Mr. Leslie: And costs.

Mr. Justice Warrington: Yes, with costs.”

Walsall Advertiser 20/11/1909 - Advert

“Wanted, General used to public business; from Wednesbury or Darlaston.
GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill.”

County Express 6/1/1912

“Dividend Clubs..... GEORGE HOTEL, Old Hill.

The annual dinner in connection with the GEORGE HOTEL Sick and Draw Club was held on Wednesday week. After the drawing of the cloth, songs were rendered by Messrs. G. Tolley, C. Harris, S. Dunn, J. Hughes, J. Hill, and Woodall, the last-named also acting as accompanist. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the host and hostess.”

Frank Murdoch Tibbetts – see also HEATH TAVERN.

Black Country Bugle

Letter from Rachel Smith (daughter of David Pearson)

“.....he [father] was a well known pigeon racer in the Old Hill area he also bred cocker spaniels.”

William Bernard Keeling – see also PRINCE OF WALES.

1939 Register

256, Halesowen Road

[1] Thomas Preece, date of birth 11/5/1910, licensed victualler, married;

[2] Amy B. Preece, dob 16/3/1915, assisting licensed victualler, married;

[3] Eliza Preece, dob 14/3/1874, partly incapacitated, widowed:

Thomas Preece – check also FIVE WAYS, Cradley Heath.

Closed
It reopened as SATCHMO'S in 1998.

[2010]

Closed [2011]
It became a shop in 2012.

GOLDEN HARP

Reddal Hill, CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Thomas Sidaway [1833] – [1835]

NOTES

It had a nailhouse at the rear.

Thomas Sidaway was also a nailmaster. He sold the business to Tinsley & Danks.

GRANGE

Church Road, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

H. B. Darby, Blackheath
T. W. Williams, Rowley Brewery
Thomas B. Williams and Lizzie Bate (acquired 1st March 1939)
Ansells Ltd. (acquired on 15th June 1946)

LICENSEES

William Henry Reginald Darby (1936 – 1940);
Lily Florence Darby (1940 – 1941);
Harry Griffiths (1941 – 1948);
Eric Gordon Lancaster (1948 – 1949);
Robert Arthur Kendrick (1949 – 1952);
John Leonard Leashon (1952 – 1957);
Albert Harris (1957);
Ralph Windsor (1957 – 1958);
Harold Bennett (1958 – 1961);
Daniel Charles Boden (1961 – 1965);
Derrick James Wroe* (1965 – []
Derek Wroe* [1975] – [1982]
Barry Watkiss (1984 – [1985]
Sue Whittall [1987]
Carol Hayward [1999]
Neil Moran (2002 – [2003]

NOTES

It was originally Rowley Grange, owned by the Barrs family.

The license was transferred from the ROYAL OAK, Blackheath.

Black Country Bugle (1975)

'The Grey Ghost Of The Grange'

"The GRANGE began its life as a pub in 1936 – converted to such from the shell of the old farmstead, with stabling and orchard at rear. It had been the home of Mr. Tom Williams before he sold it to the brewery in 1936. The present bar was previously the dining room....."

1939 Register

Church Road – GRANGE INN

[1] William Henry Darby, date of birth 24/7/1910, inn keeper, married;

[2] Lily F. Darby, dob 13/8/1910, unpaid domestic servant, married;

[3] Winifred Barbara (Dudson) Farmer, dob 12/11/1932, at school:

Birmingham Mail 8/10/1945

"Nowhere in the many Japanese prison camps in the Far East were the prisoners treated more harshly than those who had the misfortune to be selected to build the railroad from Bangkok to Rangoon. This railroad was given Priority No.1 by the Japanese, who decided it had to be finished, come what may. They achieved their aim, but at a dreadful price. Men died by the hundred.

Two men who worked on this railroad told of the privations suffered by thousands of Britishers labouring on the track in the disease-infested, steaming jungle country. The men are Gunner Charles Nicholls, of 95, Tower Road, Aston, who was captured in Singapore while serving with the Royal Artillery, and Gunner Reg Darby, of Meadows Walk, Cradley Heath, who before joining up was the licensee of the GRANGE INN at Rowley. This is what they said, 'We were moved to the Thailand camps early in 1943, and from May to December of that year we worked on the railroad. We want to forget those eight months. Men either died or went mad from their sufferings, unless they were able to keep a tight check on themselves. It was monsoon weather, which out there means torrential rain practically all the time in steaming, humid jungle country. The Japanese frankly told us the railroad had to be finished, and they employed every man who could stand on his legs. Those who went sick and couldn't stand were left to starve. We worked 16 hours a day with our clothes wringing wet, and we lived on rice and bamboo shoots. Jungle stew, we called it. Dysentery was rife, and although the Japanese tried to keep us going with quinine – after all a man standing on his two legs was valuable to them – they had not got enough medical supplies to go round.'

Gunner Darby said, 'I was working on the railroad with 29 ulcers on my legs, but I was lucky compared with some of the other poor devils. They dropped as they worked, and there was just nothing we could do about it.'

Gunner Nicolls said, 'My weight dropped to 97lbs while I worked, and when the British came I had lost over 2 stone. I was on the track at a place called Conchiqua, but the men called it Death Valley. Cholera broke out and knocked the men down like ninepins. The Japanese behaved like beasts, and beat the men if they 'slacked'.'

The Japanese paid small wages to the men for their labour, and the money was spent on buying food and cigarettes from the barges which on rare occasions came up the river. Average price paid for one cigarette was a Thailand tickel, or dollar, worth about 1s 2d in English money. This was about a fortnight's pay for each man.

The men saw no Red Cross parcels, and letters were few. In four and a half years Gunner Darby received only five letters from his wife....."

Evening Despatch 14/10/1943

"As the result of the third harvest home at the GRANGE INN, Rowley Regis (licensee, Mr. H. Griffiths), the record sum of £240 15s 8½d was raised for the Forces Comforts Fund run by the house. Garden produce, eggs, and poultry were the chief items sold. The Rev. H. Card (Vicar of Rowley Regis) and Ald. A. Taylor were among those present."

Harry Griffiths was married to Elsie.

Eric Gordon Lancaster – see also HEATH TAVERN.

Birmingham Daily Gazette 16/9/1949

"A bathroom fire at the GRANGE INN, Rowley, was yesterday put out by the Rowley Regis firemen. A water tank burst and hot water poured through the ceiling."

Staffordshire Advertiser 3/10/1952

"Fred Madeley, 32-years-old progress clerk, Newall Road, Blackheath, who admitted fraudulently converting money collected from patrons of the GRANGE INN, Rowley Regis, for a trip to Wembley for the last FA Cup final was conditionally discharged on payment of £15 costs towards the prosecution at the Staffordshire Quarter Sessions on Tuesday. Madeley, secretary and treasurer of the GRANGE INN Trip Club, was said by Mr. G. T. Griffiths to have repaid the whole of the £107 involved to 33 members of the club.

Mr. J. F. Bourke, for Madeley, said that when the time came to repay the money Madeley had only £35 to meet the £107. He was missing for some time and resigned his job, but his firm thought so much of him that he was immediately reinstated when he came back. Mr. Bourke also said that Madeley's clubmates wished him nothing but well. He added that a bill for £15 from a London hotel for accommodation booked by members of the club had been paid by Madeley."

Robert Arthur Kendrick – see also PORTWAY TAVERN.

John Leonard Leashon – see also PORTWAY TAVERN.

Albert Harris – see also ROYAL OAK, Rowley Regis.

Ralph Windsor – see also BELL, Cradley Heath.

A team from here took part in the Rowley Regis Darts League. [1959/60] , [1960/61], [1965/66]

Daniel Charles Boden – check also BULLS HEAD, Wednesbury.

* probably the same person

It was refurbished at a cost of £60,000 in 1982.

Derek Wroe was married to Waltraud.

Halesowen News 4/11/1999

"A Blackheath landlady decked out her pub with spiders and skeletons in aid of Sandwell General Hospital.

Carol Hayward, licensee of the GRANGE INN.....

Landlady Carol said, 'We managed to raise £126 and everyone got into the spirit by dressing up as witches and skeletons.'

Neil Moran was born in Rowley Regis.

It closed in 2003.

It was demolished in 2004.

HADEN CROSS

451, (169), (149), (100), (78), Halesowen Road, OLD HILL

OWNERS

Benjamin Attwood, Haden Cross

Mr. B. Darby [1889]

Showells Brewery Co. Ltd.

James Payne

J. Rolinson and Son Ltd.

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired on 19th October 1938)

Union Pub Co. [2005]

New River Retail [2015]

LICENSEES

Edwin Cooper [1866] – [1871]

Benjamin Darby [1880] – [1888]

Samuel Parkes [1891]

Samuel Baker []

Samuel Davies [1901]

Harry Pearson [1911] – [1912]

Michael Cockin [1919] – 1922);

Mrs. Rachel Cockin (1922 – 1925);

William George Matthews (1925 – 1926);

James Bally (1926 – 1927);

David C Priest (1927 – 1936);

Alice Jane Cartwright (1936 – 1937);
Frank Bird (1937 – 1938);
Mrs. Myra (Fereday) Downing (1938 – 1955);
Jack Hickman (1955 – [1965])
Stephen Harris [2007]
Laura Eden [2015] – 2016);
Sue (2016 – []
Stanley John ‘Stan’ and Karl Gardner [2017] – [2018]

NOTES

78, Halesowen Road [1881]
100, Halesowen Road [1891]
149, Halesowen Road [1901]
169, Halesowen Road [1912], [1924], [1940]
451, Halesowen Road [1976]

It had an ante '69 beerhouse license.

Stourbridge Observer 17/11/1866

“At Old Hill Petty Sessions on Wednesday last, Edwin Cooper, beerhouse keeper, of Haden Hill, was charged by Superintendent Mills with having his house open for the sale of beer on the 11th last. Police-constable Marriott proved that there were six men in the house drinking. They had a quart jug and a pint jug of ale. Ordered to pay costs.”

Stourbridge Observer 25/1/1868

“A Man Gored to Death by a Cow. On Saturday morning, a labourer named John Cross, forty-nine years of age, residing at Haden Hill, was attacked by a cow belonging to his employer, Mr. Best. The infuriated animal, for some cause not at present known, knocked the unfortunate man down, and inflicted upon his head such injuries that he died in a very short time. Mr. E. Malins, surgeon, Cradley Heath, was called in, but life was extinct. An inquest was held on Wednesday last at the house of Edwin Cooper, Haden Hill, before Mr. Hooper, Coroner, and a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 30/8/1869

“The annual licensing meeting for Rowley Regis division was held on Friday, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill..... The following beerhouse keepers had been fined during the last five years.....
Edwin Cooper, GOLDEN CROSS, Haden Hill.”

1871 Census

Hales Owen Road

- [1] Edwin Cooper (29), publican (beer seller), born Halesowen;
- [2] Sarah Ann Cooper (24), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] William R. Cooper (3), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Charles Cooper (1), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Phoebe Bradley (17), general servant, born Halesowen:

Edwin Cooper – see also THREE FURNACES.

County Advertiser 22/3/1873

“At a meeting of delegates of the Nailmakers’ Association, held at the HADEN CROSS, Haden Hill, on Monday, to take into consideration the decision of the nailmasters, at their meeting on Thursday last, it was resolved: That providing the masters do not pay, on the 29th instant, a 20 per cent advance on the 1872 list, a general strike will take place on the 31st instant.”

County Advertiser 2/3/1878 - Advert

“Important Sale of Valuable Freehold Properties, situate at Haden Cross, Cradley Heath, and Garratts Lane, all in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford, comprising very desirable Residences, Public House, Malthouse, Building Land, and Twenty-Three other Dwelling Houses, and Premises.
Messrs. Bateman and Son beg to announce their instructions from the Executors of the late Mr. Benjamin Attwood, of Haden Cross, Rowley, to Sell by Auction, at COOKSEY’S HOTEL, Old Hill, Rowley, on Tuesday, the 5th day of March Next, 1878, at Six o’clock in the Evening, and subject to conditions of sale, incorporating the Common Form Conditions of the Birmingham Law Society, the following very valuable Freehold Properties.....
Lot 5. HADEN CROSS INN, Malthouse, Yard, Land, and Premises.....”

Birmingham Daily Post 5/1/1880 - Advert

“Strayed from a field, a black Pony, with white star on forehead, cut tail, about 12 hands.

Anyone returning the same to Benjamin Darby, HADEN CROSS, Old Hill, will be rewarded.”

Dudley Herald 7/8/1880

“Alfred Charlton, nailmaster, Old Hill, was charged with assaulting Vincent Towers, on the 4th ult. Mr. Hayes defended. Complainant stated that he was in the HADEN CROSS INN on the day in question, and the defendant, who was also there, accused him of cheating his men. Upon replying, defendant called him bad names and struck him twice. After complainant’s evidence had been corroborated, Mr. Hayes called for the defence Richard Hill, who stated that the complainant used bad language to the defendant, and dared him several times to strike him. The Bench said there was no doubt but that a technical assault had been committed, under provocation, and fined defendant 1s, without costs.”

1881 Census

78, Halesowen Road

- [1] Benjamin Darby (25), butcher and publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Lucy Darby (20), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Samuel Wright Darby (3), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Mary Wright Darby (2), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Benjamin Wright Darby (1), son, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Rosehannah Harris (16), domestic servant, born Halesowen;
- [7] Clara Parkes (14), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

County Express 8/3/1884

“Isaac Tromans, chainmaker, Blackheath, was charged with stealing two pig’s feet, value 1s 6d, the property of Benjamin Darby, butcher, Old Hill. Defendant cut the feet off a pig hanging at the defendant’s door on the 27th ult. Defendant pleaded guilty, but said he was drunk at the time. A fine of £1, including costs, was imposed.”

Birmingham Daily Post 19/12/1887

“Mr. Benjamin Darby, maltster and butcher, Halesowen Road, Old Hill, met with a serious accident at Blackheath, whilst returning from Birmingham on Friday night. It appears that he arrived in High Street, Blackheath, about eight o’clock, when a collision occurred between another vehicle and the one in which he was riding, the result being that Mr. Darby was thrown to the ground with considerable violence and was rendered unconscious. He was promptly attended by Dr. Beasley. Yesterday there was very little improvement in the condition of the injured man, and he is considered to be in a critical state. Up to the present the police have been unable to ascertain the name of the person who it is alleged ran into Mr. Darby’s conveyance.”

County Advertiser 24/11/1888

“At the County Court on Thursday, before Sir Rupert Kettle, Judge, and a jury, a case was heard in which William Burton, cooper, of Langley, sued Benjamin Darby, publican, Old Hill, for the sum of £9 18s 8d, and there was a counter claim for £50. Mr. Sharpe was for the plaintiff, and Mr. Jackson for the defendant. Mr. Sharpe stated that about seven o’clock on the 19th of last December plaintiff was on his right side, driving a pony and truck past the GEORGE AND DRAGON, Blackheath, when defendant, who was in the trap, was thrown out and seriously injured. In subsequent conversation defendant admitted his liability and promised recompense, which he not only failed to pay, but had now made a counter claim. Evidence was then given. A verdict for the plaintiff for 40s was given.”

Benjamin Darby – see also HORSESHOE.

Birmingham Daily Post 28/12/1889 - Advert

“Valuable Freehold Inns, Brewery, Malthouses and Premises, at Blackheath and Haden Cross, near Dudley. Oates, Perrens, & Wooldridge are favoured with instructions from the proprietor, Mr. B. Darby, to Sell by Auction, at the CROSS INN, Old Hill, on Tuesday, the 7th day of January, 1890, at Five o’clock in the evening, subject to conditions then to be produced, the highly-important and Valuable FreeHold Public Houses, Malthouses, Brewery, &c, following, namely. Lot 1. That most Desirable Freehold Property, the Blackheath Brewery, together with the MALT SHOVEL INN, in the occupation of Mr. Reuben Davis, and the Ten-quarter Malthouse in the occupation of Mr. John Thomas Dixon, with a large yard, extensive stabling, and appurtenances, situate in High Street, Blackheath, a thickly-populated district, on the main road from Cradley Heath and Old Hill to Birmingham. Lot 2. That very Desirable Freehold Public House, HADEN CROSS INN, with Butcher’s Shop and Slaughterhouse; also the Ten-quarter Malthouse, together with the enclosed yard, with double-door entrance, Stable, Piggeries, Garden, piece of Turf Land, and Premises, containing an area of 2,710 square yards, situate at Haden Cross, on the main road from Hales Owen to Old Hill, Netherton, and Dudley, and a short distance from Old Hill Railway Station, a junction of three lines of railways. For further information apply to Messrs. Wright and Tanfield, Solicitors, Cradley Heath; or to the Auctioneers, Stourbridge and Droitwich.”

1891 Census

100, Halesowen Road

- [1] Samuel Parkes (49), beerhouse keeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Eliza Parkes (47), wife, born Kingswood, Somerset;
- [3] John T. Parkes (16), son, bricklayer's labourer, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Lucy Parkes (13), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] William S. Parkes (11), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Emma Parkes (8), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Daily Post 20/8/1891

“At the Police Court, yesterday, Samuel Parkes, landlord of the HADEN CROSS INN, Old Hill, was charged with supplying ale to a drunken person, and also with permitting drunkenness on his licensed premises, on the 12th of August. Mr. Waldron prosecuted and Mr. Shakespeare defended.

The evidence for the prosecution was that on the 12th inst a woman named Wright, who was very drunk, went into the defendant's house, and was found about eleven o'clock at night suffering from a wound on the back of the head, and was then intoxicated. She was taken to the police station, and afterwards removed to the workhouse infirmary.

Mr. Shakespeare said he appeared on behalf of Messrs. Showell, the owners of the house, and he submitted that it was a very trumpety case, inasmuch as it was not proved that the woman was supplied with beer in the defendant's house.

Defendant was fined 20s, and £3 10s costs.”

County Express 29/8/1891

“The annual licensing sessions for the Rowley Regis division of Staffordshire were held at the Police Court, Old Hill, on Wednesday.....

Mr. Waldron appeared for Samuel Parkes, of the HADEN CROSS, who was fined 20s and costs for supplying ale to a drunken woman on the 19th inst. Renewed.”

County Advertiser 27/6/1896 - Advert

“SHOULDER OF MUTTON, Blackheath.

Cotton and Chappell are instructed by the Trustees of the late Mr. James Payne and other to Sell by Auction, on the Premises as above, on Wednesday, July 8th, 1896, at Six o'clock in the Evening, subject to Conditions then to be produced.....

Lot 3. All that Well-situated Freehold Public House, known as HADEN CROSS INN, containing Two Bed Rooms, large Club Room, Bar, Smoke Room, Kitchen, Two Cellars, Brewhouse with Furnaces; together with a Well-built Malt House in the rear, having stores over; Stabling for Five Horses, Pigsties, Slaughter-house, and a Field of Turf Land, the whole containing 2,710 square yards or thereabouts.

This House, which is situate in the best part of Haden Cross, is well supplied with Hard and Soft Water, is capable of carrying on the Malting Business, of that of a Butcher, in addition to the present Business.....”

County Advertiser 25/7/1896

“A man named Samuel Baker, who was for several years landlord of the HADEN CROSS INN, Haden Hill, Old Hill, died suddenly on Tuesday. Deceased who has lately been unwell went to visit a relative at old Hill, and whilst in the house he died suddenly. As deceased has been seen by a medical man during his illness, no inquest will be held.”

1901 Census

149, Halesowen Road

- [1] Samuel Davies (35), publican's manager, born Old Hill;
- [2] Hannah E. Davies (36), wife, born Old Hill;
- [3] Beatrice Davies (16), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [4] Alfred W. Davies (14), son, striker for gas socket maker, born Old Hill;
- [5] Charlie Davies (12), son, telegraph messenger, Post Office, born Old Hill;
- [6] Samuel Davies (11), son, born Old Hill;
- [7] Harry Davies (10), son, born Old Hill;
- [8] George B. Davies (8), son, born Old Hill;
- [9] Hannah E. Davies (7), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [10] Mary Davies (5), daughter, born Old Hill;
- [11] Michael C. Davies (3), son, born Old Hill;
- [12] Evelyn M. Davies (1), daughter, born Old Hill:

1911 Census

Haden Hill – HADEN CROSS INN

- [1] Harry Pearson (52), innkeeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Susan Pearson (49), innkeeper, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Miriam Pearson (15), adopted daughter, typist, anchor smith, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Mary Jane Lyndon (21), servant to above, born Wednesbury:

Harry Pearson, beer retailer, 169, Halesowen Road. [1912]

Mrs. Rachel Cockin, beer retailer, 169, Halesowen Road. [1924]

Staffordshire Advertiser 2/5/1936

“A change in the habits of women drinking, who, it was stated, now preferred wine to beer and stout was a reason for the increase in the number of applications for wine licenses, when the County Licensing Confirmation Committee met at the Shirehall, Stafford, on Tuesday. Sir William Goodwin (Chairman) presided. Of the 18 applications heard by the Committee, seven were in respect of wine licenses.....

HADEN CROSS INN, Haden Hill, Old Hill.....

Announcing that the applications were confirmed, the Chairman said they were all very much on the same lines – that ladies required wine, and he supposed they had to meet modern necessities.”

Myra Fereday married Timothy Downing on 6th October 1938, at Dudley Register Office.

1939 Register

Halesowen Road – HADEN CROSS INN

[1] Myra Downing, date of birth 18/7/1902, tenant, HADEN CROSS INN, married;

[2] Timothy Downing, dob 7/6/1914, bread salesman, married;

A Publican’s license was granted on 2nd February 1949.

It was transferred to a Full License 27th April 1949.

Birmingham Daily Post 1/6/1957

“Rowley Regis police are investigating theft of money from the till of the HADEN CROSS public house, Haden Hill. The robbery occurred in the afternoon while the wife of the licensee, Mr. Jack Hickman, was in the back garden. The thief entered through the open back door, took several pound notes from the till, leaving silver and copper, and let himself out through the front door.”

Sandwell Evening Mail 11/9/1986

“Keen Black Country gardener Wilf Rimmer is top of the crops at his local pub where his 23in runner bean takes pride of place behind the bar.

Wilf, aged 65, grew the giant specimen in the back garden of his home in Haden Hill Road, Old Hill – and now it is on display among the bottles at the HADEN CROSS pub in Halesowen Road.

Wilf reckons his runaway runner must be one of the longest grown this summer, which has seen the sun-loving crop badly hit by unseasonal temperatures.....”

Stourbridge News 16/1/2015

“It was three cheers for the regulars and staff of the HADEN CROSS pub this week after Sandwell Council refused planning permission for a supermarket to be built on the car park. The council threw out the New River application to build a Co-op superstore after 56 people objected and a 442 signature petition was handed in. The pub was packed on Tuesday night for a meeting of the Friends of HADEN CROSS INN when plans for the future were discussed.

Chairman of the Friends of HADEN CROSS INN, Tim Haskey, said, ‘We are over the moon about the planning application being turned down and hopefully New River will not try again because of how conclusive the refusal was. However, there is nothing stopping them trying to change the whole pub into a supermarket so we want to turn the place into a community asset. We are looking into everything we can about securing this wonderful pub and our long term goal is to buy the place for the community so it will be safe forever.’

Cradley Heath and Old Hill Councillor Ann Shackleton said, ‘I am delighted as I have been involved with this issue from the start and supported the newly formed friends group with their campaign. It is a triumph for people in the local community who have come together to fight the proposals and achieve an outcome that is right for their neighbourhood. However, the campaign continues to safeguard this highly valued, viable, public amenity.

Halesowen and Rowley Regis MP James Morris and Labour’s parliamentary candidate Stephanie Peacock spoke at the meeting. Mr Morris said, ‘I worked on the Localism Bill in Parliament and hopefully it can be used to safeguard the pub. The supermarket planning application was extraordinary and it was no surprise it was turned down.’

Miss Peacock said, ‘We need to do as much as we can to save pubs like the HADEN CROSS and I will be looking into helping the friends group as much as I can over the coming years.’”

Halesowen News 5/1/2018

“Campaigners who helped save a landmark Cradley Heath pub from having a supermarket built on its car park have been honoured with a national award. The Friends of HADEN CROSS spent years battling with site owners New River Retail over the company’s plans to build a Co-op store on the land. And the group’s successful efforts have now been rewarded after they were named as a bronze winner in the CAMRA Pub Saving Awards 2017.

Tim Haskey, chairman of the friends group, said, ‘We are thrilled to hear the efforts of the local community have been rewarded in this manner. Whilst the winner and runner up were very worthy rural campaigns, ours showed that pubs in urban areas are equally as important to the communities they serve.’

A presentation at the pub is set to take place at 8pm on Monday (January 8) where the friends group will be handed their certificate by Dudley & South Staffs CAMRA. All are welcome. The friends group was formed in response to New River's plans and worked in partnership with Sandwell Council to make the pub and its surrounds an Asset of Community Value, meaning it would prevent any development without full planning permission. The group felt like they made a real breakthrough when New River's asset managing arm 'LT Management' agreed a tenancy deal with local publicans Stan and Karl Gardner, who also run the WATERFALL and the BELL AND BEAR. The father and son duo have made some significant changes to the pub during a period of refurbishment at the end of 2017.

Jim Mumford, the group's vice chairman, added, 'Since its recent refurbishment by new tenants Stan and Karl and under the management of Matt and his team, the HADEN CROSS is a thriving real ale pub, run by real people, growing from strength to strength. This would not have happened if the community had not remained strong and fought hard, together with the support of Sandwell Council and local politicians.'

Halesowen and Rowley Regis MP James Morris called the friends group a 'real inspiration' to those who want to make a difference in their local community."

Stanley John Gardner – see also BELL AND BEAR and WATERFALL.

[2020]

HAILSTONE

Dudley Road, (1, Springfield Lane), Knowle, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

Sarah Eliza Griffiths
T. and B. Woodhouse, Queens Cross, Dudley
Julia Hanson and Son Ltd.
Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd.

LICENSEES

William Henry [1848]
Joseph Danks [1851] – 1872);
Elizabeth Danks (1872);
Francis Griffiths (1872 – 1881);
Richard Griffiths (1881 – [1896])
David Edward Hollies [1900] – [1912]
Miss Hannah A M Griffiths [1916] – [1921] ?
Sarah Eliza Griffiths [1919] – 1923);
Mary Ann Gill (1923 – 1924);
Harry Ernest Blount (1924 – 1925);
Harry Aston (1925 – 1941);
Louisa Aston (1941);
Edward Walter Hill (1941 – 1944);
Thomas William Nock (1944 – 1945);
Mary Ann Nock (1945 – 1947);
William Arthur Grainger (1947 – 1950);
Sidney Raymond 'Sid' Hill (1950 – [1973])
Mrs. Sheila Lloyd [1986]
Paul Crump [1989] – [1990]
Michelle Woolfenden [1993]
Robert Barnes [2007]

NOTES

1, Springfield Lane [1900], [1904], [1908], [1912], [1916], [1921], [1932], [1940]
Dudley Road

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 13/3/1848 - Advert

“Freehold Land, Mines, and Dwelling Houses, situate about a mile and a half from Dudley, on the new Turnpike Road, from thence to Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by E. and C. Robins and Co., on Wednesday the 5th day of April next, at four o’clock in the afternoon, at the house of Mr. Smith, the HOTEL, Dudley, in one lot, subject to conditions then and there to be produced, by order of the Mortgagees.

All that small compact Freehold Estate, called the Knowle Farm, in the parish of Rowley Regis, in the county of Stafford, now or late in the occupation of Mr. William Davis, Butcher, Constitution Hill, Dudley; with the Public House, called the HAILSTONE INN, held by William Henry, and Two Houses adjoining, now or late in the possession of Benjamin Plant and Richard Slater; also, situated a short distance from the above, what formerly was the Farm House, Outbuildings, Fold, and Garden, but afterwards divided into several Cottages, Nail Shops, and small Gardens, now or late in the occupations of James Rock, John Kyte, William Woodhill, and others.....”

Joseph Danks = Joseph Dankes

1851 Census

Knowle

- [1] Joseph Dankes (42), publican, born Rowley;
- [2] Elizabeth Dankes (42), wife, born Rowley;
- [3] Henry Dankes (19), son, born Rowley;
- [4] Thomas Dankes (17), son, born Rowley;
- [5] Mary Dankes (14), daughter, born Rowley;
- [6] Edwin Dankes (11), son, born Rowley;
- [7] Lydia Dankes (8), daughter, born Rowley;
- [8] Elizabeth Dankes (4), daughter, born Rowley;

Staffordshire Advertiser 15/5/1852 - Advert

“Freehold Steam Flour Mill, Offices, & Dwelling Houses, Rowley Regis, Staffordshire.

To be Sold by Auction, by H. Farrington, at the house of Mr. Danks, the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley Regis, on Wednesday, the 16th day of June, 1852, at four for five o’clock in the afternoon, subject to conditions to be read at the time of sale.....”

Joseph Danks was also an iron boat builder. [1854]

Worcester Journal 26/8/1854

“An inquest was held on Saturday, at the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley Regis, before G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, on the body of William Burns, aged 25, an engineer at Mr. Jones’s Colliery, who met with his death by falling down the pit from a plank which is placed across the shaft for the use of the engineer whilst he oils the machinery. A verdict of Accidental Death was returned by the Jury.”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 16/8/1856

“Anthony Jarvis, a miner, living at Windmill End, was charged by Thomas Hobley, of Primrose Hill, with knocking him down, and afterwards robbing him of £1 9s 6d, on Monday week last, about ten o’clock at night, as he was going home.

It appeared that prosecutor had been to Rowley Hailstone, where there had been a tea party, on the day in question, and that he had afterwards gone to Mr. Danks’s, the HAILSTONE public house, and was drinking with some friends. Prisoner, who was well known to the prosecutor from a child, was amongst the company, when he (prosecutor) got up to leave, he was accused of having no money to spend. He said he had the price of a pint of ale left, and intended pulling a sixpence out of his pocket to show them, but by mistake pulled out a sovereign instead. He left to return home about half past ten, and when he got out of the house he counted his money, and found he had a sovereign, a half crown, a two shilling piece, and five single shillings.

When he got to the bottom of the first field, about two minutes’ walk, he was knocked down by a blow on the head from behind by the prisoner, who immediately got on the top of him. Prosecutor called him by name, and entreated him not to rob him, as he was an old man, and had known him from a child; prisoner took no notice and made no reply whatever, but placed his elbow on prosecutor’s throat, and rifled his pockets, of 19s and a tobacco box. There were two other men about twelve yards behind them, but prosecutor could not tell who they were, and was unable to call for assistance when prisoner had his arm on his throat. As soon as he was released, he followed prisoner, but lost sight of him before he got back to the house. He then went into the house (Danks’s) and told what had taken place. He also accused one Benjamin Burns with knowing something about it, and was turned out of the house by Mr. and Mrs. Danks.

In being cross examined by Mr. Lowe, prosecutor swore positively to the prisoner’s identity, denied being drunk, or having charged any of the company (who were at the public house when he returned after being robbed) with robbing him. Prosecutor wished the case to be adjourned, to have a witness, who was unable to attend on Monday. The case was accordingly adjourned till Wednesday.

On Wednesday Anthony Jarvis was again placed in the dock, and additional evidence given, which showed that the prisoner left the HAILSTONE public house about a quarter of an hour before prosecutor returned and complained of having been robbed, and that they had been seen previously talking together at the house.

Several witnesses were called for the defence, who stated that prosecutor was not sober, and that he charged five separate parties with having robbed him of £10; Mr. Danks stated that he put him out of the house in consequence of the disturbance he was making. When prisoner was apprehended by Constable Dorsett, he said, ‘The old man will suffer for this,’ and did not deny the charge. It also appeared that he went to prosecutor's house the day after the robbery, and asked him what he meant by raising the report that he had robbed him. Prosecutor asked him how he dared show his face. He (prisoner) replied, 'Mind how you do it; if I have not the chance to do it, some one else will,' and denied any knowledge of the robbery. He was committed for trial. Two sureties in £80 each, and himself in £160, were required as bail." [At Stafford, on 13th March 1857, Anthony Jarvis was found not guilty of robbery with violence.]

Joseph Danks was also a steam engine boiler maker and iron boat builder. [1860]

Birmingham Journal 5/5/1860 - Advert

"Valuable Freehold Building Land, situate at the Knowle, in the Parish of Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Monday Next, the 7th of May, at Six o'clock in the evening, at the HAILSTONE INN, the Knowle, Rowley, and subject to conditions then to be produced.

About Twenty Lots of valuable Freehold Building Land, situate at the Knowle, in the parish of Rowley Regis, being part of the Meadow now in the occupation of Mr. Joseph Danks, the HAILSTONE INN, at the Knowle aforesaid, having excellent frontages to the right-hand side of the main road leading from Dudley to Rowley, and commanding beautiful views of the Hailstone Hill, Rowley Hills, and the surrounding country.

Lithographed plans and particulars, showing and fully describing the lots, may be had from Messrs. W. and Brooke Robinson, Solicitors, or the Auctioneer, Dudley; and at the Place of Sale."

1861 Census

Knowle – HAILSTONE INN

[1] Joseph Danks (57), publican, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth Danks (55), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Henry Danks (28), son, blacksmith, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Lydia Danks (18), daughter, assistant at home, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Elizabeth Danks (14), daughter, born Rowley Regis:

Joseph Danks was also a boiler manufacturer and blacksmith. [1865]

Birmingham Journal 25/8/1866

"Mr. Hooper, District Coroner, held an inquest, on Monday, at the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley, upon the body of George Rollason, a miner, who was killed on the previous Friday, at the California Pits, Kates Hill.

Thomas Bannister, a deputy doggy, stated that he was at work with the deceased and another man when the accident happened.

The stall in which Rollason was at work was about 13 feet high, and there were several trees supporting it. It was about 10 yards to the 'bottom.' The deceased and witness tried the place before work began, and everything appeared quite safe. The only warning of the fall was a 'bump,' upon which witness called out to the men, but neither answered. About ten tons of coal fell, and the men were extricated in a few minutes, but life was extinct in both.

By Mr. Baker: The coal was overhanging about a yard and a half. There were no trees supporting the roof when the coal fell.

They had been removed just before in order to get the coal from the roof. The coal fell from the pillar as well as the roof. A much less quantity would have fallen if the overhanging coal had been taken off.

Mr. Latham promised that the suggestion of the Coroner and the Inspector, with regard to the coal overhanging, should be carried out. On every visit to the pit he would order that such coal should be taken down.

After a slight consultation, the Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

Stourbridge Observer 2/2/1867

"An inquest was held on Wednesday at the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley, before Mr. E. Hooper, on the body of a married woman, aged 40, named Mary Ann Hollier, residing with her husband, a labourer, in the Dudley Road.

The deceased, it appeared had been confined, and, according to the evidence of the husband, she went on well until Sunday night. At about half past nine o'clock she was taken suddenly ill, and expired almost immediately in the arms of her husband and a neighbour named Catherine Lavender.

It was shown that the family of the deceased had been subject to heart disease and as no suspicion attached to any one, the jury returned a verdict of Died from Natural Causes."

Joseph Danks was described as also being a boiler maker. [1868]

Stourbridge Observer 19/12/1868

"An inquest was held on Monday last, at the HAILSTONE INN, before Mr. Hooper, Coroner, touching the death of Caroline Hipkiss (17), who was killed on Thursday, the 10th inst, while at work at Mr. Chavasse's brickworks, Rowley.

From the evidence it appeared that she was at her ordinary work when her clothes were caught by the machinery, which pulled her round, and killed her on the spot.

A verdict of Accidental Death was returned."

Stourbridge Observer 6/3/1869

"On Friday the 26th ultimo, a fatal accident occurred to a man named James Hopkins, a miner, who was at work at No.27 Pit, Salt

Wells Colliery, when a fall of coal took place, which crushed the deceased. He was removed to his home, but died in a few hours. An inquest was held on Wednesday last, before E. Hooper, Esq, Coroner, at Mr. J. Danks's, the HAILSTONE INN, and a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.”

Joseph Danks was described as also being a steam engine boiler maker. [1870], [1872]

1871 Census

The Knowle

[1] Joseph Danks (63), farmer of 27 acres and licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Elizabeth Danks (64), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Henry Danks (39), son, boiler maker, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Elizabeth Danks (24), daughter, waitress, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Polly A. Plevé (21), general servant, born Dudley;

Birmingham Daily Post 17/6/1871 - Advert

“To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Monday Next, the 19th day of June, at Five for Six o’clock in the evening precisely, at the DUDLEY ARMS HOTEL, Dudley.....

Lot 6. Three Closes of valuable Freehold Land, with the ungotten Mines and Minerals thereunder, being part of the Knowle Colliery Estate, situated at the Knowle, in the parish of Rowley Regis, and near the Pottery and Lands of Messrs. H. Doulton and Co; the whole containing in quantity 5a 3r 26p, and now in the occupation of Mr. Joseph Danks.

Lot 7. The Old-licensed Inn and Premises, known as the HAILSTONE, situated at the Knowle aforesaid; together with the Three Dwelling Houses, Out-buildings, Yard, Gardens, and piece of Freehold Land adjoining; and the ungotten Mines and Minerals thereunder, now in the respective occupations of Mr. Joseph Danks and Messrs. Darby, Woodhouse, and Ward, the whole containing in quantity 2s 3r 37p, and of the aggregate annual value of £40.

Lot 8. The Close of excellent Freehold Meadow Land, with the ungotten Mines and Minerals thereunder, situated at the Knowle aforesaid, and containing 4a 3r 20p, also in the holding of Mr. Joseph Danks, and adjoining the last lot, with a very valuable and extensive frontage to the main road from Dudley to Rowley, thereby making a large portion of the Land available for Building purposes.

The last three lots, comprising the HAILSTONE Public House and Premises, with the Cottages adjoining, and the Lands held therewith, will, if thought more desirable at the time of sale, be offered in one lot.....”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 26/6/1871

“A sale was held at the DUDLEY ARMS HOTEL by Mr. Bateman, with the following results.....

The Knowle estate and HAILSTONE INN, Rowley, for which only £1,000 was offered, were not sold.”

Dudley Herald 9/3/1872

“.....for sale all that valuable freehold property comprising the old licensed inn and premises known as the HAILSTONE, situate at the Knowle occupied by Joseph Danks.”

Joseph Danks was the father of Henry and Thomas, who founded the company later known as H & T Danks of Netherton. He died in September 1872.

Stourbridge Observer 25/1/1873

“An inquest was held on Monday at Mr. Francis Griffiths's, the HAILSTONE, Rowley Regis, on the body of William Danby, aged 41 years, who met with his death on Friday last. Deceased was employed at Messrs. Jones’ pits, the Buffery, near Dudley, as banksman, and on Friday last was engaged in pushing a tub to descend the shaft, and also fell with it, and was killed. The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 22/3/1873

“John Peters was charged with being drunk and disorderly and refusing to quit the HAILSTONE INN, Dudley Road, when requested to do so by the landlord. Francis Griffiths said the defendant came to his house about seven o’clock on the night of the 3rd inst. He fastened the door, and defendant burst it open. He requested him to go, but he refused; and he (witness) put him out. The defendant was fined 2s 6d and costs.”

County Express 17/7/1875

“Sanitary Drainpipe Makers’ Association.

A meeting of the members of this association was held at the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley, on Tuesday night, when Mr. William Abbott, chairman of the association, presided, and in opening the proceedings, alluded to the late strike, which had lasted seventeen weeks. At that time they had no union of their own, but, having passed through great difficulties, they had seen the necessity for one, and though it was in its infancy, he hoped the day would come when they would not only be able to help themselves, but assist others.....”

County Express 10/7/1880

“A shocking accident occurred on Monday at the Brades, near Oldbury. Three navvies were at work in a small hole getting clay for the Birmingham Canal Company, when a slip of land took place. The men were all buried, and it was some time before they were got out. Lawrence Kynnersley, aged 31, residing at Springfield, Rowley, was quite dead. William Needham, aged 25, also of Springfield, Rowley, was taken to the Dudley Hospital, where he died the same night from his injuries. The third man, Thomas Martin, was conveyed to his home at Gornal, in a most dangerous condition. Kynnersley leaves a widow and four children. On Thursday Mr. Edwin Hooper (South Staffordshire Coroner) held an inquest at the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley Regis, on the body of Lawrence Kynnersley, aged 31, labourer, one of the men killed in an accident at the clayhole. Ann Kynnersley said the deceased had frequently stated that he expected such an accident as that by which he was killed, as there were continual falls of clay, which could neither be heard nor seen until they actually occurred. Joseph Simner, overseer at the clayhole, said the marl fell a distance of twelve feet on to the deceased. The persons who were responsible for the safety of the men employed at the clayhole only went to the place once a fortnight. The Coroner remarked to the witness that he did not consider that was often enough for the safety of life. Witness said he was deputed to take account of the work done by the men employed, but they were left to look to their own safety. Addressing the jury, the Coroner said, 'I think this man is responsible to a great extent. The wonder is that all the men were not killed.' (To witness), 'If the proposed Act of Parliament had been in force I should certainly have held you liable. I do not express an opinion as to whether I am in favour of the Act or not, but in this instance it would have been a very good thing.' The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death, accompanied with a recommendation to the effect that the Birmingham Canal company, to whom the marl hole belonged, should be communicated with, and requested to establish a system of periodical examination of the marl hole. The inquest touching the death of William Needham was held at the Guest Hospital on Thursday before Mr. Watts, and a verdict of accidental death was returned."

Francis Griffiths died in 1881.

1881 Census

1, Springfield Lane

- [1] Richard Griffiths (39), victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Alice Griffiths (35), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Hannah Griffiths (16), daughter, domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Francis Griffiths (6), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mary Ann Griffiths (4), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Thomas Griffiths (3), son, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Alice Griffiths (1), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] John Griffiths (26), boarder, no occupation, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] Marshale Hughes (7), boarder, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [10] Joseph Cutler (39), lodger, carpenter, born Rowley Regis;
- [11] Anne Woodhouse (19), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis;

St. Giles, Rowley - Parish Register - Baptisms

15th July 1883 - Alice, daughter of Richard and Alice Griffiths, licensed victualler, The Knowle.

County Express 9/2/1884

"Richard Griffiths, landlord of the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley, was charged with selling adulterated gin on the 7th December last. Samuel Toy visited the defendant's premises on the above date and purchased half a pint of gin. This he divided into three parts, giving one to the defendant and the other to Mr. Horder.

Mr. Horder submitted a sample to Mr. Jones, public analyst, who returned a certificate stating that the gin was 50 per cent under proof. This was 15 per cent under the minimum allowed.

Mr. J. Wright, for the defence, said that the defendant was not aware that he was making a breach of the law by doing what he did. There was a card hung in his establishment stating that all liquors sold there were adulterated. Defendant was fined 40s and costs."

County Advertiser 1/10/1887

"Richard Griffiths, landlord of the HAILSTONE INN, Knowle, was charged, at the instance of the Rowley Local Board, with refusing to comply with a notice of the inspector to the Board to remove a urinal. Mr. A. Wright (clerk to the Board) appeared to prosecute. He stated that he had seen the defendant that morning, and he said the urinal had been removed to the satisfaction of the inspector. He should only ask the Bench to order defendant to pay the costs, under the circumstances. Defendant was ordered to pay the costs."

County Advertiser 5/5/1888 - Advert

"Rowley Regis. Freehold Houses and Premises in Springfield Lane.

Mr. T. Pateshall is instructed to Sell by Auction at the house of Mr. Richard Griffiths, the HAILSTONE INN, Knowle, Rowley Regis, on Wednesday, the 16th day of May, 1888, at Seven o'clock in the Evening, subject to conditions....."

1891 Census

1, Springfield Lane – HAILSTONE INN

- [1] Richard Griffiths (50), licensed victualler, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Alice Griffiths (46), wife, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] Hannah Griffiths (26), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [4] Eliza Griffiths (20), daughter, born Rowley Regis;
- [5] Mary A. Griffiths (15), daughter, dress maker's apprentice, born Rowley Regis;
- [6] Thomas Griffiths (13), son, grocer's errand boy, born Rowley Regis;
- [7] Alice Griffiths (11), daughter, scholar, born Rowley Regis;
- [8] John Griffiths (34), brother, living on his own means, born Rowley Regis;
- [9] James Bolland (15), nephew, engine fitter's apprentice, born Oldbury:

County Express 19/9/1891

“Mr. Edwin Hooper (South Staffordshire Coroner) held an inquest at the HAILSTONE INN, Dudley Road, on Tuesday evening, respecting the death of John Peters (17), miner, Springfield Lane, who was drowned whilst bathing in a pool at Warren's Hill. Deceased told a companion that he was either going to swim or drown. Deceased could not swim, and was advised not to go into the middle of the pool. He, however, got out of his depth and sank. Witness swam after him, and succeeded in bringing him to the surface by holding his hand. Near to the side deceased put his arms round witness's neck, and they both sank. With difficulty witness effected his escape, but Peters was drowned.

In reply to the Coroner, witness said he had never heard the deceased threaten to commit suicide.

The jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death.”

County Advertiser 15/10/1898 - Advert

“Sale of Two Useful Brewing Plants, Casks, &c, at the HAILSTONE INN, Springfield, The Knowle, Rowley. Messrs. John G. Wright and Son will Sell by Auction, on Wednesday, October 19th, Two Useful Brewing Plants, including the one at the VINE INN, Rowley Regis, removed for convenience of sale; Malt Crusher, and other Effects.

Sale at Eleven o'clock in the Morning.

Auction Offices: No.28, Wolverhampton Street, Dudley.”

AND

Dudley Herald 15/10/1898 - Advert

“Wednesday Next.

Sale of Two Useful Brewing Plants, Casks, &c, at the VINE INN, and HAILSTONE INN, Rowley Regis, the former being removed to the latter place for convenience of sale.

John G. Wright and Son are instructed to Sell by Auction, at the HAILSTONE INN, Springfield, The Knowle, Rowley, near Dudley, on Wednesday, October 19, 1898, the Useful Brewing Plants as above, including Four Cast Iron Boilers, capital Gathering Square, Mash Tubs, Coolers, Copper Sieves, Quantity Casks, Malt Crusher, and other Brewing Effects.

Sale to commence at 11 o'clock in the morning prompt.

Auction Offices: No.28, Wolverhampton Street, Dudley.”

County Express 18/8/1900

“On Monday night Mr. H. A. Pearson (coroner) held an inquest at the HAILSTONE INN, The Knowle, Rowley Regis, concerning the death of John Taylor (60), a retired chain manufacturer, who had died suddenly. The deceased – who has been known in the Black Country as the agent of Joseph Darby, champion jumper – on the 11th inst went to Dudley by train, and walked back to his house at The Knowle. He went into the HAILSTONE INN and ordered refreshment, and immediately afterwards fell down dead. Dr. Beasley said death was due to apoplexy. The jury returned a verdict of Died from Natural Causes.”

1901 Census

1, Springfield Lane – HAILSTONE INN

[1] David E. Hollies (45), licensed victualler, born Netherton;

[2] Alice Hollies (43), wife, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Mary A. Hollies (19), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[4] Florence R. Hollies (15), daughter, born Rowley Regis;

[5] Esther A. Hollies (9), daughter, born Dudley;

[6] James P. Hollies (5), son, born Dudley:

David Hollies brewed his own beer.

Leominster News 17/2/1905

“At Dudley on Monday, John Smith, landlord of the RED LION INN, Northfield Road, Netherton, was charged with selling during prohibited hours; and David Hollies, HAILSTONE INN, Rowley, and Henry and Lorrige Pearce, Withymoor Road, were summoned for being on the premises during such hours.

Police-constable Scriven stated that at about 3.45 on the morning of January 8th he observed a light in one of the windows of the RED LION INN. On looking through he saw a servant carrying several drinks on tray, and subsequently heard the rattling of keys and the chink of money. Witness obtained admission to the house, and found Hollies sitting with his boots off. The landlord said Hollies had had a sudden seizure of gout, and was unable to go home. In the smoke-room witness found Mr. Pearce and his wife. Asked to account for the presence of all these people on the premises the landlord, evidently misunderstanding his position, declared them to be all sober, and offered to send for a doctor to prove the assertion. There were drinks on the table.

Dr. E. A. Dando said that Hollies, who was subject to gout, was driven to his surgery suffering from the malady on the morning of the 8th inst, and was still lame.

The defendant Smith stated that Hollies went to his house at 10.45pm, and after mentioning that he had got the gout, ordered a glass of 'special Scotch.' At eleven o'clock Hollies said he could not walk home, and witness went to Pearce, who lived near, and asked him to help in getting Hollies home. They tried to get a conveyance, but were unable to do so, and eventually Hollies's own vehicle was fetched. No drink was paid for after closing time.

Pearce said that he and his wife remained, as neighbours, with Smith in his difficulty with Hollies. No drink was given to them. Smith and Hollies were each fined 40s and costs, and Mr. and Mrs. Pearce 10s and costs each."

County Advertiser 25/11/1905

"Alfred Smith and Alfred Hampton, of Springfields, Rowley, were charged with refusing to quit the licensed premises of the HAILSTONE INN, Springfield, Rowley, kept by Davis Edward Hollies, on the 18th inst. The landlord stated that on the date in question the defendants were customers at his house, when they commenced to use bad language. Witness remonstrated with them, and ordered them to leave the house, but this they refused to do until a constable was sent for. Defendants expressed their regret, and the Bench fined them each 10s, including costs."

1911 Census

Springfield – HAILSTONE INN

- [1] David Edward Hollies (55), licensed victualler, born Dudley Parish;
- [2] Alice Hollies (53), wife, married 33 years, assisting, born Rowley Regis;
- [3] James Philip Hollies (15), son, school, born Dudley;
- [4] Easther Hollies (19), daughter, assisting, born Dudley:

County Express 8/7/1911

"A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Dudley and District Licensed Victuallers' Association was held on Thursday evening at the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley, Mr. W. George presiding. Reference was made to the concession of £50,000 to the trade contained in the Budget, as suggested by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and it was contended that as a vast amount of money had been taken from the trade, a greater concession ought to be made.

It was decided that Ald. Matthew Smith, Mr. William George, Mr. T. P. Hanson, Mr. H. Pearson, and the secretary (Mr. E. H. Boilstone) should form a deputation to wait upon Sir Griffith Boscawen, MP, and point out to him the dissatisfaction that existed amongst the members of the trade, owing to the excessive taxation, and the necessity for the House of Commons granting further relief. The secretary said he understood Sir Griffith Boscawen would be in the constituency next week, and it was hoped the hon member would voice the grievances of the trade in the House of Commons.

A good number of additional licensed traders were elected members of the association, and the Chairman expressed satisfaction that an increased number of members of the trade were now realising the importance of combination."

County Express 7/10/1911 - Advert

"Rowley Regis, Staffs. Notice of Sale by Auction of Freehold Dwelling Houses.

Alfred Hill has been instructed by the Mortgagee, to Sell by Public Auction, at the House of Mr. Hollis, the HAILSTONE INN, Rowley Regis, on Monday, October 16th, 1911, at 6.30 for 7 in the Evening precisely, subject to Conditions of Sale to be then read....."

Springfield United FC were based here.

Dudley Chronicle 24/11/1932 - Advert

"Highly Important Announcement of Sale by Auction of 13 Freehold Fully Licensed and Beerhouse Properties, Dwelling Houses and Shops, a Valuable Freehold Property with full Off-License, a block of central business Premises and a Leasehold Property known as the Queens Cross Brewery with the LAMP TAVERN, Dwelling Houses, Offices and Land in Dudley, Stourbridge, King-swinford, Rowley Regis, Coseley, and Ettingshall.

Alfred W. Dando and Co. have received instructions from Mr. Thomas Woodhouse and the Exors of the Will of the late Mr. Benjamin Woodhouse (trading as Messrs. T. and B. Woodhouse) to Sell by Auction at the DUDLEY ARMS HOTEL, Dudley, on Tuesday, December 13th, 1932, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon precisely, subject to printed Conditions of Sale, as follows.

At Dudley.

Lot 1. The CASTLE AND FALCON INN, Wolverhampton Street. (Fully-Licensed).

Lot 2. The ANGEL INN, Castle Street, corner of Fisher Street. (Fully-Licensed).

Lot 3. The WHITE SWAN INN, Castle Street. (Fully-Licensed).

Lot 5. The ALMA INN, Hall Street. (Fully-Licensed), with the Shop adjoining No.92, occupied by Mrs. Moule, and various ranges of Buildings at the rear, approached from Oakeywell Street.

Lot 6. The COACHMAKERS ARMS INN, Stafford Street. (Fully-Licensed). With the Shop and Dwelling House adjoining.

Lot 7. The DOG AND PARTRIDGE INN, Cromwell Street, Kates Hill. (Fully-Licensed).

Lot 8. The CROSS GUNS INN, Cross Guns Street, Kates Hill. (Fully-Licensed). With the Dwelling House adjoining.

At Stourbridge.

Lot 10. The EAGLE VAULTS, High Street. (Fully-Licensed). With Blacksmith's Shop adjoining.

At Kingswinford.

Lot 11. The BRIDGE INN, Dawley Brook. (Fully-Licensed).

At Rowley Regis.

Lot 12. The HAILSTONE INN, Springfield. (Fully-Licensed).

At Coseley

Lot 13. The RED LION INN, Roseville. (Beerhouse-On).

Lot 14. The SWAN INN, Deepfields. (Fully-Licensed). With Cottage and Land adjoining.

At Ettingshall.

Lot 15. The FORGE HAMMER INN, Manor Road. (Beerhouse-On). With large area of Land adjoining.

Lot 16. The Leasehold Interest in the LAMP TAVERN, Dudley, and the Brewery Premises with the two private Dwelling Houses adjoining.

Note: The Auctioneers have every confidence in directing the attention of Brewers and others to the sale of the foregoing licensed and other properties occasioned by the death of Mr. Benjamin Woodhouse, who managed the business. Eight of the houses are situate in prominent positions in and around the town of Dudley and the remainder within a radius of five miles and all will be found to be well chosen for trading purposes and in good structural order and repair.

Full particulars and conditions of Sale are in course of preparation and may be obtained when ready, and the lease of the Brewery Premises inspected, at the offices of Messrs. Jobson and Marshall, Solicitors, 199, Wolverhampton Street (Tele. No.2041); or of the Auctioneers, 193, Wolverhampton Street (Tele. No.2256); all of Dudley.”

Birmingham Daily Gazette 14/12/1932

“There was a large sale of Black Country licensed premises at Dudley yesterday. Thirteen properties realised £37, 400, in addition to out-going valuations. The houses sold were.....

HAILSTONE INN, Springfield, Rowley, £2,550.”

1939 Register

Dudley Road – HAILSTONE INN

[1] Harry Aston, date of birth 28/1/1875, tenant, HAILSTONE INN, married;

[2] Louisa Aston, dob 9/1/1881, helps husband in public house, married;

[3] Beatrice M. Aston, dob 1/1/1907, sleeps in public house, single:

Thomas William Nock married Mary Ann Jones.

He died in 1945.

See also CALIFORNIA.

A team from here took part in the Rowley Regis Darts League. [1959/60], [1960/61]

Approval of plans for alterations was given at Warley Licensing Sessions on 25th April 1966.

It was completely refurbished in 1989.

Paul Crump was married to Rose.

Sandwell Evening Mail 19/7/1990

“Thousands of pounds worth of damage have been caused to a Black Country pub conservatory in a vendetta against the licensee and his wife, said police. Windows worth more than £6,000 have been damaged with sharp instruments in two attacks on the HAILSTONE pub, Dudley Road, Rowley Regis. Now Wolverhampton and Dudley Brewery have offered a £200 reward leading to the prosecution and conviction of the attackers.

Licensee Mr. Paul Crump who moved to the pub, with his wife Rose and their two children aged four and 15, just 14 months ago, said, ‘The conservatory was built in October last year as part of a £133,000 expansion. Since then 19 panes of glass have been damaged in two separate attacks – the total amount of damage exceeding £6,000. One attack, past midnight, terrified our four-year-old daughter. The customers are well behaved but we have had to remove two or three people for causing trouble. The brewery have offered a £200 reward leading to the prosecution and conviction of the person or people involved.’

Insp. Graham Hunt, based at Old Hill police station, said, ‘The attacks appear to be a vendetta against Mr. and Mrs. Crump. We are keeping a close watch on the situation and anyone with any information should contact the CID.’”

[2007]

Closed [2008], [2013]

It was converted into a restaurant and takeaway in 2014.

Halesowen News 23/12/2014

“The owner of a recently-opened Rowley Regis restaurant has donated more than £300 to Sandwell mayor’s charity appeal. Wahidur Rahman opened The Hailstone Indian Restaurant, Springfield Close, last month, bringing back into use a long-empty former pub. He donated his entire opening night takings of £326 to the Mayor’s Charity Fund which is raising money this year for Sandwell Women's Aid. The mayor, Councillor Derek Rowley, said, 'I was most grateful to receive this very kind donation from Mr Rahman and I wish him every success with his new restaurant.' The new premises opened in November and the restaurant has a five-star hygiene rating from Sandwell Council's environmental health team."

HALFWAY HOUSE

Sprink House, (Dudley) New Road, Springfield, ROWLEY REGIS

OWNERS

LICENSEES

Mrs. Mary Plant [1861] – [1871]

NOTES

1861 Census

Dudley New Road – Public House

- [1] Mary Plant (67), widow, publican, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Thomas Plant (38), son, born Dudley;
- [3] Isabella Plant (28), daughter, born Dudley:

Birmingham Journal 3/12/1864 - Advert

"Freehold and Old-Established Public House, called the HALF-WAY HOUSE, with Dwelling House, Out-Buildings, and Premises adjoining, situate at the Sprink House, on the New Road leading from Dudley to Rowley, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, in the County of Stafford.

To Be Sold By Auction, by Mr. Bateman, on Monday, December 12, 1864, at Six o'clock in the evening, at the DUDLEY ARMS HOTEL, Dudley, and subject to conditions then to be produced.

All that very desirable and Old-established Freehold Public House, called the HALF-WAY HOUSE, with the Dwelling House, Out-buildings, and Premises adjoining, situate as above, now and for many years past in the occupation of Mrs. Mary Plant and her under-tenant, of the yearly value of £20, and covering an area of 530 square yards.

For further particulars, apply to Messrs. Coldicott and Canning, Solicitors; Mr. Brooke Robinson, Solicitor; or the Auctioneer, all of Dudley."

1871 Census

Springfield

- [1] Mary Plant (78), licensed beer seller, born Rowley Regis;
- [2] Thomas Plant (48), son, brewer, born Dudley:

Dudley Herald 24/2/1872

"Freehold and old established public house called the HALFWAY HOUSE situate at the Sprinkhouse, on the new road leading from Dudley to Rowley, in the Parish of Rowley."

County Advertiser 31/8/1878

"Samuel Darby charged Henry Melson, potter, of Rowley, with having assaulted him on the 24th inst. He alleged that on Saturday night he was leaving the HALFWAY HOUSE, Rowley, when some person at the door said, 'This is him.' He was then struck and knocked down, and a 'gang' attacked him, kicking him and beating him severely. One kick he received on the eye caused blood to flow for some time after. A witness named James Priest asserted that Melson was the man who first struck complainant, notwithstanding defendant called James Davis to prove that he was with him all the evening in question, and never saw him accost complainant in any way. Complainant said he could bring further evidence to support his case, and the Bench accordingly adjourned the hearing for a fortnight."

County Advertiser 28/9/1878

"Henry Melson, potter, of Rowley, appeared on an adjourned charge of assaulting Samuel Darby, on the night of the 24th ult. Complainant was leaving the HALFWAY HOUSE INN, at Rowley, on this night, and was knocked down by the defendant. Defendant called two witnesses to state that they did not see him commit the assault. The magistrates thought it proved against him, and inflicted a fine of 5s and costs; in default fourteen days."

AND

County Express 28/9/1878

“Samuel Darby was charged with having assaulted Henry Melson, at Perry’s Lake, Rowley. The case had been adjourned from a previous Court when Melson gave evidence to the effect that as he was in the act of leaving a public house known as the HALF WAY HOUSE he was attacked by several men who attacked him, but called witnesses to prove that defendant was one of the number.

Darby was fined 5s and costs.”

Dudley and District News 10/2/1883 - Advert

“To be Sold by Private Treaty before, or by Public Auction, on Monday, February 26th, at the HALFWAY HOUSE, Rowley, near Dudley, a quantity of Brewing Utensils, Brewing Plant, &c, either as one lot or in lots to suit purchasers. Apply, BULLS HEAD INN, Windmill End, near Dudley.”

Dudley and District News 24/2/1883 - Advert

“The HALF-WAY HOUSE INN, Rowley Road, near Dudley. To Publicans, Brokers, and Others.

Mr. W. Pearson has received instructions to Sell by Auction, on Monday, February 26th, a quantity of Household Furniture, Brewing Utensils, License, Goodwill, and other Effects, comprising Screens, Drinking Tables, Square Table and Benches, Dining Tables, Trestles and Tables, Lamps, Vats, Iron Boilers, Mash Tub, Shelves, Ale Measures, Cups, Jugs, Glasses, Ale Cans, Jars, Wort Sieves and Trough, Window Blinds and Curtains, Working and Barm Tubs, Barrels, Brass Taps, Four-pull Beer Machine and Piping all complete, Steelyards, Racking Taps, Spigget Cooler, Tun Pail, Laid Gawn, Trays, Funnels, Cellar Trough, Lead Piping into Cellar and Taps, Meat Rack, Spittoons, Ornaments on Frame, Malt Crusher, Spill Cans, Sign in front of house, Marble Alley, &c.

Sale to commence at Eleven o’clock prompt.

The License and Goodwill will be sold at the house of Mr. J. P. Mansell, BULLS HEAD INN, Windmill End, at 6 o’clock in the evening of the same date.

Auctioneer’s Office and Residence, Cradley Road, Netherton.”

HAMMER

CRADLEY HEATH

OWNERS

LICENSEES

NOTES

It was situated near Cradley Forge Pool and the Meeting House.

[1822]

HANDEL HOTEL

1, (19), (94), Oldbury Road, (Market Place) / Birmingham Road, BLACKHEATH

OWNERS

Charles M’Kenley [1855]

William Laister [1864], [1877]

Mary Elizabeth Downing Whitehouse

North Worcestershire Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1896) [1903]

Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries Ltd. (acquired in 1909)

LICENSEES

Daniel Wright [1854]

Thomas Wright [1854]

Charles M'Kenley [1854] – [1855]
Charles M'Kirby [] – 1857);
Benjamin Slim (1857 – [1858]
Thomas Slim [] – 1859);
Thomas Simcox (1859 – []
Miss Sarah Jane Slim [1860] – [1865]
William Laister [1864] – [1865]
Caleb Short [] – 1865);
William Hunt (1865 – 1869);
William Laister (1869 – 1874)
Samuel Hayward (1874 – []
George Henry Lester [1875]
William Laister [1875] – [1876]
George Cox [] – 1881);
George Hartridge (1881 – []
Alfred Cox [1876] – 1882);
John Hadley (1882 – []
Thomas Hadley [1882]
Silas Whitehouse [1883] – [1885]
Edward Mason [1886] – [1892]
Edward Brine [1893] – [1897]
Alphonse Smets [1898] – [1912]
Clifford Harris Pearson [1916] – 1922);
Frederick Crampton (1922 – 1927);
Albert Rose (1927 – 1929);
Walter Edmunds (1929 – 1935);
John James (1935 – [1965])

NOTES

HANDEN ARMS [1862]
HANDELS HEAD [1878]

It was situated opposite to the SHOULDER OF MUTTON.

It was the headquarters of Blackheath Town FC.

Daniel Wright was also a butcher. [1854]

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 2/1/1854 - Advert

“HANDEL HOTEL, Bleak Heath, Rowley Regis, Hales Owen Road, about six miles from Birmingham.

By John Roderick. To be Disposed Of by private Contract (by direction of the Proprietor, who is retiring from business), the Licenses, Goodwill, and Possession of the above well-known, old-established Licensed Victualler's House, in a populous neighbourhood, and brewing regularly 1100 bushels of Malt per annum, with a good sale of Wines and Spirits; and a large Wholesale Trade might easily be established.

The premises are commodious, built expressly for the business, lighted with gas, and comprise five bed-rooms, large room to dine 250 persons, front tap-room, bar, parlour, private sitting-room, large Brewhouse, good Stabling, and capital cellars, and may be had on Lease if required, at a moderate rental. Coming-in about £500.

Apply to John Roderick, Auctioneer, 54, New Street, Birmingham.”

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 12/6/1854 - Advert

“To Publicans, Brewers, and Others.

Important Unreserved Sale at the HANDEL HOTEL and Brewery, Bleak Heath, near Rowley, two miles from the Oldbury Station. By John Roderick. To be Sold by Auction, on Monday next the 19th day of June, commencing at eleven o'clock.

The Household and Public House Furniture, Fixtures, and Fittings; comprising a variety of Chamber Furniture, twenty strong deal forms, music stands, drinking tables, beaufet, oak wardrobe, Windsor chairs, modern gas fittings, capital six-pull ale machine, thirteen-tap liquor fountain, thirteen gilt and painted barrels, measures, glassware, a gross of bottles, twenty new bottle baskets, forty-five eighteen-gallon casks, twenty one hundred-gallon casks, sixteen thirty-six gallon casks, two capital 450-gallon store casks, all in capital condition; an expensive apparatus for making gas without cost, with retort, condensers, worm box, purifier, gasometer, &c, complete, suitable for a Manufactory or country Hotel, and capable of supplying twenty lights, ladders, wheelbarrows, and numerous other effects, the property of Mr. Thomas Wright, who is removing in consequence of other engagements. Catalogues may be had.”

Birmingham Journal 9/12/1854 - Advert

“To be Sold by Private Contract, Five new substantially and conveniently-built Houses, Shops, and Out-buildings, well supplied with Soft Water, situate in the improving neighbourhood of Blackheath, between Rowley Regis and Oldbury; let to respectable tenants, producing at low rents £33 per annum.

Apply to Mr. G. H. Collis, 38, Bennetts Hill, Birmingham, and Mr. M'Kenlay, at the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath.”

Birmingham Journal 6/10/1855 - Advert

“On Friday, October 19th, 1855.

Important & Extensive Freehold Properties, known by the sign of the HANDEL HOTEL, with Five Other Houses, Buildings, and Land Adjoining, situated at Bleak Heath, in the Parish of Rowley Regis, Staffordshire.

Mr. J. S. Parkes has received instructions from Mr. Charles M'Kenley to Sell by Auction at the house of Mr. Edward Perrins, the WAGGON AND HORSES INN, Church Street, Oldbury, on Friday, October 19th, 1855, at Five o'clock in the afternoon, in three lots, and subject to conditions then to be produced.

All that important, extensive, and recently-erected Freehold Property, situated at Bleak Heath, in the parish of Rowley Regis aforesaid, and known by the sign of the HANDEL HOTEL, with Five other recently-erected and well-tenanted Freehold Houses and Building Land adjoining.

Lot 1. Consists of all that capital, well-built, and recently-erected Freehold Premises, known by the sign of the HANDEL HOTEL; comprising extensive Corner Spirit Shop, fronting the Dudley and Birmingham and Hales Owen and Oldbury Turnpike Roads, Parlour, Smoke Room, Tap Room, Brewhouse, with Cellaring under the whole, six large and lofty Bed Rooms, Concert Room, 74 feet long by 22 feet wide, a Ten-quarter Malthouse, Brewery, Office, Stabling for six Horses, Coach-house, Piggeries, and other Out-buildings, with very large Water Tank, to hold 400 barrels, an excellent Well of Water with Pump, extensive and well enclosed Yard, the whole of which has been built in the best possible manner and regardless of expense.....”

Birmingham Journal 16/5/1857 - Advert

“Unserved Sale. To Pawnbrokers, Dealers, and Others.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. J. S. Parkes, on Monday Next, May 18, at the house of Mr. Benjamin Slim, HANDEL HOTEL, Black Heath, removed for convenience of sale – a quantity of Drapery Goods and Wearing Apparel.....”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 20/3/1858 - Advert

“Unreserved Sale at the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, Rowley Regis.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. Detheridge, on Monday next, March 22nd 1858 useful and general Household Furniture removed to Mr. Benjamin Slim's for convenience of Sale.....”

Brierley Hill Advertiser 8/5/1858 - Advert

“Sale at the HANDEL HOTEL, Black Heath, near Rowley.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. W. Hawkins, on Monday, May 17th, 1858, a large quantity of Brewing Utensils, Mashing Tub, Iron Furnaces, Wood Vat, gathering Tubs, well seasoned Casks, Four-pull Beer Machine, Sieve and Piping, Ale and Spirit Measures, Spirit Shop Counter, Screens, Drinking Tables, Window Guards, Pocket of prime Hops, Chairs, Tables, Clocks, Horse-hair Sofa, Chimney Glasses, Chests of Drawers, and other effects, belonging to a gentleman who is leaving the neighbourhood, and removed as above for convenience of Sale.

Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock.”

County Advertiser 8/10/1859

“The inquest on the body of Amos Tout, a tailor, who was found drowned in the canal, near Mr. Badger's furnaces on the day following Rowley wake (as reported in the Advertiser a fortnight since), was resumed on Friday last at the HANDEL HOTEL, before G. H. Hinchliffe, Esq, coroner. Mr. Beattie, surgeon, of Oldbury, deposed to making an examination of the body, but found no marks of bruises or other indications as to the cause of death. A witness, named Haden, stated that the deceased was drinking with him at the CROSS public house, at two o'clock on the night of the wake, and that the road by the canal was in the direction of his home. He left him at the public house. The jury at once returned a verdict of Found Drowned.”

1861 Census

Black Heath – HANDEL HOTEL

[1] Sarah Jane Slim (35), unmarried, born Rowley Regis;

[2] Sarah Slim (71), mother, born Rowley Regis;

[3] Hannah Edwards (15), domestic servant, born Rowley Regis:

Birmingham Daily Post 22/11/1864 - Advert

“HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, near Oldbury.

Clearing-Out Sale of the Public-House Fixtures, Brewing Plant, Seasoned 400-gallon, 120-gallon, and smaller Ale Casks, two tumps of Worcester Hops (1864), capital four-pull Ale Machine, portion of the neat Household Furniture, Eight-day and thirty-hour Clocks, large felt and Kidderminster Carpets, prime home-cured Bacon, strong narrow-wheel Cart, Spring Market Trap, set of Cart Gearing, and other valuable Effects at the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath aforesaid, and which will be sold by auction, by Mr. Chandler, tomorrow (Wednesday), November 23, at Eleven o'clock, by direction of Miss Slim, who is leaving.

Catalogues may be had at the place of sale, and of the Auctioneer, High Street, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 17/12/1864

“On Wednesday, Sarah Stokes was brought up in custody, charged with obtaining 10s from William Laister, of Blackheath, by means of false pretences. About twelve months ago the prisoner went to Mr. Laister, and asked for employment. She represented herself as a widow, and very ill off. Mr. Laister agreed to take her into his employment, and she asked for a sovereign to get decent articles of clothing to come with, at the same time referring him for her character to Mr. Jackson, of Stourbridge. He gave her 10s, and he had never seen her since till the previous day, when he gave her into custody, she having come into his house, the HANDEL HOTEL. He had ascertained that her husband was still alive, and that she was living with him. The prisoner was remanded for a week, to allow the police time to enquire into the manner in which she became possessed of property represented by certain pawn tickets found in her possession.”

County Advertiser 14/1/1865 - Advert

“HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, near Oldbury.

To be Let, the above Old-licensed House and Premises, containing Front Corner Liquor Shop, Parlours, Tap Room, very large Concert or Club Room, Bed Rooms, spacious dry Cellars, Brewhouse, Yard, &c. Coming in about £70. Being situated in an important and rapidly improving position on the Oldbury turnpike road, it offers unusual advantages to an enterprising person. Possession may be had at once.

Apply to Mr. Chandler, Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

County Advertiser 11/3/1865

“On Wednesday, at the Police Court, William Hodgetts, collier, was charged with assaulting William Steventon, collier, on the 1st inst. The assault took place in the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath (Mr. Laister's). The defendant went to the complainant, challenged him to fight, and then struck him. They had two rounds, after which Steventon sat down on a bench. Shortly after the defendant pulled the complainant off the bench by the hair of the head, and while he was on the ground kicked him in a most severe manner. Mr. Laister, landlord of the hotel, stated that he heard Steventon say he would give in to Hodgetts, and afterwards he sat down on a bench. Hodgetts went to Steventon as he sat on the bench and beat him in a severe and cowardly manner. He had forbidden the defendant coming to the house. The defendant was fined 10s and costs; in default twenty-one days. Hodgetts was then charged with being guilty of riotous and disorderly conduct in the HANDEL HOTEL, on the above day. Mr. Laister withdrew the case on the defendant promising to keep away from the house and paying the costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 3/4/1865 - Advert

“To be Let, with immediate possession, the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, near Oldbury. It is situate in a rapidly improving position on the Oldbury Turnpike Road, and near to the intended Railway Station on the Stourbridge Extension Railway, and which will shortly be opened for traffic.

Apply to Mr. Chandler, Auctioneer, Cradley Heath.”

Birmingham Daily Post 18/5/1865 - Advert

“Bleak Heath, near Rowley Regis. The HANDEL HOTEL, and Wine and Spirit Vaults.

By Joseph S. Parkes. To be Disposed Of by Private Treaty, the above Valuable Hotel and Wine and Spirit Vaults, situate as above, and being at the junction of four Turnpike Roads, leading to Rowley Regis and Dudley, Hales Owen, the Quinton, and Oldbury, in the centre of the town, and the nearest to the Railway Station on the Stourbridge Extension Line, in the most improving neighbourhood in the midland counties, and surrounded by important Collieries, Brick Works, Nail, Chain, Rivet, and other Works.

There is a well-attended Market on the Saturday.

The Premises consist of six Bed Rooms, large and well-fitted Concert Room, to seat 400 people, a capital front Spirit Shop, Smoke Room, Tap Room, Cooking Kitchen, excellent Brewery, Coach-house and Stabling, lock-up Yard, with an unlimited supply of hard and soft Water.

The Premises have undergone a through repair and decorations.

To an energetic and business person an opportunity like the present seldom offers itself.

The Premises may be let upon lease, at a very low rental, nominal. Immediate possession may be had.

For further particulars, and to treat, apply to Joseph S. Parkes, Auctioneer, Surveyor, and Hotel Valuer, Wesley Street, Oldbury.”

Stourbridge Observer 15/7/1865

“On Wednesday last at the Public Office, Daniel Parsons, Benjamin Gould, William Slim, William Poole, Joseph Priest, and William Portman, were charged by Caleb Short, landlord of the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, with refusing to leave his house, on Saturday night last. From the evidence of Mr. Short, it appears that the defendants are in the habit of coming to his house, and causing disturbances. Complainant said he had had a large room used for dancing, &c, to which the public were admitted upon payment of 3d, which was returned in refreshments. Defendants went into this room and commenced fighting, and created a great disturbance. When he told them to leave they refused. They were all, with the exception of Benjamin Gould, who did not take so active a part in the proceedings as the rest, fined 5s and costs, in default 14 days' hard labour, and Gould was ordered to pay costs.”

Birmingham Daily Post 6/11/1865 - Advert

“The HANDEL HOTEL, Black Heath, Staffordshire, near Rowley.

To be Let, the Goodwill and Possession of the above Old-established and spacious Hotel, situated in the centre of a very large and populous district, surrounded with Chain and Rivet Manufactories, and close to the new line of Railway, and opposite the contemplated Market Hall. The Premises consist of well fitted-up Front Liquor Shop, large Front Tap Room, capital Smoke Room, Back Kitchen, Cooking Kitchen, large Brewhouse, well fitted-up with Boilers, Vats, &c, six Ale Cellars, Wine ditto, large Concert Hall, 70ft long; six Chambers, 3-horse Stable, and Piggeries with spacious Yard, and every convenience for carrying out a large and extensive Business. An excellent Trade is being done. The sole cause of the present Proprietor leaving is on account of indisposition. Stock and Fixtures to be taken to at a valuation. The in-coming will be moderate, and the rent is exceedingly low for such a Premises, only £35 per annum.

For further particulars and to treat, apply to John Bent, Auctioneer and Publicans' Valuer, No.5, Union Street, Dudley."

Birmingham Daily Gazette 3/1/1867

"A meeting of the members of the Reform League was held at the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, on Tuesday evening, the secretary of the Birmingham Branch of the Reform League was called to the chair. Mr. Hadley moved a resolution, affirming that in the opinion of the meeting, that no bill would be received as satisfactory settlement of the claims of the people unless it embraced manhood suffrage and vote by ballot. Mr. Jennings seconded the resolution, which was supported by Mr. Dalzell, and carried. A vote of thanks to the Chairman terminated the proceedings."

County Advertiser 22/6/1867

"Yesterday morning, an inquest was held at the HANDEL HOTEL, before Mr. E. Hooper, on the body of Joseph Sant, a boy about fourteen years of age. During the night of Tuesday last deceased was at work in the Tump Colliery, at Blackheath, belonging to Messrs. Davis and Son, when a fall of coal took place, and deceased was so severely injured that death almost immediately took place. The Jury returned a verdict of Accidental Death."

William Hunt was also a pump maker. [1868], [1870]

County Advertiser 17/10/1868

"On Monday afternoon, a meeting was held at the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, Rowley, to hear addresses from the Liberal candidates, Mr. H. W. Foley, MP, and Mr. W. O. Foster, MP. The large room was well filled. Mr. W. B. Collis, of Stourbridge, presided....."

Aris's Birmingham Gazette 17/10/1868 - Advert

"An Excellent Opportunity.

To be Let, the HANDEL HOTEL, Black Heath, parish of Rowley. The House comprises six Bed Rooms, Concert or Lodge Room, 80 feet long, Liquor Shop, Tap Room, Smoke Room, Cooking Kitchen, Brewhouse, fitted up complete, immense Cellars, Stable and Coach-house, large enclosed Yard, with Entrance Gates. Incoming moderate. The present proprietor having other large business engagements is the only reason for his wishing to decline this Establishment.

For further particulars apply on the premises, or to Mr. T. Danks, Auctioneer, Dudley."

County Advertiser 23/1/1869

"Bankruptcy Act, 1861.

Unreserved Sale, on Tuesday, January 26th, 1869, at the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath, near Rowley.

To Publicans, Machinists, Blacksmiths, Brokers, and Others.

To be Sold by Auction, by Mr. John Bent, on Tuesday, January 26th, 1869 (by order of the Official Assignee), the whole of the excellent Brewing Plant, well-seasoned Ale Casks, Spirit Vault Fittings, contents of Concert Room, Vices, Bellows, Round and Square Iron, Hand Lathe, Drilling Machine, Four-horse-power Engine, quantity of New Horse Shoes, Blacksmiths' Tools, &c, together with the Household Furniture, Feather Beds, Linen, Safe, Chest of Drawers, Dressing Tables, Toilet and Chimney Glasses, Cottage Pianoforte, with the usual Kitchen Requisites, belonging to William Hunt, a Bankrupt.

Sale to commence at Eleven o'clock in the Morning

NB. The House and Premises to be Let; and the Fixtures to be taken to at a fair valuation.

Catalogues may be had from George Kinnear, Esq, Official Assignee, Birmingham; the Auctioneer, No.205, Wolverhampton Street, Dudley; or at the place of Sale."

AND

Dudley Herald 23/1/1869

"Bankruptcy Act 1861. Unreserved sale at the HANDEL HOTEL, Blackheath to be sold by auction the whole of the Spirit Vault Fittings and Brewing Utensils comprising shop counter, 12-pull spirit fountain, excellent 5-pull beer machine (with stop taps and piping), spirit barrels, pewter ale and spirit measures, jugs, cups and glasses, drinking tables, benches, rail-back ditto, stage fittings, well seasoned ale casks, excellent pair of cooking vats, 16 bushel mash tub, 4hp beam engine blacksmith's tools belonging to William Hunt, a bankrupt The house and premises to be let."

Birmingham Daily Post 1/2/1869 - Advert

"The Bankruptcy Act, 1861. In the Court of Bankruptcy for the Birmingham District.

